Every man that has received the Priesthood, whether an Apostle, Prophet, High Priest, Elder, Bishop, Priest, or Teacher,---all should live as one man--be of one heart and one mind. In regard to those things we have heard with regard to living and practising our religion, that we may be able to build up Zion and establish the New Jerusalem: Unless we are very diligent, we shall be very far behind the times when the New Jerusalem comes down from heaven, adorned as a bride for her husband. Now, I believe that Enoch went away from here on a piece of earth, but I do not believe that he remained idle all the time: they have been improving and cultivating the earth---they have been multiplying and increasing the inhabitants where they live. So it is with the lost tribes of Israel: they are not asleep. God speaks to them through their Prophets, and they are learning to be obedient and to be subject to the law of God.

3. Journal of Wilford Woodruff; March 30, 1873; Ms/f/115/CHD; Spelling as in original.

At Evening Prayer Circle: Presidnt Yog said Joseph the Prophet told me that the garden of Eden was in Jackson Co Missouri, & when Adam was driven out of the garden of Eden He went about 40 Miles to the Place which we Named Adam Ondi Ahman. & there built an Alter of Stone & offered Sacrifise, that Alter remains to this day I saw it as Adam left it, as did many others, & through all the revolutions of the world that Alter had not been disturbed. Joseph also said that when the City of Enoch fled & was translated it was where the gulf of Mexico now is, it left that gulf a body of water.

4. J.D. 16:50; Discourse by Orson Pratt; May 18, 1873.

We come down to the days of the building of the Tower of Babel, soon after the flood. About the time of Abraham the Tower of Babel was built. The people being of one language, gathered together to build a tower to reach, as they supposed, the crystalized heavens. They thought that the City of Enoch was caught up a little ways from the earth, and that the city was within the first sphere above the earth; and that if they could get a tower high enough, they might get to heaven, where the City of Enoch and the inhabitants thereof were located. They went to work and built a tower. They had this tradition, that there had been a translation of people from the earth, and they were anxious to become acquainted with them; but the Lord saw that they were one, and that they all had one language, and that nothing would be restrained from them which they imagined to do; and, as a curse, he sent a variety of tongues---took from them their own mother-tongue. The language of Adam was all forgotten in a moment; and independently of taking away from them the knowledge of their own tongue, he gave them a multitude of other tongues, so that they could not understand one another.

5. Elias, by Orson F. Whitney, p. 136; Published 1885.

According to the Bible, the people who built the Tower of Babel did so that its top might "reach unto heaven" (Gen 11:14). Joseph Smith is said to have declared that the "heaven" they had in view was the city of Enoch, then suspended within the sight of the earth. Endeavoring to get to heaven by "another way" the builders of Babel were comparable to thieves and robbers. Tradition asserts that the city of Enoch stood where the Gulf of Mexico now is.

FAST DAYS IN KIRTLAND TEMPLE

Fast days in that temple were very enjoyable occasions and were looked forward to with a kind of hallowed anticipation...

The first Thursday of every month was fast day, and on those days labor was laid aside with us the same as on Sunday.

Joseph Smith, Senior--the Father of the Prophet, Joseph, nearly always had charge of and presided over the fast meetings.

The first floor or audience room was used for Sunday meetings and other meetings of a general nature. The room was so arranged that it could be divided into two, three or four rooms by letting down curtains from the ceiling -- thick canvas curtains or veils, as the Lord called them in His instructions to Joseph, the Prophet, in directing him how to build the house.

On fast days in the Temple, and I know of none held anywhere else in Kirtland, if the room was well filled, Father Smith, as we familiarly called him, would cause the curtains to be let down and divide the room into two, three or four rooms as he thought proper. When so divided, he appointed some brother to take charge of each room, and he would very quietly go from one room to another during the meetings, which were not always held strictly to two hours or even three hours.

The opening of all fast meetings took place before lowering the veil, and he frequently offered the opening prayer himself, asking for blessings on that individual occasion such as he thought the people needed, or as the spirit of the Lord prompted him to pray for; and on some occasions the prayer was marvelously answered before the close of the meeting -- notably so on one occasion when he prayed that the Lord would pour out His Spirit as He did at the Day of Pentecost of old; that his spirit should fill the house as with a rushing mighty wind.

The old Patriarch was gray, very tall and dignified, as we might imagine the "Ancient of Days," and he presided in a manner that would command the admiration of statesmen.

Liberty was generally given for anyone to bear testimony to the goodness of God to themselves or others -- to speak in tongues -- to sing in tongues pray or prophesy as the Spirit should lead the Saints to do. When anyone spoke or sang in tongues the President invited anyone to give the interpretation that had it; or he would ask someone to give the interpretation, whom he knew had the gift of interpretation.

When anyone prayed, they kneeled and sometimes all kneeled one kneeled frequently and prayed instead of rising and speaking.

On one occasion Father Smith required all to kneel and all to pray aloud at the same time, and I think it was on this day that his prayer was so marvelously answered. After the reason of prayer was ended and quiet prevailed, a roar went through the house like the roar of a great fire. Father Smith started up and spoke aloud, "What's that -- is the house on fire?"

Someone answered by asking, "Did you not pray, Father Smith, that the Spirit of God might fill the house as on the Day of Pentecost?"

"Yes, yes," replied the Patriarch with two or three gentle nods of the head. Such were our fast meetings sixty years ago.

PRINCIPLES OF FORGIVENESS & KINDNESS

by
The Prophet Joseph Smith
From
Teachings of the Prophet Joseph Smith

1. December, 1833; pp. 31-32; H.C. 1:443-444; 448-451.

The man who willeth to do well, we should extol his virtues and speak not of his faults behind his back. A man who wilfully turneth away from his friend without a cause, is not easily forgiven. The kindness of a man should never be forgotten. That person who never forsaketh his trust, should ever have the highest place of regard in our hearts, and our love should never fail, but increase more and more, and this is my disposition and these my sentiments.

We know not what we shall be called to pass through before Zion is delivered and established; therefore, we have great need to live near to God, and always be in strict obedience to all His commandments, that we may have a conscience void of offense toward God and man.

2. December, 1833; p. 43; H.C. 1:467-469.

Avoid contentions and vain disputes with men of corrupt minds, who do not desire to know the truth. Remember that "it is a day of warning, and not a day of many words."

3. February 12, 1834; p. 69; H.C. 2:25-26.

At a council of the High Priests and Elders, at my house in Kirtland, I remarked . . . no man is capable of judging a matter, in council, unless his own heart is pure; and that we frequently are so filled with prejudice, or have a beam in our own eye, that we are not capable of passing right decisions.

4. December 16, 1838; p. 129; H.C. 3:226-233.

Be honest one with another, for it seems that some have come short of these things, and some have been uncharitable, and have manifested greediness because of their debts towards those who have been persecuted and dragged about with chains without cause, and imprisoned.

5. March 25, 1839; pp. 137-148; Epistle to all Saints.
And again, outward appearance is not always a criterion by which to judge our fellow man; but the lips betray the haughty and overbearing imaginations of the heart; by his words and his deeds let him be judged. Flattery is also a deadly poison. (137)

And if there are any among you who aspire after their own aggrandizement, and seek their own opulence, while their brethren are groaning in poverty, and are under sore trials and temptations, they cannot be benefited by the intercession of the Holy Spirit, which maketh intercession for us day and night with groanings that cannot be uttered.

We ought at all times to be very careful that such highmindedness shall never have place in our hearts; but condescend to men of low estate, and with all long-suffering bear the infirmities of the weak. (141)

There is a love from God that should be exercised toward those of our faith, who walk uprightly, which is peculiar to itself, but it is without prejudice; it also gives scope to the mind, which enables us to conduct ourselves with greater liberality towards all that are not of our faith, than what they exercise towards one another. These principles approximate nearer to the mind of God, because it is like God, or Godlike. (147)

6. July 2, 1839; pp. 155–156; H.C. 3:383–392.

Ever keep in exercise the principle of mercy, and be ready to forgive our brother on the first intimations of repentance, and asking forgiveness; and should we even forgive our brother, or even our enemy, before he repent or ask forgiveness, our heavenly Father would be equally as merciful unto us.
Again, let the Twelve and all Saints be willing to confess all their sins, and not keep back a part; and let the Twelve be humble, and not be exalted, and beware of pride, and not seek to excel one above another, but act for each other's good, and pray for one another, and honor our brother or make honorable mention of his name, and not backbite and devour our brother.

When the Twelve or any other witnesses . . . preach in the power . . . of the Spirit of God, and the people . . . say, 'That man has preached a powerful discourse, a great sermon,' then let that man or those men take care that they do not ascribe the glory unto themselves, but be careful that they are humble, and ascribe the praise and glory to God and the Lamb; for it is by the power of the Holy Priesthood and the Holy Ghost that they have power thus to speak. What art thou, 0 man, but dust?
Let every word be seasoned with grace. . . . Beware of Gentile sophistry; such as bowing and scraping unto men in whom you have no confidence. Be honest, open, and frank in all your intercourse with mankind.

0 ye Twelve! and all Saints! . . . see to it, that you do not betray heaven; that you do not betray Jesus Christ; that you do not betray the brethren. . . .

I will give you one of the Keys of the mysteries of the Kingdom. It is an eternal principle, that has existed with God from all eternity: That man who rises up to condemn others, finding fault with the Church, saying that they are out of the way, while he himself is righteous, then know assuredly, that that man is in the high road to apostasy; and if he does not repent, will apostatize, as God lives.

7. October 19, 1840; pp. 174–179; H.C. 4:226–232.

To the Traveling High Council and Elders of the Church . . . in Great Britain:

Love is one of the chief characteristics of Deity, and ought to be manifested by those who aspire to be the sons of God. A man filled with the love of God, is not content with blessing his family alone, but ranges through the whole world, anxious to bless the whole human race.

Let the Saints remember that great things depend on their individual exertion, and . . . let every selfish feeling be not only buried, but annihilated; and let love to God and man predominate, and reign triumphant, in every mind, that their hearts may become like unto Enoch's of old, and comprehend all things, present, past and future, and come behind in no gift, waiting for the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ.

. . . it behooves us to be on the alert to concentrate our energies, and that the best feelings should exist in our midst; and then, by the help of the Almighty, we shall go on from victory to victory, and from conquest to conquest; our evil passions will be subdued, our prejudices depart; we shall find no room in our bosoms for hatred; vice will hide its deformed head, and we shall stand approved in the sight of Heaven, and be acknowledged the sons of God.
Let us realize that we are not to live to ourselves, but to God; by so doing the greatest blessings will rest upon us both in time and in eternity.

8. November 7, 1841; pp. 193–194; H.C. 4:445–446.
I charged the Saints not to follow the example of the adversary in accusing the brethren, and said, "If you do not accuse each other, God will not accuse you. If you have no accuser you will enter heaven, and if you will follow the revelations and instructions which God gives you through me, I will take you into heaven as my back load. If you will not accuse me, I will not accuse you. If you will throw a cloak of charity over my sins, I will over yours---for charity covereth a multitude of sins. What many people call sin is not sin; I do many things to break down superstition, and I will break it down."

9. December 19, 1841; pp. 194–195; H.C. 4:478–479.

Let not any man publish his own righteousness, for others can see that for him; sooner let him confess his sins, and then he will be forgiven, and he will bring forth more fruit. When a corrupt man is chastised he gets angry and will not endure it. The reason we do not have the secrets of the Lord revealed unto us, is because we do not keep them but reveal them; we do not keep our own secrets, but reveal our difficulties to the world, even to our enemies, then how would we keep the secrets of the Lord?

10. April 28, 1842; pp. 223–228; H.C. 4:602–607; Remarks to the Relief Society.

He [Joseph Smith] spoke of the disposition of many men to consider the lower offices in the Church dishonorable, and to look with jealous eyes upon the standing of others who are called to preside over them; that it was the folly and nonsense of the human heart for a person to be aspiring to other stations than those to which they are appointed of God for them to occupy; that it was better for individuals to magnify their respective calling, and wait patiently till God shall say to them, "come up higher."

He [Joseph Smith] then commenced reading the 13th chapter [of Corinthians] . . . and said, don't be limited in your views with regard to your neighbor's virtue, but beware of self-righteousness, and be limited in the estimate of your own virtues, and not think yourselves more righteous than others; you must enlarge your souls towards each other, if you would do like Jesus, and carry your fellow creatures to Abraham's bosom . . . . and we must bear with each other's failings . . . . you must be long-suffering, and bear with the faults and errors of mankind.

How precious are the souls of men! The female part of the community are apt to be contracted in their views. You must not be contracted, but you must be liberal in your feelings.

11. June 9, 1842; pp. 240-241; H.C. 5:23-25; Minutes of the Relief Society.

Said he [Joseph Smith] was going to preach mercy; Suppose that Jesus Christ and holy angels should object to us on frivolous things, what would become of us? We must be merciful to one another, and overlook small things.

Nothing is so much calculated to lead people to forsake sin as to take them by the hand, and watch over them with tenderness. When persons manifest the least kindness and love to me, 0 what power it has over my mind, while the opposite course has a tendency to harrow up all the harsh feelings and depress the human mind.

All the religious world is boasting of righteousness; it is the doctrine of the devil to retard the human mind, and hinder our progress, by filling us with self-righteousness. The nearer we get to our heavenly Father, the more we are disposed to look with compassion on perishing souls; we feel that we want to take them upon our shoulders, and cast their sins behind our backs. My talk is intended for all this society, if you would have God have mercy on you, have mercy on one another.

We are full of selfishness; the devil flatters us that we are very righteous, when we are feeding on the faults of others. * * * How oft have wise men and women sought to dictate Brother Joseph by saying, "0, if I were Brother Joseph I would do this and that;" but if they were in Brother Joseph's shoes they would find that men or women could not be compelled into the kingdom of God, but must be dealt with in long-suffering, and at last we shall save them. The way to keep all the Saints together, till God shall bring such characters to justice. There should be no license for sin, but mercy should go hand in hand with reproof.

12. August 27, 1842; p. 257; H.C. 5:134-136.

Our heavenly Father is more liberal in His views, and boundless in His mercies and blessings, than we are ready to believe or receive; and, at the same time, is more terrible to the workers of iniquity, more awful in the executions of His punishments, and more ready to detect every false way, than we are apt to suppose Him to be.

13. August 31, 1842; pp. 258-259; H.C. 5:139-141.

Although I do wrong, I do not the wrongs that I am charged with doing; the wrong that I do is through the frailty of human nature, like other men. No man lives without fault. Do you think that even Jesus, if He were here, would be without fault in your eyes? His enemies said all manner of evil against Him--they all watched for iniquity in Him.

The servants of the Lord are required to guard against those things that are calculated to do the most evil. The little foxes spoil the vines---little evils do the most injury to the Church. . . . if you know anything calculated to disturb the peace or injure the feelings of your brother or sister, hold your tongues and the least harm will be done.

14. October 29, 1842; p. 268; H.C. 5:181.

I showed them [some of the elders of the church] that it was generally in consequence of the brethren disregarding or disobeying counsel that they became dissatisfied and murmured; and many when they arrived here, were dissatisfied with the conduct of some of the Saints, because everything was not done perfectly right, and they get angry, and thus the devil gets advantage over them to destroy them. I told them I was but a man, and they must not expect me to be perfect; if they expected perfection from me, I should expect it from them; but if they would bear with my infirmities and the infirmities of the brethren, I would likewise bear with their infirmities.

15. July 23, 1843; p. 316; H.C. 5:516-518.

It is a time-honored adage that love begets love. Let us pour forth love--show forth our kindness unto all mankind, and the Lord will reward us with everlasting increase; cast our bread upon the waters and we shall receive it after many days, increased to a hundredfold. * * *
I do not dwell upon your faults, and you shall not upon mine. Charity, which is love, covereth a multitude of sins, and I have often covered up all the faults among you; but the prettiest thing is to have no faults at all. We should cultivate a meek, quiet and peaceable spirit.

16. 1843---Proverbs of Joseph Smith; p. 317; Mss, Historical Dept.

There is one thing under the sun which I have learned and that is that the righteousness of man is sin because it exacteth over much; nevertheless, the righteousness of God is just, because it exacteth nothing at all, but sendeth the rain on the just and the unjust, seed time and harvest, for all of which man is ungrateful.

v94 They who dwell in his presence are the church of the Firstborn; and they see as they are seen, and know as they are known, having received of his fulness and of his grace;
(D&C: Section 76:94)
v16 And I, John, bear record that he received a fulness of the glory of the Father;
(D&C: Section 93:16)

v19 I give unto you these sayings that you may understand and know how to worship, and know what you worship, that you may come unto the Father in my name [Christ], and in due time receive of his fulness.
(D&C: Section 93:19)

v20 For if you keep my commandments you shall receive of his fulness, and be glorified in me as I am in the Father; therefore, I say unto you, you shall receive grace for grace.
(D&C: Section 93:26)
v15 And that they may grow up in thee, and receive a fulness of the Holy Ghost, and be organized according to the laws, and be prepared to obtain every needful thing;
(D&C: Section 109:15)
|v25 For there is a time appointed for every man, according as his works shall be.
|v27 Which our forefathers have awaited with anxious expectation to be revealed in the last times, which their minds were pointed to by the angels, as held in reserve for the fulness of their glory;
|v28 A time to come in the which nothing shall be withheld, whether there be one God or many gods, they shall be manifest.
|v29 All thrones and dominions, principalities and powers, shall be revealed and set forth upon all who have endured valiantly for the gospel of Jesus Christ.
|v30 And also, if there be bounds set to the heavens or to the seas, or to the dry land, or to the sun, moon, or stars--
|v31 All the times of their revolutions, all the appointed days, months, and years, and all the days of their days, months, and years, and all their glories, laws, and set times, shall be revealed in the days of the dispensation of the fulness of times--
|v32 According to that which was ordained in the midst of the Council of the Eternal God of all other gods before this world was, that should be reserved unto the finishing and the end thereof, when every man shall enter into his eternal presence and into his immortal rest.
(D&C: Section 121:25-32)

v28 For there is not a place found on earth that he may come to and restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fullness of the priesthood.
(D&C: section 124:28)

Holders of the Melchizedek Priesthood have power to press forward in righteousness, living by every word that proceedeth forth from the mouth of God, magnifying their callings, going from grace to grace, until through the fulness of the ordinances of the temple they receive the fulness of the priesthood and are ordained kings and priests. Those so attaining shall have exaltation and be kings, priests, rulers, and lords in their respective spheres in the eternal kingdoms of the great King who is God our Father. (Rev. 1:6; 5:10.)
(McConkie, Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p. 425.)
v4 And this shall be our covenant--that we will walk in all the ordinances of the Lord.
(D&C: Section 136:4)

|v7 And verily I say unto you, that the conditions of this law are these: All covenants, contracts, bonds, obligations, oaths, vows, performances, connections, associations, or expectations, that are not made and entered into and sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise, of him who is anointed, both as well for time and for all eternity, and that too most holy, by revelation and commandment through the medium of mine anointed, whom I have appointed on the earth to hold this power (and I have appointed unto my servant Joseph to hold this power in the last days, and there is never but one on the earth at a time on whom this power and the keys of this priesthood are conferred), are of no efficacy, virtue, or force in and after the resurrection from the dead; for all contracts that are not made unto this end have an end when men are dead.
(D&C: Section 132:7)

|v30 He that asketh in the Spirit asketh according to the will of God; wherefore it is done even as he asketh.
(D&C: Section 46:30)

|v98 Until all shall know me, who remain, even from the least unto the greatest, and shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord, and shall see eye to eye, and shall lift up their voice, and with the voice together sing this new song, saying:
(D&C: Section 84:98)

That we may be sealed up unto the day of redemption, this principle ought. (in its proper place) to be taught, for God hath not revealed any thing to Joseph, but what he will make known unto the Twelve & even the least Saint may know all things as fast as he is able to – bear them. for the day must come when no man need say to his neighbor know ye the Lord for all shall know him (who Remain) from the least to the greatest, How is this to be done? It is to be done by the sealing power & the other comforter spoken of which will be manifest by revelation.
(WJS: p. 4)

|v31 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah:
|v32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the LORD:
|v33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

|v10 For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people:
(NewT:Hebrews 8:10-11)

|v7 Dear Brethren:
|v8 As we have witnessed the expansion of the work of the Lord over the earth, we have been grateful that people of many nations have responded to the message of the restored gospel, and have joined the Church in ever-increasing numbers. This, in turn, has inspired us with a desire to extend to every worthy member of the Church all of the privileges and blessings which the gospel affords.
(D&C: Official Declar 2:7-8)

|c7|v0 The Melchizedek Priesthood brings exaltation and administers the gospel--It is received with an oath and covenant--Superiority of the Melchizedek over the Aaronic Priesthood--Salvation comes through the intercession of Christ.
(NewT:Hebrews 7:Heading)

. . . . The Lord revealed that the priesthood and its ordinances were "instituted from before the foundation of the world" (D&C 124:33, 34), and commanded that a temple be built at Nauvoo as a place to "restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fulness of the priesthood" (D&C 124:28). Sacred ordinances could then be performed for "therein are the keys of the holy priesthood ordained" (D&C 124:34).
. . . . Men and woman have complementary, not competing, responsibilities. There is difference but not inequity. Intelligence and talent favor both of them. But, in the woman's part, she is not just equal to man, she is superior! She can do that which he can never do, not in all eternity can he do it. There are complementing rewards which are hers and hers alone. And, blessings bestowed impartially upon man and woman alike include: baptism; the gift of the Holy Ghost; the testimony of Jesus; personal revelation; the ministry of angels; the responsibility to teach, to testify, to exhort, to edify, and to comfort; the faith to be healed, and many other spiritual gifts, all under a uniform standard of worthiness.
And, the highest ordinances in the house of the Lord they receive together and equally, or not at all.
. . . . I could not possibly express the depth and the intensity of love and gratitude that I feel toward my wife, the mother of our children.
Without her, I could not have the highest and most enduring blessings of this "priesthood after the holiest order of God" (D&C 84:18), this "holy priesthood after the order of the son of God" (D&C 107:3). For, in order to obtain the highest, a man must enter into this order of the priesthood [meaning the new and everlasting covenant of marriage]; And if he does not, he cannot obtain it." (D&C 131:1-4.) I know that the son of God is our Redeemer. Reverently I give thanks to God the Father for the comsumate blessing: a sweetheart, wife, companion, friend, a help-meet, a woman! In the name of Jesus Christ, amen.

|v5 Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:

|v6 And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.
(OldT:Malachi 4:5-6)

. . . .the Prophet here clarifies that the Patriarchal Priesthood was not the same as the crowing ordinances of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood. Elias returned the authority of promising innumerable posterity, but Elijah restored the authority of the fulness of the priesthood (D&C 110:12-16).
(WJS: p. 303 n 21.)
If a man gets a fulness of the priesthood of God he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordinances of the house of the Lord.

A large assembly of Saints met at the Temple & were addressed by President Joseph Smith...God gathers together the people in the last days to build unto the Lord an house to prepare them for the Ordinances & endowment washings & anointings &c. one of the ordinances of the house of the Lord is Baptism for the dead, God decreed before the foundation of the world that that ordinance should be administered in a house prepared for that purpose. If a man gets the fullness of God he was to get [it] in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it & that was by keeping all the ordinances of the house of the Lord.

...the following [is] a statement of Brigham Young in the Nauvoo Temple which includes the Prophet's teachings on the highest ordinances of the Temple:

Those who come in here and have received their washing & anointing will [later] be ordained Kings & Priests, and will then have received the fulness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth. For Brother Joseph said he had given us all that could be given to man on the earth (Heber C. Kimball Journal kept by William Clayton, 26 December 1845, Church Archives).
(WJS: p. 286 n 25.)
Abraham's was a more exalted power or priesthood he could talk and walk with God and yet consider how great this man was when even this patriarch Abraham gave a tenth part of all his spoils and then received a blessing under the hands of Melchizedek even the last law or a fulness of the law of priesthood which constituted him a king and priest after the order of Melchizedek or an endless life...

Meeting of Presidency, Apostles & Church Officers.
Monday 8, Apr. 1901. Prest. Snow said that persons who are recommended for second anointings should be those who have made an exceptional record, that they are persons who will never apostatize. Prest. of Stakes assume a great responsibility when they recommend persons for second anointings.
Bro. Jos. F. Smith said no man receives a fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood till he has received his second anointings. Men recommended for this sacred ordinance should be men of God whose faith and integrity are unquestioned.

Meeting of the twelve Apostles in Philadelphia.
The quorum of the Twelve Apostles in Philadelphia held a meeting in Canaanite Church. About three hundred Saints were present. Meeting was opened by Jedediah M. Grant, and President Brigham Young addressed the congregation at considerable length. He said that a man or woman may ask of God, and get a witness and testimony from god concerning any work or messenger that is sent unto them; but if a person asks for a thing that does not concern him, such as governing the church , as a member of the Church had the fullness of the Melchisedec Priesthood, he did not know it. For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest. A person may have a portion of that priesthood, the same as governors or judges of England have power from the king to transact business; but that does not make them kings of England. A person may be anointed king and preist long befor he receives his kingdom. In the evening Elder Orson Pratt preached, and was followed by Elder George A. Smith. (Above from Wilford Woodruff's Journal.)

What was the power of Melchizedek? 'Twas not the Priesthood of Aaron which administers in the ordinances, and the offering of sacrifices. Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys of power and blessings. In fact, that Priesthood is a perfect law of theocracy, and stands as God to give laws to the people, administering endless lives to the sons and daughters of Adam.
Abraham says to Melchizedek, I believe all that thou hast taught me concerning the priesthood and the coming of the Son of Man; so Melchizedek ordained Abraham and sent him away. Abraham rejoiced, saying, Now I have a priesthood.

The Sending of Elijah

What shall I talk about to-day? I know what Brother Cahoon wants me to speak about. He wants me to speak about the coming of Elijah in the last days. I can see it in his eye. I will speak upon that subject then.
The Bible says, "I will send you Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord: and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to the fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse."
Now, the word turn here should be translated bind, or seal. But what is the object of this important mission? or how is it to be fulfilled: The keys are to be delivered, the spirit of Elijah is to come, the Gospel to be established, the Saints of God gathered, Zion built up, and the Saints to come up as saviors on Mount Zion.
But how are the to become saviors on Mount Zion? By building their temples, erecting their baptismal fonts, and going forth and receiving all the ordinances, baptisms, confirmations, washings, anointings, ordinations and sealing powers upon their heads, in behalf of all their progenitors who are dead, and redeem them that they may come forth in the first resurrection and be exalted to thrones of glory with them; and herein is the chain that binds the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers, which fulfills the mission of Elijah. and I would to God that this temple was now done, that we might go into it, and go to work and improve our time, and make use of the seals while they are on earth.

All Ordinances Necessary

The question is frequently asked, "Can we not be saved without going through with all those ordinances?" I would answer, No, not the fulness of salvation. Jesus said, There are many mansions in my Father's house, and I will go and prepare a place for you. House here named should have been translated kingdom; and any person who is exalted to the highest mansion has to abide a celestial law, and the whole law too.
But there has been a great difficulty in getting anything into the heads of this generation. It has been like splitting hemlock knots with a corn-dodger for a wedge, and a pumpkin for a beetle. Even the Saints are slow to understand.

For the Living and the Dead
Now was this merely confined to the living, to settle difficulties with families on earth? By no means. It was a far greater work. Elijah! what would you do if you were here? Would you confine your work to the living alone? No: I would refer you to the Scriptures, where the subject is manifest: that is, without us, they could not be made perfect, nor we without them; the fathers without the children, nor the children without the fathers. I wish you to understand this subject, for it is important: and if you will receive it, this is the spirit of Elijah, that we redeem our dead, and connect ourselves with our fathers which are in heaven, and seal up our dead to come forth in the first resurrection; and here we want the power of Elijah to seal those who dwell on earth to those who dwell in heaven. This is the power of Elijah and the keys of the kingdom of Jehovah.

There is no exaltation in the kingdom of God without the fulness of the priesthood....Every man who is faithful and will receive these [temple] ordinances and blessings obtains a fulness of the priesthood, and the Lord has said that "he makes them equal in power, and in might, and in dominion."
(Joseph Fielding Smith, 1955, Doctrines of Salvation, 3:132.)
The Lord Almighty...will continue to preserve...until I have fully accomplished my mission in this life, and so firmly established the dispensation of the fullness of the priesthood in the last days, that all the powers of earth and hell can never prevail against it.
(Joseph Smith, Jr., 1842, History of the Church, 5:139-140.)
Every man that gets his endowment...[has been] ordained to the Melchizedek Priesthood, which is the highest order of Priesthood....those who have come in here and have received their washing & anointing will be ordained Kings & priests, and will then have received the fulness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth, for Brother Joseph said he had given us all that could be given to man on the earth.
Holders of the Melchizedek Priesthood have power to press forward in righteousness, living by every word that proceedeth forth from the mouth of God, magnifying their callings, going from grace to grace, until through the fulness of the ordinances of the temple they receive the fulness of the priesthood and are ordained kings and priests. Those so attaining shall have exaltation and be kings, priests, rulers, and lords in their respective spheres in the eternal kingdoms of the great King who is God our Father. (Rev. 1:6; 5:10.)
(McConkie, Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p. 425.)

If a man gets a fullness of the priesthood of God he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordiances of the house of the Lord. (Teachings, p. 308.)

"...the following [is a] statement of Brigham Young in the Nauvoo Temple which includes the Prophet's teachings on the highest ordiances of the Temple:" (TWOJS, p. 286.)
Those who come in here and have reveived their washing & anointing will [later] be ordained Kings & Priests, and will then have received the fullness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth. For Brother Joseph said he had given us all that could be given to man on the earth (Heber C. Joseph said The reason why the Jews were scattered and their House left unto them Desolate was because they refused to be gathered that the fulness of the Priesthood might be revealed among them which never can be done but by the gathering of the People (TWOJS, p. 215) [This is why we have gathered all our progenitors into one place, the spirit world, and are gathering them by gathering their records and doing their work for them that they ultimatly may receive the fulness of the Priesthood].

9. At no time before in the history of the Church had the Prophet talked so freely in public of ordinances whereby men were ordained kings and priests. These ordiances were not introduced in Kirtland because Elijah had not come to confer the fulness of the priesthood upon the Prophet before he administered the Kirtland Temple ordiances. Obviously the Prophet could only administer temple ordiances as he then understood them. (TWOJS, p. 302.)

10. The "kingly powers" of the fulness of the priesthood would be conferred by an "anointing." (TWOJS, p. 302.)

12. "Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts" (2 Corinthians 1:21-22).
...Apparently it is one thing to receive the anointing and sealing blessings of the priesthood and another thing form them to be called, elected, and made sure. [One is sealed by the Priesthood and another seal is by the Holy Ghost.] (TWOJS, p. 302.) [There are two parts to every 1. annointing and 2. sealing. One example would the anointing and sealing of sick. Explain greggs and our experience....]

14. That is, the fulness of the priesthood comes "not by man, nor the will of man; neither by father nor mother; neither by beginning of days nor end of years; but of God" (JST Genesis 14:28). See also JST Hebrews 7:3. (TWOJS, p. 303.)

21. The Prophet here teaches that though Abraham had not yet received the fulness of the priesthood, he had received from the Lord the promise of an innumerable posterity both for this world and in the world to come (D&C 132:28-31). Joseph Smith, however, clarifies that Abraham's endowment (Abraham Facsimile Number 2, figures 3 and 7) was greater than that which his descendants Aaron and Levi would be allowed; and thus "Abraham's" Patriarchal Priesthood (the ordiances of the endowment and patriarchal marriage for time and eternity) comprehended the Aaronic portion of the endowment.
Additionally, the Prophet here clarifies that the Patrarchal Priesthood was not the same as the crowning ordinances of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood. Elias returned the authority of promising innumerable posterity, but Elijah restored the authority of the fulness of the priesthood (D&C 110:12-16).
Aside from this theological commentary, it is important to point out that the Prophet's teachings fit perfectly within a historical context. Joseph Smith administered the first ordiances of the Patriarchal Priesthood on 4 May 1842 when he gave bothe the Aaronic and Melchizedek portions of the endowment to nine men in his store in Nauvoo (see History of the Church, 5:1-2, or Teachings, p. 137; and H. W. Mills, "De Tal Palo Tal Astilla," Annual Publications--Historical Society of Southern California 10 [Los Angeles: McBride Printing Company, 1917]:120-21). By a year later, most of the nine received the ordiances of marriage for time and eternity. In particular, the Prophet and his wife, Emma, and James and Harriet Adams were sealed on 28 May 1843 (Joseph Smith Diary, Church Archives). Similarly, Hyrum Smith and his wife, Mary Fielding, Brigham Young and his wife, a Mary Ann, and Willard Richard and his wife, Jennetta, were all sealed the next day. But the higher ordiances that confer the fulness of the priesthood had not as yet been administered. However one month and a day after this 27 August 1843 discourse, Joseph and Emma received the anointing and ordination "of the highest and holiest order of the priesthood" (Joseph Smith Diary, 28 September 1843, Church Archives). Hence by 27 August 1843, "Abrahams patriarchal power...[was] the greatest yet experienced in [the] church." [Here we see that women are also anointed and ordained to this "highest and holiest order of the priesthood" (Joseph Smith Diary, 28 September 1843, Church archives)].

Gospel Mysteries

...Brigham Yound demonstrates that the Prophet made clear to those who had received the endowment and patriarchal marriage ordiances, that they had not as yet received the fulness of the priesthood. On 6 August 1843, Brigham Young said, "If any in the church [have] the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood [I do] not know it. For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest." Since he had received, with eight others, an anointing in 1842 promising him he would, if faithful, eventuall receive another anointing actually ordaining him a king and a priest, Brigham Young therefore added, "A person may be anointed a king and a priest long before he receives his kingdom (History of the Chruch, 5:527,...). Based on his understanding from Joseph the Prophet, Brigham Young said of this third order of priesthood blessings, "Those who...come in here [the Nauvoo Temple] and have received their washings & anointing will...be ordained Kings & Priests, and will then have received the fulness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth" (Heber C. Kimball Journal, kept by william Clayton, 26 December 1845, Church Archives...). This is the theological and historical context for the Prophet's comments on the three orders of the temple blessings outlined in this extremely important discourse. [summarize the three temple blessings 1. 2. 3. expand...] (TWOJS, p. 303-304.)

22. As high and important to the Church as the office of prophet, apostle and patriarch are, neverthe less, these highest ecclesiastical ordiantions do not confer the authority of Elijah, the sealing power of the priesthood, or the power of a king and priest. As President Joseph Fielding Smith expressed it best in our own century,

> I do not care what office you hold in the Church--you may be an apostle, you may be a patriarch, a high priest, or anything else--but you cannot receive the fullness of the priesthood and the fulness of eternal reward unless you receive the ordiances of the house of the lord... Then [the door is] open so you can obtain all the blessings which any man can gain.... You can have ["the fullness of the Lord's blessings"] sealed upon your as an elder, if you are faithful; and when you receive them, and live faithfully and keep these covenants, you then all that any man can get. There is no exaltation in the kingdom of God without the fulness of the priesthood" (Joseph Fielding Smith, first address to the Priesthood as President of the Church, 4 April 1970, The Improvement Era 73 [June 1970]: 65-66). (TWOJS, p. 304-305).
> 29. [All acts within the priesthood must be sealed by the priesthood, which is Christ, and a ratifing seal by the Holy Ghost] ...Abraham recieved the "anointing and sealing" (the priesthood ordination of king and priest) under the hands of Melchizedek (Genesis 14:17-24 and JST Genesis 14:25-40), but the "election sure"--the absolute assurance of power in the priesthood--came directly from God only after Abraham indicated his willingness to sactrifice Isaac (Genesis 22:1-14). (TWOJS, p. 305.) [Again here we see that:
> 1. a person is called, elected, and this calling and election is made sure by priesthood ordiance, anointing, sealing, confirmation etc. Then
> 2. These callings, elections, ordinations, anointings, sealings, confirmations and etc. are ratified by the Holy Ghost....]
> 30. One of the major milestones, if not the major milestone, of the Latter-day work was to be the restoration of the fulness of the priesthood (D&C 124:28). The Prophet's "mission... [was to] firmly [establish] the dispensation of the fulness of the priesthood in the last days, that all the powers of earth and hell [could] never prevail against it" (History of the church, 5:140, or Teachings, p. 258). What was this fulness of the priesthood? The most concise but inclusive definition of the authority of the fulness of the priesthood was given by Joseph Smith in his 10 March 1844 discourse when he said, "Now for Elijah; the spirit, power and calling of Elijah is that ye have power to hold the keys of revelations, ordinances, oracles, powers and endowments of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood and of the Kingdom of God on the Earth and to receive, obtain and perform all belonging to the kingdom of God...[to] have power to seal on ear and in heaven." However, the Prophet had not as yet administered the ordiances that made men kings and priests. Brighan Young said three weeks before this discourse that no one yet in the Church had the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood, "For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest" (History of the Chruch 5:527,...) These ordiances were instituted on 28 Sept 1843 and in the next five months were conferred on twenty men and their wives,....) (TWOJS p. 305-306.)

38. This is the only known record of when, according to Joseph Smith the Savior received the fulness of the priesthood. Wilford Woodruff's report of the Prophet's 11 June 1843 discourse recorded a significant comment by Joseph Smith regarding this subject" "If a man gets the fulness of God ["priesthood" as in the published version], he has to ge [it] in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, by keeping all the ordiances of the house of the Lord".... (TWOJS, p. 307.)

All ordinances of the temple that are done for the living, including marriage for time and eternity and the fulness of the priesthood, can also be done for the dead (see james E. Talmage, The house of the Lord [Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Company, 1968], pp. 163 and 211, and B. H. Roberts, A Comprehensive History of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints--Century 1 6 vols. [Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 1965] 6:495). (TWOJS, p. 385-386.)

Doctrine Election.--sealing of the servants of God on the top of thier heads.(7) ...doctrine of Election to Abraham was in the relation to the Lord. a man wishes to be embraced in the covenant of Abraham. A man Judge Higby--in world of spirits. is sealed unto the throne, & doctrine of Election sealing the father & children together.(8) (TWOJS, p. 239.)

7. At this time Joseph Smith was not willing to discuss the temple ordiances of conferral of the fulness of the priesthood, of marriage for time and eternity, or of sealing children to parents; nevertheless, he indicated that the conferral of the fulness of the priesthood was a "sealing...on top of the head" of which the phrase "sealed in their forheads" was symbolic. Furthermore, Joseph Smith here taught that it was through the ordiance of conferral of the fulness of the priesthood that men could be qualified to be a part of the special missionary force of the last days which would number 144,000 high priests (D&C 77:8-11, 14). When Cornelius p Lott and his wife received these ordinances on 4 February 1844, the Prophet indicated that "the selection of [the] persons to perform that number had already commenced." He had already conferred these blessings on at least 17 men (History of the Church, 6:196 and Wilford Woodruff Journal, under date given). (WOJS, p. 297.)
8. According to the teachings that the Prophet gave in private (but which he only hinted at in this discourse), to be heir to Abraham's promise that he would head an innumberable posterity, each individual and his children must be sealed for time and eternity. If this sealing was performed, he taught, the covenant relationship would then continue throughout eternity. The Prophet taught, moreover, that such a patriarchal priesthood of kings and priests would have to be established by sealing children and parents back through abraham to adam in order to fulfill the mission of Elijah (Malachi 4:5-6). When this was accomplished, the order within the highest degree of the Celestial Kingdom would then be eternally set. Probably no clearer statement of Joseph's theology regarding this concept can be found than what is given in an editoral by Orson Hyde. (The following diagram began the editoral after which came the text.)

p i c t u r e

The above diagram shows the order and unity of the kingdom of God The eternal Father sits at the head, crowned King of kings and Lord of lords. Wherever the other lines meet, there sits a king and a priest unto God, bearing rule, authority, and dominion under the Father. He is one with the Father, because his kingdom is joined to his Father's and becomes part of it.

The most eminent and distinguished prophets who have laid down their lives for their testimony (Jesus among the rest), will be crowned at the head of the largest kingdoms under the Father, and will be one with Christ as Christ is one with his Father; for their kingdoms are all joined together, and such as do the will of the Father, the same are his mothers, sisters, and brothers. He that has been faithful over a few things, will be made ruler over many things; he that has been faithful over ten talents, shall have dominion over ten cities, and he that has been faithful over five talents, shall have dominion over five cities, and to every man will be given a kingdom and a dominion, according to his merit, powers, and abilities to govern and control. It will be seen by the above diagram that there are kingdoms of all sizes, and infinite varity to suit all grades of merit and ability. The chosen vessels unto God are the kings and priests that are placed at the head of these kingdoms. These have received their washings and anointings in the temple of God on this earth; they have been chosen, ordained, and anointed kings and priests, to reign as such in the resurrection of the just. Such as have not received the fulness of the priesthood, (for the fulness of the priesthood includes the authority of both king and priest) and have not been anointed and ordained in the temple of the Most High, may obtain salvation in the celestial kingdom, but not a celestial crown. Many are called but

(Draft sheet of the "Manuscript History of the Church." in th hand of Willare Richards, 4 May 1842, Historian's Office Church Records Group, Church Archives.)

On 4 and 5 May 1842, for the first time in the history of the Church, the key principles of the Ancient or Patriarchal order of the priesthood were conferred. According to Richards's summary, four essential concepts regarding man's relationship to God were conveyed by these ordinances: (1) The participants received washings and anointings wherein they were promised that if they continued true and faithful they would by another anointing be ordained kings and priests unto God (Revelation !: 5-6, 5:10); for the anointing they received that day was only "preparatory to further blessings;" (Wilford Woodruff, Journal, 2 December 1843, Wilford Woodruff Collection, chruch Archives.) (2) They received the "keys of the priesthood," viz., signs, tokens, penalties and key words; some pertained to the Aaronic Priesthood, others pertained to the Melchizedek Priesthood; however, the keys given were all of the keys given in the order to the Ancient of Days (Adam) or Patriarchal Priesthood; (3) Though this priesthood order did not confer the fulness of the priesthood, it "pertained to the highest order" in that it presented all the "planns and principles" that would "enable" anyone "to secure" in this life or before the resurrection the fulness of the priesthood; and , (4) The principles taught that day were to enable to participants eventually to pass through the veil into the presence of the Gods. (Joseph Smith's Introduction of Temple ordiances & the 1844 Mormon Succession Question" M.A. Thesis, BYU, 1982, p. 28-30.)

...For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest. A person may have a portion of that priesthood, the same as governors or judges of England have power from the king to transact business; but that does not make them kings of England. A person may be anointed king and priest long before he receives his kingdom. (H. C., Vol. 5:527.)

Of the truth of the gospel concerning the just,
That rise in the first resurrection of Christ.
Who receiv'd and believ'd, and repented likewise,
And then were baptis'd, as a man always was,
Who ask'd and receiv'd a remission of sin,
And honored the kingdom by keeping its laws.
Being buried in water as Jesus had been,
And Keeping the whole of his holy commands,
They received the gift of the spirit of truth,
By the ordinance truly of laying on hands.
For these overcome, by their faith and their works,
Being tried in their life-time, as pruified gold,
And seal'd by the spirit of promise, to life,
By men called of God, as was Aaron of old.
They are they, of the church of the first born of God.--
And unto whose hands he committeth all things;
For they hold the keys of the kingdom of heav'n,
And reign with the Savior, as priests, and as kings.
They're priests of the order of Melchisedek,
Like Jesus, (from whom is this highest reward,)
Receiving a fulness of glory and light;
As written:They're Gods; even the sons of the Lord.
So all things are theirs; yes, of life, or of death;
Yes, Whether things now, or to come, all are theirs,
And they are the Savior's and he is the Lord's,
Having overcome all, as eternity's heirs.
'Twas wisdom that man never glory in man,
But give God the glory for all that he hath;
For the righteous will walk in the presence of God,
While the wicked are trod under foot in his wrath.

Yes, the righteous shall dwell in the presence of God,
And of Jesus, forever, from earth's second birth--
For when he comes down in the splendor of hev'n,
All these he'll bring with him, to riegn on the earth.
These are they that arise in their bodies of flesh,
When the trump of the first resurrection shall sound;
These are they that come up to Mount Zion, in life,
When the blessings and gifts of the spirit abound.
These are they that have come to the heavenly place;
To the numberless courses of angels above;
To the city of God; e'en the holiest of all,
And the home of teh blessed, the fountain of Love:
To the Church of old Enoch, and of the first born:
And gen'ral assembly of ancient renown'd.
Whose names are all kept in the archives of heav'n,
As chosen and faithful, and fit to be crown'd.
These are they that are perfect through Jesus' own blood,
Whose bodies celestial are mention'd by Paul,
Where the sun is the typical glory thereof,
And God, and his Christ, are the true judge of all. (Times and Seasons, Vol. 4:84-85, Joseph Smith)

Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys of power and blessings. (Teachings, p. 322.)

Abraham says to Melchizedek, I believe all that thou hast taught me concerning the priesthood and the coming of the Son of Man; so Melchizedek ordained Abraham and sent hem away. Abraham rejoiced, saying, Now I have a priesthood. (Teachings, p. 322-323.)

The anointing and sealing is to be called, elected and made sure. (Teachings, p. 323.)

The question is frequently asked, "Can we not be saved without going through with all those ordinances?" I would answer, No, not the fulness of salvation. (Teachings 331.)

...what you seal on earth, by the keys of Elijah, is sealed in heaven; and this is the power of Elijah, and this is the difference between the spirit and power of Elias and Elijah; for while the spirit of Elias is a forerunner, the power of Elijah is sufficient to make our calling and election sure; (Teachings, p. 338.)

The spirit of Elias if first, Elijah second, and Messiah last. Elias is a forerunner to prepare the way, and the spirit and power of Elijah is to come after, holding the keys of power, building the Temple to the capstone, placing the seals of the Melchizedek Priesthood upon the house of Israel, and making all things ready; then Messiah comes to His Temple [the world], which is last of all. (Teachings 340.)

Here, then is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be Gods yourselves, and to be kings and priest to God, the same as all Gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation to exaltation, until you attain to the ressurection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlastion burnings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power. And I want you to know that God, in the last days, while certain individuals are proclaiming his name, is not trifling with you or me. (Teachings, p. 346-347.)

...They shall be heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a God, and ascend the throne of eternal power, the same as those who have gone before. What did Jesus do: Why; I do the things I say my Father do when worlds came rolling into existence. My Father worked out his kingdom with fear and trembling, and I must do the same; and when I get my kingdom, I shall present it to my Father, so that he may obtain kingdom upon kingdom and it will exalt him in glory. He will then take a higher exaltation, and I will take his place thereby become exalted myself. [Hydes picture] So that Jesus treads in the tracks of his Father, and inherits what God did before; and God is thus glorified and exalted in the salvation and exaltation of all his children. It is plain beyond disputation, and you thus learn some of the first principles of the Gospel, about which so much hath been said. When you climb up a ladder, you must begin at the bottom, and ascend step by step, until you arrive at the top; and so it is with the principles of the Gospel--you must begin with the first, and go on until you learn all the principles of exaltation. But before you will have learned them. It is not all to be comprehended in this world; it will be a great work to learn our salvation and exaltation even beyond the grave. I suppose I am not allowed to go into an investigation of anything that is not contained in the Bible. If I do, I think there are so many over-wise men here, that they would cry "treason" and put me to death. So I will goto the old Bible and turn commentator today. (Teachings, p. 347-348.)

It was written in the law of the Lord on high, that they that overcome by obedience, should be made kings and queens, and priests and priestesses to God and his Father, through the atonement of the eldest son, and that natural eyes should not see, nor natural ears hear, neigher should the natural heart conceive the great glorious, and eternal things, honors and blessings, that were then, in the Father's dominions, and mansions, prepared in the beginning for them that kept the faith to the end, and entered triumphantly into their third estates:--the eternal life. ...Perhaps this subject may excite the curiosity of some: as it will lead the mind back among the worlds that have been organized and passed away,--and among the Gods and angels that have attended to execute the laws and decree of one universe after another, from eternity to eternity, from the beginning till now; and, to increase the curisity of having this present world pass away with a great noise, when there is no place found for it; and of having organized a new heaven and a new earth, wherin dwelleth "righteousness;" and as our fathers cannot be perfect without us, nor we without them; [Speaking all the way back to Adam and from Adam to God and his Father] and st the man is not without the woman neither the woman without the man in the Lord, perhaps Milauleph and his wife, as king and queen to God, and all the sons and daughters of the "head" will shout for joy, and the morning stars sing together again, at the "third" entrance of Idumia and sanctified millions!--Who Knows? (Joseph's Speckled Bird., Times and Seasons 6:917-918) [picture of Orson Hydes, God and His Father]

Addressed by Orson Pratt:

...Mrs. Caroline Smith, deceased wife of Elder William Smith, of the quourm of the Twelve.

...In the morning of creation all things were pronounced good by the Creator, as they rolled into organized existence unsullied and without a curse. Man, the last and noblest of God's creation was placed in the garden of Eden, begining goverened by laws and restricted by commandments, not being subject to sickness, disease, or death. Adam was placed upon the earth an immortal being. He was placed in the garden to dress, beautify and adorn it, and to hold the supremacy of power over all the things of God's creation.

...The Saints will not receive their crowns of glory until after their resurrection. When the curse in part shall be removed from the world; when wickedness and abomination shall be known no more in the land, then will the Saints come forth clothed with immortality, and be crowned with power and glory as a reward for all their labors. No person will be crowned with power in the eternal world, (we are to be kings and priests to God to all eternity,) unless they have been ordained thereto in this life, previous to their death, or by some friend action as proxy for them afterwards, and receiving it for them. What is it to be kings and priests? It is to have honor, authority and dominion, having kingdoms to preside over, and subject to govern, and possessing the ability ever to increase their authority and glory, and extend their dominions.
Paul perfectly understood that the Saints would not receive their crowns of reward until after the resurrection, when he remarked [Made a king and Priest long before given kingdom, but must be made a king and priest on this earth or have someone do it for us.] 'I have fought the good fight; I have kept the faith; and from henceforth is a crown of glory laid up for me, which the Lord the righteous Judg shall give me at the day,a nd not only me, but to all those who love his appearing.'
Our beloved sister, whose remains are now before us, has fallen asleep with the assurance of a glorious resurrection, ans she will come up, being numbered with those who have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb, having passed through great tribulations. She has a right to this honor. She passed through the Missouri presecutions, with her companion, and was ever faithful and true to the cause of God. ...her spirit was called back to the World of spirits, to await that period when she shall be called forth from her grave by the power of the priesthood, to join again with her companion and friends in a state of immortality, to be crowned with celestial honors in the kindom of our God." (Funeral of Mrs. Caroline Smith., addressed by Orson Pratt, Times and Seasons, 6:918-920.)

Some may think that the erection of the Temple more particularly devolves upon brother Brigham, brother Heber, brother Daniel, the Twelve, adn a few of the Seventies, High Priests, and Bishops; and when it is finished they may imagine that they will receive their blessings therein; but that work is designed to be genersl. There must needs be a universal exertion, not only by leading offical members of this Church, but every member, male and female, for the Temple is not for us alone; it is also for our sons, and daughters, and succeeding generations. They will receive blessings in it, and therefore it concdrns them as well as us. If I obtain all the blessings of the Priesthood, all the endowments, all the blessings that God has to confer upon us in this probation, and keep those things sacred while I live, I am then as pure and holy as it is possible for a man to be while in the flesh. Then, if my wives are one with me, my children and their posterity will partake of those blessings which have been placed upon me. Every blessing conferred upon me tends to benefit my posterity. Those blessings are for every righteous man; and the blessings that are conferred upon faithful men and women in the holy anointings and sealings will rest upon their posterity after them for ever and for ever, through their faithfulness; and theri is no end to it. (President Heber C. Kimball, JD Vol. 5:18)

Each person baptized into the Church is under obligation to keep the commandments of the Lord. He is under covenant, for baptism is a "new and an everlasting covenant." (D. C. 22:1.) When he has proved himself by a worthy life, having been faithful in all things required of him, then it is his privilege to receive other covenants and to take upon himself other obligations which will make of him an heir, and he will become a member of the "Church of the Firstborn." Into his hands "the Father has given all things." He will be a priest and a king, receiving of the Father's fulness and of his glory. [D&C 76:50-90, says you must be a priest and king in order to be a member of the church of the firstborn, also D&C 76 says you will come forth in the resurrection as such must be ordained king and priest...] Is this worth having? It cannot be obtained without some effort. It connot be obtained without kinwledge of the things of God. We frequently hear quoted these words of the Lord to Joseph Smith: "It is impossible for a man to be saved in ignorance." [D&C 131] In ignorance of what? the philosophies of the world? No! In ignorance of the Gospel truth--saving principles and ordinances by which salvation comes! These must not only be understood, but they must be lifed! Knowledge thereto will! And then will come the fulness of knowledge, bringing with it wisdom, power and dominion. And the fulness of these blessings can only be obtained in the temple of the Lord! (The Way to Perfection, Joseph Fielding Smith, p. 208-209.)

|v33 And now, as I said unto you before, as ye have had so many witnesses, therefore, I beseech of you that ye do not procrastinate the day of your repentance until the end; for after this day of life, which is given us to prepare for eternity [Ordiances, baptisims, washings, anointings, marriage and the fulness of the priesthood all that can be given to men on earth...], behold, if we do not improve our time while in this life, then cometh the night of darkness wherein there can be no labor performed.
|v34 Ye cannot say, when ye are brought to that awful crisis, that I will repent, that I will return to my God. Nay, ye cannot say this; for that same spirit which doth possess your bodies at the time that ye go out of this life, that same spirit will have power to possess your body in that eternal world. [Your are caught in prison, and as orson hyde says in a privious article you must be made a king and priest on this earth or someone must do it for you at their own leasure and whim and pleasure.]
|v35 For behold, if ye have procrastinated the day of your repentance even until death, behold, ye have become subjected to the spirit of the devil, and he doth seal you his; therefore, the Spirit of the Lord hath withdrawn from you, and hath no place in you, and the devil hath all power over you; and this is the final state of the wicked. [So the devil has us and we cannot overcome death his last great hold on us until these ordinances are performed for us.]

|v36 And this I know, because the Lord hath said he dwelleth not in unholy temples, but in the hearts of the righteous doth he dwell; yea, and he has also said that the righteous shall sit down in his kingdom, to go no more out; but their garments should be made white through the blood of the Lamb.
(BofM:Alma 34:32-36)

The preparatory ordiances there [the Kirtland Temple] administered, though accompanied by the ministration of angels, and the presence of the Lord Jesus, were but a faint similtude of the ordiances of the House of the Lord in their fulness; yet many through the instigation of the devil, thought they had received all, and knew as much as God; they have apostatized, and gone to hell. But be assured, brethren, there are but few, very few of the Elders of Israel, now on earth, who know the meaning of the word endowment. To know, they must experience; and to experience, a Temple must be built.
Let me give you the definition in brief. Your endowment is, to receive all those ordiances in the House of the Lord, which are necessary for you, after you have departed this life, to enable you to walk back to the presence of the Father, passing the angels who stand as sentinels, being enabled to give them the key words, the signs and tokens, pertaining to the Holy Priesthood, and gain you eternal exaltation in spite of earth and hell. [How can one gain his eternal exaltation unless he is a king and a priest and has the fulness of the Priesthood like our Fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.....] (JD V. 2:31, Brigham Young.)

Previous to his death, the Prophet Joseph manifested great anxiety to see the temple completed, as most of you who were with the Church during his day, well know. "Hurry up the work, brethren," he used to say, "let us finish the temple [the Nauvoo Temple]; the Lord has a great endowment in store for you, and I am axious that the brethren should have their endowments and receive the fullness of the priesthood." He urged the Saints forward continually, preaching unto them the importance of completing that buildin, so that therein the ordiances of life and salvation might be administered to the whole people, especially to the quorums of th holy Priesthood; "then," said he, "the Kingdom will be established, and I do not cake what shall become of me." [What Kingdom, Why, a Kingdom of Kings and Priests as the prophets have testified through all generations so that when the Saviour comes he shall be a King of Kings, Priest of Priests, Lord of Lords and God of Gods....]

Prior to the completion of the Temple, he took the Twelve and certain other men, who were chosen, and bestowed upon them a holy anointing, similar to that which was received on the day of Pentecost by the Twelve, who had been told to tarry at Jerusalem. This endowment was bestowed upon the chosen few whom Joseph anointed and ordained [kings and priests], giving unto them the keys of the holy Priesthood, the power and authority which he himself held, to build up the kingdom of God in the earth and accomplesh the great purposes of our Heavenly Father [This is my work and my Glory to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man...bestowing on them all that he has as our Father making us Kings and priests equall with him and Joing heirs with his son....]; and it was by virtue of this authority, on the death of Joseph, that President Young, as President of the quourm of the Twelve, presided over the Chruch.

(JD V. 13:49, George Q. Cannon.)

My beloved brethren: My feelings are to bless those, both young and old, who are magnifying their callings in the priesthood, and to ask the Lord to pour out upon them the good things of his Spirit in this live and assure them the riches of eternity in the life to come.
With all my heart I say to those who are keeping the commandments, who are serving faithfully in the Church, and who are working for the good and berrerment of mankind generally, with all my heart I say: the Lord bless you; and you may rest assured that if you continue in the paths of truth and righteousness, he will welcome you into his eternal kingdom and give yu an inheritance with the prophets and saitns of all ages.
What a glorious thing it is to know that the Lord has offered to each of us the fulness of the priesthood, and has pormised us that if we will receive this priesthood and magnify our callings, we shall gain an everlasting inheritance with him in his kingdom!
This priesthood which we have received is the power and authority of God delegated to man on earth to act in all things for the salvation fo men. It has come to us in this day through the ministry of heavenly messengers sent to Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery.
When Moroni came to Joseph Smith in September 1823, he quoted to him these words which the Lord had given to Malachi: "Behold, I will reveal unto you the Priesthood, by the hand of Elijah the prophet, before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the lord." (D&C 2:1) [This is interesting, the whole and compleate mission of Joseph Smith and the restoration of the Authority and the Church of Jesus Christ was the Capstone of the Temple Elijah to prepare us for the Messiah....]
To prepare the way for the coming of Elijah and the restoration of the sealing power, because of which men may receive the fullness of the priesthood, John the Baptist came in May of 1829 and conferred upon Joseph and Oliver the Aaronic Priesthood. A short time later Peter, James, and John came and gave them the Melchizedek Priesthood.
Then on April 3, 1836, in the Kirtland Temple, Elijah the prophet returned and bestowed upon them the sealing power, the power to use the priesthood to bind on earth and seal in heaven.
Then in 1841 the Lord revealed to the Prophet that "the fullness of the priesthood" was available to men only in the temple, in "a house" built to his name. (See D&C 124.) And in 1843 the Prophet said: "If a man gets a fulness of the priesthood of God, he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordiances of the house of the Lord." (Documentary History of the Church, Vol. 5, p. 244.)
Let me put this in a little different way. I dont care what office you hold in the Church--you may be an apostle, you may be a patriarch, a high priest, or anything else--but you cannot receive the fullness of the priesthood and the fulness of eternal reward unless you receive the ordiances of the house of the Lord; and when you receive these ordiances, the door is then open so that you can obtain all the blessings which man can gain.
Do not think because someone has a higher office in the Church than you have that you are barred from receiving the fulness of the Lord's blessings. You can have them sealed upon you as an elder, if you are faithful; and when you receive them, and live faithfully and keep these covenants, you then have all that any man can get.
There is no exaltation in the kingdom of God without the fulness of the priesthood, and every man who receives the Melchizedek Priesthood does so with an oath and a covenant that he shall be exalted.
The covenant on man's part is that he will magnify his calling in the priesthood, and that he will live by every word that proceedeth forth from the mough of God, and that he will keep the commandments.

The covenant on the Lord's part is that if man does as he promises, then all that the Father hath shall be given unto him; and this is sucy a solemn and important promise that the Lord swears with an oath that it shall come to pass.
Those of you who hold the Aaronic Priesthood have not yet received this oath and covenant which belongs to the Higher Priesthood, but you do have great blessings that come later.
If you serve faithfully as a deacon, as a teacher, and as a priest, you gain the experience and acquire the abilities and capacityies which enable you to receive the Melchizedek Priesthood and to magnify your calling in it.
The Aaronic Priesthood holds the keys of the ministering of angels, and of preaching the gospel of repentance, and of performing baptism for the remission of sins. These are very great blessings and are necessary to prepare the way for the even greater blessings of the house of the Lord, those blessings out of which exaltation comes.
I think we all know that the blessings of the preisthood are not confined to men alone. These blessings are also poured out upon our wives and daughters and upon all the faithful women of te Church. These good sisters can prepare themselves, by keeping the commandments and by serving in the Church, for the blessings of the house of the Lord. The Lord offers to his daughters every spiritual gift and blessing that can be obtained by his sons, for neither is the man without the woman nor the woman without the man in the LOrd. (President Joseph Fielding Smith, Era, June 1970, p. 65-66.)

INTRODUCTION

[Our presenter today is] Paul Toscano. When I was thinking what to say, I think, there are three words that one could use to describe Paul -- what he does. He's an attorney, a writer and a theologian. He's a practicing attorney specializing in bankruptcy here in Salt Lake City. He received all his degrees from B.Y.U. His master degree was in English literature and he received his J.D. from the J. Reuben Clark Law School. As a writer, he has published, including a book called, Gospel Letters to a Mormon Missionary. He has also co-authored and co-produced three documentary films. I am sure many of you have read his article in B.Y.U. Studies and other periodicals. And the third thing, Paul Toscano is theologian, and that's why we are have come here today.

Maybe one of the nicest things about Paul is that he is married to Margaret Toscano (Laughter), and they have four lovely daughters: Angela, Elizabeth, Mary and priceless little Sarah. But if I could choose three word to describe Paul, it would be a "disciple of Christ".

FULLNESS OF THE PRIESTHOOD: INHERITANCE, APPOINTMENT, INVESTITURE ANOINTING, OATH AND COVENANT

by

Paul James Toscano

Just by way of preliminary response to the introduction, what does a bankruptcy lawyer have to say about the Gospel? Well in response to that, I will say to you this enigmatic statement, that I see that the law of bankruptcy is to the law of contract, what Christianity is to Judaism. And although I had always wished that God would appoint me to the work of the salvation of souls, I have had to satisfy myself with the redemption of people's realty. (Laughter)

With respect to my having received all my degrees at B.Y.U., I have to apologize for this, but I can assure you that I have traveled widely in Provo. (Laughter)

As a writer I am surprised that my book, which has been relegated to the relative outer darkness of the devotional shelf at the bookstore has suddenly been renominated as part of a movement of neo-orthodoxy. Perhaps someone will now read the book. I can only hope that they don't dislike it.

And as for being a theologian, I don't know if I am a theologian in any philosophical or classical sense, but if it means that you love God, then I'd like to say that I do that.

What I am going to say is that a lot of people -- I don't know who you are -- what I am going to say is quite a bit different from the tone we took this morning in a session that was full of rollicking good humor and I wish to say at the outset of this paper that -- ah, the things I have to say in this paper are somewhat stark in some cases and seemingly somewhat harsh. They are not meant to be offensive, and they are certainly meant to be supportive. I've entitled the paper, "The Fullness of the Priesthood." I have, however, added a subtitle, which you don't have, "Inheritance, Appointment, Investiture, Anointing, and Oath and Covenant", for reasons that shall become apparent in a moment.

My purpose in giving this paper is to contradict certain ideas about priesthood that are popularly held by many Mormons, but that are in my view destructive of faith, hope, charity and spirituality, and that tend to block out the inspiration necessary to induce people to repent, to forgive and to do unto others as they would be done by.

I wish to contradict, for example, the idea that the priesthood is God's gift to worthy males as contradistinction to motherhood as God's gift to worthy females; and that priesthood authorizes males to preside over and control spiritual and ecclesiastical affairs, while motherhood authorizes females to serve and nurture; and that priesthood is within the exclusive gift of the hierarchy of the Church; and that the priesthood and its keys are bestowed only by the laying on of hands and are exercisably only in the context of predetermined Church offices or dignities; and the priesthood functioning and acknowledged by the Church is the highest expression of divine authority.

I wish to contradict these ideas because I do not believe that they emanate from Jesus Christ. I cannot accept the fact that they come from the same God who descended into mortality and assumed the aspect, weaknesses and transgressions of his people, who allowed himself to be ridiculed, reviled, rejected and crucified, who reserved for himself a private, rather than a public victory over his enemies, who entrusted the witness of this triumph over death and hell, first, to a small group of powerless and believing women, and then to a small group of powerless and initially unbelieving men.

I cannot believe that the author of the gospel of humility, forgiveness, spiritual equality, interpersonal maturity, mutual interdependence, and love could also be the author of doctrines that exclude believing women; prefer men, believing or unbelieving; and reenforce attitudes of elitism, self-righteousness and moral superiority. Doctrines that are responsible in large measure for the systematic profanation, and bureaucratization of the Church organization, which has for the last sixty years at least relied upon these and other teachings to justify its growing appetite for centralized corporate control; that has resulted in the lessening of local ecclesiastical autonomy, vitality, flexibility and spiritual responsiveness, and also to justify its fetish for a favorable public image and worldly admiration; that has resulted in a trivialization of doctrine, and the spiritual bankruptcy of its rank and file members, who are admonished to content themselves with empty husks and sentimental pulp.

In this paper it will not be my approach to present to you documentary historical evidence from the Nineteenth and early Twentieth Centuries in an attempt to rebut one by one these counterproductive ideas about priesthood. Rather, I will re-examine some of the foundational stories and revelations of our religion, and through them present to you a view of priesthood that I hope will stand in opposition to these popularly, but deadly notions. This has been my approach on a number occasions, and usually I feel constrained to justify it because it is not especially scientific or historical.

But recently I read a statement that was highly commendatory of this approach. It appeared in Peggy Fletcher's interview of Martin Marty in the March 1987 issue of Sunstone on page 48. Marty said

> My hunch is that the kind of dissidents who might serve for revitalization of Mormonism would be those who know the tradition, selectively take it seriously, and then throw it up in the face of the present. The one who can say, 'Look, you have denied the intentions of the founders,' will have a point. That's probably the role of a dissident in Mormonism; working to keep alive some sense of the inchoateness of ferment and experiment that was present in the earlier years of the Mormon movement.

This is what I will try to do. To engage in what is perhaps the last remaining effective form of dissent in the Church. To retrieve and reexamine the old foundational myths and reassert them as the standard and measure of what we ought to belief, say and do in the Church. Not in a dogmatic way, but as an alternative to the party line in the hope that these old stories will serve as a rebuke to our narrow-mindedness, to our denigration of women, to our relentless preoccupation with male leadership and dominance, to our blind and baseless belief that we can somehow advance to spiritual maturity, while clinging to our adolescent attitudes of sex and sex roles, and while nourishing our predilection for legalistic Christianity and an oppressive ecclesiastical regime.

Good ideas can sometimes be a good influence, a breath of fresh air in a stale room. Not always, of course, but perhaps by revisiting the foundational stories of our faith we can find in them a therapy for the spiritual disorders, that if not corrected must inevitably lead to the death of all that is good in Mormonism.

As an initial general observation, and let me say that the word "fullness of the priesthood" constitutes a term of art that is used in Mormonism and also in Catholicism, it refers to the full compliment of divine gifts, powers, ordinances, authorities and prerogatives that God has promised to morals on earth. The fullness of the priesthood was defined for Mormons by the Prophet Joseph Smith in a discourse on Elias, Elijah and Messiah:

Now for Elijah. The spirit, power and calling of Elijah is, that he has power to hold the keys of revelations, ordinances, oracles, powers and endowments of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood and of the kingdom of God on the earth; and to receive, obtain and perform all the ordinances belonging to the kingdom of God, even unto the turning of the hearts of the fathers unto the children, and the hearts of the children unto the fathers, even those who are in heaven (TPJS, p 337).

I am not going to dwell much on the nature of this priesthood, which I have done in other places. Instead what I wish to suggest, today, is according to our foundational stories, the various components of the fullness of the priesthood, that is its various keys, powers and authorities and spiritual gifts have been transmitted by God to mortals in different ways. And it is by reflecting on these different mechanism of transmittal that I intend to develop a view of priesthood that I hope will be less simplistic, less authoritarian, and less paternalistic than the popular Mormon view.

The scriptures in my view set for five principle mechanism of priesthood transmittal. They are first by inheritance, second by appointment, third by investiture, fourth by anointing and fifth by oath and covenant from God. All of these mechanisms are mentioned or alluded to in the foundational stories of the chosen seed. The stories of Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Rebekah, and Jacob and Rachel, as set forth in the Book of Genesis. That strange book, so full of familiar tales, which when one actually reads them turn out to be full of unfamiliar details, that sometime gives us pause and discomfort.

Priesthood by Inheritance:

Let me review these stories with the purpose of highlighting in them how the priesthood was transmitted from parent to child as an inheritance. We all recall the story of Abraham and Sarah, more or less, how at age ninety Abram was visited by God. How God made a covenant with him. How God changed his name to Abraham. How He made him a father of many nations and gave him Canaan as an everlasting inheritance. But, what is a little jarring when we actually read the story is that God made a distinct and separate covenant with Sarai as well. God changed her name to Sarah, to signify that she would become, no only a "mother of nations; but that kings should come of her." (Gen. 17:16.)

The first, and perhaps most important question raised by this story relates to God's covenant. What was the content, nature and purpose of the promise or covenant that God made with Abraham and Sarah? While the answer to this is implicit in the stories of the Old and New Testaments, it was made explicit by Joseph Smith in his version of these foundational stories as they appear in the Pearl of Great Price, and in the Inspired Translation of Genesis 14, where we are told that God promised the priesthood to Enoch and his posterity, and that > everyone being ordained after this order and calling should have power, by faith, to break mountains, to divide seas, to dry up waters, to turn them out of their course; to put at defiance the armies of nations, to divide the earth, to break every band, to stand in the presence of God. (JST Gen. 14:30-31)

Melchizedek, as a descendant of Enoch, later obtained this priesthood and received power over nature:

> Melchizedek was a man of faith, who wrought righteousness; and when a child he feared God, and stopped the mouths of lions, and quenched fire. And thus, having been approved of God, he was ordained an high priest after the order God made with Enoch, it being after the order of the Son of God. (JST Gen. 14:26-27.)

Abraham, too, having "sought for the blessings of the fathers, and the right whereunto [he] should be ordained to administer the same . . . and to be a father of many nations, a prince of peace . . . become a rightful heir, a High Priest, holding the right belonging to the fathers." (Abr. 1:2.)

But the point I wish to emphasize here is that these Mormon texts, when read together with the King James Bible Version imply that Sarah too obtained the priesthood, for her name was changed to mean princess, princess of peace, and she is called a mother of many nations, a title equivalent to Abraham's.

We do not pick up the involvement of Sarah, Rebekah and Rachel with the priesthood, because I think we are inclined to read these stories with a patriarchal prejudice inherent in our religious training, but even with this bias, we usually become aware in these old stories of certain angularities, certain curious statements, or odd juxtapositions of ideas which we are likely to pass over in as irrelevant, peculiarities or perhaps errors in the text. If we were to pause on these portions, perhaps certain questions would present themselves to us. For example, why if Abraham was the descendant of Enoch would not any of his sons have been able to inherit the right of priesthood? In other words, to become the chosen seed. Why did the child have to be Sarah's child as well? Abraham himself suggested as much when he asked God why the covenant could not be established with Ishmael, "Oh, that Ishmael might be before thee?" (Gen. 17:18). Why not?

The answer is that Ishmael, though Abraham's son, was not Sarah's son. God had not made his covenant with Abraham alone; he had also made a covenant with Sarah on an equal footing with him. The chosen seed of those who were to inherit the right of priesthood was to be her seed as well as his. But the story suggests something more revolutionary than this.

It suggests that in the culture of Abraham and Sarah the right to the priesthood was not passed on through the father, but through the mother. I believe that this hypothesis explains to some extent why the Book of Genesis seems overstocked with stories of courtship and marriage, and is so preoccupied with reassuring us that Isaac and Jacob particularly married the right women. The evidence, I think, is sufficient to justify this hypothesis.

I wish first to examine the evidence that exists in the stories of Sarah and her suitors: Pharaoh the King of Egypt, Abimelech the King of Gerar, and Yahweh the King of Heaven.

In the twelfth chapter of Genesis we are told how Abraham and Sarah journeyed to Egypt, where Abraham tells the emissaries of the Pharaoh's court that Sarah is his sister. This is only a half truth; Sarah was really his half-sister, as well as his wife. This strange detail, that Abraham and Sarah had different mothers but the same father, is important. It evidences that their native culture was a matrilineal one, where children of the same father, but different mothers, could marry. But what meaning could this have in light of the stories of Sarah's and her royal suitors, who pursued her as a great price, even when she was old?

I think the answer lies in understanding the rituals of the sacred marriage, the hieros gamos. During this period in this local it was not uncommon for a king to seek a ritual marriage with a priestess in order to imitate the divine union of the god and the goddess. Such a marriage was looked upon as a sacred ordinance that could guarantee peace, fertility and prosperity to the kingdom. Both Pharaoh's and Abimelech's interest in Sarah, considering her maturity, are plausible in terms of this custom. Both Pharaoh and Abimelech are presented in the story as being Sarah's suitors, not because of her beauty, even is age could not whither her, nor custom stale her infinite variety, but to establish that kings sought Sarah for the priestly inheritance she could confer on her posterity, and this echoes certain statements made in our own texts about Egyptus, the daughter of Ham, being thought to have the power through inheritance to pass on the priestly right to the descendants of Ham, who claimed the priesthood as part of their royal office in Egypt. Sarah's only successful royal suitor is Yahweh himself. Traditionally it is understood that Yahweh performed a miracle, that allowed Abraham to beget a child on the barren Sarah. But the story strongly implies that Yahweh visited and had intercourse with Sarah in order to produce Isaac, the chosen seed who was then presented to Abraham as his adopted son in fulfillment of God's promise. I know that this is extremely shocking, but that is what the text seems to say.

In Genesis 18:14 God makes Abraham this promise, "I will return unto thee, according to the time of life, and Sarah shall have a son." Why did God have to return at the time of life? Can He not do miracles without being present? Genesis 21:1 says that returned and visited Sarah. I have been informed that the word "visited" here is translated from a Hebrew word that serves as a euphemism for the sex act. But even if this were not so, it is strange that the story represents the Lord as the one to visit Sarah. One would have expected Abraham to have made this visit, "And the Lord visited Sarah as he had said, and the Lord did unto Sarah as he had spoken. For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a son." (Gen. 21:1-2.) Had this been written about any character than Yahweh, its implications would have been less troubling to admit. Here we have the same pattern that is asserted in the New Testament with the birth of Jesus Christ.

These three stories suggest that Sarah was the priestess, whose marriage to the king would bring about the hieros gamos, the sacred marriages that rejuvenates the kingdom. She is sought after by earthly kings for this reason. She is united with the heavenly King for this reason. The story implies that Yahweh, as her divine Consort, descends to her, marries her, begets of her the child of promise, the chosen seed in order to guarantee to his kingdom on earth peace, prosperity and fertility and spiritual blessing. In light of this interpretation Isaac becomes a hero, but not a divine being, for the story does not say of Isaac that he was conceived by the power of God; Sarah the mortal is not transfigured as was Mary. In this story God comes to the mortal princess, the mortal is not brought to the God. And Abraham appears to be given a new relationship with God through his sacrifice in agreeing to the marriage. Abraham becomes the adoptive father of the chosen seed, which becomes his posterity through the covenant which all three have entered into.

My point in bringing this thing up, this admittedly strange, unusual, perhaps even offensive interpretation, is that the stories of Sarah and her suitors suggest that she, and not Abraham, was the vessel through which the rights of the priesthood were transmitted. This is further substantiated by the portrayal in the story of Abraham's concern that Isaac marry a woman of his and Sarah's family.

The story is that Abraham sends his servant Eleazar back to his and Sarah's ancestral home. Abraham's brother is Nahor. Nahor married Milcha and they had a son Bethuel. That makes Bethuel, Abraham's nephew. Bethuel's daughter is Rebekah. One of the peculiar details about this story is that Rebekah is announced, not merely as the daughter of Bethuel, but as the daughter of "Bethuel, the son of Milcha, the wife of Nahor" (Gen. 24:15). The story is concerned that we be aware of Rebekah's lineage through her mother. This is evidence, I believe, that the story was originally not patrilocal and patrilineal, but matrilocal and matrilineal. The implication is that Rebekah's inheritance is to be transmitted to her from her grandmother. There is more. After Rebekah meets and converses with Abraham's servant for the first time, the story says, "The damsel ran and told them of her mother's house these things" (Gen. 24:28). In a matrilocal culture, one's house is the house of one's mother, not one's father. Moreover, the negotiations for the marriage of Rebekah and Isaac are carried on with Rebekah's brother, not her father. This is so, even though her father is mentioned as joining in the negotiations in a secondary way. In a matrilineal society the brother would hold to this more favored position, because he would be an heir of his mother, even though he might not be able to pass on the inheritance, unless he married an heiress. Also, after Rebekah accepts the marriage proposal, Abraham favors with gifts, not Rebekah's father, but her mother and brother.

Finally there is the evidence of Abraham's concerned that Rebekah agree to leave home, to live with Isaac. This would not be of concern in a patrilocal culture, where that would be expected, but only in a matrilocal culture where the norm would be for the man to leave his home and live in the house of the bride's mother. Moreover, when Rebekah arrives in Canaan she sets up residence in Sarah's tent, suggesting that she is being ensconced in the deceased Sarah's place as her rightful heir.

All this evidence is fortified in the story of Esau and Jacob. Rebekah, like Sarah before her, is concerned about the right wife for her sons, both of whom are rightful heirs to the priesthood. But in this story to Rebekah's displeasure Esau marries into the wrong family. While Jacob in keeping with Rebekah's wishes returns to the ancestral home and marries two of his mother's nieces.

Then we are told the peculiar story of Rachel and her family idols. Rachel considers these idols her inheritance, and sits on them, so that the father cannot find them. She takes them with her when she departs for Canaan with Leah and Jacob. Argument has been made by various scholars that this story signifies that Rachel, as the youngest daughter, and not Leah was the rightful heiress of the priestly inheritance. It has also been suggested by some scholars that these idols were not worshiped, but were rather holy objects, like the Urim and Thummin used for divination.

I have presented all this as evidence of the fact that the right to the priesthood, considered an essential prerequisite to the receipt and exercise of priestly authority, was passed on in matrilineal succession, possibly by rite of ultimogeniture and that it was the inheritance of the youngest female and that Sarah, Rebekah and Rachel were heiresses of this right. This evidence further suggests that those who were ordained to the priesthood of God had first to acquire the rights to this priesthood from their mothers, as vessels of this priestly authority.

Later in the time of Moses a patrilineal priesthood right was conferred on the House of Levi and the sons of Aaron. But the existence of such a patrilineal right was not necessarily exclusive. It could have existed side by side with the more ancient matrilineal right. With the advent of Christianity the emphasis on lineal priesthood rights was eclipsed or supplanted. The exclusivity of Hebrew claim to the priesthood was swept away. Gentiles were given access to God's priesthood or gospel covenant through Jesus Christ, the messenger of the covenant, who was proclaimed a light, not only to Israel, but to the Gentiles. Paul write in his letter to the Galatians, whose authority has not been seriously questioned by scholars,

> Tell me, ye that desire to be under the law, do ye not hear the law? For its is written, that Abraham had two sons, the one by a bondmaid, and the other by a freewoman, but he [Ishmael] who was of the bondwoman was born after the flesh; but he [Isaac] born of the freewoman was by promise (Gal. 4:21–23)
> Now we as [Christians], as Isaac was, are the children of promise [that is, children of the covenant]. But as then he that was born after the flesh [that is, the Jews] persecute him that was born after the Spirit

[that is, the Christians] (Gal. 4:28-29).

Modern Mormon scriptures acknowledges that priesthood rights are lineal. D&C 86 states,

> Therefore, thus saith the Lord unto you with whom the priesthood hath continued through the lineage of your fathers -- For ye are lawful heirs, according to the flesh, and have been hid from the world with Christ in God -- Therefore your life and the priesthood have remained, and must needs remain through you and your lineage until the restoration of all things as spoken by the mouths of all the holy prophets since the world began. (D&C 86:8-10).

The reference here is to a patrilineal priesthood.

Nothing is said in the Doctrine and Covenants of a matrilineal priesthood, except perhaps allegorically, In Section 113:7 which contains an answer to the question about the meaning of the passage in Isaiah that says, "Put on thy strength, O Zion" (Isa. 52:2). According to that passage "'To put on thy strength' is to put on the authority of the priesthood, which she, Zion, has a right to by lineage; also to return to that part which she had lost" (D&C 113:7). But, though allegorical the feminine pronouns do suggest that the rights of the priesthood, or at least certain rights of the priesthood, could have been transmitted, or may have had something to do with transmittal in matrilineal, rather than patrilineal succession.

Priesthood by Appointment

The inheritance of priesthood rights was a prerequisite to further priestly dignities whose transmittal was by appointment, blessing or ordination. This is made explicit in the story of the birthright conflict between Rebekah's twins, Esau and Jacob. As they grew, Isaac favored his elder son, while Rebekah favored her younger. The story implies by this portrayal that the family was divided on the succession issue. Was it patrilineal and primogeniturative and, therefore, did it point to Esau, or was it matrilineal and ultimogeniturative and, therefore, point to Jacob?

In this story God seems to have confirmed the matrilineal concept. The story makes it clear that Rebekah and Jacob stole nothing; they were claiming their due. For example, we are told that while her sons were yet in utero, Rebekah was told by God that the younger would rule over the elder. Then we are told that Esau sold his birthright to Jacob for a pot of lentil soup. Then comes the story of how Jacob dresses in skins to trick the blind Isaac into believing that he is blessing his hairy son Esau, when it is in fact Jacob in disguise. But after Isaac learns that he has been tricked, he has no cursing for Rebekah or Jacob. In fact, he acknowledges the hand of God in the affair, comforts his son Esau and reconfirms Jacob's appointment.

The point of this, is that Rebekah, although quite certain of her position on succession of the priesthood rights, does not deny, disparage or denigrate Isaac's right to confer the priesthood by blessing upon one of her sons. In fact, this blessing or ordination is so important that Rebekah is willing to deceive her husband and put herself and her younger son at odds with Esau in order to assure that Jacob gets this blessing. For her the inheritance alone was not sufficient.

Thus, Jacob received a blessing or ordination very similar to what was given to his father Isaac by his grandfather Abraham, and to his grandfather Abraham by Melchizedek which some traditions identify with Shem, the son of Noah. In Joseph Smith's version of Genesis there exists a passage that implies that the blessing given to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob was, in fact, an ordination to the priestly order, "And now he [Melchizedek] lifted his voice and blessed Abram, being the high priest . . . and gave to him riches, honors and lands for an everlasting inheritance" (JST Gen. 14:37,40). Abraham, as an heir of the priesthood, was blessed to the priestly order. This view was expressed by Joseph Smith, "Abraham says to Melchizedek, I believe all thou hast taught me concerning the priesthood and the coming of the Son of Man; so Melchizedek ordained Abraham and sent him away. Abraham rejoiced, saying, Now I have a priesthood" (TPJS, pp. 322-323).

In the Pearl of Great Price this same story is told. Abraham who was an heir, became a rightful heir by virtue of his ordination by Melchizedek. But what is usually overlooked in these stories is the fact that Rebekah, too, is presented as the recipient of such a blessing or ordination. In Genesis 24:60 the story states, "And they [that is, the mother and the brother of Rebekah] blessed Rebekah and said unto her, . . . be though the mother of thousands of millions, and let thy seed possess the gate of those which hate them" (Gen. 24:60). This is virtually the same language used in the story to set forth God's blessing to Sarah. However, there is little other evidence of the ordination of women in the old stories.

The modern evidence is also slim, but there is some.

[End of Side One]

In this context the designation appears to be without priestly significance. But later in the 1840's, when the Relief Society was organized, Joseph Smith read the Elect Lady revelation and stated that Emma was called the Elect Lady because she was elected to preside. Joseph stated that Emma had been ordained at the time D&C 25 had been given back in July 1830. On this occasion John Taylor ordained Emma's counselors in the Relief Society. Later Church Leaders have denied that these ordinations had priesthood significance. They are now considered to have been mere settings apart to callings in the Relief Society.

Nevertheless, there is something about the priesthood that perhaps may shed some light on ordinations why ordinations may have not been extended to women in the Church on a generally basis. It appears from the foundational stories that the priesthood restored by Peter, James and John was only a provisional priesthood, sufficient to administer the basic gospel ordinances, to organize and maintain the Church, and to build the temple, where according to Joseph Smith Elijah was to come and restore the fullness of the priesthood to Church members. In October 1840 Joseph Smith stated, "Elijah was the last prophet that held the keys of the Priesthood, and who will, before the last dispensation, restore the authority and deliver the keys of the Priesthood, in order that all of the ordinances may be attended to in righteousness" (TPJS, p. 172). In June 1843 Joseph Smith stated, that to obtain the fullness of the priesthood, one had to get it the same way "Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordinances of the house of the Lord" (TPJS, p. 308).

The evidence of the ordination of women to the priesthood is scanty, but there is enough, I think, to establish at least a very weak precedent for the transmittal of priesthood authority to women by appointment, blessing or ordination. But more importantly, that it appears from the statements of Joseph Smith that ordination to the priesthood was only a provisional measure anyway and it was intended the priesthood be conferred upon men and women by way of the temple endowment. Joseph Smith meant for the endowment and the fullness of the keys of the priesthood to be conferred upon and exercised by men and women alike.

Priesthood by Investiture:

The idea that certain priesthood prerogatives are transmitted by investiture, that is by enrobing in priestly clothing, is suggested in the foundational stories. In Genesis 3:21 God makes a coat of skins for Adam and Eve. In the temple ceremony initiates are told that these garments are the garments of the holy priesthood and confer special powers on those who are ceremonially clothed in them as part of the being endowed.

In Genesis 9:28 there is the story of Ham and how he is punished for seeing his father's nakedness, which Shem and Japeth cover with a garment.

Joseph Smith explained that the garment was the garment of the priesthood and that Ham had tried to obtain this and its attendant priestly prerogatives by force and that Shem and Japeth had restored it to their father.

In the story of Esau and Jacob, Rebekah's trick involved the clothing of Jacob in skins, so that he would appear to the blind Isaac to be the elder Esau. I wonder if this story, like the Noah and Ham story, is not a parable about the priestly garment? Perhaps Jacob obtained the garment and its attendant priestly rights, and Isaac is portrayed as confirming or ratifying the transmittal of these rights.

At any rate, nothing more is mentioned about a garment until Genesis 37:3. Jacob loved his son Joseph more than all his other children and gave him a coat, or made him a coat of many colors. Nibley has written that this coat was not, in fact, a coat of many colors, but an ornamented coat, a replica of the ancient priesthood garment. Assuming this were so, then the passage would signify that Jacob had conferred upon his favorite son Joseph certain priesthood blessings by this act of investiture.

However, I have found no reference in the stories to a woman's, other than Eve, having received the garment of the priesthood. However, the temple ceremony as an oral representation of the Mormon version of the foundational stories of Adam and Eve presents clear evidence that the garment of the priesthood with its attendant priestly rights and blessings is as much for women as for men. In fact, the language of the temple ceremony attaches enormous significance to the garment and the other priestly robes. For as temple initiates are told that with the robe on the right shoulder the invested initiate, man or woman, can "officiate in all of the ordinances of the Melchizedek Priesthood." The endowment occasionally treats men differently from women, but not in this instance. If the statement is to have any significance for males, it must have the same significance for females.

Priesthood by Anointing:

Anointing, like investiture, is a mechanism of priesthood transmittal that appears throughout the Old and New Testaments, but not directly in the Genesis stories, where the word "anointing" is not used. However, in Genesis 28:18, we are told that Jacob dreamed of a ladder on which the angels of God ascended and descended, and that in this same dream God appear to him and promised to be with him always. When Jacob awoke he was afraid;

> How dreadful is this place! this is none other than the house of God; this is the very gate of heaven. And Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone that he had put for his pillows, and set to up for a pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it" (Gen. 28:17-18).

Later in Genesis 35:14, after God again appeared to Jacob he again "set up a pillar of stone . . . and poured a drink offering thereon, and he poured oil thereon." This latter statement implies that the anointings were in the nature of libations and not ordinations. Yet, in both instances the pouring of oil is associated with a theophany, a covenant from God, and the outpouring upon Jacob of a divine blessing.

However, in the other books of the Old Testament anointings appear prominently, as a means of consecrating objects, such as the tabernacle and its furniture, shields, as well as prophets, priests and kings. Oil becomes so important in this regard that it is made a crime to compound it. The effect produced by the anointing is to render the anointed one sacrosanct. In Psalms the anointing becomes metaphor for the bestowal of divine favor. It signifies the outpouring of God's Holy Spirit.

However, there is no mention, that I have found, in these stories of the anointing of women. Nevertheless, the temple ceremony, which as I said, must be seen in Mormonism as another version of the foundational story of Adam and Eve, the anointing is prominent, not only in the initiatory ordinances, but as stated in the ceremony as one of the crowning blessings promised the initiates, the final anointing to the status of kings and priests and queens and priestesses.

Again, Mormon ritual practice establishes the propriety of anointing women to the status of queens and priestesses, the language of the ritual states that the women are anointed queens and priestesses to their husbands, while men are anointed kings and priests to God. One interpretation of this difference in language is that women are being reduced to a second class priesthood, while men are made subordinate to God, women are being made subordinate to men. There is another interpretation. When the woman is anointed a queen and priestess, she is receiving the blessings of Sarah and of Eve. She becomes a priestess after that order. As I have suggested previously such a priestess is a candidate for the hieros gamos, the sacred marriage with God. That is why in the temple the women are veiled, not because they are inferior, but because as priestesses they represent the Goddess whose identity is veiled and whose face is hidden, but who is adorned as the bride of the Heavenly King. When in the temple a woman is anointed to be a queen and priestess to her husband, she is the substitute for the Goddess and is being married to her earthly husband, thereby connecting him with the Divine, but she is also being anointed to a queen and priestess to her heavenly Husband. Like Eve, Sarah, Rebekah and Rachel, the woman is the bride of God, and the man is the groom of the Goddess. The temple ceremony is not primarily a means to establish relationships among mortals, but a means to prepare and initiate mortals into a new relationship with the Deity.

Priesthood by Oath and Covenant:

The transmittal of the priesthood by an oath and covenant is common in the Genesis account. God promises the priesthood to an individual and seals it with an oath, which God swears by himself, since there is nothing greater that he can swear by. This pattern was followed with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The writer of the New Testament Book of Hebrews explains that > when God made promise to Abraham, because he [God] could swear by no greater, he swore by himself, saying, Surely blessing I will bless and multiplying I will multiply thee. And so after [Abraham] had patiently endured, he obtained the promise. [Now] men, verily, swear by the greater, and an oath for confirmation is the end of all strife. Wherein God willing more abundantly to shew unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath, that by two immutable things, the oath [and covenant] . . . in which it was impossible for God to lie, that we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hopes set before us (Heb. 6:13-18).

Abraham who had apparently endured his trials, received from God the priesthood by an oath and covenant, because God, wishing to show Abraham that his promise was immutable was willing to confirm it by an oath, made upon his own divine name.

The connection between the priesthood and an oath and covenant is familiar to Mormons, but the popular concept of this is all muddled. We are taught that it is the priesthood candidate who makes the oath and covenant, not God. This mistake, I think, stems from Mormon obsession with legalism, with earning salvation, with keeping all the commandments. In this works-oriented light the oath and covenant is not a mechanism of priesthood transmitted, but yet another mechanism of control. It is reduced to a personal commitment to do good works in return for which God will give back everything he has, but the oath and covenant has nothing to do with bargaining for the blessings of heaven on a quid pro quo basis.

The oath and covenant is the basis of a gift, not a contract. God promises to give as a free gift all that he has, the fullness of the priesthood, including all of its blessings, keys and gifts, including the gift of the sacred marriage, and because he is willing to show that he will not renege on this gift, he invokes upon himself, in his own name, since there is no one greater to enforce the oath, that he would die rather than to break this promise. And, of course, he did die for that very reason.

The oath and covenant is given to confirm upon an individual all that the Father has. D&C 76, speaking of those individuals in the highest glories, states they are priests "after the order of Melchizedek" and that "the Father hath given [them] all things")D&C 76:55,57). This gift of all things is conferred by an oath and covenant according the D&C 84.

That women were intended to be included in this category of priests who obtain all things is clear from D&C 132, where we are told that those who attain the highest glory are both men and women who obtain the fullness of the priesthood. These individuals, male and female, shall be gods because all things are subject to them. These are the inhabitants of the earth who are begotten sons and daughters unto God. I think Joseph Smith had this concept in mind in 1842 when he told the Relief Society of Nauvoo that "the Society should move according to the ancient Priesthood, hence there should be a select society, separate from all the evils of the world, choice, virtuous and holy" (WJS, p. 110). And then Joseph Smith said, that "he was going to make of this society a kingdom of priests as in Enoch's day---as in Paul's day" (WJS, p. 110). The reference to Enoch is instructive, for it was Enoch who received the priesthood by an oath and covenant from God. The evidence then indicates the oath and covenant of the priesthood is intended for men and women alike.

The Fullness of the Priesthood:

The fullness of the priesthood is then the aggregate of all the gifts, prerogatives and authorities of the priesthood that can be transmitted in these various ways: by inheritance, whether by lineage or adoption; by appointment or ordination; by investiture; by anointing; and finally by an oath and covenant by God himself. The fullness of the priesthood is not an end in itself, but a preparation for the sacred marriage by which the king and priest and queen and priestess are united with the Godhead and receive the indwelling of the powers of heaven, the power of God over the elements.

The scriptures are shot through with stories of the miraculous: Abraham viewing the heavens through the Urim and Thummin; Sarah miraculously conceiving Isaac; Rebekah being told by God of the inheritance of Esau and Jacob; Jacob using supernatural, means to increase his herds; Joseph interpreting the dreams of Pharaoh; and Moses yielding divine power to counter the Egyptian priests and lead the Israelites out of bondage. These miracles are shadows of a greater miracle, one along side of which all these others pale in comparison, and that is the miracle of making the unholy holy, the profane sacred, the sinful righteous, the dead alive, the human divine. It is nothing less than the miracle of the transformation of women and men into Goddesses and Gods.

The Priesthood and the Church Today:

These foundational stories depict strange people in strange places, doing and saying strange things, but it is clear that they are mature men and women, struggling in the world to do the will of God. The problem with the Church today is that in its modern pronouncements it promulgates a view of the world that is decidedly not mature. It expects people to conform to a picture of perfection that is juvenile, lifeless and flat. It is as if we were expected always to look and act as we might just at the moment when we are sitting for a family photograph at an Olin Mills studio. The stresses many women feel in the Church do not actually stem from a premeditated program of female disparagement or persecution, but from the larger problem in our Church of arrested personal development. These stresses are also felt by many men, who for one reason or another do not hold or cannot draw satisfaction from positions of authority in the Church's power structure. These stresses are generated in large measure by the Church bureaucracy's eagle scout mentality, in which all categories are clear, crisp, certain, but woefully inadequate, and spiritually depersonalizing.

The world population is large, and there will always be enough such mentalities who will find the Church's modern, simplistic formula appealing and refreshing. But, as these individuals develop in faith, and as they address themselves to the deeper values set forth in the foundational stories and revelations of Mormonism, they will mature beyond this reductionist view and that is when the Church will have difficulty understanding them, accepting them, appreciating them, loving them, and perhaps even keeping them. Most troubling of all, I think, is the fact that the institutional Church by failing to encourage people to be integrated individuals and by requiring them to conform to its narrow categories of perfection, it refuses to deal with the very real, emotional and intellectual and even sexual crises of its people, crises which often tend to be ignored as nonexistent, or denounced as the products of rebellion, sin or apostasy. While despising the complex problems of adults, corporate Mormonism focuses upon the most simplistic of problems of the young. Admonitions, for example, to maintain pre-marital virginity sometimes reach hysterical levels. But no one addresses such mature sins as failure to achieve intimacy, community, independence, fidelity, or deepening spirituality.

Though we are enthralled with the idea of personal perfection, we are still so comfortable with our own mediocrity that we call it excellence and then recommend it to others as a way of life. We seem to prize pleasantries and superficialities and thrive on shallow platitudes. We believe life can be lived by aphorism like those sprouted by Plautus. We vacillate between panegyric and invective. On the one hand we are told we are special, peculiar, a chosen people, but on the other hand, we are treated as incorrigibles, and threatened with the loss of our blessings, or self-respect, and even our salvation and exaltation, if we do not subscribe to the party line of Church programs. It is as if we are being called to conform, not to the image of God, but to the paste board images projected by corrupted and failed imagination.

The Church does not take much responsibility for the malaise of its members. Nearly always the problems are said to stem from those among the rank and file who are unfaithful and disobedient. This state of affairs is as unacceptable now, as it was two thousand years ago, when it called forth the ringing words of Jesus:

> Woe unto you, . . . hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in. . . . ye devour widows' houses, and for pretense make long prayer. . . . ye compass sea and land to make a proselyte, and when he is made, ye make him two fold more a child of hell than yourselves. . . . ye blind guides. . . . [ye] have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith . . . ye strain at a gnat and swallow a camel. . . . ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within . . . are full of extortion and excess. . . . ye are like unto whitened sepulchers, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are full of dead men's bones and of all uncleanness. . . . ye [are] a generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell? (Matt. 23:13-33).

We have perhaps lived to see the fulfillment of the dire prophesy of Isaiah, "I will give children to be their princes and babes shall rule over them, and the people shall be oppressed everyone by another" (Isa. 3:4-5).

In these conditions how can our view of the feminine be anything but childish, trivial and profane. Our attributes and views about women, about their right to the priesthood, about their participation in the priesthood and about the value of their priestly contribution do not partake of the spiritual maturity of our foundational stories and revelations, but are instead contaminated with present arrested adolescence, inadequate religious world-view, which seeks to be the pride and fetish of the modern Church.

Much of the Church priesthood fraternity appears to suffer from a pathological form of spiritual homosexuality, harboring a thinly disguised misogyny, preferring the spiritual companionship of its own sex, refusing to acknowledge its own religious impotence in the face of the spiritual problems and the spiritual power of women. These attitudes and ideas have exposed the whole Church to a condition which is the spiritual equivalent of AIDS. Our life powers are ebbing. Our immune system is collapsing. We are exposed to all the diseases of the modern epoch. We have become self-absorbed, self-righteous, self-congratulatory, self-serving, self-pitying, self-worshipping, self-deceived, and self-destructive.

For us healthy and mature spiritual progress appears to be a thing of the past. We seem enable to respond, except perhaps to cling ever more fiercely to our old placeboes. The Church cannot regain its wellbeing until Mormons are allowed and encouraged to individuate; that is, to mature to full personhood. And I do not believe there can be any more great spiritual outpourings for the Church until men and women both are allowed to function in an unfettered way, as joint heirs, joint holders and joint ministers of the fullness of the priesthood. I believe this can still happen, but I must candidly say that I am haunted by pessimism, by the fear that it is already too late. I pray to God that I am wrong, and that Mormonism is not dying from within. (Applause)

QUESTION AND ANSWER PERIOD

Moderator: Thank you, Paul. We have a few minutes that Paul could entertain questions. You notice in your program there is not response or comments from anybody. So, if anyone has a question, feel free---

Question: In any of your texts does it give of the oath and covenant of the priesthood for men or women?

Toscano: Well, no. Because I believe that the oath and covenant was referred to by -- ah, very early, at the time I think the apostles were first ordained in 1835, where it talked about -- earlier than that in the scriptures, but I think that the oath and covenant is words said by God to the candidate, and that he makes a promise to them. And I have never read any words that would -- ah, that are purported to be the words that God would say, except perhaps, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant,' or 'Enter ye into thy rest,' or, you know, there are a lot of ways, I suppose, that Jesus could make, or God could make the oath and covenant.

Question: I'm wondering if the question you raised that says -- if you ever looked deeply at the foundational stories as roots of Fundamentalism -- a very parallel thing, because it has been my experience that there is a very strong parallel there with the priesthood. . . [inaudible]. . .separating it from perhaps the things that happened since that time -- the things followed. There seems such a parallel and a such a tie in with the things of which you've been speaking, that I wonder if you'd like to talk about that point?

Toscano: Well, the short answer is that I have very little sympathy with the Fundamentalist off-shoots of the Church. I sympathize with them on a personal basis, but theologically I don't see that it is the same thing. In my view it's as if you cut off the tail of the dog, and the tail tries to go over and grow a new dog. I just don't think this is possible. I think that it cannot come through schism. It must come through the restoration of health to the body of Christ by repentance, by a change in our views within the organization, within the structure. I don't see that the idea that going off to the wilderness and trying to start up something new is an answer to the problem, because all that will do is perpetuate a different form of the problem.

Question: Well, just as I was saying the foundational. . .[inaudible]. . . I concur with the things you just said---

Toscano: Well---

Question: I was saying there can be no organization without. . .[inaudible].

Toscano: Well, then I would agree with that view. Yes?

Question: [Inaudible]. . .[do you] think Jesus Christ would have been the First Born and only Son of God in the flesh.?

Toscano: No, I don't. It's more complicated than that. I assert that Isaac was -- and, of course, this little insight is certainly unnecessary to the analysis on women and the priesthood. It is a little tidbit which I threw in. But, I -- what I'm trying to do -- ah, the reason I threw it in, is not because it is a little tidbit, but because it reenforces the idea of the sacred marriage, and the idea that God is not really trifling with us. And I think -- but I don't think He was the only -- Jesus is the Only Begotten Son of God, because he was conceived by the power of God and he was God before. But, I don't think that there is a contradiction, just a semantical -- I mean, I think, what we're bumping up against to is a term of art, which appears in the scriptures -- it's very ancient, perhaps from before Isaac when it might have been used differently. Yes, John?

Question: Paul, you've mentioned the Church several times, and I would like to know exactly what do you mean by that?

Toscano: I mean the members of the Church. I do not necessarily mean what we all hope I mean. (Laughter) But it includes everybody. From the highest to the least ordained. It means that we have all of us found some kind of satisfaction in the present power structure, which we are unwilling to give up. More and more people don't find satisfaction in that, and therefore, there may be some day a change, but the fact, is that change will have to be initiated finally by God. But, I don't -- I mean the leaders. I mean the bureaucracy, the civil service, so to speak. I mean the local leadership. I mean the rank and file.

Question: [Inaudible]

Toscano: Well, I think this is really -- no, I'm not -- I speak in hyperbolic language. I draw, I draw -- and you realize this and this is a metaphor. This is a trophe. It's a way of speaking, because it expresses how we feel. It also draws attention to situations which people who are blind to them unless you paint them in stark and vivid colors. It is not meant to be an indictment. I do not believe the Brethren are malicious. I do not believe they are acting out of some kind of desire to hurt people. I believe it is an institutional or part of the institution, a problem. We are truncated in our growth and I said what I did in a strong way, because I am only speaking to a few people, and I doubt if it will really -- I have doubt about my ability to be the agent or participant in any kind of change. And so in a sense out of my own frustration I may -- I resort to hyperbola, and then I did then quote Jesus, who did set a precedent for that usage.

Question: I admit, perhaps, people still might have a question, because people like to know that they are not being oppressed.

Toscano: Yes, there is that possibility. (Laughter) You've asked a lot of questions,and I've given a lot of tentative answers, and I'm through, I've had it. If you have other questions, I'll be here for a few minutes, but I suggest that you question that attitude of questioning. (Laughter)

Juvenile Instructor, Vol 15:111
Article entitled: "Temples"
Daniel Tyler
15 May 1880

In my last [article in this series of articles on the temple] I showed you how particular the Lord was about having everything [ordinance-wise performed in a temple] recorded and witnessed. This strictness is not confined to those two items, but the Lord has always been very particular to have things done "according to the pattern" He has given. In a revelation given on the 19th of January, 1841, He says:

> For there is not a place found on earth that he may come and restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fullness of the priesthood.

Perhaps some of my young readers may enquire if Joseph Smith previous to the giving of this revelation was not an Apostle, which is the highest grade of priesthood in the Church, as well as Prophet, Seer and Revelator, and if there were not a quorum of Twelve Apostles, a Patriarch and a quorum of Seventies as well as Elders, Priests, Teachers and Deacons.

Yes, my young friends, all these authorities were in the Church; yea, more, they had received endowments in the Kirtland Temple, where cloven tongues as of fire sat upon many, and they spoke with the power of God, and saw many marvelous things, brief mention of which has heretofore been made. While Joseph Smith was an Apostle he was also the chief of the Apostles, and presided over the Apostles and over the whole Church, as is stated in the Doctrine and Covenants, sec. cvii., par. 91-92. The question then arises, What is meant by the fullness of the priesthood?
It does not mean any special office above that of Apostles, but that there were powers belonging to the different grades of priesthood which had not been conferred. They had no temple, no baptismal font, no administration for the dead, no endowments, no place to "reveal ordinances which had been hid from before the world was." As a faint illustration, I will speak of the patriarchal priesthood, and say that every faithful Elder in Israel who has received a patriarchal blessing by a legally authorized father in Israel, is, himself, by virtue of his blessing, a patriarch to his children, and without such blessing is not a recognized patriarch. This doctrine may be new to some of you, but whether or not, it is true.
But all faithful patriarchs have not the fullness of that priesthood. By virtue of a patriarchal blessing the patriarch thus created receives power to renew unto his posterity the rights conferred upon him; but he cannot confer patriarchal blessings outside his own lineage or rather beyond his immediate descendants; while those especially ordained to bless the people may bless all kindreds of the earth, and the Patriarch to the Church is recognized as the Patriarch of all Patriarchs.
In like manner men may be ordained to other grades of priesthood without obtaining a fullness thereof. The Lord informed the prophet that the temples were the places to receive "the fullness of the priesthood." He said: "for a baptismal font there is not upon the earth, that my Saints may be baptized for those who are dead; for this ordinance belongeth to my house," (a temple) "and cannot be acceptable to me, only in the days of your poverty, wherein ye are not able to build a house unto me."
These additional powers include all of the keys that belong to the holy priesthood on the earth, or were ever revealed to man in any dispensation, and which admit men and women within the veil. They enable them to pass by the angels and the gods, until they get into the presence of the Father and the Son. They make of them kings and priests, queens and priestesses to God, to rule and reign as such over their posterity and those who may be given to them by adoption, in the great jubilee of rest which is near at hand. It gives them the right to the tree of life, and the "seal of the living God in their foreheads," spoken of by John the revelator. No marvel, then, that the Lord requires sacred places for such great and glorious things-"the fullness of the holy priesthood" to be restored.

Blessings of the Fulness of the Priesthood
As seen by the Prophet Isaiah

|c49|v0 Messiah shall be a light to the Gentiles and shall free the prisoners--Israel shall be gathered with power in the last days--Kings shall be their nursing fathers--Compare 1 Nephi 21.

Gospel Mysteries

|v1 Listen, O isles, unto me; and hearken, ye people, from far; The LORD hath called me from the womb; from the bowels of my mother hath he made mention of my name.

We are all foreordained and known unto the Lord, and we shall all recognize that the Lord has called us all from the womb, and made mention of our name.

We were foreordained from the very beginning to receive a fullness of the Priesthood, which is a fullness of the father. Our names are mentioned: Ordinance of Naming and blessing of infants and temple blessings....

|v2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a polished shaft; in his quiver hath he hid me;

|v3 And said unto me, Thou art my servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified.

We all take upon ourselves to be the Lords servants, pointing to the mortal ministry of Jesus Christ as did John the Baptist and all the holy prophets and righteous fathers before him, for the blessings of the Father through the Son. And like all the Prophets and righteous fathers since the Saviors mortal ministry, we as servants and Elias point to the Son's Second coming. Where he shall come in glory. And we prepare the Saints not only with baptism, and the Holy Ghost, but the fulness of all the Priesthood blessings found in the holy temple, that when he comes we shall be like him. And when he shows the Father unto us we shall be like him too.

|v3 And said unto me, Thou art my servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified.

How is the Lord glorified? He told Moses, "For behold, this is my work and my glory–to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man.

Who is the Lord talking to, in whom he will be glorified?
His servant Israel [the children of Israel]. Through the posterity of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob... The Lord will give these people immortality and eternal life as he gave Abraham and Sarah and promised to all their posterity.

In Doctrine and Covenants section 132 verse 37 the Lord brings further light of what he means by being glorified and bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of his children,
"Abraham received concubines, and they bore him children; and it was accounted unto him for righteousness, because they were given unto him, and he abode in my law; as Isaac and also Jacob did none other things than that which they were commanded; and because they did none other things than that which they were commanded, they have entered into their exaltation, according to the promises, and sit upon thrones, and are not angels but are gods."

|v4 Then I said, I have labored in vain, I have spent my strength for nought, and in vain: yet surely my judgment is with the LORD, and my work with my God.

As long as every Prophet, Elias, or Father, Mother, Brother or Sister knows that there is one more soul to be saved, one more soul to receive all the blessings of the Priesthood and the fulness of the Father. There Labor is in vain. For what Father or Mother having received there Exaltation like Abraham and sees his children or grandchildren truly has a fulness of joy. No one for all their children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren to the latest generation are engraven on their hands and they know them and are doing everything in there power to help them receive the Fulness of the Priesthood which is a fulness of the fathers even the greatest father of us all, God our heavenly Father.

Was this not Christ mission, to bring us back unto the fulness of The Father. Thus each Prophet, Elias, Father and Mother takes the same image as Christ and Abraham, Adam and Elohim, to bring to pass the immortality and eternal lives of their children.... We can never have a fulness of Joy until every last child or brother or sister has the opportunity to live the life that the Fathers and Mothers live.

|v5 And now, saith the LORD that formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob [the house of Israel] again to him, Though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the LORD, and my God shall be my strength.

|v6 And he said, It is a light thing that thou shouldest be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the preserved of Israel: I will also give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my salvation unto the end of the earth.

What is the light that the Lord promised Isaiah should be to raise up [all] the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the preserved of Israel:

The Lord also promised that Isaiah would give the same light to the Gentiles, that Isaiah would be the Salvation to the end of the earth.
Isaiah is told that he would give some special light to raise up the tribes of [Israel] to a new elevation, a new height, a zenith. He was then told that he would give this same light to the Gentiles. The Lord then explains that this light would be the Capstone of salvation to the end of the earth.
In other words the light that Isaiah is about to share with us will be very great, the capstone of the blessings of the Father the Capstone of Salvation and exaltation to the children of Fathers, Adam, Noah, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob or all the tribes of Israel and that these great blessings of the Fathers even of God the Eternal would be given to the Gentiles as well for a great purpose.

The Lord finally tell Isaiah that this Light is so important that he shall be the Lord's salvation to the end of the Earth.

What does this mean? We know that the Lord Glory is, "For behold, this is my work and my glory–to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of [my children]."

Isaiah is going to shed light to help all the Fathers children receive the Capstone blessings of the Priesthood to raise up the tribes of Israel and the Gentiles to receive the fulness of the Priesthood and the fulness of the Father....

|v7 Thus saith the LORD, the Redeemer of Israel, and his Holy One, to him whom man despiseth, to him whom the nation abhorreth, to a servant of rulers, Kings shall see and arise, princes also shall worship, because of the LORD that is faithful, and the Holy One of Israel, and he shall choose thee.

The LORD has chosen us because we are his children and he wants his children, to be awakened to the truth and receive all the blessings which he has to offer, that we may be like him. For what parent having children doesn't want them to grow up and be like them possessing all that they have and are.... These are the blessings of eternity.

|v8 Thus saith the LORD, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of salvation have I helped thee: and I will preserve thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, to establish the earth, to cause to inherit the desolate heritages;
We have the promises of the Fathers, of Adam, Noah, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. And the now the Lord, through Isaiah is telling us that we should again receive and inherit the great promises of the Fathers which have become desolate. Of which the Lord said,"In an acceptable time (1) have I heard thee, and in a day of salvation have (2) I helped thee: and (3) I will preserve thee, and (4) give thee for a covenant of the people, (5) to establish the earth, (6) to cause to inherit the desolate heritages; because we are his children.

We now know why we are to receive the fullness of the blessings of the Priesthood, a fullness of our anointings, a the fulness of the Fathers even God the Eternal Father and Jesus Christ whom he hath sent.

And when we have received a fullness of the blessings of the Lord, then what does the He expect us to do with them...

Christ himself gives us the answer. He said:

If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet.
For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you.
Verily, verily, I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him.
If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them.
(John 13:13-17).

Now there are many who have received the key-stone blessings and ordinances of the Fathers, but as Isaiah is about there are not many who have received the Capstone blessings and ordinances of the Fullness of the Priesthood, which is a Fulness of the blessings of the Fathers, even God Our Eternal Father and Jesus Christ whom he hath sent.

And why do we receive these Capstone blessings. 1. So that We ourselves can receive the fulness of the blessings of the Fathers and Mothers and 2. So...

|v9 That thou mayest say to the prisoners [those in spirit prison], Go forth; to them that are in darkness, Shew yourselves. They shall feed in the ways, and their pastures shall be in all high places [all the blessings and ordinances found in the House of our Eternal Father and Fathers Adam, Noah, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and even our immediate Fathers and Mothers].

|v10 They shall not hunger nor thirst; neither shall the heat nor sun smite them: for he that hath mercy on them shall lead them, even by the springs of water shall he guide them.

Here the Lord is telling us the simple truth, that we will no longer be prisoners, that we will no longer hunger or thirst, for he will guide us by the springs of water.

We are his children and he has promised that he will give us all he blessings, all of them to the point that we hunger and thirst no longer for ourselves, because we have the fullness of blessings powers, thrones and principalities as our fathers Adam, Enoch, Noah, Melchizedek, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and our immediate Fathers and we will "have entered into their exaltation, according to the promises, and sit upon thrones, and are not angels but are gods." For the Lord tells us that he will guide us by the springs of water. And what is our springs of water, it is none other than the fullness of the priesthood, living the same lives that of our Fathers and Mothers, Even our true Spring of Living Water who is God our Eternal Father.

|v11 And I will make all my mountains a way, and my highways shall be exalted.

The Lord has prophesied that the highways where with we shall be exalted will be found in the mountains or in other wards where the Lord has established the Keys of his holy Priesthood, which is the order of the Priesthood after the Order of Melchizedek, which is after the Order of the Son of God, which is after the Order of God our Father our Spring.

|v13 Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the LORD hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted.

Here we see the unnumbered multitudes found in heaven and earth who are in prison are to receive a blessings at the Hand of the Priesthood, the fulness of the Priesthood of God our Father in the Mountains: For it is here that the LORD Will comfort his people [his Children] and will have mercy upon his afflicted [who many of his children have not had the opportunity to receive of his fulness but are in prisons having only receive portions of light, but need all light even the Capstone light of the Fulness of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost even the fulness of the Priesthood to enter the same blessings as Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and the Fathers even God the Eternal Father and Jesus Christ whom he has sent.

|v14 But Zion said, The LORD hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

And because these blessings have become desolate and there are many prisoners the people cry and Zion, [those who have received the Key-stone blessings] say the LORD hath forsaken us and forgotten me and I am left here in this prison and there is none to bring me to salvation and exaltation.....
But the Lord having no fulness of joy, without his faithful children told Isaiah that he would teach us the greater light and bring even the Lord his Salvation unto the end of the earth [those things telestial and terrestrial], and bring us to the light of the celestial, the fulness of the Priesthood for all the worthy children of the Fathers and God the Eternal Father.

For said he,

|v15 Can a woman forget her sucking child, that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? yea, they may forget, yet will I not forget thee.
|v16 Behold, I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands; thy walls are continually before me.

We are the Lords children and it greaves him when we are stopped from progressing to him. But he has not forgotten us but will bless us with a fulness of his great blessings. For our prayers are before him always.

|v17 Thy children shall make haste; thy destroyers and they that made thee waste shall go forth of thee.

|v18 Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together, and come to thee. As I live, saith the LORD, thou shalt surely clothe thee with them all, as with an ornament, and bind them on thee, as a bride doeth.

We shall be clothed and cloth those who are in prison with the fulness of the Priesthood. For we are the bride of the bridegroom and if the bridegroom is to receive the fulness of the blessings of the Priesthood or the Father, he must receive them with the bride, for they must receive them together or not at all. Therefore these blessings must be extended to all the faithful for the bridegroom cannot come in glory without the bride.

Therefore let the prisoners go free. Let the bride of the Lord clothe herself with the ornament of the fulness of the Priesthood and all the blessings found in the House of our Heavenly Father, by the hands of his holy Servants.

|v19 For thy waste and thy desolate places, and the land of thy destruction, shall even now be too narrow by reason of the inhabitants, and they that swallowed thee up shall be far away.

The un-numbered hosts who have gathered in prison are already to many. The time is far spent and there is little remaining, "even now this prison is to narrow (crowded) by reason of the inhabitants. And because we don't let our dead go free but keep adding to them we have swallowed them up in this great prison and are far, far away from our fathers whom we must surly set free. That the bride may come with the bridegroom. Where the Lord shall be a King of kings and a Lord of lords-a God of gods.

|v20 The children which thou shalt have, after thou hast lost the other, shall say again in thine ears, The place is too strait for me: give place to me that I may dwell.

Now we children of the Fathers, according to the Light which Isaiah hath shown us are saying we don't want to go to the prison which is already to strait or crowded, bless us with the blessings of the Fathers, the blessings of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and let us break down the prison door of our Father that we might be saved with them and be the true bride at the Bridegrooms Second coming with all the ornaments of the Fulness of the Priesthood lacking nothing.

|v21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I have lost my children, and am desolate, a captive, and removing to and fro? and who hath brought up these? Behold, I was left alone; these, where had they been?

|v22 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standard to the people: and they shall bring thy sons in their arms, and thy daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders.

We have the responsibility to bring the key-stone blessings to our dead and living who haven't received these blessings, but Isaiah is about to shed a greater light even the Capstone blessings of the Fulness of the Priesthood.

|v23 And kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and their queens thy nursing mothers: they shall bow down to thee with their face toward the earth, and lick up the dust of thy feet; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD: for they shall not be ashamed that wait for me.

Here is the further light, Kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and their queens thy nursing mothers. We shall be called up and Anointed Kings and our wives Queens unto their husbands and we shall nurse these captive [do the work for our dead by proxy and bestowing the fulness of the priesthood upon them, making them kings and queens, priests and priestesses unto the Most High God.]

We also learn, by looking at another angle found in Nephi, that Nephi recorded these things for his posterity-his children and his children's children. Not only will our dead bow down to us with their faces toward the earth, and lick up the dust of thy feet. But we fathers will, as Adam, Enoch, Noah, Melchizedek, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Lehi, and Nephi bestow these blessings of the Fathers upon our children. Teaching our children to know the Lord as Adam taught Seth and Seth taught Enos all the way to Noah, and as Abraham taught Isaac and Isaac taught Jacob to know the Lord. For do not our children do what we do and say what we say, thus licking up the dust of our feet that they shalt know through the Fathers that the Lord is God. For none will be ashamed that wait upon the Lord for in that day all shall know him from the least (the children) unto the greatest (the fathers) and no man shall need to teach his brother to know the Lord for all shall know him. Because they shall be like him and shall Be King and priests and Queens and Priestesses and shall walk forth out of the prison and be a kingdom of priests and Priestesses a kingdom of Anointed a kingdom of kings and queens to the most high God and Jesus Christ whom he hath sent.....

Also in the Doctrine and Covenants the Lord says,

|v27 Which our forefathers have awaited with anxious expectation to be revealed in the last times, which their minds were pointed to by the angels, as held in reserve for the fulness of their glory;
|v28 A time to come in the which nothing shall be withheld, whether there be one God or many gods, they shall be manifest.
|v29 All thrones and dominions, principalities and powers, shall be revealed and set forth upon all who have endured valiantly for the gospel of Jesus Christ.
(D&C: Section 121:25-29)

|v24 Shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captive delivered?
|v25 But thus saith the LORD, Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children.

The Fathers have received a promise, that all their righteous children shall not be held captive any longer but shall receive the fulness of all the Keystone and Capstone blessings just as they have received them that they might be one with the Father even as the Son is one with the Father.

|v26 And I will feed them that oppress thee with their own flesh; and they shall be drunken with their own blood, as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the LORD am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob. (OldT:Isaiah 49:Heading-26)

|v1 And again: Hearken, O ye house of Israel, all ye that are broken off and are driven out because of the wickedness of the pastors of my people; yea, all ye that are broken off, that are scattered abroad, who are of my people, O house of Israel. Listen, O isles, unto me, and hearken ye people from far; the Lord hath called me from the womb; from the bowels of my mother hath he made mention of my name.
|v2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a polished shaft; in his quiver hath he hid me;
|v3 And said unto me: Thou art my servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified.
|v4 Then I said, I have labored in vain, I have spent my strength for naught and in vain; surely my judgment is with the Lord, and my work with my God.

|v5 And now, saith the Lord--that formed me from the womb that I should be his servant, to bring Jacob again to him--though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord, and my God shall be my strength.
|v6 And he said: It is a light thing that thou shouldst be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the preserved of Israel. I will also give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my salvation unto the ends of the earth.
|v7 Thus saith the Lord, the Redeemer of Israel, his Holy One, to him whom man despiseth, to him whom the nation abhorreth, to servant of rulers: Kings shall see and arise, princes also shall worship, because of the Lord that is faithful.
|v8 Thus saith the Lord: In an acceptable time have I heard thee, O isles of the sea, and in a day of salvation have I helped thee; and I will preserve thee, and give thee my servant for a covenant of the people, to establish the earth, to cause to inherit the desolate heritages;
|v9 That thou mayest say to the prisoners: Go forth; to them that sit in darkness: Show yourselves. They shall feed in the ways, and their pastures shall be in all high places.
|v10 They shall not hunger nor thirst, neither shall the heat nor the sun smite them; for he that hath mercy on them shall lead them, even by the springs of water shall he guide them.
|v12 And then, O house of Israel, behold, these shall come from far; and lo, these from the north and from the west; and these from the land of Sinim.

|v13 Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; for the feet of those who are in the east shall be established; and break forth into singing, O mountains; for they shall be smitten no more; for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted. |v14 But, behold, Zion hath said: The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me--but he will show that he hath not.

|v15 For can a woman forget her sucking child, that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? Yea, they may forget, yet will I not forget thee, O house of Israel.
|v16 Behold, I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands; thy walls are continually before me.
|v17 Thy children shall make haste against thy destroyers; and they that made thee waste shall go forth of thee.

|v18 Lift up thine eyes round about and behold; all these gather themselves together, and they shall come to thee. And as I live, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely clothe thee with them all, as with an ornament, and bind them on even as a bride.
|v19 For thy waste and thy desolate places, and the land of thy destruction, shall even now be too narrow by reason of the inhabitants; and they that swallowed thee up shall be far away.
|v20 The children whom thou shalt have, after thou hast lost the first, shall again in thine ears say: The place is too strait for me; give place to me that I may dwell.
|v21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart: Who hath begotten me these, seeing I have lost my children, and am desolate, a captive, and removing to and fro? And who hath brought up these? Behold, I was left alone; these, where have they been?
|v22 Thus saith the Lord God: Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standard to the people; and they shall bring thy sons in their arms, and thy daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders.
|v23 And kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and their queens thy nursing mothers; they shall bow down to thee with their face towards the earth, and lick up the dust of thy feet; and thou shalt know that I am the Lord; for they shall not be ashamed that wait for me.
|v24 For shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captives delivered?
|v25 But thus saith the Lord, even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered; for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children.
|v26 And I will feed them that oppress thee with their own flesh; they shall be drunken with their own blood as with sweet wine; and all flesh shall know that I, the Lord, am thy Savior and thy Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.
(BofM:1 Nephi 21:Heading-26)

|c6|v0 Jacob recounts Jewish history: Their Babylonian captivity and return; the ministry and crucifixion of the Holy One of Israel; the help received from the gentiles; and their latter-day restoration when they believe in the Messiah.

|v1 The words of Jacob, the brother of Nephi, which he spake unto the people of Nephi:
|v2 Behold, my beloved brethren, I, Jacob, having been called of God, and ordained after the manner of his holy order, and having been consecrated by my brother Nephi, unto whom ye look as a king or a protector, and on whom ye depend for safety, behold ye know that I have spoken unto you exceedingly many things.
|v3 Nevertheless, I speak unto you again; for I am desirous for the welfare of your souls. Yea, mine anxiety is great for you; and ye yourselves know that it ever has been. For I have exhorted you with all diligence; and I have taught you the words of my father; and I have spoken unto you concerning all things which are written, from the creation of the world.

|v4 And now, behold, I would speak unto you concerning things which are, and which are to come; wherefore, I will read you the words of Isaiah. And they are the words which my brother has desired that I should speak unto you. And I speak unto you for your sakes, that ye may learn and glorify the name of your God.
|v5 And now, the words which I shall read are they which Isaiah spake concerning all the house of Israel; wherefore, they may be likened unto you, for ye are of the house of Israel. And there are many things which have been spoken by Isaiah which may be likened unto you, because ye are of the house of Israel.

|v6 And now these are the words: Thus saith the Lord God: Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standard to the people; and they shall bring thy sons in their arms, and thy daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders.
|v7 And kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and their queens thy nursing mothers; they shall bow down to thee with their faces towards the earth, and lick up the dust of thy feet; and thou shalt know that I am the Lord; for they shall not be ashamed that wait for me.

|v8 And now I, Jacob, would speak somewhat concerning these words. For behold, the Lord has shown me that those who were at Jerusalem, from whence we came, have been slain and carried away captive.
|v9 Nevertheless, the Lord has shown unto me that they should return again. And he also has shown unto me that the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel, should manifest himself unto them in the flesh; and after he should manifest himself they should scourge him and crucify him, according to the words of the angel who spake it unto me.
|v10 And after they have hardened their hearts and stiffened their necks against the Holy One of Israel, behold the judgments of the Holy One of Israel shall come upon them. And the day cometh that they shall be smitten and afflicted.
|v11 Wherefore, after they are driven to and fro, for thus saith the angel, many shall be afflicted in the flesh, and shall not be suffered to perish, because of the prayers of the faithful; they shall be scattered, and smitten, and hated; nevertheless, the Lord will be merciful unto them, that when they shall come to the knowledge of their Redeemer, they shall be gathered together again to the lands of their inheritance.
|v12 And blessed are the Gentiles, they of whom the prophet has written; for behold, if it so be that they shall repent and fight not against Zion, and do not unite themselves to that great and abominable church, they shall be saved; for the Lord God will fulfil his covenants which he has made unto his children; and for this cause the prophet has written these things.
|v13 Wherefore, they that fight against Zion and the covenant people of the Lord shall lick up the dust of their feet; and the people of the Lord shall not be ashamed. For the people of the Lord are they who wait for him; for they still wait for the coming of the Messiah.
|v14 And behold, according to the words of the prophet, the Messiah will set himself again the second time to recover them; wherefore, he will manifest himself unto them in power and great glory, unto the destruction of their enemies, when that day cometh when they shall believe in him; and none will he destroy that believe in him.
|v15 And they that believe not in him shall be destroyed, both by fire, and by tempest, and by earthquakes, and by bloodshed, and by pestilence, and by famine. And they shall know that the Lord is God, the Holy One of Israel.
|v16 For shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captive delivered?
|v17 But thus saith the Lord: Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered; for the Mighty God shall deliver his covenant people. For thus saith the Lord: I will contend with them that contendeth with thee--

|v18 And I will feed them that oppress thee, with their own flesh; and they shall be drunken with their own blood as with sweet wine; and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Savior and thy Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob. (BofM:2 Nephi 6:Heading-18)

|c10|v0 Jews shall crucify their God--They shall be scattered until they begin to believe in him--America shall be a land of liberty where no king shall rule--Be reconciled to God and gain salvation through his grace.

|v1 And now I, Jacob, speak unto you again, my beloved brethren, concerning this righteous branch of which I have spoken.
|v2 For behold, the promises which we have obtained are promises unto us according to the flesh; wherefore, as it has been shown unto me that many of our children shall perish in the flesh because of unbelief, nevertheless, God will be merciful unto many; and our children shall be restored, that they may come to that which will give them the true knowledge of their Redeemer.
|v3 Wherefore, as I said unto you, it must needs be expedient that Christ--for in the last night the angel spake unto me that this should be his name--should come among the Jews, among those who are the more wicked part of the world; and they shall crucify him--for thus it behooveth our God, and there is none other nation on earth that would crucify their God. |v4 For should the mighty miracles be wrought among other nations they would repent, and know that he be their God.
|v6 Wherefore, because of their iniquities, destructions, famines, pestilences, and bloodshed shall come upon them; and they who shall not be destroyed shall be scattered among all nations.

|v7 But behold, thus saith the Lord God: When the day cometh that they shall believe in me, that I am Christ, then have I covenanted with their fathers that they shall be restored in the flesh, upon the earth, unto the lands of their inheritance.
|v8 And it shall come to pass that they shall be gathered in from their long dispersion, from the isles of the sea, and from the four parts of the earth; and the nations of the Gentiles shall be great in the eyes of me, saith God, in carrying them forth to the lands of their inheritance.
|v9 Yea, the kings of the Gentiles shall be nursing fathers unto them, and their queens shall become nursing mothers; wherefore, the promises of the Lord are great unto the Gentiles, for he hath spoken it, and who can dispute?
|v10 But behold, this land, said God, shall be a land of thine inheritance, and the Gentiles shall be blessed upon the land.
|v11 And this land shall be a land of liberty unto the Gentiles, and there shall be no kings upon the land, who shall raise up unto the Gentiles.
|v12 And I will fortify this land against all other nations.
|v13 And he that fighteth against Zion shall perish, saith God.
|v14 For he that raiseth up a king against me shall perish, for I, the Lord, the king of heaven, will be their king, and I will be a light unto them forever, that hear my words.
|v15 Wherefore, for this cause, that my covenants may be fulfilled which I have made unto the children of men, that I will do unto them while they are in the flesh, I must needs destroy the secret works of darkness, and of murders, and of abominations.
|v16 Wherefore, he that fighteth against Zion, both Jew and Gentile, both bond and free, both male and female, shall perish; for they are they who are the whore of all the earth; for they who are not for me are against me, saith our God.

|v17 For I will fulfil my promises which I have made unto the children of men, that I will do unto them while they are in the flesh--
|v18 Wherefore, my beloved brethren, thus saith our God: I will afflict thy seed by the hand of the Gentiles; nevertheless, I will soften the hearts of the Gentiles, that they shall be like unto a father to them; wherefore, the Gentiles shall be blessed and numbered among the house of Israel.
|v19 Wherefore, I will consecrate this land unto thy seed, and them who shall be numbered among thy seed, forever, for the land of their inheritance; for it is a choice land, saith God unto me, above all other lands, wherefore I will have all men that dwell thereon that they shall worship me, saith God.
|v20 And now, my beloved brethren, seeing that our merciful God has given us so great knowledge concerning these things, let us remember him, and lay aside our sins, and not hang down our heads, for we are not cast off; nevertheless, we have been driven out of the land of our inheritance; but we have been led to a better land, for the Lord has made the sea our path, and we are upon an isle of the sea.
|v21 But great are the promises of the Lord unto them who are upon the isles of the sea; wherefore as it says isles, there must needs be more than this, and they are inhabited also by our brethren.
|v22 For behold, the Lord God has led away from time to time from the house of Israel, according to his will and pleasure. And now behold, the Lord remembereth all them who have been broken off, wherefore he remembereth us also.
|v23 Therefore, cheer up your hearts, and remember that ye are free to act for yourselves--to choose the way of everlasting death or the way of eternal life.
|v24 Wherefore, my beloved brethren, reconcile yourselves to the will of God, and not to the will of the devil and the flesh; and remember, after ye are reconciled unto God, that it is only in and through the grace of God that ye are saved.
|v25 Wherefore, may God raise you from death by the power of the resurrection, and also from everlasting death by the power of the atonement, that ye may be received into the eternal kingdom of God, that ye may praise him through grace divine. Amen.

FILE:#21 FULNESS OF THE PRIESTHOOD- IN COMMON WITH WIFE- BRIDE/BRIDEGROOM

The fulness of Christ / The fullness of Priesthood
The fullness of the Father

v11 And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets: and some, evangelists: and some, pastors and teachers;
v12 For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ;
v13 Till we, in the unity of the faith, all come to the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ;
v14 That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;

Gospel Mysteries

(JST NewT:Ephesians 4:11-14)

v29 And I am sure that, when I come unto you, I shall come in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel of Christ.
(NewT:Romans 15:29)

v20 And we beheld the glory of the Son, on the right hand of the Father, and received of his fulness;
(D&C: Section 76:20)
v56 They are they who are priests and kings, who have received of his fulness, and of his glory;
(D&C Section 76:56)

v94 They who dwell in his presence are the church of the Firstborn; and they see as they are seen, and know as they are known, having received of his fulness and of his grace;
(D&C: Section 76:94)
v16 And I, John, bear record that he received a fulness of the glory of the Father;
(D&C: Section 93:16)

v19 I give unto you these sayings that you may understand and know how to worship, and know what you worship, that you may come unto the Father in my name [Christ], and in due time receive of his fulness.
(D&C: Section 93:19)

v20 For if you keep my commandments you shall receive of his fulness, and be glorified in me as I am in the Father; therefore, I say unto you, you shall receive grace for grace.
(D&C: Section 93:26)
v15 And that they may grow up in thee, and receive a fulness of the Holy Ghost, and be organized according to the laws, and be prepared to obtain every needful thing; (D&C: Section 109:15)
|v25 For there is a time appointed for every man, according as his works shall be.
|v26 God shall give unto you knowledge by his Holy Spirit, yea, by the unspeakable gift of the Holy Ghost, that has not been revealed since the world was until now;
|v27 Which our forefathers have awaited with anxious expectation to be revealed in the last times, which their minds were pointed to by the angels, as held in reserve for the fulness of their glory;
|v28 A time to come in the which nothing shall be withheld, whether there be one God or many gods, they shall be manifest.
|v29 All thrones and dominions, principalities and powers, shall be revealed and set forth upon all who have endured valiantly for the gospel of Jesus Christ.
|v30 And also, if there be bounds set to the heavens or to the seas, or to the dry land, or to the sun, moon, or stars--
|v31 All the times of their revolutions, all the appointed days, months, and years, and all the days of their days, months, and years, and all their glories, laws, and set times, shall be revealed in the days of the dispensation of the fulness of times--
|v32 According to that which was ordained in the midst of the Council of the Eternal God of all other gods before this world was, that should be reserved unto the finishing and the end thereof, when every man shall enter into his eternal presence and into his immortal rest.
(D&C: Section 121:25-32)

v28 For there is not a place found on earth that he may come to and restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fullness of the priesthood.
(D&C: section 124:28)

Holders of the Melchizedek Priesthood have power to press forward in righteousness, living by every word that proceedeth forth from the mouth of God, magnifying their callings, going from grace to grace, until through the fulness of the ordinances of the temple they receive the fulness of the priesthood and are ordained kings and priests. Those so attaining shall have exaltation and be kings, priests, rulers, and lords in their respective spheres in the eternal kingdoms of the great King who is God our Father. (Rev. 1:6; 5:10.)
(McConkie, Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p. 425.)
v4 And this shall be our covenant--that we will walk in all the ordinances of the Lord.
(D&C: Section 136:4)

|v7 And verily I say unto you, that the conditions of this law are these: All covenants, contracts, bonds, obligations, oaths, vows, performances, connections, associations, or expectations, that are not made and entered into and sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise, of him who is anointed, both as well for time and for all eternity, and that too most holy, by revelation and commandment through the medium of mine anointed, whom I have appointed on the earth to hold this power (and I have appointed unto my servant Joseph to hold this power in the last days, and there is never but one on the earth at a time on whom this power and the keys of this priesthood are conferred), are of no efficacy, virtue, or force in and after the resurrection from the dead; for all contracts that are not made unto this end have an end when men are dead.
(D&C: Section 132:7)

|v30 He that asketh in the Spirit asketh according to the will of God; wherefore it is done even as he asketh.
(D&C: Section 46:30)

|v98 Until all shall know me, who remain, even from the least unto the greatest, and shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord, and shall see eye to eye, and shall lift up their voice, and with the voice together sing this new song, saying:
(D&C: Section 84:98)

That we may be sealed up unto the day of redemption, this principle ought. (in its proper place) to be taught, for God hath not revealed any thing to Joseph, but what he will make known unto the Twelve & even the least Saint may know all things as fast as he is able to - bear them. for the day must come when no man need say to his neighbor know ye the Lord for all shall know him (who Remain) from the least to the greatest, How is this to be done? It is to be done by the sealing power & the other comforter spoken of which will be manifest by revelation.
(WJS: p. 4)

|v31 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah:
|v32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the LORD:
|v33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

(OldT:Jeremiah 31:31-34)

|v10 For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people:
|v11 And they shall not teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know me, from the least to the greatest. (NewT:Hebrews 8:10-11)

|v7 Dear Brethren:
|v8 As we have witnessed the expansion of the work of the Lord over the earth, we have been grateful that people of many nations have responded to the message of the restored gospel, and have joined the Church in ever-increasing numbers. This, in turn, has inspired us with a desire to extend to every worthy member of the Church all of the privileges and blessings which the gospel affords.
(D&C: Official Declar 2:7-8)

|c7|v0 The Melchizedek Priesthood brings exaltation and administers the gospel--It is received with an oath and covenant--Superiority of the Melchizedek over the Aaronic Priesthood--Salvation comes through the intercession of Christ.
(NewT:Hebrews 7:Heading)

. . . . The Lord revealed that the priesthood and its ordinances were "instituted from before the foundation of the world" (D&C 124:33, 34), and commanded that a temple be built at Nauvoo as a place to "restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fulness of the priesthood" (D&C 124:28). Sacred ordinances could then be performed for "therein are the keys of the holy priesthood ordained" (D&C 124:34).
. . . . Men and woman have complementary, not competing, responsibilities. There is difference but not inequity. Intelligence and talent favor both of them. But, in the woman's part, she is not just equal to man, she is superior! She can do that which he can never do, not in all eternity can he do it. There are complementing rewards which are hers and hers alone. And, blessings bestowed impartially upon man and woman alike include: baptism; the gift of the Holy Ghost; the testimony of Jesus; personal revelation; the ministry of angels; the responsibility to teach, to testify, to exhort, to edify, and to comfort; the faith to be healed, and many other spiritual gifts, all under a uniform standard of worthiness.
And, the highest ordinances in the house of the Lord they receive together and equally, or not at all.
. . . . I could not possibly express the depth and the intensity of love and gratitude that I feel toward my wife, the mother of our children.
Without her, I could not have the highest and most enduring blessings of this "priesthood after the holiest order of God" (D&C 84:18), this "holy priesthood after the order of the son of God" (D&C 107:3). For, in order to obtain the highest, a man must enter into this order of the priesthood [meaning the new and everlasting covenant of marriage]; And if he does not, he cannot obtain it." (D&C 131:1-4.)
I know that the son of God is our Redeemer. Reverently I give thanks to God the Father for the comsumate blessing: a sweetheart, wife, companion, friend, a help-meet, a woman! In the name of Jesus Christ, amen.

(A Tribute to Women; Priesthood Restoration Fireside; Elder Boyd K. Packer; May 7, 1989.)
|v5 Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:
|v6 And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.
(OldT:Malachi 4:5-6)

. . . .the Prophet here clarifies that the Patriarchal Priesthood was not the same as the crowing ordinances of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood. Elias returned the authority of promising innumerable posterity, but Elijah restored the authority of the fulness of the priesthood (D&C 110:12-16).
(WJS: p. 303 n 21.)
If a man gets a fulness of the priesthood of God he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordinances of the house of the Lord.
(Teachings, p. 308.)
Wilford Woodruff Journal
A large assembly of Saints met at the Temple & were addressed by President Joseph Smith...God gathers together the people in the last days to build unto the Lord an house to prepare them for the Ordinances & endowment washings & anointings &c. one of the ordinances of the house of the Lord is Baptism for the dead, God decreed before the foundation of the world that that ordinance should be administered in a house prepared for that purpose. If a man gets the fullness of God he was to get [it] in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it & that was by keeping all the ordinances of the house of the Lord.
(WJS: p. 213.)

...the following [is] a statement of Brigham Young in the Nauvoo Temple which includes the Prophet's teachings on the highest ordinances of the Temple:

Those who come in here and have received their washing & anointing will [later] be ordained Kings & Priests, and will then have received the fulness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth. For Brother Joseph said he had given us all that could be given to man on the earth (Heber C. Kimball Journal kept by William Clayton, 26 December 1845, Church Archives).
(WJS: p. 286 n 25.)
Abraham's was a more exalted power or priesthood he could talk and walk with God and yet consider how great this man was when even this patriarch Abraham gave a tenth part of all his spoils and then received a blessing under the hands of Melchizedek even the last law or a fulness of the law of priesthood which constituted him a king and priest after the order of Melchizedek or an endless life...
(WJS: p. 246.)
Meeting of Presidency, Apostles & Church Officers. Monday 8, Apr. 1901. Prest. Snow said that persons who are recommended for second anointings should be those who have made an exceptional record, that they are persons who will never apostatize. Prest. of Stakes assume a great responsibility when they recommend persons for second anointings.
Bro. Jos. F. Smith said no man receives a fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood till he has received his second anointings. Men recommended for this sacred ordinance should be men of God whose faith and integrity are unquestioned.
(Anothony W. Ivins, Journal, for 8 April 1901, original in Utah State Historical Society, Salt Lake City, Utah.)

Meeting of the twelve Apostles in Philadelphia.
The quorum of the Twelve Apostles in Philadelphia held a meeting in Canaanite Church. About three hundred Saints were present. Meeting was opened by Jedediah M. Grant, and President Brigham Young addressed the congregation at considerable length. He said that a man or woman may ask of God, and get a witness and testimony from god concerning any work or messenger that is sent unto them; but if a person asks for a thing that does not concern him, such as governing the church , as a member of the Church had the fullness of the Melchisedec Priesthood, he did not know it. For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest. A person may have a portion of that priesthood, the same as governors or judges of England have power from the king to transact business; but that does not make them kings of England. A person may be anointed king and preist long befor he receives his kingdom. In the evening Elder Orson Pratt preached, and was followed by Elder George A. Smith. (Above from Wilford Woodruff's Journal.)

What was the power of Melchizedek? 'Twas not the Priesthood of Aaron which administers in the ordinances, and the offering of sacrifices. Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys of power and blessings. In fact, that Priesthood is a perfect law of theocracy, and stands as God to give laws to the people, administering endless lives to the sons and daughters of Adam.
Abraham says to Melchizedek, I believe all that thou hast taught me concerning the priesthood and the coming of the Son of Man; so Melchizedek ordained Abraham and sent him away. Abraham rejoiced, saying, Now I have a priesthood.

The Sending of Elijah
What shall I talk about to-day? I know what Brother Cahoon wants me to speak about. He wants me to speak about the coming of Elijah in the last days. I can see it in his eye. I will speak upon that subject then.
The Bible says, "I will send you Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord: and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to the fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse." Now, the word turn here should be translated bind, or seal. But what is the object of this important mission? or how is it to be fulfilled: The keys are to be delivered, the spirit of Elijah is to come, the Gospel to be established, the Saints of God gathered, Zion built up, and the Saints to come up as saviors on Mount Zion.
But how are the to become saviors on Mount Zion? By building their temples, erecting their baptismal fonts, and going forth and receiving all the ordinances, baptisms, confirmations, washings, anointings, ordinations and sealing powers upon their heads, in behalf of all their progenitors who are dead, and redeem them that they may come forth in the first resurrection and be exalted to thrones of glory with them; and herein is the chain that binds the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers, which fulfills the mission of Elijah. and I would to God that this temple was now done, that we might go into it, and go to work and improve our time, and make use of the seals while they are on earth.

All Ordinances Necessary
The question is frequently asked, "Can we not be saved without going through with all those ordinances?" I would answer, No, not the fulness of salvation. Jesus said, There are many mansions in my Father's house, and I will go and prepare a place for you. House here named should have been translated kingdom; and any person who is exalted to the highest mansion has to abide a celestial law, and the whole law too.

But there has been a great difficulty in getting anything into the heads of this generation. It has been like splitting hemlock knots with a corn-dodger for a wedge, and a pumpkin for a beetle. Even the Saints are slow to understand.

For the Living and the Dead

Now was this merely confined to the living, to settle difficulties with families on earth? By no means. It was a far greater work. Elijah! what would you do if you were here? Would you confine your work to the living alone? No: I would refer you to the Scriptures, where the subject is manifest: that is, without us, they could not be made perfect, nor we without them; the fathers without the children, nor the children without the fathers.

I wish you to understand this subject, for it is important: and if you will receive it, this is the spirit of Elijah, that we redeem our dead, and connect ourselves with our fathers which are in heaven, and seal up our dead to come forth in the first resurrection; and here we want the power of Elijah to seal those who dwell on earth to those who dwell in heaven. This is the power of Elijah and the keys of the kingdom of Jehovah.

There is no exaltation in the kingdom of God without the fulness of the priesthood....Every man who is faithful and will receive these [temple] ordinances and blessings obtains a fulness of the priesthood, and the Lord has said that "he makes them equal in power, and in might, and in dominion."

(Joseph Fielding Smith, 1955, Doctrines of Salvation, 3:132.)

The Lord Almighty...will continue to preserve...until I have fully accomplished my mission in this life, and so firmly established the dispensation of the fullness of the priesthood in the last days, that all the powers of earth and hell can never prevail against it.

(Joseph Smith, Jr., 1842, History of the Church, 5:139-140.)

Every man that gets his endowment...[has been] ordained to the Melchizedek Priesthood, which is the highest order of Priesthood....those who have come in here and have received their washing & anointing will be ordained Kings & priests, and will then have received the fulness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth, for Brother Joseph said he had given us all that could be given to man on the earth.

Holders of the Melchizedek Priesthood have power to press forward in righteousness, living by every word that proceedeth forth from the mouth of God, magnifying their callings, going from grace to grace, until through the fulness of the ordinances of the temple they receive the fulness of the priesthood and are ordained kings and priests. Those so attaining shall have exaltation and be kings, priests, rulers, and lords in their respective spheres in the eternal kingdoms of the great King who is God our Father. (Rev. 1:6; 5:10.)

(McConkie, Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p. 425.)

If a man gets a fullness of the priesthood of God he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordiances of the house of the Lord. (Teachings, p. 308.)

"...the following [is a] statement of Brigham Young in the Nauvoo Temple which includes the Prophet's teachings on the highest ordiances of the Temple:" (TWOJS, p. 286.)

Those who come in here and have reveived their washing & anointing will [later] be ordained Kings & Priests, and will then have received the fullness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth. For Brother Joseph said he had given us all that could be given to man on the earth (Heber C. Kimball Journal kept by William Clayton, 26 December 1845, Church Archives). (TWOJS, p. 286.) [I believe Ehat added the word later].

Joseph said The reason why the Jews were scattered and their House left unto them Desolate was because they refused to be gathered that the fulness of the Priesthood might be revealed among them which never can be done but by the gathering of the People (TWOJS, p. 215) [This is why we have gathered all our progenitors into one place, the spirit world, and are gathering them by gathering their records and doing their work for them that they ultimatly may receive the fulness of the Priesthood].

priesthood(3)0 which constituted him a king and priest after the order of Melchisidech or an endless life (TWOJS, p. 246.)

9. At no time before in the history of the Church had the Prophet talked so freely in public of ordinances whereby men were ordained kings and priests. These ordiances were not introduced in Kirtland because Elijah had not come to confer the fulness of the priesthood upon the Prophet before he administered the Kirtland Temple ordiances. Obviously the Prophet could only administer temple ordiances as he then understood them. (TWOJS, p. 302.)

10. The "kingly powers" of the fulness of the priesthood would be conferred by an "anointing." (TWOJS, p. 302.)

12. "Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts" (2 Corinthians 1:21-22).
...Apparently it is one thing to receive the anointing and sealing blessings of the priesthood and another thing form them to be called, elected, and made sure. [One is sealed by the Priesthood and another seal is by the Holy Ghost.] (TWOJS, p. 302.) [There are two parts to every 1. annointing and 2. sealing. One example would the anointing and sealing of sick. Explain greggs and our experience....]

14. That is, the fulness of the priesthood comes "not by man, nor the will of man; neither by father nor mother; neither by beginning of days nor end of years; but of God" (JST Genesis 14:28). See also JST Hebrews 7:3. (TWOJS, p. 303.)

21. The Prophet here teaches that though Abraham had not yet received the fulness of the priesthood, he had received from the Lord the promise of an innumerable posterity both for this world and in the world to come (D&C 132:28-31). Joseph Smith, however, clarifies that Abraham's endowment (Abraham Facsimile Number 2, figures 3 and 7) was greater than that which his descendants Aaron and Levi would be allowed; and thus "Abraham's" Patriarchal Priesthood (the ordiances of the endowment and patriarchal marriage for time and eternity) comprehended the Aaronic portion of the endowment.
Additionally, the Prophet here clarifies that the Patrarchal Priesthood was not the same as the crowning ordinances of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood. Elias returned the authority of promising innumerable posterity, but Elijah restored the authority of the fulness of the priesthood (D&C 110:12-16).
Aside from this theological commentary, it is important to point out that the Prophet's teachings fit perfectly within a historical context. Joseph Smith administered the first ordiances of the Patriarchal Priesthood on 4 May 1842 when he gave bothe the Aaronic and Melchizedek portions of the endowment to nine men in his store in Nauvoo (see History of the Church, 5:1-2, or Teachings, p. 137; and H. W. Mills, "De Tal Palo Tal Astilla," Annual Publications--Historical Society of Southern California 10 [Los Angeles: McBride Printing Company, 1917]:120-21). By a year later, most of the nine received the ordiances of marriage for time and eternity. In particular, the Prophet and his wife, Emma, and James and Harriet Adams were sealed on 28 May 1843 (Joseph Smith Diary, Church Archives). Similarly, Hyrum Smith and his wife, Mary Fielding, Brigham Young and his wife, a Mary Ann, and Willard Richard and his wife, Jennetta, were all sealed the next day. But the higher ordiances that confer the fulness of the priesthood had not as yet been administered. However one month and a day after this 27 August 1843 discourse, Joseph and Emma received the anointing and ordination "of the highest and holiest order of the priesthood" (Joseph Smith Diary, 28 September 1843, Church Archives). Hence by 27 August 1843, "Abrahams patriarchal power...[was] the greatest yet experienced in [the] church." [Here we see that women are also anointed and ordained to this "highest and holiest order of the priesthood" (Joseph Smith Diary, 28 September 1843, Church archives)].

...Brigham Yound demonstrates that the Prophet made clear to those who had received the endowment and patriarchal marriage ordiances, that they had not as yet received the fulness of the priesthood. On 6 August 1843, Brigham Young said, "If any in the church [have] the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood [I do] not know it. For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest." Since he had received, with eight others, an anointing in 1842 promising him he would, if faithful, eventuall receive another anointing actually ordaining him a king and a priest, Brigham Young therefore added, "A person may be anointed a king and a priest long before he receives his kingdom (History of the Chruch, 5:527,...). Based on his understanding from Joseph the Prophet, Brigham Young said of this third order of priesthood blessings, "Those who...come in here [the Nauvoo Temple] and have received their washings & anointing will...be ordained Kings & Priests, and will then have received the fulness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on earth" (Heber C. Kimball Journal, kept by william Clayton, 26 December 1845, Church Archives...). This is the theological and historical context for the Prophet's comments on the three orders of the temple blessings outlined in this extremely important discourse. [summarize the three temple blessings 1. 2. 3. expand...] (TWOJS, p. 303-304.)

22. As high and important to the Church as the office of prophet, apostle and patriarch are, neverthe less, these highest ecclesiastical ordiantions do not confer the authority of Elijah, the sealing power of the priesthood, or the power of a king and priest. As President Joseph Fielding Smith expressed it best in our own century,

> I do not care what office you hold in the Church--you may be an apostle, you may be a patriarch, a high priest, or anything else--but you cannot receive the fullness of the priesthood and the fulness of eternal reward unless you receive the ordiances of the house of the lord... Then [the door is] open so you can obtain all the blessings which any man can gain.... You can have ["the fullness of the Lord's blessings"] sealed upon your as an elder, if you are faithful; and when you receive them, and live faithfully and keep these covenants, you then all that any man can get. There is no exaltation in the kingdom of God without the fulness of the priesthood" (Joseph Fielding Smith, first address to the Priesthood as President of the Church, 4 April 1970, The Improvement Era 73 [June 1970]: 65-66). (TWOJS, p. 304-305).
> 29. [All acts within the priesthood must be sealed by the priesthood, which is Christ, and a ratifing seal by the Holy Ghost] ...Abraham recieved the "anointing and sealing" (the priesthood ordination of king and priest) under the hands of Melchizedek (Genesis 14:17-24 and JST Genesis 14:25-40), but the "election sure"--the absolute assurance of power in the priesthood--came directly from God only after Abraham indicated his willingness to sactrifice Isaac (Genesis 22:1-14). (TWOJS, p. 305.) [Again here we see that:

1. a person is called, elected, and this calling and election is made sure by priesthood ordiance, anointing, sealing, confirmation etc. Then

2. These callings, elections, ordinations, anointings, sealings, confirmations and etc. are ratified by the Holy Ghost....]

30. One of the major milestones, if not the major milestone, of the Latter-day work was to be the restoration of the fulness of the priesthood (D&C 124:28). The Prophet's "mission... [was to] firmly [establish] the dispensation of the fulness of the priesthood in the last days, that all the powers of earth and hell [could] never prevail against it" (History of the church, 5:140, or Teachings, p. 258). What was this fulness of the priesthood? The most concise but inclusive definition of the authority of the fulness of the priesthood was given by Joseph Smith in his 10 March 1844 discourse when he said, "Now for Elijah; the spirit, power and calling of Elijah is that ye have power to hold the keys of revelations, ordinances, oracles, powers and endowments of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood and of the Kingdom of God on the Earth and to receive, obtain and perform all belonging to the kingdom of God...[to] have power to seal on ear and in heaven." However, the Prophet had not as yet administered the ordiances that made men kings and priests. Brighan Young said three weeks before this discourse that no one yet in the Church had the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood, "For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest" (History of the Chruch 5:527,...) These ordiances were instituted on 28 Sept 1843 and in the next five months were conferred on twenty men and their wives, ....) (TWOJS p. 305-306.)

38. This is the only known record of when, according to Joseph Smith the Savior received the fulness of the priesthood. Wilford Woodruff's report of the Prophet's 11 June 1843 discourse recorded a significant comment by Joseph Smith regarding this subject" "If a man gets the fulness of God ["priesthood" as in the published version], he has to ge [it] in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, by keeping all the ordiances of the house of the Lord".... (TWOJS, p. 307.)

All ordinances of the temple that are done for the living, including marriage for time and eternity and the fulness of the priesthood, can also be done for the dead (see james E. Talmage, The house of the Lord [Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Company, 1968], pp. 163 and 211, and B. H. Roberts, A Comprehensive History of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints--Century 1 6 vols. [Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 1965] 6:495). (TWOJS, p. 385-386.)

Doctrine Election.--sealing of the servants of God on the top of thier heads.(7) ...doctrine of Election to Abraham was in the relation to the Lord. a man wishes to be embraced in the covenant of Abraham. A man Judge Higby--in world of spirits. is sealed unto the throne, & doctrine of Election sealing the father & children together.(8) (TWOJS, p. 239.)

7. At this time Joseph Smith was not willing to discuss the temple ordiances of conferral of the fulness of the priesthood, of marriage for time and eternity, or of sealing children to parents; nevertheless, he indicated that the conferral of the fulness of the priesthood was a "sealing...on top of the head" of which the phrase "sealed in their forheads" was symbolic. Furthermore, Joseph Smith here taught that it was through the ordiance of conferral of the fulness of the priesthood that men could be qualified to be a part of the special missionary force of the last days which would number 144,000 high priests (D&C 77:8-11, 14). When Cornelius p Lott and his wife received these ordinances on 4 February 1844, the Prophet indicated that "the selection of [the] persons to perform that number had already commenced." He had already conferred these blessings on at least 17 men (History of the Church, 6:196 and Wilford Woodruff Journal, under date given). (WOJS, p. 297.)
8. According to the teachings that the Prophet gave in private (but which he only hinted at in this discourse), to be heir to Abraham's promise that he would head an innumberable posterity, each individual and his children must be sealed for time and eternity. If this sealing was performed, he taught, the covenant relationship would then continue throughout eternity. The Prophet taught, moreover, that such a patriarchal priesthood of kings and priests would have to be established by sealing children and parents back through abraham to adam in order to fulfill the mission of Elijah (Malachi 4:5-6). When this was accomplished, the order within the highest degree of the Celestial Kingdom would then be eternally set. Probably no clearer statement of Joseph's theology regarding this concept can be found than what is given in an editoral by Orson Hyde. (The following diagram began the editoral after which came the text.)

p i c t u r e

The above diagram shows the order and unity of the kingdom of God The eternal Father sits at the head, crowned King of kings and Lord of lords. Wherever the other lines meet, there sits a king and a priest unto God, bearing rule, authority, and dominion under the Father. He is one with the Father, because his kingdom is joined to his Father's and becomes part of it. The most eminent and distinguished prophets who have laid down their lives for their testimony (Jesus among the rest), will be crowned at the head of the largest kingdoms under the Father, and will be one with Christ as Christ is one with his Father; for their kingdoms are all joined together, and such as do the will of the Father, the same are his mothers, sisters, and brothers. He that has been faithful over a few things, will be made ruler over many things; he that has been faithful over ten talents, shall have dominion over ten cities, and he that has been faithful over five talents, shall have dominion over five cities, and to every man will be given a kingdom and a dominion, according to his merit, powers, and abilities to govern and control. It will be seen by the above diagram that there are kingdoms of all sizes, and infinite varity to suit all grades of merit and ability. The chosen vessels unto God are the kings and priests that are placed at the head of these kingdoms. These have received their washings and anointings in the temple of God on this earth; they have been chosen, ordained, and anointed kings and priests, to reign as such in the resurrection of the just. Such as have not received the fulness of the priesthood, (for the fulness of the priesthood includes the authority of both king and priest) and have not been anointed and ordained in the temple of the Most High, may obtain salvation in the celestial kingdom, but not a celestial crown. Many are called but

Of the four participants who left testimonies of the occasion, Willard Richard's April 1845 expansion of the Prophet's journal entry for 4 May 1842 represents the best statement on the significance of the ordinances performed that day.

4 Wednesday may 4-I spent the day in the upper part of the Store (IE.) in my private office (so called, because in that room I kept my sacred writings, translated ancient records, and received revelations) and in my general business office, or lodge rome (IE) where the Masonic fraternity met occasionally for want of a better place), in council with Gen James Adams, of Springfield, Patriarch Hyrum Smith, Bishops Newel K. Whitney, & Geo. Miller, ...& Prests Brigham Young Heber C. Kimball & Willard Richards, instructing them in the principles and order of the priesthood, attending to Washings & Anointings, endowments, and the communications of keys, pertaining to the Aaronic Priesthood, and so on to the highest order of the Melchisedec Priesthood, setting forth the order pertaining to the Ancient of days & all those plans & principles by which any one is enabled to secure the fulness of those blessings which has been prepared for the church of the firstborn, and come up and abide in the presence of God in the [last two words blotted out] Eloheim in the eternal worlds. In this council was instituted the Ancient order of things for the first time in these last days. And the communications I madt to ... [this] Council where of things spiritual, and to be received only by the spiritual minded: and there was nothing made known to these men but will be made known to all Saints, of the last days, so soon as they are prepared to receive, and a proper place is prepared to communicate them, even to the weakest of the Saints: therefore let the Saints be diligent in building the temple and all houses which they have been or shall hereafter be commanded of god to build, and wait their time with patience, in all meekness and faith, & perserverance unto the end. knowing assuredly that all thes things referred to in this council are always governed by the principles of Revelation. (Draft sheet of the "Manuscript History of the Church." in th hand of Willare Richards, 4 May 1842, Historian's Office Church Records Group, Church Archives.)

On 4 and 5 May 1842, for the first time in the history of the Church, the key principles of the Ancient or Patriarchal order of the priesthood were conferred. According to Richards's summary, four essential concepts regarding man's relationship to God were conveyed by these ordinances: (1) The participants received washings and anointings wherein they were promised that if they continued true and faithful they would by another anointing be ordained kings and priests unto God (Revelation !: 5-6, 5:10); for the anointing they received that day was only "preparatory to further blessings;" (Wilford Woodruff, Journal, 2 December 1843, Wilford Woodruff Collection, chruch Archives.) (2) They received the "keys of the priesthood," viz., signs, tokens, penalties and key words; some pertained to the Aaronic Priesthood, others pertained to the Melchizedek Priesthood; however, the keys given were all of the keys given in the order to the Ancient of Days (Adam) or Patriarchal Priesthood; (3) Though this priesthood order did not confer the fulness of the priesthood, it "pertained to the highest order" in that it presented all the "planns and principles" that would "enable" anyone "to secure" in this life or before the resurrection the fulness of the priesthood; and , (4) The principles taught that day were to enable to participants eventually to pass through the veil into the presence of the Gods. (Joseph Smith's Introduction of Temple ordiances & the 1844 Mormon Succession Question" M.A. Thesis, BYU, 1982, p. 28-30.)

My feelings at the present time are that, inasmuch as the Lord Almighty has preserved me until today, He will continue to preserve me, by the united faith and prayers of teh Saints, until I have fully accomplished my mission in this life, and so firmly established the dispensation of the fulness of the priesthood in the last days, that all the powers of earth and hell can never prevail against it. (H. C., Vol. 5:139-140.)

Meeting of the Twelve Apostles in Philadelphia.
...For any person to have the fulness of that priesthood, he must be a king and priest. A person may have a portion of that priesthood, the same as governors or judges of England have power from the king to transact business; but that does not make them kings of England. A person may be anointed king and priest long before he receives his kingdom. (H. C., Vol. 5:527.)

Of the truth of the gospel concerning the just,
That rise in the first resurrection of Christ.
Who receiv'd and believ'd, and repented likewise,
And then were baptis'd, as a man always was,
Who ask'd and receiv'd a remission of sin,
And honored the kingdom by keeping its laws.
Being buried in water as Jesus had been,
And Keeping the whole of his holy commands,
They received the gift of the spirit of truth,
By the ordinance truly of laying on hands.
For these overcome, by their faith and their works,
Being tried in their life-time, as pruified gold,
And seal'd by the spirit of promise, to life,
By men called of God, as was Aaron of old.
They are they, of the church of the first born of God.--
And unto whose hands he committeth all things;
For they hold the keys of the kingdom of heav'n,
And reign with the Savior, as priests, and as kings.
They're priests of the order of Melchisedek,
Like Jesus, (from whom is this highest reward,)
Receiving a fulness of glory and light;
As written:They're Gods; even the sons of the Lord.
So all things are theirs; yes, of life, or of death;
Yes, Whether things now, or to come, all are theirs,
And they are the Savior's and he is the Lord's, Having overcome all, as eternity's heirs.
'Twas wisdom that man never glory in man,
But give God the glory for all that he hath;
For the righteous will walk in the presence of God,
While the wicked are trod under foot in his wrath.
Yes, the righteous shall dwell in the presence of God,
And of Jesus, forever, from earth's second birth--
For when he comes down in the splendor of hev'n,
All these he'll bring with him, to riegn on the earth.
These are they that arise in their bodies of flesh,
When the trump of the first resurrection shall sound;
These are they that come up to Mount Zion, in life,
When the blessings and gifts of the spirit abound.
These are they that have come to the heavenly place;
To the numberless courses of angels above;

To the city of God; e'en the holiest of all,
And the home of teh blessed, the fountain of Love:
To the Church of old Enoch, and of the first born:
And gen'ral assembly of ancient renown'd.
Whose names are all kept in the archives of heav'n,
As chosen and faithful, and fit to be crown'd.
These are they that are perfect through Jesus' own blood,
Whose bodies celestial are mention'd by Paul,
Where the sun is the typical glory thereof,
And God, and his Christ, are the true judge of all. (Times and Seasons, Vol. 4:84-85, Joseph Smith)

Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys of power and blessings. (Teachings, p. 322.)
Abraham says to Melchizedek, I believe all that thou hast taught me concerning the priesthood and the coming of the Son of Man; so Melchizedek ordained Abraham and sent hem away. Abraham rejoiced, saying, Now I have a priesthood. (Teachings, p. 322-323.)

The anointing and sealing is to be called, elected and made sure. (Teachings, p. 323.)

The question is frequently asked, "Can we not be saved without going through with all those ordinances?" I would answer, No, not the fulness of salvation. (Teachings 331.)

...what you seal on earth, by the keys of Elijah, is sealed in heaven; and this is the power of Elijah, and this is the difference between the spirit and power of Elias and Elijah; for while the spirit of Elias is a forerunner, the power of Elijah is sufficient to make our calling and election sure; (Teachings, p. 338.)

The spirit of Elias if first, Elijah second, and Messiah last. Elias is a forerunner to prepare the way, and the spirit and power of Elijah is to come after, holding the keys of power, building the Temple to the capstone, placing the seals of the Melchizedek Priesthood upon the house of Israel, and making all things ready; then Messiah comes to His Temple [the world], which is last of all. (Teachings 340.)

Here, then is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be Gods yourselves, and to be kings and priest to God, the same as all Gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation to exaltation, until you attain to the ressurection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlastion burnings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power. And I want you to know that God, in the last days, while certain individuals are proclaiming his name, is not trifling with you or me. (Teachings, p. 346-347.)

...They shall be heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a God, and ascend the throne of eternal power, the same as those who have gone before. What did Jesus do: Why; I do the things I say my Father do when worlds came rolling into existence. My Father worked out his kingdom with fear and trembling, and I must do the same; and when I get my kingdom, I shall present it to my Father, so that he may obtain kingdom upon kingdom and it will exalt him in glory. He will then take a higher exaltation, and I will take his place thereby become exalted myself. [Hydes picture] So that Jesus treads in the tracks of his Father, and inherits what God did before; and God is thus glorified and exalted in the salvation and exaltation of all his children. It is plain beyond disputation, and you thus learn some of the first principles of the Gospel, about which so much hath been said.

When you climb up a ladder, you must begin at the bottom, and ascend step by step, until you arrive at the top; and so it is with the principles of the Gospel--you must begin with the first, and go on until you learn all the principles of exaltation. But before you will have learned them. It is not all to be comprehended in this world; it will be a great work to learn our salvation and exaltation even beyond the grave. I suppose I am not allowed to go into an investigation of anything that is not contained in the Bible. If I do, I think there are so many over-wise men here, that they would cry "treason" and put me to death. So I will goto the old Bible and turn commentator today. (Teachings, p. 347-348.)

It was written in the law of the Lord on high, that they that overcome by obedience, should be made kings and queens, and priests and priestesses to God and his Father, through the atonement of the eldest son, and that natural eyes should not see, nor natural ears hear, neigher should the natural heart conceive the great glorious, and eternal things, honors and blessings, that were then, in the Father's dominions, and mansions, prepared in the beginning for them that kept the faith to the end, and entered triumphantly into their third estates:--the eternal life.
...Perhaps this subject may excite the curiosity of some: as it will lead the mind back among the worlds that have been organized and passed away,--and among the Gods and angels that have attended to execute the laws and decree of one universe after another, from eternity to eternity, from the beginning till now; and, to increase the curisity of having this present world pass away with a great noise, when there is no place found for it; and of having organized a new heaven and a new earth, wherin dwelleth "righteousness;" and as our fathers cannot be perfect without us, nor we without them; [Speaking all the way back to Adam and from Adam to God and his Father] and st the man is not without the woman neither the woman without the man in the Lord, perhaps Milauleph and his wife, as king and queen to God, and all the sons and daughters of the "head" will shout for joy, and the morning stars sing together again, at the "third" entrance of Idumia and sanctified millions!--Who Knows? (Joseph's Speckled Bird., Times and Seasons 6:917-918)

Addressed by Orson Pratt:

...Mrs. Caroline Smith, deceased wife of Elder William Smith, of the quourm of the Twelve.

...In the morning of creation all things were pronounced good by the Creator, as they rolled into organized existence unsullied and without a curse. Man, the last and noblest of God's creation was placed in the garden of Eden, begining goverened by laws and restricted by commandments, not being subject to sickness, disease, or death. Adam was placed upon the earth an immortal being. He was placed in the garden to dress, beautify and adorn it, and to hold the supremacy of power over all the things of God's creation.

...The Saints will not receive their crowns of glory until after their resurrection. When the curse in part shall be removed from the world; when wickedness and abomination shall be known no more in the land, then will the Saints come forth clothed with immortality, and be crowned with power and glory as a reward for all their labors. No person will be crowned with power in the eternal world, (we are to be kings and priests to God to all eternity,) unless they have been ordained thereto in this life, previous to their death, or by some friend action as proxy for them afterwards, and receiving it for them. What is it to be kings and priests? It is to have honor, authority and dominion, having kingdoms to preside over, and subject to govern, and possessing the ability ever to increase their authority and glory, and extend their dominions. [Picture...]

Paul perfectly understood that the Saints would not receive their crowns of reward until after the resurrection, when he remarked [Made a king and Priest long before given kingdom, but must be made a king and priest on this earth or have someone do it for us.] 'I have fought the good fight; I have kept the faith; and from henceforth is a crown of glory laid up for me, which the Lord the righteous Judg shall give me at the day,a nd not only me, but to all those who love his appearing.'
Our beloved sister, whose remains are now before us, has fallen asleep with the assurance of a glorious resurrection, ans she will come up, being numbered with those who have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb, having passed through great tribulations. She has a right to this honor. She passed through the Missouri presecutions, with her companion, and was ever faithful and true to the cause of God. ...her spirit was called back to the World of spirits, to await that period when she shall be called forth from her grave by the power of the priesthood, to join again with her companion and friends in a state of immortality, to be crowned with celestial honors in the kindom of our God." (Funeral of Mrs. Caroline Smith., addressed by Orson Pratt, Times and Seasons, 6:918-920.)

Some may think that the erection of the Temple more particularly devolves upon brother Brigham, brother Heber, brother Daniel, the Twelve, adn a few of the Seventies, High Priests, and Bishops; and when it is finished they may imagine that they will receive their blessings therein; but that work is designed to be genersl. There must needs be a universal exertion, not only by leading offical members of this Church, but every member, male and female, for the Temple is not for us alone; it is also for our sons, and daughters, and succeeding generations. They will receive blessings in it, and therefore it concdrns them as well as us.
If I obtain all the blessings of the Priesthood, all the endowments, all the blessings that God has to confer upon us in this probation, and keep those things sacred while I live, I am then as pure and holy as it is possible for a man to be while in the flesh. Then, if my wives are one with me, my children and their posterity will partake of those blessings which have been placed upon me. Every blessing conferred upon me tends to benefit my posterity.
Those blessings are for every righteous man; and the blessings that are conferred upon faithful men and women in the holy anointings and sealings will rest upon their posterity after them for ever and for ever, through their faithfulness; and theri is no end to it. (President Heber C. Kimball, JD Vol. 5:18)

Each person baptized into the Church is under obligation to keep the commandments of the Lord. He is under covenant, for baptism is a "new and an everlasting covenant." (D. C. 22:1.) When he has proved himself by a worthy life, having been faithful in all things required of him, then it is his privilege to receive other covenants and to take upon himself other obligations which will make of him an heir, and he will become a member of the "Church of the Firstborn." Into his hands "the Father has given all things." He will be a priest and a king, receiving of the Father's fulness and of his glory. [D&C 76:50-90, says you must be a priest and king in order to be a member of the church of the firstborn, also D&C 76 says you will come forth in the resurrection as such must be ordained king and priest...] Is this worth having? It cannot be obtained without some effort. It connot be obtained without kinwledge of the things of God. We frequently hear quoted these words of the Lord to Joseph Smith: "It is impossible for a man to be saved in ignorance." [D&C 131] In ignorance of what? the philosophies of the world? No! In ignorance of the Gospel truth--saving principles and ordinances by which salvation comes! These must not only be understood, but they must be lifed! Knowledge thereto will! And then will come the fulness of knowledge, bringing with it wisdom, power and dominion. And the fulness of these blessings can only be obtained in the temple of the Lord! (The Way to Perfection, Joseph Fielding Smith, p. 208-209.)

|v33 And now, as I said unto you before, as ye have had so many witnesses, therefore, I beseech of you that ye do not procrastinate the day of your repentance until the end; for after this day of life, which is given us to prepare for eternity [Ordiances, baptisims, washings, anointings, marriage and the fulness of the priesthood all that can be given to men on earth...], behold, if we do not improve our time while in this life, then cometh the night of darkness wherein there can be no labor performed.
|v34 Ye cannot say, when ye are brought to that awful crisis, that I will repent, that I will return to my God. Nay, ye cannot say this; for that same spirit which doth possess your bodies at the time that ye go out of this life, that same spirit will have power to possess your body in that eternal world. [Your are caught in prison, and as orson hyde says in a privious article you must be made a king and priest on this earth or someone must do it for you at their own leasure and whim and pleasure.]
|v35 For behold, if ye have procrastinated the day of your repentance even until death, behold, ye have become subjected to the spirit of the devil, and he doth seal you his; therefore, the Spirit of the Lord hath withdrawn from you, and hath no place in you, and the devil hath all power over you; and this is the final state of the wicked. [So the devil has us and we cannot overcome death his last great hold on us until these ordinances are performed for us.]
|v36 And this I know, because the Lord hath said he dwelleth not in unholy temples, but in the hearts of the righteous doth he dwell; yea, and he has also said that the righteous shall sit down in his kingdom, to go no more out; but their garments should be made white through the blood of the Lamb. (BofM:Alma 34:32-36)

The preparatory ordiances there [the Kirtland Temple] administered, though accompanied by the ministration of angels, and the presence of the Lord Jesus, were but a faint similtude of the ordiances of the House of the Lord in their fulness; yet many through the instigation of the devil, thought they had received all, and knew as much as God; they have apostatized, and gone to hell. But be assured, brethren, there are but few, very few of the Elders of Israel, now on earth, who know the meaning of the word endowment. To know, they must experience; and to experience, a Temple must be built.
Let me give you the definition in brief. Your endowment is, to receive all those ordiances in the House of the Lord, which are necessary for you, after you have departed this life, to enable you to walk back to the presence of the Father, passing the angels who stand as sentinels, being enabled to give them the key words, the signs and tokens, pertaining to the Holy Priesthood, and gain you eternal exaltation in spite of earth and hell. [How can one gain his eternal exaltation unless he is a king and a priest and has the fulness of the Priesthood like our Fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.....] (JD V. 2:31, Brigham Young.)

Previous to his death, the Prophet Joseph manifested great anxiety to see the temple completed, as most of you who were with the Church during his day, well know. "Hurry up the work, brethren," he used to say, "let us finish the temple [the Nauvoo Temple]; the Lord has a great endowment in store for you, and I am axious that the brethren should have their endowments and receive the fullness of the priesthood." He urged the Saints forward continually, preaching unto them the importance of completing that buildin, so that therein the ordiances of life and salvation might be administered to the whole people, especially to the quorums of th holy Priesthood; "then," said he, "the Kingdom will be established, and I do not cake what shall become of me." [What Kingdom, Why, a Kingdom of Kings and Priests as the prophets have testified through all generations so that when the Saviour comes he shall be a King of Kings, Priest of Priests, Lord of Lords and God of Gods....]

Prior to the completion of the Temple, he took the Twelve and certain other men, who were chosen, and bestowed upon them a holy anointing, similar to that which was received on the day of Pentecost by the Twelve, who had been told to tarry at Jerusalem. This endowment was bestowed upon the chosen few whom Joseph anointed and ordained [kings and priests], giving unto them the keys of the holy Priesthood, the power and authority which he himself held, to build up the kingdom of God in the earth and accomplesh the great purposes of our Heavenly Father [This is my work and my Glory to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man...bestowing on them all that he has as our Father making us Kings and priests equall with him and Joing heirs with his son....]; and it was by virtue of this authority, on the death of Joseph, that President Young, as President of the quourm of the Twelve, presided over the Chruch. [Sidney never was ordained and anointed a king and priest see TWOJS p.] (JD V. 13:49, George Q. Cannon.)

My beloved brethren: My feelings are to bless those, both young and old, who are magnifying their callings in the priesthood, and to ask the Lord to pour out upon them the good things of his Spirit in this live and assure them the riches of eternity in the life to come.
With all my heart I say to those who are keeping the commandments, who are serving faithfully in the Church, and who are working for the good and berrerment of mankind generally, with all my heart I say: the Lord bless you; and you may rest assured that if you continue in the paths of truth and righteousness, he will welcome you into his eternal kingdom and give yu an inheritance with the prophets and saitns of all ages.
What a glorious thing it is to know that the Lord has offered to each of us the fulness of the priesthood, and has pormised us that if we will receive this priesthood and magnify our callings, we shall gain an everlasting inheritance with him in his kingdom!
This priesthood which we have received is the power and authority of God delegated to man on earth to act in all things for the salvation fo men. It has come to us in this day through the ministry of heavenly messengers sent to Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery.
When Moroni came to Joseph Smith in September 1823, he quoted to him these words which the Lord had given to Malachi: "Behold, I will reveal unto you the Priesthood, by the hand of Elijah the prophet, before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the lord." (D&C 2:1) [This is interesting, the whole and compleate mission of Joseph Smith and the restoration of the Authority and the Church of Jesus Christ was the Capstone of the Temple Elijah to prepare us for the Messiah....]

To prepare the way for the coming of Elijah and the restoration of the sealing power, because of which men may receive the fullness of the priesthood, John the Baptist came in May of 1829 and conferred upon Joseph and Oliver the Aaronic Priesthood. A short time later Peter, James, and John came and gave them the Melchizedek Priesthood.

Then on April 3, 1836, in the Kirtland Temple, Elijah the prophet returned and bestowed upon them the sealing power, the power to use the priesthood to bind on earth and seal in heaven.

Then in 1841 the Lord revealed to the Prophet that "the fullness of the priesthood" was available to men only in the temple, in "a house" built to his name. (See D&C 124.) And in 1843 the Prophet said: "If a man gets a fulness of the priesthood of God, he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordiances of the house of the Lord." (Documentary History of the Church, Vol. 5, p. 244.) Let me put this in a little different way. I dont care what office you hold in the Church--you may be an apostle, you may be a patriarch, a high priest, or anything else--but you cannot receive the fullness of the priesthood and the fulness of eternal reward unless you receive the ordiances of the house of the Lord; and when you receive these ordiances, the door is then open so that you can obtain all the blessings which man can gain.

Do not think because someone has a higher office in the Church than you have that you are barred from receiving the fulness of the Lord's blessings. You can have them sealed upon you as an elder, if you are faithful; and when you receive them, and live faithfully and keep these covenants, you then have all that any man can get.

There is no exaltation in the kingdom of God without the fulness of the priesthood, and every man who receives the Melchizedek Priesthood does so with an oath and a covenant that he shall be exalted.

The covenant on man's part is that he will magnify his calling in the priesthood, and that he will live by every word that proceedeth forth from the mough of God, and that he will keep the commandments.

The covenant on the Lord's part is that if man does as he promises, then all that the Father hath shall be given unto him; and this is sucy a solemn and important promise that the Lord swears with an oath that it shall come to pass.

Those of you who hold the Aaronic Priesthood have not yet received this oath and covenant which belongs to the Higher Priesthood, but you do have great blessings that come later.

If you serve faithfully as a deacon, as a teacher, and as a priest, you gain the experience and acquire the abilities and capacityies which enable you to receive the Melchizedek Priesthood and to magnify your calling in it.

The Aaronic Priesthood holds the keys of the ministering of angels, and of preaching the gospel of repentance, and of performing baptism for the remission of sins. These are very great blessings and are necessary to prepare the way for the even greater blessings of the house of the Lord, those blessings out of which exaltation comes.

I think we all know that the blessings of the preisthood are not confined to men alone. These blessings are also poured out upon our wives and daughters and upon all the faithful women of te Church. These good sisters can prepare themselves, by keeping the commandments and by serving in the Church, for the blessings of the house of the Lord. The Lord offers to his daughters every spiritual gift and blessing that can be obtained by his sons, for neither is the man without the woman nor the woman without the man in the LOrd.

(President Joseph Fielding Smith, Era, June 1970, p. 65-66.)

Elijah the Prophet
His latter-day mission was to "restore the authority and deliver the keys of the priesthood, in order that all the ordances may be attended to in righteousness.... Why send Elijah? Because he holds the keys of the authority to administer in all the ordinances of the priesthood; and without the authority is given, the ordinances could not be administered in righteousness." (Teachings, p. 172.)
"The spirit, power, and calling of Elijah is," the Prophet also taught, "that ye have power to hold the key of the revelations, ordiances, oracles, powers and endowments of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood and of the kingdom of God on the earth; and to receive, obtain, and perform all the ordinances belonging to the kingdom of God, even unto the turning of the hearts of the fathers unto the children, and the hearts of the children unto the fathers, even those who are in heaven....
"This is the spirit of Elijah, [1] that we redeem our dead, and [2] connect ourselves with our fathers which are in heaven, and [3] seal up our dead to come forth in the first resurrection; and here is the power of Elijah to seal those who dwell on earth to those who dwell in heaven. This is the power of Elijah and the keys of the kingdom of Jehovah." (Teachings, pp. 337-338.)
"How shall God come to the rescue of this generation?" the Prophet asked. "He will send Elijah the Prophet....Elijah shall reveal the covenants to seal the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers. The anointing and sealing is to be [1] called, [2] elected, and [3] made sure." (Teachings, p. 323.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 224-225).

[Here we see a number of significant things:
1. The spirit, power, and calling of Elijah is to bestow the Fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood-which is to receive all the ordiances of the temple.
2. We learn that it is the Power of

"...to seal those who dwell on earth to those who dwell in heaven" (Teachings, pp. 337-338.)

3. We learn that it is the power in the to seal up our dead [and ourselves to come forth in the first resurrection which is a joint sealing contained in the New and Everlasting Covenant of Celestial mariage. (D & C 132:19.)

4."It is to seal the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers." (Teachings, p. 323.)
This is contained as part of the joint blessing that husband and wife receive together or not at all; That of sealing children to parents all the way back to Adam and Eve and from them to Our heavenly Father and Mother for this is a Joint blessing or not at all.
5. The Power of Elijah which is fulfilled within the New and Everlasting Covenant contains the following:

Gospel Mysteries

" The anointing and sealing is to be [1] called [to join the church and receive the fulness of the priesthood], [2] elected [to receive the Melchizedek Priesthood and the New and everlasting covenant of Celestial Marriage, and [3] the crowning ordinance of the Fulness of the Melchizedek Preisthood in the New and Everlasting Covenant of Marriage is to receive the fulness of the priesthood to be annointed and made a king and priest and queen and preistess and become a member of the Church of the Firstborn and all these are then to be sealed] and made sure [by 1. the sealing power of the Priesthood and 2. the ratifing seal of the Holy Ghost..." (Teachings, p. 323.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 224).

Godhood
That exaltation which the saints of all ages have so devotly sought is godhood itself. Godhood is to have the character, possess the attributes, and enjoy the perfections which the Father has. It is to do what he does, have the powers resident in him [and his complementry companion[s] jointly], and live as he lives, having eternal increase. (D. & C. 132:17:20, 37.) It is to know him in the full and complete sense, and no one can fully know God except another exalted personage who is like him in all respects. Those attaining the supreme height are sons of God (D. & C. 76:50-60); they receive the fulness of the Father and find membership in the Church of the Firstborn (D. & C. 93:17-22); they are joint heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18), inheriting with him all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-51) [Expand the consept of earthly parents oldest child has more tallents takes care of other children and perhaps even saves them but the Father and mother love all their children equally they appreciate the tallents of the oldest children. But they love the Children all the same not the talents-they appreciate the tallents therefore all their children inherit the same-thus we are Joint-heirs with Christ. And Christ our eldest most tallented brother and savior thought it not robery to receive the fulness of God.]
Joseph Smith said: "God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens!... I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity. I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another, and that he was once a man like us; yea, that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did; and I will show it from the Bible....
"Here, then, is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests [and Queens and Priestesses] to God, the same as all gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation the exaltation, until you attain to the resurrection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlasting brunings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power.... [Such persons are] heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a god, and ascend the throne fo eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, pp. 345-347.) Again: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 321-322.)

Gospel
The fulness of the gospel consists in those laws, doctrines, ordinances, powers, and authorities needed to enable men to gain the fulness of salvation. Those who have the gospel fulness do not necessarily enjoy the fulness of gospel knowledge or understanding all of the doctrines of the plan of salvation. But they do have the fulness of the priesthood and sealing power by which men can be sealed up unto eternal life. [This occures as part of the New and everlasting Covenant of Celestial Marriage D&C 131, 132.] The fulness of the gospel grows out of the fulness of the sealing power and not out of the fulness of the gospel knowledge. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 333.)

Kings
[Linked As a part of the following ordiances]
Calling and Election made sure, celestial Marriage, Endowments, Exaltation, Melchizedek Priesthood Priestesses, Priests, Queens.
Holders of the Melchizedek Priesthood have power to press forward in righteousness, living by every word that proceedeth forth from the mouth of God, magnifying their callings, going from grace to grace, until through the fulness of the ordiances of the temple they receive the fulness of the priesthood and are ordained kings and priests. Those so attaining shall have [This is unconditional, man and wifes calling and election has been made sure] exaltation and be kings, priests, rulers, and lords in their respective spheres in the eternal kingdoms of the great King who is God our Father. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 425.)

Lamb of God
In honor of the Lamb, a great choir of 100,000,000 [men] voices of the redeemed shall sing this new song (Rev. 5:9-13):
[In order for there to be 100 Million men voices singing this song, who had been made kings and priests their would have to be at least another 100 million queens and priestesses who held jointly these blessings.]

Thou wast slain,
And hast redeemed us to God by thy blood
Out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation;
And hast made us unto our God kings and priests:
And we shall reign on the earth....
Worthy is the Lamb that was slain
To receive power, and riches, and wisdom,
And strength, and honour, and glory, and blessings....
Blessing, and honour, and glory, and power,
Be unto him that sitteth upon the throne,
And unto the Lamb for ever and ever.
(Mormon Doctrine, p. 430.)

The greatest blessings are reserved for those who obtain "the fulness of the priesthood," meaning the fulness of the blessings of the priesthood. These blessings are found only in the temples of God. (D. & C. 124:28, 34, 42; 127:8.) "There are certain key words and signs belonging to the priesthood which must be observed in order to obtain the blessing." (Teachings, p. 199.) Theses, of course, are revealed only in the temples. "Washings, anointings, endowments, and the communications of keys," the prophet says, are essential to enable one "to secure the fulness of those blessings which have been prepared for the Church of the Firstborn, and come up and abide in the presence of Elohim in the eternal worlds." (Teachings, p. 237.) Celestial marriage itself is an "order of the priesthood" without which no one can gain the fulness of glory in the eternal worlds. (D. & C. 131:1-4; 132.) Anciently the elders of Israel who married out of the temple, were said to "have defiled the priesthood, and the covenant of the priesthood." (Neh. 13:25-30.) "Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the most High God, holding the keys of power and blessing." (Teachings, p. 322.) "If a man gets a fulness of the priesthood of God, he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordiances of the house of the Lord.... All men who become heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ will have to receive the fulness of the ordiances of his kingdom; and those who will not receive all the ordiances will come short of the fulness of that glory, if they do not lose the whole." (Teachings, pp. 308-309.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 474-482.)

Gospel Mysteries

"And thou hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth." (Rev. 5:10; 20:4.)

If righteous men have power through the gospel and its crowning ordiance of celestial marriage to become kings and priests to rule in exaltation forever, it follows that the women by their side (without whom they cannot attain exaltation) will be queens and priestesses. (Rev. 1:6; 5:10) Exaltation grows out of the eternal union of a man and his wife. Of those whose marriage endures in eternity, the Lord says "Then shall they be gods" (D. & C. 132:20); that is , each of them, the man and the woman, will be a god. As such they will rule over their dominions forever. [Explain the word Elohim.] (Mormon Doctrine, p.613.)

Restoration of the Gospel
It is only throught the ordiances of his holy house that the Lord deigns to "restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fulness of the priesthood." (D. & C. 124:28; 127:8; 128:17.) [This would be a good place to talk about the fulness and the Priesthood and show that the Lord restored this so that we would receive the full blessings.] (Mormon Doctrine, p. 637.)

Holy women
The Lord never sends apostles and prophets and righteous men to minister to his people without placing women of like spiritual stature at their sides.

Gospel Mysteries

Adam stands as the great high priest, under Christ, to rule as a natural patriarch over all men of all ages, but he cannot rule alone; Eve, his wife, rules at his side, having like caliber and attainments to his own. Abraham is tested as few men have been when the Lord commands him to offer Isaac upon the altar (Gen. 22:1-19); and sarah struggles with like problems when the Lord directs that she withhold from the Egyptians her status as Abraham's widfe. (Abra. 2:21-25; Gen. 12:7-20.) Isaac gains from the Lord the promise that his seed shall "multiply as the stars of heaven" (Gen. 26:1-4); and Rebekah, his wife, receives a blessing of her own in which she is promised that she shall be "the mother of thousands of millions.: (Gen. 24:59-60.) And so it goes, in all dispensations and at all times when there are holy men there are also holy women. Neither stands alone before the Lord. The exaltation of the one is dependent upon that of the other.

Whose daughters ye are]

Brethren in the Church become "the seed of Abraham" by faith. (D. & C. 84:34.) That is, they believe what Abraham believed; they worship as Abraham worshiped; they are one with him in spiritual things--and are therefore considered to be his followers and sons, for "if ye be Christ's [Anointed ones], then are ye Abraham's see, and heirs according to the promise." (Gal. 3:29.) Thus, to identify the women in the Church as the daughters of Sarah is to testify that Sarah, and Abraham her husband, were also followers of Christ and believers in the same truths of salvation revealed anew in the Christian dispensation.

Heirs together] Neither men or women are saved alone. Salvation is a family affair. The fulness of the blessings of the gospel come to men and women together; they grow out of the new and everlasting covenant of marriage. (DNTC 3, p. 302-303.)

A Tribute to Women
by
Boyd K. Packer

This talk was delivered at the Priesthood commemoration Fireside broadcast by satellite from Temple Square on 7 May 1989. (July 1989, Ensign, p. 72-75.)

It is with reverence that I speak of the restoration of the priesthood. We commemorate the restoration, not the creation of it. The priesthood existed before the Lord appeared with others in the Kirtland Temple and restored the keys of the sealing authority. (See D&C 110:11-16.)

It did not begin when Peter, James, and John conferred the Melchizedek Priesthood and the keys of the kingdom upon Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery. (See D&C 27:12-13.) Nor when John the Baptist ordained them to the Aaronic Priesthood and gave them the keys to the ministering of angels. (See D&C 13.)

It was formed before Peter, James, and John received keys on the Mount of Transfiguration. It existed before Moses received it under the hands of his father-in-law, Jethro (See D&C 84:6), and before Abraham sought his "appointment unto the Priesthood according to the appointment of God unto the fathers" and paid tithes to Melchizedek. (See Abr. 1:3-4; JST Gen. 14:25-40.)

It was present before Enoch, even before Adam.

The prophet Joseph Smith revealed that the priesthood "existed with God from eternity, and will to eternity, without beginning of days or end of years" and that Adam obtained it "in the Creation before the world was formed." (Teachings of the Prophet Joseph Smith, sel. Joseph Fielding Smith, Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Co. 1938, p. 157.)

Gospel Mysteries

The Lord revealed that the priesthood and its ordinances were "instituted from before the foundation of the world" (see D&C 124:33-34), and commanded that a temple be built at Nauvoo as a place to "restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fulness of the priesthood" (D&C 124:34.)

The scriptures reveal much about the priesthood, but they are not a handbook with references all gathered together in one place. They are scattered through the scriptures and were revealed at different times and in different places. Revelation continues: consider the recent announcement on the Seventy.

One must prospect through and dig into the scriptures like a miner searching for precious metal. Scattered here and there are nuggets, some pure, and some alloyed with other doctrines. Occasionally one strikes a rich vein which will yield all that you are willing to earn, for the scriptures do not explain not interpret themselves.

If I were to draw a prospector's map showing where I have found treasures on the priesthood, these are among the places I would mark: the old Testament contains many choice nuggets, including references to Melchizedek, King of Salem (now known as Jerusalem). There is much to be mined in the New Testament; the sixth chapter of Hebrews is a rich vein of doctrine on the priesthood.

In the Book of Mormon, the thirteenth chapter of Alma contains many treasures. No doubt the counsel was given in a priesthood meeting because Alma used the salutation "my brethren" more than once. He speaks of the priesthood being after "the order of [the Son of God]." (Alma 13:2.) He describes it as a "holy calling." (Alma 13:2, 4, 6.) He says of Melchizedek, "There were many before him, and also there were many afterwards, but none were greater." (Alma 13:19.)

Alma described the priesthood as "being prepared from eternity to all eternity...without beginning or end." (Alma 13:7-8.) It is a "holy calling. prepared from the foundation of the world for such as would not harden their hearts." (Alma 13:5.)

The Doctrine and Covenants holds veins of the richest and purest kind; sections 20, 76, 84, 107, 121, and 124 and examples.

In section 84 there is a genealogy which traces the priesthood back to Adam. (See D&C 84:6-17.) Another in section 107 (vs. 40-57) was included in instruction to the Twelve.

The Pearl of Great Price reveals how Adam received the priesthood. (See Moses 6:67.)

The priesthood, once defined as the authority given to man to act in the name of God, is not ours to remodel or change or modify or abridge. It is ours to honor and magnify.

From the beginning the priesthood has been conferred only upon the men. It is always described in the scriptures as coming through the lineage of the fathers. (See D&C 84:6, 14-16; 107:40-41; Abr. 1:3-4.)

While fathers and sons bear the burden of the priesthood, it was declared in the very beginning that it was not good for man to be alone. A companion, or "helpmeet," was given him. The word meet means equal. Man and woman, together, were constituted a fountain of life. While neither can generate life without the other, the mystery of life unfolds when these two become one. From the very beginning the power to beget life was unlawful to express except there be a marriage between the man and the woman. Marriage is a covenant of lifelong fidelity and devotion which, by ordiance, may last for eternity.

The whole physical universe is organized in order that man and woman might fulfill the full measure of their creation. It is a perfect system where delicate balances and counter-balances govern the physical, the emotional, an the spiritual in mankind.

The Lord revealed that the purpose of it all is "to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man." (Moses 1:39.) Ordinances and covenants were ordained to protect this power to generate life. When laws are obeyed, happiness follows, for "man are, that they might have joy." (2 Ne. 2:25.) Ever and always there is the destroyer waiting to disturb and disrupt, to scatter abrasive into this marvelous system. His purpose is to rupture those circuits which interconnect the physical, the emotional, and the spiritual, or to cross-connect them in ways that never where intended. His purpose is to pollute that sacred fountain of life and to generate, if he can, unnatural affections. (See 2 Tim. 3:2-3.)

The process by which life is conceived belongs only to those who have been legally and lawfully married. It was meant from the beginning to be veiled in total privacy. It was never to be degraded in idle conversation or to be the subject of unworthy humor. It was never to be exposed to public view, detailed in novels, illustrated in books, or acted out upon the stage or in films. It is never to involve children. And it is never to be perverted, never to be sold, never to be bought for money.

The compelling need which draws a husband back to his wife is always to be expressed in tenderness and love. It is through this process that a wife may give her husband, and a husband his wife, a gift which can be received in no other way--the gift of children.

The separate natures of man and woman were designed by the Father of us all to fulfill the purposes of the gospel plan.

Never can tow of the same gender fulfill the commandment to multiply and replenish the earth. No two man or any number added to them, no matter how much priesthood they may think they possess, can do it. Only a woman can bestow upon man that supernal title of father.

She in turn becomes a mother. Can anyone dispute that her part is different from and more demanding than his? The mother must endure limitations while nature performs the miracle of creation.

Through her sacrifice, once again another spirit clothed in a mortal body crosses that frail footpath of life to experience mortality and the testing required in the plan of salvation.

The well-being of the mother, the child, the family, the Church, indeed of all humanity depends upon protecting that process. The obligations of motherhood are never-ending. The addition of such duties as those which attend ordination to the priesthood would constitute an intrusion into, an interruption to, perhaps the avoidance of, that crucial contribution which only a mother can provide.

The limitation of priesthood responsibilities to men is a tribute to the incomparable place of women in the plan of salvation.

The prophet who said that "no success [in any field of endeavor] can compensate for failure in the home" (David O. McKay) did not exempt callings in the Church.

Men and women have complementary, not competing, responsibilities. There is difference but not inequity. Intelligence and talent favor both of them. But in the woman's part, she is not just equal to man; she is superior! She can do that which he can never do; not in all eternity can he do it. There are complementing rewards which are hers and hers alone.

And blessings bestowed impartially upon man and woman alike include:

--Baptism;
--The gift of the Holy Ghost;
--The testimony of Jesus;
--Personal revelation;
--The ministry of angels;
--The responsibility to teach, to testify, to exhort, to edify and to comfort;
--The faith to be healed;
--And many other spiritual gifts.

All under a uniform standard for worthiness.

And the highest ordinances in the House of the Lord they receive together and equally or not at all!

It should not disturb either man or women that some responsibilities are bestowed upon one and not the other. Duties of the priesthood are delegated to men and are patriarchal, which means "of the father." From the very beginning this has been so. The scriptures plainly state that they were "confirmed to be handed down from father to son.... This order was instituted in the days of Adam." (D&C 107:40-41.)

Many in the world now press for a melding of the identities of man and woman, claiming that the virtue of equality requires a homogenization of all relationships. Following an absolutely hopeless quest, some seek for an enduring physical and spiritual relationship with one of the same gender. That wicked deception has unleashed a pestilence which now threatens the whole of humanity. There can be no fulfillment there. To find fulfillment, they must--and praise be to God, they can--find it where it has been from the beginning.

Some in the Church, following that trend in the world, have written doctrinal treatises trying to show that the scriptures provide for an exchange in the identities and responsibilities of men and women. They express concern that the leaders of the Church do not respond to their recommendations.

Lest they bring sorrow upon themselves and their loved ones, I call to their attention a caution in section 121, beginning with verse 16, part of which I will quote.

"Cursed are all those that shall lift up the heel against mine anointed, saith the Lord, and cry they have sinned when they have not sinned before me, saith the Lord, but have done that which was meet in mines eyes, and which I commanded them.... They shall be severed from the ordinances of mine house.... They shall not have right to the priesthood, nor their posterity after them from generation to generation." (D&C 121:16, 19, 21.)

"They themselves shall be despised by those that flattered them." (D&C 121:20.)

A similar caution applies to every man and boy who holds the priesthood. Have we not been told that "the rights of the priesthood are inseparably connected with the powers of heaven, and that the powers of heaven cannot be controlled nor handled only upon the principles of righteousness: and that "no power or influence can or ought to be maintained by virtue of the priesthood, only by persuasion, by long-suffering, by gentleness and meekness, and by love unfeigned"? (D&C 121:36, 41.)

Ought not those virtues by which the priesthood must govern apply first and always to our wives and children, to our families?

Jacob rebuked the brethren of his day, saying, "ye have broken the hearts of your tender wives, and lost the confidence of your children, because of your bad examples before them; and the sobbings of their hearts ascend up to God against you." (Jacob 2:35.)

It was not meat that the woman alone accommodate herself to the priesthood duties of her husband or her sons. She is of course to sustain and support and encourage them.

Holders of the priesthood, in turn, must accommodate themselves to the needs and responsibilities of the wife and mother. Her physical and emotional and intellectual and cultural well-being and her spiritual development must stand first among his priesthood duties.

There is no task, however menial, connected with the care of babies, the nurturing of children, or with the maintenance of the home that is not his equal obligation. The tasks which come with parenthood, which many consider to be below other tasks, ar simply above them.

Sister Packer and I have seven sons and three daughters. And that, I have often been heard to say, is about equal value. They, in turn, have given us daughters and sons-in-law, and grandchildren. When our sons were growing up, they enjoyed a very broad tolerance from their father toward their mischief and mistakes. But there was no tolerance for even the slightest disrespect toward their mother.

And the question our daughters-in-law have matured, I have ordained each in turn to the priesthood. Somehow that seems the lesser part. I have but ordained them. She has born them, then trained and nurtured them.
They are not my children and my grandchildren. They are our children and grandchildren. They all share in the blessings of the priesthood.
I could not possibly express the depth and the intensity of love and gratitude that I feel toward my wife, the mother of our children.
Without her, I could not have the highest and most enduring blessings of this "priesthood...after the holiest order of God" (D&C 84:18), this "Holy Priesthood, after the Order of the Son of God" (D&C 107:3). For, "in order to the highest, a man must enter into this order of the priesthood [meaning the new and everlasting covenant of marriage]; And if he does not, he cannot obtain it." (D&C 131:104.)
I know that the Son of God is our Redeemer. Reverently I give thanks to God the Father for the consummate blessing: a sweetheart, wife, companion, friend, a helpmeet, a woman! In the name of Jesus Christ, amen. (July Ensign, 1989, p. 72-75.)

Christ is the King of Kings (1 Tim. 6:15; Rev. 17:14; 19:11-16), a title signifying far more than the mere fact that he as the Eternal King hold dominion over mere earthly kings. Rather, those who gain exaltation are ordained kings and queens, priests and priestesses, in which positions they shall exercise power and authority in the Lord's eternal kingdoms forever. (Rev. 1:6; 5:10.) Christ as the chief of all exalted beings continued to hold dominion and sway over these other exalted kings and saints and consequently reigns as King of Kings and King of saints forever (Rev. 15:3.) (Mormon Doctrine, Page 424.)

KINGS.

Holders of the Melchizedek Priesthood have power to press forward in righteousness, living by every word that proceedeth forth from the mouth of God, magnifying their callings, going from grace to grace, until through the fullness of the ordinances of the temple the receive the fullness of the priesthood and are ordained kings and priests. Those so attaining shall have exaltation and be kings, priests, rulers, and lords in their respective spheres in the eternal kingdoms of the great King who is God our Father. Rev. 1:6; 5:10.) (Mormon Doctrine, Page 425.)

The Apostle Orson Hyde describes the course these elect must follow to become Gods:

> The chosen vessels unto God are the kings and priests that are placed at the head of these kingdoms. These have received their washings and anointings in the time of god on this earth; they have been chosen, ordained, and anointed kings and priests, to reign as such in the resurrection of the just. Such as have not received the fulness of the priesthood, and have not been anointed an ordained in the temple of the Most High, may obtain salvation in the celestial kingdom, but not a celestial crown. Many are called to enjoy a celestial glory, yet few are chosen to wear a celestial crown or rather, to be rulers in the celestial kingdom. (Mill. Star 9:23-24)

From Joseph Smith's Inspired Translation of the Bible, we read that the fulness of the Priesthood comes "not by man, nor the will of man; neither by father nor mother; neither by beginning of days nor end of years; but of God." (Gen. 14:28) Willard Richards wrote in the Joseph Smith Diary that is Priesthood is for those who are--

> ...called, elected and made were without father, etc.; a priesthood which holds the priesthood by right from the Eternal Gods--and not by descent from father and mother. (words of Joseph Smith, p 244)

> And again, speaking of Hebrews 7:

> Paul is here treating of three different priesthoods, namely the priesthood of Aaron <Levitical>, Abraham <patriarchal>, and Melchizedek. Abraham's priesthood was of greater power than Levi's, and Melchizedek's was of greater power than that of Abraham. (Words of Joseph Smith, p.245-246)

> The Prophet Joseph stated that, "those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God,..." (TPJS, p. 322) He further explained this Priesthood order as--

> That of Melchisedec who had still greater power even power of an endless life of which was our Lord Jesus Christ which also Abraham obtained by the offering of his son Isaac which was not the power of a Prophet nor apostle nor Patriarch only but of King & Priest to God to open the windows of Heaven and pour out the peace & law of endless life to man, & no man can attain to the joint heirship with Jesus Christ without being administered to by one having the same power & authority of Melchisedec. (Words of Joseph Smith, p. 245)
> In another instance, Joseph emphasized that the spirit of "Messiah is above the spirit and power of Elijah" (TPJS, p. 340), for--

> ... this greater priesthood administereth the gospel and holdeth the key of the mysteries of the kingdom, even the key of the knowledge of God. For without this no man can see the face of God, even the Father, and live. (D. & C. 84:19 & 22)

> In conclusion then, the Prophet stated that "the spirit of Elias is first, Elijah second, and Messiah last." (TPJS, p. 340) This highest power and authority of Priesthood was the kingly Priesthood which Peter referred to as the "Royal Priesthood" (I Peter 2:9), confirmed by the King of Kings-the Messiah Himself.

Those with the highest Priesthood may enjoy the following powers and privileges:

> Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys of power and blessings. In fact, that Priesthood is a perfect law of theocracy, and stands as God to give laws to the people, administering endless lives to the sons and daughters of Adam. (TPJS, p. 322)

> All men who become heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ will have to receive the fulness of the ordinances of his kingdom; and those who will not receive all the ordinances will come short of the fulness of that glory, if they do not lose the whole. (DHC 5:424)

The power and authority of the highest, or Melchizedek Priesthood, is to hold the keys of all the spiritual blessings of the church--to have the privilege of receiving the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, to have the heavens opened unto them, to commune with the general assembly and church of the Firstborn, and to enjoy the communion and presence of God the Father, and Jesus the mediator of the new covenant. (D. & C. 107:18-19)

The object of every man should be to obtain the Priesthood and magnify his calling in that Priesthood until he proves himself worthy of the fulness of the ordinances of God's kingdom. Only then can he possess the power to have the heavens opened to him and commune with God the Father and His Son.

In our dispensation, the Lord has said: "every man might speak in the name of God that Lord, even the Savior of the world." (D. & C. 1:20) The prophet Jeremiah prophesied:

Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah: Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the Lord: But this shall be the covenant that i will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the Lord, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people. And they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more." (Jer. 31:31-34)

The Lord stated further:

...I say unto you that mine eyes are upon you. I am in your midst and ye cannot see me; but the day soon cometh that ye shall see me, and know that I am; for the veil of darkness shall soon be rent, and he that is not purified shall not abide the day. Wherefore, gird up your loins and be prepared. (D. & C. 38:7-9)

Wilford Woodruff said the Twelve Apostles had received "their endowment, and actually received the keys of the Kingdom of God, and oracles of God, keys of revelation, and pattern of heavenly things. (Times and Seasons 5:698)

Orson Hyde said the Twelve Apostles had been given "the keys of the kingdom, and every gift, key and power that Joseph ever had, confirmed upon our heads by an anointing. (The Return 2:253)
Joseph confirmed this by saying:

Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys of power and blessings. (TPJS, p. 322)

And again--

Gospel Mysteries

Here, then is eternal life-to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be Gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests to god, the same as all Gods have done before you.... (TPJS, p. 346)

Brigham Young added:

> For any person to have the fulness of that Priesthood, he must be a king and a priest. (Manuscript History of Brigham Young, Aug. 6, 1843)

THE FULLNESS OF THE PRIESTHOOD

The following is to better understand what the Fullness Melchizedek Priesthood as is referred to by the Lord in D&C 124:28.

The following revelation was given to Joseph Smith in 1841 to build a temple in Nauvoo so that the Lord could restore the fullness of the Priesthood to his children. He said:

|v28 For there is not a place found on earth that he may come to and restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fullness of the priesthood.
(D&C: Section 124:28)

At this time, the Lord had already restored the Aaronic Priesthood, through John the Baptist, and Melchizedek priesthood, through Peter, James and John, with Moses, Elias and the Savior restoring keys at the Kirtland temple, with all its ecclesiastical offices of apostles, prophets, pasters, and teachers, evangelists and etc. So what was the fullness of the priesthood, and why was it so important for the Lord to restore it.

Now let us begin to understand this great crowning part of the Melchizedek priesthood by unlocking the answers through the great insight and words of our latter-day leaders and prophets.

The Lord says in Matthew 7:7, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you", therefore, it seems appropriate to use a simple question and answer method to draw answers from the words and writings of latter-day leaders and prophets to proceed to understand this great priesthood.

Question: What is the Fullness of the Melchizedek Priesthood?

Joseph Smith answers: The order of Melchizedek or fullness of the priesthood is the "last law or the fullness of law or priesthood which constitutes [a man] a king and priest" (WJS, pp. 245-246).

Question: What is the relationship of the fullness of the priesthood and the Melchizedek Priesthood?

Joseph Smith answers: "Those holding the fullness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys and powers of blessings" (TPJS, p. 322).

Question: How does a man become a king and a priest?

Brigham Young answers: In the temple "the administrator...anoint[s] the man a King and Priest" (Wilford Woodruff Journal, Dec. 26, 1866, Church Archives.)

Question: What does it mean to be a king and a priest?

John Taylor answers: Through the temple anointing we become "kings and priests -- priests to administer in the holy ordinances pertaining to the endowments and exaltations; and kings, under Christ, who is the King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, to rule and reign, according to the eternal laws of justice and equity, those who are this redeemed and exalted." (John Taylor, The Mediation and Atonement, Salt Lake City: Desert News Co., 1882, p. 159.

Question: What priesthood authority is associated with being a king and priest?

Brigham Young answers: "Men will be ordained kings and priests, and will then have received the fullness of the priesthood" (Heber C. Kimball Journal, Dec. 26, 1845. Church Archives.) and " for any person to have the fullness of the priesthood, he must be a king and a priest". (Elden J. Watson, Manuscript History of Brigham Young, 1801-1844. Salt Lake City: Smith Secretarial Service, 1968, p. 143.)

Question: The scriptures state that a man must be married in order to inherit the highest degree in the Celestial Kingdom; therefore, must a man be married to be a king and priest?

James E. Talmage answers: "There are certain of the higher ordinances [of the temple] to which an unmarried woman cannot be admitted, but the rule is equally in force as to the bachelor" (House of the Lord, p. 79.)

Question: What are these higher ordinances?

Joseph Smith answers: "That a man must enter into an everlasting covenant with his wife in this world or he will have no claim on her in the next" (WJS, p. 233).

Question: If the New and Everlasting Covenant of Marriage is one of the ordinances reserved for a man and woman; are there others?

Joseph F. Smith answers: There is a "second blessing" which is "not administered to single individuals of either sex, but to men and their wives." (Letter to Thomas E. Bassett, Jan. 5, 1902, Church Archives.)

Question: What is the second blessing?

Brigham Young answers: "Those who come here [into the temple] and receive their [initiatory] washings and anointings will [later] be ordained Kings and Priests, and will then have received the fullness of the Priesthood, all that can be given on the earth." (Heber C. Kimball Journal, Dec. 26, 1845, Church Archives.) To this can be added a revelation given to Joseph Smith that men "receive a fullness by reason of the anointing." (Unpublished revelation, dated July 17, 1831, Church Archives.)

Question: If men receive the fullness of the priesthood in an anointing what do their wives receive?

Presiding Patriarch John Smith answers: Those sisters who are true and faithful "priesthood in its fullness shall be conferred upon [them]". (Patriarchal Blessing, Mehitable Duty, Dec. 27, 1845.)

Question: If a man becomes a king and priest in the anointing of the fullness of the priesthood, what does a woman become?

Bruce R. McConkie answers: "If righteous men have power through the gospel and its crowning ordinance of celestial marriage to become kings and priests to rule in exaltation forever, it follows that women by their side (without whom they cannot attain exaltation) will be queens and priestesses". (Bruce R. McConkie, Mormon Doctrine, Salt Lake City: Bookcraft, 2nd ed, 1966), p. 613.)

Question: In what capacity can kings and priests officiate in the fullness of the priesthood?

Joseph Smith answers: "[The fullness of the priesthood] is a perfect law of theocracy and stands as God to give laws to the people, administering endless lives to the sons and daughters of Adam" (TPJS, P. 555).

Question: What does it mean to administer endless lives?

Orson Pratt answers: "Gods works are without beginning and without end; they are one eternal round. What kind of works are they? They are to make creations; and people them with living beings; and place them in a condition to probe themselves; and to exercise the kingly and priestly office to redeem them after they have suffered pain and sorrow and distress; and to bring them into the presence of God; that they may become kings and priests for other creations that shall be made; and that shall be governed and ruled over by those possessing the proper authority" (JD, 1:291).

Question: Is the fullness of the priesthood only reserved for the prophets of God?

Joseph Fielding Smith answers: "I do not care what office you hold in this Church -- you may be an apostle, you may be a patriarch, a high priest, or anything else -- you cannot receive a fullness of the priesthood unless you go to the temple of the Lord and receive these ordinances.... No man can get the fullness of the priesthood outside the temple of the Lord.... To obtain the fullness of the priesthood does not mean that you must become the President of the Church. Every man who is faithful and will receive these ordinances and blessings obtains a fullness of the priesthood.... The Lord has made it possible for every man [and I might add, woman] to receive the fullness of the priesthood through the ordinances of the temple of the Lord" (DS, 3:133).

THE CONCEPT OF GATHERING TO ZION FOR THE FULNESS OF THE PRIESTHOOD

Richard A. Ware

22 October 1981

The concept of the gathering of the saints to Zion is a subject that is closely intertwined with whether or not a person receives the highest blessings of the temple: the fulness of the priesthood.

In several statements made by the First Presidency between 1902 and 1922, it was very apparent that the fulness of the priesthood, with few exceptions, was only administered to those who had united with the body of the Church.

In 1902 President Joseph F. Smith recorded in his letterbook that the fulness of the priesthood ordinances are given "to those who have gathered to Zion."1 In 1905 the First Presidency of the Church, composed of Joseph F. Smith, John R. Winder and Anthon H. Lund, stated that the fulness ordinances "are administered only to people who have gathered with the body of the Church."2 Additional statements made by the First Presidency are as follows:

14 March 1907

And indeed, so particular have the Presidencies been at administering second anointings, that they drew the line between faithful members of the Church who died without gathering with the Church, and faithful members who gathered with the body of the Church and remained faithful afterwards, leaving the faithful people who have died in a scattered condition to be dealt with by the authority on the other side of the veil.3

22 May 1908

People who are not members of the Church during their lifetime are not eligible to receive second blessings. They should not only have been members of the Church, but their faithfulness and worthiness to receive these blessings should be unquestioned, and besides the line has been drawn in favor of those who have either gathered with the body of the Church or died on their way to the gathering place, all others are left to be dealt with by the authority on the other side of the veil.4

We have just informed President Stole that a rule of the temple forbids deceased women who were not members of the Church prior to their demise, or who did not gather with the body of the Church, being anointed to men, therefore, we could not endorse the recommends of the sisters referred to.5

16 February 1909

The general rule adopted by the First Presidency in regard to the second anointing, is in effect that those blessings should be confined to the faithful members of the Church who have gathered with the body of the Church, or who died on the way in an effort to do so.6

18 March 1922

Referring to yours of the 15th inst. we would say that President Woodruff's instructions to Stake Presidents on the subject of recommending for second anointing limited them to persons who had gathered with the Church, whether dead or alive, and this was the policy adopted by President Snow, although he may have made exceptions to it. And it is our mind that faithful men who have gathered with the Church, who can be recommended as worthy to receive these higher blessings, but who through death were deprived of them, should receive them by proxy.

Apparently the concept of "gathering to Zion" or gathering "with the Church" never did mean "gathering to Utah", because several individuals were given the fulness of the priesthood who lived outside of Utah.8 Rather it meant "gathering to the stakes of Zion." wherever they might be found.
In the early days of the Church there were very few stakes in existence, and those who lived in the mission fields of the Church were not considered to be a part of "Zion" unless the branch or ward was a part of a stake. Therefore all the saints who desired to receive their full temple blessings had to gather to a stake of Zion.
During the time of the Prophet Joseph Smith, the stakes of Zion were located in Kirtland, Missouri and Nauvoo. When the saints moved west and settled in the Utah Basin, the Salt Lake stake was organized to which all the saints were to gather. Later, President Brigham Young organized new settlements from upper Idaho, through Utah, and south to Mesa, Arizona. Each of these settlements became a stake, and any individual who gathered to one of these stakes fulfilled the rule that he must gather to Zion in order to be worthy to receive the full temple blessings.
Eventually the stakes of the Church spread out into other states and to other continents so that today stakes are located around the world, and members of the Church are strongly counseled everywhere to not gather to Utah, but rather to gather to the stakes within their own lands.9 If they are faithful and meet all the requirements necessary, they can receive the fulness ordinances without moving to Utah.
With this concept in mind, it becomes easier to understand what Joseph Smith was saying in his discourse on the gathering of the saints, when he addressed a large assembly of saints at the Temple stand on June 11, 1843:

This subject [Matt 23:37] was presented to me since I came to the stand. What was the object of the gathering the Jews, or the people of God in any age of the world? * * *
The main object was to build unto the Lord a house whereby He could reveal unto His people the ordinances of His house and the glories of His kingdom, and teach the people the way of salvation; for there are certain ordinances and principles that, when they are taught and practiced, must be done in a place or house built for that purpose. * * *
It was the design of the councils of heaven before the world was, that the principles and laws of the priesthood should be predicated upon the gathering of the people in every age of the world. Jesus did everything to gather the people, and they would not be gathered, and He therefore poured out curses upon them. * * *
It is for the same purpose that God gathers together His people in the last days, to build unto the Lord a house to prepare them for the ordinances and endowments, washings and anointings, etc. * * *
If a man gets a fulness of the priesthood of God he has to get it in the same way that Jesus Christ obtained it, and that was by keeping all the commandments and obeying all the ordinances of the house of the Lord. * * *
All men who become heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ will have to receive the fulness of the ordinances of his kingdom; and those who will not receive all the ordinances will come short of the fullness of that glory, if they do not lose the whole. * * *
Why gather the people together in this place? For the same purpose that Jesus wanted to gather the Jews---to receive the ordinances, the blessings, and glories that God has in store for His Saints.10

Then, six months before the Prophet was martyred, he urged the saints to gather so that they could be sealed and saved:

The Saints have not too much time to save and redeem their dead, and gather together their living relatives, that they may be saved also, before the earth will be smitten, and the consumption decreed falls upon the world.
I would advise all the Saints to go with their might and gather together all their living relatives to this place, that they may be sealed and saved, that they may be prepared against the day that the destroying angel goes forth. . .and my only trouble at the present time is concerning ourselves, that the Saints will be divided, broken up, and scattered, before we get our salvation secure. . . .11

Joseph Smith was concerned that the saints gather to Nauvoo so that they could receive the fulness of the temple blessings before the destroying angel was sent forth. Many of the saints did gather to Nauvoo, and hundreds of the faithful saints received the fulness of the priesthood blessings for themselves, and thus they were able to "secure their salvation."
Since the days of Nauvoo there have been tens of thousands who have received the fulness of the priesthood blessings. With stakes being located world-wide now, it is easier to fulfill the requirement to gather to Zion.

PERSONAL NOTE

For many years I had read statements by the Prophet Joseph and others regarding the importance of the scattering and gathering of Israel, but had only thought of the gathering as being important in terms of giving them the gospel message. Later, during the latter 70's I began reading several statements by the First Presidency concerning the relationship of the gathering and the fulness of the priesthood. Still, I did not understand how it all related to each other. Finally, one evening I took time to re-read the statements by the First Presidency on this subject (which are herein quoted) to see if I could understand the subject any better. Not having anything come to me I retired to my bed for the night. My entire being was filled with the desire to know the meaning of it all as I knelt to say my personal prayers. Suddenly, before I could even utter the feelings of my soul I saw before me the concepts of the scattering and the gathering, and I saw how all the different pieces of these concepts fit together in perfect beauty, and I saw all the quotations that I had been reading over the years and what they really meant in terms of this subject. It filled my entire soul with joy to see and understand it. I jumped up immediately and went to my desk and described everything I saw in my mind's eye on paper so that I would not forget it. I then retired to bed very grateful for the Lord's blessings. The next morning I wrote the paper as is herein given. This paper is the substance of what I saw. (This note was written May 15, 1984.)

GADIANTON ROBBERS

1. J.D. 4:133; December 4, 1856; Salt Lake Tabernacle; Pres. Brigham Young.

Brother [Jedediah] Grant's body which lies here is useless, is good for nothing until it is resurrected, and merely needs a place in which to rest; his spirit has not fled beyond the sun. There are millions and millions of spirits in these valleys, both good and evil. We are surrounded with more evil spirits than good ones, because more wicked than good men have died here; for instance, thousands and thousands of wicked Lamanites have laid their bodies in these valleys. The spirits of the just and the unjust are here.

2. J.D. 11:84; February 19, 1865, Sunday; Centerville, Utah; Heber C. Kimball.

The atmosphere of many parts of these mountains is doubtless the abode of the spirits of Gadianton robbers, whose spirits are as wicked as hell, and who would kill Jesus Christ if they had the power.

3. J.D. 12:128; December 29, 1867; Salt Lake Tabernacle; Pres. Brigham Young.

The spirits of the ancient Gadiantons are around us. You may see battlefield after battlefield, scattered over this American continent where the wicked have slain the wicked.

4. Temples of the Most High, p. 81; 1962 ed., 13th printing; Heber Jarvis.

Upon one occasion President Brigham Young was in the Tabernacle at St. George and was speaking on the spirit world. He stated that it was not far from us and if the veil could be taken from our eyes there wouldn't be either a man, woman or child who would dare go out of "this tabernacle as the spirits of the Gadianton robbers were so thick out there. This is where they lived, in these mountains", said he.

Authoritative Statements on the Garment

Gospel Mysteries

(The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Instructions for Priesthood Leaders on Temple and Family History Work, 1990)

1. Joseph F. Smith, ``Fashion and the Violation of Covenants and Duty,'' Improvement Era, 9 (August, 1906): 813.

The Lord has given unto us garments of the holy priesthood, and you know what that means. And yet there are those of us who mutilate them, in order that we may follow the foolish, vain and (permit me to say) indecent practices of the world. In order that such people may imitate the fashions, they will not hesitate to mutilate that which should be held by them the most sacred of all things in the world, next to their own virtue, next to their own purity of life. They should hold these things that God has given unto them sacred, unchanged and unaltered from the very pattern in which God gave them. Let us have the moral courage to stand against the opinions of fashion, and especially where fashion compels us to break a covenant and so commit a grievous sin.

2. First Presidency to Stake Presidents and Temple Presidents, June 12, 1923.

For some time past the First Presidency and Council of Twelve have had under consideration the propriety of permitting certain modification in the temple garment, with the following result:

After careful and prayerful consideration it was unanimously decided that the following modifications may be permitted, and a garment of the following style be worn by those Church members who wish to adopt it, namely:

(1) Sleeve to elbow.
(2) Leg just below knee.
(3) Buttons instead of strings.
(4) Collar eliminated
(5) Crotch closed.

It may be observed that no fixed pattern of Temple garment has ever been given, and that the present style of garment differs very materially from that in use in the early history of the Church, at which time a garment without collar and with buttons was frequently used.

It is the mind of the First Presidency and the Council of Twelve that this modified garment may be used by those who desire to adopt it, without violating any covenant they make in the House of the Lord, and with a clear conscience, so long as they keep the covenants which they have made and remember that the garment is the emblem of the Holy Priesthood designed by the Lord as a covering for the body, and that it should be carefully preserved from mutilation and unnecessary exposure, and be properly marked.

It should be clearly understood that this modified garment does not supercede the approved garment now in use, that either of these patterns may be worn, as Church members prefer, without being considered unorthodox, and those using either will not be out of harmony with the order of the Church.

In order that there may be uniformity in temple work, and that the expedition in the administration of the ordinances of the House of the Lord may not be impeded, we recommend that people doing temple work, whether it be ordinance work for the dead or first endowments for the living, wear the approved garment now in use. If persons appear at the temple with the modified style, however, they should not be refused admittance, provided they come properly recommended. Bishops, in giving recommends to the temple should call attention to this recommendation.

Will you advise the Bishops of your Stake of these changes, being careful to give the matter no unnecessary publicity.

This letter is not to pass from your hands, nor are copies to be furnished to any other person.

* * * *

NOTE: We send you this copy of a letter addressed to Stake Presidents for your personal information, and to be used by you in connection with the instructions contained in it.

3. First Presidency to Stake Presidents and Bishops, 30 October 1942.

Primarily the wearing of the garment is an individual responsibility. It is associated with sacred obligations entered into by the wearer with the Lord in the temple; consequently, the conscience of the wearer must guide when circumstances seem to justify a modification of these obligations. The sacredness of the garment should ever be present and uppermost in the wearer's mind.

One way to protect this sacredness is not to expose it to the view of scoffers, and where conditions arise making such exposure unavoidable, it would seem best reverently to lay aside the garment and then put it on again when such conditions pass. The First Presidency has felt that this policy might be followed by soldiers during their enlistment.

4. First Presidency to Stake Presidents and Bishops, October 2, 1950. [This letter was re-issued on August 31, 1964 and on March 17, 1969.]

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on the part of you brethren and young men who have received their endowments who may be called to serve in the military forces, we hereby confirm the observations heretofore given regarding the wearing of the temple garment.

1. The covenants taken in the temple incident and attached to the wearing of garments contemplate that they will be worn at all times. No exception to these covenants is found anywhere in the ceremonies. These covenants run between the one making them and the Lord. These covenants so made take on the nature of commandments of the Lord.

2. In the early days of the Church the Lord announced that where men prevented his Saints from carrying out the commandments he had given them, the Lord would relieve the Saints from rendering obedience to the commandment, and would visit the iniquity and transgression involved in such disobedience upon the heads of those who ``hindered'' his work. The Lord said this rule was given for the consolation of the Saints ``who have been commanded to do a work and have been hindered by the hands of their enemies, and by oppression.'' (D&C 124:49 ff.)

3. Where the military regulations are of a character that ``hinders'', that is, makes impossible the wearing of the regulation garments, either in training on the drill grounds or in combat zones, effort should be made to wear underclothing that will approach as near as may be the normal garment.

Where military regulations require the wearing of two-piece underwear, such underwear should be properly marked, as if the articles were of the normal pattern. If circumstances are such that different underwear may be turned back to the wearer from that which he sends to the laundry, then the marks should be placed on small pieces of cloth and sewed upon the underwear while being worn, then removed when the underwear is sent to the laundry, and resewed upon the underwear returned.

The wearing of the normal garment should be resumed at the earliest possible moment.

4. Every effort should be made to protect the garments from the gaze and raillery of scoffers. This may cause considerable inconvenience at times, but tact, discretion, and wisdom can do much to alleviate this inconvenience. If the scoffing became unbearable and the wearer should decide that the Lord would consider he was really ``hindered'' by the scoffers from wearing the garments, and if he should therefore lay them aside, then the wearer should resume the wearing of the normal garment at the earliest possible moment.

A certain amount of curiosity and light comment may be frequently expected, wherever, for one cause or another, the garments are brought into view, but this is not the ``hindering'' of which the Lord spoke as excusing obedience.

The blessings flowing from the observance of covenants are sufficiently great to recompense for all mere inconveniences.

The wearing of the garment is the subject of direct covenant between the Lord and the covenant maker, who must determine to what extent he will keep his covenants. To break our covenants is to lose the protection and blessings promised from obedience thereto.

5. Presiding Bishopric to Bishops and Stake Presidents; August 23, 1955.

The First Presidency have suggested that we communicate with you on the subject of this letter.

It is being observed that some Latter-day Saint men and women, some of whom are presiding officers and teachers in both stake and ward positions, are removing their temple garments to wear abbreviated clothing in varying degrees when working around their homes, when traveling by auto, or camping out-of-doors. In some instances, brethren who have been through the temple are removing their shirts while mowing the lawns or performing other out-door responsibilities, thus exposing the upper garment to full view.

Such removal of the temple garment, or exposure to more or less public view, is not in keeping with its significance or its sacred purpose.

It is suggested you use your influence in encouraging Latter-day Saints to avoid these practices. It may be advisable to read this letter before the various meetings of your ward officers and teachers. If our leaders set the proper example, it will be helpful in correcting such practices where they exist and in guarding against their development in the future.

6. A. Hamer Reiser, personal secretary to the First Presidency, to Mrs. Joseph W. Lund, August 2, 1957.

Your letter of July 23, 1957, addressed to President McKay, I am asked to acknowledge for him.

I am instructed to say that people who have a right to wear the garments are at complete liberty to wear the old style garment all the time both in and out of the temple.

Care should be taken not to expose the garment to the ridicule of unbelievers.

May the Lord continue to bless you.

7. First Presidency to Stake Presidents and Bishops, August 31, 1964.

The calling of men into military training renders it desirable to reaffirm certain observations heretofore made in the matter of wearing the temple garment.

1. The covenants taken in the temple incident and attached to the wearing of garments contemplate that they will be worn at all times. No exception to these covenants is found anywhere in the ceremonies. These covenants run between the one making them and the Lord. These covenants so made take on the nature of commandments of the Lord.

The wearing of the garment is the subject of direct covenant between the Lord and the covenant maker, who must determine to what extent he will keep his covenants. To break our covenants is to lose the protection and blessings promised from obedience thereto.

8. First Presidency to Temple Presidents, June 10, 1965.

This will advise you that approval has been granted for limited modification in the design of the garment used in the temple to allow for better fit and greater wearing comfort.

The approved modified design for women has a button front rather than string ties, a brassiere top patterned after the brassiere top of garments used for day-time wear, a helanca stretch insert in the back at the waist, and widened overlapping back panels with a helanca stretch piece at the top of each panel and a button to assure panels remaining closed. All other features of the garment, including the collar, long legs, and long sleeves, remain the same as heretofore.

The approved modified design of the garment for men has a button front, closed crotch, helanca stretch insert piece in the back at the waist, widened overlapping back panels with a helanca stretch piece at the top of each panel and a button to assure panels remaining closed. All other features of the men's garment also, including the collar, long legs and long sleeves, remain the same as heretofore.

Both the button-front and the string-tie-front designs for men and women are approved for temple wear; either design may be used. You will note that the basic specifications for the garment remain unaltered.

It is recommended that orders for the button-front design be submitted to the Beehive Clothing Mills only as a part of a regular order for the replacement of existing stocks. This will allow the Mills time to produce a sufficient number of the button-front garments to meet the demands, and at the same time it will allow the temple to accommodate persons who have a preference for the string-tie design.

9. ``Disposal of Worn Garments,'' Priesthood Bulletin, 2 (Sept-Oct 1966): 5.

The First Presidency urge that bishops instruct members discarding worn temple garments that any identifying symbols which might be related to the temple should be removed. The material may then be destroyed or used in the home. Garments should not be discarded where they will be picked or used by others.

10. First Presidency to Stake President and Bishops, August 30, 1967.

It has been called to our attention that occasionally young women come to the temple to receive their endowments or to do ordinance work for the dead wearing slacks or mini-skirts. We suggest that when interviewing sisters applying for temple recommends you kindly remind them of the sanctity of the temple and the propriety of being modestly dressed when they enter the House of the Lord.

11. ``Responsibilities of Bishops and Branch Presidents for Servicemen,'' Priesthood Bulletin, 3 (Sept.-Oct., 1967).

When a serviceman has been endowed he should be allowed to read the letter from the First Presidency dated August 31, 1964 relative to wearing the garments. The serviceman should be allowed to interpret the letter for himself. In this connection, the General Authorities have authorized the dyeing of the garment green in areas where military regulations require this such as in Vietnam.

12. First Presidency to Temple Presidents, 22 May 1968.

It has come to our attention that in some of the temples instruction has been given to those going through to receive their endowments prior to entering into the marriage covenant that they must not remove the temple garment during the time of sexual relations.

We have authorized no such instruction or advice. We feel that this is a matter of such intimate nature that it must be left with the persons concerned. We therefore ask that you govern yourselves accordingly.

13. First Presidency Stake Presidents, Bishops and Mission Presidents, March 17, 1969.

We reiterate the instruction given in our letter of August 10, 1967 that sisters should be advised against wearing slacks or mini-skirts when going to the temple to receive their endowments or to do ordinance work for the dead.

There are also those of our brethren who sometimes go to the temple without a necktie or jacket and who otherwise are not properly groomed.

Temple patrons should bear in mind that they are visiting the house of the Lord and that they should wear clothing suitable for the occasion, such as they would wear when attending a sacrament meeting on Sunday.

We suggest that when interviewing brethren and sisters for recommends you kindly remind them of the sanctity of the temple and the propriety of being modestly dressed and properly groomed when they prepare to enter the temples of the Lord.

14. First Presidency to Stake Presidents, Bishops, and Mission Presidents, March 17, 1969.

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on the part of you brethren and young men who have received their endowments who may be called to serve in the military forces, we hereby confirm the observations heretofore given regarding the wearing of the temple garment.

15. Priesthood Bulletin, 5, (March 1969).

Brethren who have taken upon themselves the covenants of the temple and who are asked to perform baptisms for the living should not assume, because their clothes will get wet or for any other reason, that they should not wear garments under their white baptismal clothing. Regular garments are to be worn by everyone who has received his temple endowments, while performing baptisms.

16. First Presidency to Stake Presidents, Bishops and Mission Presidents of Missions, May 21, 1969.

We reaffirm certain observations heretofore made with reference to the wearing of the temple garment by men in military service.

1. It should be definitely understood that all who have gone through the temple should wear and protect their garments as guardedly and sacredly as possible under all conditions. The covenants entered into in the temple contemplate that the garment will be worn at all times. These covenants run between the one making them and the Lord.

Primarily, therefore, the wearing of the garment is an individual responsibility. Consequently, the conscience of the wearer must guide when circumstances seem to justify any modification of these sacred and binding obligations.

2. The sacredness of the garment should be ever present and uppermost in the wearer's mind. One way to protect this sacredness is to avoid exposing the garment to the view of scoffers. When conditions arise making such exposure unavoidable, it may be best to lay aside the garment reverently and then put it on again as soon as conditions permit.

Every wearer should bear in mind, however, that there may be considerable inconvenience attached to wearing the garment when one is not associating wholly with Latter-day Saints, but that such inconvenience is by itself neither reason nor justification for laying the garment aside. Tact, discretion, and wisdom can do much to alleviate this inconvenience. The constant reminder which the wearing of the garment brings of obligations assumed in the temple is one of the greatest protections against sin.

3. In some areas and under some conditions military regulations require the wearing of two-piece underwear. The general observations set forth above should govern in these cases. If there are other circumstances on which the individual may wish counsel, he should feel free to write directly to the First Presidency.

4. When military regulations deprive the wearer of the privilege of the garment, such deprivation will in nowise affect the individual's religious status, living or dead, provided, of course, that his worthiness to wear the garment remains unchanged. Should an individual in military service be deprived of the right and privilege to wear the garment, because of military regulations or circumstances over which he has no control, it will be his privilege, right, and duty to wear it again as soon as circumstances permit.

5. In war zones military regulations sometimes require that all underwear be dyed an approved green color. Under these circumstances our men in military service should feel free to comply with the regulation.

6. Military authorities have warned that certain synthetic fibers, if worn next to the skin, may create serious hazards for airmen and others who in case of accident or other conditions may be exposed to fire. They have indicated that cotton is a much safer fabric to be worn for those so exposed. Our brethren should bear this in mind in securing garments.

We have been informed that there may be coming on the market in the near future fireproof fabrics which may be available to use for garment manufacture. If such developments occur, we shall advise you.

We remind our brethren that the blessings flowing from the observance of covenants are sufficiently great to recompense for any inconvenience. To break our covenants is to forfeit the protection and blessings promised from obedience thereto.

17. First Presidency letter to Stake Presidents, Bishops and Mission Presidents, June 16, 1969.

Under date of March 17, 1969 we issued a circular letter concerning the wearing of garments by men in military service. The enclosed letter [May 21, 1969] will supersede this and all other previous instructions on this subject.

We ask that you immediately return to us and not copy for circulation or other purposes our letter of March 17.

We ask that you handle the enclosed letter on the confidential basis which the subject matter deserves.

18. First Presidency letter to Stake and Mission Presidents, March 9, 1971.

Authorized Pattern Garments are an item of temple clothing. Certain regulations with regard to individuals making temple clothing as set forth in the leaflet, ``Instructions for Making Temple Clothing - Clothing the Dead,'' apply equally to individuals making garments. We call to your attention the following regulations as applied to garments:

1. Individuals who have received their endowments who desire to make garments for themselves or a family member may do so.

2. Individuals, as such, are not authorized to make garments for sale.

3. The practice of a group of sisters meeting together to make garments is not approved. Should a sister need help in making garments, it would be given through the stake Relief Society president in the privacy of a home.

4. Because of the sacred character of garments, Relief Society Presidents should not permit Relief Society members to sew garments during a Relief Society meeting or a Relief Society gathering; nor should they sponsor or in any way participate in organizing sewing classes for making garments.

5. The Church does not issue patterns for garments, nor does it issue instructions for making them; neither does it issue to individuals the Approved Pattern label.

Any sister choosing to make garments for herself or family, using as a pattern a pair of garments bearing the Authorized Pattern label which she may have on hand, is reminded that the garment bearing the Authorized Pattern label is made according to specifications set by The First Presidency. There should be no modification in the design of a garment as approved by The First Presidency.

19. First Presidency letter to President Boyd F. Schenk, February 16, 1972.

We enclose herewith copy of a letter addressed to President Joseph F. Smith from John J. Nolen, who given his address as 1318 Mary Drive, Edwardsville, Illinois. We also enclose carbon copy of our acknowledgment of his letter through our secretary, Elder Joseph Anderson. We are sending the letter to you so that you can counsel with this man.

For your information we may say that some years ago the First Presidency and the brethren of the Twelve authorized certain modifications in the style of the temple garment. These modifications consisted of the following changes: (1) collar eliminated, (2) closed crotch, (3) buttons instead of strings, (4) legs to knee, and (5) short sleeves.

It is the mind of the First Presidency and the Council of the Twelve that this modified garment may be used by those who desire to adopt it without violating any covenant they make in the House of the Lord and with a clear conscience, so long as they keep the covenants which they have made. This modified garment does not supersede the old style garment. Either of these patterns may be worn, as Church members prefer, and those using either will not be out of harmony with the order of the Church.

However, in order that there may be uniformity in temple work and that expedition in the administration of the ordinances of the House of the Lord may not be impeded, the brethren have recommended that people doing temple work wear the old style garment.

20. ``Wearing of Temple Garments by Unendowed Persons,'' Priesthood Bulletin, 9 (December 1973): 1.

In several instances reported recently, members have commenced to wear temple garments before being endowed. To help prevent this unauthorized practice, the First Presidency has issued the following instructions:

Those who go to the temple for the first time should purchase beforehand part of the temple clothing referred to as the temple garment, of a nonceremonial pattern, bearing the ``approved pattern'' label so that it can be worn upon leaving the temple. This garment should not be worn until after a member has completed the endowment in the temple.

21. First Presidency to President Richard H. Cracroft, May 7, 1974.

This is a reply to your letter of May 2, 1974, concerning the problem which Sister Helvi Temesevi has in wearing the temple garment due to her physical disability.

For your information we may say that individual saints are free to make such alterations in the garment as may be dictated by unusual physical handicaps or disabilities. Where there is a problem such as the one being experienced by Sister Temesevi, we have taken the position that such modification as may be necessary to accommodate the wearing of the garment to the special physical disability or handicap is permissible.

22. First Presidency Letter to Temple Presidents, November 10, 1975.

In the future, while involved in temple ordinances, patrons will have the option of wearing either the ``approved style'' garment (short sleeve and knee length) or the garment with the long sleeve and long leg.

Patrons receiving their initiatory ordinances may be clothed in their own ``approved style'' garment.

It is suggested that temple presidents not purchase any more of the long-sleeve, long-leg garments for rental purposes.

This may be announced to all temple workers and posted on the bulletin boards in the locker rooms. Notice is going forward to Stake, Mission, and District Presidents suggesting that they notify Bishops, Branch Presidents and other priesthood leaders. No other announcement or publicity is desired.

23. General Handbook of Instructions, (1976), p. 46.

One who has received his temple endowment should wear regulation garments under his outer clothing while performing baptisms.

24. General Handbook of Instructions, (1976), pp. 63-64.

Garments manufactured by an agency of the Church, bearing the authorized label, meet the proper specifications. Should it not be possible to secure such garments, then another one-piece style of underwear which conforms to the approved pattern and is properly marked may be worn. . . .

Individuals having received the endowment and having worn the garment then subsequently discontinued wearing it may, after they have fully repented, resume wearing it without going to the temple for authorization, provided they have not been excommunicated from the Church. Excommunicated persons may resume wearing the garment only after a restoration of their former blessings by a member of the First Presidency or Council of the Twelve. . . .

Patrons should wear clean, fresh garments when they go to the temple to participate in ordinance work.

When garments are too worn for use, they may be completely burned or the marks of the priesthood should be removed from them and burned or cut into small pieces. The garment should then be cut up so the location of the marks cannot be identified. The fabrics of which garments were made have no further significance as sacred clothing.

Garments and temple clothing that are freshly laundered and in good condition for wear, but for which the individual no longer has use, may be given to a worthy, endowed Church member or sent to the bishops storehouse for distribution. Under no circumstances should this clothing be sent to the Deseret Industries for resale. Worn out robes, aprons, and other items should be burned.

25. Washington Temple Presidency to All Stake and District Presidents in the Washington Temple District, 1 June 1979.

Many of the garments (with the exception of cotton garments) are being marked electronically. As a result, the material is not cut, nor is there a need for backing.

This procedure has been approved by the First Presidency, and members, when inquiring, should be assured that the marking is proper and that they have no need to communicate with the Relief Society Distribution Center.

We appreciate the opportunity to work with you and hope you will let us know whenever we can be of service. May the Lord bless and sustain you in your important assignment.

26. First Presidency letter to Executive Administrators, Regional Representatives, Stake, Mission, and District Presidents, Bishops, Branch Presidents and Temple Presidents, December 15, 1979.

After due consideration the First Presidency and Council of the Twelve have approved and authorized the Beehive Clothing Mills to manufacture two-piece garments for both men and women. These garments will be in addition to the one-piece garments. Distribution will be handled by the Relief Society through normal channels starting as soon as inventories can be made available which is now estimated to be around February 15. The total price for both pieces will be about the same as the price for the one-piece garment.

As is now the case, each person who wears the garment is answerable to the Lord for properly wearing and caring for it.

Announcements in the ward or branch may be made by the bishop or branch president in Relief Society and Priesthood gatherings any time after January 1, 1980.

27. ``Temple Garment for Military Personnel,'' Bulletin 18 (December 1981): 2.

The First Presidency has approved a crew-neck top for the two piece temple garment for men serving in the military forces. This top meets military requirements to wear crew-neck T-shirts. The new top is 100 percent cotton. It is available through the Beehive Clothing distribution center only and may be purchased in person or by mail order as a special order item at Beehive Clothing, 1665 Bennett Boad, P.O. Box 27287, Salt Lake City, Utah 84217. The cost is $2.65 each, plus shipping charges if ordered by mail. At present, these tops will be sold only to members serving in the military forces, including active duty, reserve, and National Guard components, due to limited quantities available. Proof of military status will be required at the time of purchase. For mail orders, a photostatic copy of the member's military identification card or certification of military status by his military commander, bishop, LDS chaplain, group leader, or other military or Church official will serve as proof.

As soon as production permits, the top will be available in all Beehive Clothing distribution centers for all members. Please convey this information to members serving in the military forces.

Bulletin No. 18, December 1981, Item: Military Relations, Temple Garment for Military Personnel

Please advise all military personnel, including Reserve, National Guard, and Active Duty, that duplicating a military identification card is prohibited by law in any form or manner. Disseminate this information immediately. Certification of military status by the persons's military commander, bishop, LDS chaplain, group leader, or other military or Church official will serve as proof of military status when ordering the temple garment for military personnel.

29. General Handbook of Instructions, (1983), p. 32.

The person who performs the baptism should wear white clothing that does not appear transparent when it is wet. An endowed person should wear temple garments under his outer clothing while performing baptisms.

GARMENTS AND TEMPLE CLOTHING

Wearing Garments

Endowed members are to wear garments in styles the Church has approved.

An endowed member who stops wearing garments, but who has not been excommunicated, may begin wearing them again without permission. A person who has been excommunicated is authorized to wear garments again only after a General Authority has restored his blessings. He should begin wearing them immediately, without waiting to go to the temple.

Making Temple Clothing

Worthy members who have received their endowment or have a temple recommend to receive their own endowment may make their own temple clothing, including the one-piece white suits for men. They should make them as instructed in Instructions for Making Temple Clothing, which is available from the Relief Society general office.

Neither individual members nor commercial firms may make and sell temple clothing. The First Presidency must approve any exceptions.

Disposing of Garments and Temple Clothing

Members should remove the marks from worn-out garments and burn the marks or cut them into small pieces. They then should cut up the garment so the location of the marks cannot be identified. The remaining fabric of the garments then is no longer considered sacred.

Members should burn worn-out temple clothing or alter it so the original use cannot be recognized.

Members may give garments and temple clothing that are in good condition to a worthy endowed member or to a bishop's storehouse. Under no circumstances should members send garments or temple clothing to Deseret Industries or charities for resale.

Telephone Ordering Procedure for Garments and Temple Clothing

We are pleased to announce that Beehive Clothing Mills has arranged a telephone system for ordering garments and temple clothing. After April 1, 1983, members may place individual orders on a toll-free telephone line.

A sample order form with necessary instructions is attached. A supply of order forms is being furnished to each bishop and branch president. We encourage each bishop and branch president to keep the order forms and give them to members who desire to order by telephone. Additional order forms may be obtained from the Salt Lake Distribution Center.

We believe this service will offer an efficient and convenient system for members to purchase garments and temple clothing. Please inform the members in your units about this new service.

SACRED CLOTHING

Making Temple Clothing

The Relief Society General Office distributes two copies of Instructions for Making Temple Clothing to stake Relief Society presidents and to mission presidents. These instructions should be carefully safeguarded. One copy is to be kept on file. The other copy may be loaned to individuals who have received their endowments and who desire to make their own or their family's temple clothing. Individuals are not authorized to make temple clothing for sale. Clothing The Dead

Two copies of Instructions for Clothing the Dead are distributed to stake Relief Society presidents and to stake and mission presidents. Ward or stake Relief Society presidents, stake presidents, or bishops may request additional copies of this information from the Relief Society General Office.

Church distribution centers do not carry burial clothing for infants or children. If the need should arise, the local Relief Society could help the family obtain appropriate clothing. The Church has not given regulations for dressing infants, children, or unendowed members for burial.

34. First Presidency to General Authorities, Regional Representatives; Stake, Mission and District Presidents; Bishops; and Branch Presidents, October 10, 1988.

Practices frequently observed among the members of the Church suggest that some members do not fully understand the covenant they make in the temple to wear the garment in accordance with the spirit of the holy endowment.

Church members who have been clothed with the garment in the temple have made a covenant to wear it throughout their lives. This has been interpreted to mean that it is worn as underclothing both day and night. This sacred covenant is between the member and the Lord. Members should seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit to answer for themselves any personal questions about the wearing of the garment. Church leaders and others including temple workers should refrain from giving unauthorized instructions and opinions concerning when the garment might be removed. The promise of protection and blessings is conditioned upon worthiness and faithfulness in keeping the covenant.

The fundamental principle ought to be to wear the garment and not to find occasions to remove it. Thus, members should not remove either all or part of the garment to work in the yard or to lounge around the home in swimwear or immodest clothing. Nor should they remove it to participate in recreational activities that can reasonably be done with the garment worn properly beneath regular clothing. When garments must be removed, such as for swimming, it should be restored as soon as possible.

The principles of modesty and keeping the body appropriately covered are implicit in the covenant and should govern the nature of all clothing worn. Endowed members of the Church wear the garment as a reminder of the sacred covenants they have made with the Lord and also as a protection against temptation and evil. How it is worn is an outward expression of an inward commitment to follow the Savior. Bishops and stake presidents should take the opportunity during interviews to teach the spirit of wearing the garment, giving emphasis to the covenants and the attendant blessings that are related to this sacred privilege.

This letter should be read in a special meeting in each ward to endowed members of the Melchizedek Priesthood and Relief Society.

35. General Handbook of Instructions, (1989), p. 5-3.

The person who performs the baptism should wear white clothing that does not appear transparent when wet. An endowed person should wear temple garments under his outer clothing while performing baptisms.

36. General Handbook of Instructions, (1989), p. 6-3.

Wearing and Care of Garments

Church members who have been clothed with the garment in the temple have made a covenant to wear it according to the instructions given in the endowment. This sacred covenant is between the member and the Lord. Members should be guided by the Holy Spirit to answer for themselves personal questions about wearing the garment. The promise of protection and blessings is conditioned upon worthiness and faithfulness in keeping the covenant.

Endowed members should wear the garment as underclothing both day and night. They should not alter garments from the authorized design. When two-piece garments are used, members should always wear both pieces. For those who are bedfast or who have severe physical handicaps, necessary adjustments can be made, bearing in mind the covenant between the member and the Lord.

Members should keep their garments clean and repaired.

Garments are available in a variety of styles and fabrics for purchase at Church distribution centers or by mail order in some areas. A center is located near each temple.

Instructions on clothing for burial of the dead who have been endowed are found under ``Temple Burial Clothing,'' page 2-7.

Disposing of Garments and Temple Clothing

Members should remove the marks from worn-out garments and burn the marks or cut them into small pieces. They then should cut up the garment so the location of the marks cannot be identified. The remaining fabric of the garments then is no longer considered sacred.

Members should burn worn-out temple clothing or alter it so the original use cannot be recognized.

Members may give garments and temple clothing that are in good condition to a worthy endowed member or to a bishop's storehouse. Under no circumstances should members send garments or temple clothing to Deseret Industries or charities for resale.

Members who have been endowed should wear the temple garment properly so that they might receive the promised blessings. Members should seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit to answer for themselves any personal questions about wearing the garment. (See First Presidency letter, 10 October 1988.)

RICHARD A. WARE

GENERAL AUTHORITY QUOTATIONS

1. John Murdock "Journal", p. 30; Winter 1832-33. See also Genealogical and Historical Magazine, Vol 28, April 1937, p. 61. [John Murdock boarded with the prophet during this winter.]

In one of [the prayer meetings] the prophet told us if we would humble ourselves before God, and exercise strong faith, we should see the face of the Lord, and about midday the visions of my mind were opened and the eyes of my understanding were enlightened, and I saw the form of a man, most lovely; the visage of His face was round and fair as the sun; His hair a bright silver grey, curled in a most majestic form; His eyes a keen penetrating blue; and the skin of His neck a most beautiful white. He was covered from the neck to the feet with a loose garment of pure white - whiter than any garment I had ever before seen. His countenance was most penetrating, and yet most lovely. And while I was endeavoring to comprehend the whole personage from head to feet it slipped from me, and the vision was closed up. But it left to my mind the impression of love, for months, that I never before felt to that degree.

2. Dairy of James T. S. Allred; Letter to Col Williams; d.1021/f.92, end of roll #2; July 10, 1844. [From Record of Asena Allred Osborne, Spring City Utah; Aug. 1, 1951. Taken from history of Eliza Monson, whose great grandmother, Elizabeth Warren Allred, wife of James Allred, one of the Prophet's lifeguards: "The seamstress hired by Joseph Smith had to cut out the garment three times to get it correct." It indicates the exactness of the pattern to be followed. The minor diviations which she made were not acceptable or approved by the Prophet.]

It was while they were living in Nauvoo that the Prophet came to my mother, who was a seamstress by trade, and told her that he had seen the Angel Moroni with the garments on, and asked her to assist him in cutting out the garments. They spread unbleached muslin out on the table and he told her how to cut it out. She had to cut the third pair, however, before he said it was satiffactory. She told the prophet that there would be sufficient cloth from the knee to the ankle to make a pair of sleeves, but he told her he wanted as few seams as possible and that there would be sufficient whole cloth to cut the sleeve without piecing. The first garments were made of unbleached muslin and bound with turkey red and were without collars. Later on the prophet decided he would rather have them bound with white. Sister Emma Smith, the Prophet's wife, proposed that they have a collar on as she thought they would look more finished, but at first the prophet did not have the collars on them. After Emma Smith had made the little collars which were not visible from the outside of the dress, Sister Eliza R. Smow made a large collar of fine white material which was worn on the outside of the dress. The garemnt was to reach to the ankle and the sleeves to the wrist. The marks were always the same.

3. "Biography of Jane E. Manning James written from her own verbal statement and by her request. She also wishes it read at her funeral. . . written in the 1893. . . by E J D Roundy"; Church Archives; CHO/ms/d/4425. [Jane Elizabeth Manning James--arrived in Nauvoo from Connecticut. She led her family consisting of her mother, 3 bros, 2 sisters a b-i-l and a s-i-l: total of 9 in the group. "Nauvoo""our destined haven of rest". She lost all her belongings--a trunk full of mostly new clothes that was being shipped to Nauvoo.]

that time all the family members were able to secure jobs and lodgings except Jane. "On the morning that my folks all left to go to work," Jane recalled, "I looked at myself, clothed in the only two pieces I possessed, I sat down and wept. Brother Joseph came into the room as usual and said good morning. . .. you musn't cry, we dry up all tears here." The Prophet then went and brought Emma into the room: "Sister Emma here is a girl that says she has no home, havent you a home for her? Why yes if she wants one," Emma replied. Joseph left the room and Emma asked Jane what she could do. Jane said she could wash, iron, cook and do housework. So Emma gave her the washing duties. "The next morning," Jane states, "[Emma] brought the clothes down in the basement to wash. Among the clothes I found brother Josephs Robes. I looked at them and wondered. I had never seen any before, and I pondered over them and thought about them so earnestly." Then a wonderful thing occurred with this faithful Black woman. She received from the Lored knowledge which she otherwise would not be permitted to receive because of her lineage. As she said, "I pondered over them and thought about them so earnestly that the spirit made manifest to me that they pertained to the new name that is given the saints that the world knows not of." Maybe this helps explain why all her life she wished desparately to receive her endowments. She had a sure testimony of their divinity. I am grateful for the privilege I had to baptize my wife for and in behalf of Jane James, and the other women of the family. I also had the privilege to stand proxy for the men in baptism, the endowments and the sealings in the Salt Lake Temple in 1979.

4. RETURN; by Ebenezer Robinson; Vol II, p. 252; April 1890. See also Mormonism and Masonry, pp. 136-137. [Mr. Robinson had been editor of the TIMES AND SEASONS, and was well informed on the secret practices of the leading brethren of the Church. In later years he drifted from the Church, refusing to go to the West with Brigham Young and the pioneers. Even though he had no interest in the Church that had removed to the West, he became thoroughly disgusted with certain elements in Missouri and elsewhere who were insisting that Joseph Smith never introduced the Temple ritual in Nauvoo. In reply to these critics he published a periodical called the RETURN.

Notwithstanding the cloud of witnesses testifying that polygamy existed in Nauvoo in 1843 and 1844, yet the editors of the Saints' Herald persist in representing that polygamy, and its attendant evils, including the endowment house, robes, &c., were introduced by Brigham Young and his associtates, and that Joseph and Hyrum Smith were innocent in the matter.

We here state a few facts which came under our personal observation. As early as 1843 a secret order was established in Nauvoo, called the HOLY ORDER, the members of which were of both sexes, in which, we were credibly informed, scenes were enacted representing the garden of Eden, and that the members of that order were provided with a peculiar under garment called a robe. "It was made in one piece. On the right breast is a square, on the left a compass, in the center a small hole, and on the knee a large hole." This was the description of that garment as given to the writer in Nauvoo, in Joseph Smith's life time. It was claimed that while they wore this "robe" no harm could befall them.

In confirmation of this idea, we quote the 2nd verse of the 113th section of the Doctrine and Covenants, Plano Edition, speaking of the Providential escape of Willard Richards, who was in the jail with Joseph and Hrum Smith at the time they were murdered.

"John Taylor and William (Willard) Richards, two of the Twelve, were the only persons in the room at the time; the former was wounded in a savage manner with four balls, but has since recovered: the latter, through the promises of God escaped "without even a hole in his robe."

It was stated that Willard Richards was the only one of the four, who had on his "robe" at the time, therefore the statement that he escaped through the promise of God, "without a hole in his robe."

President Joseph Smith attended the meetings of that "Order," which were held in the large room in the second story of his brick store building. One day in June, 1844, the "Order" was in session from morning until evening. At the adjournment for dinner we saw Joseph Smith come from there, and again after dinner, he returned back to the same place, as in returning from dinner President Smith and the writer walked by ourselves, side by side in intimate conversation, but parted at the store.

Not long after parting with President Smith, wishing to speak with him we ran hastily up the stairs to call him out when to our amazement we encountered John Taylor, one of the twelve Apostles, in a long white garment, with a white turban on his head, and a drawn sword in his hand, evidently representing the "cherubims and flaming sword which was placed at the east of the garden of Eden, to guard the tree of life." He informed us Brother Joseph was in the room. Here, we understand, and firmly believe, the ceremony originated, as practiced in the endowment house in Utah, including the signs, tokens, grips, garments, girdles and key words used therein; and that the twelve in Utah conscientiously believe in this and other matters, they are carrying out the measures of Joseph Smith, and that he gave them their endowment, and rolled the burden of the church and kingdom upon their shoulders.

5. The Return; Ebenezer Robinson, editor; Vol 2, No. 4, p. 253; April 1890. [This letter written in 1844 was later printed in The Return in 1890.]

Steam Boat North Bend,
Sept. 19th, 1844

Dear E. Robinson,

You probably may have received something by way of counsel from Nauvoo from Brother Young, if so, I trust you will regard it as coming from "the proper source." We have had a charge given us by our prophet, and that charge we intend to honor and magnify. It was given in March last. He said; "let no man take your crown, and though you should have to walk right into death, fear not, neither be dismayed." "You have to die but once." "To us were committed the Keys of the Kingdom, and every gift, key and power, that Joseph ever had," confirmed upon our heads by an anointing, which Bro. Rigdon never did receive.

We know the charge which the prophet gave us, and the responsibility which the Spirit of the living God laid on us through him, and we know that Elder Rigdon does not know what it was. We have counted the cost of the stand we have taken, and have firmly and unitedly, with prayer and with fasting---with signs and with tokens, with garments and with girdle, decreed in the name of Jesus Christ, that we will honor our calling, and faithfully carry out the measures of the prophet so far as we have power, relying on the arm of God for strength in every time of need.

I know that the curse of God will fall upon every one that tries to give us trouble or to weaken our hands in the work in which we are engaged, for this promise we have obtained from the Lord in solemn convocation.

I want you to read this letter to the Saints in Pittsburg[h], not to the world.

My kind love to all the Saints, to yourself and family.

Yours truly,
Orson Hyde.

Thursday, 18---Sixty-six persons were administered to in the Temple.

In consequence of the great pressure of business during the past week, it had been decided to devote Saturday to the purpose of washing robes and garments used, but there being a general desire in the minds of all those officiating in the ordinances that the work should not cease; it was determined that the clothes should be washed during the night.

7. Journal of Heber C. Kimball; Church Historical Department; Sunday, December 21, 1845.

Elder Kimball showed the right fashion for a leaf,---Spoke of Elder Richards being protected at Carthage jail---having on the robe, while Joseph & Hyrum and Eld Taylor were shot to pieces -- said the Twelve would have to leave shortly for a charge of treason would be brought against them for swearing us to avenge the blood of the anointed ones, and some one would reveal it, and we shall have to put some day between sundown and dark --

George Miller said that when near the camp of Gen Hardin, he was shot at and the sentinel who was near him was killed, but he escaped unhurt, having on his garments -- he spoke of the design and purpose for which all the symbols in the garden were given &c. Paul said he bore in his body the marks of the Lord Jesus Christ [Gal 6:17] -- which was as plainly as he dare allude to these things in writing. But the marks Paul alluded to were just such as we now have on our garments -- He spoke of the signs, tokens & penalties, and of the work in general, said it was the work of God, by which he designs to reinstate man into his presence &c.

Elder John Taylor confirmed the saying that Joseph and Hyrum & himself were without their robes in the jail at Carthage while Doct Richards had his on, but corrected the idea that some had that they had taken them off through fears.

W.W. Phelps said Joseph told him one day about that time, that he had laid aside his garment on account of the hot weather. Elder Kimball said word came to him & to all the Twelve about that time to lay aside their garments and take them to pieces, or cut them to pieces, or cut them up so that they could not be found.

When we pray to the Lord we ought to come together clad in proper garments, and when we do so, and unite our hearts and hands together, and act as one mind, the Lord will hear us and will answer our prayers. Our garments should be properly marked and we should understand these marks and we should wear these garments continually, by night & by day, in prison or free and if the devils in hell cut us up, let them cut the garments to pieces also -- if we have the garments upon us at all times we can at any time offer up the signs. * * * Said that whenever they (G.A. Smith and W. Woodruff) could get an opportunity they retired to the wilderness or to an upper room -- they do so and offered up the signs, and were always answered. * * * It would be a good thing for us to put on our garments, every day and pray to God, and in our private circles, when we can do so with safety-* * * You have now learned how to pray. You have been taught how to approach God and be recognized. This is the principle by which the Church has been kept together. * * * Those who have learned to approach God and receive these blessings, are they better than you? The difference is, they have been permitted to have these things revealed to them.

Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls; for my yoke is easy and my burden is light.

. . . The Spirit of revelation, even the Spirit of eternal life, is within that person who lives so as to bear properly the yoke of Jesus. The heavens are opened to such persons, and they see and understand things that pertain to eternity, and also the things that pertain to the earth, . . .

. . . The person that wears the yoke of Jesus, that has communication with the heavens, finds his yoke easy and his burden light; he is master of it.

Three High Priests form a Quorum; five form a Quorum; seven form a Quorum; twleve form a Quorum. Let a Quorum of High Priests go into an upper room, and there appear before the Lord in the garments of the holy Priesthood, and offer up before the Father, in the name of Jesus, the signs of the holy Priesthood, and then ask God to give a revelation concerning the doctrine, and they have a right to receive it. If you cannot get the information in any other way, suppose you were upon the islands of the sea, far away from the main body of the Church, you are entitled to the administration of angels who administer in the terrestrial kingdom, and they have a right to receive administrations from the celestial. In this capacity you could ask for revelations pertaining to doctrine.

12. Unpublished Discourse; Brigham Young; July 14, 1861.

I recollect a promise Joseph gave to Willard at a certain time, when he clothed him with a priestly garment. Said he, "Willard never go without this garment on your body, for you will stand where the balls will fly around you like hail, and men will fall dead by your side and if you will never part with this garment, there never shall a ball injure you." I heard him say this [voice in the stand "So did I"] It is true. When the mob shot Joseph, Willard was there and Br Taylor was in the room. I have nothing to say about the rest, you know about it. Willard obeyed the word of the prophet. He said, "I will die before I part with this garment." The balls flew around him, riddled his clothes, and shaved a passage through one of his whiskers. . . .

What a blessing it is to be able to supply ourselves with so many of the necessaries and comforts of life here in these mountains! Some of you have got an idea that wool will not do; but let me inform you that when Peter came and sat in the Temple in Kirtland, he had on a neat woolen garment, nicely adjusted round the neck. What do sheep wear next to the skin? Wool, of course. What do goats wear? Hair, for that is their nature. These are facts that are apparent to all who will look.

To return to the subject of the garments of the Holy Priesthood, I will say that the one which Jesus had on when he appeared to the Prophet Joseph was neat and clean, and Peter had on the same kind, and he also had a key in his hand. John also came and administered unto Joseph Smith, and remember that Peter, James and John hold the keys pertaining to their dispensation and pertaining to this, and they came and conferred their Priesthood and authority upon Joseph the Seer, which is for the gathering together of all who seek the way of life.

Williams, one of the council of the Prophets, and who occupied the upper pulpit, bore testimony that the Savior, dressed in HIS VESTURE WITHOUT SEAM, came into the stand and accepted of the dedication of the house, that he saw him, and gave a description of his clothing and all things pertaining to it.

15. Journal of Discourses, Vol 12:101; Brigham Young; November 17, 1867.

. . . We receive the gospel, not that we may have our names written in the Lamb's Book of Life, but that our names may not be blotted out of that book. "For," saith the Lord, "He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment, and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life." Why? Because he had overcome through his faithfulness. My doctrine is -- that there never was a son and daughter of Adam and Eve born on this earth whose names were not already written in the Lamb's book of life, and there they will remain until their conduct is such that the angel who keeps the record is authorized to blot them out and record them elsewhere. These are my views on that intricate point, but we are satisfied to use this Scripture as it is rendered by our translators.

It is my desire to be buried in the garments and Robes of the Holy Priesthood, everything pertaining thereto properly made and put on my body. Do not want any extravagance, a medium coffin no expense for funeral clothing such as the gentiles mourn in. Would like my Brethren of the Priesthood to dictate my family in this matter, and see me buried as I ought to be, that my body can rest in pease. Do not want my coffin short or too long, deep enough to lay in without Mashing my nose, and cramping my arms or crushing my stomach, a good strong one that it will hold together. I pray that I may so live that the Holy Priesthood will feel it a pleasure to put me away, and a pleasure to receive me in their Society in the morning of the Glorious Resurrection.

St. George, Utah, Jan. 13, 1877.

Special Instructions to the Bishops, Brethren: We herein embody a few instructions which we wish you to strictly enjoin upon the brethren and sisters who come to the Temple to officiate for themselves or their friends: Those who wish to receive endowments for themselves of friends should be provided with oil or means to purchase it. The sisters should be provided with two or three white skirts and the brethren should have their garments to button from the back, clear round and up the front, and skirts made to reach down to the knees or a little below or one may be pieced to this length for the occasion.

Before the brethren or sisters go into the Temple to receive their endowments; they must wash themselves all over, perfectly clean, so as to enter the Temple clean.

Men and women should have no sexual intercourse for a week or more previous to their going into the Temple to receive their endowments.

The prophet Joseph Smith pulled off his garments just before starting to Carthage to be slain and he advised Hyrum and John Taylor to do the same, which they did; and Brother Taylor told Brother Willard Richards what they had done and advised him to take off his also, but Brother Richards said that he would not take his off, and did not; said he was not harmed.

Joseph said before taking his garments off, that he was going to be killed. . . ."was going as a lamb to the slaughter" and he did not want his garments to be exposed to the sneers and jeers of his enemies.

These facts all came from President John Taylor's lips after he was president of the Church.

Elder John Morgan had told them to me as stated to him by Brother Taylor. Sister Lucy B. Young said that Brother John Taylor told her in answer to direct questions, the same, all except with regard to Willard Richards.

21. Questions submitted to Prest. B. Young by the Elders who have recently been out as Temple Missionaries. The answers are written in Brigham Young's own hand; Ms/f/219/reel 22; pp. 18-22; c. 1877.

How shall little children be dressed in attending to the Temple Ordinance of being sealed to their parents?
They should be clothed in White.

Can a brother or sister who has received Endowments in Salt Lake City or in Nauvoo, have the privilege of passing through the degrees in the St. George Temple; and if so, are they [p. 21] to be clothed with Temple Clothing, or in the ordinary manner?
They may have the privilege of passing through as visitors; and not wearing Temple clothing.

If a person die without having had endowments, is it well to bury them in garments without [p. 22] marks?
Such person may be buried with garments if their friends choose, but not marked, nor with robes or other Temple Clothing.

Thus saith the Lord unto my servant John Taylor and my servant Wilford Woodruff and my servant Orson Pratt and to all the residue of mine Apostles. Have you not gone forth in my name without Purse or scrip and declared the Gospel of Life and Salvation unto this Nation and the Nations of the Earth and warned them of the Judgments which are to come as you have been moved upon my the power of the Holy Ghost and the inspiration of the Lord. You have done this year by year for a whole Generation as man count time. Therefore your garments are clean of the Blood of this generation and especially of this Nation. Therefore as I have said in a former commandment so I the Lord say again unto mine Apostles go ye alone by your selves whether in heat or in cold and cleanse your feet with water pure water, it matters not whether it be by the running streams or in your closets but bear their testimonies before the Lord and the Heavenly hosts. And when you have all done this then gather yourselves together in your Holy places and cloth yourselves in the Robes of the Holy Priesthood and there offer up your Prayers according to my Holy Law. Let him who presides be mouth and kneel upon the Holy Alter. . . . And what I the Lord say unto you mine Apostles I say unto my servants the Seventies, the High Priests, the Elders and the Priests. And all my servants who are pure in heart. . . . The Lord will hear your Prayers and [I] am bound by oath and covenant to defend you and fight your battles as I have said in a former commandment. . . .

23. Journal of Discourses, Vol 21:317-318; Wilford Woodruff; October 10, 1880.

On one occasion, I saw Brother Brigham and Brother Heber ride in a carriage ahead of the carriage in which I rode when I was on my way to attend conference and they were dressed in the most priestly robes. When we arrived at our destination, I asked President Young if he would preach to us. He said, "No, I have finished my testimony in the flesh. I shall not talk to this people anymore. But (said he) I have come to see you; I have come to watch over you, and to see what the people are doing. Then (said he) I want to teach the people - and I want you to follow this counsel yourself - that they must labor and so live as to obtain the Holy Spirit, for without this you cannot build up the kingdom; without the spirit of God you are in danger of walking in the dark, and in danger of failing to accomplish your calling as apostles and as elders in the church and kingdom of God.

Once after returning from a mission, he [Zebedee Coltrin] met Bro. Joseph in Kirtland, who asked him if he did not wish to go with him to a conference at New Portage. The party consisted of Priests. Joseph Smith, Sidney Rigdon, Oliver Cowdery and myself. Next morning at New Portage, he noticed that Joseph seemed to have a far off look in his eyes, or was looking at a distance, and presently he, Joseph, stepped between Brothers Cowdery, and Coltrin and taking them by the arm, said, "lets take a walk." They went to a place where there was some beautiful grass, and grapevines and swampbeech interlaced. President Joseph Smith then said, "let us pray." They all three prayed in turn -- Joseph, Oliver and Zebedee. Bro. Joseph then said, "now brethren we will see some visions." Joseph lay down on the ground on his back and stretched out his arms and the two brethren lay on them. The heavens gradually opened, and they saw a golden throne, on a circular foundation, something like a light house, and on the throne were two aged personages, having white hair, and clothed in white garments. They were the two most beautiful and perfect specimens of mankind he ever saw. Joseph said, They are our first parents, Adam and Eve. Adam was a large broad-shouldered man, and Eve as a woman, was as large in proportion.

At the Gardo House the question arose this morning as to whether the face of a woman who has had her endowments should be veiled or not when her coffin is closed on her dead body. Pres. Woodruff did not decide in absence of any written law on the subject, but Bro. Joseph F. thought the face should be covered as this was the course pursued in the early days of the Church, and it was doubtless done in accordance with some instuctions of the Prophet.

27. Letter from John D. T. McAllister to Pres. Wilford Woodruff; 25 February 1891.

Dear President Woodruff,

On the 13th of January 1877 A letter was sent to the Bishops, on preparation for Endowments, Signed by President Young, yourself and others. A Copy of which I enclose. To lay before you the matter pertaining to the garment, A very few have carried out these instructions, so far as the buttoning of the garment is concerned, I read now and again to the people, this letter of instruction, as a great share of them from all parts come unprepared. Some wear drawers, and quite a number do not. The garment is left open only so far as the strings are used to fasten them in the front. The navel mark is opposite that part of the body, But when the garment is closed lapped over to button, or tied, My feelings are, it should be in sight opposite that part of the body. Now our instructions are that the mark should be on one side of the opening. But we have not been instructed as to which side. Have you any word in relation to this?

I feel that we should be uniform in all these matters, and I am thus particular to lay them Before you, and have the word from the head, in relation to them.

Bro. B. Cannon & Bleak join me in kind regard to yourslef and the brethren,

Your Brother in the N.E.C.
John D. T. McAllister

28. Journal of Abraham H. Cannon; Thursday, January 7, 1892.

Thursday, January 7, 1892 . . . It was agreed that when the coffin is closed containing the body of a sister who has been through the temple, her veil should be placed so as to hide her face, so that when her husband meets her on the other side he may lift the same from her countenance. This is in accordance with the instructions which President Young gave during his life. The carelessness of the Saints in regard to their Temple clothing was talked about, and it was voted that instructions be sent to each Temple that those who receive the ordinances of the house of God be told especially to be careful not to expose their clothing to the public gaze. The clothing is as sacred as the ordinance themselves.

My subsequent acquaintance with him more than confirmed my most favorable impressions in every particular. He was a great statesman, philosopher and philantropist, logician, and last, but not least, the greatest prophet, seer and revelator that ever lived, save Jesus Christ only. . .

A short time prior to his arrival at my father's house my mother, Elizabeth Comins Tyler, had a remarkable vision. Lest it might be attributed to the evil one, she related it to no person, except my father, Andrew Tyler, until the Prophet arrived, on his way to Canada, I think. She saw a man sitting upon a white cloud, clothed in white from head to foot. He had on a peculiar cap, different from any she had ever seen, with a white robe, underclothing, and moccasins. It was revealed to her that this person was Michael, the Archangel. She was sitting in the house drying peaches when she saw the heavenly vision, but the walls were no bar between her and the angel, who stood in the open space above her.

The Prophet informed her that she had a true vision, and it was of the Lord. He had seen the same angel several times. It was Michael, the Archangel, as revealed to her.

* * * It was decided as being unnecessary to mark the shirts of those who pass through the temple and receive their endowments. The marks in their garments are sufficient. * * * Concerning the proper position of the altar in a prayer circle -- as to whether it should face the east or south -- there is no rule, though the custom is to generally have them face the south. Pres. Snow says he always aims to face the chief temple in offering his prayers. ---It was decided that the circles over which the Twelve preside be permitted to meet in the Elder's room, instead of in the basement where the ventilation is so bad, and the room so small.

Dear Brother:-

* * * In the placing of the girdle, it should be placed on the outside of the apron strings. * * *

It has been the practice to mark the shirt, but we think this unnecessary as it is not strictly a part of the Temple clothing. The marking of the garment should be done in the washing room and not at the veil; and the greatest care should be taken to see that no person is permitted to leave that room wearing an unmarked garment. * * *

President Manti Temple

Dear Brother:

It is the mind of the First Presidency and Apostles expressed at one of their late regular Council Meetings, that you adopt as soon as it can be done conveniently the practice of brethren wearing white pants while doing Temple work.

This change would necessarilly [sic] do away with the long white Shirt usually worn my them, and admit of their wearing the regular white shirt, with collar and white tie if they choose to do so. The adviseability of this change will at once suggest itself to you. Your Brother

Geo. F. Giggs

P. S. This change in dress need not be introduced into prayer circles.

On account of a change in time of trains that came into effect that day I was left and spent the day with Joshuay Whitney and his sister Mary Groo in the 9th Ward between 4th East and 5th South Streets. He gave me a piece of the horse we helped eat on the western deserts in 1857. Showed me an apron and moccasins of sheep skin made to the order and by the direction of Joseph Smith in Nauvoo. for first endowments given there in the upper room of his brick store.

The leaves on the apron were painted.

Q: Why do we remove our shoes after entering the temple?
A: We should take off our shoes [upon] entering this house for it is a holy place. This is the Lord's House. He said to Moses when Moses drew near to Him on the Mount: Moses, "take off thy shoes for the ground whereon thou stands is holy."

Prest. Cannon wished to say a few words: He had instructed the Door-keeper of this temple to see that all persons take shoes off from their feet--They must conform to this rule. I was pressed about this, my brethren and sisters, as the "House of God" is a House of Order. This is required in all the other temples.

39. George S. Brimhall to Joseph F. Smith; Church Archives transcript of the testimony of Maria Jane Johnston Woodward, Huntington, Utah; 21 April 1902.

Some people have denied that there was any such thing as endowments or endowment clothes before the time of Brigham Young, but I know there was. They were of the same pattern, had the same marks and were the same in every way as now. I was living with Father [John] Smith, the Prophet's uncle and on one occasion the Prophet wrote a letter to his uncle [asking] him to meet him the next morning in Nauvoo, [they lived] twenty-five miles from [Nauvoo]. Mother [Clarissa] Smith, . . . was sick and [since] I was the hired girl I had to get these clothes and fix them in time for Father Smith to meet the Prophet Joseph in Nauvoo. Mother Smith told Father Smith to explain to me about this clothing, what they were for and what they did with them, the reason he had to have them and have them in good condition, before I got them out, and he did so. That was the first I knew about endowment clothes but they were the same as they are now. Sister Smith told me where they were and how to prepare them for him. They were in a chest locked up, inside of a little cotton bag made for the purpose and were all together. Then I got the clothes and pressed them out and put them in good condition and he went to meet the Prophet. These clothes were never put out publicly, in the washing or in any other way. When we washed them we hung them out between sheets, because we were in the midst of the Gentiles."

"Thus. . . blessed the holy garment's are put on. A dress of muslin or linen is worn next to the skin, reaching from the neck to the ankle and wrists. Over this a shirt, then a robe of fine linen, and over this a small square apron of white linen or silk, with imitation of fig leaves painted or worked on it. A linen cap and white linen or cotton shoes complete the dress.

"Thus attired the candidates pass into another and smaller room, where `Eloheim' (Brigham Young) is discovered seated upon his throne. Jehovah, Jesus and Michael (Adam) enter and receive a mandate from `Eloheim' to `go forth and examine well the boundless realms of space and bring report from thence back to the eternal throne that we may create new worlds and people them with beings who, by slow degrees, shall rise and fill the place of those deceived by satan.'"

41. Messages of the First Presidency, Vol 5:110; President Joseph F. Smith; June 28, 1906. [The following instructions were printed and hung in all the Temples. After the change in garments they were taken down and ordered burned.]

The following is to be regarded as an established and imperative rule. The garments worn by those who receive endowments must be white and of the approve[d] pattern; they must not be altered or mutilated, and are to be worn as intended, down to the wrist and ankles and around the neck. Admission to the temple will be refused to those who do not comply to these requirements.

The Saints should know that the pattern of endowment garments was revealed from Heaven and that the blessings promised in connection with wearing them will not be realized if any unauthorized change is made in their form or in the manner of wearing them.

42. "Fashion and the Violation of Covenants and Duty"; President Joseph F. Smith; Improvement Era, IX (August, 1906), 812-815. [This article was published while Pres. Joseph F. Smith was President of the Church.]

FASHION AND THE VIOLATION OF COVENANTS AND DUTY.

At the annual conference of the Mutual Improvement Associations, I enjoyed the privilege of speaking to the young people on a subject which I think at present deserves further consideration. With this in view, good may result from repeating some of the thoughts expressed.

The Lord Almighty has revealed unto us truths, and principles. He has given us commandments, shown and taught us the order of prayer, and how to worship in spirit and in truth. He has given us signs which it is our privilege to use to indicate our determination before him, to remember him, and to witness unto him that we are willing to keep the commandments that he has given, that we may always have his spirit to be with us, even unto the end.

Not one of these commandments of God, these gifts that have been bestowed, these keys of knowledge and of principle that have been restored and revealed unto us, through the gospel of Jesus Christ and its ordinances, should be violated in the least by the Latter-day Saints. They should be held in sacred reverence. We should hold them as we hold dear to the heart the most sacred thing to our souls, because they are God's commandments, and keys, his requirements made of us, and they are the pointing of the way, by the manifestations of the Spirit of the Lord unto us, in which we should walk, in order that we may become entitled to the greatest amount of happiness in this world, and in the world to come a fulness of joy. And by neglecting, slighting, and putting them aside, by turning away from the course which the Lord has marked out for us to pursue, we weaken ourselves, shear ourselves of our own strength, and deprive ourselves of the light needed to make us more efficient in the discharge of our duties as the children of God.

We entered into covenants with the Lord that we will keep ourselves pure and unspotted from the world. We have agreed before God, angels and witnesses in sacred places, that we will not commit adultery, will not lie, that we will not steal or bear false witness against our neighbor, or take advantage of the weak, that we will help and sustain our fellow men in the right, and take such a course as will prove most effectual in helping the weak to overcome their weaknesses and bring themselves into subjection to the requirements of heaven. We cannot neglect, slight, or depart from the spirit, meaning, intent and purpose, of these covenants and agreements, that we have entered into with our Father in heaven, without shearing ourselves of our glory, strength, right and title to his blessings, and to the gifts and manifestations of his Spirit.

The Lord has given unto us garments of the holy priesthood, and you know what that means. And yet there are those of us who mutilate them, in order that we may follow the foolish, vain and (permit me to say) indecent practices of the world. In order that such people may imitate the fashions, they will not hesitate to mutilate that which should be held by them the most sacred of all things in the world, next to their own virtue, next to their own purity of life. They should hold these things that God has given unto them sacred, unchanged and unaltered from the very pattern in which God gave them. Let us have the moral courage to stand against the opinions of fashion, and especially where fashion compels us to break a covenant and so commit a grevious sin.

Many of our young people, also, are leading mistaken lives and doing wrong in that they feel, in order to cope with the spirit of the times, the fashion of the age, and to be "in the swim," if you will permit the expression, that they must not marry until they are able to furnish themselves commodious mansions or palaces, or homes equal to those of the rich; homes equal, perhaps, to those of their parents who have labored through years and years, who have borne the burden, in the heat of the day, who have toiled and struggled with poverty, and who, through their toil, perserverance and economy, have been able to secure and gather to themselves a little means by which they have built acceptable homes, to make their families comfortable; and the children feel that it is not right for them to engage in matrimony until they are able to build a house equal to their father's, or a mansion equal to their rich neighbor's.

To feel so is a mistake, it is an illusion, and it will lead men into the wrong way. I want to say to the young men's and to the young ladies' Mutual Impovement Associations that in the beginning God created man in his own image, and in his own likeness, male and female, and they were commanded to multiply and replenish the earth, that they might have joy in their posterity. They were commanded to subdue the earth and control it, and not to be controlled by it. These commandments of the Lord have never been annulled. They are in force today as they were when they were first uttered in the garden of Eden to our first parents; and, in order to fulfill these laws, and these great commandments of the Lord, we should never wait for wealth. The young man should be willing to take his bride, and take her who is worthy, to wife, even if it be in poverty. Let them join their efforts to build a home for themselves; and if they can endure poverty, they will be able to endure riches. But if they are not able to endure poverty, woe be unto them, for he that is not able to endure poverty, in the kingdom of God, or in the house of the Lord, will scarcely be able to endure riches, for it is absolutely easier for men to worship the Lord, and to feel after him and remember him in adversity, than it is in prosperity. Men are so shallow- minded, so thoughtless, so unmindful of their dependence upon the Lord that, with a little temporary prosperity, and by the possession of perishable riches, they begin to feel that they are independent of the Lord for all his mercies; and, therefore, they forget him, and disregard, or are apt to disregard, the hands that made them prosperous. But the Lord requires us to remember him in prosperity the same as in adversity. "And if ye seek the riches which it is the will of the Father to give unto you, ye shall be the richest of all people, for ye shall have the riches of eternity; and it must needs be that the riches of the earth are mine to give; but beware of pride, lest ye become as the Nephites of old." (Doctrine and Covenants 38:39; see also Sec. 11:7.)

Now I want to say to my young friends that in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, we believe in honorable marriages. We believe that it is "honorable in all" to marry, who possess ordinary intelligence and ordinary ability to obtain the necessaries of life; and to wait for luxury, before they consummate this object and purpose of their being, in the world, is wrong; it is a mistake. It is the violation of a sacred duty, for the sake of the folly of fashion, and is displeasing to the Lord.

43. "Joseph Smith the Prophet. . . Marian J. Woodward [Testimony]"; The Young Woman's Journal 17:543-44 (December 1906).

Maria J. Woodward---

Maria J. Woodward came to Nauvoo from Middle, Tennessee when she was 17 in 1841. She was the only member of the Church in her father's family. While she worked in the home of the Prophet for 3 weeks she acquired the following testimony:

"[Joseph] was always kind and often talked with me and asked about my [family] . . . I . . . can bear testimony that [Joseph] had had his endowments and wore garments, for the woman who washed for the family showed them to me."

44. TEMPLE INSTRUCTIONS; Zina Y. Card; "Garments".

Dear Sisters, we have met this morning in this the House of the Lord to receive at the hands of the Heavenly Priesthood, the greatest blessings the Lord ever gave to his children on earth. And I want you to know this, that our Father in Heaven loves his daughters the same as his sons. There is not a blessing bestowed upon them that we do not receive except that of the Holy Priesthood, and if we honor these blessings, they will be the source of much happiness to us.

I can imagine that in the hearts of you girls there are many doubts and fears, but the fears are needless and doubts will vanish if you come with the right spirit. I take it for granted that every one of you is thoroughly converted to the fact that Jesus is the Christ and that he is here to guide us. You have come here to receive your endowments, a most wonderful blessing and you have also come here to receive a companion for this life and all life to come, and when you go on the other side, where we all will go some day, you will meet your companion and you will belong to each other. People who never come to the house of the Lord and have this great blessing bestowed upon them, will not be as husband and wife on the other side. They will no doubt love each other, but cannot participate in the blessings you will have placed upon you through the eternal covenant of marriage.

Now, my dear sisters, in receiving your blessings you will go into a room, having removed your clothing and having placed a shield around you to protect your body, and there you will receive the greatest blessings that any woman on this earth ever had that we have any account of. Then you will be clothed in a garment by the sister who has authority. This garment that you receive is given symbolically as was the garment given to Adam & Eve in the Garden of Eden. On it will be placed sacred marks. These are the marks of the Holy Priesthood. Some look upon it as a very trifling thing and say "What difference does it make just to cut a hole in a piece of cloth?" Girls, you might say the same thing when you go to meeting and take the sacrament. There is this difference, we are carrying out the commands of God through our symbols of the things our Father in Heaven bestowed on his children that entitles them to the blessings they could not have if it were not for that garment on the body and the marks placed upon it.

When Joseph Smith received the endowments and revelation from the Lord to be given to his people by authority, he also received instructions as to how to make this garment. None had ever seen anything like it and the sisters who made it were under his direction and when it was submitted to him, he said that it was right and the way it had looked to him and he accepted it. This garment had a collar and it had strings to tie it and sleeves that came to the wrist, not to the hand, but about an inch above, and the leg came down to the ankle joint. This was the pattern given and it is right for Aunt Eliza Snow was the governess and seamstrees in his house at the time the first garments were made and heard the instructions to the sisters. Thus the Kingdom of God rolls on and the living authority [sic] are the one who can make changes in the revealed work of the Lord to answer the purposes of the day in which they live. Today there is a change in the garments that can be made outside of this Holy House in the garments we wear on our bodies. This garment is called the modified or permitted garment and the pattern of this garment I will point out to you, but first I want to explain to you about the little mark we have in the back of our garment, the little woven design which we have looked upon as desig[n]ating the things we buy as being the right kind of a garment. Now, sisters, I want to tell you the way we came by this mark of approval. In days past there was a great variety in the way they made the garments as then they were always made from cloth. President Taylor prayed to the Lord that they might be permitted to use the knitted garment and they could all be of the same pattern. They might vary a little, but the garments were all similar and when they made these garments, many people questioned the change from the cloth garment to the knitted garment. It was because the living authority said we might and it was this mark that was used to tell us that the garment was approved. Today, these marks of approval can be purchasd by the thousands and are placed upon anything their customers will buy and for that reason, today this mark means nothing to us. You know what is the right kind of a garment. The garment to be worn outside of the House of the Lord has been approved by authority and I have a written statement signed by President Grant to this effect. The garment is not too low in the neck, just a nice, modest neck, but with collar omitted. Instead of being to the wrist, they come to the elbow, and the leg instead of coming to the ankle, comes below the knee, always covering the knee so that the mark placed by the holy Priesthood can come over the knee, for that is where is [sic] should be worn. This pattern can be worn and you are not doing anything contrary to the Priesthood, but it must be worn only outside this house and can not be worn in the House of the Lord.

Some people who do not understand this very well will tell you that anything that has the marks placed upon it is a garment of the Holy Priesthood. (And some make these marks about like a button hole, but they should be about one inch each way.) But this is false, for you are desicrating our covenants and deceiving yourself by putting on anything of this kind. There are two kinds of garments and two only; the one given by the Prophet Joseph Smith to be worn in the Temple and the one given by the President Grant to be worn outside the House of the Lord. Wear this modified garment and be happy if it adds to your happiness to wear it this way. When you wear anything besides these two approved patterns you are wearing only a piece of underwear which is not a garment and you are placing upon your body something with the marks of the Holy Priesthood where these marks should not be placed for it is not approved of nor accepted by the authority of God. These are vital questions and thousands of people are being deceived and are wearing something that exposes their bodies and desicrates the marks of the Holy Priesthood.

Now, Dear Sisters, are there any questions.

Garments should be worn all the time. When you understand the covenants, you will understand that you cannot take them off at night.

Missionaries - Embassadors of truth and if one girl does not act as a lady or does not do the right thing, the whole Church is judged by her actions. Everyone living their religion properly prays daily for the missionaries and this should be the source of a great deal of help and encouragement when things seem hard and discouraging.

If you were at meeting and the sacrament were passed to you, you would know that it was an emblem of Christ and would not look upon it as bread and water or say that you do not like bread but want cake. The same authority gave us the garment that gave us this wonderful blessing upon the Holy Sacrament.

President David H. Cannon: "was very pleased with the privilege of greeting the saints this morning. Wished more were here. Spoke a few words about the garment. We are told the garment is a pattern of one given to Adam and Eve in the garden. If the sleeve is cut off it will not be the proper garment. Said, President Young once told a young woman that they could turn in the collar and roll up the sleeves but they must not cut them off. President Cannon instructed the Ordinance Workers to clothe the people with the proper garments. Spoke of the responsibility of those taking names to see that the dead are properly endowed and of those taking parts to render them correctly and of those engaged in any manner in this work.

President Cannon read letter received 6 November 1896 from the Presidency of the Church in regard to apparel to be worn in the temple by those being endowed. This does not apply, he said, to Prayer Circles of the Brethren. There must be no innovation of these things from the instructions herein given, except it come through the proper source. He also spoke in relation to taking our shoes from our feet before entering the temple. A habit is obtaining contrary to this and it is not right. He read a letter from Presidency of the Church in regard to the same and said, none but aged or sick persons are exempt from obedience to this given rule; But who will be the judge? The Doorkeeper must be the judge. Speaker did not wish to assume the rule [role?] of grumbler, but let us do as we should and rejoice in the contemplation and reception of blessings that are ours united to enjoy.

47. St. George Temple Minute Book; K9369R; p. 93; 14 December 1911.

President Cannon said, if the sisters find it necessary to wear shoes while going through endowments, they should put moccasins on over their shoes. This is the order of this temple and we are not controlled by Salt Lake Temple. We cannot judge as to what should be done in either temple. His experience would back up a statement. This temple has the orignal of these endowments which was given by President Brigham Young and we have not nor will we change anything thereof unless dictated by the President of the Church.

48. "Instructions Concerning Temple Ordinance Work"; Pq/M234.5/I59s/#1/c.2; Joseph F. Smith; President of the Salt Lake Temple; 1898-1911.

(p. 3) The Saints who enter the sacred building should be properly prepared. Their bodies should be scrupulously clean. Those who are to be baptized, or officiate in endowments, should each bring a towel for personal use. Shoes worn out of doors should be removed from the feet, in the Temple Annex, and slippers substituted therefor. Males should be ordained Elders before they come to the Temple to receive their own endowments.

The Saints who attend to baptisms for the dead should be amply dressed in white before entering the font. All participants in the ordinance of sealing children should also be dressed in clean, white clothing. Males over 21 or females over 18 years of age, are not permitted to witness or take part in any Temple ordinances, except baptism for the dead, until they have received their own endowments.

Each individual should be provided with the endowment clothing they need. The garments must be clean and white, and of the approved pattern; they must not be altered or mutilated, and are to be worn as intended, down to the wrist and ankles, and around the neck. These requirements are imperative; admission to the Temple will be refused to those who do not comply therewith.

49. St. George Temple Minute Book; K9369R; p. 99; 10 January 1912.

President Cannon spoke concerning shoes worn while receiving endowments. He said, put your moccasins on over your shoes. This is the word from the Authorities. A sample of this was given by President Young; he wore his moccasins over his shoes when receiving endowments for deceased and we should follow his example.

Baptisms cannot be administered by persons standing out of the water. Innovations must not creep in, in any manner of thing. Speaker said, "It is my business to see that right is maintained here no matter what is done elsewhere. If what is done is done right, they, the dead and we can pass to our exaltations, otherwise not."

50. Jesus The Christ; James E. Talmage; pp. 346-347; Copyright September 1915.

The faith of those who believed that if they could but touch the border of the Lord's garment they would be healed is in line with that of the woman who was healed of her long-standing malady by so touching His robe (see Matt. 9:21; Mark 5:27, 28; Luke 8:44). The Jews regarded the border or hem of their outer robes as of particular importance, because of the requirement made of Israel in earlier days (Numb. 15:38, 39) that the border be fringed and supplied with a band of blue, as a reminder to them of their obligations as the covenant people. The desire to touch the hem of Christ's robe may have been associated with this thought of sanctity attaching to the hem or border.

51. Improvement Era, Vol 9:812; Joseph F. Smith; June 28, 1916.

The garments worn by those who receive endowments must be white and of the approved pattern. They must not be altered and mutilated and are to be worn as intended, down to the wrist and ankle, and around the neck. Admission to the temple will be refused those who do not comply with these requirements. The Saints should know that the pattern of endowment garments was revealed from heaven, and the blessings promised in connection with wearing them will not be realized if any unauthorized change is made in their form or in the manner of wearing them.

52. Messages of the First Presidency, Vol 5:110; Joseph F. Smith; TEMPLE INSTRUCTIONS TO THE BISHOPS; 1918.

Dear Brother:

If you have not already adopted the practice of calling attention to the following regulations, when you issue recommends to individuals going to the Temple, you will please do so hereafter, in every instance.

FIRST: The garments worn by those who receive endowments must be white, and of the approved pattern; they must not be altered or mutilated, and are to be worn as intended, down to the wrist and ankles, and around the neck.

Please inform all to whom you issue recommends that these requirement[s] are imperative, and that admission to the Temple will be refused to those who do not comply therewith. The Saints should know that the pattern of endowment garments was revealed from heaven, and that the blessings promised in connection with wearing them will not be realized if any unauthorized change is made in their form or in the manner of wearing them.

Robes, etc., may be hired at the Temple, but all are advised to provide themselves with their own, if they can do so conveniently. The sisters should not have long "trains" on the white dresses they wear in the Temple, nor decorate with colored ribbons or gaudy ornaments.

Each person who is to receive endowments should bring a towel for their own use. All should be perfectly clean in body and clothing, not offensive to others.

53. "Sacred Vestments of Ancient People"; Susa Young Gates; Relief Society

Gospel Mysteries

Magazine; d. 1023/f. 92; Sept. 1920.

From the time when people first began to wear clothing, men have made for themselves separate vestments for religious purposes. Moderns may question or even ridicule this custom. Americans, with their growing contempt for all symbolism and religious observances, with their worship of the commonplace and their scorn for tradition and ceremonials, are apt to underestimate the value of such symbolic customs as have been common to all ancient people.

Anything which is sacred is set apart, and the human mind is so constituted that unless things are set apart by the mind and by the body from the ordinary and everyday observances, we should loose all vestige of reverence and forget there was anything sacred in the world. The child regards his Sabbath raiment as a very part of the Sabbath-day worship, and rightly so, for the symbolism of the unusual clothing worn on the Sabbath-day and on holidays serves a wider purpose than thoughtless people realize. Houses, vessels, and vestments must be separated from those in common use, if they are to represent to the human mind a superior Being and a divine worship of that Being.

It is with this thought in mind that all the peoples of the earth have arranged special clothing for those who minister in religious ordinances. The Egyptians, the Babylonians, the Chinese, and East Indians, all carry these customs to the utmost limit. Even today, in the Oriental nations, this custom still prevails. While the Catholic priests and the Church of England clothe their bishops and priests in gorgeous regalia. The clothing of modern kings and queens is a survival of this custom.

The Lord himself taught Moses the psychological value of buildings, vessels, and clothing, which were to be used only for sacred purposes and to be worn by men when in the service of the sacred house. Let us look into the pages of the Peutateuch and discover there what the Lord had to say on these matters. During the forty days that Moses was on the Mount he wrote out the most minute instructions, through the revelations of the Lord, for the building and equipment of his holy house and for the clothing of the priests who were to administer therein.

In accounts given us by Moses in Exodus and Leviticus there are extremely detailed accounts of the clothing to be worn, especially of the outer garments, with which Aaron and his sons were to be clothed. It will be noted that not much description is given of the sacred inner garments, but the outer robe which is to cover these garments from the gaze of the multitude, is very minutely described. The symbolism of the ephod and the embroidered robe which is to cover the linen robe and garments, is both simple and beautiful. Each tribe was represented in the Jewels of the Crown which covered the linen bonnet and which ador[n]ed the breastplate and ephod. On two onyx stones were engraven the names of the Tribes of Israel, six on one stone and six on another. These two stones were worn upon the shoulders as a sort of buckle fastening the chains of pure gold which held up the breastplate. In the ephod, or outer robe, which was made of gold, of blue, of purple, of scarlet, and of fine twined linen, were four rows of stones. A sardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle, on the first row. The second row contained an emerald, a saphire, and a diamond. The third row, a ligure, an agate, and amethyst; while the fourth row was set with a beryl, an onyx, and a jasper. These twelve stones were engraved with the names of the twleve tries of Israel and whenever Aaron put the breastplate and epod upon his shoulders he represented symbolically the twelve tribes of Israel, as he appeared in the Holy Place. In the center of the breastplace [sic] was the urim and thummim, which instrument gave out upon certain occasions the judgment of the Lord and his revelations to Moses and Aaron.

The ephod was a most magnificent robe of blue. It was woven all in one garment with an opening through which to insert the head of Aaron. Upon the hem of the ephod was embroidered pomegranates in rich, blue, purple, and scarlet threads. The pomegranate flower is one of the most gorgeous blossoms of the orient. As a fringe to the garment there were tiny golden bells whose musical tinkle was heard by the priests without when Aaron went into the Holy Place to minister.

The white linen bonnet worn by Aaron and the priests was covered with a golden crown. Across the piece that encircled the forehead was engraved "Holiness to the Lord." This symbolic crown constituted Aaron and the high priests who followed him, the vicarious minister for the people, making of him a symbolic vice gerent of the Lord, thus typifying in a sense the office of the Savior who bears upon his shoulders, as we are taught by Paul, the sins of the world. The coat of fine linen, the mitre of fine linen, and the girdle of fine linen, and the linen breeches, or garments, which were worn by Aaron and his sons, were covered, as we have noted, with outer colored robes richly embroidered and decorated as a symbol of the glory of the Lord.

We are taught also (Exodus, chap. 39, Lev., chap. 8), that Aaron and his sons were taken by Moses in the door of the tabernacle and were washed with water, anointed with oil, and then clothed with the garments, coats, girdles, and bonnets, after which the anointing oil was poured upon the altar and all their garments were sprinkled with the oil as a symbol and type.

It is surprising to note the many references in the scriptures to the garments and secret, or sacred clothing, as note the following references:

Chapter 28, Exodus, verses 2-4: Aaron and his sons to wear holy garments and robes.

Chapter 28, Exodus, verses 31-34: Details of construction of robes.

Chapter 29, Exodus, verse 5: Instructions concerning wearing these garments, or robes.

Chapter 31, Exodus, verse 10: Robes consecrated for ministry of Aaron and his sons.

Chapter 39, Exodus, verse 1: Holy garments for Aaron, in the Holy Place.

Chapter 19, Leviticus, verse 19: Garments of mingled materials not to be worn.

Chapter 8, Numbers, verse 19: The priests enjoined to wash their clothes.

Chapter 1, Chron., verse 27: David clothed in robe of fine linen.

Chapter 4, Nehemiah, verse 25: Put off sacred clothing for washing only.

Chapter 9, Ecclesiastes, verse 8: "Let thy garments be always white."

Chapter 22, Isaiah, verse 21: Messiah clothed with a robe and girdle.

Chapter 52, Isaiah, verse 1: "Put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem."

Chapter 61, Isaiah, verse 10: "Garments of Salvation"; "Robe of Righteousness."

Chapter 5, Daniel, verse 7: Significance in color of clothing.

Chapter 7, Daniel, verse 9: "Ancient of Days"; garment white as snow.

Chapter 22, Matthew, verse 11: Those without "wedding garment" cast out.

Chapter 5, Mark, verse 18: Christ's clothing conveyed power of healing.

Chapter 24, Luke, verse 4: Two angels in shining garments.

Chapter 3, Rev., verses 4-5: Garments not defiled; given white raiment, etc.

Chapter 7, Rev., verse 9: A multitude clothed in white robes.

Chapter 6, Rev., verse 11: White robes given to the martyred saints.

Chapter 7, Rev., verses 13-15: The redeemed arrayed in white robes.

Chapter 15, Rev., verse 6: Seven angels clothed in pure and white linen.

Chapter 16, Rev., verse 15: "Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments."

Chapter 19, Rev., verse 14: Heaven's armies clothed in fine linen, pure and white.

We find the ancient writings of the Greeks, Egyptians, and Babylonians full of references to the sacred vestments worn by their priests.

In the "Jewish Encyclopedia," in the article on Nimrod, we are told that when Noah was surprised by his sons that Ham stole the garments given to his father, Adam, and that when Nimrod, who received the garments from his father, Cush, (who was Ham's son), Nimrod could command the beasts of the field and every living thing to obey him through the power upon him while thus clothed. We also learn from the same "Jewish Encyclopedia" in the article on dress that the first garments worn were made of the skins of animals with an apron of leaves. Afterwards the garments was [sic] made of linen. In the "Encyclopedia Britannica," we find a reference in the article on Baptism concerning the Christian church directly after the crucifixion:

"The Montavists in Africa believed in baptism for the dead. Justin Martyr says, 90 A. D.: `Candidates for baptism fasted for one or two days as would their sponsors. The candidates stepped into the font quite naked, bishops, priests, and deacons officiated. After the candidate came out of the water he was breathed upon to exercise [sic] devils. He was given symbolically milk, honey, and salt. He was touched upon the arms, lips, and nose with spittle, accompanied by a ceremony of words. He was anointed with oil, then he was clothed in a white robe, and was given a new name.[']"

Garments and robes have formed the sacred part of the ceremonial belongings for priesthood office from the earliest days to the present time. All churches, especially the Catholic and Episcopalian religions, retain the altered and changed forms of clothing for their priesthood. Said a Catholic sister dressed as she was in her heavy woolen black veil and robe, with her white starched bonnet over her perspiring brow, when a "Mormon" woman asked her how she could wear such unsuitable clothing in the heat of the summer months: "I, madam? I wear these garments by the grace of God." The priesthood of other churches consider it a great privilege and honor to wear the special clothing designed for such purposes, but the Latter-day Saints, who are all practically privileged, both men and women, to be partakers in the holy ordinances which are signalized and symbolized by the garments of the priesthood, these Latter-day Saints sometimes permit themselves to feel unwilling, and at times, resentful, with the privilege and honor thus bestowed upon them. Young people should be encouraged to study this subject so that their minds could grasp the symbolism of what they do and what they wear in sacred and holy places.

The third page of this document appears to be a set of instructions based on recommendations of the Temple committee on Ordinance work, whereas, pp 1-2, may be the temple committee's recommendations as inputs to a printing of Burial Instructions. Under the section for garments the following is given:]

May be made of linen or cotten [sic], or the knitted ones may be used. They should be placed on the body as in life.

It is thought wise by the committee that the garments should be marked before they are put on the body, as in some instances, the marks have been forgotten. You, of course, understand that the important thing is to have them marked.

In answer to the questions if it is proper for anybody who has not been through the Temple, to work on Temple clothing, I am authorized by the Chairman of the Committee to state that this depends entirely on whether such person is worthy or not. In far away places where women are faithful and good, and are unable to go to the Temple, it is permissible for them to work on the clothing. This is especially permissable where these sisters are good needle woman [sic]. As a general rule, the Authorities of the Church prefer that this work be done by those who have been through the Temple, but they are willing, under the above circumstances, to make an exception to this rule.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS BY 1st PRESIDENCY

The following questions have been asked pertaining to the clothing of the dead:

Should the veil cover the face, or should it be left up?
Ans: It should cover the face always, before burial.
Is it right to slant the robe on the shoulder?
Ans: Yes.
Should the robe be ironed in pleats?
Ans: Not necessarily, but it is better that way.

Is it right to slant the robe on the shoulder? Answer: Yes.
Should the robe be ironed in plaits?
Answer: Not necessarily, but it is better that way.
Which shoulder should the robe cover?
Answer: The right shoulder.
How many leaves should be on an apron?
Answer: as many as desired.
Should the stems of the leaves point up or down?
Answer: alway[s] up, the natural way.
Would it be wrong to put garments that are unmarked on persons who have not received their endowments?
Answer: There is nothing especially wrong about it, but we advise that it be not done.
Should the girdle be tied on the right side or on the left?

57. Salt Lake Tribune, "Temple Garments Greatly Modified, Church Presidency Gives Permission, Style Change Optional With Wearer"; Monday Morning, June 4, 1923.

Coming not as an order, nor as a rule to be rigidly enforced, but rather permissive in character, is a recent outgiving of the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. It conerns the garments worn by members of the church who have been married in the temple, or who have participated in other ceremonies performed or rites observed therein.

While minor modifications of the temple garment, it is said, have been made at various times during past years, the latest order in permission is regarded by younger members of the church as most liberal and acceptable. Among the older membership the optional change is variously received. Some of the pioneer stock look upon any deviation from the old order as a departure from what they had always regarded as an inviolable rule. Others of long standing in the church accept the change as a progressive move intended to add to personal comfort.

OLD STYLE UNCOMFORTABLE

In the old days the temple garment was made of plain, unbleached cotton cloth. Unbleached linen was as far afield in "finery" as the devotee was permitted to go. No buttons were used on the garment. Tape tie-strings took their place. The garment itself was uncomfortably large and baggy. But despite these imperfections, the old-style garment is faithfully adhered to by many of the older and sincerely devout members of the church. These regard the garment as a safeguard aginst disease and bodily harm, and they believe that to alter either the texture of cloth or style, or to abandon the garment altogether would bring evil upon them.

One good woman of long membership in the church, hearing of the change that has recently come about, went to the church offices and uttered fervid objection. "I shall not alter my garments, even if President Grant has ordered me to do so. My garments now are made as they were when I was married in the endowment house long before the temple was built. The pattern was revealed to the Prophet Joseph and Brother Grant has no right to change it," she said.

Explanation was made that the first presidency had merely issued permission to those who so desired to make the modifying change; that any member of the church who preferred to adhere to the original style was at perfect liberty to do so.

President Charles W. Penrose says that modification of the garment is elective with each individual member of the church who has gone through the temple. The change in style is permitted for various good reasons, chief among which are promotion of freedom of movement in the body and cleanliness. Formerly the sleeves were long, reaching to the wrists. While doing housework the women would roll up the sleeves. If sleeves were to be rolled up they might as well be made sort in the first place for convenience, it was argued. Permission to abbreviate is now given, but it is not an order and is not compulsory, it is explained.

IS GENERALLY WELCOMED

Encasing the lower limbs the old-style garment reaches to the ankles and is looked upon by young members as baggy, uncomfortable and ungainly. The young of the gentler sex complained that to wear the old style with the new and finer hosiery gave the limbs a knotty appearance. It was embarrassing in view of the generally accepted sanitary shorter skirt. Permission is therefore granted by the first presidency to shorten the lower garment. Also buttons are permitted to take the place of the tie-strings.

Young men of the church, especially those who take exercise or play games at gymnasiums, favor the shorter garment. The permission granted is hailed by them as a most acceptable and progressive one. Altogether, and except in few instances, the permissive modification is welcomed as a sanitary move and a change looking to the comfort and health of those who wear temple garments.

Instead of the old style, coarse, unbleached, irritating material of which temple garments were once made, the finer knitted goods, and even silks, are now used. These materials and modified styles are officially approved, but such alterations are optional with each individual, and by no means compulsory, church officials desire it understood.

58. Letter of the First Presidency to SStake Presidents and Temple Presidents; 12 June 1923.

It may be observed that no fixed pattern of Temple garment has ever been given, and that the present style of garment differs very materially from that in use in the early history of the Church, at which time a garment without collar and with buttons was frequently used.

It is the mind of the First Presidency and the Council of Twelve that this modified garment may be used by those who desire to adopt it, without violating any covenant they make in the House of the Lord, and with a clear conscience, so long as they keep the covenants which they have made and remember that the garment is the emblem of the Holy Priesthood designed by the Lord as a covering for the body, and that it should be carefully preserved from mutilation and unnecessary exposure, and be properly marked.

59. Heber J. Grant Letter Books; Film 272, Box B, pp. 436, 437; June 14th 1923.

To Presidents of Stakes and of Temples.
Dear Brethren:

For some time past the First Presidency and Council of Twelve have had under consideration the propriety of permitting certain modification in the temple garment, with the following result:

After careful and prayerful consideration it was unanimously decided that the following modifications may be permitted, and a garment of the following style be worn by those Church members who wish to adopt it, namely:

(1) Sleeve to elbow.
(2) Leg just below knee.
(3) Buttons instead of strings.
(4) Collar eliminated.
(5) Crotch closed.

It may be observed that no fixed pattern of Temple garment has ever been given, and that the present style of garment differs very materially from that in use in the early history of the Church, at which time a garment without collar and with buttons was frequently used.

It is the mind of the First Presidency and the Council of Twelve that this modified garment may be used by those who desire to adopt it, without violating any covenant they make in the House of the Lord, and with a clear conscience, so long as they keep the covenants which they have made and remember that the garment is the emblem of the Holy Priesthood designed by the Lord as a covering for the body, and that it should be carefully preserved from mutilation and unnecessary exposure, and be properly marked.

It should be clearly understood that this modified garment does not supercede the approved garment now in use, that either of these patterns may be worn, as Church members prefer, without being considered unorthodox, and those using either will not be out of harmony with the order of the Church.

In order that there may be uniformity in temple work, and that the expedition in the administration of the ordinances of the House of the Lord may not be impeded, we recommend that people doing temple work, whether it be ordinance work for the dead or first endowments for the living, wear the approved garment now in use. If persons appear at the temple with the modified style, however, they should not be refused admittance, provided they come properly recommended. Bishops, in giving recommends to the temple should call attention to this recommendation.

Will you advise the Bishops of your Stake of these changes, being careful to give the matter no unnecessary publicity.

Dear Brother,

Your letter of April 28th is received.

We enclose herewith a copy of a circular letter which has been sent out and which answers the questions which you ask. This letter sets forth the attitude of the Presidency in regard to this matter. Nothing which is said which is more or less than this has been authorized by us. There are persons undoubtedly who do not adhere closely to the regulation which has been established, as there were before the change was made and the approval of the Presidency given to a garment of different pattern than that which had previously been used.

Trusting that this will be a satisfactory answer to your inquiry, I remain,

Your brother,

The Presidency and Council of the Twelve have approved of the temple garment, where desired, with the following modifications;

1. Sleeve to Elbow
2. Leg just below knee
3. Buttons instead of strings
4. Collar eliminated
5. Crotch closed.

The Saints using the modified garment will not be out of harmony with the order of the Church.

In order that there may be uniformity in Temple work and that expedition in the administration of the ordinances of the House of the Lord may not be impeded, we recommend that people doing Temple work, whether it be ordinance work for the dead, or first endowments for the living, wear the approved garment in use before the above modifications were approved.

62. Declarations of the First Presidency on Temple Work, p. 141. General Board of Relief Society Minutes, 23 May 1928.

Garments L.D.S. (ruling by First Presidency on Wearing of, by, Hospital Patients): President Williams reported that a second letter had been received regarding the wearing of L.D.S. garments in hospitals during confinement and other illnesses. She stated that this second letter had come from Arizona. Upon receiving the letter she asked the secretary to confer with President Ivans [sic] in the matter, and President Ivans [sic] stated that it is perfectly alright and proper for women to remove their garments during lying-in at hospital or during other hospital illnesses. President Williams stated further that in the conference with the Presiding Bishopric this morning the matter was reported to the Presiding Bishop and the Relief Sciety executive committee were informed by the Bishopric that they have understood for some time that it was allowable for women to remove their garments during the time they are confined in the hospital, if they so desire. They quoted the following ruling, which was made by the First Presidency of the Church: "On March 16, 1925, the Presidency ruled that, in reponse to an inquiry asking if it was proper to remove garments from patience [sic] during operations, that the wishes of the patients should be considered, but that there had been a ruling of the Presidency some time ago that because of sanitary reasons it might be wise to remove the garments from the patient, and where it is thought best to do so, this may be done."

Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement Ass'n,
Dear Sisters;

Your letter of March 18th, enclosing a copy of a letter you had written to Mrs. Alta Dayton, was placed with my personal correspondence. I have not yet answered all the mail that accumulated during my visit in the East in February and March and while I was in California after the April Conference. I came to your letter this afternoon.

Whenever we receive inquires regarding the temple garment, we reply as follows:

"The First Presidency and the Council of the Twelve have approved of the temple garment with the following modifications;

1. Sleeve to elbow,
2. Leg just below knee,
3. Buttons instead of strings,
4. Collar eliminated,
5. Crotch closed.

"The saints using the modified garment as specified above will not be out of harmony with the order of the Church. Garments with straps over the shoulders instead of sleeves have not been approved by us.

"In order that there may be uniformity in temple work and that expedition in the administration of the ordinances of the House of the Lord may not be impeded, we recommend that people doing temple work, whether it be ordinance work for the dead or first endowments for the living, wear the approved garment in use before the above modifications were approved."

With all good wishes,

Sincerely your friend and brother,

I hold it entirely compatible with the genius of the Church to change its forms of procedure, customs, and ordinances in accordance with our own knowledge and experience. * * * Some changes have been made in recent years and these changes have disturbed some of the members. Personally, I approve of those changes and hope the general authorities will be led to make others as changing conditions warrant.

Dear Brother Riric:

Returning to the office I find your letter of the 20th.

Answering your questions will say that the Church has no objection at all to a woman remarrying. In fact if she is a young woman we have rather urged her, if she has a good opportunity to do so, to remarry. If she does marry we advise that if she has been sealed to her husband or her first marriage performed in the Temple that it would be a nice thing for her to marry in the Temple again but that marriage would only be for time. If she cannot go to the Temple for her second marriage there is no objection nor does she violate her covenants under the new ruling if she marries one not of the Church providing she is married by a Bishop or President of a Stake. If she has children by a second marrige certainly it is with the understanding that the children and the wife belong to the man to whom she is sealed. A girl who has already received her endowments and marries outside of the Church naturally cannot have her children sealed to her until such time that she has secured either here or hereafter a worthy husband to whom she and the children may be sealed. The same thing is true with a man who has not married for time and eternity.

The modification of the garments was approved by the Presidency and it is as equally acceptable to wear them as the old garments. There is no line drawn between the two except for uniformity sake and for that reason the old style is still used in the Temple.

As far as the law of consecration is concerned that was given first but the Lord knew that people would require training to prepare them to live it so He gave them what He called the school master -- the law of tithing -- to bring them to the higher law. The law of tithing was not given because the people had rejected the first law. The first one was given as a goal for them to work toward and then the means to reach that goal was provided.

The modification of these garments had been made by President Smith and others. The fact is that we have not departed one particle from the all important and essential things pertaining to the garments, which are the marks. The length of the sleeve, leg, etc. has been the modification which the Presidency has permitted because there was no specification with reference to those from the beginning.

Hoping that these suggestions may be helpful to you, I am

Your brother,
/s/ Melvin J. Ballard

66. Committee Report to The First Presidency and The Council of the Twelve; April 22, 1936.

April 22, 1936

The First Presidency and
The Council of the Twelve.
Dear Brethren:-

Supplementing our report under date of March 31, 1936, which was in the nature of a resume of our deliberations up to that time, we, your committee appointed to give consideration to matters relating to temple work and ordinances, we beg leave to submit the following recommendations with reference to Temple garments:

1. That the present requirement for the use of the old form of garment exclusively in doing temple work be modified so as to permit the wearing of all approved patterns of the garment within the temple for endowment work. This recommendation is made in the belief that the present practice tends to build up in the minds of the people an unwarranted distinction between the old form of the garment, now used exclusively for temple work, and the modified form which has now been authorized for a number of years. It is thought that this distincition may serve in the minds of many people to invest the old form with far more of sanctity than the modified or new form of the garment, and that in consequene many may be induced to take liberties in unwarranted modifications of the new form of the garment which they might not otherwise take were the new or modified form of the garment permitted in the temple for endowment service. It is pointed out that in the beginning of the use of the new or modified form of the garment no such restriction against its use in the temple was contemplated, and that, although modified somewhat from the old garment, it is still the garment of the holy priesthood just as much as the old form of garment is, and should therefore be accepted for any use which may be made of the old form. The matter of uniformity is perhaps one of convenience but we may be sacrificing much in the way of reverence and respect for the garment which is worn outside of the temple to obtain this uniformity.

Three members of the committee favor this recommendation, one is opposed to it.

2. We recommend that we authorize the wearing of garments without sleeves which conform in all other respects to the pattern at present agreed upon, provided, however, that this modification, if adopted, shall not be construed to permit the wearing of mere shoulder straps. It is our thought that that portion of the garment covering the shoulders should be of the same material as the body of the garment, as illustrated by the sample herewith submitted. We make this recommendation somewhat reluctantly and with deference only because we have convinced ourselves that it will tend to bring about more repsect for instructions given for the wearing of the garment on the part of many members of the Church, and in the second place because we are sure that it will obviate undesirable exposure of the garment which now so frequently occurs through the wearing of present-day patterns of clothing. We feel sure that such a modification will greatly please many good women throughout the Church, and we have not been able to see that we are yielding any vital thing in this slight change. Very short sleeves are now permitted, but such short sleeves are just enough to carry an undesirable display of the garment with modern styles of clothing.

Three members of the committee concur in this recommendation, one does not assent to it.

3. We recommend that a definition be given in the temple of the symbolism and significance of the various marks in the garment. We believe that an understanding on the part of those entitled to wear the garment of these sacred makings will tend greatly to bring about more reverence for the garment itself. The best interpretation which has come to us up to this time has been supplied by President McKay. It is as follows:

A. The square: Honor, integrity, loyalty, trustworthiness.

B. The compass: An undeviating course in relation to truth. Desires should be kept within proper bounds.

C. The navel: That the spiritual life needs constant sustenance.

D. The knee: Reverance [sic] for God, the source of divine guidance and inspiration.

To this last one might be added that which is now in use: That every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that Jesus is the Christ.

All concur in this recommendation.

4. We recommend that there be an understanding that when occasions arise that necessitate the exposing of the garment to the gaze of the curious, the unbeliever or the scoffer, the wearer is justified in laying it aside temporarily and that the wearer must be the judge as to what circumstances warrant this action.

5. We recommend that an effort be made to collect immediately all trademark labels signifying official approval of garments manufactured, and that hereafter we endeavor to prohibit their use entirely. We recommend also that an attempt be make to dissuade merchants and manufacturers from advertising L.D.S. garments.

6. We recommend that an effort be made, through selected agencies of the Church, to disuade all members of the Church from asking for L.D.S. garments when purchasing from mercantile institutions, and that the people be instructed never to have the markings placed on the garments at such places; that all markings be placed on garments either by those entitled to wear them, the Relief Society, or other persons specially authorized to do this work, and then an understanding be had that no underwear becomes a temple garment until after it has been properly marked by those having authority to do the marking.

One member of the committee does not favor the restriction against mercantile institutions marking garments.

Very respectfully submitted,

My mother, Julia Bowen Dalton was born August 26, 1820, and lived in Nauvoo, Illinois, at the time the Saints experienced the trying times in their history. She was very intimate with the Prophet Joseph Smith's family and particularly with Emma Smith. My mother was visiting in the Mansion House at the time the Prophet was killed. The enemies of the Prophet had attempted several times to assassinate him. Just before going to Carthage, he came to one of his wives and stated to her that it was to be that he should lay down his life as a martyr to the testimony he bore, but that his enemies could not take his life while he was wearing his garments. He took them off before leaving for Carthage.

My mother stated to me that the garments at that time had the collar and strings on. She also stated that she had danced many times in the Mansion House. The above facts my mother stated to me many times as she would relate the many wonderful things that transpired in those days, in her acquaintance with the prophet Joseph.

The above statement I certify to be true as and [sic] of as full force and effect as though it were notarized.

70. Church History of Modern Revelation, pp. 91-92; Joseph Fielding Smith; 1940.

In ancient times in some parts of the world, people used to squeeze the juice out of the grapes by placing the grapes in a wine vat and then stomping on them. Naturally, the clothes of those persons who "treadeth in the wine-vat" were soon stained with the grape juice and became the same color. When the Savior appears in the last days, His garments will be red "like him that treadeth in the wine-vat" (D&C 133:48), and "his voice shall be heard: I have trodden in the wine-press alone" (D&C 133:50).

Isaiah has pictured this great day when the Lord shall come with his garments, or apparel, red and glorious, to take vengence on the ungodly. (Isa. 64:106) This will be a day of mourning to the wicked, but a day of gladness to all who have kept his commandments. Do not let anyone think that this is merely figurative language, it is literal, and as surely as we live that day of wrath will come when the cup of iniquity is full. We have received a great many warnings. The great day of the Millennium will come in; the wicked will be consumed and peace and righteousness will dwell upon all the face of the earth for one thousand years.

71. Circular Letter of the First Presidency; 30 October 1942.

Primarily the wearing of the garment is an individual responsibility. It is associated with sacred obligations entered into by the wearer with the Lord in the temple; consequently, the conscience of the wearer must guide when circumstances seem to justify a modification of these obligations. The sacredness of the garment should ever be present and uppermost in the wearer's mind.

One way to protect this sacredness is not to expose it to the view of scoffers, and where conditions arise making such exposure unavoidable, it would seem best reverently to lay aside the garment and then put it on again when such conditions pass. The First Presidency has felt that this policy might be followed by soldiers during their enlistment.

72. Letter of the Presiding Bishopric to Bishops; 23 August 1950.

It is being observed that some Latter-day Saint men and women, some of whom are presiding officiers [sic] and teachers in both stake and ward positions, are removing their temple garments to wear abbreviated clothing in varying degrees when working around their homes, when traveling by auto, or camping out-of-doors. In some instances, brethren who have been through the temple are removing their shirts while mowing the lawns or performing other out-door responsibilities, thus exposing the upper garment to full view.

Such removal of the temple garment, or exposure to more or less public view, is not in keeping with its significance or sacred purpose. It is suggested you use your influence in encouraging Latter-day Saints to avoid these practices.

REMOVAL OR EXPOSURE OF TEMPLE GARMENTS

The following letter was sent to bishops August 23, 1955. It is reproduced here for the information of new bishops and for more convinient reference.

Dear Brethren:

The First Presidency have suggested that we communicate with you on the subject of this letter.

It is being observed that some Latter-day Saint men and women, some of whom are presiding officers and teachers in both stake and ward positions, are removing their temple garments to wear abbreviated clothing in varying degrees when working around their homes, when traveling by auto, or camping out-of-doors. In some instances, brethren who have been through the temple are removing their shirts while mowing the lawns or performing other out- door responsibilities, thus exposing the upper garment to full view.

Such removal of the temple garment, or exposure to more or less public view, is not in keeping with its significance or its sacred purpose.

It is suggested you use your influence in encouraging Latter-day Saints to avoid these practices. It may be advisable to read this letter before the various meetings of your ward officers and teachers. If our leaders set the proper example, it will be helpful in correcting such practices where they exist and in guarding against their development in the future.

Faithfully your brethren,

Dear Sister:

Your letter of July 23, 1957, addressed to President McKay, I am asked to acknowledge for him.

I am instructed to say that people who have a right to wear the garments are at complete liberty to wear the old style garment all the time both in and out of the temple.

Care should be taken not to expose the garment to the ridicule of unbelievers.

May the Lord continue to bless you.

76. Commentary on the Book of Mormon, Vol 2:83-84; George Reynolds & Janne M. Sjodahl; 1958.

There can no man be saved except his garments are washed white. There are many who are servants of evil; they are those who have become subject to the temptations of hell and have yielded to its blandishments. With no thought of repenting, they give little heed to else than worldly things. "If there be a hereafter," they say, "we hope to be saved." But Alma offered no excuses for them, or for those who definately reject God's commands. There is another class for whom Alma presented no apology. They are they who, with spirits untroubled, do as the devil wishes; for them who continue in so doing, Alma said that there is no hope for everlasting life in God's Kingdom. Besides that, many are careless of what the Lord requires; they have no just provocation in relaxing their efforts to further His cause; they are given to dalliance and are trifling with the Lord. They care nothing for His holy word, and decry every endeavor to please Him. Carelessness is wickedness; we rank it next to a wanton disregard of God's holy laws.

Early in the history of Alma's people, Nephi, after whom the Nephites received their name, prophesied concerning this same class as did Alma:

For behold, at that day shall he [the devil] rage in the hearts of the children of men, and stir them up to anger against that which is good.

And others will be pacify, and lull them away into carnal security, that they will say: All is well in Zion; yea, Zion prospereth, all is well-and thus the devil cheateth their souls, and leadeth them away carefully down to hell. (II Nephi 28:21)

Yea, his garments must be purified until they are cleansed from all stain. A good and proper comment on this verse may be had by reading the following passages of Book of Mormon Scripture: I Nephi 12:10-11; Alma 7:25; 13:11-12; 34:36; III Nephi 19:25; 27:19; Mor. 9:35; Ether 12:37-38; 18:11.

TO PRESIDENTS OF STAKES and BISHOPS OF WARDS

Dear Brethren:

The calling of men into military training renders it desireable to reaffirm certain observations heretofore made in the matter of wearing the temple garment.

1. The covenants taken in the temple incident and attached to the wearing of garments contemplate that they will be worn at all times. No exception to these covenants is found anywhere in the ceremonies. These covenants run between the one making them and the Lord. These covenants so made take on the nature of commandments of the Lord.

2. In the early days of the Church the Lord announced that where men prevented his Saints from carrying out the commandments he had given them, the Lord would relieve the Saints from rendering obedience to the commandment, and would visit the iniquity and transgression involved in such disobedience upon the heads of those who "hindered" his work. The Lord said this rule was given for the consolation of the Saints "who have been commanded to do a work and have been hindered by the hands of their enemies, and by oppression." (D&C 124:49 ff.)

3. Where the military regulations are of a character that "hinders", that is, makes impossible the wearing of the regulation garments, either in training on the drill grounds or in combat zones, effort should be made to wear underclothing that will approach as near as may be the normal garment.

Where military regulations require the wearing of two-piece underwear, such underwear should be properly marked, as if the articles were of the normal pattern. If circumstances are such that different underwear may be turned back to the wearer from that which he sends to the laundry, then the marks should be placed on small pieces of cloth and sewed upon the underwear while being worn, then removed when the underwear is sent to the laundry, and resewed upon the underwear returned.

The wearing of the normal garment should be resumed at the earliest possible moment.

4. Every effort should be made to protect the garments from the gaze and raillery of scoffers. This may cause considerable inconvenience at times, but tact, discretion, and wisdom can do much to alleviate this inconvenience. If the scoffing became unbearable and the wearer should decide that the Lord would consider he was really "hindered" by the scoffers from wearing the garments, and if he should therefore lay them aside, then the wearer should resume the wearing of the normal garment at the earliest possible moment.

A certain amount of curiosity and light comment may be frequently expected, wherever, for one cause or another, the garments are brought into view, but this is not the "hindering" of which the Lord spoke as excusing obedience.

The blessings flowing from the observance of covenants are sufficiently great to recompense for all mere inconveniences.

The wearing of the garment is the subject of direct covenant between the Lord and the covenant maker, who must determine to what extent he will keep his covenants. To break our covenants is to lose the protection and blessings promised from obedience thereto.

To PRESIDENTS of TEMPLES
Dear Brethren:

This will advise you that approval has been granted for limited modification in the design of the garment used in the temple to allow for better fit and greater wearing comfort.

The approved modified design for women has a button front rather than string ties, a brassiere top patterned after the brassiere top of garments used for day-time wear, a helanca stretch insert in the back at the waist, and widened overlapping back panels with a helanca stretch piece at the top of each panel and a button to assure panels remaining closed. All other features of the garment, including the collar, long legs, and long sleeves, remain the same as heretofore.

The approved modified design of the garment for men has a button front, closed crotch, helanca stretch insert piece in the back at the waist, widened overlapping back panels with a helanca stretch piece at the top of each panel and a button to assure panels remaining closed. All other features of the men's garment also, including the collar, long legs and long sleeves, remain the same as heretofore.

Both the button-front and the string-tie-front designs for men and women are approved for temple wear; either design may be used. You will note that the basic specifications for the garment remain unaltered.

It is recommended that orders for the button-front design be submitted to the Beehive Clothing Mills only as a part of a regular order for the replacement of existing stocks. This will allow the Mills time to produce a sufficient number of the button-front garments to meet the demands, and at the same time it will allow the temple to accommodate persons who have a preference for the string-tie design.

79. Commentary on the Book of Mormon, Vol. 1:72; George Reynolds and Janne M. Sjodahl; 1965.

John appeared in the garb of a prophet. He was clad in a loose garment of camel hair, held together by a leather girdle.

80. Commentary on the Book of Mormon, Vol. 6:184; George Reynolds and Janne M. Sjodahl; 1965.

The inhabitants of the New Jerusalem are they "who are numbered among the renmant of the Seed of Joseph," or in other words "the House of Israel," That is, the Saints of the latter days, whose "garments are white through the Blood of the Lamb." (Compare Revelation 7:13-17) The white garments were a sign of victory. Those who wore them had overcome every trial during the tribulation of the last days. But their victory was, properly considered, the triumph of the Lamb of God who offered His Atoning Blood on Calvary. In other words the victory of the white-robed Saints in the New City was due to the conquest by the Savior of the powers of hell, or all evil, which was made manifest in the lives of His faithful followers. To Him, therefore, be all honor and glory for ever.

81. Doctrinal New Testament Commentary, Vol. 1:598-599; Bruce R. McConkie; 1965.

He had accepted the invitation (the gospel); joined with the true worshipers (come into the true church); but had not put on the robes of righteousness (that is, had not worked out his salvation after baptism).

In using this figure Jesus was harking back to what Zephaniah had said about the Second Coming: "Hold thy peace at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, he hath bid his guests. And it shall come to pass in the day of the Lord's sacrifice, that I will punish the princes and the king's children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparel." (Zeph. 1:7-8) Similar imagery was used by the angelic ministrant who, speaking in the Lord's name, told the Revelator, John of these same events: "Let us be glad and rejoice, and give honour to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready. And to her was granted that she should be arrayed in fine linen, clean and white: for the fine linen is the righteousness of saints. And he saith unto me, Write, Blessed are they which are called unto the marriage supper of the Lamb." (Rev 19:7-9.)

82. Doctrinal New Testament Commentary, Vol. 1:820; Bruce R. McConkie; 1965.

The Messianic prophecy - "They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture" (Psalm 22:18) - contains two parts: (1) His garments are to be divided among them; and (2) for his vesture or robe they are to cast lots. (Matt 27:35; Mark 15:24; Luke 23:34; John 19:23-24.) * * *

Jewish men wore five articles of clothing: A head-dress, shoes, an inner garment (Priesthood?), an outer garment, and a girdle. These items, according to Roman custom, became the property of the soldiers who performed the crucifixion. There were four soldiers and each took one article of clothing. In the case of Jesus, the robe, woven of a single piece of cloth, apparently was of excellent workmanship, and for this the soldiers elected to cast lots. (See Commentary Matt 27:35)

83. Priesthood Bulletin, 2:5; "Disposal of Worn Garments"; Sept-Oct 1966.

The First Presidency urge that bishops instruct members discarding worn temple garments that any identifying symbols which might be related to the temple should be removed. The material may then be destroyed or used in the home. Garments should not be discarded where they will be picked or used by others.

84. Temples of the Latter-day Saints, p. 20; "Looking Toward the Temple"; Elder John A. Widtsoe; Improvement Era, pub.; 1967.

Q: Why does everyone dress in white in the temple?
A: "In the temples all are dressed alike in white. White is the symbol of purity. No unclean person has the right to enter God's house."

Q: Why is everyone dressed in the same kind of clothing?
A: "The uniform dress symbolizes that before God our Father in heaven all men are equal. The beggar and the banker, the learned and the unlearned, the prince and the pauper sit side by side in the temple and are of equal importance if they live righteously before the Lord God, the Father of their spirits. It has been called to our attention that occasionally young women come to the temple to receive their endowments or to do ordinance work for the dead wearing slacks or mini-skirts. It has come to our attention that in some of the temples instruction has been given to those going through to receive their endowments prior to entering into the marriage covenant that they must not remove the temple garment during the time of sexual relations.

We have authorized no such instruction or advice. We feel that this is a matter of such intimate nature that it must be left with the persons concerned. We therefore ask that you govern yourselves accordingly.

87. Commentary on the Book of Mormon 7:126-127; George Reynolds and Janne M. Sjodahl; 1968.

The swaddling clothes, by which the shepherds would know the Babe whose birth had been announced, were perhaps not the common covering in use at that time. There, probably, were many babes in the overcrowed inn, resting in convinient mangers.

Mme. Lyndia Von Findelstein Mountford, a christian Jewess, herself born in the Holy Land, in her little book on Jesus in His homeland, tells us that the baby clothes which were wrapped-around the Babe Jesus, were the same which had belonged to the family of David. There was, she says, a garment of white silk with blue strips, indicating royalty. There was a red garment, that betokened the House of Boaz. There also was a garment of "many colors," indicating that the Child Jesus was to be the Savior of the entire world. This garment of "many colors," proclaimed Him not only of David and Boaz, but of every branch of the house of Jacob. It was similar to the multicolored coat which Jacob gave to his son, Joseph, who proved to be a savior of Egypt, and of his father's whole family. This is all very probable. For, only if the garments - swaddling clothes - meant something great to the shepherds, could they be a sign to them of the birth of the Messiah.

88. Commentary on the Book of Mormon 7:126; George Reynolds and Janne M. Sjodahl; 1968.

Luke, the Evangelist, who had his information from eyewitnesses to the historical beginning of Christianity, and who records incidents which only Mary, the Mother of Jesus, herself, could have told him, gives us a more detailed account of the epoch-making event than any other writer from that time.

One of his most precious bits of history is the well-known narrative of the experiences of the shepherds. They were keeping watch over their flocks during the night, at Bethlehem. Perhaps they were passing the time conversing about the Messiah and His Kinggdom, which were burning questions at that time. Suddenly they were surrounded by a bright light. They became frightened. In the light an angel appeared, who told them not to be afraid. He had come, he said, with tidings of great joy: "For unto you is born this day in the City of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." He also gave them a sign by which they would know the truth of this announcement: "YE SHALL FIND THE BABE WRAPPED IN SWADDLING CLOTHES LYING IN A MANGER." (Luke 28-12) And suddenly a heavenly choir was heard praising God: "GLORY TO GOD IN THE HIGHEST, AND ON EARTH PEACE, GOOD WILL TOWARD MEN."

The Angel who first appeared was, probably, Gabriel, the Angel of the annunciation. (Ibid., 1:26-27) Gabriel, we are told, is Noah, the second ancestor of the human race, who seems to have had a special mission at the time of the introduction of the Dispensation of the Meridian of Time, just as the Angel Moroni had in connection with the beginning of the Dispensation in which we live.

89. Doctrine and Covenants Commentary, pp. 69-70; Hyrum M. Smith & Janne M. Sjodahl; 1968.

The garments worn by the Priests consisted of linen drawers (Ex. 28:42) and a coat of fine linen, or cotten (Ex. 39:27), which, according to Josephus, reached to the feet, sat close to the body, had sleeves, and was girded to the chest by a girdle: it had an aperture for the head, and was tied with strings.

The dress of the High Priest was similar, but, in addition, he wore a robe, an ephod, a breastplate in which he carried the Urim and Thummim, and a mitre (Ex. 28:4; 29:9). There is a differece of opinion as to whether the ephod was a waistcoat or an apron.* The Urim and Thummim was carried in a pocket, called the "breastplate," either above or upon the ephod. This pocket was about nine inches square, and was adorned with twelve precious stones, on each of which was engraved the name of one of the twelve tribes of Israel.

* FOOTNOTE: Facsimile No. 3 in the Book of Abraham throws some light on the vestments of the bearers of the Priesthood in ancient times. Abraham is there depicted with a mitre, or crown, on his head, emblematic of the grand Presidency in heaven, or the Melchizedek Priesthood. Shulem wears an apron, and this may be emblematic of the Lesser Priesthood.

90. Doctrine and Covenants Commentary, p. 192, Note 6; Hyrum M. Smith & Janne M. Sjodahl; 1968 Revised Edition.

This expression [garments spotted with the flesh] is also found in Jude 23. The garment, a tunic worn next to the body, was thought of as polluted by indulgence in carnal sins, or defiled by the stains of diseases caused by transgression. The Elders of the Church were to cry repentance as the only means of salvation from the burning fires of the lusts of the flesh.

Dear Brethren:

We reiterate the instruction given in our letter of August 10, 1967 that sisters should be advised against wearing slacks or mini-skirts when going to the temple to receive their endowments or to do ordinance work for the dead.

There are also those of our brethen who sometimes go to the temple without a necktie or jacket and who otherwise are not properly groomed.

Temple patrons should bear in mind that they are visiting the house of the Lord and that they should wear clothing suitable for the occasion, such as they would wear when attending a sacrament meeting on Sunday.

We suggest that when interviewing brethren and sisters for recommends you kindly remind them of the sanctity of the temple and the propriety of being modestly dressed and properly groomed when they prepare to enter the temples of the Lord.

TO PRESIDENTS OF STAKES, BISHOPS OF WARDS
and PRESIDENTS OF MISSIONS

Dear Brethren:

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on the part of you brethren and young men who have received their endowments who may be called to serve in the military forces, we hereby confirm the observations heretofore given regarding the wearing of the temple garment.

1. The covenants taken in the temple incident and attached to the wearing of garments contemplate that they will be worn at all times. No exception to these covenants is found anywhere in the ceremonies. These covenants run between the one making them and the Lord. These covenants so made take on the nature of commandments of the Lord.

2. In the early days of the Church the Lord announced that where men prevented his Saints from carrying out the commandments he had given them, the Lord would relieve the Saints from rendering obedience to the commandment, and would visit the iniquity and transgression involved in such disobedience upon the heads of those who "hindered" his work. The Lord said this rule was given for the consolation of the Saints "who have been commanded to do a work and have been hindered by the hands of their enemies, and by oppression." (D&C 124:49 ff.)

3. Where the military regulations are of a character that "hinders", that is, makes impossible the wearing of the regulation garments, either in training on the drill grounds or in combat zones, effort should be made to wear underclothing that will approach as near as may be the normal garment.

Where military regulations require the wearing of two-piece underwear, such underwear should be properly marked, as if the articles were of the normal pattern. If circumstances are such that different underwear may be turned back to the wearer from that which he sends to the laundry, then the marks should be placed on small pieces of cloth and sewed upon the underwear while being worn, then removed when the underwear is sent to the laundry, and resewed upon the underwear returned.

The wearing of the normal garment should be resumed at the earliest possible moment.

4. Every effort should be made to protect the garments from the gaze and raillery of scoffers. This may cause considerable inconvenience at times, but tact, discretion, and wisdom can do much to alleviate this inconvenience. If the scoffing became unbearable and the wearer should decide that the Lord would consider he was really "hindered" by the scoffers from wearing the garments, and if he should therefore lay them aside, then the wearer should resume the wearing of the normal garment at the earliest possible moment.

A certain amount of curiosity and light comment may be frequently expected, wherever, for one cause or another, the garments are brought into view, but this is not the "hindering" of which the Lord spoke as excusing obedience.

The blessings flowing from the observance of covenants are sufficiently great to recompense for all mere inconveniences.

The wearing of the garment is the subject of direct covenant between the Lord and the covenant maker, who must determine to what extent he will keep his covenants. To break our covenants is to lose the protection and blessings promised from obedience thereto.

Brethren who have taken upon themselves the covenants of the temple and who are asked to perform baptisms for the living should not assume, because their clothes will get wet or for any other reason, that they should not wear garments under their white baptismal clothing. Regular garments are to be worn by everyone who has received his temple endowments, while performing baptisms.

TO PRESIDENTS OF STAKES, BISHOPS OF WARDS
AND PRESIDENTS OF MISSIONS

Dear Brethren: We reaffirm certain observations heretofore made with reference to the wearing of the temple garment by men in military service.

1. It should be definitely understood that all who have gone through the temple should wear and protect their garments as guardedly and sacredly as possible under all conditions. The covenants entered into in the temple contemplate that the garment will be worn at all times. These covenants run between the one makng them and the Lord.

Primarily, therefore, the wearing of the garment is an individual responsibility. Consequently, the conscience of the wearer must guide when circumstances seem to justify any modification of these sacred and binding obligations.

2. The sacredness of the garment should be ever present and uppermost in the wearer's mind. One way to protect this sacredness is to avoid exposing the garment to the view of scoffers. When conditions arise making such exposure unavoidable, it may be best to lay aside the garment reverently and then put it on again as soon as conditions permit.

Every wearer should bear in mind, however, that there may be considerable inconvenience attached to wearing the garment when one is not associating wholly with Latter-day Saints, but that such inconvenience is by itself neither reason nor justification for laying the garment aside. Tact, discretion, and wisdom can do much to allviate this inconvenience. The constant reminder which the wearing of the garment brings of obligations assumed in the temple is one of the greatest protections against sin.

3. In some areas and under some conditions military regulations require the wearing of two-piece underwear. The general observations set forth above should govern in these cases. If there are other circumstances on which the individual may wish counsel, he should feel free to write directly to the First Presidency.

4. When military regulations deprive the wearer of the privilege of the garment, such deprivation will in nowise affect the individual's religious status, living or dead, provided, of course, that his worthiness to wear the garment remains unchanged. Should an individual in military service be deprived of the right and privilege to wear the garment, because of military regulations or circumstances over which he has no control, it will be his privilege, right, and duty to wear it again as soon as circumstances permit.

5. In war zones military regulations sometimes require that all underwear be dyed an approved green color. Under these circumstances our men in military service should feel free to comply with the regulation.
6. Military authorities have warned that certain synthetic fibers, if worn next to the skin, may create serious hazards for airmen and others who in case of accident or other conditions may be exposed to fire. They have indicated that cotton is a much safer fabric to be worn for those so exposed. Our brethren should bear this in mind in securing garments.

We have been informed that there may be coming on the market in the near future fireproof fabrics which may be available to use for garment manufacture. If such developments occur, we shall advise you.

We remind our brethren that the blessings flowing from the observance of covenants are sufficiently great to recompense for any inconvenience. To break our covenants is to forfeit the protection and blessings promised from obedience thereto.

Sincerely your brethren,

96. Doctrinal New Testament Commentary, Vol 3:454-455; Bruce R. McConkie; 1970.

Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy. (Rev. 3:4)

Temple garments, garments of the holy priesthood, symbolical of the robes of righteousness with which the Saints must clothe themselves if they are to gain eternal life. Both literally and figuratively, TO DEFILE ONE'S GARMENTS is to disobey the Lord's Law, and to KEEP ONE'S GARMENTS (Rev. 16:15) is to keep the commandments and qualify for the ROBES OF RIGHTEOUSNESS THAT CLOTHE CELESTIAL BEINGS. Thus in the revealed prayer, offered at the dedication of the Kirtland Temple, the Prophet pleaded with the Lord for the Saints. "That our garments may be pure, that we may be clothed upon with robes of righteousness, with palms in our hands, and crowns of glory upon our heads, and reap eternal joy for all our sufferings." (D&C 109:76.)

Live with me in glory and be "even as I am." (3 Nephi 28:10.)

To All Stake and Mission Presidents
Dear Brethren:

Authorized Pattern Garments are an item of temple clothing. Certain regulations with regard to individuals making temple clothing as set forth in the leaflet, "Instructions for Making Temple Clothing - Clothing the Dead," apply equally to individuals making garments. We call to your attention the following regulations as applied to garments:

1. Individuals who have received their endowments who desire to make garments for themselves or a family member may do so.
2. Individuals, as such, are not authorized to make garments for sale.
3. The practice of a group of sisters meeting together to make garments is not approved. Should a sister need help in making garments, it would be given through the stake Relief Society president in the privacy of a home.
4. Because of the sacred character of garments, Relief Society Presidents should not permit Relief Society members to sew garments during a Relief Society meeting or a Relief Society gathering; nor should they sponsor or in any way participate in organizing sewing classes for making garments.
5. The Church does not issue patterns for garments, nor does it issue instructions for making them; neither does it issue to individuals the Approved Pattern label.

Any sister choosing to make garments for herself or family, using as a pattern a pair of garments bearing the Authorized Pattern label which she may have on hand, is reminded that the garment bearing the Authorized Pattern label is made according to specifications set by The First Presidency. There should be no modification in the design of a garment as approved by The First Presidency.

In the temples all are dressed alike in white. White is the symbol of purity. No unclean person has the right to enter God's house. Besides, the uniform dress symbolizes that before God our Father in heaven all men are equal. The beggar and the banker, the learned and the unlearned, the prince and the pauper sit side by side in the temple and are of equal importance if they live righteously before the Lord God, the Father of their spirits. It is spiritual fitness and understanding that one receives in the temple. All such have an equal place before the Lord.

100. The Ensign; "Some Things You Need To Know About The Temple", pp. 65- 66; Elder Elray L. Christiansen; January 1972.

People who enter the temple to be married or to participate in other sacred ordinances change from their everyday clothes to plain, clean white clothing. Elder Hugh B. Brown of the Council of the Twelve has suggested the reason for this:

Here we will not only lay aside the clothing of the street, but the thoughts of the street, and will try not only to clothe our bodies in clean white linen but our minds in purity of thought. May we profit by the spoken word and what is more lasting and more impressive, receive instructions from the Spirit.

All clothing necessary for participating in the temple ordinances is available at the temple. You will wish to discuss this with your bishop or branch president before going to the temple.

Dear President Schenk:

We enclose herewith copy of a letter addressed to President Joseph F. Smith from John J. Nolen, who given his address as 1318 Mary Drive, Edwardsville, Illinois. We also enclose carbon copy of our acknowledgment of his letter through our secretary, Elder Joseph Anderson. We are sending the letter to you so that you can counsel with this man.

For your information we may say that some years ago the First Presidency and the brethren of the Twelve authorized certain modifications in the style of the temple garment. These modifications consisted of the following changes: (1) collar eliminated, (2) closed crotch, (3) buttons instead of strings, (4) legs to knee, and (5) short sleeves.

It is the mind of the First Presidency and the Council of the Twelve that this modified garment may be used by those who desire to adopt it without voilating any covenant they make in the House of the Lord and with a clear conscience, so long as they keep the covenants which they have made. This modified garment does not supersede the old style garment. Either of these patterns may be worn, as Church members prefer, and those using either will not be out of harmony with the order of the Church.

However, in order that there may be uniformity in temple work and that expedition in the administration of the ordinances of the House of the Lord may not be impeded, the brethren have recommended that people doing temple work wear the old style garment.

102. Priesthood Bulletin, 9:1; "Wearing of Temple Garments by Unendowed Persons,"; December 1973.

In several instances reported recently, members have commenced to wear temple garments before being endowed. To help prevent this unauthorized practice, the First Presidency has issued the following instructions:

Those who go to the temple for the first time should purchase beforehand part of the temple clothing referred to as the temple garment, of a nonceremonial pattern, bearing the "approved pattern" label so that it can be worn upon leaving the temple. This garment should not be worn until after a member has completed the endowment in the temple.

103. Doctrinal New Testament Commentary, Vol 3:428; Bruce R. McConkie; 1973.

To stay the spread of disease in ancient Israel, clothing spotted by contagious diseases was destroyed by burning. (Lev. 13:47-59; 15:4-17.) And so with sin in the Church, the saints are to avoid the remotest contact with it; the very garments, as it were, of the sinners are to be burned with fire, meaning that anything which has had contact with the pollutions of the wicked must be shunned. And so also with those yet in the world who are invited to join the kingdom. To them the call is: Repent, "Save yourselves from this untoward generation, and come forth out of the fire, hating even the garments spotted with the flesh." (D&C 36:6.)

[White raiment in Rev. 3:18] The garments of the holy priesthood, the robes of righteousness; the clothing worn by exalted beings. Of the appearance of Moroni to him, the Prophet said, "He had on a loose robe of most exquisite whiteness. It was a whiteness beyond anything earthly I had ever seen; nor do I believe that any earthly thing could be made to appear so exceedly white and brilliant." (Jos. Smith 2:31)

105. Doctrinal New Testament Commentary, Vol 3:567; Bruce R. McConkie; 1973.

When the God of Battles comes to overthrow the wicked and bring peace to the earth, he "shall be red in his apparel, and his garments like him that treadeth in the wine-vat . . . . And his voice shall be heard: I have troden the wine-press alone, and have brought judgment upon all people; and none were with me; And I have trampled them in my fury, and I did tread upon them in mine anger, and their blood have I sprinkled upon my garments, and stained all my raiment, for this was the day of vengeance which was in my heart." (D&C 133:48-51; Isa. 63:1-6.) It is noteworthy that the armies who return with him shall be "white and clean," for in that day all victory and glory shall be attained by the word of his power.

Dear President Cracroft:

This is a reply to your letter of May 2, 1974, concerning the problem which Sister Helvi Temesevi has in wearing the temple garment due to her physical disability.

For your information we may say that individual saints are free to make such alterations in the garment as may be dictated by unusual physical handicaps or disabilities. Where there is a problem such as the one being experienced by Sister Temesevi, we have taken the position that such modification as may be necessary to accommodate the wearing of the garment to the special physical disability or handicap is permissible.

Sincerely yours,

GARMENT AND TEMPLE CLOTHING PROGRAM MEETING
October 3, 1975
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1. Question: Is it permissible to make copies of the instructions for making the men's one-piece suit and give them to each Ward Relief Society President?
Answer: No. The supervision of making the one-poiece temple suit is under the direction of the Stake Relief Society President, who has the instructions.
2. Question: Are all garment distribution centers to charge the same retail prices for garments shown on the price lists sent out by the Relief Society General Board?

Answer: Yes. Garments are to be sold for the same retail price worldwide.

3. Question: Is there a booklet available to instruct endowed members concerning the wearing of the sacred garments? If not, who is responsible for answering questions about how the sacred garments should be worn?

Answer: No. The regulations for the wearing of authorized pattern garments are set by the First Presidency of the Church. Full instructions with regard to this are given in the temple at the time one receives his or her endowments. Individual questions should be referred to his/her priesthood authority.

It is not within the jurisdiction of Relief Society to give instructions relative to the wearing of the garments or to authorize any modification of the instructions given by the First Presidency.

4. Question: When a garment representative fits the individual for garments before his/her endowments have been received, is it proper for the garment representative to tell him/her that the garment should fall to the knee?

Answer: Yes. It is permissible to inform patrons that the authorized pattern garment should fall to the knee.

5. Question: Our new stake presidency feels it is my job to tell the sisters that they are not supposed to take tucks in the legs of their garments or at the waistline to make them shorter. I feel this is not the responsibility of the Relief Society President. Will you clarify this for us?

Answer: See answer to question No. 3.

6. Question: May individuals purchase burial sets from local garment distributions centers?

Answer: Yes. Church members are free to purchase burial sets from any Relief Society Temple Clothing Center.

7. Question: May Ward Relief Society presidents obtain one men's and one women's burial set and store in a locked closet at the Church for emergencies?

Answer: It is preferred that burial sets be handled on a stake basis in order to rotate the burial clothing more frequently. A stake should keep on hand at least one man's and one woman's medium size burial set. In most instances two each of men's and women's burial sets should be kept on hand for emergencies, and reordered immediately upon their use in the stake.

Multiple centers should carry at least three medium and one large burial set for men and three medium sets for women. The medium size fits most individuals.

8. Question: May individuals be buried in their regular temple clothing that has been worn to the temple?

Answer: Yes, with the exception of the shoes. A special moccasin is used in place of the regular temple-wear shoe.

9. Question: May instructions for dressing the dead in the sacred clothing be mailed, and may they be included with the clothing that endowed members request before death in order to be sure they have it when needed?

Answer: Stake/mission/district Relief Society Presidents may request copies of "Directions for Clothing the Dead Who Have Received Their Endowments" to be mailed to them from the Relief Society General Board. These copies, however, are for distribution to ward and branch Relief Society presidents only, and are not to be included with burial clothing purchased by individuals.

10. Question: Whose responsibility is it to oversee the dressing of the endowed members for burial?

Answer: A deceased person who is to be dressed in temple-burial clothing may be dressed by a family member who has received his or her endowment. If a family requests dressing service from the Church, a man who has received his endowment would be assigned by the bishop to dress a man; a woman would be assiged by the Relief Society president to dress a woman.

In some areas only a licensed mortician, or his employee, is allowed to handle a deceased body. Where such a regulation exists, a member of the family or an appropriate person assigned by the Bishop or Relief Society president may carefully look over the clothing after the body is dressed to make sure that it has been properly placed on the body. Morticians have always been willing to cooperate in this matter. Some morticians permit a family member or an assigned person to be present at the time the temple clothing is placed on the body of the deceased person.

11. Question: May a class in proper procedure for dressing of the dead who have received their endowments be held for wards? There are some sisters who are not even aware that they would be dressed in the sacred clothing when they pass away.

Answer: It would not be necessary, as full instructions for dressing the dead may be obtained from the Relief Society General Board upon request from Stake Relief Society Presidents for distribution to the wards under their jurisdiction.

12. Question:How do you order emergency burial clothing?

Answer: Emergency orders for burial clothing are to be placed with Beehive Clothing Mills Mondays thru Fridays between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. MST (801) 486-2111. The Relief Society General Board will fill emergency orders for burial clothing on Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and evenings. Phone (810) 531- 2531. Tell the operator the call is for emergency burial clothing. Be sure to have the necessary measurements ready before making the call. Retail prices will be charged other distribution outlets by the Relief Society General Board Center, as they operate on a retail basis. The clothing will be sent the fastest way possible.

13. Question: Mortuaries place a protective plastic panty on bodies. Is it all right to place the sacred clothing over it?

Answer: Yes. In many cases this is necessary to protect the sacred clothing. It is also a law in some states.

14. Question: How do you dispose of worn or discarded garments and temple clothing?

Answer: Under no circumstances is the sacred clothing to be given to any organization, including the Deseret Industries. Garments and temple clothing that are freshly laundered and in good condition for wear, but for which an individual no longer has use, may be given to an endowed relative or to a bishop for welfare purposes.

When garments are too worn for use, the marks of the priesthood should be cut from the garment and either shredded with the scissors or burned. The fabric of which the garments were made then have no further significance as sacred clothing of the Church, and may be used for other purposes if desired, after rendering it unrecognizable as an article of clothing. The authorized pattern label in the garment should also be cut off and destroyed, or kept for future reference concerning size and style.

When discarding temple clothing, the significant identifying features of the robe, cap and veil are to be removed and destroyed. The fabric could then be cut so as not to be recognized as the sacred clothing and used for other purposes if desired.

When discarding the apron, the entire apron should be [illegible].

15. Question: What is the ruling on sisters making their own or their husband's temple garments?

Answer: Worthy individuals who have received their own endowments may make garments for themselves or a family member upon authorization of the stake or mission president.

The Church does not issue patterns for garments, nor does it issue instructions for making them. The individual would use a pair of garments bearing the Authorized Pattern label for a pattern. There should be no modification in the design or length of the sacred garment as specified by The First Presidency. Any violation of this regulation is an individual responsibility. Authorized Pattern Garments are an item of temple clothing, and the same regulations apply to them as set forth in the booklet, "Instructions for Making Temple Clothing and Clothing the Dead."

16. Question: Is it permissible for sisters to put zippers in garments, either for nursing purposes, or in the ceremonial garments to be worn to the temple?

Answer: Any modification of the authorized pattern garment is to [be] handled on an individual basis. Requests for modification of the sacred garment are to be submitted to the office of The First Presidency.

17. Question: Is it permissible for sisters to have a mini-class on temple clothing in a room away from other groups?

Answer: No. Temple clothing is not to be made in Relief Society meetings, gatherings, or special groups, and is not to be discussed in any such groups. Should a sister need help in making temple clothing, it would be given through the stake Relief Society president in the privacy of a home.

18. Question: When a stake included in a Multiple Distribution Center is divided, does the new stake Relief Society president become a member of the executive committee?

Answer: Yes, if there are less than five stakes in the multiple center. Otherwise, only three become members of the committee. Area Center committees are appointed by the Relief Society General Presidency.

19. Question: Is there any provision made for postage, envelopes, and occasional parcel post (returns) and other minor expenses for the Ward garment representatives?

Answer: Yes. The stake garment representative should send the ward garment representative a three months supply of self- addressed stamped envelopes, using stake garment funds. Ward garment representatives should be reimbursed by the stake garment representatives for other minor expenses related to the program.

20. Question: When garments are returned to the Beehive Clothing Mills due to a flaw, where do we get the postage money to return it to Salt Lake?

Answer: From the Stake Garment Fund.

21. Question: Does the patron pay the postage on burial sets?

Answer: Yes, if the burial clothing is mailed to the patron from a Relief Society Temple Clothing Center.

22. Question: How do mail-order stakes handle the charging of postage to patrons? They pay for the garments ahead of time -- but what about the postage? How do we know how much it will be?

Answer: A postage chart was sent to stakes, missions, and districts showing the amount of postage required for mailing garments from the various postal zones in the United States. If the full amount for postage is not remitted at the time of order, a note could be enclosed with the garments informing the patron of the postage due. Patrons usually respond.

23. Question: Who pays the postage for the garments and temple clothing mailed from the Beehive Clothiong Mills to the Relief Society outlet? Does the patron pay this as well as postage from the outlet to the individual?

Answer: The Beehive Clothing Mills includes the amount of postage paid for delivery to distribution outlets on the monthly statements. The Relief Society outlet pays the total amount of the statement, including the postage.

The patron pays the postage from the Relief Society outlet to the individual when it is necessary to mail it to him/her from the outlet.

24. Question: Are the new monthly report forms supposed to be completed as of the 25th of each month or the end of the month as previously done?

Answer: Monthly reports are to be completed and mailed by the 25th of each month in order to be included in the Financial Department's monthly computerized report of all Relief Society outlets.

25. Question: Do we ask the bank to use the 25th of each month as a cut-ff date for the bank statemtnt?

Answer: No. Use the Garment Account checkbook balance as of the date the report is prepared.

26. Question: Does the Relief Society President have to sign the monthly stake reports?

Answer: No, but the Relief Society president should be acquainted with the progress of the Garment and Temple Clothing Program in her stake/mission/district by periodically reviewing the reports.

27. Question: May we order special-made garments from a Relief Society Center instead of our garment representative if we feel it would be faster?

Answer: Yes. Either a garment representative or a Relief Society Center manager may order special-made garments for an individual. Care must be taken to be measured correctly as special made garments are not returnable. Patrons must be sure measurements are satisfactory before the order is placed. Special-made garments are only made in even numbers--two, four, six, etc., and take approximately six weeks for delivery. A file is kept in Relief Society outlets on special- made garments for future reference.

28. Question: What are we to do with obsolete items in our inventory that do not sell--such as skinny ties, flocked aprons and short dresses?

Answer: This must be handled on an individual Relief Society outlet basis by their submitting inventory of such items to the Relief Society General Board.

29. Question: May a sister order garments direct from the stake garment representative rather than to go through the ward representative if it is more convenient?

Answer: Yes. Individuals may purchase garments wherever it is most convenient, or may go through the stake garment representative if it is simpler to do so.

IMPORTANT NOTES:

Stake and Ward order books are to be ordered through the Beehive Clothing Mills at no charge.

Garment Ledgers and Cash Receipt and Cash Disbursement pages are to be ordered through the Relief Society General Board. The Ledger is $7.50, the Cash Reciept pages are 5c| each and Cash Disbursement pages 3c| each.

Sales slips are available through the Relief Society General Board. The blank heading tickets are $9.50 per thousand. Special sales slips for the larger Relief Society Centers with name, address and telephone numbers printed on them are to be ordered through the Relief Society. Allow approximately six weeks for delivery.

Whenever there is a change in garment representatives, the Beehive Clothing Mills is to be notified immediately, as orders will not be honored from garment representatives who have not been authorized in writing by the Relief Society presidents.

To: All Temple Presidents

Dear Brethren:

In the future, while involved in temple ordinances, patrons will have the option of wearing either the "approved style" garment (short sleeve and knee length) or the garment with the long sleeve and long leg.

Patrons receiving their initiatory ordinances may be clothed in their own "approved style" garment.

It is suggested that temple presidents not purchase any more of the long-sleeve, long-leg garments for rental purposes.

This may be announced to all temple workers and posted on the bulletin boards in the locker rooms. Notice is going forward to Stake, Mission, and District Presidents suggesting that they notify Bishops, Branch Presidents and other priesthood leaders. No other announcement or publicity is desired.

TO: ALL SUPERVISORS (Brethren and Sisters)

RE: Temple Garment

We have received a letter, of even date herewith, from The First Presidency, addressed to "All Temple Presidents", which, in part, reads as follows:

Gospel Mysteries

In the future, while involved in temple ordinances, patrons will have the option of wearing either the `approved style' garment (short sleeve and knee length) or the garment with the long sleeve and long leg.

Patrons receiving their initiatory ordinances may be clothed in their own `approved style' garment.

Notice of this change is going out from The First Presidency to Stake, Mission and District Presidencies, suggesting that they notify Bishops, Branch Presidents and other priesthood leaders. Consequently, patrons may come to the temple very soon, expecting to go into the initiatory ordinance room and on the session wearing the "approved style garment".

Therefore, effective immediately, patrons must be given the option of wearing either (1) the garment heretofore required in the temple or (2) the "approved style".

All temple workers should be familiar with this change in order that neither the temple worker nor the patron will be embarrassed or offended.

Supervisors are requested to read this bulletin in all meetings, beginning immediately, and to post same on the bulletin boards.

The letter from The First Presidency will be posted on bulletin boards and in the locker rooms of the temple.

112. General Handbook of Instructions, Number 21:46; 1976.

One who has received his temple endowment should wear regulation garments under his outer clothing while performing baptisms.

113. General Handbook of Instructions, Number 21:63-64; 1976.

Garments manufactured by an agency of the Church, bearing the authorized label, meet the proper specifications. Should it not be possible to secure such garments, then another one-piece style of underwear which conforms to the approved pattern and is properly marked may be worn. . . .

Individuals having received the endowment and having worn the garment then subsequently discontinued wearing it may, after they have fully repented, resume wearing it without going to the temple for authorization, provided they have not been excommunicated from the Church. Excommunicated persons may resume wearing the garment only after a restoration of their former blessings by a member of the First Presidency or Council of the Twelve. . . .

Patrons should wear clean, fresh garments when they go to the temple to participate in ordinance work.

When garments are too worn for use, they may be completely burned or the marks of the priesthood should be removed from them and burned or cut into small pieces. The garment should then be cut up so the location of the marks cannot be identified. The fabrics of which garments were made have no further significance as sacred clothing.

Garments and temple clothing that are freshly laundered and in good condition for wear, but for which the individual no longer has use, may be given to a worthy, endowed Church member or sent to the bishops storehouse for distribution. Under no circumstances should this clothing be sent to the Deseret Industries for resale. Worn out robes, aprons, and other items should be burned.

Many of the garments (with the exception of cotton garments) are being marked electronically. As a result, the material is not cut, nor is there a need for backing.

This procedure has been approved by the First Presidency, and members, when inquiring, should be assured that the marking is proper and that they have no need to communicate with the Relief Society Distribution Center.

December 15, 1979

To: Executive Administrators, Regional Representatives, Stake, Mission, and District Presidents, Bishops, Branch Presidents and Temple Presidents

Dear Brethren:

After due consideration the First Presidency and Council of the Twelve have approved and authorized the Beehive Clothing Mills to manufacture two-piece garments for both men and women. These garments will be in addition to the one-piece garments. Distribution will be handled by the Relief Society through normal channels starting as soon as inventories can be made available which is now estimated to be around February 15. The total price for both pieces will be about the same as the price for the one-piece garment.

As is now the case, each person who wears the garment is answerable to the Lord for properly wearing and caring for it.

Announcements in the ward or branch may be made by the bishop or branch president in Relief Society and Priesthood gatherings any time after January 1, 1980.

Sincerely your brethren,

116. The Holy Temple, p. 79; Boyd K. Packer; 1980.

The garment, covering the body, is a visual and tactile reminder of our covenants. For many Church members the garment has formed a barrier of protection when the wearer has been faced with temptation. Among other things it symbolizes our deep respect for the laws of God - among them the moral standard.

117. The Mortal Messiah, Vol 2:295-296; Bruce R. McConkie; 1980.

From the beginning the garments of the saints, have enjoyed a special and sacred place in true worship. They cover that nakedness which when exposed leads to lewd and lascivious conduct. They stand as a symbol of modesty and decency and are a constant reminder to true believers of the restraints and controls placed by a divine providence upon their acts. Adam and Eve made for themselves aprons of fig leaves to cover their nakedness and preserve their modesty. The Lord himself made coats of skins to cover the bodies of our first parents, that they, being clothed and wholesome before him, might attain those feelings which foster reverence and worship.

And the Lord Jehovah commanded Moses to direct the children of Israel, through all their generations, to "make them fringes (tassels) in the borders (corners) of their garments, . . . and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribband of blue." Why and of what moment was such a dress code? We can see how the dress standards given to Adam and Eve taught modesty and placed the new mortals in a frame of mind to live and worship by proper standards. Immodest, ornate, and worldly dress is an invitation to unclean thoughts and immoral acts, which are foreign to that conduct and worship desired by Him whose we are. But why such minutely prescribed dress requirements as these given to ancient Israel? Jehovah gives the answer: "It shall be unto you for a fringe, that ye may look upon it, and remember all the commandments of the Lord, and do them; and that ye seek not after your own heart and your own eyes, after which ye use to go a whoring." That is; "Your garments, your clothing, shall be a shield and a protection to you. They shall cover your nakedness and keep from you the lusts of the eyes and the lusts of the flesh, and the special adornments on them shall remind you continually to walk as becommeth saints." All this is to be, Jehovah decreed, "That ye may remember, and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God." (Num 15:37-41)

Now we see Jehovah, as Jesus, ministering personally among the people, and - we cannot doubt - dressed in the manner in which he himself had of olden times decreed that faithful Israelites should dress. And now we see Veronica - if so she may be called - looking upon the fringes of his garments; remem0bering the ancient covenant that by so doing she was agreeing to keep the commandments; and feeling within herself that if she but touched the sacred fringes on the garments of him whom she accepted as God's Son, surely she would be healed. That such a desire should enter her heart was, under all the circumstances, both natural and proper. It was a sign - not of belief in magic or relics or any special power in the clothing itself, but of a faith in him who wore the garments and who had designed them in such a way as to remind his people of their covenant to keep his commandments.

And so, she "Came Behind Him, AND TOUCHED THE BORDER OF HIS GARMENT: and immediately her issue of blood stanched." She was healed; she felt it in her body; her organs began to function according to the original plan and purposes of the great Creator; the hemorrhaging fountain of affffliction no longer flowed. Overcome with emotion and gratitude she slipped back into the throng without a word.

"And Jesus, immediately knowing in himself that virtue had gone out of him, turned him about in the press, and said, Who touched my clothes?" There were immediate denials on the part of the disciples. Peter said, "Master, the multitude throng thee and press thee, and sayest thou, Who touched me?" (Luke 8:45)

This question - "WHO TOUCHED ME?" - was asked not to gain information, but to encourage the timid suppliant to identify herself and to bear testimony of the healing power that came into her life. And she, seeing her act was not hidden from him by whose power she was now made whole, came forward - trembling, fearful, grateful - fell as his feet, and declared to him and to all "for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately." Jesus confirmed how and in what manner and by what means she had been blessed. "Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole," he said, "go in peace, and be whole of thy plague." (Luke 8:48)

Soon, however, all flesh shall see Him together. All knees shall bow in His presence, and all tongues confess His name. (See D&C 76:110-111; Philip 2:10-11.) Knees which never before have assumed that posture for that purpose will do so then - and promptly. Tongues which have never before spoken His name except in gross profanity will do so then - and worshipfully.
Soon, He who was once mockingly dressed in purple will come again, attired in red apparel, reminding us whose blood redeemed us. (see D&C 133:48-49.)

TEMPLE GARMENT FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL: The First Presidency has approved a crew-neck top for the two piece temple garment for men serving in the military forces. This top meets military requirements to wear crew-neck T-shirts. The new top is 100 percent cotton. It is available through the Beehive Clothing distribution center only and may be purchased in person or by mail order as a special order item at Beehive Clothing, 1665 Bennett Boad, P.O. Box 27287, Salt Lake City, Utah 84217. The cost is $2.65 each, plus shipping charges if ordered by mail. At present, these tops will be sold only to members serving in the military forces, including active duty, reserve, and National Guard components, due to limited quantities available. Proof of military status will be required at the time of purchase. For mail orders, a photostatic copy of the member's military identification card or certification of military status by his military commander, bishop, LDS chaplain, group leader, or other military or Church official will serve as proof. As soon as production permits, the top will be available in all Beehive Clothing distribution centers for all members. Please convey this information to members serving in the military forces.

122. General Handbook of Instructions, p. 32; 1983.

The person who performs the baptism should wear white clothing that does not appear transparent when it is wet. An endowed person should wear temple garments under his outer clothing while performing baptisms.

123. General Handbook of Instructions, p. 38; 1983.

CLOTHING FOR TEMPLE VISITS

Brethren should wear clothing that is appropriate for sacrament meeting when they go to the temple.

While performing temple ordinances, brethren wear approved garments and either the approved one-piece white suit (white tie is optional) or white trousers with a long-sleeved white shirt and white tie. They also wear white stockings and white shoes or slippers with white, light tan, or gray soles.

Sisters should not wear slacks when they go to the temple. They should dress modestly. If they wear hats or head scarves, they should remove them at the temple entrance.

Sisters may wear plain combs, small barrettes, and white ribbons in the temple to keep their hair in place. Hairstyles, makeup, and nail polish should be conservative. Heavy makeup, loud colors, and large and ornate jewelry are out of place.

White performing temple ordinances, sisters wear approved garments and a white dress with long sleeves and a modestly high neckline. They should also wear white hose and white shoes or slippers with low or medium heels and white, light tan, or gray soles.

Brides may wear their wedding dresses in the temple. They should be white, have long sleeves and modestly high necklines, and have all sheer materials lined. Brides may wear their wedding dresses during the endowment session but must remove the trains for the session. They may not wear gowns with long dress pants in the temple.

Children must wear white clothing in the temple.

The temple furnishes temple clothing without charge to missionaries who receive their own endowments and while they are in a Missionary Training Center.

Members may rent temple clothing, including shoes, brides' dresses, and clothing for children at the temple for a small fee. Members may bring their own temple clothing if it meets temple requirements.

GARMENTS AND TEMPLE CLOTHING

Wearing Garments

Endowed members are to wear garments in styles the Church has approved.

An endowed member who stops wearing garments, but who has not been excommunicated, may begin wearing them again without permission. A person who has been excommunicated is authoirzed to wear garments again only after a General Authority has restored his blessings. He should begin wearing them immediately, without waiting to go to the temple.

Making Temple Clothing

Worthy members who have received their endowment or have a temple recommend to receive their own endowment may make their own temple clothing, including the one-piece white suits for men. They should make them as instructed in Instructions for Making Temple Clothing, which is available from the Relief Society general office.

Neither individual members nor commercial firms may make and sell temple clothing. The First Presidency must approve any exceptions.

Disposing of Garments and Temple Clothing

Members should remove the marks from worn-out garments and burn the marks or cut them into small pieces. They then should cut up the garment so the location of the marks cannot be identified. The remaining fabric of the garments then is no longer considered sacred.

Members should burn worn-out temple clothing or alter it so the original use cannot be recognized.

Members may give garments and temple clothing that are in good condition to a worthy endowed member or to a bishop's storehouse. Under no circumstances should members send garments or temple clothing to Deseret Industries or charities for resale.

THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS
The Presiding Bishopric
50 East North Temple Street, Salt Lake City, Utah 84150
February 23, 1983

To: General Authorities; Regional Representatives; Stake, Mission, and District Presidents; Bishops, and Branch Presidents in the United States (Except Utah, Idaho and Wyoming)

Dear Brethren:

Telephone Ordering Procedure for Garments and Temple Clothing

We are pleased to announce that Beehive Clothing Mills has arranged a telephone system for ordering garments and temple clothing. After April 1, 1983, members may place individual orders on a toll-free telephone line.

A sample order form with necessary instructions is attached. A supply of order forms is being furnished to each bishop and branch president. We encourage each bishop and branch president to keep the order forms and give them to members who desire to order by telephone. Additional order forms may be obtained from the Salt Lake Distribution Center.

We believe this service will offer an efficient and convenient system for members to purchase garments and temple clothing. Please inform the members in your units about this new service.

Sincerely your brethren,
THE PRESIDING BISHOPRIC

125. Relief Society Handbook, p. 28; 1983.

SACRED CLOTHING

Making Temple Clothing

The Relief Society General Office distributes two copies of Instructions for Making Temple Clothing to stake Relief Society presidents and to mission presidents. These instructions should be carefully safeguarded. One copy is to be kept on file. The other copy may be loaned to individuals who have received their endowments and who desire to make their own or their family's temple clothing. Individuals are not authorized to make temple clothing for sale.

Clothing The Dead

Two copies of Instructions for Clothing the Dead are distributed to stake Relief Society presidents and to stake and mission presidents. Ward or stake Relief Society presidents, stake presidents, or bishops may request additional copies of this information from the Relief Society General Office.

Church distribution centers do not carry burial clothing for infants or children. If the need should arise, the local Relief Society could help the family obtain appropriate clothing. The Church has not given regulations for dressing infants, children, or unendowed members for burial.

QUOTATIONS ON "GATE"
FROM MORMON DOCTRINE

Compiled by
1986

[The point being made here, is baptism does not admit a person within the first level of the Celestial Kingdom, and temple marriage does not admit a person into exaltation. It only puts a person on the path leading to that kingdom.]

1. BAPTISM, p. 70 [Notice his meaning of the word "gate". It is the gate to the path.]

Baptism serves four purposes: 1. It is for the remission of sins. 2. It admits the repentant person to membership in the Church and kingdom of God on earth. 3. It is the gate to the celestial kingdom of heaven, that is, it starts a person out on the straight and narrow path which leads to eternal life. 4. It is the means whereby the door to personal sanctification is opened.

2. CELESTIAL KINGDOM, pp. 116-118[Again notice his definition of "gate". The gate puts a person on the path leading to the celestial kingdom.]

An inheritance in this glorious kingdom is gained by complete obedience to gospel or celestial law. By entering the gate of repentance and baptism candidates find themselves on the strait and narrow path leading to the celestial kingdom. By devotion and faithfulness, by enduring to the end in righteousness and obedience, it is possible to merit a celestial reward. (p. 116) * * *

"In the celestial glory there are three heavens or degrees," and in the same sense that baptism starts a person out toward an entrance into the celestial world, so celestial marriage puts a couple on the path leading to an exaltation in the highest heaven of that world. (p. 117) * * *

Baptism is the gate to the celestial kingdom; celestial marriage is the gate to an exaltation in the highest heaven within the celestial world. To gain salvation after baptism it is necessary to keep the commandments of God and endure to the end (2 Ne 31:17-21); to gain exaltation after celestial marriage the same continued devotion and righteousness is required. (p. 118) [Without Elder McConkie's previous definition of "gate", a person might construe that baptism grants entrance into the celestial kingdom.]

3. CHURCH OF THE FIRSTBORN, p. 139

Members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints who so devote themselves to righteousness that they receive the higher ordinances of exaltation become members of the Church of the Firstborn. Baptism is the gate to the Church itself, but celestial marriage is the gate to membership in the Church of the Firstborn, the inner circle of faithful saints who are heirs of exaltation and the fulness of the Father's kingdom.

4. EXALTATION, p. 257

Celestial marriage is the gate to exaltation, and exaltation consists in the continuation of the family unit in eternity. Exaltation is eternal life, the kind of life which God lives.

5. JOINT-HEIRS WITH CHRIST, p. 395

Joint-heirs are possessors of all things. All things are theirs for they have exaltation. They are made "equal" with their Lord. They gain all power both in heaven and on earth and receive the fulness of the Father, and all knowledge and truth are theirs. They are gods. Celestial marriage is the gate to this high state of exaltation.

6. TEMPLE ORDINANCES, p. 779

Baptism for the dead, an ordinance opening the door to the celestial kingdom to worthy persons not privileged to undergo gospel schooling while in mortality, is a temple ordinance, an ordinance of salvation. All other temple ordinances -- washings, anointings, endowments, sealings pertain to exaltation within the celestial kingdom. Celestial marriage is the gate which puts men on the path leading to the highest of three heavens within the celestial world. (D&C 131:1-4)

How We May Know What God Is Like

In the Sacred Grove interview with the Eternal Father, the Prophet Joseph Smith, as had Moses of old, talked face to face with God, and was introduced to God the Son, the Redeemer of the world, as the Only Begotten, meaning only begotten in the flesh, and beloved Son of God the Father, whom John described as the "Word," who was God, and was with God in the beginning. Concerning this it was revealed to Joseph Smith that the Lord was the firstborn of the Father in the pre-mortal estate.

Thus, Jesus Christ is the Son of God, being the first born, as to his spirit person birth, and the Only Begotten, as to his birth in the flesh. We also are the sons and daughters of God the Eternal Father. We can, upon that reasoning, understand something about what God is like, for there is an eternal principle in heaven and on earth that every seed begets of its kind, every seed brings forth in its own likeness and character. This confirms the scriptural declarations that man is created in the image of God. (ARD p. 90.)

The Species Of Gods

Associated with God the Eternal Father, who presides at the center of all intelligence and wisdom referred to scripturally as "the throne of God," are other gods of the same species, within the same realm of glory as he who presides. This is a condition of being and existence obtainable through the very processes of mortality and its subsequent glorified immortality. Both ancient and modern revelation from God establish this as the fact.

"God himself," taught the Prophet Joseph Smith, "was once as we are now, and is an exalted man,... that is the great secret. If the veil were rent today, and the great God who holds this world in its orbit, and who upholds all worlds and all things by his power, was to make himself visible,–I say, if you were to see him today, you would see him like a man in form–like yourselves in all the person, image, and very form as a man." (DHC, Joseph Smith, Vol. 6, p. 305.)

When we look upon the human face we look upon the likeness of our Father and God.
God the Father, is an individual, and personality, as are all of the species of Gods who dwell and associate with him. But he is over all. These glorified nobles dwell in tabernacles of flesh and bones. Their bodies are different than mortal bodies, in that they possess bodies which have been quickened by the spirit and are thus glorified. Such celestialized bodies are not governed by the same laws as those by which earthly bodies are governed. (ARD p. 178.)

How God Became God

But, if God is an individual spirit and dwells in a glorified resurrected body, the question will arise, "Is he the Eternal Father?" Yes, he is the Eternal Father. "Is it a fact that he never had a beginning?" In the elementary parts of his organism, he did not. But is he is an organized Being, there must have been a time when that being was organized. This, some will say, would infer that God had a beginning. This spirit which pervades all things, which is the light and life of all things, by which our Heavenly Father operates, by which he is omnipotent, never had a beginning and never will have an end. It is the light of truth; it is the spirit of intelligence. The Prophet Joseph Smith made this statement which gives further enlightenment on this subject:

"I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity. I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.
... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another; and that he was once a man like us; yes that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did." (DHC, VOL. VI, p. 205.)

A revelation from God establishes this fact. "Intelligence or the light of truth never was created, neither indeed can be." (D&C 93:29.) And we are told further that this Spirit, when it is manifest, is God moving in his glory. Now, this Spirit always existed. It always operated, but it is not understood, and cannot be comprehended except through organisms–(meaning its enclosure in organized bodies). (J of D, Chas. W. Penrose, Vol. 26, p. 23.) HEARING THE VOICE OF GOD

1. Revelations 3:20-21

Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.
To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.

2. D&C 1:14

And the arm of the Lord shall be revealed [at the veil]; and the day cometh that they who will not hear the voice of the Lord [at the veil], neither the voice of his servants, neither give heed to the words of the prophets and apostles, shall be cut off from among the people.

3. D&C 29:7

And ye are called to bring to pass the gathering of mine elect; for mine elect hear my voice and harden not their hearts.

4. D&C 88:85

Verily I say unto you, let those who are not the first elders continue in the vineyard until the mouth of the Lord shall call them, for their time is not yet come; their garments are not clean from the blood [and sins] of this generation.

5. Enos 4-6, 10

And my soul hungered; and I kneeled down before my Maker, and I cried unto him in mighty prayer and supplication for mine own soul; and all the day long did I cry unto him; yea, and when the night came I did still raise my voice high that it reached the heavens.
And there came a voice unto me, saying: Enos, thy sins are forgiven thee, and thou shalt be blessed.
And I, Enos, knew that God could not lie; wherefore, my guilt was swept away.
And while I was thus struggling in the spirit, behold, the voice of the Lord came into my mind again saying: I will visit thy brethren according to their diligence in keeping my commandments.
6. 3 Nephi

And it came to pass that there was a voice heard among all the inhabitants of the earth, upon all the face of this land. . . . (9:1)
And now behold, it came to pass that all the people of the land did hear these sayings, and did witness of it. And after these sayings there was silence in the land for the space of many hours. . . . (10:1)
And it came.to pass that there came a voice again unto the people, and all the people did hear, and did witness of it. . . .(10:3)

And now it came to pass that there were a great multitude gathered together, of the people of Nephi, round about the temple which was in the land Bountiful . . . and it came to pass that while they were thus conversing one with another, they heard a voice as if it came out of heaven; and they cast their eyes round about, for they understood not the voice which they heard; and it was not a harsh voice, neither was it a loud voice; nevertheless, and notwithstanding it being a small voice it did pierce them that did hear to the center, insomuch that there was no part of their frame that it did not cause to quake; yea, it did pierce them to the very soul, and did cause their hearts to burn.
And it came to pass that again they heard the voice, and they understood it not.
And again the third time they did hear the voice, and did open their ears to hear it; and their eyes were towards the sound thereof; and they did look steadfastly towards heaven, from whence the sound came.
And behold, the third time they did understand the voice which they heard; and it said unto them:
Behold my Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased, in whom I have glorified my name---hear ye him. (11:1,3-7)

7. Mosiah 26:13-36

And now the spirit of Alma was again troubled; and he went and inquired of the Lord what he should do concerning this matter, for he feared that he should do wrong in the sight of God.
And it came to pass that after he had poured out his whole soul to God, the voice of the Lord came to him, saying:
Blessed art thou, Alma, and blessed are they who were baptized in the waters of Mormon. Thou art blessed because of thy exceeding faith in the words alone of my servant Abinadi. ***
Thou art my servant; and I covenant with thee that thou shalt have eternal life; and thou shalt serve me and go forth in my name, and shalt gather together my sheep. And he that will hear my voice shall be my sheep; and him shall ye receive into the church, and him will I also receive. (20-21)
Therefore I say unto you, that he that will not hear my voice, the same shall ye not receive into my church, for him 1 will not receive at the last day (28).

8. Alma 5:15-16

Do ye exercise faith in the redemption of him who created you? Do you look forward with an eye of faith, and view this mortal body raised in immortality, and this corruption raised in incorruption, to stand before God to be judged according to the deeds which have been done in the mortal body?
I say unto you, can you imagine to yourselves that ye hear the voice of the Lord, saying unto you, in that day: Come unto me ye blessed, for behold, your works have been the works of righteousness upon the face of the earth?

9. Helaman 10:2-5

And it came to pass that Nephi went his way towards his own house, pondering upon the things which the Lord had shown unto him.
And it came to pass as he was thus pondering---being much cast down because of the wickedness of the people of the Nephites, their secret works of darkness, and their murderings, and their plunderings, and all manner of iniquities---and it came to pass as he was thus pondering in his heart, behold, a voice came unto him saying:

Blessed art thou, Nephi, for those things which thou hast done; for I have beheld how thou hast with unwearyingness declared the word, which I have given unto thee, unto this people. And thou hast not feared them, and hast not sought thine own life, but hast sought my will, and to keep my commandments. And now, because thou hast done this with such unwearyingness, behold, I will bless thee forever; and I will make thee mighty in word and in deed, in faith and in works; yea, even that all things shall be done unto thee according to thy word, for thou shalt not ask that which is contrary to my will.

10. Moses

And they [Adam & Eve] heard the voice of the Lord God, as they were walking in the garden, in the cool of the day; and Adam and his wife went to hide themselves from the presence of the Lord God amongst the trees of the garden. And I, the Lord God, called unto Adam [3 times], and said unto him: Where goest thou? And he said: I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I beheld that I was naked [without a protective covering of glory], and I hid myself [so that I might not be destroyed in thy presence]. (4:14–16)
And Adam & Eve, his wife, called upon the name of the Lord, and they heard the voice of the Lord from the way toward the Garden of Eden, speaking unto them, and they saw him not; for they were shut out from his presence.
And after many days an angel of the Lord appeared unto Adam saying: Why dost thou offer sacrifices unto the Lord? And Adam said unto him: I know not, save the Lord commanded me. (5:4, 6)
And it came to pass that Enoch journeyed in the land, among the people; and as he journeyed, the Spirit of God descended out of heaven, and abode upon him. And he heard a voice from heaven, saying: Enoch, my son, prophesy unto this people, and say unto them---Repent. . . . (6:26–27)

HEARING THE VOICE OF GOD

1. Life of Heber C. Kimball, n. 241, by Orson F. Whitney; Time of event: April 6, 1839; Far West, Missouri. See also The Words of Joseph Smith, Ehat & Cook, n. 18, note #6.

My family having been gone about two months, during which time I heard nothing from them; our brethren being in prison; death and destruction following us everywhere we went; I felt very sorrowful and lonely. The following words came to my mind and the Spirit said unto me. "Write" which I did by taking a piece of paper and writing on my knee as follows:

Verily I say unto my servant Heber, thou art my son, in whom I am well pleased; for thou art careful to hearken to my words, and not transgress my law, nor rebel against my servant Joseph Smith, for thou hast a great respect to the words of mind anointed, even from the least to the greatest of them; therefore thy name is written in heaven, no more to be blotted out for ever, because of these things; and this Spirit and blessing shall rest down upon thy posterity for ever and ever; for they shall be called after thy name, for thou shalt have many more sons and daughters, for thy seed shall be as numerous as the sands upon the sea shore; therefore, my servant Heber, be faithful, go forth in my name and I will go with you, and be on your right hand and on your left and my angels shall go before you and raise you up when you are cast down and afflicted; remember that I am always with you, even to the end.

2. Teachings of the Prophet Joseph Smith, p. 150; Comp. by Joseph Fielding Smith; 1966 ed.; June 27, 1839. Instructions given by the Prophet Joseph Smith concerning various doctrines.

The other Comforter spoken of is a subject of great interest, and perhaps understood by few of this generation. After a person has faith in Christ, repents of his sins, and is baptized for the remission of his sins and receives the Holy Ghost, (by the laying on of hands), which is the first Comforter, then let him continue to humble himself before God, hungering and thirsting after righteousness, and living by every words of God, and the Lord will soon say unto him, Son, thou shalt be exalted. When the Lord has thoroughly proved him, and finds that the man is determined to serve Him at all hazards, then the man will find his calling and his election made sure, then it will be his privilege to receive the other Comforter, which the Lord hath promised the Saints, as is recorded in the testimony of St. John, in the 14th chapter, from the 12th to the 27th verses.

3. Teachings of the Prophet Joseph Smith, pp. 298-299; History of the Church, Vol. 5:387-390; May 14, 1843.

Calling and Election

Now, there is some grand secret here, and keys to unlock the subject. Notwithstanding the apostle exhorts them to add to their faith, virtue, knowledge, temperance, etc., yet he exhorts them to make their calling and election sure. And though they had heard an audible voice from heaven bearing testimony that Jesus was the Son of God, yet he says we have a more sure word of prophecy, whereunto ye do well that ye take heed as unto a light shining in a dark place. Now, wherein could they have a more sure word of prophecy than to hear the voice of God saying, This is my beloved Son.
Now for the secret and grand key. Though they might hear the voice of God and know that Jesus was the Son of God, this would he no evidence that their election and calling was made sure, that they had part with Christ, and were joint heirs with him. They then would want that more sure word of prophecy, that they were sealed in the heavens and had the promise of eternal life in the kingdom of God. Then, having this promise sealed unto them, it was an anchor to the soul, sure and steadfast. Though the thunders might roll and lightnings flash, and earthquakes bellow, and war gather thick around, yet this hope and knowledge would support the soul in every hour of trial, trouble and tribulation. Then knowledge through our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ is the grand key that unlocks the glories and "mysteries of the kingdom of heaven. . . .
Then I would exhort you to go on and continue to call upon God until you make your calling and election sure for yourselves, by obtaining this more sure word of prophecy, and wait patiently for the promise until you obtain it, etc.

4. The Words of Joseph Smith, p. 201, by Ehat & Cook; An original version of the discourse; May 14, 1843.

Though they might hear the voice of God and know that Jesus was the Son of God this would be no evidence that their election & Calling was made sure--that they had part with Christ and was a joint heir with him. They then would want that more sure word of Prophecy that they were sealed in the heavens and had the promise of eternal life in the kingdom of God. Then having this promise sealed unto them it was as an anchor to the soul, sure and steadfast.

5. Teachings of the Prophet Joseph Smith, pp. 305-306; History of the Church, Vol. 5:401-403; May 21, 1843.

Calling and Election to be Made Sure

We have no claim in our eternal compact, in relation to eternal things, unless our actions and contracts and all things tend to this. But after all this, you have got to make your calling and election sure. If this injunction would lie largely on those to whom it was spoken, how much more those of the present generation!
1st key: knowledge is the power of salvation. 2nd key: Make your calling and election sure. 3rd key: It is one thing to be on the mount and hear the excellent voice, etc., and another to hear the voice declare to you, You have a part and lot in that kingdom.

6. The Words of Joseph Smith, p. 208, by Ehat & Cook; An original copy of the May 21st, 1843 discourse.

It is one thing to receive knowledge by the voice of God ([to hear the words as Peter, James and John did on the Mount of Transfiguration] "This is my beloved Son, etc.) and another [thing] to know that you yourself will be saved.

To have a positive promise of your own salvation is making your Calling and Election sure, viz., [by hearing] the voice of Jesus saying [to you], "My beloved, thou shalt have eternal life." Brethren never cease struggling until You get this evidence. Take heed both before and after obtaining this more sure word of Prophecy.

7. The Promised Messiah, p. 575; by Elder Bruce R. McConkie; 1978 ed.

After the true saints receive and enjoy the gift of the Holy Ghost; after hey know how to attune themselves to the voice of the Spirit; after they mature spiritually so that they see visions, work miracles, and entertain angels; after they make their calling and election sure and prove themselves worthY of every trust---after all this and more---it becomes their right and privilege to see the Lord and commune with him face to face.

8. The Ensign/May 1984, p. 32; Discourse by Elder Bruce R. McConkie at General Conference, April, 1984.

It is pleasing to that God whose we are when we fast and pray and seek his blessings; when we plead with all the energy of our souls for those things we so much desire; when, as Paul says, we "come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need." (Heb. 4:16)
In prayer we speak to the Lord, and he speaks to us. It is our privilege to have our voices heard in the courts above and to hear the answering voice of the Lord conveyed by the power of his Spirit.
Prayer changes our lives. Through it we draw near to the Lord, and he reaches out his finger and touches us, so we never again are the same.

FILE:#22 GOD= ETERNAL FATHER AND ETERNAL MOTHER

"God" = Eternal Father and Eternal Mother:

What is a good basis for imagining eternal marriage, then? The plain scriptures, I believe. In the first place, modern scriptures and revelations suggest quite plainly that we would more accurately and profitably read the scriptural references to "God" as meaning God the eternal partnership of Heavenly Father and Heavenly Mother. They have a more perfect unity even than that of God and Christ and the Holy Ghost, and so the word God implies both of them, at least as much as it denotes the three beings in the classical Christian trinity called "God".

Such a more correct identification of "God" might help us better comprehend the direct role our Heavenly Mother played in our creation and salvation. When we read in Genesis that God said, "Let us create man in our image," it makes most sense to read it as God the Father and God the Mother speaking as One. When we read in John that God sent His only begotten Son to save us, it would be better to understand, as it certainly makes more sense, that our Heavenly Parents sent Their only begotten Son. This process is truer to the evidence -- and to our real needs as men and women -- than looking for a female God between the lines in the scriptures or in apocryphal works of mythologies, as many feminist theologians are doing. It might help us better imagine our futures as husbands and wives, equally yoked in what Shakespeare called "the marriage of true minds" -- and to work toward that future now. Second, modern revelation tells us that when God put "man" on the earth, "in the image of mine Only Begotten created I him; male and female created I them." (Moses 2:27.) Clearly men and woman were both created in the "image" of Christ. That would seem to mean we are created in the image of the Heavenly Parents who together make up the "God" whom Christ came to reveal, that is, the perfect eternal partnership He came to teach us how to achieve and to show us in His life and character what we would be like when we achieved it. (Becoming Bone of Bone and Flesh of Flesh by Eugene England, As Women of Faith, Talks selected from the BYU Women's Conferences, Edited by Mary E. Stoval and Carol Cornwall Madsen, Deseret Book Company, p. 110-111.)

...Those women who go on to thir exaltation, ruling and reigning with husbands who are kings and priests, will themselves be queens and priestes. They will hold positions of power, authority, and perferment in eternity. (Gospel Kingdom, pp. 221-222, 229.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 596.)

If righteous men have power through the gospel and its crowning ordiance of celestial marriage to become kings and priests to rule in exaltation forever, it follows that the women by their side (without whom they cannot attain exaltation) will be queens and priestesses. (Rev. 1:6; 5:10) Exaltation grows out of the eternal union of a man and his wife. Of those whose marriage endures in eternity, the Lord says "Then shall they be gods" (D. & C. 132:20); that is , each of them, the man and the woman, will be a god. As such they will rule over their dominions forever. [Explain the word Elohim.] (Mormon Doctrine, p.613.)

Holy women
The Lord never sends apostles and prophets and righteous men to minister to his people without placing women of like spiritual stature at their sides. Adam stands as the great high priest, under Christ, to rule as a natural patriarch over all men of all ages, but he cannot rule alone; Eve, his wife, rules at his side, having like caliber and attainments to his own. Abraham is tested as few men have been when the Lord commands him to offer Isaac upon the altar (Gen. 22:1-19); and sarah struggles with like problems when the Lord directs that she withhold from the Egyptians her status as Abraham's widfe. (Abra. 2:21-25; Gen. 12:7-20.) Isaac gains from the Lord the promise that his seed shall "multiply as the stars of heaven" (Gen. 26:1-4); and Rebekah, his wife, receives a blessing of her own in which she is promised that she shall be "the mother of thousands of millions.: (Gen. 24:59-60.) And so it goes, in all dispensations and at all times when there are holy men there are also holy women. Neither stands alone before the Lord. The exaltation of the one is dependent upon that of the other.

Gospel Mysteries

Whose daughters ye are]

Brethren in the Church become "the seed of Abraham" by faith. (D. & C. 84:34.) That is, they believe what Abraham believed; they worship as Abraham worshiped; they are one with him in spiritual things--and are therefore considered to be his followers and sons, for "if ye be Christ's [Anointed ones], then are ye Abraham's see, and heirs according to the promise." (Gal. 3:29.) Thus, to identify the women in the Church as the daughters of Sarah is to testify that Sarah, and Abraham her husband, were also followers of Christ and believers in the same truths of salvation revealed anew in the Christian dispensation.

Heirs together] Neither men or women are saved alone. Salvation is a family affair. The fulness of the blessings of the gospel come to men and women together; they grow out of the new and everlasting covenant of marriage. (DNTC 3, p. 302-303.) [Also, see Packers talk Tribute to Women, July 89 Ensign.)

The elect lady

"An elect lady is a female member of the Church who has already received, or who through obedience is qualified to receive, the fulness of gospel blessings. This includes [1] temple endowments, [2] celestial marriage, and [3] the fulness of the sealing power. She is one who has been elected and chosen faithfulness as a daughter of God in this life, an heir of God, a member of his household. Her position is comparable to that of the elders who magnify their callings in the priesthood and thereby receive all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:38.) (DNTC 3, p. 410.)

A Tribute to Women
by
Boyd K. Packer

This talk was delivered at the Priesthood commemoration Fireside broadcast by satellite from Temple Square on 7 May 1989. (July 1989, Ensign, p. 72-75.)

It is with reverence that I speak of the restoration of the priesthood. We commemorate the restoration, not the creation of it. The priesthood existed before the Lord appeared with others in the Kirtland Temple and restored the keys of the sealing authority. (See D&C 110:11-16.)

It did not begin when Peter, James, and John conferred the Melchizedek Priesthood and the keys of the kingdom upon Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery. (See D&C 27:12-13.) Nor when John the Baptist ordained them to the Aaronic Priesthood and gave them the keys to the ministering of angels. (See D&C 13.)

Gospel Mysteries

It was formed before Peter, James, and John received keys on the Mount of Transfiguration. It existed before Moses received it under the hands of his father-in-law, Jethro (See D&C 84:6), and before Abraham sought his "appointment unto the Priesthood according to the appointment of God unto the fathers" and paid tithes to Melchizedek. (See Abr. 1:3-4; JST Gen. 14:25-40.) It was present before Enoch, even before Adam.

The prophet Joseph Smith revealed that the priesthood "existed with God from eternity, and will to eternity, without beginning of days or end of years" and that Adam obtained it "in the Creation before the world was formed." (Teachings of the Prophet Joseph Smith, sel. Joseph Fielding Smith, Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Co. 1938, p. 157.)

The Lord revealed that the priesthood and its ordinances were "instituted from before the foundation of the world" (see D&C 124:33-34), and commanded that a temple be built at Nauvoo as a place to "restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fulness of the priesthood" (D&C 124:34.)

The scriptures reveal much about the priesthood, but they are not a handbook with references all gathered together in one place. They are scattered through the scriptures and were revealed at different times and in different places. Revelation continues: consider the recent announcement on the Seventy.

One must prospect through and dig into the scriptures like a miner searching for precious metal. Scattered here and there are nuggets, some pure, and some alloyed with other doctrines. Occasionally one strikes a rich vein which will yield all that you are willing to earn, for the scriptures do not explain not interpret themselves.

If I were to draw a prospector's map showing where I have found treasures on the priesthood, these are among the places I would mark: the old Testament contains many choice nuggets, including references to Melchizedek, King of Salem (now known as Jerusalem). There is much to be mined in the New Testament; the sixth chapter of Hebrews is a rich vein of doctrine on the priesthood.

In the Book of Mormon, the thirteenth chapter of Alma contains many treasures. No doubt the counsel was given in a priesthood meeting because Alma used the salutation "my brethren" more than once. He speaks of the priesthood being after "the order of [the Son of God]." (Alma 13:2.) He describes it as a "holy calling." (Alma 13:2, 4, 6.) He says of Melchizedek, "There were many before him, and also there were many afterwards, but none were greater." (Alma 13:19.)

Alma described the priesthood as "being prepared from eternity to all eternity...without beginning or end." (Alma 13:7-8.) It is a "holy calling. prepared from the foundation of the world for such as would not harden their hearts." (Alma 13:5.)

The Doctrine and Covenants holds veins of the richest and purest kind; sections 20, 76, 84, 107, 121, and 124 and examples.

In section 84 there is a genealogy which traces the priesthood back to Adam. (See D&C 84:6-17.) Another in section 107 (vs. 40-57) was included in instruction to the Twelve.

The Pearl of Great Price reveals how Adam received the priesthood. (See Moses 6:67.)

The priesthood, once defined as the authority given to man to act in the name of God, is not ours to remodel or change or modify or abridge. It is ours to honor and magnify.

From the beginning the priesthood has been conferred only upon the men. It is always described in the scriptures as coming through the lineage of the fathers. (See D&C 84:6, 14-16; 107:40-41; Abr. 1:3-4.)

While fathers and sons bear the burden of the priesthood, it was declared in the very beginning that it was not good for man to be alone. A companion, or

"helpmeet," was given him. The word meet means equal. Man and woman, together, were constituted a fountain of life. While neither can generate life without the other, the mystery of life unfolds when these two become one. From the very beginning the power to beget life was unlawful to express except there be a marriage between the man and the woman. Marriage is a covenant of lifelong fidelity and devotion which, by ordiance, may last for eternity. The whole physical universe is organized in order that man and woman might fulfill the full measure of their creation. It is a perfect system where delicate balances and counter-balances govern the physical, the emotional, an the spiritual in mankind.

The Lord revealed that the purpose of it all is "to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man." (Moses 1:39.) Ordinances and covenants were ordained to protect this power to generate life. When laws are obeyed, happiness follows, for "man are, that they might have joy." (2 Ne. 2:25.) Ever and always there is the destroyer waiting to disturb and disrupt, to scatter abrasive into this marvelous system. His purpose is to rupture those circuits which interconnect the physical, the emotional, and the spiritual, or to cross-connect them in ways that never where intended. His purpose is to pollute that sacred fountain of life and to generate, if he can, unnatural affections. (See 2 Tim. 3:2-3.) The process by which life is conceived belongs only to those who have been legally and lawfully married. It was meant from the beginning to be veiled in total privacy. It was never to be degraded in idle conversation or to be the subject of unworthy humor. It was never to be exposed to public view, detailed in novels, illustrated in books, or acted out upon the stage or in films. It is never to involve children. And it is never to be perverted, never to be sold, never to be bought for money.

The compelling need which draws a husband back to his wife is always to be expressed in tenderness and love. It is through this process that a wife may give her husband, and a husband his wife, a gift which can be received in no other way--the gift of children.

The separate natures of man and woman were designed by the Father of us all to fulfill the purposes of the gospel plan.

Never can tow of the same gender fulfill the commandment to multiply and replenish the earth. No two man or any number added to them, no matter how much priesthood they may think they possess, can do it. Only a woman can bestow upon man that supernal title of father.

She in turn becomes a mother. Can anyone dispute that her part is different from and more demanding than his? The mother must endure limitations while nature performs the miracle of creation.

Through her sacrifice, once again another spirit clothed in a mortal body crosses that frail footpath of life to experience mortality and the testing required in the plan of salvation.

The well-being of the mother, the child, the family, the Church, indeed of all humanity depends upon protecting that process. The obligations of motherhood are never-ending. The addition of such duties as those which attend ordination to the priesthood would constitute an intrusion into, an interruption to, perhaps the avoidance of, that crucial contribution which only a mother can provide.

The limitation of priesthood responsibilities to men is a tribute to the incomparable place of women in the plan of salvation.

The prophet who said that "no success [in any field of endeavor] can compensate for failure in the home" (David O. McKay) did not exempt callings in the Church.

Men and women have complementary, not competing, responsibilities. There is difference but not inequity. Intelligence and talent favor both of them. But in the woman's part, she is not just equal to man; she is superior! She can do that which he can never do; not in all eternity can he do it. There are complementing rewards which are hers and hers alone.

And blessings bestowed impartially upon man and woman alike include:
--Baptism;
--The gift of the Holy Ghost;
--The testimony of Jesus;
--Personal revelation;
--The ministry of angels;
--The responsibility to teach, to testify, to exhort, to edify and to comfort;
--The faith to be healed;
--And many other spiritual gifts. All under a uniform standard for worthiness.
And the highest ordinances in the House of the Lord they receive together and equally or not at all!
It should not disturb either man or women that some responsibilities are bestowed upon one and not the other. Duties of the priesthood are delegated to men and are patriarchal, which means "of the father." From the very beginning this has been so. The scriptures plainly state that they were "confirmed to be handed down from father to son.... This order was instituted in the days of Adam." (D&C 107:40-41.)
Many in the world now press for a melding of the identities of man and woman, claiming that the virtue of equality requires a homogenization of all relationships. Following an absolutely hopeless quest, some seek for an enduring physical and spiritual relationship with one of the same gender. That wicked deception has unleashed a pestilence which now threatens the whole of humanity. There can be no fulfillment there. To find fulfillment, they must--and praise be to God, they can--find it where it has been from the beginning.
Some in the Church, following that trend in the world, have written doctrinal treatises trying to show that the scriptures provide for an exchange in the identities and responsibilities of men and women. They express concern that the leaders of the Church do not respond to their recommendations.
Lest they bring sorrow upon themselves and their loved ones, I call to their attention a caution in section 121, beginning with verse 16, part of which I will quote.
"Cursed are all those that shall lift up the heel against mine anointed, saith the Lord, and cry they have sinned when they have not sinned before me, saith the Lord, but have done that which was meet in mines eyes, and which I commanded them.... They shall be severed from the ordinances of mine house.... They shall not have right to the priesthood, nor their posterity after them from generation to generation." (D&C 121:16, 19, 21.)
"They themselves shall be despised by those that flattered them." (D&C 121:20.)
A similar caution applies to every man and boy who holds the priesthood. Have we not been told that "the rights of the priesthood are inseparably connected with the powers of heaven, and that the powers of heaven cannot be controlled nor handled only upon the principles of righteousness: and that "no power or influence can or ought to be maintained by virtue of the priesthood, only by persuasion, by long-suffering, by gentleness and meekness, and by love unfeigned"? (D&C 121:36, 41.)
Ought not those virtues by which the priesthood must govern apply first and always to our wives and children, to our families?
Jacob rebuked the brethren of his day, saying, "ye have broken the hearts of your tender wives, and lost the confidence of your children, because of your bad examples before them; and the sobbings of their hearts ascend up to God against you." (Jacob 2:35.)
It was not meat that the woman alone accommodate herself to the priesthood duties of her husband or her sons. She is of course to sustain and support and encourage them.
Holders of the priesthood, in turn, must accommodate themselves to the needs and responsibilities of the wife and mother. Her physical and emotional and intellectual and cultural well-being and her spiritual development must stand first among his priesthood duties.

There is no task, however menial, connected with the care of babies, the nurturing of children, or with the maintenance of the home that is not his equal obligation. The tasks which come with parenthood, which many consider to be below other tasks, ar simply above them.
Sister Packer and I have seven sons and three daughters. And that, I have often been heard to say, is about equal value. They, in turn, have given us daughters and sons-in-law, and grandchildren.
When our sons were growing up, they enjoyed a very broad tolerance from their father toward their mischief and mistakes. But there was no tolerance for even the slightest disrespect toward their mother.
And the question our daughters-in-law have matured, I have ordained each in turn to the priesthood. Somehow that seems the lesser part. I have but ordained them. She has born them, then trained and nurtured them.
They are not my children and my grandchildren. They are our children and grandchildren. They all share in the blessings of the priesthood.
I could not possibly express the depth and the intensity of love and gratitude that I feel toward my wife, the mother of our children.
Without her, I could not have the highest and most enduring blessings of this "priesthood...after the holiest order of God" (D&C 84:18), this "Holy Priesthood, after the Order of the Son of God" (D&C 107:3). For, "in order to the highest, a man must enter into this order of the priesthood [meaning the new and everlasting covenant of marriage]; And if he does not, he cannot obtain it." (D&C 131:104.)
I know that the Son of God is our Redeemer. Reverently I give thanks to God the Father for the consummate blessing: a sweetheart, wife, companion, friend, a helpmeet, a woman! In the name of Jesus Christ, amen. (July Ensign, 1989, p. 72-75.)

"God" = Eternal Father and Eternal Mother:

What is a good basis for imagining eternal marriage, then? The plain scriptures, I believe. In the first place, modern scriptures and revelations suggest quite plainly that we would more accurately and profitably read the scriptural references to "God" as meaning God the eternal partnership of Heavenly Father and Heavenly Mother. They have a more perfect unity even than that of God and Christ and the Holy Ghost, and so the word God implies both of them, at least as much as it denotes the three beings in the classical Christian trinity called "God".

Such a more correct identification of "God" might help us better comprehend the direct role our Heavenly Mother played in our creation and salvation. When we read in Genesis that God said, "Let us create man in our image," it makes most sense to read it as God the Father and God the Mother speaking as One. When we read in John that God sent His only begotten Son to save us, it would be better to understand, as it certainly makes more sense, that our Heavenly Parents sent Their only begotten Son. This process is truer to the evidence -- and to our real needs as men and women -- than looking for a female God between the lines in the scriptures or in apocryphal works of mythologies, as many feminist theologians are doing. It might help us better imagine our futures as husbands and wives, equally yoked in what Shakespeare called "the marriage of true minds" -- and to work toward that future now.

Gospel Mysteries

Second, modern revelation tells us that when God put "man" on the earth, "in the image of mine Only Begotten created I him; male and female created I them." (Moses 2:27.) Clearly men and woman were both created in the "image" of Christ. That would seem to mean we are created in the image of the Heavenly Parents who together make up the "God" whom Christ came to reveal, that is, the perfect eternal partnership He came to teach us how to achieve and to show us in His life and character what we would be like when we achieved it. (Becoming Bone of Bone and Flesh of Flesh by Eugene England, As Women of Faith, Talks selected from the BYU Women's Conferences, Edited by Mary E. Christ's Service Places Godhood Within Man's Reach:

As a man through the powers of his body he could attain to the dignity and completeness of manhood, but could go on further. As a man he is born, as a man he lives, and as a man he dies. But through the essence and power of the Godhead, which is in him, which descended to him as the gift of God from his Heavenly Father, he is capable of rising from the contracted limits of manhood to the dignity of a God, and thus through the atonement of Jesus Christ and the adoption he is capable of eternal exaltation, eternal lives, and eternal

Though "there is none other God but one" for men on this earth to worship, yet "there be gods many and lords many" throughout the infinite expanse of eternity. (1 Cor. 8:4-7.) That is, there are many exalted, perfected, glorified personages who reign as gods over their own dominions. John saw 144,000 of them standing with Christ upon MOunt Zion, all "having his Father's name written in their foreheads" (Rev.14-1), which is to say that they were gods and were so identified by wearing crowns so stating. Indeed, to each person who overcomes and gains exaltation, Christ has promised: "I will write upon him the name of my God,: and he shall "sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:12, 21.)
Joseph Smith said: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) All exalted persons "are gods, even the sons of God." (D. & C. 76:58.) Through obedience to the whole gospel law, including celestial marriage, they attain the "fulness of the glory of the Father" [Even to the ataining of the Eternal Godhead themselves, they take a covenant: They themself in the eternal cycle will become God the 1st or Creator, one of their Sons will become God the Second or God the Savior and a third, God the testitator or witnessor....] (D. & C. 93:6-28.) and "a continuation of the seeds forever and ever. Then shall they be gods, because they have no end; therefore shall they be form everlasting to everlasting, because they continue; then shall they be above all, because all things are subject unto them. Then shall they be gods, because they have all power, and the angels are subject unto them." (D. & C. 132:19-20.) (DNTC 1, p. 491.)

Godhood
That exaltation which the saints of all ages have so devotly sought is godhood itself. Godhood is to have the character, possess the attributes, and enjoy the perfections which the Father has. It is to do what he does, have the powers resident in him [and his complementry companion[s] jointly], and live as he lives, having eternal increase. (D. & C. 132:17:20, 37.) It is to know him in the full and complete sense, and no one can fully know God except another exalted personage who is like him in all respects. Those attaining the supreme height are sons of God (D. & C. 76:50-60); they receive the fulness of the Father and find membership in the Church of the Firstborn (D. & C. 93:17-22); they are joint heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18), inheriting with him all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-51) [Expand the consept of earthly parents oldest child has more tallents takes care of other children and perhaps even saves them but the Father and mother love all their children equally they appreciate the tallents of the oldest children. But they love the Children all the same not the talents-they appreciate the tallents therefore all their children inherit the same-thus we are Joint-heirs with Christ. And Christ our eldest most tallented brother and savior thought it not robery to receive the fulness of God.]
Joseph Smith said: "God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens!... I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity.

Gospel Mysteries

I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another, and that he was once a man like us; yea, that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did; and I will show it from the Bible....
"Here, then, is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests [and Queens and Priestesses] to God, the same as all gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation the exaltation, until you attain to the resurrection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlasting brunings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power.... [Such persons are] heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a god, and ascend the throne fo eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, pp. 345-347.) Again: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 321-322.)

God swore an oath that Christ should be a priest forever; that is, though our Lord had possessed the priesthood in pre-existance, he would receive it anew in mortality and would have it forever--in time and in eternity. And this sets the pattern for all who become sons of God and joint-heirs with Christ.
"Every person upon whom the Melchizedek Priesthood is conferred receives his office and clalling in this higher priesthood with an oath and a covenant. The covenant is to this effect: 1. Man on his part solemnly agree to magnify his calling in the priesthood, to keep the commandments of God, to live by every word that proceedeth for from the mouth of Deity, and to walk in paths of righteousness and virtue; and 2. God on his part agrees to give such persons an inheritance of exaltation and godhood in his everlastin presence. The oath is the solemn attestation of Deity, his sworn promise, that those who keep their part in the covenant shall come forth and inherit all things according to the promeise." [D&C 132:19.] (Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p 480.) (DNTC 3, p. 173.)

Gods in Embryo:
There was a period when we, with jesus and others, basked in the light of the presence of God and enjoyed His smiles. We are the children of God, and as His children there is no attribute we ascribe to Him that we do not possess, though they may be dormant or in embryo. The mission of the Gospel is to develop these powers and make us like our Heavenly Parent[s]. I know this is true, and such knowledge makes me feel happy. (Oct. 4, 1863, MS 25:722; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 3)
Literal offspring of God.
God in His infinite mercy has revealed to us a great truth. It is a truth that , when understood by us, gives a new light to our existence and inspires us with the most exalted hopes. That truth is that God is our Father, and we are His children. What a tender relationship! What a feeling of nearness it creates within us! What? God my Father? Am I indeed His son? Am I indeed His daughter? Do I belong to the family of God? Is this literally true? The answer is, "Yes." God has revealed it, that we are literally His children, His offspring, that we are just as much His children as our offspring are our children, that He begot us, and that we existed with Him in the family relationship as His children.
What an immensity of vision is given to us in this truth! What a field for reflection! and how our hearts should be inspired with great hopes and anticipations to think that the Being under whose direction this earth was organized, who governs the planets and controls the universe, who causes the rotation of the seasons and makes this earth so beautiful and such a delightful place of habitation, is our Father and that we are His children, descended from Him! What illimitably hopes the knowledge of this inspires us with! (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 3.)

A promise to the faithful:

It is not a strong assurance or hope that the Latter-day Saints have that they will receive they blessing in the eternal worlds: but when the promise is sealed upon their heads that they shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection and be crowned with glory, immortality and eternal lives, there is a testimony from God, our Eternal Father in the heavens above, which rests down upon them and confirms the truth of these words upon the soul of a faithful man or woman. They know, when words are pronounced upon them by a man who has the authority, sealing upon them blessings, keys, thrones, principalities, powers and exaltations in the eternal Kingdoms of God our Father,... that these words are not the words of men but that they are the words of the Spirit of God inspiring that man and that God takes a record of that ordinance in the heavens and that it is sealed upon them and upon their children and that they will actually come forth in the morning of the first resurrection according to the promise. Hence, there is no fear of death in the mind of the Latter-day Saints. (July 19, 1874, JD 17:136-38; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 29.)

To Be Made Gods:

God has removed doubt from our hearts and our minds concerning these things. We know them. The testimony of God is with us. He bears testimony to us that we are His children. And he wants to draw us to Him, in His arms of love. He wants to save us and exalt us and make us like Himself, clothe us with glory and make us indeed gods in the eternal world, wielding dominion and power. For this purpose He has sent us here. For this purpose He has given us His laws, which we understand to some extent. (1890, Contributor 11:480; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 84-85.)

Sons and Daughters of a King:

It is a glorious thing... to know that our religion is true and given us from God and that in obedience to it we may attain to the exalted position occupied by Him and our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.... We are of the race of God, the sons and daughters of a King. What monarch's children do not hope and look forward to sovereignty. May we, who are the offspring of the Almighty King, not hope for crowns and kingdoms in eternity? (DEN, March 28, 1881; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 87.)

All the Father Hath:

Speaking of those who receive the testimony of Jesus and who overcome by faith, the Lord says: "They are they who are the church of the Firstborn. They are they into whose hands the Father has given all things."
Now, these are not idle words given merely to round out a sentence; but they are full of meaning.

> They are they who are priests and kings, who have received of his fulness and of his glory; and are priests of the Most High, after the order of Melchizedek, which was after the order of Enoch, which was after the order of the Only Begotten Son. Wherefore, as it is written, they are gods, even the sons of God wherefore, all things are theirs, whether life or death, or things present, or things to come, all are theirs, and they are Christ's, and Christ is God's. (D&C 76:54-59.)
> I Wish to emphasize the following: "And also all they who receive this priesthood receive me, saith the Lord; For he that receiveth my servants receiveth me; and he that receiveth me receiveth my Father; and he that receiveth my Father, receiveth my Father's kingdom;

therefore all that my father hath shall be given unto him." (D&C 84:35-38.)

Notice the last clause, "All that my Father hath"--not a part, but "all that my Father hath shall be given unto him." That language admits of no mistake. It corresponds with the other language that I have read in your hearing. It also corresponds with what the Lord says in Section 93: "I give unto you these sayings that ye may understand and know how to worship, and know what you worship, that you may come unto the Father in my name, and in due time receive of his fulness. For if you keep my commandments you shall receive of his fulness, and be glorified in me as I am in the Father; therefore, I say unto you, you shall receive grace for grace." (D&C 93:19-20.) This same revelation goes on to say: "The Spirit of truth is of God. I am the Spirit of truth, and John bore record of me, saying: He received a fulness of truth, yea, even of all truth; and no man receiveth a fulness unless he keepeth his commandments. He that keepeth his commandments receiveth truth and light, until he is glorified in truth and knoweth all things." (D&C 93:26-28.)

These are sufficiently plain to reveal to us that which God has in contemplation for His faithful children. The Latter-day Saints are promised, if they are faithful, that they shall receive the fulness as Jesus received it; and Jesus received it as the Father received it. In the words of Paul they become "heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ." (Romans 8:17.) There is nothing that the Savior has attained unto that God's faithful children are not promised. They are promised the same blessings, the same power, the same authority, the same gifts, the same graces. (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 87-88.)

An Equal Interest in Power and Authority of God:

I know that we are apt to think that heaven is a sort of spiritual place. It is spiritual; but God our Eternal Father is a being of power. He controls the earth and the inhabitants thereof; He controls the elements of the earth; and we are promised that we shall be sharers with Him. He will give us an equal interest in all this power and authority. What is more desirable to man, generally speaking, than to wield power? Mankind aim for it. To what lengths will ambitious men go to wield power, to sit upon thrones and to wield a sceptre of authority. History tells us that men have been willing to wade through seas of blood to gratify this ambition.

Now, this ambition can be gratified righteously be keeping the commandments of God; and a righteous man will exercise righteous authority. That is the object God had in view in sending us here. Through faithfully keeping His commandments we may attain unto power--not illegitimate power, but lawful power--and wield it for our own exaltation and for the exaltation of other human beings. (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 88.)

Priests and Kings Upon Thrones:

It is God's design to make us priests and kings, not to have an empty title, not to sit upon thrones without power but to be actually and really priests and kings. The promise is that all things that He hath shall be given unto us. We will be His heirs; we will be (if I may use the term without irreverence) co-partners with Him in all this power and authority.... (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 88.) [Note: this suggest that we should start exercising this authority in our homes now on earth and not keep secret. King of kings and Lord of lord implies that others round about know that you are a king just by looking at you.... We have got to learn to be kings and priests and gods....]

Heirs of God:

Remember the word! If we are heirs of God, why then we shall inherit the power and the blessings and the glory of God our Eternal Father. This is what the Latter-day Saints ought to have constantly in view, "How can I live so as to become an heir of God and a Joint heir with Jesus Christ? What course can I take to secure to myself celestial glory--a never-fading crown?" Not an empty bauble, not a barren sceptre but a sceptre of power, a sceptre of dominion, a crown that means something real, a throne that means the kingly and queenly authority. This is what the Latter-day Saints have in view when they have their hearts fixed as they should be and their eyes open to the glory that God has in store for the faithful. (Apr. 27, 1890, DW 40:836; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 89-90.)

To Have Extensive Dominions:

If we are heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ, we expect to have control over many things, and there is reason to believe that our dominion will be very extensive. But before we attain to that dominion we must learn to be wise rulers over the few things that God has placed in our charge and to use them for His glory and the advancement of His purposes on the earth.

When He sees that our eyes are single to His glory and that our hearts are pure and free from avarice and every sordid and selfish feeling, He will multiply His blessings upon us because He will then know by testing us that we are fit to be trusted; and it will be said to us according to the words of the Scriptures, "When he shall prove himself faithful in all things that shall be entrusted unto his care, yea, even a few things, he shall be ruler over many." (D&C 124:113.) (April. 21, 1867, Jd 12:43; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 90.)

We talk about kings and nobles, and we have admired their glory; but the day is not far distant when there will be thousands of men in Zion holding more power and having more glory, honor and wealth than the greatest and the richest of the nobles of the earth. The earth and its fulness are promised unto us by the Lord our God as soon as we have the wisdom and experience necessary to wield this power and wealth. (Oct. 8, 1865, JD, 11:175; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 90.)

Kings with Kingdom:

We build temples and we administer and submit to ordinances and perform those things within them which will prepare us to dwell eternally with our God, with Jesus and the Apostles in the heavens. There each man will have his family and kingdom. It is said that God is Lord of lords and King of kings; but how can He be King of kings unless there be kings under Him to give Him homage and pay respect unto Him and acknowledge Him as their Lord and their King?

When God led forth Abraham and told him that as the stars of the firmament were innumerable so should his seed be, He proclaimed to him the greatness of his kingdom in eternity. He told Abraham that he should be a king over this innumerable host; for, if Abraham were not to be king over them, of what use or glory would his posterity be to him? When God pointed Abraham to the sand on the sea shore and told him that as it was countless so should his see be, He told him in accents that could not be mistaken of the future glory of his eternal kingdom. And if all mankind attained to the same promises as Abraham, the also would have an innumerable posterity to reign over. (Apr. 8, 1871, Jd, 14:128; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 90.)

Reign On the Earth:

Many men wonder how it is that we can believe in celestial marriage. We believe in it because it lies at the foundation of all future greatness. If a man rules in heaven, he will rule over his own posterity. The Apostle John said that they sang a new song in heaven--"And hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth. (Revelation 5:10.) Reign on the earth! This was the song. Over whom were they to reign? Over whom more properly than their families? (Aug. 10, 1873, JD, 16:143; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 91.) [I believe this is literal and believe this should occur now in this life. We have got to learn to be gods, and kings and priests.]

|v63 These are they whom he shall bring with him, when he shall come in the clouds of heaven to reign on the earth over his people.
(D&C: Section 76:63)

|v10 We believe in the literal gathering of Israel and in the restoration of the Ten Tribes; that Zion (the New Jerusalem) will be built upon the American continent; that Christ will reign personally upon the earth; and, that the earth will be renewed and receive its paradisiacal glory.
(PoGP:Articles Of Faith 1:10)

[Note: If the King of kings reigns personally on the earth, it only makes sense that the kings under the great King personal reign.]

The Glory of an Endless Increase:

As the Prophet says concerning our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, "of the increase of his government...there shall be no end." (Isaiah 9:7.) It shall go on increasing with ever cycle of eternity as long as time endures. There shall be no end to the increase of His kingdom. His glory consisted of this; and the glory of God consists in the number of His posterity; and as generation succeeds generation, until the earth is filled and glorified, other worlds will be rolled in to existence upon which the posterity of God, our Heavenly Father, shall increase throughout the endless ages of eternity.... (Apr. 8, 1871, JD, 14:128-129; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 91.)

Other Worlds to be Created:

What will be their occupation? The exercise of that creative power that our Father and God has exercised in preparing this earth as the abode for man. He called to gether the elements and formed the earth as a habitation for man; and man, if he is faithful, will progress until he will do that very same thing for his posterity.
Abraham, standing at the head of an innumerable posterity, will find it necessary to have room. He will want to emigrate after awhile from this earth and find a new habitation for there will not be room enough on the glorified earth for him and his posterity in the coming eternity. Thus it is that the heavens are bespangled with the glorious orbs that we see at night--the creations of God, peopled by the children of God.

And all this God promises to us, if we are faithful. He says, "You shall be kings; you shall be queens; you shall sit upon thrones; you shall sway scepters, and you shall have power and dominion, if you prove yourselves faithful and true to Me; and you shall be My heirs, and joint heirs with My beloved Son, Jesus Christ, your Redeemer." (Oct. 9, 1892, Dw 45:619-620; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 92.)

Power of Procreation Promised:

If I have children, if I have a wife, I shall have them in eternity. I shall preside over that family no matter how small it may be or how large it may extend. They will be my kingdom; for this is the promise of God. What is there that is more delightful in the contemplation of the future that this thought, that those with whom we are associated here, with whom our lives and happiness is entwined, who give unto us the greatest pleasure because of the love we have for them and they have for us, that that union shall be perpetuated throughout eternity and that there shall be an increase of that love and of that union and an increase also of that power, because the power of procreation is promised--the greatest power that man possesses on the earth. That is promised unto those who are faithful.

I know the world say this is materialistic, that we take wrong views of this, that we are not spiritual enough. Well, I am willing to have that charge leveled against me. I want to be materialistic in this sense. I want to enjoy that which we enjoy here, purified, exalted and increased beyond my comprehension or your comprehension at the present time; and we are to have this glory and this power; that Lord promises it unto us. Therefore, it can be said of us as it was said of our Lord and Savior, "of the increase of His government there shall be no end." (Isaiah 9:7.) Why? Because of this principle that I spoke of--the principle of procreation. By it and through that principle the worlds are peopled. The planetary orbs which stud our heavens so gloriously are peopled by that principle--the principle of procreation. God possesses it, and we as His children inherit the power. If we do what is right, He promises to bestow it upon us. (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 93.)

Progression From an Infant to a God:

What is there manor helpless, weak, puny, insignificant, it may be said, in many respects, than a human being when it is born into the world. Yet that being, if nurtured properly, if trained as it should be, has before it a career of never-ending glory. That little pulling infant may become, in the eternity of our God, a god, to sway power and dominion in the eternal worlds, to be the father of unnumbered millions. Yet at its birth who would anticipate such a future for it. (Oct. 5, 1844, JD, 25:319; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 104.)

Priesthood Acts Binding:

That which is done in the name of the Holy Priesthood will stand and will be fulfilled both in the world and out of the world, both in time and in eternity. Hence it is that when an Elder goes forth in the authority of the Holy Priesthood and baptizes a candidate who has repented of his sins, God confirms that ordinance; God remits the sins of that individual; God by bestowing His Holy Spirit witnesses unto that soul that his sins or her sins are remitter.

In like manner when an Elder lays his hands upon the head of a man or a woman who has been thus baptized and says unto that individual, "receive ye the Holy Ghost," God in heaven, bound by the oath and the covenant that He has made, bound by all the conditions that pertain to the everlasting Priesthood, will cause the Holy Ghost to descend upon that soul, and he or she will be filled therewith. He receives the baptism of fire and the Holy Ghost, and it stands on the earth, and it stands in heaven recorded in favor of that soul if he continues to observe the conditions under which that baptism and confirmation are administered. There is no human power that can deprive that individual of the fruits of that blessing which has been thus sealed upon him by authority of the Holy Priesthood.

So with other ordinances. When men go forward and attend to other ordinances such as receiving their endowments, their washings, their anointings, receiving the promises connected therewith, these promises will be fulfilled to the very letter in time and in eternity--that is, if they themselves are true to the conditions upon which the blessings are promises.
And so it is when persons go to the altar and are married for time and eternity. When the man who officiates says: "I seal upon you the power to come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, crowned with glory, immortality and eternal lives,: just as sure as that promise is made and the persons united (to whom the promise is made) conform with the conditions thereof, just so sure will it be fulfilled. There is no power anywhere in existence that can invalidate the force, the efficacy or that can prevent the fulfillment of that promise when it is pronounced upon a man and woman by the authority of the Holy Priesthood--that is, there is no power but that which they themselves can exercise. (Oct. 18, 1844, JD, 26:243-249; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 176-177.)
[Note: this is a major promise made to millions they need all the ordinances to come forth with glory and come out of the prison in the morning of the first resurrection.]

Prayers From World of Spirits:

When you think that you are chosen to be saviors to the children of men, to stand as a medium through whom salvation shall flow unto unnumbered thousands, what manner of people ought we to be? They pray for you today in the spirit world, as they have been no doubt from the beginning praying for their descendants that they may be faithful to the truth. You cannot tell the interest felt in eternity for you by those of our dead who have gone before us. Their hearts yearn after us, their constant desire being that we may be faithful and maintain our integrity and be prepared to bring salvation to them and redeem them by going forth and obeying every ordiance which god has established in the Church for the salvation of the living and the dead. (Oct. 31, 1880, Jd, 22:129-131; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 363.)
[Note: This is what was shown me on otherside who wanted second anointings and also President Kimball and the Blacks and for all of us.]

The Origin of Man:

If we take man, he is said to have been made in the image of God, for the simple reason that he is a son of God, and being his son, he is, of course, has offspring, an emanation from God, in whose likeness, we are told, he is made. He did not originate from a chaotic mass of matter, moving or inert, but came forth possessing, in an embryonic state, all the faculties and powers of a God. And when he shall be perfected, and have progressed to maturity, he will be like his Father--a God, being indeed his offspring. As the horse, the ox, the sheep, and every living creature, including man, propagates its own species and perpetuates its own kind, so does God perpetuate his. (Ma, 164--165; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 52.)

A God in Embryo:

Man is a dual being, possessed of body and spirit, made in the image of God, and connected with him and with eternity. He is a God in embryo and will live and progress throughout the eternal ages, if obedient to the laws of the Godhead, as the Gods progress throughout the eternal ages. (JD, 23:65, April 9, 1882; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 52.)

Man, A Son Of God:

What is man? A god, even the son of God, possessing noble aspirations, holy feelings, that may be governed by virtuous principles, possessing elevated ideas, wishing to realize everything that God has destined to submit to all his laws, to endure every kind of privation and affliction and suffering, as seeing him that is invisible, looking for a city that hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God--feeling to live for that purpose, and that alone. This is what man is, if he lives the religion of heaven, and performs faithfully those things God has appointed him to do, that he may increase from intelligence to intelligence, and go on with that eternal progression, not only in this world, but in worlds without end. (JD, 8:1-2, 3-4, 5, February 19, 1860; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 54-55.)

The Image of God:

We are made in the image of God, we were designed by the intelligence of God, and the organs we have are the same kind of organs that the Gods themselves possess. I consider that the body and the spirit are connected together in some inscrutable, indefinable, and intelligent manner; that, if we comprehended, would be a greater wonder and mystery to us than anything that we have already referred to. (JD, 11:74-77, February 5, 1866; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 56.)

The Exaltation of Man:

It is for the exaltation of man to this state of superior intelligence and Godhood that the mediation and atonement of Jesus Christ is instituted; and that noble being, man, made in the image of God, is rendered through adoption, and is rendered capable of becoming a God, possessing the power, the majesty, the exaltation and the position of a God.... (The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 57.)

Gospel Mysteries

Christ's Service Places Godhood Within Man's Reach:

As a man through the powers of his body he could attain to the dignity and completeness of manhood, but could go on further. As a man he is born, as a man he lives, and as a man he dies. But through the essence and power of the Godhead, which is in him, which descended to him as the gift of God from his Heavenly Father, he is capable of rising from the contracted limits of manhood to the dignity of a God, and thus through the atonement of Jesus Christ and the adoption he is capable of eternal exaltation, eternal lives, and eternal progression. (MA, 139-141; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 58.)

Knowledge of Christ To Come By Revelation:

No matter what ability and talent a man may possess, all must come under this rule if they wish to know the Father and the Son. If knowledge of them is not obtained through revelation it cannot be obtained at all.... This principle alone can give the knowledge of God which is life eternal and the only power by which a man can stand unscathed in the trying hour. Those who possess this principle are one with Jesus Christ and one with the Father, as says Jesus, "That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they may be one in us:... that they may be one, even as we are one." (John 17:21-22.) They are baptized with the same baptism, they are baptized with the same Spirit; they are in possession of the same knowledge; and they knew God, whom to know is life everlasting. When built upon this rock the storms may blow, the rains may descend and beat upon the house, but it cannot fall because it is founded upon a rock. These are some of my reflections in relation to this ordiance of the sacrament of the Lord's supper. (JD, 10:115-117, February 22, 1863; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 112.)
Progress Toward Godhood Made Possible:

The next question for us to examine is , how, and in what manner are men benefited by the atonement and by the resurrection? In this, that the atonement, having restored man to his former position before the Lord, has placed him in a position made it possible for him to obtain that exaltation and glory which it would have been impossible for him to have received without it; even to become a son of God by adoption; and being a son, then an heir of God, and a joint heir with Jesus Christ; and that, as Christ overcame, he has made it possible, and has placed it within the power of believers in him also to overcome; and as is authorized to inherit his Father's glory which he had with him before the world was, with his resurrected body, so through the adoption may we overcome and sit down with him upon his throne, as he has overcome and has sat down upon his Father's throne. (MA, 179; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 119.)

Kings and Priests:

Thus shall we also become legitimately and by right, through the atonement and adoption, kings and priests--priests to administer in the holy ordinances pertaining to the endowments and exaltations; and kings, under Christ, who is King of Kings and Lord of lords, to rule and govern, according to the eternal laws of justice and equity, those who are thus redeemed and exalted. (Ma, 156, 158-159; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 138.)

The Patriarchal Order:

We find that after the days of Noah an order was introduced called the patriarchal order, in which every man managed his own family affairs. And prominent men among them were kings and priests unto God, and officiated in what is known among us as the priesthood of the Son of God, or the priesthood after the order of Melchizedek. Man began again to multiply on the face of the earth, and the heads of families became their kings and priests, that is, the fathers of their own people. And they were more or less under the influence and guidance of the Almighty. We read, for instance, in our revelations pertaining to these matters, of a man called Melchizedek, who was a great high priest. We are told that there were a great many high priests in his day, and before him and after; and these men had communication with God, and were taught of him in relation to their general proceedings, and acknowledged the hand of God in all things with which the were associated. (JD, 17:207, October 7, 1874; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 139.) [Note: Here Christ is a King of kings and Lord of lords and instruction each family patriarch as needed.]

The Office of Patriarch to The Church:

In regard to the office of patriarch, William Smith has been ordained patriarch to the church; but he is not the only patriarch, but would act as a senior patriarch, holding the keys of that priesthood; and his labors would be more especially connected with the church in Zion; and he would take the lead, priority, or presidency of the patriarchal office in this place; and in this capacity, if there should be a council of patriarchs, he as a matter of course would preside by right of office. But every legally ordained patriarch has the same right to bless that he has, and their administrations are just as legal as his are. Every ordinance that is administered by a legal administrator, is legal. A priest has just as much right to baptize a person for the remission of sins as an elder, a high priest, or an apostle; but he cannot lay on hands for the gift of the Holy Ghost, because he does not possess that authority to do it; but an elder does, and an elder's administration would be just as legal as the administration of any of the beforementioned persons, or as that of the president of the church.

Rights of Fathers to Act as Patriarchs:

Every father, after he has received his patriarchal blessing, is a patriarch to his own family, and has the right to confer patriarchal blessings upon his family; which blessings will be just as legal as those conferred by any patriarch of the church: in fact it is his right; and a patriarch is blessing his children, can only bless as his mouthpiece.
A patriarch to the church is appointed to bless those who are orphans, or have no father in the Church to bless them. Not as stated inadvertently, in the editorial above alluded to "to bless all, and such as have not a father to do it," for this he could not do, where the church is so extensive; the burden would be too onerous; hence other patriarchs have been ordained, both in this country, and in England, to assist the patriarch to the church, and hence the provision made in the Doctrine and Covenants: "It is the duty of the Twelve, in all large branches of the church, to ordain evangelical ministers, [patriarchs] as they shall be designated unto them by revelation." (D. & C. 107:39.) And should any of those patriarchs remove here, they have just as much right to administer in their patriarchal office under the direction of the patriarch to the church, as an elder or priest would, who should remove from one of the branches to this place, under the direction of the presidency. Brother William Smith, however "holds the keys of the patriarchal blessings upon the heads of all my people," and would of necessity have the seniority, and of course the priority and presidency; yet it would be left for those who wished to be administered to, to make their choice; just as much as it would for a candidate for baptism to choose who should administer to him.

The above is the true doctrine of the church in regard to this matter, and we speak of it for the information of the brethren at large, lest those who may have received their patriarchal blessings from other sources, or from their fathers, might be tempted to think they were of no avail, and to set at rest this agitated question.

The Patriarch Does Not Preside Over the Priesthood or the Church:

We now proceed to answer some of the remarks which we have heard:
We have been asked, "Does not patriarch over the whole church" place Brother William Smith at the head of the whole church as president?
Answer. No. Brother William is not patriarch over the whole church, but patriarch to the church, and as such he was Ordained. The expression "over the whole church," is a mistake made by W. W. Phelps. He is patriarch to the church to Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The twelve are commanded to ordain evangelical ministers in all large branches of the church abroad, and who has charge over them? The patriarch? No. Those who ordained them. And to who is committed the power and authority to regulate all the affairs of the churches abroad? And who has the charge of the whole priesthood here?
Answer. The presidency of the church, and not the patriarch.
But does not the Doctrine and Covenants say:
"First, I give unto you Hyrum Smith to be a patriarch unto you to hold the sealing blessings of my church, even the Holy Spirit of promise, whereby ye are sealed up unto the day of redemption, that ye may not fall notwithstanding the hour of temptation that may come upon you." (D. & C. 124:124.)
Yes, but that is in regard to seniority not in regard to authority in priesthood, for it immediately follows, "I give unto my servant Joseph to be a presiding elder over all my church, to be a translator, a revelator, a seer, and prophet." (D. & C. 124:125.) In the Doctrine and Covenants we read "the duty of President of the office of the high priesthood is to preside over the whole church, and to be like unto Moses." (D. & C. 107:91.) And from this is evident that the president of the church, not the patriarch, is appointed by God to preside.
But does not the patriarch stand in the same relationship to the church as Adam did to his family, and as Abraham and Jacob did to theirs? No. This is another mistake which is made by our junior, and one that may be very easily made inadvertently. Adam was the natural father of his posterity, who were his family and over whom he presided as patriarch, prophet, priest and king. Both Abraham and Jacob stood in the same relationship to their families. But not so with Father Joseph Smith, Hyrum Smith, or William Smith. they were not the natural fathers of the church, and could not stand in the same capacity as Adam, Abraham, or Jacob [or Lehi]; but inasmuch as there had been none to bless for generations past, according to the ancient order, they were ordained and set apart for the purpose of conferring patriarchal blessings, to hold the keys of this priesthood, and unlock the door, that had long been closed upon the human family: that blessings might be conferred according to the ancient order, and those who were orphans, or had no father to bless them [As Abraham was an Orphan, his fathers leaving the priesthood sought his blessings from the fathers who had not left the priesthood], might receive it through a patriarch who should act as proxy for their father, and that fathers might again be enabled to act as patriarchs to their families, and bless [and seal] their children [with the holy spirit of Promise]. For like the other ordinances in the church, this had been neglected and must needs be restored.
But Father Joseph Smith was not president of the church, nor the president's counsel. Nor was Hyrum Smith either president or president's counsel. He was one counsel, but when he was ordained patriarch he gave it up and another was ordained in his stead, [William Law] and in all probability if Brother William magnifies his calling, he will not be able henceforth to attend to the duties of an apostle; but officiate in the same capacity in regard to blessing as his brother Hyrum did--not as president of the church, but as patriarch to it. The president of the church presides over all patriarchs, presidents, and councils of the church; and this presidency does not depend so much upon genealogy as upon calling, order, and seniority. James and Joses were the brothers of Jesus, and John was his beloved disciple, yet Peter held the keys and presided over all the church. Brother William was in the quorum of the twelve yet he was not president of the twelve during his brother's lifetime, nor since; and if being ordained a patriarch would make him president of the church, it would have made Father Joseph Smith and Hyrum Smith presidents over the church instead of Joseph.

Brother William understands the matter, and were it not for the folly of some men there would be no necessity for these remarks.
A patriarch is what is termed in scripture an evangelist, and Brother William acts in that capacity, and God placed in the church "first apostles,' not first evangelists, but the president stands in the same relationship to the church as Moses did to the children of Israel, according to the revelations. Again, who ordained Father Smith to the office of patriarch? His son Joseph, and Father Smith ordained Hyrum, and the twelve (of whom Brother William is one) ordained him. Who are appointed to ordain evangelical ministers? It is the duty of the Twelve, in all large branches of the church, to ordain evangelical ministers, as they shall be designated unto them by revelation. (D. & C. 107:39.) Can a stream rise higher than its fountain? No....
We think that everyone will see that Brother William Smith's patriarchal office will not exalt him higher in regard to priesthood than he was before, as one of the twelve; but will rather change the nature of his office.
But will it take any thing from his priesthood? it may be asked. No. You cannot take any man's priesthood away without transgression. Brother William will still retain the same power, priesthood, and authority that he did before, and yet will hold in connection with that the patriarchal office and the keys of that priesthood, and as one of the twelve must maintain his dignity as one of the presidents of the church [This occurred during the apostolic interregnum of 1844-1847 when the twelve, Brigham Young at their head, were sustained as "presidents of the Chruch"], of whom President Brigham Young is the president and head, and presides over all patriarchs, presidents, and councils of the church. (Times and Seasons, 6:921-922, June 1, 1845; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 146-149.)

|v1 In the land of the Chaldeans, at the residence of my fathers, I, Abraham, saw that it was needful for me to obtain another place of residence;
|v2 And, finding there was greater happiness and peace and rest for me, I sought for the blessings of the fathers, and the right whereunto I should be ordained to administer the same; having been myself a follower of righteousness, desiring also to be one who possessed great knowledge, and to be a greater follower of righteousness, and to possess a greater knowledge, and to be a father of many nations, a prince of peace, and desiring to receive instructions, and to keep the commandments of God, I became a rightful heir, a High Priest, holding the right belonging to the fathers.
|v3 It was conferred upon me from the fathers; it came down from the fathers, from the beginning of time, yea, even from the beginning, or before the foundation of the earth to the present time, even the right of the firstborn, on the first man, who is Adam, or first father, through the fathers unto me.

(PoGP:Abraham Heading & 1:1-4)

Abraham had to receive these blessings proxie from one holding the office of presidency because his fathers turned away from the priesthood.

My fathers having turned from their righteousness, and form the holy commandments which the Lord their God had given unto them, unto the worshiping of the gods of the heathen, utterly refused to harken to my voice; (Abraham 1:5)

[Note: Here we learn that the Patriarch:

1. Holds the keys of sealing, even the holy Spirit of Promise, [which is the spirit of Elijah or the fulness of the priesthood, concerning the seed].

2. We learn that the patriarch is standing as proxie for the fathers or Kings and priests as Abraham:

3. We can conclude as Abraham stated he sought for:

A. The right of the priesthood [the fulness of the priesthood-to be made a king and a priest over his posterity and

B. He sought for the right to bestow the same blessings on his seed.

4. Therefore it is obvious why the keys of sealing, even the holy Spirit of Promise [resides in the patriarch] because as Abraham the King and Priest over his family, has the right to administer the same unto his family and transmit the same keys to his children.

5. This is why you see Lehi of the Book of mormon probably as a Patriarch, Prophet, Priest, and King over his seed had the right when separated from the first presidency, became the first presidency over his family and Held the keys to administer the same unto his seed. ie., He married his sons and daughters, made them kings and priests unto the Most High God, and anointed their wives Queens and Priestess unto their husbands which is the holy spirit of promise, sealing them up to eternal life. He also bestowed the Fulness of the Priesthood on His children and transmitted the same Keys to them so that they Could Build Temples and bestow the same sealing keys upon their posterity unto the latest generation. This is why Moroni was see by John Proclaiming the Everlasting Gospel. Because he understood the fulness of the priesthood and outlined it four times to the Prophet Joseph Smith and as a symbol he stands upon the top of the Capstone of the Temple symbolizing that he is proclaiming the fulness of the priesthood starting with the introductory steps all the way up to the capstone of the temple of man when they are made Kings and Priests unto the Most high God and Queens and Priestesses unto their husbands and reign equally with him over their seed and hold the right to bestow the same upon their posterity as Abraham and as Lehi and as God, And all other affiliations stand in proxie of the Father or fathers. The Prophet stands as the proxie King and Priest and his wife the queen and priestess in and over the Kingdom of God of the Earth. Transmitting these keys to each head of each family to stand in their own capacity eventually attaining unto the Godhead themselves.....

Here we see the full order of the Church as described time and time again:

Christ said in his great prophetic Prayer "Thy Kingdom come thine will be done on earth which is done in heaven:

1. In order to establish what the Christ had prayed for in his prophetic prayer; the Lord Set up the First Presidency which represents the Godhead and is Proxie Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. Which priesthood is without father and mother-or in other words holds all the Keys of the Fulness of the Priesthood independent of the Patriarchal order.

2. He then made Joseph to stand in his place as his is a Patriarchal order and made him Proxie King of Kings and Lord of Lords, which keys will be delivered back to Christ at the start of the Millennium and then the Christ will deliver these keys to His Father and Our Father at the end of the Millennium.

3. The Lord through Joseph Smith then established the order of the Church to restore the Patriarchal order which had been lost.
He:
1. Set up the first presidency to preside over the Fulness of the priesthood. (D&C 124:125.)
2. Established the Patriarchal Computer Book: C:\SCRIPT\LDS-ENGL.BYB

|c68|v0 Revelation given through Joseph Smith the Prophet, at Hiram, Ohio, November 1831, at the request of Orson Hyde, Luke S. Johnson, Lyman E. Johnson, and William E. McLellin. HC 1:227–229. Although this revelation was given in response to supplication that the mind of the Lord be made known concerning the elders named, much of the content pertains to the whole Church.
1– 5, Words of elders when moved upon by the Holy Ghost are scripture;
6–12, Elders are to preach and baptize, and signs shall follow true believers;
13–24, Firstborn among the sons of Aaron may serve as the Presiding Bishop (that is, hold the keys of presidency as a bishop) under the direction of the First Presidency;
25–28, Parents are commanded to teach the gospel to their children;
29–35, The saints are to observe the Sabbath, labor diligently, and pray.
(D&C: Section 68:Heading)

|v15 Wherefore they shall be high priests who are worthy, and they shall be appointed by the First Presidency of the Melchizedek Priesthood, except they be literal descendants of Aaron.
(D&C: Section 68:15)

|v17 For the firstborn holds the right of the presidency over this priesthood, and the keys or authority of the same. (D&C: Section 68:17)

|v19 But, as a high priest of the Melchizedek Priesthood has authority to officiate in all the lesser offices he may officiate in the office of bishop when no literal descendant of Aaron can be found, provided he is called and set apart and ordained unto this power, under the hands of the First Presidency of the Melchizedek Priesthood.

(D&C: Section 68:19)

|v20 And a literal descendant of Aaron, also, must be designated by this Presidency, and found worthy, and anointed, and ordained under the hands of this Presidency, otherwise they are not legally authorized to officiate in their priesthood.
(D&C: Section 68:20)

|v21 But, by virtue of the decree concerning their right of the priesthood descending from father to son, they may claim their anointing if at any time they can prove their lineage, or do ascertain it by revelation from the Lord under the hands of the above named Presidency.
(D&C: Section 68:21)

|c81|v0 Revelation given through Joseph Smith the Prophet, at Hiram, Ohio, March 1832. HC 1:257–258. Frederick G. Williams is called to be a high priest and a counselor in the First Presidency. The historical records show that when this revelation was received in March 1832, it called Jesse Gause to the office of counselor to Joseph Smith in the First Presidency. However, when he failed to continue in a manner consistent with this appointment, the call was subsequently transferred to Frederick G. Williams. The revelation (dated March 1832) should be regarded as a step toward the formal organization of the First Presidency, specifically calling for the office of counselor in that body and explaining the dignity of the appointment. Brother Gause served for a time, but was excommunicated from the Church in December 1832. Brother Williams was ordained to the specified office on March 18, 1833.
1–2, The keys of the kingdom are always held by the First Presidency;
3–7, If Frederick G. Williams is faithful in his ministry, he shall have eternal life.
(D&C: Section 81:Heading)

|v2 Unto whom I have given the keys of the kingdom, which belong always unto the Presidency of the High Priesthood:
(D&C: Section 81:2)

|v8 The Melchizedek Priesthood holds the right of presidency, and has power and authority over all the offices in the church in all ages of the world, to administer in spiritual things.
(D&C: Section 107:8)

|v9 The Presidency of the High Priesthood, after the order of Melchizedek, have a right to officiate in all the offices in the church.
(D&C: Section 107:9)

Gospel Mysteries

|v33 The Twelve are a Traveling Presiding High Council, to officiate in the name of the Lord, under the direction of the Presidency of the Church, agreeable to the institution of heaven; to build up the church, and regulate all the affairs of the same in all nations, first unto the Gentiles and secondly unto the Jews.
(D&C: Section 107:33)

|v76 But a literal descendant of Aaron has a legal right to the presidency of this priesthood, to the keys of this ministry, to act in the office of bishop independently, without counselors, except in a case where a President of the High Priesthood, after the order of Melchizedek, is tried, to sit as a judge in Israel.
(D&C: Section 107:76)

|v30 For unto you, the Twelve, and those, the First Presidency, who are appointed with you to be your counselors and your leaders, is the power of this priesthood given, for the last days and for the last time, in the which is the dispensation of the fulness of times.

This is why stake presidents can be released because it is the office of presidency and will vanish as patriarchs are set up.

Order in things:
1. The Father Names Adam-But then tells Adam to Name his wife-Even the Father doesn't overstep his bounds-He is helping Adam to build and start his kingdom so he doesn't step on his authority but shows the true order or pattern "My house is a house of order" Next he gives the sign & token to adam & Adam gives it to his posterity-To facilitate temple workers assist-Yet these would represent Adam & Eves Posterity Assisting because Adam & Eve are the First in the Kingdom. Notice also Eve is functioning in the Priesthood as a Queen and Priestess as she now washes and anoints her daughters and also give them the signs and tokens of the priesthood.--We and our wives are the first in our respective kingdoms--Next Adam's Father takes him through the veil then His Father leads Adam to his wife Eve and Adam takes his wife through the veil--This is the pattern I am sure that adam took seth through the veil and let hem take his own wife through the veil as his Father taught him.

Next ordained King & priest as with all the signs & tokens adam gave them to his wife--So here Adam ??? Ordains his wife a queen and priestesses unto himself, perhaps as the Father did Mary the mother of Jesus Christ. For Eve was the first to make up Adams kingdom.
Next Adam makes his sons Kings & Priests and they do the same for their wives and sons--In the true order you see our heavenly father preforming or doing ordinances in our fathers kingdom because "My house is a house of order No one oversteps into each others kingdom--For this is not the true order. This is why patriarchs, Kings and priest should administer the fulness of the priesthood to their posterity... IE. D&C 124:124. The father blesses the baby, baptizes, confirms, gives the Holy Ghost, ordains to the offices in the lessor priesthood-should anoint a king and priest in his kingdom and fulness of the patriarchal priesthood but the not the priesthood of presidency. D&C 124:125.

If all the GA killed then who would preside..... How....

The Following relates to the Sons prophetic prayer--Thy kingdom come thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

30 August 1857

To Establish the Kingdom of God:

What are we engaged in? We are engaged in building up the kingdom of God, and many of you have been ordained by the revelations of the Almighty to hold the power and authority of the Holy Priesthood. Besides this, you have been ordained kings and queens, and priests and priestesses to your Lord; you have been put in possession of principles that all the kings, potentates, and powers upon the earth are entirely ignorant of they do not understand it; but you have received this from the hands of God.
The kingdom is put upon the shoulders of President Young and this people to carry it out, and by whom? By the Lord God--by him who holds dominion throughout the universe; by him who created all by the word of his power; by him who said, "Let there be light;" by him who spake, and the worlds rolled into existence. By him you received rights that are not of this world--rights that flow from the great Eloheim. What are we going to do, then? We are going to establish the Kingdom of God upon the earth. This is our privilege--our right, if you please. But I consider it a high privilege--the greatest boon that can be bestowed upon mortals on the earth, to be the representatives of God. (JD, Vol. 5:189-190, John Taylor August 30, 1857.)

Gospel Mysteries

Gods in Embryo:

There was a period when we, with jesus and others, basked in the light of the presence of God and enjoyed His smiles. We are the children of God, and as His children there is no attribute we ascribe to Him that we do not possess, though they may be dormant or in embryo. The mission of the Gospel is to develop these powers and make us like our Heavenly Parent[s]. I know this is true, and such knowledge makes me feel happy. (Oct. 4, 1863, MS 25:722; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 3)

Literal offspring of God.

God in His infinite mercy has revealed to us a great truth. It is a truth that , when understood by us, gives a new light to our existence and inspires us with the most exalted hopes. That truth is that God is our Father, and we are His children. What a tender relationship! What a feeling of nearness it creates within us! What? God my Father? Am I indeed His son? Am I indeed His daughter? Do I belong to the family of God? Is this literally true? The answer is, "Yes." God has revealed it, that we are literally His children, His offspring, that we are just as much His children as our offspring are our children, that He begot us, and that we existed with Him in the family relationship as His children.

What an immensity of vision is given to us in this truth! What a field for reflection! and how our hearts should be inspired with great hopes and anticipations to think that the Being under whose direction this earth was organized, who governs the planets and controls the universe, who causes the rotation of the seasons and makes this earth so beautiful and such a delightful place of habitation, is our Father and that we are His children, descended from Him! What illimitably hopes the knowledge of this inspires us with! (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 3.)

To Be Made Gods:

God has removed doubt from our hearts and our minds concerning these things. We know them. The testimony of God is with us. He bears testimony to us that we are His children. And he wants to draw us to Him, in His arms of love. He wants to save us and exalt us and make us like Himself, clothe us with glory and make us indeed gods in the eternal world, wielding dominion and power. For this purpose He has sent us here. For this purpose He has given us His laws, which we understand to some extent. (1890, Contributor 11:480; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 84-85.)

Sons and Daughters of a King:

It is a glorious thing... to know that our religion is true and given us from God and that in obedience to it we may attain to the exalted position occupied by Him and our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.... We are of the race of God, the sons and daughters of a King. What monarch's children do not hope and look forward to sovereignty. May we, who are the offspring of the Almighty King, not hope for crowns and kingdoms in eternity? (DEN, March 28, 1881; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 87.)

Progression From an Infant to a God:

What is there manor helpless, weak, puny, insignificant, it may be said, in many respects, than a human being when it is born into the world. Yet that being, if nurtured properly, if trained as it should be, has before it a career of never-ending glory. That little pulling infant may become, in the eternity of our God, a god, to sway power and dominion in the eternal worlds, to be the father of unnumbered millions. Yet at its birth who would anticipate such a future for it. (Oct. 5, 1844, JD, 25:319; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 104.)

The Origin of Man:

If we take man, he is said to have been made in the image of God, for the simple reason that he is a son of God, and being his son, he is, of course, has offspring, an emanation from God, in whose likeness, we are told, he is made. He did not originate from a chaotic mass of matter, moving or inert, but came forth possessing, in an embryonic state, all the faculties and powers of a God. And when he shall be perfected, and have progressed to maturity, he will be like his Father--a God, being indeed his offspring. As the horse, the ox, the sheep, and every living creature, including man, propagates its own species and perpetuates its own kind, so does God perpetuate his. (Ma, 164--165; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 52.)

A God in Embryo:

Man is a dual being, possessed of body and spirit, made in the image of God, and connected with him and with eternity. He is a God in embryo and will live and progress throughout the eternal ages, if obedient to the laws of the Godhead, as the Gods progress throughout the eternal ages. (JD, 23:65, April 9, 1882; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 52.)

Man, A Son Of God:

What is man? A god, even the son of God, possessing noble aspirations, holy feelings, that may be governed by virtuous principles, possessing elevated ideas, wishing to realize everything that God has destined to submit to all his laws, to endure every kind of privation and affliction and suffering, as seeing him that is invisible, looking for a city that hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God--feeling to live for that purpose, and that alone. This is what man is, if he lives the religion of heaven, and performs faithfully those things God has appointed him to do, that he may increase from intelligence to intelligence, and go on with that eternal progression, not only in this world, but in worlds without end. (JD, 8:1-2, 3-4, 5, February 19, 1860; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 54-55.)

The Image of God:

We are made in the image of God, we were designed by the intelligence of God, and the organs we have are the same kind of organs that the Gods themselves possess. I consider that the body and the spirit are connected together in some inscrutable, indefinable, and intelligent manner; that, if we comprehended, would be a greater wonder and mystery to us than anything that we have already referred to. (JD, 11:74-77, February 5, 1866; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 56.)

The Exaltation of Man:

It is for the exaltation of man to this state of superior intelligence and Godhood that the mediation and atonement of Jesus Christ is instituted; and that noble being, man, made in the image of God, is rendered through adoption, and is rendered capable of becoming a God, possessing the power, the majesty, the exaltation and the position of a God.... (The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 57.)

Sons and Daughters of God:
And now, after the many testimonies which have been given of him, this is the testimony, last of all, which we give of him: That he lives! For we saw him, even on the right hand of God; and we heard the voice bearing record that he is the Only Begotten of the Father-That by him, and through him, and of him, the worlds are and were created, and the inhabitants thereof are begotten sons and daughters unto God." (D&C 76:20-24.)

Christ
...with the righteous saints, he shall reign to all eternity as King of Kings, Lord of Lords, and God of Gods. To his holy name, both now and forever, be ascribed glory and honor, power, riches, and dominion, and an eternal fulness of all things for endless ages.

Eternity to eternity.
Those who become gods will then be from eternity to eternity, everlastingly the same, always possessing the fulness of all things and multiplying their race without end. (Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 1, pp. 10-12.) (Momon Doctrine, p. 240.)

Exaltation
Celestial marriage is the gate to exaltation, and exaltation consists in the continuation of the family unit in eternity. Exaltation is eternal life, the kind of life which God lives. Those who obtain it gain an inheritance in highest of three heavens within the celestial kingdom. (D. & C. 131:1-4.) They have eternal increase, a continuation of the seeds forever and ever, a continuation of the lives, eternal lives; that is, they have spirit children in the resurrection, in relation to which offspring they stand in the same position that God our Father stands to us. They inherit in due course the fulness of the glory of the Father, meaning that they have all power in heaven and on earth. (D. & C. 76:50-60; 93:1-40.) "Then shall they be gods, because they have no end; therefore shall they be from everlasting to everlasting, because they continue; then shall they be above all, because all things are subject unto them. Then shall they be gods, because they have all power, and the angels are subject unto them." (D. & C. 132:16-26; Docrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp. 35-79.)
Although salvation may be defined in many ways to mean many things, in its most pure and perfect definition it is a synonym of exaltation. This was the way in which the Prophet used it when he left us this inspired explanation:
"Where shall we find a prototype into whose likeness we may be assimilated, in order that we may be made partakers of life and salvation? or, in other words, where shall we find a saved being? for if we can find a saved being, we may ascertain without much difficulty what all others must be in order to be saved. We think that it will not be a matter of dispute, that two beings who are unlike each other cannot be saved; for whatever constitutes the salvation of one will constituet the salvation of every creature which will be saved; and if we find one saved being in all existence, we may see what others must be, or else not be saved.
"We ask, then, where is the prototype? or where is the saved being? We conclude, as to the answer of this question, there will be dispute among those who believe the Bible, that it is Christ: all will agree in this, that he is the prototype or standard of salvation; or, in other words, that he is a saved being. And if we should continue our interrogation and ask how it is that he is saved, the answer would be-because he is a just and holy being; and if he were anything different from what he is, he would not be saved; for his salvation depends on his being precisely what he is and nothing else; for if it were possible for him to change, in the least degree, so sure he would fail of salvation and lose all his dominion, power, authority and glory, which constitute salvation; for salvation consists in the glory, authority, majesty, power and dominion which Jehovah possesses and in nothing else; and no being can possess it but himself or one like him."

After quoting many passages of scripture, the record of the Prophet's teachings continues: "These teachings of the Savior most clearly show unto us the nature of salvation, and what he proposed unto the human family when he proposed to save them--that he proposed to make them like unto himself, and he was like the Father, the great prototype of all saved beings; and for any portion of the human family to be assimilated into their likeness is to be saved; and to be unlike them is to be destroyed; and on this hinge truns the door of salvation." (Lectrues on Faith, pp. 63-67.) (Mormon Doctrine, p 258.)

First Vision

Our knowledge of God's dealings with his children from the days of Adam to the present leads us to believe that bothe the Father and the Son have been manifested to other prophets in other ages. Joseph Smith, himself, on at least two other occasions saw these heavenly Beings in vision (D. & C. 76:22-24; Teachings, p. 107), and Stephen beheld them as the murderous mob stoned him to death. (Acts 7:54-60.) Indee, it is the privilege of those who attain the Second Comforter to have the Son "manifest the Father" unto them. (Teachings, pp. 149-151; John 14:23; D. & C. 130:3.)

Fulness of the Father

The express fulness of the Father has reference to his position of power, glory, perfection, and godhood, The "fulness of the glory of the Father" consists in the possession of "all power, both in heaven and on earth [D&C 132:19]." (D. & C. 93: 16-17.) God is an exalted Man, and exaltation consists in having the fulness of all powers, all attributes, and all perfections. (D. & C. 76; 93; 132.) [No one can have this singly but needs their complementry part to hold and have all power, the power to creat life...]

The plan of exaltation is one whereunder those who fill the full measure of their creation are able to progress to that state wherein they will gain the fulness of the Father. Christ is the Examplar; he went from grace to grace until finally after the resurrection he gained the fulness of all things, including the fulness of truth, knowledge, and power. (Matt. 28:18; D. & C. 93:6-30.)

Obedience to the whole law of crowning ordiance of celestial marriage, is the way whereby the fulness of the Father may be gained. Those so married, who keep their covenants, shall go on " to their exaltation and glory in all things,...which glory shall be a fulness and a continuation of the seeds forever and ever. Then shall they be gods." (D. & C. 132:6, 19-20; Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp. 24, 44-45, 62-63.)

Joseph Smith taught: "All those who keep his [the Father's] commandments shall grow up from grace to grace, and become heirs of the heavenly kingdom, and joint heirs with Jesus Christ; possessing the same mind, being transformed into the same image or likeness, even the express image of him who fills all in all; being filled with the fulness of his glory, and become one in him, even as the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are one.... As the son partakes of the fulness of the Father through the Spirit so the saints are, byt eh same Spirit, to be partakers of the same fulness, to enjoy the same glory; for as the Father and the Son are one, so, in like manner, the saints are to be one in them. Through the love of the Father, the mediation of Jesus Christ, and the gift of the Holy Spirit, they are to be heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ." (Lectures on Faith, pp. 50-52; 3 Ne. 28:10-11.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 300-301.)

God Man's purpose in life is to learn the nature and kind of being that God is, and then, by conformity to his laws and ordiances, to progress to that high state of exaltation wherein man becomes perfect as the Father is perfect. (Matt. 5:48; Teachings, pp. 342-362.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 318.)

God
God can be known only by revelation. He must be revealed, or remain forever unknown (cf. Mosiah 4:9). God first revealed himself to Adam (Moses 5; 6) and has repetedly made himself known by revelation to chosen patriarchs and prophets since that time. The present translation of John 1:18 and 1Jn. 4:12 is misleading, for these say that no man has ever seen God. However, the scriptures state that there have been many who have seen him. The JST [Joseph Smith Translation] corrects these items to show that no sinful man has ever seen God, and also that Jesus Christ is the only Way to God. God the Father and his son have been manifested by voice, sight, or otherwise at various times, as at the baptism of Jesus (Matt. 3:16-17); the Transfiguration (Matt. 17:1-8); to Stephen (Acts 7:55-56); and to the Nephites 3 Ne. 11:7). The Father and the Son personally visited Joseph Smith in the Sacred Grove, in the spring of 1820, near Manchester, New York, in the opening of the dispensation of the fulness of times (JS-H 1:11-20).
Latter-day revelation confirms the biblical account of God as the literal father of the human family; as a being who is concerned fro the welfare of mankind, and a Personage who hears and answers prayers. (Bible Dictionary, p. 682).
Although God created all things and is the ruler of the universe, being omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent (through his Spirit), mankind has a special relationship to him that differentiates man from all other created things: man is leterly God's offspring, made in his image, whereas all other things are but the work of his hands (cf. Acts 17:28-29.) (Bible Dictionary, p. 681-682.)

|v28 For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.
|v29 Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device.
(NewT:Acts 17:28-29)

|v38 Which was the son of Enos, which was the son of Seth, which was the son of Adam, which was the son of God.
(NewT:Luke 3:38)

(PoGP:Moses 6:22)

Godhood
That exaltation which the saints of all ages have so devotly sought is godhood itself. Godhood is to have the character, possess the attributes, and enjoy the perfections which the Father has. It is to do what he does, have the powers resident in him [and his complementry companion[s] jointly], and live as he lives, having eternal increase. (D. & C. 132:17:20, 37.) It is to know him in the full and complete sense, and no one can fully know God except another exalted personage who is like him in all respects. Those attaining the supreme height are sons of God (D. & C. 76:50-60); they receive the fulness of the Father and find membership in the Church of the Firstborn (D. & C. 93:17-22); they are joint heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18), inheriting with him all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-51) [Expand the consept of earthly parents oldest child has more tallents takes care of other children and perhaps even saves them but the Father and mother love all their children equally they appreciate the tallents of the oldest children. But they love the Children all the same not the talents-they appreciate the tallents therefore all their children inherit the same-thus we are Joint-heirs with Christ. And Christ our eldest most tallented brother and savior thought it not robery to receive the fulness of God.]

Joseph Smith said: "God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens!... I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity. I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another, and that he was once a man like us; yea, that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did; and I will show it from the Bible....

"Here, then, is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests [and Queens and Priestesses] to God, the same as all gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation the exaltation, until you attain to the resurrection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlasting brunings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power.... [Such persons are] heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a god, and ascend the throne fo eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, pp. 345-347.) Again: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 321-322.)

Joint-Heirs with Christ

As the literal Son of God--the Firstborn in the spirit, the Only Begotten in the flesh--Christ is the natural heir of the Father. It thus became his right to inherit, receive, and possess all that his Father had. (John 16:15.) And his Father is possessor of all things: the universe; all power, wisdom, and goodness; the fulness of truth and knowledge; and an infinity of all good attributes. By heirship and by obedience, going from grace to grace, the Son attained these same things. (D. & C. 93:5-17.) By obedience to the fulness of gospel law, righteous men are adopted into the family of God so that they also become heirs, joint-heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18; Gal. 3:26-29; 4:1-7), inheritors of all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-41.) In his famous King Follett Sermon, speakin of those who "shall be heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ," the Prophet asked what their glory should be. Answering his own query, he described joint-heirship as inheriting "the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a God, and ascend the throne of eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, p. 347.)

A joint-heir is one who inherits equally with all other heirs including the Chief Heir who is the Son. Each Joint-heir has an equal and an undivided portion of the whole of everything. If one knows all things, so do all others. If one has all power, so do all those who inherit jointly with him. If the universe belongs to one, so it does equally to the total of all upon whom the joint inheritances are bestowed.

Joint-heirs are possessors of all things. (D. & C. 50:26-28.) All things are theirs for they have exaltation. (D. & C. 76:50-60.) They are made "equal" with their Lord. (D. & C. 88:107.) They gain all power both in heaven and on earth and receive the fulness of the Father, and all knowledge and truth are theirs. (D. & C. 93:15-30.) They are gods. (D. & C. 132:20.) Celestial marriage is the gate to this high state of exaltation. (Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp 24, 35-39; D. & C. 131: 1-4; 132.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 394-395.)

Lord of lords
Both the Father and the Son are properly known by the title Lord of Lord's, a designation that means literally what it says. (Deut. 10:12-22; 1 Tim. 6:15; Rev. 17:14; 19:16.) The purpose of this name is not simply to reveal that Christ, for instance, is the Lord of mortal persons who are ranked as lords, but rather it is to show that he is Lord and God to others who themselves also are Lords and Gods in their own right. Thus Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (among others) "have entered into their exaltation, according to the promises, [What promises? The ones sealed upon us in the temple D&C 131; 132] and sit upon thrones, and are not angels but are gods." (D. & C. 132:29, 37.) Since exalted beings themselves become Lords and Gods, and since they still stand in subjection to Christ their Lord and their God, it follows that he is a Lord of Lords. Whatever is true of him is also true of his Father, and in due course it will be true of all exalted beings. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 451.)

Those who are faithful in their priesthood callings in this life shall continue on in their holy authorizations in eternity; they shall remain forever "priests and kings"; their destiny is to stand as "priests of the Most High, after the order of Melchizedek, which was after the order of Enoch, which was after the order of the Only Begotten Son." (D. & C. 76:56-57.)

This priesthood "holdeth the key of the mysteries of the kingdom, even the key of the knowledge of God." (D. & C. 84:17-19.)

Those who are priests forever, who "are priests of the Most High, after the order of Melchizedek,... are gods, even the sons of God." (D. & C. 76:57-58.) They have become joint-heirs with Christ, having kept the same covenant and been bount by teh same oath.

|v33 For whoso is faithful unto the obtaining these two priesthoods of which I have spoken, and the magnifying their calling, are sanctified by the Spirit unto the renewing of their bodies.
|v34 They become the sons of Moses and of Aaron and the seed of Abraham, and the church and kingdom, and the elect of God.
|v35 And also all they who receive this priesthood receive me, saith the Lord;
|v36 For he that receiveth my servants receiveth me;
|v37 And he that receiveth me receiveth my Father;
|v38 And he that receiveth my Father receiveth my Father's kingdom; therefore all that my Father hath shall be given unto him.

until every exalted person is linked in. Exaltation consists in the continuatin of the family unit in eternity, and every family which so continuation of the family unit in eternity, and every family which so continues will find its proper place in the eternal organizational framwork which the Almighty has ordained. None [of the worthy] will be forgotten. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 558)

D&C 132 must abide this law [plurality of wives]:
[Jesus is the Son of God, not of the Holy Ghost]
Just as Jesus is literally the Son of Mary, so he is the personal and literal offspring of God the Eternal Father, who himself is an exalted personage having a tangible body of flesh and bones. (E. & C. 130:22.) Apostate religionists--unable to distinguish between the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost--falsely suppose that the Holy Ghost was the Father of our Lord. Matthew's statement, "she was found with child of the Holy Ghost," properly translated should say, 'she was found with child by the power of the Holy Ghost.' (Matt. 1:18.) Luke's account (Luke 1:35) accurately records what took place. Alma perfectly describes out LOrd's conception and birth by prophesying: Christ "shall be born of Mary,...she being a virgin, a precious and chosen vessel, who shall be overshadowed and conceive by the power of the Holy Ghost, and bring forth a son, yea, even the Son of God." (Alma 7:10.) Nephi spoke similary when he said that at the time of her conception, Mary "was carried away in the Spirit," with the result that the child born of her was "the Lamb of God, yea, event he Son of the Eternal Father." (1 Ne. 11:19-21.) As Gabriel told luke, he was the "Son of the highest" (Luke 1:32), and "the Higherst" is the first member of the godhead, not the third.
[The Holy Ghost should be a part of every marriage relationship overshadowing this most devine and holy of holy relationships held in the holy of holies of a man and wife.... For the Holy Ghost is given as a constant companion..... This is a perfect relationship when overshadowed by the third member of the godhead as was Mary and the Father the Perfect pattern of the highest sacrement of all sacrements..... (DNTC 1, p. 82-83.)

Only begotten Son:
Only Begotten in the flesh, meaning in mortality. This designation of our Lord signifies that he was begotten by Man of Holiness as literally as any mortal father begets a son. The natural processes of procreation were involved; Jesus was begotten by his Father as literally as he was conceived by his mother. [Heber J. Grants talk in Brigham City.]

Luke 3:38 Adam, which was the son of God
This statement, found also in Moses 6:22, has a deep and profound significance and also means what it says. Father Adam came, as indicated, to this sphere, gaining an immortal body, because death had not yet entered the world. (2 Ne. 2:22.) Jesus, on the otherhand, was the Only Begotten in the flesh, meaning into a world of mortality where death already reigned. (DNTC 1, p. 95.)

Though "there is none other God but one" for men on this earth to worship, yet "there be gods many and lords many" throughout the infinite expanse of eternity. (1 Cor. 8:4-7.) That is, there are many exalted, perfected, glorified personages who reign as gods over their own dominions. John saw 144,000 of them standing with Christ upon MOunt Zion, all "having his Father's name written in their foreheads" (Rev.14-1), which is to say that they were gods and were so identified by wearing crowns so stating. Indeed, to each person who overcomes and gains exaltation, Christ has promised: "I will write upon him the name of my God,: and he shall "sit with me in my throne, even as

I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:12, 21.)
Joseph Smith said: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) All exalted persons "are gods, even the sons of God." (D. & C. 76:58.) Through obedience to the whole gospel law, including celestial marriage, they attain the "fulness of the glory of the Father" [Even to the ataining of the Eternal Godhead themselves, they take a covenant: They themself in the eternal cycle will become God the 1st or Creator, one of their Sons will become God the Second or God the Savior and a third, God the testitator or witnessor....] (D. & C. 93:6-28.) and "a continuation of the seeds forever and ever. Then shall they be gods, because they have no end; therefore shall they be form everlasting to everlasting, because they continue; then shall they be above all, because all things are subject unto them. Then shall they be gods, because they have all power, and the angels are subject unto them." (D. & C. 132:19-20.) (DNTC 1, p. 491.)

Know thee the only true God
It is one thing to know about God and another to know him. We know about him when we learn that he is a personal being in whose image man is created; when we learn that the Son is in the express image of his Father's person; specified attributes and powers. But we know them, in the sense of gaining eternal life, when we enjoy and experience the same things they do. To know God is to think what he thinks, to feel what he feels, to have the power he possesses, to comprehend the truths he understands, and to do what he does. Those who know God become like him, and have his kind of life, which is eternal life. (DNTC 1, p. 762.)

Hebrews 7:21
God swore an oath that Christ should be a priest forever; that is, though our Lord had possessed the priesthood in pre-existance, he would receive it anew in mortality and would have it forever--in time and in eternity. And this sets the pattern for all who become sons of God and joint-heirs with Christ. "Every person upon whom the Melchizedek Priesthood is conferred receives his office and clalling in this higher priesthood with an oath and a covenant. The covenant is to this effect: 1. Man on his part solemnly agree to magnify his calling in the priesthood, to keep the commandments of God, to live by every word that proceedeth for from the mouth of Deity, and to walk in paths of righteousness and virtue; and 2. God on his part agrees to give such persons an inheritance of exaltation and godhood in his everlastin presence. The oath is the solemn attestation of Deity, his sworn promise, that those who keep their part in the covenant shall come forth and inherit all things according to the promeise." [D&C 132:19.] (Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p 480.) (DNTC 3, p. 173.)

Revelation 1:6
Hath made us kings and priests] "Holders of the Melchizedek Priesthood have power to press forward in righteousness, living by every word that proceedeth for from the mouth of God [this is mainly the wisperings of the Holy Ghost], magnifying their callings, going from grace to grace, until through the fulness of the ordinances of the temple they receive the fulness fo the priesthood and are ordained kings and priests. Those so attaining shall have exaltation and be kings, priests, rulers, and lords in their respective spheres in the eternal kingdoms of the great King who is God our Father." (Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p. 425.) Those of whom John is here writing had already gained their rank and status as kings and priests, as have many also in the dispensation of the fulness of times. "John said he was a king." (Teachings, p. 375.)

Unto God and his Father] In one of the crowning sermons of his ministry, delivered June 16, 1844, just eleven days before his martyrdome, the Prophet Joseph Smith read as a text, Revelation 1:6, and announced: "It is altogether corrct in the translation." Then he proceeded with great power to consider the subject of a plurality of Gods. He quoted a number of Biblical passages and used his text verse to to show there was "a God above the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.: He said that all the faithful saints shall "come to dwell in unity, and in all the glory and everlasting bruning of the Gods; and then we shall see as we are seen, and be as our God and he as his Father. I want to reason a little on this subject. I learned it by translating the papyrus which is now in my house.
"I learned a testimony concerning Abraham, and he reasoned concerning the God of heaven. 'In order to do that,' said he, 'suppose we have two facts: that supposes another fact may exist--two men on the earth, one wiser than the other, would logically show that another who is wiser than the wisest may exist. Intelligences exist one above another, so that there is no end to them.'
"If Abraham reasoned thus--If Jesus Christ was the Son of God, and John discovered that God the Father of Jesus Christ had a Father, you may suppose that he had a Father also. Where was there ever a son without a father? And where was there ever a father without first being a son? Whenever did a tree or anything spring into existence without a progenitor? And everything comes in this way. Paul says that which is earthly is in the likeness of that which is heavenly. Hence if Jesus had a Father, can we not believe that he had a Father also? I dispise the idea of being scared to death at such a doctrine, for the Bible is full of it.
"I want you to pay particular attention to what I am saying. Jesus said that the Father wrought percisely in the same way as his Father had done before him. As the Father had done before? He laid down his life, and took it up the same as his Father had done before. He did as he was sent, to lay down his life and take it up agian; and then was committed unto him the keys. I know it is good reasoning." (Teachings, pp. 369-376.) (DNTC 3, p. 436-437.)

He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before the angels. [One signiture on the check also need the Holy Ghost to do the same thing.]

The book of life] "In a literal sense, the book of life, or Lamb's book of Life, is the record kept in heaven which contains the names of the faithful and an account of their righteous covenants and deeds. (D. & C. 128:6-7; Ps. 69:28; Rev. 3:5; 21:27.) The book of life is the book containing the names of those who shall inherit eternal life; it is the book of eternal life. (Dan. 12:1-4; Heb. 12:23; D. & C. 76:68; 132:19.) It is 'the book of the names of the sanctified, even them of the celestial world.' (D. & C. 88:2.) Names of faithful saints are recorded in the book of life while they are yet in mortality. (Luke 10:20; Philip. 4:3; Teachings, p. 9.) But those names are blotted out in the even of wickedness [Non repentance-D&C 132:19 shows that they will be turned over to the buffetings of satan]. (Rev. 13:8; 17:8; 22:19.)" (Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p. 97.) (DNTC 3, p. 455.)

Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me. [D&C 132:19; 93:1]

Gospel Mysteries

To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.
Sit with me in my throne] In conversation with Deity, Enoch said: "Thou hast made me, and given unto me a right to they throne." (Moses 7:59.) Thus: "Ye shall be even as I am." (3 Ne. 28:10.) 'Ye shall have eternal life; ye shall have exaltation; ye shall be gods; ye shall rule and reign forever on a heavenly throne.'

I...am set down with my Father in his throne] "I am even as the Father." (3 Ne. 28:10.) Speaking of those who are "heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ," the Prophet asked, "What is it?" and then answered: "To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a God, and ascend the throne of eternal power, the same as those who have gone befoer. What did Jesus do? Why; I do the things I saw my Father do when worlds came roling into existence. My Father workded out his kingdom with fear and trembling, and I must do the same; and when I get my kingdom, I shall present it to my Father, so that he may obtain kingdom upon kingdom, and it will exalt him in glory. He will then take a higher exaltation, and I will take his place, and thereby become exalted myself. So that Jesus treads in the tracks of his Father, and inherits what God did before; and God is thus glorified and exalted in the salvation and exaltation of all his children. It is plain beyond disputatuin, and you thus learn some of the first principles of the gospel." (Teachings, pp. 347-348.) (DNTC 3, p. 462.)

And now we learn that after the converts are made, after there kindreds of the earth, there will be those among them who advance and progress until they become kings and priests. See Rev. 1:1-6; 5:1-14; 20:4-6. John here sees 144,000 of these kings and priests, 12,000 from each tribe, converted, baptized, endowed, married for eternity, and finally sealed up unto eterhal life, having their callings and elections made sure. See 2 Pet. 1:1-19. (DNTC 3, p. 491.)

Saying, Hurt not the earth, niether the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads.

Sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads] Of this sealing the Prophet Joseph Smith said: "Four destroying angels holding power over the four quarters of the earth until the servants of God are sealed in their foreheads, which signifies sealing the blessing upon their heads, meaning the everlasting covenant, thereby making their calling and election made sure, none so involved shall be lost [guaranteed]; all shall come forth to an inheritance of glory and exaltation in the kingdom of God. [Also, an unnumbered multitude.] (DNTC 3, p. 492.)

The keys and power to restore the Ten Tribes to their former high status in Israel, and to lead them from their unknown places of lodgement in the lands north of Canaan and Assyria, where given by Moses to Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery on April 3, 1836. (D. & C. 110:11.) These keys now reside in the President of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. That the remnants of Israel shall be restroed before the Second Coming of the Son of Man is evident from the fact that 12,000 from each tribe are to receive the restored gospel, and theat through the ordiances of the Lord's house they are to become kings and priets, who shall administer the blessings of the everlasting gospel to the Lord's elect. (D. & C. 77:9-11.) [Those who have been called and elected these shall seal them up and make their callings and ellections sure, this work shall be done for the living and the dead as they shall dwell do their work in the temple's day and night. Probable sealers...]

As the servants of God have their calling and election made sure when they are "sealed...in their foreheads" (Rev. 7:2-8), (DNTC 3, p. 524.)

A perfect description of exalted bgings! For, as with the 144,000, so with all of whom the glorified Lord says, "Ye shall be even as I am." (3 Ne. 28:10.) (DNTC 3, p. 527.)

Christ is king of kings and lord of lords.
Revelation 19:16
And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

A name written, that no man knew] As with all glorified beings, our Lord has a new name in celestial exaltation, a name [1] known to and [2] comprehended by those only who know God in the sense that they have become as he is and have eternal life. See Rev. 2:12-17. Thus, Christ's "new name" shall be written upon all those who are joint-heirs with him (Rev. 3:12), and shall signify that they have become even as he is and he is even as the Father. (3 Ne. 28:10.) [In otherwords our names shall also become KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.] (DNTC 3, p. 567.)

All men of whatever rank, status or position are now and everlastingly shall be subject to Christ our Lord who is King over all. But in the great and eternal plan of salvation, as joint heirs with the Father's natural Son, all exalted beings shall become kings, priests, lords and gods. Christ thus becomes a King of Kings, a Priest of Priests, a Lord of Lords, a God of Gods. (Mormon Doctrin, 2nd ed., pp. 322-323; 424; 451.) (DNTC 3, p. 568.).

And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads.
And their shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveht them lighe: and they shall riegn for ever and ever.

They shall see his face] They shall dwell in the presence of God and the Lamb and have personal communion and intercourse with them. Man shall converse with God, as when " a man speaketh unto his friend." (Ex. 33:11.)

They shall reign for ever and ever] "Then shall they be gods." (D. & C. 132:20.) "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a God to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (DNTC 3, p. 589.)

How We May Know What God Is Like

In the Sacred Grove interview with the Eternal Father, the Prophet Joseph Smith, as had Moses of old, talked face to face with God, and was introduced to God the Son, the Redeemer of the world, as the Only Begotten, meaning only begotten in the flesh, and beloved Son of God the Father, whom John described as the "Word," who was God, and was with God in the beginning. Concerning this it was revealed to Joseph Smith that the Lord was the firstborn of the Father in the pre-mortal estate.

Thus, Jesus Christ is the Son of God, being the first born, as to his spirit person birth, and the Only Begotten, as to his birth in the flesh. We also are the sons and daughters of God the Eternal Father. We can, upon that reasoning, understand something about what God is like, for there is an eternal principle in heaven and on earth that every seed begets of its kind, every seed brings forth in its own likeness and character. This confirms the scriptural declarations that man is created in the image of God. (ARD p. 90.)

The Species Of Gods

Associated with God the Eternal Father, who presides at the center of all intelligence and wisdom referred to scripturally as "the throne of God," are other gods of the same species, within the same realm of glory as he who presides. This is a condition of being and existence obtainable through the very processes of mortality and its subsequent glorified immortality. Both ancient and modern revelation from God establish this as the fact.

"God himself," taught the Prophet Joseph Smith, "was once as we are now, and is an exalted man,... that is the great secret. If the veil were rent today, and the great God who holds this world in its orbit, and who upholds all worlds and all things by his power, was to make himself visible,-I say, if you were to see him today, you would see him like a man in form-like yourselves in all the person, image, and very form as a man." (DHC, Joseph Smith, Vol. 6, p. 305.)

When we look upon the human face we look upon the likeness of our Father and God.
God the Father, is an individual, and personality, as are all of the species of Gods who dwell and associate with him. But he is over all. These glorified nobles dwell in tabernacles of flesh and bones. Their bodies are different than mortal bodies, in that they possess bodies which have been quickened by the spirit and are thus glorified. Such celestialized bodies are not governed by the same laws as those by which earthly bodies are governed. (ARD p. 178.)

How God Became God

But, if God is an individual spirit and dwells in a glorified resurrected body, the question will arise, "Is he the Eternal Father?" Yes, he is the Eternal Father. "Is it a fact that he never had a beginning?" In the elementary parts of his organism, he did not. But is he is an organized Being, there must have been a time when that being was organized. This, some will say, would infer that God had a beginning. This spirit which pervades all things, which is the light and life of all things, by which our Heavenly Father operates, by which he is omnipotent, never had a beginning and never will have an end. It is the light of truth; it is the spirit of intelligence. The Prophet Joseph Smith made this statement which gives further enlightenment on this subject:

"I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity. I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.
... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another; and that he was once a man like us; yes that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did." (DHC, VOL. VI, p. 205.)

A revelation from God establishes this fact. "Intelligence or the light of truth never was created, neither indeed can be." (D&C 93:29.) And we are told further that this Spirit, when it is manifest, is God moving in his glory. Now, this Spirit always existed. It always operated, but it is not understood, and cannot be comprehended except through organisms-(meaning its enclosure in organized bodies). (J of D, Chas. W. Penrose, Vol. 26, p. 23.) (ARD p. 179.)

Wilford Woodruff said the Twelve Apostles had received "their endowment, and actually received the keys of the Kingdom of God, and oracles of God, keys of revelation, and pattern of heavenly things. (Times and Seasons 5:698)

Orson Hyde said the Twelve Apostles had been given "the keys of the kingdom, and every gift, key and power that Joseph ever had, confirmed upon our heads by an anointing. (The Return 2:253)
Joseph confirmed this by saying:

Those holding the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood are kings and priests of the Most High God, holding the keys of power and blessings. (TPJS, p. 322)

And again--
Here, then is eternal life-to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be Gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests to god, the same as all Gods have done before you.... (TPJS, p. 346)

Brigham Young added:

> For any person to have the fulness of that Priesthood, he must be a king and a priest. (Manuscript History of Brigham Young, Aug. 6, 1843)

THE SEVENTH HEAVEN

1. Life of Heber C. Kimball, pp. 161-162; Elder Orson F. Whitney; 9th ed; 1979.

All truth may be new to the ignorant, though old as eternity to the Gods, and whom the Gods make wise. Much that is true, is not expedient. The Prophet Joseph could not tell all he knew, even to the Elders' nor the Elders all they knew to the people. Paul, caught up unto 'the third heaven'; Joseph,.unto 'the seventh heaven,' saw and heard things unspeakable, things 'unlawful to be uttered.' The mysteries of God's kingdom are not for the world, nor for novices in the faith until it is wisdom in the Lord, 'lest they perish.'

2. A History of Early Christian Doctrine Before The Council of Nicaea, by Jean Danielou; Vol. One; The Theology of Jewish Christianity-.

174. This hidden world includes first of all the heavens. Of these, traditional Judaism knew only three: the heaven of meteors, the heaven of stars and the heaven of God, and this is the scheme employed in the older Jewish apocalyptic. It is this system to which Paul alludes, and there is no ground for supposing that he implied seven heavens. Some Jewish Christian texts--as, for example, the Testament of Levi * * * retained the three heaven doctrine; indeed, the Pseudo-Clementines, which represent a traditionalist and anti-syncretist tendency, reduce them to two. In our period, however, this theory had to compete with the rival doctrine of the seven heavens. * * *

15. First, there is a doctrine of seven heavens, a cosmology which seems to have been a Syriac modification of the more archaic system of three heavens.

9. It will be seen that this fits in with the doctrine of the three principal heavens, the seven heavens being subdivisions of the second principal heaven.

All the Father Hath:

Speaking of those who receive the testimony of Jesus and who overcome by faith, the Lord says: "They are they who are the church of the Firstborn. They are they into whose hands the Father has given all things."

Now, these are not idle words given merely to round out a sentence; but they are full of meaning.

> They are they who are priests and kings, who have received of his fulness and of his glory; and are priests of the Most High, after the order of Melchizedek, which was after the order of Enoch, which was after the order of the Only Begotten Son. Wherefore, as it is written, they are gods, even the sons of God wherefore, all things are theirs, whether life or death, or things present, or things to come, all are theirs, and they are Christ's, and Christ is God's. (D&C 76:54-59.)

> I Wish to emphasize the following: "And also all they who receive this priesthood receive me, saith the Lord; For he that receiveth my servants receiveth me; and he that receiveth me receiveth my Father; and he that receiveth my Father, receiveth my Father's kingdom; therefore all that my father hath shall be given unto him." (D&C 84:35-38.)

Notice the last clause, "All that my Father hath"--not a part, but "all that my Father hath shall be given unto him." That language admits of no mistake. It corresponds with the other language that I have read in your hearing. It also corresponds with what the Lord says in Section 93: "I give unto you these sayings that ye may understand and know how to worship, and know what you worship, that you may come unto the Father in my name, and in due time receive of his fulness. For if you keep my commandments you shall receive of his fulness, and be glorified in me as I am in the Father; therefore, I say unto you, you shall receive grace for grace." (D&C 93:19-20.)

This same revelation goes on to say: "The Spirit of truth is of God. I am the Spirit of truth, and John bore record of me, saying: He received a fulness of truth, yea, even of all truth; and no man receiveth a fulness unless he keepeth his commandments. He that keepeth his commandments receiveth truth and light, until he is glorified in truth and knoweth all things." (D&C 93:26-28.)

These are sufficiently plain to reveal to us that which God has in contemplation for His faithful children. The Latter-day Saints are promised, if they are faithful, that they shall receive the fulness as Jesus received it; and Jesus received it as the Father received it. In the words of Paul they become "heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ." (Romans 8:17.) There is nothing that the Savior has attained unto that God's faithful children are not promised. They are promised the same blessings, the same power, the same authority, the same gifts, the same graces. (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 87-88.)

An Equal Interest in Power and Authority of God:

I know that we are apt to think that heaven is a sort of spiritual place. It is spiritual; but God our Eternal Father is a being of power. He controls the earth and the inhabitants thereof; He controls the elements of the earth; and we are promised that we shall be sharers with Him. He will give us an equal interest in all this power and authority. What is more desirable to man, generally speaking, than to wield power? Mankind aim for it. To what lengths will ambitious men go to wield power, to sit upon thrones and to wield a sceptre of authority. History tells us that men have been willing to wade through seas of blood to gratify this ambition.

Now, this ambition can be gratified righteously be keeping the commandments of God; and a righteous man will exercise righteous authority. That is the object God had in view in sending us here. Through faithfully keeping His commandments we may attain unto power--not illegitimate power, but lawful power--and wield it for our own exaltation and for the exaltation of other human beings. (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 88.)

Priests and Kings Upon Thrones:

It is God's design to make us priests and kings, not to have an empty title, not to sit upon thrones without power but to be actually and really priests and kings. The promise is that all things that He hath shall be given unto us. We will be His heirs; we will be (if I may use the term without irreverence) co-partners with Him in all this power and authority.... (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 88.) [Note: this suggest that we should start exercising this authority in our homes now on earth and not keep secret. King of kings and Lord of lord implies that others round about know that you are a king just by looking at you.... We have got to learn to be kings and priests and gods....]

Heirs of God:

Remember the word! If we are heirs of God, why then we shall inherit the power and the blessings and the glory of God our Eternal Father. This is what the Latter-day Saints ought to have constantly in view, "How can I live so as to become an heir of God and a Joint heir with Jesus Christ? What course can I take to secure to myself celestial glory--a never-fading crown?" Not an empty bauble, not a barren sceptre but a sceptre of power, a sceptre of dominion, a crown that means something real, a throne that means the kingly and queenly authority. This is what the Latter-day Saints have in view when they have their hearts fixed as they should be and their eyes open to the glory that God has in store for the faithful. (Apr. 27, 1890, DW 40:836; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 89-90.)

The next question for us to examine is , how, and in what manner are men benefited by the atonement and by the resurrection? In this, that the atonement, having restored man to his former position before the Lord, has placed him in a position made it possible for him to obtain that exaltation and glory which it would have been impossible for him to have received without it; even to become a son of God by adoption; and being a son, then an heir of God, and a joint heir with Jesus Christ; and that, as Christ overcame, he has made it possible, and has placed it within the power of believers in him also to overcome; and as is authorized to inherit his Father's glory which he had with him before the world was, with his resurrected body, so through the adoption may we overcome and sit down with him upon his throne, as he has overcome and has sat down upon his Father's throne. (MA, 179; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 119.)

Bright and Morning Star
...those who gain eternal life shall be joint-heirs with Christ, it is interesting to note that such exalted persons are promised that they shall receive the morning star, that is, reach a state of pre-eminence and perfection themselves. (Rev. 2:26-28.) "And they that be wise whall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever." [Posterity, same as Abrahams blessing] (Dan. 12:3.) Peter's statement about the day star arising in the hearts of certain of the saints, has reference also to those who shall inherit the fulness of all things. (2 Pet. 1:19.)

Celestial Glory
Those who finally attain it are celestial, persons "shose bodies are celestial, whose glory is that of the sun, even the glory of God, the highest of all, whose glory the sun of the firmament is written of as being typical." (D. & C. 76:70; 1 Cor. 15:40-42.)
Exaltation consists in gaining a fulness of celestial glory. (D. & C. 132:19-20.) Those so attaining will receive "a fulness of the glory of the Father: and be glorified in Christ as he is in the Father. (D. & C. 93:16-20.) The prophet said that in the resurrection the righteous "shall rise again to dwell in everlasting burnings in immortal glory, not to sorrow, suffer, or die any more; but they shall be heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ." (Teachings p. 347.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 116)

Equality
1. Under conditions of full gospel equality, perfect fainess and equity would prevail in every sphere of life. All persons similarly situated would be treated exactly the same as all other such persons; all would enjoy and possess the same things. Perfect impartiality would reign, for "there should be an equality among all men." (Mosiah 27:3; Alma 1:26.) By way of illustration, the gospel message itself is and should be freely availabe to all men. (Third Article of Faith.) The Lord "inviteth them all [this is a prophetic statement for the black race] to come unto him and partake of his goodness; and he denieth none that come unto him, black and white, bond and free, male and female; and he remambereth the heathen; and all are alike unto God, both Jew and Gentile." (2 Ne. 26:33.)
Perfect equality does not now prevail, either in the world or in the Church. But when life is perfected among the saints and when the highest gospel law is lived, then both temporal and spiritual equality will prevail. Temporal adjustments under the principles of consecration will make "every man qual accordin to his circumstances and his wants and needs." (D. & C. 51:3; 82:17.) "In your temporal things you shall be qual, and this not grudgingly, otherwise the abundance of the manifestations of the Spirit shall be withheld." (E. & C. 70:14.) "For if ye are not equal in earthly things ye cannot be equal in obtaining heavenly things." (D. & C. 70:14.) "For if ye are not equal in earthly things ye cannto be equal in obtaining heavenly things." (D. & C. 78:3-7.)
2. Exalted beings will enjoy eternal equality in their high celestial status. "And he makes them equal in power, and in might, and in dominion." (D. & C. 76:95.) [This takes place in the Fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood in the New and Everlasting Covenant of Celestial Marriage.] "And then shall the angels be crowned with the glory of his might, and the saints shall be filled with his glory, and receive their inheritances and be made equal with him." (D. & C. 88:107.) [How can a married person be made equal with a person who is not. Faith
...where faith is, there will the knowledge of God be also, with all things which pertain thereto-revelations, visions, and dreams, as well as every necessary thing, in order that the possessors of faith may be perfected, and obtain salvation; for God must change, otherwise faith will prevail with him. And he who possesses it will, through it, obtain all necessary knowledge and wisdom, until he shall know God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, whom he has sent--whom to know is eternal life." (Lectrues on Faith, pp. 70-71.)
"And there were many whose faith was so exceeding strond, evern before Christ came, who could not be kept from within the veil, but truly saw with their eyes the things which they had beheld with an eye of faith, and they were glad." (Ether 12:19.) Today as anciently the same effects flow from faith. "It is the privilege of every elder to speak of the things of God," the Prophet said, "and could we all come together with one heart and one mind in perfect faith the veil might as well be rent today as next week, or any other time." (Teachings, p. 9; D. & C. 93:1.) [Presiden Kimball's talk on seeing the Lord; Also, see God in Bible Dictionary...]. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 266-267.)

First Vision
Our knowledge of God's dealings with his children from the days of Adam to the present leads us to believe that bothe the Father and the Son have been manifested to other prophets in other ages. Joseph Smith, himself, on at least two other occasions saw these heavenly Beings in vision (D. & C. 76:22-24; Teachings, p. 107), and Stephen beheld them as the murderous mob stoned him to death. (Acts 7:54-60.) Indee, it is the privilege of those who attain the Second Comforter to have the Son "manifest the Father" unto them. (Teachings, pp. 149-151; John 14:23; D. & C. 130:3.)
Fulness of the Father
The express fulness of the Father has reference to his position of power, glory, perfection, and godhood, The "fulness of the glory of the Father" consists in the possession of "all power, both in heaven and on earth [D&C 132:19]." (D. & C. 93: 16-17.) God is an exalted Man, and exaltation consists in having the fulness of all powers, all attributes, and all perfections. (D. & C. 76; 93; 132.) [No one can have this singly but needs their complementry part to hold and have all power, the power to creat life...]
The plan of exaltation is one whereunder those who fill the full measure of their creation are able to progress to that state wherein they will gain the fulness of the Father. Christ is the Examplar; he went from grace to grace

until finally after the resurrection he gained the fulness of all things, including the fulness of truth, knowledge, and power. (Matt. 28:18; D. & C. 93:6-30.)
Obedience to the whole law of crowning ordiance of celestial marriage, is the way whereby the fulness of the Father may be gained. Those so married, who keep their covenants, shall go on " to their exaltation and glory in all things,...which glory shall be a fulness and a continuation of the seeds forever and ever. Then shall they be gods." (D. & C. 132:6, 19-20; Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp. 24, 44-45, 62-63.)
Joseph Smith taught: "All those who keep his [the Father's] commandments shall grow up from grace to grace, and become heirs of the heavenly kingdom, and joint heirs with Jesus Christ; possessing the same mind, being transformed into the same image or likeness, even the express image of him who fills all in all; being filled with the fulness of his glory, and become one in him, even as the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are one.... As the son partakes of the fulness of the Father through the Spirit so the saints are, byt eh same Spirit, to be partakers of the same fulness, to enjoy the same glory; for as the Father and the Son are one, so, in like manner, the saints are to be one in them. Through the love of the Father, the mediation of Jesus Christ, and the gift of the Holy Spirit, they are to be heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ." (Lectures on Faith, pp. 50-52; 3 Ne. 28:10-11.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 300-301.)

God
Man's purpose in life is to learn the nature and kind of being that God is, and then, by conformity to his laws and ordiances, to progress to that high state of exaltation wherein man becomes perfect as the Father is perfect. (Matt. 5:48; Teachings, pp. 342-362.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 318.)

Parable of the Marriage of the King's Son:

|v1 And Jesus answered and spake unto them again by parables, and said,
|v2 The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king, which made a marriage for his son,
|v3 And when the marriage was ready, he sent forth his servants to call them which were bidden to the wedding: and they would not come.
|v4 Again, he sent forth other servants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my my oxen and my fatlings have been killed, and my dinner is ready: therefore come unto the marriage.
|v5 But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, another to his merchandise:
|v6 And the remnant took his servants, and entreated them spitefully, and slew them.
|v7 But when the king heard that his servants were dead, he was wroth: and he sent forth his armies, and destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city.
|v8 Then saith he to his servants, The wedding is ready, but they which were bidden were not worthy.
|v9 Go ye therefore into the highways, and as many as ye shall find, bid to the marriage.
|v10 So those servants went out into the highways, and gathered together all as many as they found, both bad and good: and the wedding was furnished with guests.
|v11 And when the king came in to see the guests, he saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment:

|v12 And he saith unto him, Friend, how camest thou in hither not having a wedding garment? And he was speechless.
|v13 Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and cast him into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.
|v14 For many are called, but few are chosen; wherefore all do not have on the wedding garment.
11. Had not on a wedding garment] He had accepted the invitation (the gospel); joined with the true worshipers (come into the true Church); but had not put on the robs of righteousness (that is, had not worked out his salvation after baptism).

I.V. Matt. 22:14. 'Many are called to the marriage supper of the Lamb, to the Church and kingdom of God on earth, but few are chosed for salvation in the kingdom of god in heaven, because they do not keep the commandments.' See Matt. 20:16. (DNTC vol. 1, p. 598-599.)
Compared to the rest of the world comparatively few are chosen. But there are still many even a multitude that cannot be numbered and of those who are whereing their temple garment

In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have tolk you. I go to prepare a place for you. (John 14:2.)
It will not do for men to sit down and see their women & children destroyed patiently,--my text is on the resurrection of the dead, which you will find in the 14 ch. of John In my Fathers house are many mansions &c is should be In my Father's Kingdom are many kingdoms--in order that ye may be heirs of--God and joint heirs with me. (WJS p. 367-368.)
John 14:2d "in my Fathers Kingdom are many Kingdoms. I go to prepare a Kingdom for you, that the exaltation that I receive you may receive also." (WJS, p. 371.)

1st We see that there are many Kingdoms prepared for the righteous so "in order that we may be heirs of --God and joint heirs with [Christ]. (WJS, p. 367-368.)

2nd it appears that in this pariable that the Lord further gives qualifications for basic enterance in the Kingdom of the Father. 1. He said a person must be born of the water and of the spirit or he cannot be permitted into the kingdom of heaven. We learn from other scriptures this is the Gate.
2. Another qualification seems to be implied that all that are at the wedding must have the wedding garment on. This would appear to be another requirement. That:
1. A person must receive his own wedding garment through the New and everlasting covenant of Marriage. Or,
2. Be a single person (angle servant) who did not receive their own but is sealed to a Kingdom through the sealing of children to parents. This seems to be another qualification that all must have the wedding garment; either thier own, or a member of a kingdom of someone who has one through the sealing.
This seems to verify the importance of Elijah's mission. Behold I send you Elijah the Prophet before the comming of the lord and he shall give us the power of sealing and the seal the Children to the Parents lest the whole earth be wasted at his coming and no one is there to go to the wedding feast of the kings son.

What does it mean to be cast out because no wedding garement is worn? Hear are some possible angles of light:
1. Bruce R. McConkies explainations

Gospel Mysteries

2. Perhaps the wedding garment is additionaly representive of being single and not being sealed to someone's elses kingdom.
3. People have not received the New and Everlasting Covenant of Celestial Marriage.
4. They have received the New and Everlasting Covenant of Celestial Marriage but have not received the wedding garment or ratifing seal or garment the Holy Spirit of promise, the Holy Ghost.
5. In otherwords they were wedded after the order of the world, and all is lost. They are wedded after the order of the Priesthood by did not recieve the baptism of fire on that wedding or sealing and are cast out because it is not ratified....
For with all priesthood ordiances, 1st the Priesthood ordiances (baptism of water), then the ratification and seal of the Holy Ghost (the baptism of fire) both must be present or you can't receive the blessings and promises thereof.

Godhood
That exaltation which the saints of all ages have so devotly sought is godhood itself. Godhood is to have the character, possess the attributes, and enjoy the perfections which the Father has. It is to do what he does, have the powers resident in him [and his complementry companion[s] jointly], and live as he lives, having eternal increase. (D. & C. 132:17:20, 37.) It is to know him in the full and complete sense, and no one can fully know God except another exalted personage who is like him in all respects. Those attaining the supreme height are sons of God (D. & C. 76:50-60); they receive the fulness of the Father and find membership in the Church of the Firstborn (D. & C. 93:17-22); they are joint heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18), inheriting with him all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-51) [Expand the consept of earthly parents oldest child has more tallents takes care of other children and perhaps even saves them but the Father and mother love all their children equally they appreciate the tallents of the oldest children. But they love the Children all the same not the talents-they appreciate the tallents therefore all their children inherit the same-thus we are Joint-heirs with Christ. And Christ our eldest most tallented brother and savior thought it not robery to receive the fulness of God.]
Joseph Smith said: "God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens!... I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity. I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another, and that he was once a man like us; yea, that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did; and I will show it from the Bible....
"Here, then, is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests [and Queens and Priestesses] to God, the same as all gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation the exaltation, until you attain to the resurrection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlasting brunings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power.... [Such persons are] heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a god, and ascend the throne fo eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, pp. 345-347.) Again: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 321-322.)

Gospel Mysteries

Joint-Heirs with Christ

As the literal Son of God--the Firstborn in the spirit, the Only Begotten in the flesh--Christ is the natural heir of the Father. It thus became his right to inherit, receive, and possess all that his Father had. (John 16:15.) And his Father is possessor of all things: the universe; all power, wisdom, and goodness; the fulness of truth and knowledge; and an infinity of all good attributes. By heirship and by obedience, going from grace to grace, the Son attained these same things. (D. & C. 93:5-17.)

By obedience to the fulness of gospel law, righteous men are adopted into the family of God so that they also become heirs, joint-heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18; Gal. 3:26-29; 4:1-7), inheritors of all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-41.) In his famous King Follett Sermon, speakin of those who "shall be heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ," the Prophet asked what their glory should be. Answering his own query, he described joint-heirship as inheriting "the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a God, and ascend the throne of eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, p. 347.)

A joint-heir is one who inherits equally with all other heirs including the Chief Heir who is the Son. Each Joint-heir has an equal and an undivided portion of the whole of everything. If one knows all things, so do all others. If one has all power, so do all those who inherit jointly with him. If the universe belongs to one, so it does equally to the total of all upon whom the joint inheritances are bestowed.

Joint-heirs are possessors of all things. (D. & C. 50:26-28.) All things are theirs for they have exaltation. (D. & C. 76:50-60.) They are made "equal" with their Lord. (D. & C. 88:107.) They gain all power both in heaven and on earth and receive the fulness of the Father, and all knowledge and truth are theirs. (D. & C. 93:15-30.) They are gods. (D. & C. 132:20.) Celestial marriage is the gate to this high state of exaltation. (Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp 24, 35-39; D. & C. 131: 1-4; 132.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 394-395.)

In honor of the Lamb, a great choir of 100,000,000 [men] voices of the redeemed shall sing this new song (Rev. 5:9-13):

[In order for there to be 100 Million men voices singing this song, who had been made kings and priests their would have to be at least another 100 million queens and priestesses who held jointly these blessings.]

Thou wast slain,
And hast redeemed us to God by thy blood
Out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation;
And hast made us unto our God kings and priests:
And we shall reign on the earth....
Worthy is the Lamb that was slain
To receive power, and riches, and wisdom,
And strength, and honour, and glory, and blessings....
Blessing, and honour, and glory, and power,
Be unto him that sitteth upon the throne,
And unto the Lamb for ever and ever.
(Mormon Doctrine, p. 430.)

Resurrection

...Those beings[s] resurrected with celestial bodies, whose destiny is to

Gospel Mysteries

inherit a celestial kingdom, will come forth in the morning of the first resurrection. Their graves shall be opened and they shall be caught up to meet the Lord at his Second Coming. They are Christ's, the firstfruits, and they shall descend with him to reign as kings and priests durring the millennial era. (D. & C. 29:13; 43:18; 76:50-70; 88:97:98; 1 Thess. 4:16-17; Rev. 20:3-7.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 640.)

Thrones

In the eternal sense, thrones are reserved for exalted persons who rule and reign as kings and queens in the highest heaven of the celestial world. It is in such a sphere that "God, even the Father, reigns upon his throne forever and ever." (D. & C. 76:92; Rev. 20:11.) After Christ has presented up the kingdom to his Father, "Then shall he be crowned with the crown of his glory, to sit on the throne of his power to reign forever and ever." (D. & C. 76:108.)

Then shall all those who are joint-heirs with him--who have been "crowned with the glory of his mighe," and "made equal with him" (D. & C. 88:107)--then shall they also sit upon their thrones and even sit down with our Lord on his throne. "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am sent down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:21.) Enoch foresaw this state of exaltation and said: "Thou art God,... thou hast made me, and given unto me a right to thy throne." (Moses 7:59.)

In token of their kingship, sovereignty, and dominion, exalted beings shall sit on thrones in eternity. "All thrones and dominions, principalities and powers, shall be revealed and set forth upon all who have endured valiantly for the gospel of Jesus Christ." (D. & C> 121:29.) "Abraham..hath entered into his exaltation and sitteth upon his throne," as also have other righteous saints of former ages. (D. & C. 132:29, 37.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 794.)

Washing of feet

...after the ordiance had been performed, our Lord said: "Ye call me Master and Lord: and ye say well; for so I am. If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet. For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you. Verily, verily, I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him. If ye know thens things, happy are ye if ye do them." (John 13:13-17.)

December 27, 1832, this command was given to "the firs laborers in this last kingdom:: "Sanctify yourselves; yea, purify your hearts, and cleanse your hands and your feet before me, that I may make you clean; That I may testify unto your Father, and your God, and my God, that you are clean from the blood of this wicked generation." (D. & C. 88:74-75.) On that same occasion the command came to organize the school of the prophtes, with the express stipulation that "ye shall not receive any among you into this school save he is clean from the blood of this generation; And he shall be received by the ordiance of the washing of feet, for unto this end was the ordinance of the washing of feet instituted." [To make clean from the blood of this generation, not to enter just the school of the prophets but to enter a more exalted station even the highest of the kingdoms of the Celestial kingdom-No unclean thing can enter the kingdom of God.]

In the case of this school the ordiance is to be performed by the President of the Church. [But at other times it can be performed by those he gives this power.] In compliance with this revelation the Prophet on January 23, 1833, washed the feet of the members of the school of the prophets. "By the power of the Holy Ghost I pronounced them all clean from the blood of this generation," he recorded. (History of the Church, vol. 1 pp. 322-324; vol. 2.p. 287.)

Gospel Mysteries

Equal with God
Though the Father is greater than the Son and takes precedence over him, yet the Son is equal with the Father in the sense that the Father has given all things into the hands of the Son, and that the Son has attained all power, all attributes of godliness. (D. & C. 93:6-26.) In this same sense, all men who gain exaltation shall "receive their inheritance and be made equal with" the Father and the Son. (D. & C. 88:107; 93:27-34.) (DNTC 1, p. 191.)

Perfect unity and love should prevail in the Chruch and kingdom of God on earth. Every member of the great brotherhood of Christ is expected to fellowship every other member of the Chruch as a true brother or sister. "Let every man esteem his brother as himself,: the Lord said in our day. "I say unto you, be one; and if ye are not one ye are not mine." (D. & c. 38:24-27.) (DNTC 1, p. 422.)

Though "there is none other God but one" for men on this earth to worship, yet "there be gods many and lords many" throughout the infinite expanse of eternity. (1 Cor. 8:4-7.) That is, there are many exalted, perfected, glorified personages who reign as gods over their own dominions. John saw 144,000 of them standing with Christ upon MOunt Zion, all "having his Father's name written in their foreheads" (Rev.14-1), which is to say that they were gods and were so identified by wearing crowns so stating. Indeed, to each person who overcomes and gains exaltation, Christ has promised: "I will write upon him the name of my God,: and he shall "sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:12, 21.)
Joseph Smith said: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) All exalted persons "are gods, even the sons of God." (D. & C. 76:58.) Through obedience to the whole gospel law, including celestial marriage, they attain the "fulness of the glory of the Father" [Even to the ataining of the Eternal Godhead themselves, they take a covenant: They themself in the eternal cycle will become God the 1st or Creator, one of their Sons will become God the Second or God the Savior and a third, God the testitator or witnessor....] (D. & C. 93:6-28.) and "a continuation of the seeds forever and ever. Then shall they be gods, because they have no end; therefore shall they be form everlasting to everlasting, because they continue; then shall they be above all, because all things are subject unto them. Then shall they be gods, because they have all power, and the angels are subject unto them." (D. & C. 132:19-20.) (DNTC 1, p. 491.)

This is the way of all ordiances. We must receive both seals, the seal of the priesthood and the ratifying seal of the Holy Ghost before it is ours and we trully understand it. This is the way it is for most couples as they receive the seals of the new and everlasting covenant of Marriage, D&C 131, 132,]

(NewT:John 13:Heading-20)
Washing of feet is a gospel ordiance; it is a holy and sacred rite, one performed by the saints in the seclusion of the temple sanctuaries. It is not done before the world or for worldly people. For this day and dispensation Jesus instituted it in the upper room at the time of the Last Supper.

"Our Lord did two things in the performance of this ordinance: 1. He fulfilled the old law given to Moses; and 2. He instituted a sacred ordinance which should be performed by legal administrators among his true disciples from that day forward.

"As part of the restoration of all things, the ordinance of washing of feet has been restored in the dispensation of the fulness of times. In keeping with the standard pattern of revealing principles and practices line upon line and precept upon precept, the Lord revealed his will concerning the washing of feet little by little until the ful knowledge of the endowment and all temple ordinances had been given.

"December 27, 1832, this command was given to 'the firs laborers in the last kingdom': 'Sanctify yourselves; yea, purify your hearts, and cleanse your hands and your feet before me, that I may make you clean; That I may testify unto your father, and your God and my God, that you are clean from the blood of this wicked generation." (D. & C. 88:74-75.) On that same occasion the command came to organize the school of the prophets, with the express stipulation that 'ye shall not receive any among you into this school save he is clean from the blood of this generation ["is clean every whit: and ye are clean" (John 13:10); [The same would hold true to enter the Highest Degree in the Celestial Kingdom; all saints from the least to the greatest must be washed and pronounced clean ever whit that "I [Jesus Christ] may testify unto you Father, and you God, and my God, that you are clean from the blood of this wicked generation." (D. & C. 88:74-75)] And he shall be received by the ordiance of the washing of feet, for unto this end was the ordinance of the washing of feet instituted.' (D. & C. 88:127-141.)

"In the case of this school the ordinance is to be performed by the President of the Church. [This would indicate that others would receive this ordiance from the legal administrators appointed by the President of the Church or First Presidency.] In compliance with this revelaton the Prophet on January 23, 1833, washed the feet of the members of the school of the prophets. 'By the power of the Holy Ghost I pronounced them all clean from the blood of this generation," he recorded. (History of the Church, vol. 1, pp. 322-324; vol. 2, p. 287.)

"Later apostles were called and ordained, and on November 12, 1835, the Prophet addressed them, as pertaining to the washing of feet where they were concerned: 'The item to which I wish the more particularly to call your attention tonight is the ordinance of washing of feet. This we [meaning the Twelve] have not done as yet, but it is necessary now, as much as it was in the days of the Savior; and we must have a place prepared, that we may attend to this ordinance aside from the world.

"'We have not desired as much from the hand of the Lord through faith and obedience, as we ought to have done, yet we have enjoyed great blessings, and we are not so sensible of this as we should be.... We must have all things prepared, and call our solemn assembly as the Lord has commanded us, that we may be able to accomplish his great work, and it must be done in God's own way. The house of the Lord must be prepared, and the solemn assembly called and organized in it, according to the order of ht ehouse of God; and in it we mus attend to the ordance of washing of feet. It was never intended for any but official members. It is calculated to unite our hearts, that we may be one in feeling and sentiment, and that our faith may be strong, so the Satan cannot overthrow us, nor have any power over us here.

"'The endowment you are so anxious about, you cannot comprehend now, nor could Gabriel explain it to the understanding of your dark minds; but strive to be prepared in your hearts, be faithful in all things, that when we meet in the solemn assembly, that is, when such as God shall name out of all the official shall meet, we must be clean ever whit.... The order of the house of God has been, and ever will be, the same, even after Christ comes; and after the termination of the thousand years it will be the same; and we shall finally enter the celestial kingdom of God, and enjoy it forever.' (History of the Chruch, vol. 2, pp. 308-309.)

"On Sunday, March 27, 1836, as part of the dedicatory services fo the Kirtland Temple, the congregation sang the glorious hymn, 'The Spirit of God Like a Fire is Burning!' One verse, as then sung, was:

> "'We'll wash and be washed, and with oil be anointed,
> Withal not omittin the washing of feet;
> For he that receiveth his penny appointed
> Must surely be clean at the harvest of wheat.'

[In otherwords all saints who intend to enter the Lords Kingdom before he comes in glory must have this ordiance performed or done by proxie or they cannot enter the Lords Kingdom, "For no unclean thing can enter the kingdom of God", and again it must needs be that we must "not omitt the washing of feet" and "must be "clean [every whit] at the harvest of wheat." And again, the Lord has commanded 'Sanctify yourselves; yea, purify your hearts, and cleanse your hands and your feet before me, that I may make you clean; That I may testify unto your Father, and your God, and my God, that you are clean [every whit] from the blood of this wicked generation.' (D. & C. 88:74-75.)

"On March 29 and 30, 1836, the leading brethren, including the First Presidency, Council of the Twelve, bishoprics, and preidents of quorums, participated in the ordiance of washing of feet. (History of the Chruch, vol. 2, pp. 426, 430-431.)
"It should be remembered that the endowment given in the Kirtland Temple was only a partial endowment, and that the full endowment was not performed until the saints had established themselves in Nauvoo. (Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp 241-242.) The full endowment--referred to in the revelation dated January 19, 1841 (D. & C. 124:36-41)--including washings and anointings except under unusual circumstances, is designed to be administered in the temples of the Lord.
Thus the knowledge relative to the washing of feet has been revealed step by step in this day until a full knowledge is now in corporated in the revaled ordiances of the Lord's house. Obviously the apostate peoples of the world, being without revelation to guide them, cannot comply with our Lord's command given on the occasion of the last supper." (Mormon Doctrine, pp. 751-753.) (DNTC 1, p. 708-710.)

The Lord Jesus Christ himself, the Second Comforter, will appear personally to the faithful. Mortal men have power while in this life to see God. "Verily, thus saith the Lord: It shall come to pass that every soul who forsaketh his sins and cometh unto me, and calleth on my name, and obeyeth my voice, and keepeth my commandments, shall see my face and know that I am." (D. & C. 92:1.) The Brother of Jared, among others, is one who complied with this law and thereby saw the Lord. "Because of the knowledge of this man," the record says, "he could not be kept from beholding within the viel; and he saw the finger of Jesus, which, when he saw, he fell with fear; for he knew, that it was the finger of the Lord; and he had faith no longer, for he knew, nothing doubting. Wherefore, having this perfect knowledge of God, he could not be kept from within the veil; therefore he saw Jesus; and he did minister unto him." (Ether 3:19-20.) (DNTC 1, p. 738.)

All things that the Father hath are mine
This is true of Christ and of all exalted beings; it is the doctrine of joint-heirship. (Mormon Doctrine, pp. 361-362.) Each person who magnifies his calling in the Melchizedek Priesthood receives this promise: "All that my Father hath shall be given unto him." (D. & C. 84:38.) (DNTC 1, p. 756.)

God is no respecter of persons, and few things are of lesser consequence thansocial casts or status. Rather, "he inviteth them all to come unto him and partake of his goodness; and he denieth none that come unto him, black and white, bond and free, male and female; and he remembereth the heathen; and all are alike unto God." (2 Ne. 26:33.) [Why.?] (DNTC 3, p 130-131.)

Gospel Mysteries

Hebrews 7:21
God swore an oath that Christ should be a priest forever; that is, though our Lord had possessed the priesthood in pre-existance, he would receive it anew in mortality and would have it forever--in time and in eternity. And this sets the pattern for all who become sons of God and joint-heirs with Christ. "Every person upon whom the Melchizedek Priesthood is conferred receives his office and clalling in this higher priesthood with an oath and a covenant. The covenant is to this effect: 1. Man on his part solemnly agree to magnify his calling in the priesthood, to keep the commandments of God, to live by every word that proceedeth for from the mouth of Deity, and to walk in paths of righteousness and virtue; and 2. God on his part agrees to give such persons an inheritance of exaltation and godhood in his everlastin presence. The oath is the solemn attestation of Deity, his sworn promise, that those who keep their part in the covenant shall come forth and inherit all things according to the promeise." [D&C 132:19.] (Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p 480.) (DNTC 3, p. 173.)

Holy women
The Lord never sends apostles and prophets and righteous men to minister to his people without placing women of like spiritual stature at their sides. Adam stands as the great high priest, under Christ, to rule as a natural patriarch over all men of all ages, but he cannot rule alone; Eve, his wife, rules at his side, having like caliber and attainments to his own. Abraham is tested as few men have been when the Lord commands him to offer Isaac upon the altar (Gen. 22:1-19); and sarah struggles with like problems when the Lord directs that she withhold from the Egyptians her status as Abraham's widfe. (Abra. 2:21-25; Gen. 12:7-20.) Isaac gains from the Lord the promise that his seed shall "multiply as the stars of heaven" (Gen. 26:1-4); and Rebekah, his wife, receives a blessing of her own in which she is promised that she shall be "the mother of thousands of millions.: (Gen. 24:59-60.) And so it goes, in all dispensations and at all times when there are holy men there are also holy women. Neither stands alone before the Lord. The exaltation of the one is dependent upon that of the other.
Whose daughters ye are]
Brethren in the Church become "the seed of Abraham" by faith. (D. & C. 84:34.) That is, they believe what Abraham believed; they worship as Abraham worshiped; they are one with him in spiritual things--and are therefore considered to be his followers and sons, for "if ye be Christ's [Anointed ones], then are ye Abraham's see, and heirs according to the promise." (Gal. 3:29.) Thus, to identify the women in the Church as the daughters of Sarah is to testify that Sarah, and Abraham her husband, were also followers of Christ and believers in the same truths of salvation revealed anew in the Christian dispensation.

Heirs together] Neither men or women are saved alone. Salvation is a family affair. The fulness of the blessings of the gospel come to men and women together; they grow out of the new and everlasting covenant of marriage. (DNTC 3, p. 302-303.) [Also, see Packers talk Tribute to Women, July 89 Ensign.)

1 John 1:3
Ye also may have fellowship with us] Fellowship connotates a community of interest, activity and feeling; it is the association enjoyed by a group of equals or friends. and in the Church, it is not the apostles only who are to see and hear and know and understand and feel and handle; it is all the saints who have fellowship with them, "for God hath not revealed anything to Joseph,

Gospel Mysteries

but what he will make known unto the Twelve, and even the least saint may know all things as fast as he is able to bear them, for the day must come when no man need say to his neighbor, Know ye the Lord; for all shall know him (who remain0 from the least to the greatest." (Teachings, p. 149.)
Our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ]
John--himself soon to be translated--is the same state of fellowship with the Lord which was enjoyed by the three soon-to-be translated Nephite disciples, to whom the Lord said: "Ye shall have fulness of joy; and ye shall sit down in the kingdom of my Father; yea, your joy shall be full, even as the Father hath given me fulness of joy; and ye shall be even as I am, and I am even as the Father; and the Father and I are one." (3 Ne. 28:10.) Thus, John is here saying" 'Our fellowship is with the Father and the Son; we are one with them; they accept us as friends; and we shall be "equal in power, and in might, and in dominion" [D&C 132:19] (D. & C. 76:95), in that glorious day when we receive of their fulness and grace.' To have fellowship with the Lord in this life is to enjoy the companionship of his Holy Spirit, which makes us one with him; and to have fellowship with him in eternity is to be like him, having that eternal life of which he is the possessor and originator. [D&C 132:19.] (DNTC 3, p. 374.)
1 John 2:3
And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments.
[Commandments are acts, after performing the acts and performances, and ordiances, then the Holy Ghost seals the truth of them upon us soul to soul and confirms to the inner man the absolute knowledge and surity of them...]

That John who recorded in his gospel account the great Intercessory Prayer, in which Jesus taught that life eternal consists of knowing the Father and the Son
[the Father 1st because he created us, and His Only Begotten Son 2nd because he saved us and brought us back to His Father and our Father...The Holy Ghost 3rd because it is he which testifies and teaches spirit to spirit the knowledge and truth of all theings.], [John] now announces how it is possible to know God. It is by obedience to the laws and ordiances of the gospel! And in no other way! Which is to say, among other things: There is not one scintilla of spiritual sense in the sectarian supposition that salvation is gained simply by saying: "I accept Jesus as my personal Savior."
Since the very fact of knowing God, in the ultimate and ful sense, consists of thinking what he thinks, saying what he says, doing what he does, and of being like him, thus having exaltation or godhood--it follows that saved souls must advance and progress until they acquire his character, perfections, and attributes, until they gian his eternal power, until they themselves become gods. (DNTC 3, p. 377.)

The elect lady
"An elect lady is a female member of the Church who has already received, or who through obedience is qualified to receive, the fulness of gospel blessings. This includes [1] temple endowments, [2] celestial marriage, and [3] the fulness of the sealing power. She is one who has been elected and chosen faithfulness as a daughter of God in this life, an heir of God, a member of his household. Her position is comparable to that of the elders who magnify their callings in the priesthood and thereby receive all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:38.) (DNTC 3, p. 410.)

Rev 3:20-21
Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me. [D&C

Gospel Mysteries

132:19; 93:1]
To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.

Sit with me in my throne] In conversation with Deity, Enoch said: "Thou hast made me, and given unto me a right to they throne." (Moses 7:59.) Thus: "Ye shall be even as I am." (3 Ne. 28:10.) 'Ye shall have eternal life; ye shall have exaltation; ye shall be gods; ye shall rule and reign forever on a heavenly throne.'

I...am set down with my Father in his throne] "I am even as the Father." (3 Ne. 28:10.) Speaking of those who are "heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ," the Prophet asked, "What is it?" and then answered: "To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a God, and ascend the throne of eternal power, the same as those who have gone befoer. What did Jesus do? Why; I do the things I saw my Father do when worlds came roling into existence. My Father workded out his kingdom with fear and trembling, and I must do the same; and when I get my kingdom, I shall present it to my Father, so that he may obtain kingdom upon kingdom, and it will exalt him in glory. He will then take a higher exaltation, and I will take his place, and thereby become exalted myself. So that Jesus treads in the tracks of his Father, and inherits what God did before; and God is thus glorified and exalted in the salvation and exaltation of all his children. It is plain beyond disputatuin, and you thus learn some of the first principles of the gospel." (Teachings, pp. 347-348.) (DNTC 3, p. 462.)

And now we learn that after the converts are made, after there kindreds of the earth, there will be those among them who advance and progress until they become kings and priests. See Rev. 1:1-6; 5:1-14; 20:4-6. John here sees 144,000 of these kings and priests, 12,000 from each tribe, converted, baptized, endowed, married for eternity, and finally sealed up unto eterhal life, having their callings and elections made sure. See 2 Pet. 1:1-19. (DNTC 3, p. 491.)

Rev. 7:3
Saying, Hurt not the earth, niether the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads.

Sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads] Of this sealing the Prophet Joseph Smith said: "Four destroying angels holding power over the four quarters of the earth until the servants of God are sealed in their foreheads, which signifies sealing the blessing upon their heads, meaning the everlasting covenant, thereby making their calling and election made sure, none so involved shall be lost [guaranteed]; all shall come forth to an inheritance of glory and exaltation in the kingdom of God. [Also, an unnumbered multitude.] (DNTC 3, p. 492.)

The keys and power to restore the Ten Tribes to their former high status in Israel, and to lead them from their unknown places of lodgement in the lands north of Canaan and Assyria, where given by Moses to Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery on April 3, 1836. (D. & C. 110:11.) These keys now reside in the President of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. That the remnants of Israel shall be restroed before the Second Coming of the Son of Man is evident from the fact that 12,000 from each tribe are to receive the restored gospel, and theat through the ordiances of the Lord's house they are to become kings and priets, who shall administer the blessings of the everlasting gospel to the Lord's elect. (D. & C. 77:9-11.) [Those who have been called and elected these shall seal them up and make their callings and ellections sure, this work shall be done for the living and the dead as they shall dwell do their work in the temple's day and night. Probable sealers...]

As the servants of God have their calling and election made sure when they are "sealed...in their foreheads" (Rev. 7:2-8), (DNTC 3, p. 524.)
A perfect description of exalted beings! For, as with the 144,000, so with all of whom the glorified Lord says, "Ye shall be even as I am." (3 Ne. 28:10.) (DNTC 3, p. 527.)

Christ is king of kings and lord of lords.
Revelation 19:16
And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

A name written, that no man knew] As with all glorified beings, our Lord has a new name in celestial exaltation, a name [1] known to and [2] comprehended by those only who know God in the sense that they have become as he is and have eternal life. See Rev. 2:12-17. Thus, Christ's "new name" shall be written upon all those who are joint-heirs with him (Rev. 3:12), and shall signify that they have become even as he is and he is even as the Father. (3 Ne. 28:10.) [In otherwords our names shall also become KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.] (DNTC 3, p. 567.)

All men of whatever rank, status or position are now and everlastingly shall be subject to Christ our Lord who is King over all. But in the great and eternal plan of salvation, as joint heirs with the Father's natural Son, all exalted beings shall become kings, priests, lords and gods. Christ thus becomes a King of Kings, a Priest of Priests, a Lord of Lords, a God of Gods. (Mormon Doctrin, 2nd ed., pp. 322-323; 424; 451.) (DNTC 3, p. 568.).

And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads.
And their shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveht them lighe: and they shall riegn for ever and ever.

They shall see his face] They shall dwell in the presence of God and the Lamb and have personal communion and intercourse with them. Man shall converse with God, as when " a man speaketh unto his friend." (Ex. 33:11.)

They shall reign for ever and ever] "Then shall they be gods." (D. & C. 132:20.) "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a God to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (DNTC 3, p. 589.)

A Tribute to Women
by
Boyd K. Packer

This talk was delivered at the Priesthood commemoration Fireside broadcast by satellite from Temple Square on 7 May 1989. (July 1989, Ensign, p. 72-75.)

It is with reverence that I speak of the restoration of the priesthood. We commemorate the restoration, not the creation of it. The priesthood existed before the Lord appeared with others in the Kirtland Temple and restored the keys of the sealing authority. (See D&C 110:11-16.)

It did not begin when Peter, James, and John conferred the Melchizedek Priesthood and the keys of the kingdom upon Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery. (See D&C 27:12-13.) Nor when John the Baptist ordained them to the Aaronic Priesthood and gave them the keys to the ministering of angels. (See D&C 13.)
It was formed before Peter, James, and John received keys on the Mount of Transfiguration. It existed before Moses received it under the hands of his father-in-law, Jethro (See D&C 84:6), and before Abraham sought his "appointment unto the Priesthood according to the appointment of God unto the fathers" and paid tithes to Melchizedek. (See Abr. 1:3-4; JST Gen. 14:25-40.)
It was present before Enoch, even before Adam.
The prophet Joseph Smith revealed that the priesthood "existed with God from eternity, and will to eternity, without beginning of days or end of years" and that Adam obtained it "in the Creation before the world was formed." (Teachings of the Prophet Joseph Smith, sel. Joseph Fielding Smith, Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Co. 1938, p. 157.)
The Lord revealed that the priesthood and its ordinances were "instituted from before the foundation of the world" (see D&C 124:33-34), and commanded that a temple be built at Nauvoo as a place to "restore again that which was lost unto you, or which he hath taken away, even the fulness of the priesthood" (D&C 124:34.)
The scriptures reveal much about the priesthood, but they are not a handbook with references all gathered together in one place. They are scattered through the scriptures and were revealed at different times and in different places. Revelation continues: consider the recent announcement on the Seventy.
One must prospect through and dig into the scriptures like a miner searching for precious metal. Scattered here and there are nuggets, some pure, and some alloyed with other doctrines. Occasionally one strikes a rich vein which will yield all that you are willing to earn, for the scriptures do not explain not interpret themselves.
If I were to draw a prospector's map showing where I have found treasures on the priesthood, these are among the places I would mark: the old Testament contains many choice nuggets, including references to Melchizedek, King of Salem (now known as Jerusalem). There is much to be mined in the New Testament; the sixth chapter of Hebrews is a rich vein of doctrine on the priesthood.
In the Book of Mormon, the thirteenth chapter of Alma contains many treasures. No doubt the counsel was given in a priesthood meeting because Alma used the salutation "my brethren" more than once. He speaks of the priesthood being after "the order of [the Son of God]." (Alma 13:2.) He describes it as a "holy calling." (Alma 13:2, 4, 6.) He says of Melchizedek, "There were many before him, and also there were many afterwards, but none were greater." (Alma 13:19.)
Alma described the priesthood as "being prepared from eternity to all eternity...without beginning or end." (Alma 13:7-8.) It is a "holy calling. prepared from the foundation of the world for such as would not harden their hearts." (Alma 13:5.)
The Doctrine and Covenants holds veins of the richest and purest kind; sections 20, 76, 84, 107, 121, and 124 and examples.
In section 84 there is a genealogy which traces the priesthood back to Adam. (See D&C 84:6-17.) Another in section 107 (vs. 40-57) was included in instruction to the Twelve.
The Pearl of Great Price reveals how Adam received the priesthood. (See Moses 6:67.)
The priesthood, once defined as the authority given to man to act in the name of God, is not ours to remodel or change or modify or abridge. It is ours to honor and magnify.

From the beginning the priesthood has been conferred only upon the men. It is always described in the scriptures as coming through the lineage of the fathers. (See D&C 84:6, 14-16; 107:40-41; Abr. 1:3-4.)

While fathers and sons bear the burden of the priesthood, it was declared in the very beginning that it was not good for man to be alone. A companion, or "helpmeet," was given him. The word meet means equal. Man and woman, together, were constituted a fountain of life. While neither can generate life without the other, the mystery of life unfolds when these two become one. From the very beginning the power to beget life was unlawful to express except there be a marriage between the man and the woman. Marriage is a covenant of lifelong fidelity and devotion which, by ordiance, may last for eternity.

The whole physical universe is organized in order that man and woman might fulfill the full measure of their creation. It is a perfect system where delicate balances and counter-balances govern the physical, the emotional, an the spiritual in mankind.

The Lord revealed that the purpose of it all is "to bring to pass the immortality and eternal life of man." (Moses 1:39.) Ordinances and covenants were ordained to protect this power to generate life. When laws are obeyed, happiness follows, for "man are, that they might have joy." (2 Ne. 2:25.)

Ever and always there is the destroyer waiting to disturb and disrupt, to scatter abrasive into this marvelous system. His purpose is to rupture those circuits which interconnect the physical, the emotional, and the spiritual, or to cross-connect them in ways that never where intended. His purpose is to pollute that sacred fountain of life and to generate, if he can, unnatural affections. (See 2 Tim. 3:2-3.)

The process by which life is conceived belongs only to those who have been legally and lawfully married. It was meant from the beginning to be veiled in total privacy. It was never to be degraded in idle conversation or to be the subject of unworthy humor. It was never to be exposed to public view, detailed in novels, illustrated in books, or acted out upon the stage or in films. It is never to involve children. And it is never to be perverted, never to be sold, never to be bought for money.

The compelling need which draws a husband back to his wife is always to be expressed in tenderness and love. It is through this process that a wife may give her husband, and a husband his wife, a gift which can be received in no other way--the gift of children.

The separate natures of man and woman were designed by the Father of us all to fulfill the purposes of the gospel plan.

Never can tow of the same gender fulfill the commandment to multiply and replenish the earth. No two man or any number added to them, no matter how much priesthood they may think they possess, can do it. Only a woman can bestow upon man that supernal title of father.

She in turn becomes a mother. Can anyone dispute that her part is different from and more demanding than his? The mother must endure limitations while nature performs the miracle of creation.

Through her sacrifice, once again another spirit clothed in a mortal body crosses that frail footpath of life to experience mortality and the testing required in the plan of salvation.

The well-being of the mother, the child, the family, the Church, indeed of all humanity depends upon protecting that process. The obligations of motherhood are never-ending. The addition of such duties as those which attend ordination to the priesthood would constitute an intrusion into, an interruption to, perhaps the avoidance of, that crucial contribution which only a mother can provide.

The limitation of priesthood responsibilities to men is a tribute to the incomparable place of women in the plan of salvation.

The prophet who said that "no success [in any field of endeavor] can compensate for failure in the home" (David O. McKay) did not exempt callings in the Church.

Men and women have complementary, not competing, responsibilities. There is difference but not inequity. Intelligence and talent favor both of them. But in the woman's part, she is not just equal to man; she is superior! She can do that which he can never do; not in all eternity can he do it. There are complementing rewards which are hers and hers alone.
And blessings bestowed impartially upon man and woman alike include:
--Baptism;
--The gift of the Holy Ghost;
--The testimony of Jesus;
--Personal revelation;
--The ministry of angels;
--The responsibility to teach, to testify, to exhort, to edify and to comfort;
--The faith to be healed;
--And many other spiritual gifts.
All under a uniform standard for worthiness. And the highest ordinances in the House of the Lord they receive together and equally or not at all!
It should not disturb either man or women that some responsibilities are bestowed upon one and not the other. Duties of the priesthood are delegated to men and are patriarchal, which means "of the father." From the very beginning this has been so. The scriptures plainly state that they were "confirmed to be handed down from father to son.... This order was instituted in the days of Adam." (D&C 107:40-41.)
Many in the world now press for a melding of the identities of man and woman, claiming that the virtue of equality requires a homogenization of all relationships. Following an absolutely hopeless quest, some seek for an enduring physical and spiritual relationship with one of the same gender. That wicked deception has unleashed a pestilence which now threatens the whole of humanity. There can be no fulfillment there. To find fulfillment, they must--and praise be to God, they can--find it where it has been from the beginning.
Some in the Church, following that trend in the world, have written doctrinal treatises trying to show that the scriptures provide for an exchange in the identities and responsibilities of men and women. They express concern that the leaders of the Church do not respond to their recommendations.
Lest they bring sorrow upon themselves and their loved ones, I call to their attention a caution in section 121, beginning with verse 16, part of which I will quote.
"Cursed are all those that shall lift up the heel against mine anointed, saith the Lord, and cry they have sinned when they have not sinned before me, saith the Lord, but have done that which was meet in mines eyes, and which I commanded them.... They shall be severed from the ordinances of mine house.... They shall not have right to the priesthood, nor their posterity after them from generation to generation." (D&C 121:16, 19, 21.)
"They themselves shall be despised by those that flattered them." (D&C 121:20.)
A similar caution applies to every man and boy who holds the priesthood. Have we not been told that "the rights of the priesthood are inseparably connected with the powers of heaven, and that the powers of heaven cannot be controlled nor handled only upon the principles of righteousness: and that "no power or influence can or ought to be maintained by virtue of the priesthood, only by persuasion, by long-suffering, by gentleness and meekness, and by love unfeigned"? (D&C 121:36, 41.)
Ought not those virtues by which the priesthood must govern apply first and always to our wives and children, to our families?
Jacob rebuked the brethren of his day, saying, "ye have broken the hearts of your tender wives, and lost the confidence of your children, because of your bad examples before them; and the sobbings of their hearts ascend up to God against you." (Jacob 2:35.)

It was not meat that the woman alone accommodate herself to the priesthood duties of her husband or her sons. She is of course to sustain and support and encourage them. Holders of the priesthood, in turn, must accommodate themselves to the needs and responsibilities of the wife and mother. Her physical and emotional and intellectual and cultural well-being and her spiritual development must stand first among his priesthood duties.
There is no task, however menial, connected with the care of babies, the nurturing of children, or with the maintenance of the home that is not his equal obligation. The tasks which come with parenthood, which many consider to be below other tasks, ar simply above them.
Sister Packer and I have seven sons and three daughters. And that, I have often been heard to say, is about equal value. They, in turn, have given us daughters and sons-in-law, and grandchildren.
When our sons were growing up, they enjoyed a very broad tolerance from their father toward their mischief and mistakes. But there was no tolerance for even the slightest disrespect toward their mother.
And the question our daughters-in-law have matured, I have ordained each in turn to the priesthood. Somehow that seems the lesser part. I have but ordained them. She has born them, then trained and nurtured them.
They are not my children and my grandchildren. They are our children and grandchildren. They all share in the blessings of the priesthood.
I could not possibly express the depth and the intensity of love and gratitude that I feel toward my wife, the mother of our children.
Without her, I could not have the highest and most enduring blessings of this "priesthood...after the holiest order of God" (D&C 84:18), this "Holy Priesthood, after the Order of the Son of God" (D&C 107:3). For, "in order to the highest, a man must enter into this order of the priesthood [meaning the new and everlasting covenant of marriage]; And if he does not, he cannot obtain it." (D&C 131:104.)
I know that the Son of God is our Redeemer. Reverently I give thanks to God the Father for the consummate blessing: a sweetheart, wife, companion, friend, a helpmeet, a woman! In the name of Jesus Christ, amen. (July Ensign, 1989, p. 72-75.)

> There are a great many wise men and women too in our midst who are too wise to be taught; therefore they must die in their ignorance, and in the resurrection they will find their mistake. (TPJS, p. 309)

> Joseph Fielding Smith probably wrote more on this subject that did any other present-day leader. in his book The Way to Perfection, he wrote:
> Each person baptized into the Church is under obligation to keep the commandments of the Lord. He is under covenant, for baptism in a "new and an everlasting covenant." (D. & C. 22:1) When he has proved himself by a worthy life, having been faithful in all things required of him, then it is his privilege to receive other covenants and to take upon himself other obligations which will make of him an heir, and he will become a member of the "Church of the Firstborn". Into his hands "the Father has given all things." He will be a priest and a king, receiving of the Father's fulness and of His glory. (Way to Perfection, p. 208)
> Thus we see that those who receive the "higher" order of ordinances, and become ordained kings and queens, can become members of the Church of the Firstborn.

Elder Bruce R. McConkie also acknowledged this when he wrote:

> Members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints who so devote themselves to righteousness that they receive the higher ordinances of exaltation become members of the Church of the Firstborn. Baptism is the gate to the Church itself, but celestial marriage is the gate to membership in the Church of the Firstborn, the inner circle of faithful saints who are heirs of exaltation and the fulness of the Father's kingdom.
> The Church of the Firstborn is made up of the sons of God, those who have been adopted into the family of the Lord, those who are destined to be joint-heirs with Christ in receiving all that the Father hath. "If you keep my commandments you shall receive of his fulness, and be glorified in me as I am in the Father;... And all those who are begotten through me are partakers of the glory of the same, and are the church of the Firstborn." (Mormon Doctrine, p. 131)

NOTES ON "HISTORICAL DEPARTMENT--CONFIDENTIAL RESEARCH FILES 1950--1974":

Volume 1:5:

RE: "There must be permission from the original tribunal who tried the member."

A search thru the records of the H.O. does not show the origin of such a ruling. Nether [sic] does the Council of Twelve nor the 1st Presidency have such a record.

In the D&C 128 verse 9 it states. "It may seem to some to be a very bold doctrine that we talk of--a power which records or binds on earth and binds in heaven. Nevertheless, in all ages of the world, whenever the Lord has given a dispensation of the priesthood to any man by actual revelation, or any set of men, this power has always been given. Hence, whatsoever those men did in authority, in the name of the Lord, and did it truly and faithfully, and kept a proper and faithful record of the same, it became a law on earth and in heaven, and could not be annulled, according to the decrees of the great Jehovah." In verse 8 of the same section it states, that "whatsoever is not recorded on earth shall not be recorded in heaven."

In other words inasmuch as no record was kept to the decision that "permission from the original tribunal must be had before a restoration can take place" was not recorded, is it binding. [sic] It appears to have been just a tradition that has developed in the Church.

RE: "There must be a restoration of blessings."

This was not taught as late as 7 November 1863, see Mill Star Vol. 25, page 713. In fact it was in opposition to the teachings of the Church. George Q. Cannon, explains this in the before mentioned article.

Gospel Mysteries

Research with the H.O., The Council of Twelve, and the 1st Presidency, shows that this too seems to have been just tradition that has grown in the Church. There is no.record of such a decision having been made.

In the same D. & C. references above if no record was made of the decision does it hold true and binding upon the Church? ... (p. 10)

"6 questions submitted by the recorder, through President Snow answered by President Woodruff, written by his own hand." 1. When dates of death are unknown, relationship absent or uncertain and it is not known that the deceased reach maturity, what work, if any can be done for the dead?

Ans. it is vary [sic] that a name is presented for Work for the dead that what there is evidence to show whether the person is a child or of mature age for endowment whare [sic] such evidence cannot be obtained do nothing. But endowments may be given ware [sic] dates of birth & death cannot be found, if they are of sufficient age for ordinance.

2. What age must a dead female have attained before she can be endowed?

Ans. She must at least be 8 years of age before she can be baptized for an endowed and if living not less than 12 years and unless for some special reason not 1ess than 16.

3. What age must a dead male have attained before he can be endowed?

Ans. Same as number 2.

4. What age must a dead female have attained before she can be sealed as a wife?

Ans. Not less than 12 years.

5. What age must a dead a male have attained before a female can be sealed to him as a wife?

Ans. Not less than 12 years.

6. Is it proper when desired by children who are in the Church that the latter should be sealed to parents who did not hear the Gospel in 1ife and consequently did not embrace it?

Ans. Yes--unless thair Lsic] is some special reason why it should not be done. (There are [sic] no specific date given when these questions are answered. They appear in the book for the year 1893) [Note: at this point there is a handwritten marginal note indicating that the following is from page 42 of the above book "Book of Temple Ordinances":]

At a special meeting of the workers held in the anex [sic] of the temple June 23 1893, President Wilford Woodruff, in the course of remarks made by him, spoke substantially as follows:
"It had been the rule in Logan Temple not to allow any person who had not been married under the covenant to officiate at the marriage altar in behalf of the dead. This rule, he said was wrong and must not be acted upon in the future. The reception of the endowment enabled a person to act in behalf of the dead in any of the ordinances in the house of the Lord, except the highest (2nd anointing")[sic] (p. 11) [Marginal note indicates ibid paqe 14:] 26 August 1893.

"We have made the following ruling, which is self-explanatory, and send it to you for your guidance as president of the Salt Lake Temple.

Special case.

The father of Wm. S. Brighton was born out of wedlock and the parents were never married together. The male parent (Brother Brighton's grandfather) married, consecutively, 3 women and raised a family. His illigitimate son was reared by relatives.

The mother, when somewhat advanced in years, married a widdower, who already had his family.

1 question.-- To whom should the woman be sealed--the father of her child or the widdower whom she married.

The decision by the council of the First Presidency and Twelve--she should be sealed to her husband left (the widdower)

2 question.-- To whom should Brother Brighton [sic] father be sealed as a child? Decision--to the mother and the man to whom she is to be sealed.

Decision rendered by the First Presidency 19 April 1894.

Special case

Howard Egan's wife committed adultery with James Monroe. Howard Egan killed Monroe on account of the crime. Wm. M. Egan is the issue of the adultery.

Question.-- To whom does Wm. M. Egan go as a child--to Howard Egan or his father?

Decision of the First Presidency and 12 April 19, 1894. He belongs to Howard Egan, by virtue of the mother being Howard Egan's sealed wife, and no ordinances needed.

Prest. Joseph F. Smith acting for and in behalf of the Prophet Joseph Smith: do you wish to receive Jane James as a Servitor to yourself and family? (Answer Yes)

By the authority given me of the Lord I pronounce you, Jane James, a Servitor to the Prophet Joseph Smith (President Joseph F. Smith acting for and in his behalf) and to his household for all eternity, through your faithfulness in the new and everlasting covenant, in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.) page 13 (ibid page 34)

"Persons having received their endowments, who are otherwise qualified, may act for the dead in the ordinances of sealing and adoption, without having been sealed or adopted themselves. But in second anointings, none shall be eleigible to act for the dead unless they have received this blessing themselves." (signed Wilford Woodruff, George Q. Cannon, and Jos. F. Smith)

On Wednesday Nov. 15th 1893 Presidents Woodruff and Cannon, at their office, in answer to the question put to them by Prest. Lorenzo Snow made the following ruling.

"In cases where the heads of families deceased have had the necessary ordinance work done for them and they have been adopted into a family whose relationship in the covenant connects with the Prophet Joseph, the children of such parents can be sealed to the latter. This decision includes children who are in the Church and parents were not."

President Snow reported that the First Presidency and Twelve, at a meeting held in the temple Jan. 4th, 1894, decided at follows:

"If, by mistake, a person is sealed in the temple before being endowed, it is not necessary for the sealing to be cancelled. All that is necessary is for the person to be endowed, unless the person, or the individual representing him or her, is dissatisfied."

No date given.

"John Willowghby [sic] and Eliza Fox, both of them members of the Church, were married in England, and had three children, he died there, and she came to Utah with her children, where she married a member of the Church, named David Moore. She was afterwards sealed to her dead husband (Willoughby,) Moore acting as Proxey [sic] and the three children were sealed to her and Willoughby. She had five children by Moore, two of them are now living and they expressed a desire to be sealed with the three dead ones, to their father (Moore) and to their mother. What should be done about this?

"This question was answered, as follows, by the First Presidency, to whom it was referred by President Lorenzo Snow: Taking the old Israelitish law as a basis, the children ought to be sealed to the first husband and the mother. Although the woman was not sealed to John Willoughby while he was in life, that was no fault of his as he was not within reach of facilities for the performance of that ceremony, and he did the best he could under the circumstances. When David Moore married Eliza Fox he did so with an understanding of the prior claim of the first husband, which he appears to have recognized. The sealing to the first husband was also evidently according to the desire of the woman." (page 12)

"The question was considered today in the Council of First Presidency and Apostles, whether adults who have not received their endowments should be permitted to enter the temple to be sealed to their parents? The question was decided in the negative."

In connection with the above, the question has since been asked, What is the adult age?

The ruling on the question was, Eighteen for girls, and twenty-one for boys.

Elder Thos. D. Dee,
Ogden

Dear Brother:.--

This is in answer to yours of the 24th inst.

You have our permission to do the necessary temple work in behalf of your deceased brother who died an excommunicated member of the Church after receiving his endowment and having his wife sealed to him who is also dead.

It will be an order for you, being the heir, to be baptized in behalf of your brother, to be ordained to the priesthood he formerly held, and to have his former blessings reconferred upon you in his behalf. And this will authorize the president of the temple to permit this to be done.

Your brethren,

Jos. F. Smith,
John R. Winder
Anthon H. Lund
First Presidency

P.S. If the children born to your brother before his wife was sealed to him have not been sealed to their parents, this part of his work should also be attended to.

But this matter should be laid before the High Council by whom James L. Dee was excommunicated for its approval; and an expression in writing in favor of this work being done in behalf of the deceased be given and the same presented at the Temple, in connection with your own when you go there.
(These instructions were complied with 17 Oct. 1906.)

This is the first and only time it is mentioned that a case is referred back to the court of action when a person has been excommunicated. Book covers a period of 1889--1925. Page 15

Bishop George A. Browning, Lorenzo, Idaho

Dear Brother:--

In view of the circumstances narrated in yours of the 2nd inst., we suggest that you issue a temple recommend in favor of sister Aaron Harrop and children who wishes to be sealed to her deceased husband and have their children sealed to them.

When sister Harrop goes through the temple to have the necessary work done for her husband, it will be in order for her to explain that her husband had not been ordained to the Melchizedek Priesthood, and therefore he should be ordained an elder by proxy before receiving endowments in his behalf. And this letter when presented at the temple with her own recommend, will be authority for permitting this work to be done.

Your brethren,

Joseph F. Smith
John R. Winter

President of the Temple,
Dear Brother:--

At the regular meeting of the First Presidency and Apostles on Thursday last, .. it was learned that a rule existed in the Logan Temple, established by President John Taylor at the opening of that Temple, permitting endowments to be given on behalf of deceased children who had attained the age of eight before their death. At the opening of the St. George Temple this age was fixed by President Brigham Young at fifteen, and is still in force there, and the same rule was adopted by and is in-force at the Salt Lake Temple.

That uniformity may obtain in all the Temples, I gave it as my opinion that the age fixed by President Young should be adhered to, and this became the sense of the Council by formal action.

Your brother,

/s/ Wilford Woodruff

Elder David H. Cannon,
President St. George Temple
Dear Brother:--

It having come to the knowledge of the First Presidency that children and adults who had not received their endowments had been permitted to witness the marriage ceremony of their friends in one of the temples, the propriety of this was considered by the Council of the First Presidency and Apostles; and I was instructed to request the presidents of temples to strictly forbid any person who had not received his or her endowments from witnessing the sealing ordinance.

Your brother,

Addressees To Presidents of Temples:

At a meeting of the First Presidency and Apostles, held in the Salt Lake Temple December 16th last the following question, submitted by Elder David H. Cannon, of the St. George Temple was considered:

Gospel Mysteries

"A couple were sealed by competent authority outside the Temple; one or both of them had not received endowments; are children of such unions born in the covenant, it being understood that they were born before their parents received their endowments, or should they be sealed to their parents?"

In connection with the above question Bro. David H. Cannon remarked that, following instructions given by the late President Brigham Young on this point, the St. George Temple did not regard the children of such marriages as being in the covenant, and therefore required that they be sealed to their parents.

By way of explanation it may be well to state that some members of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles had sealed couples in Arizona and Mexico by authority of President Wilford Woodruff, which had been done because of the great distance to be traveled in order to get to a temple, as well as impropriety of young people travelling by wagon to a temple to be married; and some parties thus sealed had since presented themselves at the St. George temple to do temple work, hence the question.

The discussion of this subject was quite lengthy, each member present expressing his views thereon. [page 2 of the letter] (p. 20) President Woodruff decided, and the Council unanimously supported the decision, that the children of such unions were born in the covenant, and it was not necessary therefore that they should be sealed to their parents, and the records of St. George Temple containing the above instructions were ordered to be made to agree with this ruling. It was the unanimous feeling of the Council that if President Brigham Young were now alive and this question were brought fully before him he would modify the instructions said to have been given by him to agree with this decision. /s/ Geo. (p. 21)

[From a letter of John Taylor to George Q. Cannon dated November 7, 1877:]

. . . "The subject of the present condition of the Patriarchs has lately been considered by us. It has appeared to several of the members of the Quorum that they have lately noticed a spirit amonst some of the brethren ordained to this office, to degrade it to a mere means of obtaining a livelihood, and to obtain more business they had been traveling from door to door and underbiding each other in the price of blessings. This, we all considered an evil that should be remedied as soon as practicable; and after due consideration the following resolutions passed by the Council:--

"That a Quorum of Patriarchs be organized, over which, Bro. John Smith, by virtue of his calling, will preside, and the members of which quorum he will direct in their labors and operations, as he shall be instructed by the Council (page 24) of the Apostles, and that it shall be Bro. Smith's duty to see that the Records of Blessings are properly kept and preserved."

After this motion was passed, I remarked to Bro. John Smith, "magnify your calling and you will yet be a great man in Israel. The Spirit of your father and the spirit of the Lord will rest upon you if you seek for it, and the other patriarchs will seek counsel of you." If Bro. John will do this, as it should be done, I feel that the calling of the patriarchs will arise to the dignity that naturally and properly belongs to it, and as much be respected in the midst of Israel. . . . (page 25) . . . We have it in our mind, so soon as the addition to the temple is roofed in [viz., the Logan Temple], which will not be long, to place an altar therein and have sealings performed. As the need of a place where marriages can be legally performed according to the Holy Order of the Priesthood, somewhere near to our northern settlements than the St. George Temple is every day pressing itself more forcibly upon our notice. We realize that the avenues to lawful marriage should not be diminished amongst the Saints, but that it should be encouraged by every consistent means within our power, at the same time I am, in my own feelings, very much opposed to these promiscuous marriages for time that are being celebrated here, there and everywhere by the bishops and others. . . . PATRIARCHS, DUTY ANO POWERS OF.

"Now, to make myself plain, it is the right of every faithful member of the Church to receive a written blessing for his guide, either at the hands of a stake patriarch or at the hands of the presiding patriarch, who are authorized to pronounce and seal blessings by the laying on of hands, which is an ordinance in the Church." Conference Reports, April 1921, p. 184, Elder Hyrum G. Smith.

Some of the sealings which a patriarch may perform are:

1. To come forth in the morninq of the first resurrection or the resurrection of the just.

2. Against the power of the Destroyer.

3. Unto eternal life.

This means "nothing but the unpardonable sin can prevent you from inheriting eternal life, but you are sealed up by the power of the priesthood unto eternal life." DHC 5:391, Joseph Smith.

Gospel Mysteries

4. Seal a person up to fill up the full measure of his mission and creation upon the earth.

Note: The blessing is sealed upon a persons head throuqh his faithfulness, but these other sealings mentioned above comes after this. Aren't all blessings and ordinances based upon faithfulness? Why single out one ordinance; a patriarchal blessing may be fulfilled in later generations as shown by the blessing given to Jacob, and Abraham (T & S 6:906) If a person is excom. what happens to the blessing given to the posterity? If these blessings are not restored after coming back into the Church, are these not all lost? Are not all ordinances restored or are just part restored?

A patriarchal blessing is not a luxury, but an ordinance of the gospel, and like everything else about the gospel is given only to those who ask for it, and most of the blessing is contingent upon faithfulness, other parts are sealing, done by the power of the priesthood by the laying on of hands.

Is it important to have a record of the sealings given? The prophet made a record of sealing Wm. Clayton up to eternal life, D.H.C. 5: p. 391.

If the above are not true sealings (1-4) then why say "I seal thee---".

Brother Lund says that a patriarch has the power to seal up to eternal life, but not the other sealings mentioned above, yet these sealings were performed by Hyrum G. Smith. Brother Lund has never heard of restoring patriarchal blessings.

Is a patriarchal blessing for this life only/ or is it eternally enforced? If it is enforced eternally, then it would be lost through excommunication and should be restored. Or does the sealings given in a patriarchal blessing superceed excommunication, like children born in the covenant? Pages 36 through 42 are a xerox of the "Christmas assembly in St. George. This document is a supplement to a handling of transgression cases letter of Joseph F. Smith, Anthon H. Lund, Charles W. Penrose the First Presidency dated 16 June 1916 addressed to bishopric of wards. At the bottom of this supplement which is page 2A is the following quotation . . . In further support of the above instruction, making them still clear, we quote the following synopsis of remarks made by President Joseph F. Smith at the special priesthood meeting of the general conference, held in Salt Lake City, Saturday, April 8, 1916:

The question is often asked: 'how shall young people, guilty of transgression be dealt with when they live in different wards or stakes? When they make things right, should they be required to make public confession and should they be baptized?' It depends upon the extent of the sin. Some should be required to make public confession, whenever the sin is known publically. If young people sin, and it is not known to any but themselves and God and the one to whom they voluntarily confess it, and they are sincerely repentant it is not necessary to make a confession public, or to the older people so far as that is concerned. If they sin before many, they should make it right before many. Where they are in different wards, each should be handled by the Bishop of his own ward. Where the sinner there confession is not publically known and they are humble and repentant, let the proper officer accept their confession, and let them renew their covenant privately by baptism, then let them not sin again, and look to the Lord for forgiveness and let the bishop also forgive them. During President Taylor's time he hated this great sin so much, that he made it a rule that if an elder became an adulterer he was cut off from the Church regardless of his repentance; but each case stands on its own merits. There is no precedence. You cannot judge one man by the conduct or action of another. The inspiration of the Lord should guide you it to the right course to pursue in each case. All, however, are to be required to renew their covenants by baptism. In ancient times God's law punished the adulterer with death."

Plural Marriage.

"We may believe that Joseph Smith was a prophet, but this belief will not secure our salvation, unless we put into practise the commandments which were given by our Heavenly Father, through him. We have the power of the evil one to contend with: when we followed the light that is born in us, we did right, and it would lead us back to our Heavenly Father; but on the other hand, should we give way to evil influences, this blessing should be denied us. The power was given to Joseph Smith to confer the Holy Ghost upon those who were baptized, and if we did not receive the Holy Ghost, when hands were laid upon us, it was our own fault. He spoke on Celestial Marriage. Said he knew that Joseph Smith had many wives sealed to him. Hyrum Smith taught my wife, my mother, and myself, the law of Celestial Marriage. Hyrum said my wife and I were not one; to become one, we would have to be sealed up to Eternal Life; my wife was then sealed to me: and I acted in behalf of my father, who was dead, and was sealed to my mqther. The law of Celestial Marriage was taught me before the death of Joseph: and I practised it before he died." . . .

Dear Brother:

We send the enclosed letter to you for Brother James H. Martineau, and send it unsealed that you may read its contents and obtain therefrom our views concerning the principle alluded to by him.

We must be more strict in enforcing the rule which is here mentioned in regard to heirship in our Temples, and people must not be permitted to follow their whims in being baptized for any and every body whom they may choose to officiate for; and persons should be questioned upon this subject of being baptized for those not of their own kin. We are satisfied that no man has a right to outside of his own kindred to attend to ordinances for the dead, without consultation and permission from the Presiding authority of the Church. But as this, perhaps, would lead to great delay and large correspondence, you as President of the Temple are authorized to exercise a wise discretion in permitting persons to be baptized for friends, when they satisfy you that they have no representative in the Church. With kind regard your brother. Wilford Woodruff.

Elder David H. Cannon
St. George

Dear Brother:
I am in receipt of a letter from sister Susie Miller, of Parawon, who is to be married in the St. George Temple the latter part of this month. Her letter sets forth in substance that she was previously married, that her husband, by whom she had children, died about 4 years ago without taking her and the children to the temple for the purpose of having the sealing ordinance performed in behalf of him and her, and having her children sealed to them, and that when reminded by her that these ordinances had not been attended to he treated the matter indifferently and died without sensing the mistake he had made. That she now desires to be sealed to her intended husband, and have her children adopted to him, and ask my consent that this be done.

This will authorize you to seal Sister Miller to her intended husband and adopt the children by her former husband to the man she is about to marry. But in giving you this authorization I desire you to frankly state to these parties that I consent to this being done wholly on the ground that Sister Miller requested it, leaving the justness of this course (this is, adopting the children of her former husband to her intended husband) to be settled in the hereafter where everything which may be done here not strictly in harmony with justice and righteousness will be corrected.

Dear Brother:--

This is in answer to your note on the back of a letter written by Elder William Asber to Bishop Joseph Hopkin, of Echoe, in which Brother Asber requests the bishop to take steps to procure for him a recommend in favor of Elias Asber and wife, his deceased brother and sister-in-law.

In the first place we would say that recommends for second blessings are not Bishop's recommends and their names therefore should not appear on them at all. The President of Stakes alone are held responsible for people recommended for second annointings, and where they are not personally acquainted with the parties to be recommended, it would be in order for them of course to satsify themselves through other reliable sources. In the next place we would say that it is not expected that people shall be found asking that this most sacred ordinance shall be administered to them, but you should take pains to seek out the worthy people under your jurisdiction, and this by means of your counselors and Bishops. In this particular case however you will be perfectly safe in issuing the recommends sought for, as we personally know the parties to be worthy.

Dear Brother:--

This is in answer to yours of the 3rd inst.

It is not in order for people to ask for recommends for second blessings. They should be chosen through the Stake Presidency because of their faithfulness, fitness and worthiness to receive this higher ordinance of the house of the Lord. It is understood of course that you have received second anointinqs yourself, otherwise you had better refrain from recommending for the present. We may say however that second blessings are not administered to single individuals of either sex. but to men and their wives..

Christine Eggleston, Afton

Dear Sister:--

Yours of the 21st inst. is received, in which you ask, in substance, the following question.

If a woman be sealed to a man who provides for her, and is kind to her, and who is a good Latter-day Saint; but she tires of him and does not love him, and obtains a legal separation from him, and marries another man who is also a good Latter-day Saint, whom she loves, but her first husband still loves her and claims her for eternity. Who shall she belong to in the next world?"

The simple answer to this question would be thus: The husband who has the best claim on her.
But we would not have it understood that we use the word "claim" in the ordinary sense; the sense, for instance, in which it is used in referring to a chattel a piece of land or an animal; for it must be borne in mind that a woman is a free agent and that she will forever enjoy the freedom of that agency, as man himself does and will. For instance, a couple who are properly married and in whom the principle of love is begotten and developed through the marital relation may claim each other in this life as husband and wife and the propriety of the use of the word claim in this instance never be questioned, for the reason that the principle of love has united them as one. But if either of them should for some reason or other, with or without justification, take it into his or her head to separate, and be fixed in that determination and remain in this state of mind, to claim each other under such conditions would amount to nothing at all. If the separation should be found to be justifiable it would be within the power of the injured party to make the state of separation perpetual or to condone the transgression and become reunited, provided of course both parties desire to be reunited should be and worthy of each other. But if the separation should be found to be unjustifiable, say, on the part of the woman, no self respecting man would want to compel her to live with him against her will, even if he had the power to do so. After reaching the perfected state of life people will have no other desire than to 1ive in harmony with the righteousness of every wrong, including that which united them as husband and wife. It is true a woman may say, I do not love my husband in this world, and I know I shall not love him in the world to come. This may or may not be true. It will depend entirely upon his worthiness. Those who attain to the first or celestial resurrection must necessarily be pure and holy, and they will be perfect in body as well. In other words every man and woman that reaches this unspeakable condition of life will be as beautiful as the angels that surround the throne of God; and therefore there will be no reason then for a woman not loving her husband; she will be able to love him in the first place because he will be a perfect being, and she would have no desire to associate in the marriage relation with anyone else, for the weaknesses of the flesh will then have been overcome and forgotten; and both be in harmony with the laws that united them.

It is taken for grandid that you will confer with your counselors about such matters. also in cases where the parties are not sufficiently known to you to justify your recommending them, it is understood that you will be free to talk with their bishops or anyone else in whom he may have confidence ahout them for the purpose of satisfying yourself as to their worthiness to receive these higher blessinqs: but it should not be known why vou make your inquiry about the them. Dear Brother:--

Referring to yours of the 15th inst. we would say that President Woodruff's instructions to Stake Presidents on the subject of recommending for second anointing limited them to persons who had gathered with the Church, whether dead or alive, and this was the policy adopted by President Snow, although he may have made exceptions to it. And it is our mind that faithful men who have gathered with the Church, who can be recommended as worthy to receive these higher blessings, but who through death were deprived of them, should receive them by proxy. It would be in order therefore to extend your recommends to Franklin P. Whitmore, deceased, inasmuch as you knew him to be worthy.

Dear Brother:--

We learn from your comnunication of 29 inst. that in your stake there are children who have been baptized before they were quite 8 years of age; the time varying from a few days to a month. You ask "should such baptisms be considered valid, or shall they be set aside and the ordinance repeated?"

In reply we will say that it has been decided by the General Authorities of the Church that such baptisms are valid; but we advise that all children should be baptized as near as possible when they are 8 years old. It occasionally happens that the monthly baptism day comes a day or two before the 8th birthday for certain children, in which case the parents, eager to have their children baptized, have the ordinance performed. Some children are more advanced, both mentally and bodily, even at seven than other are at 8 years old, consequently in our opinion a few days either before or after the 8th birthday makes but little, if any, difference. Indeed, we would prefer to have a child baptized a few days before its ei[g]th birthday than to have it go without the ordinance being attended to for some indefinite time after it had reached 8 years of age. None of us know what a day may bring forth, consequently we do not feel that it is wise or'proper to put off or postpone any known duty.

Dear Brother:--

This is in answer to yours of the 23rd inst.

Brethren recommended to the temple for second anointings should be men of experience whose integrity to the work of the Lord is beyond question, and who are known for their continued faithfulness, as it would be very unfortunate thing indeed for a man to receive the higher blessings and afterwards apostatize. The question of age would naturally be a consideration in recommending for the ordinances, but it is not to be understood for a moment that you should wait until brethren become old before recommending them to receive these blessings. The chief qualifications are worthiness, fitness and unshaken integrity, and these should be combined in man thus recommended whether they occupy presiding positions or not; but as a matter of course the brethren occupying presiding positions, such as those of the stake presidency, high councilor, president of the high priest's quorum, patriarch and bishop are suppose to be in possession of these qualifications.

The usual form of recommend should be used containinq the name of the brother recommended, also the name of his wife or those of his wives, dead or alive, as the case may be, to be anointed to him, and all such recommended should be sent this office for endorsement accompanied by a letter of explanation."

Dear Brother:--

Your brother the 224th ult., addressed to the President of the Salt Lake Temple certifying that Theodore Klein and wife and son Claude are members in full faith and fellowship of the San Francisco branch, and as such recommending them to the House of the Lord, as has been brought to our attention.

We take the earliest opportunity of informing you that presidents of missions are not competent to recommend to the House of the Lord; this prerogative is confined to bishops only. This is the general rule, which would convey the idea that only members of the Church living within the jurisdiction of a bishop are eligible to receive temple ordinances. But for your information we may say also that the[re] may be exceptions to this rule. For instance, you may have living under your presidency members of the Church of long standing and of good integrity, entirely worthy to receive the blessings of the House of the Lord; but it may not be wisdom for them to break up their homes and come to Zion for the purpose of making new ones, as they may be more helpful in the work of the Lord situating where they are that they would were they to gather with the saints. In all such cases it would be your privilege to correspond privately with us about them without letting the parties know of your intent and purpose; and after learning from you all about their antecedents, their worthiness, &c.,. if we should feel it right to permit such people to receive their endowments, a special recommend might be given to them by ourselves, w[h]ich would enable them to come to the House of the Lord to receive their blessings and return in pleasure to their homes. Such correspondence should be done by you as president of the mission. Conference presidents and branch presidents have nothing whatever to do with such matters, and the people thus recommended to us by you should be personally known to you for their worthiness to receive temple blessings. This means of course that they should be men and women of experience in the Church, strong in the faith and helpful in their way as well as tithe payers.

Dear Brother:--

You say in yours of the 1st inst. that a custom obtains in your ward of giving only the first name to a child when thus and naming it and not giving it its surname, or the name of its parents; and believing that a child is only half blessed when the surname is omitted, you desire to know our mind regarding it.

The surname is not given to the child at all; the moment of its birth the name of its parents belong to it, and it would be inconsistent to undertake to give a child something which it naturally inherits. The given name is only given, and the custom prevailing in your ward therefore is evidently consistent and right.

Dear Brother:--

This is in answer to yours of the 14th inst.

The negro race has not received the holy priesthood, neither can they, they being debarred on account of the curse placed upon Cain, their great progenitor, and which they themselves inherit; and the Prophet Joseph taught the doctrine in his day that the seed of Cain could not receive the priesthood nor act in any of its office until the seed of Abel should come forward and take precedence over Cain's offspring.

It is true that brother Abel was ordained a Seventy and sent to preach the gospel of repentance to his own race but he was not authorized to confer upon them the holy priesthood, neither did brother Abel himself receive temple ordinances. He however, it should be born in mind, was not a full blooded negro; being simply an octoroon.

The story about the bodies of the prophets Joseph and Hyrum Smith having been brought to this country by the pioneers is a fallacy; they were buried in Nauvoo, and their resting place remains undisturbed. Your brethren, Brother Lyman seemed impressed with the report and thought that it was not a rumor but a fact.

Dear Brother:--

As you are aware, until within a few years ago, the custom prevailed in Canada, Arizona and Mexico for our young people residing in those countries to marry for time only on account of the inconvenience and expense of attending a journey to a temple, and that in order to save this great expense, and to encourage marriages, among our young people, President Woodruff and President Snow, each in his time, authorized some of the Apostles, and perhaps others, to perform sealings for time and eternity in behalf of young couples of those place[s], and that this authority has been exercized quite freely to the present time.

The council of First Presidency and Apostles have now deemed it expedient and wish to withdraw [that] authority from those brethren, leaving it souly in the hands of him who holds the keys thereof, and a resolution to this effect has been unanimously passed by the council.

We write you, in connection with all the other members of the Council not present when this action was taken, that you may be informed of the same, and with the request that you will, on receipt of this letter, strictly govern yourself accordingly.

We may say also in this connection that there is no objection whatever to you performing the common marriage ceremony in behalf of any who may desire you to serve them in this respect; but in doing so all such couples should be given to understand that their marriage is simply a legal marriage for time only, performed under the laws of the land, and they should be urged to look forward to the time when the way shall be opened for them to come to a temple to be properly sealed and to have their children also sealed to them.

Second blessinqs are intended for those only who have born the heat and burden of the day, and endured faithful to the end; and, as a general thing, they are administered only to people who have qathered with the body of the Church. And in recommending such people it is expected that their worthiness is personally known to the Stake President who recommends them. The case referred to in yours of the 12th inst. cannot for a moment be considered as eligible for these higher blessings.

Dear Brother:--

The First Presidency desire me to inform you that second blessings are not administered to any excepting those who receive the gospel and are known for their worthiness. The women therefore referred to in your letter who have been sealed to Elder Beckstrand, but who did not receive the gospel in their lifetime, should not be recommended by you to receive these blessinqs.

And furthermore bishops are not competent to recommend for second blessings, and their names therefore should not he on such recommends. This privilege belongs soley to the Stake President in connection with his counselors. The Stake President however may confer with bishops in regard to this matter, but he must become responsible for the recommend through his own siqnature.

Dear Brother:--

This is in answer to yours of the 1st inst.

The Lord has given us no particular form for ordinations to the priesthood, and the Church recognizes none. Moroni in the first three verses of the 3rd Chapter of the Book of Moroni, gives the manner which the disciples on this continent ordained priests and teachers; and we may add that the same simple matter would apply to all the other offices in the priesthood.

It is our understanding that when a person is ordained a deacon, with all th[at] pertains to that office sealed upon you, it is tentamount to conferring upon him the Aaronic Priesthood and ordaining him to the office of deacon, and so also in regard to the ordination of an elder. When a man is ordained an elder it is understood that the Melchizedek Priesthood is conferred upon him whether the officiating elder expressed the fact or not in the ordination; and it is by virtue and authority of this priesthood that the elder performs the duties of his office.

Brethren have been criticized for using this language: "We lay our hands upon your head to ordain you, &c., because the language fails to express the full intent of the officiating elder, and for that reason brethren have been instructed to use the word "and" in that connection instead of the word "to".

Of course all ordinations are not worded alike, and it may be true also that some ordinations may be somewhat defective, gramatically or otherwise, in fully expressing their full scope and meaning; but while it is true that the Lord accepts of the intent, it is nevertheless true also that officiating elders should learn to express themselves as fully and clearly as possible in ordaining to the priesthood as well as in the performance of every other duty or labor.

Sometime last year Peter W. Erickson of Dublan, who had been on a mission to Sweden, wrote to the Tildanilson of Indal, Sweden, asking her to come to Mexico to become his plural wife. His letter, it is said, was given into the hands of a minister at Indal, who, with his friends has been making it almost intolerable, and even dangerous, for our elders laboring in that region.

When you next visit Dubalan please do not forget to take with you "the big stick", and do not hesitate to use it freely.

Dear Brother:--

Your letter of the 21st of November last I suppose came duely to him, but was mislaid and only opened a few days ago. In it you state that a young woman of the London conference, who had returned from here in account of ill health after having received her endowments, was not likely to live long, and in the event of her death you desire to know what ought to be done about dressing her body in temple clothing, that is, whether she might order a temple suit from this city and keep it on hand to be used in case of her death, and whether or not her sister, who had not received her own endowments, might be allowed to be instructed how to cloth the body.

After conferring with President Smith and Lund in regard to this matter, we concluded that it would not be a wise thing for this sister to keep on hand a suited temple clothing as she might not pass away, and in that event the clothing might be subjected to the view of people nct entitled to look upon it; and for this reason we concluded to say to you that the services of the wife of the president of the mission might be utilized in making the suit and clothing the body.

With kind regards your brother

Dear Brethren:--

We herewith submit answers to the questions contained in yours of the 14th inst.

Question: Where we grant a brother and sister the privileqe of second blessinqs, and they desire the same blessings in behalf of their deceased parents who were true and faithful members of the Church while they lived, shall we grant their request?

Answer: Yes, provided they can be properly recommended.

Question: Where the husband is dead and his widow living, is it alright for her to receive these blessinqs and have someone who has received them to stand for him, provided of course he was a worthy man?

Answer: Yes.

Question: A brother who was recommended for this purpose a year or two ago asked permission to receive this ordinance in behalf of his son, a worthv young man who had died. Would you approve of this request being granted?

Answer: Not at present.

Ouestion: If the good record of a man is broken by his falling into transgression, say adultery or fornication, and he repents and makes restitution as far as he can do so, and has received forgiveness, can he afterwards, by living a faithful and good life, be entitled to receive these higher ordinances?_
Answer: Everv such case should stand on its own merits. In some instances it mav be highly proper to recommend for second anointings, in others improper. For instance, a man who commits adultery after receiving his endowments should not be recommended to receive second blessings. Let the cases of all such men be considered and determined by the authority on the other side of the veil. But where a man commits adultery before joining the Church or even after baptism but before receiving his endowments his condition is different, and yourself and counselors must be the judges as to his worthiness to receive these blessings. Question: We have not recommended anyone, only in exceptional cases, who have not reached the age of 50. Is that aqe limit alriqht?

Answer: If a man 50 years of age has been faithful he may be recommended for higher blessings.

Dear Brother:--

During the life of President Wilford Woodruff, Bro. Isaiah Cox of St. George died, and his wife, not feeling satisfied with the course their husband had taken, represented their case to the then First Presidency, and permission was given them to be released from their husband, and acting upon this permission the sealings were cancelled.

About 2 or 3 weeks ago Sister Martha Cox called upon us in behalf of herself and the other two wives, Henryeta and Elizabeth in relation to their present condition; and after duling considering the matter, and at the same time paying due respect to the personal feelings of these sisters we suggested that advisibility of their being sealed to the Prophet Joseph Smith or some other one of our leading men, deceased, with the understanding that in the hereafter a proper and righteous disposition should be made of their case. Sister Martha conveyed our mind in writing to sisters Henryetta and Elizabeth, all of whom have since elected to be sealed, with the understanding expressed, to the Prophet Joseph Smith, and you are hereby authorized therefore to perform the sealings accordingly.

It is our understanding that when a person is ordained a deacon in the Aaronic Priesthood, with all that pertains to that office sealed upon him, it is tantamount to conferring upon him the Aaronic Priesthood and ordaining him to the office of deacon.

Of course all ordinations are not worded alike, and it may be true also that some ordinations may be somewhat defective in fully expressing their full scope and meaning; but the fact remains nevertheless that when a person is ordained a deacon, for instance, even in a language said to have been used by the elder on the occasion referred to her in your letter, the ordinations [sic] is lawful and valid. In this connection we refer you to the 3rd Chapter of the Book of Moroni.

16 January 1847 Brigham Young history

I remarked that a body pure enough to receive a spirit and so that an evil spirit can have no influence over it, was susceptible of angelic converse at any time. I said some men were afraid they would lose some glory if they were sealed to one of the Twelve and did not stand alone and have others sealed to them. A saints kingdom consisted of his own posterity, and to be sealed to one of the Twelve did not diminish him, but only connected him according to the law of God by that perfect chain and order of Heaven, that will bind the righteous from Adam to the last saint. Adam will claim us all, as members of his kingdom we being his children.

(p. 24)

6 January 1847 Brigham Young history.

In answer to your questions I reply, inasmuch as you have made a covenant with Bro. Samuel Bent to be sealed to him and be attached to his kingdom, you ought to keep that covenant, and when there is someone to act in his stead or as proxy for him (as he is fallen asleep) and a temple built for such purposes you must attend to it; and if you should not live, you must have on record your request with some of your relatives, or someone you shall select.

When a man hears the gospel and obeys it and lives up to all the laws of the gospel, his wife and children are his in time and in eternity, but if the husband reject the gospel and the wife receives it, she can claim all the children that have died in infancy, or without law, or if she can prevail on them to embrace the gospel, she can hold them or claim them as her children in time and in eternity. And further, it is the duty of all parents to prevail on the children to embrace the gospel of salvation, break off from all sin and cleave unto righteousness."

Dear Brother:

Please present our compliments to Brother McAllister and say to him that it is not customary for woman to be anointed to men, to whom they may have been sealed after death, but with whom they had not lived in their lifetime as husband and wife in the marriage relation. Both of you will at once perceive the consistency and wisdom of this when you call to mind the fact that the second anointing consists of positive blessinqs bestowed only upon people who are known, and who can be recommended, for their long and steadfast faithfulness in the Church. And indeed, so particular have the Presidencies been at administerinq second anointings, that they drew the line between faithful members of the Church who died without gatherinq with the Church, and faithful members who gathered with the body of the Church and remained faithful afterwards, leaving the faithful people who have died in a scattered condition to be dealt with by the authority on the other side of the veil. But the main thought intended to be conveyed by us in this particular case is that the parties receiving the blessings must not only be known for their fidelity and faithfulness, but they must be, or have been, husband and wife as well, or one flesh, to use the scriptural expression.

Dear Brother:--

Please find enclosed recommends for second blessings endorsed by President Smith.

The First Presidency direct me to call your attention to the printed form used by you in this instance recommending for a second blessinqs, and would thank you to let them know if this particular form was prepared by youself, or purchased by you of the printer already prepared? Their reason forilliciting this information is this: the form is unauthorized, and not in accordance with their mind in recommendino for the second anointing. In other words the word "second" should not be in the recommend at all, and you are therefore requested to discard this particular form, and in fact to destroy it.

Instructions have been given so many times in regard to this matter. that it has been taken for grandid that every Stake President is fully informed in relation to it. The way to do is to use the common form of temple recommend, and write a letter in connection with it explaining who the people are thus recommended, and givin, as near as you can, their ages and a brief account of their lives so that the presidency may be this means gather some idea of their suitableness and worthiness to receive the endorsement of the President. And it is taken for grandid that you take pains to become personally acquainted with everybody recommended by you for second blessings, and you are of course at liberty to adopt every necessary means to acquire the information; and strict privacy should be enjoined by you and all so recommended by you. Prest. William Budge,
Logan Temple,

Dear Brother:--

We have just returned to President Stohl two temple recommends, given by him for second blessings in behalf of two women, one of whom was not a member of the Church, the other was but she died also in a foreign land without having gathered with the body of the Church. A brother, living in Box Elder Stake, who had recently been doing work in the Logan Temple in behalf of the women referred to, was told, while there that it was in order now for him to have those women anointed to him, and he therefore procured recommends from his Stake President to have this work done for them.

We have just informed President Stole that a rule of the temple forbids deceased women who were not members of the Church prior to their demise, or who did not gather with the body of the Church, being anointed to men, therefore, we could not endorse the recommends of the sisters referred to.

We write this for your information; also to say that it is not becoming in brethren to suggest that second blessings be given to anybody, living or dead, unless they are delegated by the President of the Church to act in this capacity, and it would be well therefore for you to so inform your Temple workers.

We are, with kind regards, your brethren,

Dear Brother:--

This is an answer to yours of the 21st inst.

People who are not members of the Church during their lifetime are not eligible to receive second blessings. They should not only have been members of the Church, but their faithfulness and worthiness to receive these blessings should be unquestioned, and besides the line has been drawn in favor of those who have either gathered with the body of the Church or died on their way to the gathering place, all others are left to be dealt with by the authority on the other side of the veil. The recommends in favor of Mary Morgan and Mary Ann Love are therefore herewith returned unendorsed.

The case of the grandfather of Sister Owens of Willard City, with his wife who died before the Church was organized, comes within the rule, and it will be for you to therefore to satisfy yourself from the best evidence obtainable as to his worthiness and govern yourself accordingly. If he should be found worthy his wife, in this instance, would be an exception to the rule.

...The general rule adopted by the First Presidency in regard to the second anointing, is in effect that those blessings should be confined to the faithful members of the Church who have gathered with the body of the Church, or who died on the way in an effort to do so. Inasmuch therefore as you shall be able to satisfy yourself through the testimony of such men as Elders E. W. and Ralph Smith that their father, who died in Australia, where he is said to have gone for the purpose of making money to immigrate himself and family to Zion, --that he died in a state of worthiness, you may consider yourself at liberty to recommend him and his wife for second blessings.

February 19th, 1909 Elder S. H. Jones,

Dear Brother:--

This is in answer to yours of the 15th inst.

The doctrine taught in Keeler's Lesser Priesthood to the effect that a Deacon may ordain a Deacon, and a Teacher may ordain a Teacher, is correct; but it should be understood that while this doctrine is true, circumstances may never arise in the history of our Church rendering it necessary for a Deacon to ordain a Deacon, or a Teacher to ordain a Teacher, as it would not be at all proper for either a Deacon or Teacher to officiate in these ordinations unless instructed to do so by proper authority.

Verse 58 of Section 20, which states that neither Teachers nor Deacons have authority to baptize, administer the sacrament, or lay on hands, is not at all in conflict with the doctrine referred to. To "lay on hands" in this connection means to confirm members of the Church and bestow the Holy Ghost, a thing the Aaronic Priesthood is incapable of doing.

Elder Henry H. Rolapp,
Ogden

Dear Brother:--

Referring to your favor of the 29th ult., containing enclosure in the shape of a copy of letter from Mr. Fred J. Kiesel to Mr. A. Plehn, Emperial German Consul at Denver, answering the Consul on the present statis of polygamy, we suggest that you use Mrs. Kiesel in the way indicated by you, that is, as a means of conveying to the German Consul the facts in relation to the stand taken by the Church on the question of polygamy.

In this connection we may remind you that we fought this question through the courts, maintaining our right under the Constitution to practice plural marriage as part of our religion, and that this was done until the court of last resort decided the anti-polygamy laws to be constitutional, and that since President Woodruff's manifesto of 1890, the Church has in no wise sanctioned the solemnization of plural marriages. But that while we have no direct testimony, we have reason to believe the Elders Taylor and Cowley fell [failed] to strictly observe the manifesto, and for that reason failed to appear at the Smoot hearing at Washington, and were therefore dropped from their position as members of the Quorum of Apostles; but it is our understanding that whatever they did was done in Mexico in the belief that the manifesto applied only to the United States.

We may add also that a consensus of the polygamist families in America has been taken on two different occasions, and a report of the same made to the government, going to show that they are fast dying out, and that it is only a question of time when they will cease to exist.

For your information we may say that Prest. Sergef. Ballif of the Swiss and German mission has been in correspondence with Senator Smoot with a view to the Senator's interesting himself in behalf of our Church in Germany, by way of getting the Secretary of State to take the matter up with the German Government with a view to the German Government's granting to our missionaries the same liberty accorded to other foreign missionaries. And anything you can say, that Mr. Kiesel, to the German consol at Denver May 8, and perhaps hasten favorable action. We suggest however that you do this yourself, as we do not wish to be put under obligations to Mr. Kiesel for obvious reasons.

Elder Geo. F. Richards,
Prest. Salt Lake Temple
47 E. South Temple Street.

Dear Bro. Richards:

I have thought a good deal about our conversation in the St. George Temple on the 4th inst. and there are some things which have come to my mind that I don't think I called your attention to on that occasion.

Soon after the dedication of the St. George Temple Prest. Brigham Young and Apostles Wilford Woodruff and Erastus Snow called some of the leading brethren of this part of the country and administered to us what was said to be the endowment as administered in the Kirtland Temple. At the same time Prest. Young explained to us that after their arrival in Nauvoo the Lord revealed to the Prophet Joseph Smith in a meeting held in the Prophet's brick store, the present endowment as subsequently administered in the Nauvoo Temple and other places where endowments were given until the completion of the St. George Temple.

That at that time it was thought that the endowment was to be administered in two degrees, the first degree to include the Aaronic Priesthood only and that when the second token of the Aaronic Priesthood was given the robe would be on the right shoulder and that when the applicant had received the higher or Melkesedic Priesthood the robe would be on the left shoulder.

Sometime after this meeting and during the month of March Elders Wilford Woodruff and Geo. Q. Cannon were appointed by Prest. Brigham Young to write the ceremonies of the endowment in their entirety.

Brigham Young J.R.

On the 11th of January 1877, Prest. Young announced in the Temple in the presence of the company who [were] receiving endowments that this was the first time that the endowments had been administered for the dead (of which there was any record) in this dispensation. Later at a council meeting held in the Temple when Prest. Young was present Apostle Erastus Snow asked the question how it was that the endowment was not administered by degrees as contemplated and Prest. Young answered that it might be at some time in the future.

Since we were together in the St. George Temple on July 4th, 1922 I have spent considerable time in trying to find minutes of the two meetings to which

I made reference but without success. I can't call to mind at the present time any person living who was present at either of these meetings so that I am giving you what was said according to my recollection and while I may not use the exact phrasiology I give it to you as my mind serves me and with this in view I can see how it is possible that the robe was placed on the right shoulder before ascending to the Terrestrial room to commence service under the Melkesedic Priesthood. [p. 158]

I have thought much upon this subject since we were together and I thought better that I submit them to you as I believe that I am the only man living today who was present during the winter of '77 until the 16th of April where Prest. Young spent most of his time giving instructions to the elders on this important subject.

I don't know if I relate[d] to you a circumstance that occurred in the Logan Temple in June 1884 when parties who came from Bear Lake to do work in the Temple, a woman among these people had been married previous to leaving Salt Lake City for Carson Valley in the spring of 1856, her husband subsequently went over the mountains into California where his remains were found a few days after just above Plaserville badly mutilated by the hogs who were very numerous around the mining camps at that time. She had 4 children to this man, she subsequently married again and had 4 children by the second marriage. She had come to the Temple for the purpose of being sealed to the second husband for time and eternity and having the 8 children adopted to them, the relatives of the first husband were opposed to this and came to the temple in force to see that Justice was done their kinsman. Prest. John Taylor called a High Council to try the case. It was shown by the evidence that the first husband's death had occurred through fowl play, that the coroners Jury had found that a bullet had penetrated one of the ribs, further evidence established the fact that the young man had been an exampilary Latter-Day Saint and that the children could not be taken out of their lineage except for cause, that the 4 children born before the first husband's death and the 4 that were born to the second marriage, as the second man knew he was marrying into another man's wife. The 8 children were to go to the first husband and that if she wanted to be sealed to the second husband for eternity she could do so and any children that comes to them after this such sealing she could belong to her and her second husband. As I remember the pill was too large for her to swallow and she was not sealed to her second husband.

From that time until the present children are not taken out of the lineage of their progenitors, in the St. George Temple, without just cause.

I felt impressed to write you as above indicated as a friendly communication and not an attempt to direct anything that the leaders of this Church have in view. With kind personal regards, your brother in the gospel, Amasa M. Lyman speaking.

Why did we leave Missouri? Some say it was because the Devil would not let us stay or, what is the same thing, that the Lord was unable to prevent it. Those who say this, lose sight of the hand of the Lord. The Lord wanted us to leave, and permitted the Devils to go just so far with us. The Lord had commanded the Saints to gather to Missouri, and if he had then come out and told us to go to Illinois, we should have turned pale and been ready to apostatize. Why, we should say, the Lord told us to go to Missouri and now he tells us to go away again. One revelation is contrary to the other. Why did the Lord want us to leave Jackson County? It was because he could not build up his kingdom there--there was not room. Why were we driven from Nauvoo? For the same reason--the kingdom of God could not be built up there. "Bro. Amasa, do you think the saints will ever be driven from these valleys? I say, I do not think we shall. Why? Because of the very reason for which we were driven before. We are now in a place where we can build up the kingdom of God but we never were before. Could we ever have obtained a state government or an independent organization in Missouri, or Illinois? No, because such organizations already existed there. Here, no such organizations existed--here was room--a vacant place. We are the settlers here, we are the people, and the laws of the United States authorize or permit us to be organized as an independent state or government, which organization as I said before we could not receive in the states, because they were already organized."

According to a recent ruling of the First Presidency and the Council of the Twelve, it will be unnecessary in the future for temple recommends issued to saints of record in the missions of the United States, Canada and Mexico, to bear the endorsement of the President of the Church or one of his

President's Office

(Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 29, 1888)

President M. W. Merrill,

Logan Temple.

Dear Brother:

At a meeting of the Council of the Apostles yesterday it was decided that the Presidency of our Temple should be separated from the Presidency of the Stake, lest if we should be attacked with a view of getting possession of our Temples an attempt should be made to show a connection between the Church and the Temple Association, because of the President of the Temple acting in a high Church capacity. This is the policy that is suggested by our attorneys as safe, and we have thought it best to adopt it. We understand that in consequence of your position you have not been able to appear but little in public, or to take any public action in your office for some time; but your name is presented, we suppose, at your Quarterly Conferences as First Counselor to Brother Card. It will be well hereafter to not have your name presented in this capacity; and in order that there may be no misapprehension upon the subject, the reason should be carefully explained to the priesthood, and as far as prudent to the conference. Of course, it will be well, in making the explanation in public, to have it done as carefully as possible.
With kind regards, I am, your brother,

Elder Andrew Jenson,

Dear Brother:

The attention of the Twelve has been called to your number of the "Historical Record" for July, 1887, in which you published a list of the names of women who were sealed to the Propehet Joseph.

We do not question your good desires in making his name public, but we are lead to question the propriety of giving this publicity to them at the present time. And in accordance with the feelings of the Brethren, we address this letter to you upon the subject.

We do not think it a wise step to give these names to the world, at the present time, in the manner which you have done in this "Historical Record." Advantage may be taken of their publication and, in some instances, to the injury, perhaps, of families or relatives of those whose names are mentioned. There are too many persons living who are interested in these matters, and who may have reasons for not wishing any exposure of this character. We do not see that it will serve any good purpose, either, to make them public, and, therefore, we suggest that if it be your intention to give more names, it would be better we think, to refrain from doing so.

With kind regards,
Your brother, W. Woodruff

Dear Brother:

Your letter of Aug. 3rd. has been received. In reply thereto I would say that it will be alright for you to go to the Temple and attend to the work you wish to perform there, and then return to your field of labor. I expect we shall see Brother Brigham Young before very long.

Please keep me advised of what you are doing in your field. I heard that there was some difficulty with the Navajoes and that soldiers were taking an active part in the matter. All is well with us.

Dear Brother:

The Indian girl Viroqua Johnson concerning whose second anointings vou write to me, I think is a case that should be deferred for the present. Dear Brother:

Your communication of the 6th inst., asking questions respecting ordinances, has been received and considered.

You ask: Is it proper, under any circumstances, for persons to receive endowments the second time?

No, it is not proper, under any circumstances, to administer endowments twice to the same person.

You also asked; can a woman who has been anointed to her husband and afterwards leaves him to be sealed to another man, be anointed the second time--that is. to her second husband?

There is no necessity to answer this question until a case arises which may require an answer. We cannot anticipate all cases of this kind, and prefer to give no decision upon a question of this character until there is a necessity for it and all the circumstances connected with it are known.

With kind regards,
Your Brother,

Your letter of the 14th inst., in which-you suqqest the propriety of Sister Adeline B. Benson, wife of Brother E. T. Benson, deceased, acting for the wife of Brother Joel H. Johnson, who is deceased, in receiving second anointing, has been received and considered.

I see no objection to Sister Benson acting in this capacity for Sister Johnson inasmuch as she is the latter's friend and Sister Johnson has none other kin who are in a position to receive this ordinance for her.

Dear Brother:

Your letter of the 18th inst. in which you express your wishes concerning an Indian girl who has been sealed to you receiving her second anointing, and also respecting her doing work for 7 or 8 of the early martyrs, unmarried women, and having them sealed to you, has been received.

I think it is better for you to defer the ordinance of second anointing for this indian girl who has been sealed to you since her death. It will be no loss to her for the present.

As to the martyrs of whom you speak, we see no impropriety in your having the ordinance of baptism attended to for them, especially if you know who they are; but before having them sealed to you, you should certainly have some knowledge of them and of your right to have them, as others may claim that they have a better right than you hereafter.

With kind regards,

INTERVIEW

With David Henry Cannon Jr. who, with others, first settled in what is now St. George. This has to do largely with the location of the St. George Temple. Said he--

"I am eighty-two years old tomorrow. I am the only living person, so far as I know, who heard and saw what I am about to relate. At the time of which we shall speak, I was a lad of 11 years, all-seeing and all-hearing, and drove a team hitched to a scraper.

"President Brigham Young had written to Robert Gardner, president of the stake high council, in this letter he expressed a wish that a Temple be built in St. George. Also, that Brother Gardner select a few leading brethren, and, as a group, visit sites where it might be best to build the Temple. This they did, visiting spots each thought might be best. They could not agree, and so informed President Young.

"President Young, arriving later, somewhat impatiently chidded them, and at the same time asking them to get into their wagons, or whatever else they had, and with him find a location (site).

"To the south they finally stopped.

"'But, Brother Young' protested the men, 'this land is boggy. After a storm and for several months of the year, no one can drive across the land with horses and wagons sinking way down. There is no place to build a foundation.'

"We will make a foundation,' said President Young.

"Later on, while plowing and scraping where the foundation was to be, my horse's leg broke through the ground into a spring of water. The brethren then wanted to move the foundation line 12 feet to the south, so that the spring of water would be on the outside of the temple.

"'Not so' replied President Young. 'We will wall it up and leave it here for some future use. But we cannot move the foundation. This spot was dedicated by the Nephites. They could not build it (the Temple) but we can and will build it for them.'

"To this very day the water from that very spring is running through a drain properly built.

"I make this statement of my own free will and choice, and without any fear or misgiving."

ATTESTATION: We, the undersigned, found David Henry Cannon Jr., preparing beans to be canned. Also, his mind was clear and keen. During the entire interview, covering about 30 minutes, he never hesitated for an answer, and he never was once in doubt as to what he had seen and heard upon those memoriable occasions. He told us many other items, which we recorded this fourteenth day of October, 1942, but which we do not make a part of this signed statement. The following signatures and addresses are given.

President Angus M. Cannon,
Salt Lake Stake.

Dear Brother:--

Your letter in repyv to mine upon the subject of second anointings for Brother George Lufkin and Brother James Townsend, has been received and considered.

Whoever attends to the ordinances for Brother Townsend should certainly take his last wife to the Temple with them, so that she might receive the blessing as well as the deceased wife. Is Brother Georoe Lufkin the proper person, who is as worthy as he, who is nearer as heir to the Townsend Family than he is? If he is the proper party to represent Brother Townsend, under the circunstances you are at liberty to inform him that if he will get his recommendation properly signed, I will endorse it for him to receive his second anointing and to act for Brother Townsend, on condition, also, that he takes Brother Townsend's surviving wife with him.

Now, in relation to the other subject which you mention--the cases of worthy men and women who are aged who have not had their second anointings, and who, are waiting to have this privilege accorded to them, being counseled by, you not to know of aged men and women who are worthy to receive this ordinance, I would like you to forward their names to me for consideration; and these that we decide as proper persons to receive this ordinance can have their recommendations signed to that effect.

Your letter of the 4th inst., describing your case in past relations and your wish concerning receiving your second anointings again, came duly to hand and has been considered. I think you should be permitted to have your second

Dear Sister:

The ordinance of which you speak, and which you say you failed to attend to before the death of your husband, is one that should not be written about, and it cannot be attended to by proxy. Your husband is dead and, so far as the ordinances is concerned, it is alright. If there are any of his children who were not born in the covenant and they are dead, a living child, or children can officiate for them in being sealed to their parents.

You ask a question whether a sister can be sealed to her first husband, who never heard the gospel, if she has embraced it and has married and sealed to another.

We you not consider it safe for a woman in the Church to be sealed to a man who died before receiving the gospel.

With kind regards,
Your brother,
W. Woodruff.

Arthur Eutroppe, esq.,
East Portland. Or.

Dear Brother:

Your favors of Feb. 23rd to Elder H. S. Eldrege [sic] have been handed to me for reply.

In answer to your inquiry with regard to your standing in the Church, I will say that it is the universal rule that all of our members should be re-baptized and re-confirmed when they reach Zion. This requirement has been observed by the President of the Church, and all its officers and members and would be required of you on your rival, if you desire, as I presume you would, to be considered in full fellowship. When these ordinances are attended to, you are recognized as a member of The Church of Jesus Christ an equal heir with all your brethren and sisters, according to your faithfulness, to all its blessings, gifts, and promises.

Regarding a position I can say but little as you do not say in your letters what you are accustomed to do when on land. Business and trade generally is expected to be good this season in Salt Lake City, and it is probable that all industrial men will find employment. But if a person comes to Utah solely for the purpose of finding lucrative employment he is apt to be disappointed, as the condition of affairs is such, owing to the government suits to escheat the property of the Church, that values are unsettled, and business retarded, but if you come as a Latter-day Saint, desirous of serving God and of keeping his commandments you will here find a people who have likings, objects and desires with yourself.

With kind regards,

Yours in the Gospel

Dear Brother:

In your favor lately received by me you asked, in substance, the following question: Has the President of the stake or his Counselors the authority to confirm on a man who has been cut off the Church and is afterwards rebaptized, all his former blessings, ordinations and sealings; or is this authority vested only in the President of the Church or the Twelve Apostles?

In reply I will say that the keys of this authority are vested in one man only at a time of the earth, but when it is deemed proper to confer such blessings on a repentant man who has been received again into the Church by baptism, he who holds the keys can authorize anyone possessing the apostleship or High Priesthood to reconfer the blessings, sealings, endowments and priesthood [upon] the man formerly possessed and enjoyed. Should the man have held the Office of a Seventy it is deemed more consistent, with good order, that one of the Twelve or a President of the Seventies officiate when his priesthood is reconfirmed upon him. If the man has been guilty of any gross infraction of the laws of God it is not deemed desirable to re-impose too many responsibilities on him until he has proven his worthiness by his work and conversation, and then by permission of the General Authorities of the Church.

Elder H. F. McCune,
Clerk of the High Council,

Dear Brother:

You asked me a question upon the subject of witnesses in cases of adultery in "80th par. 42nd sec. of the Doctrine and Covenants, to the effect that "every word shall be established . . . by two witnesses of the Church," and state that in the case which you have had before your Council there was only positive evidence given by the woman, but speak of other circumstantial evidence against the men sufficient to convince the Council that he is guilty, and someone seems to be in doubt as to whether this is sufficient.

Who shall be termed a witness in a case of Adultery? Must a person have seen the guilty parties in the act of adultery in order to be a witness? If so, it can easily be imagined how few convictions could be obtained. But if one of the parties confess and acknowledges his or her guilt, and then is corroborative evidence of so clear a character as to remove all doubt of the truth of the acknowledgement it should be sufficient to warrant the High Council in declaring the charge sustain. Of course, the denial of the other party is entitled to wait. It ought to receive careful consideration, and in the absence of other proof the denial of one offsets, in a measure, the confession of the other, and in such a case we are not justified in deciding that the guilt of the parties have been established. If, however, the evidence corroborative of the guilt is sufficient to convince all just persons that the sin of adultery has been committed, then the Council is justified in rendering such a decision, and no one should refuse to sustain him on mere technical grounds.

Your Brother

Bishop S.A. Woolley,
19th Ward, Salt Lake City,

Dear Brother: . . .

You asked whether a person who has once been married in the Endowment House or Temple, and is left a widow or a widower, commits adultery by marrying again when the ceremony is performed by a justice of the peace or a civil officer.

There is a manifest impropriety, which every Latter-day Saint who has had his or her endowments should perceive, in such a person going to a civil officer to have a ceremony of marriage performed. The fact that such a person does so is in evidence that he or she is falling away, because if in good standing a recommendation could be obtained for the temple, where the ceremony could be performed, should be performed according to the order which God has instituted. But a person marrying under such circumstances does not commit adultery.

You ask some other questions concerning how many living wives a man must have to fulfi11 the law.

When a man, according to the revelation, married a wife under the hold order which God has revealed and then marries another in the same way, he enters into the new and everlasting covenant, and so far as he has gone he has obeyed the law. I know of no requirement which makes it necessary for a man to have three living wives at a time . . .

Dear Brother:

Your very encouraging favor of April 30th reached me at Manti where I had gone with a few other brethren to privately dedicate the Temple before the public ceremonies took place, from which we were debarred by circumstances which you will understand. Those, however, who did have the privilege of being present declared that no such outpouring of the Spirit of the Lord and extent of spiritual manifestations have occurred since the dedication of the Kirtland Temple. While the eyes and ears of all were not open to see and to hear these things to the extent that were some of their brethren and sisters, yet all testify that the Divine Spirit of love, joy and peace was poured out upon them in rich abundance, and that it was one of the most delightful and happy experiences of their whole life . . .

Elder Lorenzo Snow,

Prest. Salt Lake Temple.

Dear Brother:--

As a result of the conference of the brethren engaged as ordinance workers in the several Temples, held at Salt Lake Temple, some time ago, the following slight corrections have been adopted by us, which you will please note:

In the creation on the fifth day a grammatical error occurs. The word "their" is used instead of "its"; the word their, therefore, is changed to its. In the lecture the words "next room" are used in the Terrestrial room when that same room is referred to; the words "the next" therefore have been changed to "this", as the appropriate form.

In the placing of the girdle, it should be placed on the outside of the apron strings.

In the ceremonies at the veil, the practice has been to use the words, "this man Adam," while in the Logan Temple the words, "this man, representing Adam", are used. It was decided to drop the words, "this man representing," and say "Adam, &c."

The word "christian," referred to in the lecture, in connection with name, is dropped and the word "given" is substituted.

The words "and some have to go away on business," which occur at the end of the lecture, were expunged.

The words, "new name," were substituted for the pronoun "it," to avoid ambiguity, where it reads in the lecture, "You must (p. 2) remember "it", that is, your new name.

The people, when being put under covenant, should signify their assent by bowing and saying, "yes".

It was left optional with the Temple President to use persons as witnesses who were receiving endowments or to use workers as such.

The words "that my tongue be torn from its roots in my mouth," were substituted for "from the roof of my mouth."

In giving the sign and token of the Aaronic Priesthood that Salt Lake Temple use the word, "index", meaning the fore-finger. It was decided to use the words, "fore finger," instead of "index finger," the latter being more easily understood.

It has been the practice to mark the shirt, but we think this unnecessary as it is not strictly a part of the Temple clothing. The marking of the garment should be done in the washing room and not at the veil; and the greatest care should be taken to see that no person is permitted to leave that room wearing an unmarked garment. In the Salt Lake Temple the practice in the Garden is for the couple at the altar to remain kneeling while the covenant relating to the first token of the Aaronic Priesthood is being administered, while the practice in the other Temples is for the couple to arise. The reason given by the Salt Lake Temple for not arising is that the couple would have to descend three steps, and as a matter of convenience they were permitted to remain on their knees. It was decided that the couples should rise.

BATHSHEBA W. SMITH, being first duly sworn, says that she is over eighty-two years of age; and that she is in feeble health and unable to travel to Washington, D.C., to appear as a witness in the investigation in the matter of Senator Reed Smoot.

Affiant further says that she is, and ever since 1877 has been a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints; that in January of the year 1844 she took her endowments at the City of Nauvoo, in the state of Illinois, under the immediate direction of the Prophet Joseph Smith Jr., that she has ever since been familiar with the endowment ceremonies, and since the opening of the Salt Lake Temple in 1893 has officiated therein.

Affiant further says that the endowment ceremonies are the same now as they were when she first took her endownents in 1844, and that there has never been any change in them; that there is not now and never has been any oath, covenant or obligation in or connected with the taking of said endowments to avenge the blood of the prophets on this nation, or on any other nation, or on the inhabitants of the earth, and that there is no prayer in said ceremonies to have the blood of the Prophets avenged on this nation or any other nation.

Dear Brethren,

Gospel Mysteries

An article was published in the Deseret Evening News, Saturday, 14th inst. under the heading of 'GENEALOGY' 'Duncan McAllister released Salt Lake, appointed St. George,' The article contains several errors which, for historical purposes, should, in my opinion, be corrected, as such statements, in the Church newspaper, are likely to be considered reliable.

It is therein stated that 'Duncan McAllister was appointed chief recorder of the St. George Temple, by President David H. Cannon.' while the fact is, as you are aware, he was appointed to that office by the First Presidency of the Church.

The second error is wherein it is stated "The St. George Temple was opened under the presidency of John D. T. McAllister.' The fact is well known to you that this templ was opened under the direction of President Brigham Young. The 9th of January, 1877, was the first occasion on which baptisms for the dead were performed in the St. George Temple, and on the 11th of that month, the first endowments for the dead in this dispensation, as announced by President Young, were administered. President Young was with us much of the time that winter, and the April, 1877, Conference of the Church was held in St. George. On the 8th of that month, President Brigham Young appointed Apostle Wilford Woodruff president of the St. George Temple, which position he occupied until June 26th, 1884, when President John Taylor appointed and set apart Elder John D. T. McAllister to preside therein.

Joseph W. McAllister was called to labor as a recorder in the St. George Temple, by President Wilford Woodruff, on Nov. 5th 1883. He is a nephew of John D. T. McAllister, and an excellent penman, but has not been chief recorder, and he (p. 2) continued in that office until called to occupy a similar position in the Manti Temple. Elder James G. Bleak was then appointed chief recorder, and acted in that capacity until released, by Pres't Lorenzo Snow and Counsellors, 26 March, 1900. Since that time the position of chief recorder in the St. George Temple has been vacant, until the First Presidency of the Churchappointed Elder D. M. McAllister, and instructed him to commence his labors in that office immediately after the October Conference; he has now assumed the duties of that calling. (p. 27)

"The Lecture," which is given in the Temple from time to time, as circumstances require, was first delivered by President Young in this Temple. It was written down as he spoke it, and was subsequently revised by him. The ordinances were written by Presidents Wilford Woodruff and George Q. Cannon, under the direction of President Young and, when completed, he said 'Now you have before you an ensample to carry on the endowments in all the Temples, until the coming of the Son of Man.'

I have written the above not to be captious, but that the facts might be made known, and the published errors corrected.

With kindest regards for each of you, I am

Our young people come here to be married to be husband and wife through all eternity taking upon them covenants to observe all the laws, rites and ceremonies pertaining to the Holy order of matrimony, this is the way God has established, and the ceremony that seals one wife to a man seals other wives. And when a man takes a wife they enter this sacred order and covenant to observe all the rites in this. The man covenants to take more wives, the woman covenants to do the part of Sarah and gives her consent for him to take more wives. Hoped the young people would understand these things. A covenant not kept is a covenant broken. When we enter that covenant we must continue in it. Still there is no one here who will say you shall take more wives, that is left entirely with yourselves. Said we ought to express ourselves freely upon these things here for no one dare say any thing about them on the outside of this house. You take upon yourselves covenants to not speak outside of what takes place here. It is a grand thing to have a little common sense to guide us in these things.

Memorandum to: H. Dale Goodwin
RE: Proposed Policies on Family Group Records Involving Colored Blood.

Dear Brother Goodwin:

References made to your memorandum of May 13, 1966 requesting instruction as to how to handle records involving colored blood. Since these same questions may be pertinent to the Record Tabulation Program I am sending a carbon copy of this to George Fudge for his information.

The Genealogical Society has set up procedures for recording persons who are colored blood. The problem involves the means whereby we can be informed when persons are of colored blood. The following statement from President

McKay is pertinent;

> President McKay, when visiting the South Africa Mission, met with the president of the mission and the Elders, at which time there was some some discussion regarding the negro question and the President announced on that occasion that every man need not be required to prove that his lineage was free from negro strain, 'especially when there is no evidence of his having negro blood in his veins.' Said he, 'I should much rather make a mistake in one case and if it be found afterward, suspend his activity in the priesthood, than to deprive 10 worthy men of this blessing.' He then recommended that from that time on the African people be treated the same as they are treated in other places, that unless there is evidence of negro blood a man need not be compelled to prove that he has none in his veins."

In the interest of all parties concerned, it appears to me that we should maintain a special file those persons having colored blood when we have knowledge of such. To my knowledge there are only three ways by which we may know if a person has colored blood: One is by patriarchal blessing, another by revelation and a third where it is revealed by a person or in a genealogy of that person.

Remembered when the Nauvoo Temple was near completion, the saints look forward with fond anticipation to the time when they could go forth and do a work for their dead; but many were driven from Nauvoo before their anticipations could be realized and some of the last company, who did go through never got further than the Terrestrial Room. Remember when men and women were baptized in the Missouri River, men for women and women for men, but they were told that this was wrong and that men should be baptized for men and women for women which they did, in a Temple, in a font resting upon 12 wooden oxen, afterhich changed to stone oxen. In those days people flocked to the House of God by thousands to do a work for their dead.

Elder William Carter

Joseph Smith as Mayor and the City Council passed an ordinance, declaring the 'Nauvoo Expositor' a nuisance as it published lies about and liabled the 'Mormons;' where upon the Mayor gave orders to have the nuisance abated. Previous to this a certain lawyer Humphries in Michigan had taken a sledge hammer and broken the press of a paper that had published a liable against him and was judged to be justified in doing so; he (John Lytle) told the Prophet that he had a sledge hammer, and Joseph told him to use it on the press of the 'Expositor' and break it up. Told Jesse Harmon, who was Captain of Police and I, a policeman under him to go quietly and demolish the press and not a hair of our heads would be harmed.

We went with other policeman Jesse and I went in and I took the sledge hammer and broke up the press as I was told to do. We were all arrested, together with the Prophet and his brother Hyrum, but afterwards were all released on bail, except for the Prophet and his brother Hyrum. Thus fulfilling the words of Joseph that not a hair of our heads would be harmed.

We told Hyrum to tell the Prophet that the boys would stand by them and see them through, but Joseph told us all to go home and the next we heard Joseph and Hyrum was killed.

The word was given to President Brigham Young by the Prophet Joseph Smith, that the keys of the endowments for the dead would be given to him. This House was got ready under his immediate direction. The earnest desire of the President of this Temple and also of the brethren and sisters who labor here, is, that the saints would come and fill this House.

Charles Smith

Bro. Charles Smith said it had always been a source of great pleasure to him that he lived to see the Prophet Joseph Smith.

Speaker arrived in Hauvoo in 1843, at the same time there were landed about 500 Saints. Then, he saw the Prophet the first time, and Brother Joseph said he would speak to the saints the next day; he did so. He instructed us how to make a living. He drew [the] speaker['s] soul out in love towards him. An electric thrill went through a person when he shook hands with them. You could sit and look at that man for hours and never get tired and not a man was there but what would have laid down his life for him.

Elder George Woodward was requested to say a few words: He was born and raised in the State of New Jersey and there he saw the Prophet for the first time. The Prophet was then on his [way] to see the President of the United States to get redress for grievances of the saints. He was preaching at a meeting upon astronomy and told where God resided. It was very interesting. Said that he Joined the Church; went to Nauvoo and became well acquainted with the Prophet. Charles Ivins lived in a part of the Prophet's house and he, the speaker, being hired to Brother Ivan's saw a good deal of the Prophet. Thought a good deal of him. When the Prophet was arrested and taken to Carthage, he went with him and returned to Nauvoo. The next time he saw him as a corspe. Related a number of incidents in connection with the life of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young. Said Joseph Smith had once started to come to the Rocky Mountains to find a home for the saints, free from persecution from their enemies, but returned because his friends said that he was deserting him and Joseph said if his life was not worth anything to his friends, it was not worth anything to him.

Gospel Mysteries

Elder James Bleak Elder James G. Bleak dwelt upon the opening scenes of this Temple when our beloved President Young was carried by his brethren through this holy house, going from room to room speaking words of comfort and at times reproof to the people and then of the organization of this work for the dead--The Endowments which were for the first time imparted to the people in this dispensation for the dead on the 11 day of January, 1877. After speaking a short time, he called for those to arise to their feet who had received their blessings in the Kirtland Temple. None arose. Now all those who had received their blessings in the Nauvoo Temple. Five males and four females arose. Then all who had received endowments in the Salt Lake Endowment House or other places where endowments were given. Twenty-two males and thirty-two females arose. Now all who have received their endowments in this temple. Thirteen males and eighteen females arose to their feet.

President Cannon

President Cannon said it was gratifying to receive these kind acknowledgements. Felt glad to be here in this Temple. It is a God-blessed place to be. President Brigham Young and Geo. A. Smith took the first shovelful of earth out of the foundation for this Temple to be built upon. After this Temple was completed and Prest. Young was organizing the Endowments, he could see the anxiety on the countenance of President Young that everything should be done properly. Every part of this building was set apart and made holy.

Gospel Mysteries

President Cannon

President David H. Cannon said he wished to talk to us this morning. When a person is anointed, the towel should not be taken to wipe off the oil from the face or the hands or any portion of the body. Oil should not be used too profusely by the workers and should not be wiped off. There are probably some who do not understand this correctly. If they did they would not do it. It must not be done. Speaker wanted to say this to the people. When people come here to be baptized for their health who have not been endowed, they should be gotten out before the ceremonies commence.

No persons here should see or hear these ceremonies without they are going through, nor should they be allowed to remain in the room.

(p. 51)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9368R, p. 169, 18 Sept. 1901.

President Cannon.

Prest. Brigham Young left St. George on 16 April 1877 for Salt Lake City and on the 17 April Prest. Younq blessed me and set me apart to do sealings-adoptions, 2 Anointings and all work in this holy Temple. This was done in Bellvieu at the house of Brother Jacob Gates. I rejoice in this work and hope the time is not far distant when the temple will be filled with saints laboring for their dead. Be attentive and calm; see and hear what is done and said. Keep a record of what you do.

(p. 52)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9368R, p. 201, 28 February 1902.

President David Cannon

President David H. Cannon said to all present, You are welcome to the house of the Lord this morning. I desire to say something to you that is very important to all the saints: Prest. Cannon read a letter that he wrote to the First Presidency and also one in answer to his, to the effect that persons, who have had endowments and afterwards wish to be married for time only must go to a temple to be married or they will violate the law of chastity and the children born to such parents will not be in the covenant.

(p. 53)

St. George Temple Minute Book,.K9368R, p. 202, 7 March 1902.

President Cannon

President Cannon said I wish to talk to you about the habit we have acquired as ordinance workers in this temple. I was coming into the house a few mornings ago at the same time a brother and his wife entered. The doorkeeper told them to take off their shoes. I felt that he should have said the same words to me. I am no better than the people who come here, neither are the rest of you brethren and sisters who labor here. We should take off our shoes before entering this house for it is a holy Place. This is the Lord's House. He said to Moses when Moses drew near to Him on the Mount:

Gospel Mysteries

Moses, 'take off thy shoes for the ground whereon thou stands is holy.' I say brethren and sisters take off your shoes for this is a holy House.

(p. 54)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9368R, p. 205, 19 March 1902

Prest. David Cannon

Prest. Cannon wished to say a few words: He had instructed the Doorkeeper of this temple to see that all persons take shoes off from their feet-They must conform to this rule. I was pressed about this, my brethren and sisters, as the "House of God" is a House of Order. This is required in all the other temples.

(p. 55)

Prest. Cannon read a letter from the First Presidency which he received this morning in regard to Temple labor and wished all present to hear it and also the rulings it contained.

Prest. David Cannon

Prest. Cannon said I expect you people think I am cross: I want those who work in the wash-rooms to follow the text given you and allow no person to cloth themselves. To do so is wrong and it must not be allowed. If you want to make changes I must be consulted as the Presidency of the Church holds me responsible.

(p. 57)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9368R, p. 263, 26 December 1902

Prest. David H. Cannon

Prest Cannon wanted to talk to the workers: When we come to the vail, a list of names is generally prepared or one for each vail. I want Peter, James and John to call up to the vail the first name of the list given to each one of them, then hand it to the sister and let her call the next; while she is going through another can be called and so on until all on the papers are through. This is the Lord's House and as such is a house of order. We are responsible for all that we do. We should be united as the heart of one.

Gospel Mysteries

Prest. Cannon

I have a pair of garments here that the Presidency of the Church have had arranged for the saints and all must conform to the same and the brethren and sisters who are engaged in the washrooms should see that the garments there are the proper ones for the saints.

Prest. Cannon said washing and anointing the sick is not a temple ordinance.

(p. 65)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9368R, p. 398, 25 Jan. 1905

Prest. Cannon said we should seek to do our own work for our immediate relatives when we are able so to do. If we engage proxies, let them labor for those not so closely related to us. Our relatives in the other world will ask, why we did not the work for them; by this we shall certainly be confronted. It is a fact that while we represent the dead, they have, at times, manifested themselves to his knowledge, in this temple.

(p. 84)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9368R, p. 38, 10 February 1911

President Cannon said, A new order has been issued concerning recommends. No recommend dated earlier than Aug. 1910 will be received here, and all come to this Temple after 1 Jan. 1911 must have new recommends of the new kind. The Doorkeeper here is to place his name and date of its being received upon each recommend, which is only good for 6 months.

The Doorkeeper is responsible for the carrying out of this requirement and no one should feel offended when he strives to faithfully perform his encumbant duty, but all service here should be given patiently, kindly.

(p. 85)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9369, pp. 41-42, 24 February 1911

President David Cannon

Carried diligently the name today that the dead may be properly endowed for you are responsible for this--the dead are responsible for its acceptance or rejection. At the close of the day, we should know that we are right. People are endowed but once, and, if severed from the Church, and are allowed to reenter the blessings, including endowment, before conferred may also, if worthy, we re-confirmed upon such person.

(p. 91)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9369R, p. 91, 7 December 1911

President Cannon read letter received 6 November 1896 from the Presidency of the Church in regard to apparel to be worn in the temple by those being endowed. This does not apply, he said, to Prayer Circles of the Brethren. There must be no innovation of these things from the instructions herein given, except it come through the proper source. He also spoke in relation to taking our shoes from our feet before entering the temple. A habit is obtaining contrary to this and it is not right. He read a letter from Presidency of the Church in regard to the same and said, none but aged or sick persons are exempt from obedience to this given rule; But who will be the judge"? The Doorkeeper must be the judge. Speaker did not wish to assume the role of grumbler, but let us do as we should and rejoice in the contemplation and reception of blessings that are ours united to enjoy.

(p. 93)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9369R, p. 93, 14 December 1911

President Cannon said, if the sisters find it necessary to wear shoes while going through endowments, they should put moccasins on over their shoes. This is the order of this temple and we are not controlled by Salt Lake Temple. We cannot judge as to what should be done in either temple. His experience would back up a statement. This temple has the original of these endowments which was given by President Brigham Young and we have not nor will we change anything thereof unless dictated by the President of the Church.

(p. 94)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9369R, p. 99, 10 January 1912

President Cannon spoke concerning shoes worn while receiving endowments. He said, put your moccasins on over your shoes. This is the word from the Authorities. A sample of this was given by President Young; he wore his moccasins over his shoes when receiving endowments for deceased and we should follow his example.

Baptisms cannot be administered by persons standing out of the water. Innovations must not creep in, in any manner of thing. Speaker said, "it is my business to see that right is maintained here no matter what is done elsewhere. If what is done is done right, they, the dead and we can pass to our exaltations, otherwise not."

(p. 95)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9369R, p. 102, 19 January 1912

President Cannon remarked that yesterday in the prayer circle held by the brethren a question arose as to the requirements made by the Doctrine and Covenants of the Recorder at the baptismal font. I hold the right in this temple to decide that matter and President Joseph F. Smith has the right to reverse my conclusions on this or any other point whatever.

He read of Doctrine and CoVenants, Sec, 127, sixth verse and from 128 Section regarding the duties of the Recorder at the baptismal font and said,

The Lord has never given a revelation to his people that the terms thereof could not be carried out in the spirit thereof. The witnesses to the baptisms in this temple faced the east end of the font. The candidate for that ordinance is brought by the baptisor with his face toward the witnesses and is placed under the water eastward--the baptisor standing between the applicant and the Recorder makes it impossible for the Recorder to see that the applicant is completely immersed. The Recorder however should distinctly call the calls in the hearing of the Administrator and see the person or proxie answering thereto. See that the person baptising repeats the name without variation. The witnesses should be satisfied that the person is totally immersed; then in confirmation the name given should be distinctly heard by the Recorder and he records the baptism and confirmation of the said person--the name of the person administering in each ordinance--the names of witnesses and his own name as Recorder are attached. This President Cannon said is the plain duty of the Recorder and constitutes the eye and ear witness of Recorder at the Baptismal Font.

(p. 98)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9369R, p. 112

Prest. Cannon said regarding those persons about to be operated upon by physicians and desire to be prayed for in the temple; we pray for the sick giving names but we cannot designate especially the ailment in each individual case.

(p. 99)

St. George Temple Minute Book, K9369R, p. 138, 27 June, 1912

President Cannon wished to speak on Authority. He said, we have what is required to do work here. It having been delegated to us by proper Authority. Outside of this house we have none only in common with any other Elder. He gave illustration of some in the office of Apostle--they having been deprived of the right to do sealing anywhere except any temple, unless especially authorized but if delegated to do any special work, we have authority to do that work, but when that work is done, that authority ceases. No one in this house can do except that which they have been authorized to do and that they can do without the laying on of hands. A person may have as much Priesthood as one having authority to do sealings except being duly authorized to seal, but if the later has not been conferred, there exists no power to seal.

An Elder may organize a Church of Christ if necessity requires it. But a person who understands the order of the Church of Christ there will be no question on these points.

I think I heard your spokesman say something about a temple, or was I mistaken? Well, when I see what you have accomplished since I was here thirty-four years ago. I am pretty sure that sometime in the near future somewhere in the South Seas, convenient to you, there may be a temple. And this much too, I will tell you, on this sacred occasion, the time has arrived in the history of the Church when temples will be taken to the people so that faithful members of the Church may receive all the blessings of the Church and remain in their own environment to complete family 1ives, to be associated with those whom they love and without sacrificing their life's savings to go to the House of the Lord and receive all of the blessings that any other member of the Church may have.

Dear Brother:

We have the Temple ordinances written into the books for the Presidents of Temples and are preparing the Part books and will get them to you in the near future, or at conference time.
At request of President Grant we have already adopted some of the changes decided upon, and it will be in order for you to do the same.
In sealing for the dead whether one or both be dead, omit the kissing. Omit from the prayer in the circles all reference to avenging the blood of the Prophets.

Omit from the ordinance and lecture all reference to retribution. This last change can be made with a day' s notice to those taking the parts that contain such reference.
This letter is written with the approval of the Presidency.

Sincerely your brother,

IMPORTANCE OF GAINING THE SPIRIT

1. Journal History, February 23, 1847, Church Archives; Manuscript History of Brigham Young, Watson, 1844-1847, pp. 528-530, Feb. 23, 1847; Juvenile Instructor, Vol 18:283-84, Sept. 15, 1883.

Tuesday, February 23. Pres. Young met with the brethren of the Twelve in the Historian's Office. Pres. Young related the following dream:

While sick and asleep about noon-day of the 17th inst. I dreamed that I went to see Joseph. He looked perfectly natural, sitting with his feet on the lower round of his chair. I took hold of his right hand and kissed him many times and said to him 'Why is it that we cannot be together as we used to be? You have been from us a long time, and we want your society, and I do not like to be separated from you.'

Gospel Mysteries

Joseph rising from his chair and looking at me with his usual earnest, expressive and pleasing countenance said, 'It is all right.' I replied, 'I do not like to be away from you.'

Joseph said, 'It is all right; we cannot be together yet; we shall be by and by; but you will have to do without me awhile, and then we shall be together again.'

I said, 'Brother Joseph, the brethren you know well, better than I do; you raised them up, and brought the priesthood to us. The brethren have a great anxiety to understand the law of adoption or sealing principles; and if you have a word of counsel for me I should be glad to receive it.'

Joseph stepped toward me, and looking very earnestly, yet pleasantly said, 'Tell the people to be humble and faithful, and be sure to keep the spirit of the Lord and it will lead them right. Be careful and not turn away the small still voice; it will teach them what to do and where to go; it will yield the fruits of the kingdom. Tell the brethren to keep their hearts open to conviction, so that when the Holy Ghost comes to them their hearts will be ready to receive it. They can tell the spirit of the Lord from all other spirits; it will whisper peace and joy to their souls; it will take malice, hatred, strife and all evil from their hearts; and their whole desire will be to do good, bring forth righteousness and build up the kingdom of God. Tell the brethren if they will follow the spirit of the Lord, they will go right. Be sure to tell the people to keep the spirit of the Lord; and if they will, they will find themselves just as they were organized by our Father in Heaven before they came into the world. Our Father in Heaven organized the human family, but they are all disorganized and in great confusion.'

Joseph then showed me the pattern, how they were in the beginning. This I cannot describe, but I saw it, and saw where the Priesthood had been taken from the earth and how it must be joined together, so that there would be a perfect chain from Father Adam to his latest posterity. Joseph again said. 'Tell the people to be sure to keep the spirit of the Lord and follow it, and it will lead them just right.'

2. Deseret News Weekly 53:642-43; Pres. Wilford Woodruff; Monday, October 19, 1896; Address given to the Weber Stake Conference, Ogden, Utah.

One morning, while we were at Winter Quarters, Brother Brigham Young said to me and the brethren that he had had a visitation the night previous from Joseph Smith. I asked him what he said to him. He replied that Joseph had told him to tell the people to labor to obtain the Spirit of God; that they needed that to sustain them and to give them power to go through their work in the earth. * * *

Brigham Young also visited me after his death. One occasion he and Brother Heber C. Kimball came in a splendid chariot, with fine white horses, and accompanied me to a conference that I was going to attend. When I got there I asked Brother Brigham if he would take charge of the conference. "No," he said, "I have done my work here. I have come to see what you are doing and what you are teaching the people." And he told me what Joseph Smith had taught him in Winter Quarters to teach the people to get the Spirit of God. You cannot build up the Kingdom of God without that."

3. Church News, May 5, 1973, p. 3; Pres. Harold B. Lee; An address given to the Young Adults at Long Beach, Calif., April 29, 1973.

These are things I would have you remember now---How precious it is to have the Spirit of the Lord, and what a terrible thing it is to lose the Spirit of the Lord through sinning. But thanks to God for the miracle of forgiveness that comes after sincere and true repentance. Now let's face it. All of us have done something that we ought not to have done, or we have neglected to do things we should have done, and all of us then have made mistakes and every one of us needs to repent.

The old devil would have you believe that if you made one mistake now, why don't you just keep on making mistakes. That's Satan trying to tell you there's no chance to come back. But if you'll turn your face towards the rising sun, and start a new day, that's repentance and that means turning from the thing you have done wrong and never going back again thereto.
The most important of all the commandments of God is that one that you're having the most difficulty keeping today. If it's one of dishonesty, if it's one of unchastity, if it's one of falsifying, not telling the truth, today is the day for you to work on that until you've been abel to conquer that weakness. Then you start on the next one that's the most difficult for you to keep. That's the way to sanctify yourselves by keeping the commandments of God.

STATEMENTS CONCERNING THE POSSIBLE IDENTITY OF THE HOLY GHOST

1. TPJS, p. 190, Joseph Smith, August 16, 1841.

Everlasting covenant was made between three personages before the organization of this earth, and relates to their dispensation of things to men on the earth; these personages, according to Abraham's record, are called God the first, the Creator; God the second, the Redeemer; and God the third, the witness or Testator.---MSS.

2. Comments made by Joseph Smith, 27 August 1843, and recorded in "Scriptural Items" of Franklin D. Richards, Church Archives; as quoted in The Words of Joseph Smith, p. 245, by Ehat/Cook, 1980 ed.

Joseph also said that the Holy Ghost is now in a state of Probation which if he should perform in righteousness he may pass through the same or a similar course of things that the Son has.

3. TPJS, pp. 349-50, 361; April 6, 1844; T&S 5:617.

I thank God that I have got this old book; but I thank him more for the gift of the Holy Ghost. I have got the oldest book in the world; but I (also) have the oldest book in my heart, even the gift of the Holy Ghost. (349)

But I am learned, and know more than all the world put together. The Holy Ghost does, anyhow, and He is within me, and comprehends more than all the world: and I will associate myself with Him. (350)

You don't know me; you never knew my heart. No man knows my history. I cannot tell it: I shall never undertake it. I don't blame anyone for not believing my history. If I had not experienced what I have, I could not have believed it myself. (361)

Gospel Mysteries

4. D&C 135:3,5; June 27, 1844; H.C. 6:612

3. Joseph Smith, the Prophet and Seer of the Lord, has done more, save Jesus only, for the salvation of men in this world, than any other man that ever lived in it.
5. The testators are now dead, and their testament is in force.

5. Life of Heber C. Kimball, 9th ed., 1979, p. 322, (1st ed. 1888).

Had not Joseph said many times---are not men now living who heard him say: "Would to God, brethren, I could tell you who I am! Would to God I could tell you what I know! But you would call it blasphemy, and there are men upon this stand who would want to take my life.

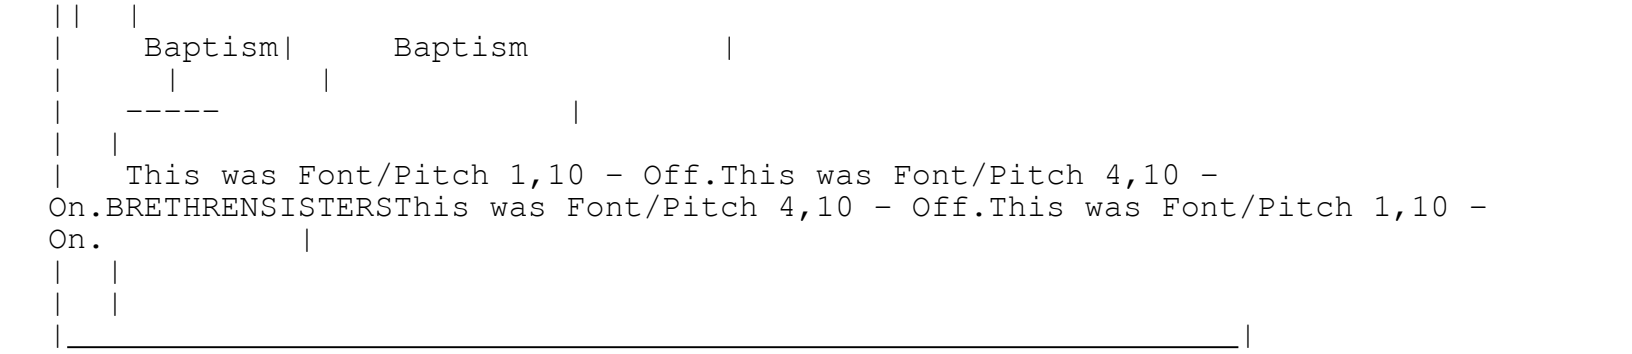
Gospel Mysteries



CHAPTER XXXVI.

1 At that time the Lord appeared unto Jacob saying, Arise, go to Bethel and remain there, and make there an altar tot he Lord who appeareth unto thee, who delivered thee and all thy sons from affliction.

2 And Jacob rose up with his sons and all belonging to him, and they went and came to Bethel according to the word of the Lord.

3 And Jacob was ninety-nine years old when he went up to Bethel, and Jacob and his sons and all the people that were with him, remained in Bethel in Luz, and he there built an altar to the Lord who appeared unto him, and Jacob and his sons remained in Bethel six months.

4 At that time died Deborah the daughter of Uz, the nurse of Rebecca, who had been with Jacob; and Jacob buried her beneath Bethel under an oak that was there.

5 And Rebecca the daughter of Bethuel, the mother of Jacob, also died at that time in Hebron, the same is Kireath-arba, and she was buried in the cave of Machpelah which Abraham had bought from the children of Heth.

6 And the life of Rebecca was one hundred and thirty-three years, and she died and when Jacob heard that his mother Rebecca was dead he wept bitterly for his mother, and made a great mourning for her, and for Deborah her nurse beneath the oak, and he called the name of that place Allon-bachuth.

7 And Laban the Syrian died in those days, for God smote him because he transgressed the covenant that existed between him and Jacob.

8 And Jacob was a hundred years old when the Lord appeared unto him, and blessed him and called his name Israel, and Rachel the wife of Jacob conceived in those days.

9 And at that time Jacob and all belonging to him journeyed from Bethel to go to his father's house, to Hebron.

10 And whilst they were going on the road, and there was yet but a little way to come to Ephrath, Rachel bare a son and she had hard labor and she died.

11 And Jacob buried her in the way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem, and he set a pillar upon her grave, which is there unto this day; and the days of Rachel were forty-five years and she died.

12 And Jacob called the name of his son that was born to him, which Rachel bare unto him, Benjamin, for he was born to him in the land on the right hand.

13 And it was after the death of Rachel, that Jacob pitched his tent in the tent of her handmaid Bilhah.

14 And Reuben was jealous for his mother Leah on account of this, and he was filled with anger, and he rose up in his anger and went and entered the tent of Bilhah and he thence removed his father's bed.

15 At that time the portion of birthright, together with the kingly and priestly offices, was removed from the sons of Reuben, for he had profaned his father's bed, and the birthright was given unto Joseph, the kingly office to Judah, and the priesthood unto Levi, because Reuben had defiled his father's bed.

16 And these are the generations of Jacob who were born to him in Padanaram, and the sons of Jacob were twelve.
17 The sons of Leah were Reuben the first born, and Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, and their sister Dinah; and the sons of Rachel were Joseph and Benjamin.
18 The sons of Zilpah, Leah's handmaid, were Gad and Asher, and the sons of Bilhah, Rachel's handmaid, were Dan and Naphtali; these are the sons of Jacob which were born to him in Padan-aram.
19 And Jacob and his sons and all belonging to him journeyed and came to Mamre, which is Kireath-arba, that is in Hebron, where Abraham and Isaac sojourned, and Jacob with his sons and all belonging to him, dwelt with his father in Hebron.
20 And his brother Esau and his sons, and all belonging to him went to the land of Seir and dwelt there, and had possessions in the land of Seir, and the children of Esau were fruitful and multiplied exceedingly in the land of Seir.
21 And these are the generations of Esau that were born to him in the land of Canaan, and the sons of Esau were five.
22 And Adah bare to Esau his first born Eliphaz, and she also bare to him Reuel, and Ahlibamah bare to him Jeush, Yaalam and Korah.
23 These are the children of Esau who were born to him in the land of Canaan; and the sons of Eliphaz the son of Esau were Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, Kenaz and Amalex, and the sons of Reuel were Nachath, Zerach, Shamah and Mizzah.
24 And the sons of Jeush were Timnah, Alvah, Jetheth; and the sons of Yaalam were Alah, Phinor and Kenaz.
25 And the sons of Korah were teman, Mibzar, Magdiel and Eram; these are the families of the sons of Esau according to their dukedoms in the land of Seir.
26 And these are the names of the sons of Seir the Horite, inhabitants of the land of Seir, Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishan, Ezer and Dishon, being seven sons.
27 And the children of Lotan were Hori, Heman and their sister Timna, that is Timna who came to Jacob and his sons, and they would not give ear to her, and she went and became a concubine to Eliphaz the son of Esau, and she bare to him Amalek.
28 And the sons of Shobal were Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam, and the sons of Zibeon were Ajah, and Anah, this was that Anah who found the Yemim in the wilderness when he fed the asses of Zibeon his father.
29 And whilst he was feeding his father's asses he led them to the wilderness at different times to feed them.
30 And there was a day that he brought them to one of the deserts on the sea shore, opposite the wilderness of the people, and whilst he was feeding them, behold a very heavy storm came from the other side of the sea and rested upon the asses that were feeding there, and they all stood still.
31 And afterward about one hundred and twenty great and terrible animals came out from the wilderness at the other side of the sea, and they all came to the place where the asses were, and they placed themselves there.
32 And those animals, from their middle downward, were in the shape of the children of men, and from their middle upward, some had the likeness of bears, and some the likeness of the keephas, with tails behind them from between their shoulders reaching down to the earth, like the tails of the ducheephath, and these animals came and mounted and rode upon these asses, and led them away, and they went away unto this day.
33 And one of these animals approached Anah and smote him with his tail, and then fled from that place.
34 And when he saw this work he was exceedingly afraid of his life, and he fled and escaped to the city.
35 And he related to his sons and brothers all that had happened to him, and many men went to seek the asses but could not find them, and Anah and his brothers went no more to that place from that day following, for they were greatly afraid of their lives.

36 And the children of Anah the son of Seir, were Dishon and his sister Ahlibamah, and the children of Dishon were Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran and Cheran, and the children of Ezer were Bilhan, Zaavan and Akan, and the children of Dishon were Uz and Aran.
37 These are the families of the children of Seir the Horite, according to their dukedoms in the land of Seir.
38 And Esau and his children dwelt in the land of Seir the Horite, the inhabitant of the land, and they had possessions in it and were fruitful and multiplied exceedingly, and Jacob and his children and all belonging to them, dwelt with their father Isaac in the land of Canaan, as the Lord had commanded Abraham their father.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

1 And in the one hundred and fifth year of the life of Jacob, that is the ninth year of Jacob's dwelling with his children in the land of Canaan, he came from Padan-aram.
2 And in those days Jacob journeyed with his children from Hebron, and they went and returned to the city of Shechem, they and all belonging to them, and they dwelt there, for the children of Jacob obtained good and fat pasture land for their cattle in the city of Shechem, the city of Shechem having then bee rebuilt, and there were in it about three hundred men and women.
3 And Jacob and his children and all belonging to him dwelt in the part of the field which Jacob had bought from Hamor the father of Shechem, when he came from Padan-aram before Simeon and Levi had smitten the city.
4 And all those kings of the Canaanites and Amorites that surrounded the city of Shechem, heard that the sons of Jacob had again come to Shechem and dwelt there.
5 And they said, Shall the sons of Jacob the Hebrew again come to the city and dwell therein, after that they have smitten its inhabitants and driven them out? shall they now return and also drive out those who are dwelling in the city or slay them?
6 And all the kings of Canaan again assembled, and they came together to make war with Jacob and his sons.
7 And Jashub king of Tapnach sent also to all his neighboring kings, to Elan king of Gaash, and to Ihuri king of Shiloh, and to Parathon king of Chazar, and to Susi king of Sarton, and to Laban king of Beth-ho-ran, and to Shabir king of Othnaymah, saying,
8 Come up to me and assist me, and let us smite Jacob the Hebrew and his sons, and all belonging to him, for they are again come to Shechem to possess it and to slay its inhabitants as before.
9 And all these kings assembled together and came with all their camps, a people exceedingly plentiful like the sand upon the sea shore, and they were all opposite to Tapnach.
10 And Jashub king of Tapnach went forth to them with all his army, and he encamped with them opposite to Tapnach without the city, and all these kings they divided into seven divisions, being seven camps against the sons of Jacob.
11 And they sent a declaration to Jacob and his son, saying, Come you all forth to us that we may have an interview together in the plain, and revenge the cause of the men of Shechem whom you slew in their city, and you will now again return to the city of Shechem and dwell therein, and slay its inhabitants as before.
12 And the sons of Jacob heard this and their anger was kindled exceedingly at the words of the kings of Canaan, and ten of the sons of Jacob hastened and rose up, and each of them girt on his weapons of war; and there were one hundred and two of their servants with them equipped in battle array.

13 And all these men, the sons of Jacob with their servants, went toward these kings, and Jacob their father was with them, and they all stood upon the heap of Shechem.
14 And Jacob prayed to the Lord for his sons, and he spread forth his hands to the Lord, and he said, O God, thou art an Almighty God, thou art our father, thou didst form us and we are the works of thine hands; I pray thee deliver my sons through thy mercy from the hand of their enemies, who are this day coming to fight with them, and save them from their hand, for in thy hand is power and might, to save the few from the many.
15 And give unto my sons, thy servants, strength of heart and might to fight with their enemies, to subdue them, and make their enemies fall before them, and let not my sons and their servants die through the hands of the children of Canaan.
16 But if it seemeth good in thine eyes to take away the lives of my sons and their servants, take them in thy great mercy through the hands of thy ministers, that they may not perish this day by the hands of the kings of the Amorites.
17 And when Jacob ceased praying to the Lord the earth shook from its place, and the sun darkened, and all these kings were terrified and a great consternation seized them.
18 And the Lord hearkened to the prayer of Jacob, and the Lord impressed the hearts of all the kings and their hosts with the terror and awe of the sons of Jacob.
19 For the Lord caused them to hear the voice of chariots, and the voice of mighty horses form the sons of Jacob, and the voice of a great army accompanying them.
20 And these kings were seized with great terror at the sons of Jacob, and whilst they were standing in their quarters, behold the sons of Jacob advanced upon them, with one hundred and twelve men, with a great and tremendous shouting.
21 And when the kings saw the sons of Jacob advancing toward them, they were still more panic struck, and they were inclined to retreat from before the sons of Jacob as at first, and not to fight with them.
22 But they did not retreat, saying, It would be a disgrace to us thus twice to retreat from before the Hebrews.
23 And the sons of Jacob came near and advanced against all these kings and their armies, and they saw, and behold it was a very mighty people, numerous as the sand of the sea.
24 And the sons of Jacob called unto the Lord and said, Help us O Lord, help us and answer us, for we trust in thee, and let us not die by the hands of these uncircumcised men, who this day have come against us.
25 And the sons of Jacob girt on their weapons of war, and they took in their hands each man his shield and his javelin, and they approached to battle.
26 And Judah, the son of Jacob, ran first before his brethren, and ten of his servants with him, and he went toward these kings.
27 And Jashub, king of Tapnach, also came forth first with his army before Judah, and Judah saw Jashub and his army coming toward him, and Judah's wrath was kindled, and his anger burned within him, and he approached to battle in which Judah ventured his life.
28 And Jashub and all his army were advancing toward Judah, and he was riding upon a very strong and powerful horse, and Jashub was a very valiant man, and covered with iron and brass from head to foot.
29 And whilst he was upon the horse, he shot arrows with both hands from before and behind, as was his manner in all his battles, and he never missed the place to which he aimed his arrows.

30 And when Jashub came to fight with Judah, and was darting many arrows against Judah, the Lord bound the hand of Jashub, and all the arrows that he shot rebounded upon his own men.
31 And notwithstanding this, Jashub kept advancing toward Judah, to challenge him with the arrows, but the distance between them was about thirty cubits, and when Judah saw Jashub darting forth his arrows against him, he ran to him with his wrath-ex-cited might.
32 And Judah took up a large stone from the ground, and its weight was sixty shekels, and Judah ran toward Jashub, and with the stone struck him on his shield, that Jashub was stunned with the blow, and fell off from his horse to the ground.
33 And the shield burst asunder out of the hand of Jashub, and through the force of the blow sprang to the distance of about fifteen cubits, and the shield fell before the second camp.
34 And the kings that came with Jashub saw at a distance the strength of Judah, the son of Jacob, and what he had done to Jashub, and they were terribly afraid of Judah.
35 And they assembled near Jashub's camp, seeing his confusion, and Judah drew his sword and smote forty-two men of the camp of Jashub, and the whole of Jashub's camp fled before Judah, and no man stood against him, and they left Jashub and fled from him, and Jashub was still prostrate upon the ground.
36 And Jashub seeing that all the men of his camp had fled from him, hastened and rose up with terror against Judah, and stood upon his legs opposite Judah.
37 And Jashub had a single combat with Judah, placing shield toward shield, and Hashub's men all fled, for they were greatly afraid of Judah.
38 And Jashub took his spear in his hand to strike Judah upon his head, but Judah had quickly placed his shield to his head against Jashub's spear, so that the shield of Judah received the blow from Jashub's spear, and the shield was split in two.
39 And when Judah saw that his shield was split, he hastily drew his sword and smote Jashub at his angles, and cut off his feet that Jashub fell upon the ground, and the spear fell from his hand.
40 And Judah hastily picked up Jashub's spear, with which he severed his head and cast it next to his feet.
41 And when the sons of Jacob saw what Judah had done to Jashub, they all ran into the ranks of the other kings, and the sons of Jacob fought with the army of Jashub, and the armies of all the kings that were there.
42 And the sons of Jacob caused fifteen thousand of their men to fall, and they smote them as if smiting at gourds, and the rest fled for their lives.
43 And Judah was still standing by the body of Jashub, and stripped Jashub of his coat of mail.
44 And Judah also took off the iron and brass that was bout Jashub, and behold nine men of the captains of Jashub came along to fight against Judah.
45 And Judah hastened and took up a stone from the ground, and with it smote one of them upon the head, and his skull was fractured, and the body also fell from the horse to the ground.
46 And the eight captains that remained, seeing the strength of Judah, were greatly afraid and they fled, and Judah with his ten men pursued them, and they overtook them and slew them.
47 And the sons of Jacob were still smiting the armies of the kings, and they slew many of them, but those kings daringly kept their stand with their captains, and did not retreat from their places, and they exclaimed against those of their armies that fled from before the sons of Jacob, but none would listen to them, for they were afraid of their lives lest they should die.
48 And all the sons of Jacob, after having smitten the armies of the kings, returned and came before Judah, and Judah was till slaying the eight captains of Jashub, and stripping off their garments.
49 And Levi saw Elon, king of Gaash, advancing toward him, with his fourteen captains to smite him, but Levi did not know it for certain.

50 And Elon with his captains approached nearer, and Levi looked back and saw that battle was given him in the rear, and Levi ran with twelve of his servants, and they went and slew Elon and his captains with the edge of the sword.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

1 And Ihuri king of Shiloh came up to assist Elon, and he approached Jacob, when Jacob drew his bow that was in his hand and with an arrow struck Ihuri which caused his death.
2 And when Ihuri king of Shiloh was dead, the four remaining kings fled from their station with the rest of the captains, and they endeavored to retreat, saying, We have no more strength with the Hebrews after their having killed the three kings and their captains who were more powerful than we are.
3 And when the sons of Jacob saw that the remaining kings had removed from their station, they pursued them, and Jacob also came from the heap of Shechem from the place where he was standing, and they went after the kings and they approached them with their servants.
4 And the kings and the captains with the rest of their armies, seeing that the sons of Jacob approached them, were afraid of their lives and fled till they reached the city of Chazar.
5 And the sons of Jacob pursued them to the gate of the city of Chazar, and they smote a great smiting amongst the kings and their armies, about four thousand men, and whilst they were smiting the army of the kings, Jacob was occupied with his bow confining himself to smiting the kings, and he slew them all.
6 And he slew Parathon king of Chazar at the gate of the city of Chazar, and he afterward smote Susi king of Sarton, and Laban king of Bethchorin, and Shabir king of Machnaymah, and he slew them all with arrows, an arrow to each of them, and they died.
7 And the sons of Jacob seeing that all the kings were dead and that they were broken up and retreating, continued to carry on the battle with the armies of the kings opposite the gate of Chazar, and they still smote about four hundred of their men.
8 And three men of the servants of Jacob fell in that battle, and when Judah saw that three of his servants had died, it grieved him greatly, and his anger burned within him against the Amorites.
9 And all the men that remained of the armies of the kings were greatly afraid of their lives, and they ran and broke the gate of the walls of the city of Chazar, and they all entered the city for safety.
10 And they concealed themselves in the midst of the city of Chazar, for the city of Chazar was very large and extensive, and when all these armies had entered the city, the sons of Jacob ran after them to the city.
11 And four mighty men, experienced in battle, went forth from the city and stood against the entrance of the city, with drawn swords and spears in their hands, and they placed themselves opposite the sons of Jacob, and would not suffer them to enter the city.
12 And Naphtali ran and came between them and with his sword smote two of them, and cut off their heads at one stroke.
13 And he turned to the other two, and behold they had fled, and he pursued them, overtook them, smote them and slew them.
14 And the sons of Jacob came to the city and saw, and behold there was another wall to the city, and they sought for the gate of the wall and could not find it, and Judah sprang upon the top of the wall, and Simeon and Levi followed him, and they all three descended from the wall into the city.
15 And Simeon and Levi slew all the men who ran for safety into the city, and also the inhabitants of the city with their wives and little ones, they slew with the edge of the sword, and the cries of the city ascended up to heaven.

16 And Dan and Naphtali sprang upon the wall to see what caused the noise of lamentation, for the sons of Jacob felt anxious about their brothers, and they heard the inhabitants of the city speaking with weeping and supplications, saying, Take all hat we possess in the city and go away, only do not put us to death.
17 And when Judah, Simeon, and Levi had ceased smiting the inhabitants of the city, they ascended the wall and called to Dan and Naphtali, who were upon the wall, and to the rest of their brothers, and Simeon and Levi informed them of the entrance into the city, and all the sons of Jacob came to fetch the spoil.
18 And the sons of Jacob took the spoil of the city of Chazar, the flocks and herds, and the property, and they took all that could be captured, and went away that day from the city.
19 And on the next day the sons of Jacob went to Sarton, for they heard that the men of Sarton who had remained in the city were assembling to fight with them for having slain their king, and Sarton was a very high and fortified city, and it had a deep rampart surrounding the city.
20 And the pillar of the rampart was about fifty cubits and its breadth forty cubits, and there was no place for a man to enter the city on account of the rampart, and the sons of Jacob saw the rampart of the city, and they sought an entrance in it but could not find it.
21 For the entrance to the city was at the rear, and every man that wished to come into the city came by that road and went around the whole city, and he afterwards entered the city.
22 And the sons of Jacob seeing they could no find the way into the city, their anger was kindled greatly, and the inhabitants of the city seeing that the sons of Jacob were coming to them were greatly afraid of them, for they had heard of their strength and what they had done to Chazar.
23 And the inhabitants of the city of Sarton could not go out toward the sons of Jacob after having assembled in the city to fight against them, lest they might thereby get into the city, but when they saw that they were coming toward them, they were greatly afraid of them, for they had heard of their strength and what they had done to Chazar.
24 So the inhabitants of Sarton speedily took away the bridge of the road of the city, from its place, before the sons of Jacob came, and they brought it into the city.
25 And the sons of Jacob came and sought the way into the city, and could not find it, and the inhabitants of the city went up to the top of the wall, and saw, and behold the sons of Jacob were seeking an entrance into the city.
26 And the inhabitants of the city reproached the sons of Jacob from the top of the wall, and they cursed them, and the sons of Jacob heard the reproaches, and they were greatly incensed, and their anger burned within them.
27 And the sons of Jacob were provoked at them, and they all rose and sprang over the rampart with the force of their strength, and through their might passed the forty cubits' breadth of the rampart.
28 And when they had passed the rampart they stood under the wall of the city, and they found all the gates of the city enclosed with iron doors.
29 And the sons of Jacob came near to break open the doors of the gates of the city, and the inhabitants did not let them, for from the top of the wall they were casting stones and arrows upon them.
30 And the number of the people that were upon the wall was about four hundred men, and when the sons of Jacob saw that the men of the city would not let them open the gates of the city, they sprang and ascended the top of the wall, and Judah went up first to the east part of the city.
31 And Gad and Asher went up after him to the west corner of the city, and Simeon and Levi to the north, and Dan and Reuben to the south.
32 And the men who were on the top of the wall, the inhabitants of the city, seeing that the sons of Jacob were coming up to them, they all fled from the wall, descended into the city, and concealed themselves in the midst of the city.

33 And Issachar and Naphtali that remained under the wall approached and broke the gates of the city, and kindled a fire at the gates of the city, that the iron melted, and all the sons of Jacob came into the city, they and all their men, and they fought with the inhabitants of the city of Sarton, and smote them with the edge of the sword, and no man stood up before them.
34 And about two hundred men fled from the city, and they all went and hid themselves in a certain tower in the city, and Judah pursued them to the tower and he broke down the tower, which fell upon the men, and they all died.
35 And the sons of Jacob went up the road of the roof of that tower, and they saw, and behold there was another strong and high tower at a distance in the city, and the top of it reached to heaven, and the sons of Jacob hastened and descended, and went with all their men to that tower, and found it filled with about three hundred men, women and little ones.
36 And the sons of Jacob smote a great smiting amongst those men in the tower and they ran away and fled from them.
37 And Simeon and Levi pursued them, when twelve mighty and valiant men came out to them from the place where they had concealed themselves.
38 And those twelve men maintained a strong battle against Simeon and Levi, and Simeon and Levi could not prevail over them, and those valiant men broke the shields of Simeon and Levi, and one of them struck at Levi's head with his sword, when Levi hastily placed his hand to his head, for he was afraid of the sword, and the sword struck Levi's hand, and it wanted but little to the hand of Levi being cut off.
39 And Levi seized the sword of the valiant man in his hand, and took it forcibly from the man, and with it he struck at the head of the powerful man, and he severed his head.
40 And eleven men approached to fight with Levi, for they saw that one of them was killed, and the sons of Jacob fought, but the sons of Jacob could not prevail over them, for those men were very powerful.
41 And the sons of Jacob seeing that they could not prevail over them, Simeon gave a loud and tremendous shriek, and the eleven powerful men were stunned at the voice of Simeon's shrieking.
42 And Judah at a distance knew the voice of Simeon's shouting,and Naphtali and Judah ran with their shields to Simeon and Levi, and found them fighting with those powerful men, unable to prevail over them as their shields were broken.
43 And Naphtali saw that the shields of Simeon and Levi were broken, and he took two shields from his servants and brought them to Simeon and Levi.
44 And Simeon, Levi and Judah on that day fought all three against the eleven mighty men until the time of sunset, but they could not prevail over them.
45 And this was told unto Jacob, and he was sorely grieved, and he prayed unto the Lord, and he and Naphtali his son went against these mighty men.
46 And Jacob approached and drew his bow, and came nigh unto the mighty men, and slew three of their men with the bow, and the remaining eight turned back, and behold, the war waged against them in the front and rear, and they were greatly afraid of their lives, and could not stand before the sons of Jacob, and they fled from before them.
47 And in their flight they met Dan and Asher coming toward them, and they suddenly fell upon them, and fought with them, and slew two of them, and Judah and his brothers pursued them, and smote the remainder of them, and slew them.
48 And all the sons of Jacob returned and walked about the city, searching if they could find any men, and they found about twenty young men in a cave in the city, and Gad and Asher smote them all, and Dan and Naphtali lighted upon the rest of the men who had fled and escaped from the second tower, and they smote them all.
49 And the sons of Jacob smote all the inhabitants of the city of Sarton, but the women and little ones they left in the city and did not slay them.

50 And all the inhabitants of the city of Sarton were powerful men, one of them would pursue a thousand, and two of them would not flee from ten thousand of the rest of men.
51 And the sons of Jacob slew all the inhabitants of the city of Sarton with the edge of the sword, that no man stood up against them, and they left the women in the city.
52 And the sons of Jacob took all the spoil of the city, and captured what they desired, and they took flocks and herds and property from the city, and the sos of Jacob did unto Sarton and its inhabitants as they had done to Chazar and its inhabitants, and they turned and went away.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

1 And when the sons of Jacob went from the city of Sarton, they had gone about two hundred cubits when they met the inhabitants of Tapnach coming toward them, for they went out to fight with them, because they had smitten the king of Tapnach and all his men.
2 So all that remained in the city of Tapnach came out to fight with the sons of Jacob, and they thought to retake from them the booty and the spoil which they had captured from Chazar and Sarton.
3 And the rest of the men of Tapnach fought with the sons of Jacob in that place, and the sons of Jacob smote them, and they fled before them, and they pursued them to the city of Arbelan, and they all fell before the sons of Jacob.
4 And the sons of Jacob returned and came to Tapnach, to take away the spoil of Tapnach, and when they came to Tapnach they heard that the people of Arbelan had gone out to meet them to save the spoil of their brethren, and the sons of Jacob left ten of their men in Tapnach to plunder the city, and they went out toward the people of Arbelan.
5 And the men of Arbelan went out with their wives to fight with the sons of Jacob, for their wives were experienced in battle, and they went out, about four hundred men and women.
6 And all the sons of Jacob shouted with a loud voice, and they all ran toward the inhabitants of Arbelan, and with a great and tremendous voice.
7 And the inhabitants of Arbelan heard the noise of the shouting of the sons of Jacob, and their roaring like the noise of lions and like the roaring of the sea and its waves.
8 And fear and terror possessed their hearts on account of the sons of Jacob, and they were terribly afraid of them, and they retreated and fled before them into the city, and the sons of Jacob pursued them to the gate of the city, and they came upon them in the city.
9 And the sons of Jacob fought with them in the city, and all their women were engaged in slinging against the sons of Jacob, and the combat was very severe amongst them the whole of that day till evening.
10 And the sons of Jacob could not prevail over them, and the sons of Jacob had almost perished in that battle, and the sons of Jacob cried unto the Lord and greatly gained strength toward evening, and the sons of Jacob smote all the inhabitants of Arbelan by the edge of the sword, men, women and little ones.
11 And also the remainder of the people who had fled from Sarton, the sons of Jacob smote them in Arbelan, and the sons of Jacob did unto Arbelan and Tapnach as they had done to Chazar and Sarton, and when the women saw that all the men were dead, they went upon the roofs of the city and smote the sons of Jacob by showering down stones like rain.
12 And the sons of Jacob hastened and came into the city and seized all the women and smote them with the edge of the sword,and the sons of Jacob captured all the spoil and booty, flocks and herds and cattle.

13 And the sons of Jacob did unto Machnaymah as they had done to Tapnach, to Chazar and to Shiloh, and they turned from there and went away.
14 And on the fifth day the sons of Jacob heard that the people of Gaash had gathered against them to battle, because they ha slain their king and their captains, for there had been fourteen captains in the city of Gaash, and the sons of Jacob had slain them all in the first battle.
15 And the sons of Jacob that day girt on their weapons of war, and they marched to battle against the inhabitants of Gaash, and in Gaash there was a strong and mighty people of the people of the Amorites, and Gaash was the strongest and best fortified city of all the cities of the Amorites, and it had three walls.
16 And the sons of Jacob came to Gaash and they found the gates of the city locked, and about five hundred men standing at the top of the outermost wall, and a people numerous as the sand upon the sea shore were in ambush for the sons of Jacob from without the city at the rear thereof.
17 And the sons of Jacob approached to open the gates of the city, and whilst they were drawing nigh, behold those who were in ambush at the rear of the city came forth from their places and surrounded the sons of Jacob.
18 And the sons of Jacob were enclosed between the people of Gaash, and the battle was both to their front and rear, and all the men that were upon the wall, were casting from the wall upon them, arrows and stones.
19 And Judah, seeing that the men of Gaash were getting too heavy for them, gave a most piercing and tremendous shriek and all the men of Gaash were terrified at the voice of Judah's cry, and men fell from the wall at his powerful shriek, and all those that were from without and within the city were greatly afraid of their lives.
20 And the sons of Jacob still came nigh to break the doors of the city, when the men of Gaash threw stones and arrows upon them from the top of the wall, and made them flee from the gate.
21 And the sons of Jacob returned against the men of Gaash who were with them from without the city, and they smote them terribly, as striking against gourds, and they could not stand against the sons of Jacob, for fright and terror had seized them at the shriek of Judah.
22 And the sons of Jacob slew all those men who were from without the city, and the sons of Jacob still drew nigh to effect an entrance into the city, and to fight under the city walls, but they could not for all the inhabitants of Gaash who remained in the city had surrounded the walls of Gaash in every direction, so that the sons of Jacob were unable to approach the city to fight with them.
23 And the sons of Jacob came night to one corner to fight under the wall, the inhabitants of Gaash threw arrows and stones upon them like showers of rain, and they fled from under the wall. 24 And the people of Gaash who were upon the wall, seeing that the sons of Jacob could not prevail over them from under the wall, reproached the sons of Jacob in these words, saying,
25 What is the matter with you in the battle that you cannot prevail? can you then do unto the mighty city of Gaash and its inhabitants as you did to the cities of the Amorites that were not so powerful? Surely to those weak ones amongst us you did those things, and slew them in the entrance of the city, for thy had no strength when they were terrified at the sound of your shouting.
26 And will you now then be able to fight in this place? Surely here you will all die, and we will avenge the cause of those cities that you have laid waste.
27 And the inhabitants of Gaash greatly reproached the sons of Jacob and reviled them with their gods, and continued to cast arrows and stones upon them from the wall.
28 And Judah and his brothers heard the words of the inhabitants of Gaash and their anger was greatly roused, and Judah was jealous of his God in this matter, and he called out and said, O Lord, help, send help to us and our brothers.

29 And he ran at a distance with all his might, with his drawn sword in his hand, and he sprang from the earth and by dint of his strength, mounted the wall, and his sword fell from his hand.
30 And Judah shouted upon the wall, and all the men that were upon the wall were terrified, and some of them fell from the wall into the city and died, and those who were yet upon the wall, when they saw Judah's strength, they were greatly afraid and fled for their lives into the city for safety.
31 And some were emboldened to fight with Judah upon the wall, and they came nigh to slay him when they saw there was no sword in Judah's hand, and they thought of casting him from the wall to his brothers,and twenty men of the city came up to assist them, and they surrounded Judah and they all shouted over him, and approached him with drawn swords, and they terrified Judah, and Judah cried out to his brothers form the wall.
32 And Jacob and his sons drew the bow from under the wall, and smote three of the men that were upon the top of the wall, and Judah continued to cry and he exclaimed, O Lord help us, O Lord deliver us, and he cried out with a loud voice upon the wall, and the cry was heard at a great distance.
33 And after this cry he again repeated to shout, and all the men who surrounded Judah on the top of the wall were terrified, and they each threw his sword form his hand at the sound of Judah's shouting and his tremor, and fled.
34 And Judah took the swords which had fallen from their hands, and Judah fought with them and slew twenty of their men upon the wall.
35 And about eighty men and women still ascended the wall from the city and they all surrounded Judah, and the Lord impressed the fear of Judah in their hearts, that they were unable to approach him.
36 And Jacob and all who were with him drew the bow from under the wall, and they slew ten men upon the wall, and they fell below the wall, before Jacob and his sons.
37 And the people upon the wall seeing that twenty of their men had fallen, they still ran toward Judah with drawn swords, but they could not approach him for they were greatly terrified at Judah's strength.
38 And one of their mighty men whose name was Arud approached to strike Judah upon the head with his sword, when Judah hastily put his shield to his head, and the sword hit the shield, and it was split in two.
39 And this mighty man after he had struck Judah ran for his life, at the fear of Judah, and his feet slipped upon the wall and he fell amongst the sons of Jacob who were below the wall, and the sons of Jacob smote him and slew him.
40 And Judah's head pained him from the blow of the powerful man, and Judah had nearly died from it.
41 And Judah cried out upon the wall owing to the pain produced by the blow, when Dan heard him, and his anger burned within him, and he also rose up and went at a distance and ran and sprang from the earth and mounted the wall with his wrath excited strength.
42 And when Dan came upon the wall near unto Judah all the men upon the wall fled, who had stood against Judah, and they went up tot he second wall, and they threw arrows and stones upon Dan and Judah from the second wall, and endeavored to drive them from the wall.
43 And the arrows and stones struck Dan and Judah, and they had nearly been killed upon the wall, and wherever Dan and Judah fled from the wall, they were attacked with arrows and stones from the second wall.
44 And Jacob and his sons were still at the entrance of the city below the first wall, and they were not able to draw their bow against the inhabitants of the city, as they could not be seen by them, being upon the second wall.
45 And Dan and Judah when they could no longer bear the stones and arrows that fell upon them from the second wall, they both sprang upon the second wall near the people of the city, and when the people of the city who were upon the second wall saw that Dan and Judah had come to them upon the second wall, they all cried out and descended below between the walls.

46 And Jacob and his sons heard the noise of the shouting from the people of the city, and they were still at the entrance of the city, and they were anxious about Dan and Judah who were not seen by them, they being upon the second wall.
47 And Naphtali went up with his wrath-excited might and sprang upon the first wall to see what caused the noise of shouting which they had heard in the city, and Issachar and Zebulun drew nigh to break the doors of the city, and they opened the gates of the city and came into they city.
48 And Naphtali leaped from the first wall to the second, and came to assist his brothers, and the inhabitants of Gaash who were upon the wall, seeing that Naphtali was the third who had come up to assist his brothers, they all fled and descended into the city, and Jacob and all his sons and all their young men came into the city to them.
49 And Judah and Dan and Naphtali descended from the wall into the city and pursued the inhabitants of the city, and Simeon and Levi were from without the city and knew not that the gate was opened, and they went up from there to the wall and came down to their brothers into the city.
50 And the inhabitants of the city had all descended into the city, and the sons of Jacob came to them in different directions, and the battle waged against them from the front and the rear, and the sons of Jacob smote them terribly, and slew about twenty thousand of them men and women, not one of them could stand up against the sons of Jacob.
51 And the blood flowed plentifully in the city, and it was like a brook of water, and the blood flowed like a brook to the outer part of the city, and reached the desert of Bethchorin.
52 And the people of Bethchorin saw at a distance the blood flowing from the city of Gaash, and about seventy men from amongst them ran to see the blood, and they came to the place where the blood was.
53 And they followed the track of the blood and came to the wall of the city of Gaash, and they saw the blood issue from the city, and they heard the voice of crying from the inhabitants of Gaash, for it ascended unto heaven, and the blood was continuing to flow abundantly like a brook of water.
54 And all the sons of Jacob were still smiting the inhabitants of Gaash, and were engaged in slaying them till evening, about twenty thousand men and women, and the people of Chorin said, Surely this is the work of the Hebrews, for they are still carrying on war in all the cities of the Amorites.
55 And those people hastened and ran to Bethchorin, and each took his weapons of war, and they cried out to all the inhabitants of Bethchorin, who also girt on their weapons of war to go and fight with the sons of Jacob.
56 And when the sons of Jacob had done smiting the inhabitants of Gaash, they walked about the city to strip al the slain, and coming in the innermost part of the city and farther on they met three very powerful men, and there was no sword in their hand.
57 And the sons of Jacob came up to the place where they were, and the powerful men ran away, and one of them had taken Zebulun, who he saw was a young lad and of short stature, and with his might dashed him to the ground.
58 And Jacob ran to him with his sword and Jacob smote him below his loins with the sword, and cut him in two, and the body fell upon Zebulun.
59 And the second one approached and seized Jacob to fell him to the ground, and Jacob turned to him and shouted to him, whilst Simeon and Levi ran and smote him on the hips with the sword and felled him to the ground.
60 And the powerful man rose up from the ground with wrath-excited might, and Judah came to him before he had gained his footing, and struck him upon the head with the sword, and his head was split and he died.

61 And the third powerful man, seeing that his companions were killed, ran from before the sons of Jacob, and the sons of Jacob pursued him in the city; and whilst the powerful man was fleeing he found one of the swords of the inhabitants of the city, and he picked it up and turned to the sons of Jacob and fought them with that sword.
62 And the powerful man ran to Judah to strike him upon the head with the sword, and there was no shield in the hand of Judah; and whilst he was aiming to strike him, Naphtali hastily took his shield and put it to Judah's head, and the sword of the powerful man hit the shield of Naphtali and Judah escaped the sword.
63 And Simeon and Levi ran upon the powerful man with their swords and struck at him forcibly with their swords, and the two swords entered the body of the powerful man and divided it in two, length-wise.
64 And the sons of Jacob smote the three mighty men at that time, together with all the inhabitants of Gaash, and the day was about to decline.
65 And the sons of Jacob walked about Gaash and took all the spoil of the city, even the little ones and women they did not suffer to live,and the sons of Jacob did unto Gaash as they had done to Sarton and Shiloh.

CHAPTER XL.

1 And the sons of Jacob led away all the spoil of Gaash, and went out of the city by night.
2 They were going out marching toward the castle of Bethchorin, and the inhabitants of Bethchorin were going to the castle to meet them, and on that night the sons of Jacob fought with the inhabitants of Bethchorin, in the castle of Bethchorin.
3 And all the inhabitants of Bethchorin were mighty men, one of them would not flee from before a thousand men, and they fought on that night upon the castle, and their shouts were heard on that night from afar, and the earth quaked at their shouting.
4 And all the sons of Jacob were afraid of those men, as they were not accustomed to fight in the dark, and they were greatly confounded, and the sons of Jacob cried unto the Lord, saying, Give help to us O Lord, deliver us that we may not die by the hands of these uncircumcised men.
5 And the Lord hearkened to the voice of the sons of Jacob, and the Lord caused great terror and confusion to seize the people of Bethchorin, and they fought amongst themselves the one with the other in the darkness of night, and smote each other in great numbers.
6 And the sons of Jacob, knowing that the Lord had brought a spirit of perverseness amongst those men, and that they fought each man with his neighbor, went forth from among the bands of the people of Bethchorin and went as far as the descent of the castle of Bethchorin, and farther, and they tarried there securely with their young men on that night.
7 And the people of Bethchorin fought the whole night, one man with his brother, and the other with his neighbor, and they cried out in every direction upon the castle, and their cry was heard at a distance, and the whole earth shook at their voice, for they were powerful above all the people of the earth.
8 And all the inhabitants of the cities of the Canaanites, the Hitties, the Amorites, the Hivites and all the kings of Canaan, and also those who were on the other side of the Jordan, heard the noise of the shouting on that night.
9 And they said, Surely these are the battles of the Hebrews who are fighting against the seven cities, who came nigh unto them; and who can stand against those Hebrews?
10 And all the inhabitants of the cities of the Canaanites, and all those who were on the other side of the Jordan, were greatly afraid of the sons of Jacob, for they said, Behold the same will be done to us as was done to those cities, for who can stand against their mighty strength?

11 And the cries of the Chorinites were very great on that night, and continued to increase; and they smote each other till morning, and numbers of them were killed.
12 And the morning appeared, and all the sons of Jacob rose up at daybreak and went up to the castle, and they smote those who remained of the Chorinites in a terrible manner, and they were all killed in the castle.
13 And the sixth day appeared, and all the inhabitants of Canaan saw at a distance all the people of Bethchorin lying dead in the castle of Bethchorin, and strewed about as the carcasses of lambs and goats.
14 And the sons of Jacob led all the spoil which they had captured from Baash and went to Bethchorin, and they found the city full of people like the sand of the sea, and they fought with them, and the sons of Jacob smote them there till evening time.
15 And the sons of Jacob did unto Bethchorin as they had done to Gaash and Tapnach, and as they had done to Chazar, to Sarton and to Shiloh.
16 And the sons of Jacob took with them the spoil of Bethchorin and all the spoil of the cities, and on that day they went home to Shechem.
17 And the sons of Jacob came home to the city of Shechem, and they remained without the city, and they then rested there from the war, and tarried there all night.
18 And all their servants together with all the spoil that they had taken from the cities, they left without the city, and they did not enter the city, for they said, Peradventure there may be yet more fighting against us, and they may come to besiege us in Shechem.
19 And Jacob and his sons and their servants remained on that night and the next day in the portion of the field which Jacob had purchased from Hamor for five shekels, and all that they had captured was with them.
20 And all the booty which the sons of Jacob had captured, was in the portion of the field, immense as the sand upon the sea shore.
21 And the inhabitants of the land observed them from afar, and all the inhabitants of the land were afraid of the sons of Jacob who had done this thing, for no king from the days of old had ever done the like.
22 And the seven kings of the Canaanites resolved to make peace with the sons of Jacob, for they were greatly afraid of their lives, on account of the sons of Jacob.
23 And on that day, being the seventh day, Japhia king of Hebron sent secretly to the king of Ai,and to the king of Gibeon, and to the king of Shalem, and to the king of Adulam, and to the king of Lachish, and to the king of Chazar, and to all the Canaanitish kings who were under their subjection, saying, 24 Go up with me, and come to me that we may go to the sons of Jacob, and I will make peace with them, and form a treaty with them, lest all your lands be destroyed by the swords of the sons of Jacob, as they did to Shechem and the cities around it, as you have heard and seen.
25 And when you come to me, do not come with many men, but let every king bring his three head captains, and every captain bring three of his officers.
26 And come all of you to Hebron, and we will go together to the sons of Jacob, and supplicate them that they shall form a treaty of peace with us.
27 And all those kings did as the king of Hebron had sent to them, for they were all under his counsel and command, and all the kings of Canaan assembled to go to the sons of Jacob, to make peace with them; and the sons of Jacob returned and went to the portion of the field that was in Shechem, for they did not put confidence in the kings of the land.
28 And the sons of Jacob returned and remained in the portion of the field ten days, and no one came to make war with them.
29 And when the sons of Jacob saw that there was no appearance of war, they all assembled and went to the city of Shechem, and the sons of Jacob remained in Shechem.

30 And at the expiration of forty days, all the kings of the Amorites assembled from all their places and came to Hebron, to Japhia, king of Hebron.
31 And the number of kings that came to Hebron, to make peace with the sons of Jacob, was twenty-one kings, and the number of captains that came with them was sixty-nine, and their men were one hundred and eighty-nine, and all these kings and their men rested by Mount Hebron.
32 And the king of Hebron went out with this three captains and nine men, and these kings resolved to go to the sons of Jacob to make peace.
33 And they said unto the king of Hebron, Go thou before us with thy men, and speak for us unto the sons of Jacob, and we will come after thee and confirm thy cords, and the king of Hebron did so.
34 And the sons of Jacob heard that all the kings of Canaan had gathered together and rested in Hebron,a dn the sons of Jacob sent four of their servants as spies, saying, Go and spy these kings, and search and examine their men whether they are few or many, and if they are but few in number, number them all and come back.
35 And the servants of Jacob went secretly to these kings, and did as the sons of Jacob had commanded them, and on that day they came back to the sons of Jacob, and said unto them, We came unto those kings, and they are but few in number, and we numbered them all, and behold, they were two hundred and eighty-eight, kings and men.
36 And the sons of Jacob said, They are but few in number, therefore we will not all go out to them;a dn in the morning the sons of Jacob rose up and chose sixty-two of their men, and ten of the sons of Jacob went with them; and they girt on their weapons of war, for they said, They are coming to make war with us, for they knew not that they were coming to make peace with them.
37 And the sons o Jacob went with their servants to the gate of Shechem, toward those kings, and their father Jacob was with them. 38 And when they had come forth, behold, the king of Hebron and his three captains and nine men with him were coming along the road against the sons of Jacob, and the sons of Jacob lifted up their eyes, and saw at a distance Japhia, king of Hebron, with his captains, coming toward them, and the sons of Jacob took their stand at the place of the gate of Shechem, and did not proceed.
39 And the king of Hebron continued to advance, he and his captains, until he came nigh to the sons of Jacob,and he and his captains bowed down to them to the ground, and the king of Hebron sat with his captains before Jacob and his sons.
40 And the sons of Jacob said unto him, What has befallen thee, O king of Hebron? why hast thou come to us this day? what dost thou require from us? and the king of Hebron said unto Jacob, I beseech thee my lord, all the kings of the Canaanites have this day come to make peace with you.
41 And the sons of Jacob heard the words of the king of Hebron, and they would not consent to his proposals, for the sons of Jacob had no faith in him, for they imagined that the king of Hebron had spoken deceitfully to them.
42 And the king of Hebron knew from the words of the sons of Jacob, that they did not believe his words, and the king of Hebron approached nearer to Jacob, and said unto him, I beseech thee, my lord, to be assured that all these kings have come to you on peaceable terms, for they have not come with all their men, neither did they bring their weapons of war with them, for they have come to seek peace from my lord and his sons.
43 And the sons of Jacob answered the king of Hebron, saying, Send thou to all these kings, and if thou speakest truth unto us, let them each come singly before us, and if they come unto us unarmed, we shall then know that they seek peace from us.
44 And Japhia, king of Hebron, sent one of his men to the kings, and they all came before the sons of Jacob, and bowed down to them to the ground, and these kings sat before Jacob and his sons, and they spoke unto them, saying, 45 We have heard all that you did unto the kings of the Amorites with your sword and exceedingly mighty arm, so that no man could stand up before you, and we were afraid of you for the sake of our lives, lest it should befall us as it did to them.

46 So we have come unto you to form a treaty of peace between us, and now therefore contract with us a covenant of peace and truth, that you will not meddle with us, inasmuch as we have not meddled with you.
47 And the sons of Jacob knew that they had really come to seek peace from them, and the sons of Jacob listened to them, and formed a covenant with them.
48 And the sons of Jacob swore unto them that they would not meddle with them, and all the kings of the Canaanites swore also to them,and the sons of Jacob made them tributary from that day forward.
49 And after this all the captains of these kings came with their men before Jacob, with presents in their hands for Jacob and his sons, and they bowed down to him to the ground.
50 And these kings then urged the sons of Jacob and begged of them to return all the spoil they had captured from the seven cities of the Amorites, and the sons of Jacob did so, and they returned all that they had captured, the women, the little ones, the cattle and all the spoil which they had taken,and they sent them off, and they went away each to his city.
51 And all these kings again bowed down to the sons of Jacob, and they sent or brought them many gifts in those days, and the sons of Jacob sent off these kings and their men, and they went peaceably away from them to their cities, and the sons of Jacob also returned to their home, to Shechem.
52 And there was peace from that day forward between the sons of Jacob and the kings of the Canaanites, until the children of Israel came to inherit the land of Canaan.

CHAPTER XLI.

1 And at the revolution of the year the sons of Jacob journeyed from Shechem, and they came to Hebron, to their father Isaac, and they dwelt there, but their flocks and herds they fed daily in Shechem, for there was there in those days good and fat pasture, and Jacob and his sons and all their household dwelt in the valley of Hebron.
2 And it was in those days, in that year, being the hundred and sixth year of the life of Jacob, in the tenth year of Jacob's coming from Padan-aram, that Leah the wife of Jacob died; she was fifty-one years old when she died in Hebron.
3 And Jacob and his sons buried her in the cave of the field of Machpelah, which is in Hebron, which Abraham had bought from the children of Heth, for the possession of a burial place.
4 And the sons of Jacob dwelt with their father in the valley of Hebron, and all the inhabitants of the land knew their strength, and their fame went throughout the land.
5 And Joseph the son of Jacob, and his brother Benjamin, the sons of Rachel, the wife of Jacob, were yet young in those days, and did not go out with their brethren during their battles in all the cities of the Amorites.
6 And when Joseph saw the strength of his brethren,and their greatness, he praised them and extolled them, but he ranked himself greater than them, and extolled himself above them; and Jacob, his father, also loved him more than any of his sons, for he was a son of his old age, and through his love toward him, he made him a coat of many colors.
7 And when Joseph saw that his father loved him more than his brethren, he continued to exalt himself above his brethren, and he brought unto his father evil reports concerning them.
8 And the sons of Jacob seeing the whole of Joseph's conduct toward them, and that their father loved him more than any of them, they hated him and could not speak peaceably to him all the days.

9 And Joseph was seventeen years old, and he was still magnifying himself above his brethren, and thought of raising himself above them.
10 At that time he dreamed a dream, and he came unto his brothers and told them his dream, and he said unto them, I dreamed a dream, and behold we were all binding sheaves in the field, and my sheaf rose and placed itself upon the ground and your sheaves surrounded it and bowed down to it.
11 And his brethren answered him and said unto him, What meaneth this dream that thou didst dream? dost thou imagine in thy heart to reign or rule over us?
12 And he still came, and told the thing to his father Jacob, and Jacob kissed Joseph when he heard these words from his mouth, and Jacob blessed Joseph.
13 And when the sons of Jacob saw that their father had blessed Joseph and had kissed him, and that he loved him exceedingly, they became jealous of him and hated him the more.
14 And after this Joseph dreamed another dream and related the dream to his father in the presence of his brethren, and Joseph said unto his father and brethren, Behold I have again dreamed a dream, and behold the sun and the moon and the eleven stars bowed down to me.
15 And his father heard the words of Joseph and his dream, and seeing that his brethren hated Joseph on account of this matter, Jacob therefore rebuked Joseph before his brethren on account of this thing, saying, What meaneth this dream which thou hast dreamed, and this magnifying thyself before thy brethren who are older than thou art?
16 Dost thou imagine in thy heart that I and thy mother and thy eleven brethren will come and bow down to thee, that thou speakest these things?
17 And his brethren were jealous of him on account of his words and dreams, and they continued to hate him, and Jacob reserved the dreams in his heart.
18 And the sons of Jacob went one day to feed their father's flock in Shechem, for they were still herdsmen in those days; and whilst the sons of Jacob were that day feeding in Shechem they delayed, and the time of gathering in the cattle was passed,and they had not arrived.
19 And Jacob saw that his sons were delayed in Shechem, and Jacob said within himself, Peradventure the people of Shechem have risen up to fight against them, therefore they have delayed coming this day.
20 And Jacob called Joseph his son and commanded him, saying, Behold thy brethren are feeding in Shechem this day, and behold they have not yet come back; go now therefore and see where they are, and bring me word back concerning the welfare of thy brethren and the welfare of the flock.
21 And Jacob sent his sons Joseph to the valley of Hebron, and Joseph came fro his brothers to Shechem, and could not find them,a nd Joseph went about the field which was near Shechem, to see where his brothers had turned, and he missed his road in the wilderness, and knew not which way he should go.
22 And an angel of the Lord found him wandering in the road toward the field, and Joseph said unto the angel of the Lord, I seek my brethren; hast thou not heard where they are feeding? and the angel of the Lord said unto Joseph, I saw thy brethren feeding here, and I heard them say they would go to feed in Dothan.
23 And Joseph hearkened to the voice of the angel of the Lord, and he went to his brethren in Dothan and he found them in Dothan feeding the flock. 24 And Joseph advanced to his brethren, and before he had come nigh unto them, they had resolved to slay him.
25 And Simeon said to his brethren, Behold the man of dreams is coming unto us this day, and now therefore come and let us kill him and cast him in one of the pits that are in the wilderness, and when his father shall seek him from us, we will say an evil beast has devoured him.
26 And Reuben heard the words of his brethren concerning Joseph, and he said unto them, You should not do this thing, for how can we look up to our father

Jacob? Cast him into this pit to die there, but stretch not forth a hand upon him to spill his blood; and Reuben said this in order to deliver him from their hand, to bring him back to his father.
27 And when Joseph came to his brethren he sat before them, and they rose upon him and seized him and smote him to the earth, and stripped the coat of many colors which he had on.
28 And they took him and cast him into a pit, and in the pit there was no water, but serpents and scorpions. And Joseph was afraid of the serpents and scorpions that were in the pit. And Joseph cried out with a loud voice, and the Lord hid the serpents and scorpions in the sides of the pit, and they did no harm unto Joseph.
29 And Joseph called out from the pit to his brethren, and said unto them, What have I done unto you, and in what have I sinned? why do you not fear the Lord concerning me? am I not of your bones and flesh, and is not Jacob your father, my father? why do you do this thing unto me this day, and how will you be able to look up to our father Jacob?
30 And he continued to cry out and call unto his brethren from the pit, and he said, O Judah, Simeon, and Levi, my brethren, lift me up from the place of darkness in which you have placed me, and come this day to have compassion on me, ye children of the Lord, and sons of Jacob my father. And if I have sinned unto you, are you not the sons of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob? if they saw an orphan they had compassion over him, or one that was hungry, they gave him bread to eat, or one that was thirsty, they gave him water to drink, or one that was naked, they covered him with garments!
31 And how then will you withhold your pity from your brother, for I am of your flesh and bones, and if I have sinned unto you, surely you will do this on account of my father!
32 And Joseph spoke these words from the pit, and his brethren would not listen to him, nor incline their ears to the words of Joseph, and Joseph was crying and weeping in the pit.
33 And Joseph said, O that my father knew, this day, the act which my brothers have done unto me, and the words which they have this day spoken unto me.
34 And all his brethren heard his cries and weeping in the pit, and his brethren went and removed themselves from the pit, so that they might not hear the cries of Joseph and his weeping in the pit.

CHAPTER XLII.

1 And they went and sat on the opposite side, about the distance of a bow-shot, and they sat there to eat bread, and whilst they were eating, they held counsel together what was to be done with him, whether to slay him or to bring him back to his father.
2 They were holding the counsel, when they lifted up their eyes, and saw, and behold there was a company of Ishmaelites coming at a distance by the road of Gilead, going down to Egypt.
3 And Judah said unto them, What gain will it be to us if we slay our brother? peradventure God will require him from us; this then is the counsel proposed concerning him, which you shall do unto him: Behold this company of Ishmaelites going down to Egypt,
4 Now therefore, come let us dispose of him to them, and let not our hand be upon him, and they will lead him along with them, and he will be lost amongst the people of the land, and we will not put him to death with our own hands. And the proposal pleased his brethren and they did according to the word of Judah.
5 And whilst they were discoursing about this matter, and before the company of Ishmaelites had come up to them, seven trading men of Midian passed by them, and as they passed they were thirsty, and they lifted up their eyes and saw the pit in which Joseph was immured, and they looked, and behold every species of bird was upon him.

6 And these Midianites ran to the pit to drink water, for they thought that it contained water, and on coming before the pit they heard the voice of Joseph crying and weeping in the pit, and they looked down into the pit, and they saw and behold there was a youth of comely appearance and well favored.
7 And they called unto him and said, Who art thou and who brought thee hither, and who placed thee in this pit, in the wilderness? and they all assisted to raise up Joseph and they drew him out, and brought him up from the pit, and took him and went away on their journey and passed by his brethren.
8 And these said unto them, Why do you do this, to take our servant from us and to go away? surely we placed this youth in the pit because he rebelled against us, and you come and bring him up and lead him away; now then give us back our servant.
9 And the Midianites answered and said unto the sons of Jacob, Is this your servant, or does this man attend you? peradventure you are all his servants, for he is more comely and well favored than any of you, and why do you all speak falsely unto us?
10 Now therefore we will not listen to your words, nor attend to you, for we found the youth in the pit in the wilderness, and we took him; we will therefore go on.
11 And all the sons of Jacob approached them and rose up to them and said unto them, Give us back our servant, and why will you all die by the edge of the sword? And the Midianites cried out against them, and they drew their swords, and approached to fight with the sons of Jacob.
12 And behold Simeon rose up from his seat against them, and sprang upon the ground and drew his sword and approached the Midianites and he gave a terrible shout before them, so that his shouting was heard at a distance, and the earth shook at Simeon's shouting.
13 And the Midianites were terrified on account of Simeon and the noise of his shouting, and they fell upon their faces, and were excessively alarmed.
14 And Simeon said unto them, Verily I am Simeon, the son of Jacob the Hebrew, who have, only with my brother, destroyed the city of Shechem and the cities of the Amorites; so shall God moreover do unto me, that if all your brethren the people of Midian, and also the kings of Canaan, were to come with you, they could not fight against me.
15 Now therefore give us back the youth whom you have taken, lest I give your flesh to the birds of the skies and the beasts of the earth.
16 And the Midianites were more afraid of Simeon, and they approached the sons of Jacob with terror and fright, and with pathetic words, saying,
17 Surely you have said that the young man is your servant, and that he rebelled against you, and therefore you placed him in the pit; what then will you do with a servant who rebels against his master? Now therefore sell him unto us, and we will give you all that you require for him; and the Lord was pleased to do this in order that the sons of Jacob should not slay their brother.
18 And the Midianites saw that Joseph was of a comely appearance and well-favored; they desired him in their hearts and were urgent to purchase him from his brethren.
19 And the sons of Jacob hearkened to the Midianites and they sold their brother Joseph to them for twenty pieces of silver, and Reuben their brother was not with them, and the Midianites took Joseph and continued their journey to Gilead.
20 They were going along the road, and the Midianites repented of what they had done, in having purchased the young man,a dn one said to the other, What is this thing that we have done, in taking this youth from the Hebrews, who is of comely appearance and well favored.
21 Perhaps this youth is stolen from the land of the Hebrews, and why then have we done this thing? and if he should be sought for and found in our hands we shall die through him.

22 Now surely hardy and powerful men have sold him to us, the strength of one of whom you saw this day; perhaps they stole him from his land with their might and with their powerful arm, and have therefore sold him to us for the small value which we gave unto them.
23 And whilst they were thus discoursing together, they looked, and behold the company of Ishmaelites which was coming at first, and which the sons of Jacob saw, was advancing toward the Midianites, and the Midianites said to each other, Come let us sell this youth to the company of Ishmaelites who are coming toward us, and we will take for him the little that we gave for him, and we will be delivered from his evil.
24 And they did so, and they reached the Ishmaelites, and the Midianites sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of silver which they had given for him to his brethren.
25 And the Midianites went on their road to Gilead, and the Ishmaelites took Joseph and they let him ride upon one of the camels, and they were leading him to Egypt.
26 And Joseph heard that the Ishmaelites were proceeding to Egypt, and Joseph lamented and wept at this thing that he was to be so far removed from the land of Canaan, from his father, and he wept bitterly whilst he was riding upon the camel, and one o of their men observed him, and made him go down from the camel and walk on foot, and notwithstanding this Joseph continued to cry and weep, and he said, O my father, my father.
27 And one of the Ishmaelites rose up and smote Joseph upon the cheek, and still he continued to weep; and Joseph was fatigued in the road, and was unable to proceed on account of the bitterness of his soul, and they all smote him and afflicted him in the road, and they terrified him in order that he might cease from weeping.
28 And the Lord saw the affliction of Joseph and his trouble, and the Lord brought down upon those men darkness and confusion, and the hand of very one that smote him became withered.
29 And they said to each other, What is this thing that God has done to us in the road? and they knew not that this befell them on account of Joseph. And the men proceeded on the road, and they passed along the road of Ephrath where Rachel was buried.
30 And Joseph reached his mother's grave, and Joseph hastened and ran to his mother's grave, and fell upon the grave and wept.
31 And Joseph cried aloud upon his mother's grave, and he said, O my mother, my mother, O thou who didst give me birth, awake now, and rise and see thy son, how he has been sold for a slave, and no one to pity him.
32 O rise and see thy son, weep with me on account of my troubles, and see the heart of my brethren.
33 Arouse my mother, arouse, awake from thy sleep for me, and direct thy battles against my brethren. O how have they stripped me of my coat, and sold me already twice for a slave, and separated me from my father, and there is no one to pity me.
34 Arouse and lay thy cause against them before God, and see whom God will justify in the judgment, and whom he will condemn.
35 Rise, O my mother, rise, awake from thy sleep and see my father how his soul is with me this day, and comfort him and ease his heart.
36 And Joseph continued to speak these words, and Joseph cried aloud and wept bitterly upon his mother's grave; and he ceased speaking, and from bitterness of heart he became still as a stone upon the grave.
37 And Joseph heard a voice speaking to him from beneath the ground, which answered him with bitterness of heart, and with a voice of weeping and praying in these words:
38 My son, my son Joseph, I have heard the voice of thy weeping and the voice of thy lamentation; I have seen thy tears; I know thy troubles, my son, and it grieves me for thy sake, and abundant grief is added to my grief.

39 Now therefore my son, Joseph my son, hope to the Lord, and wait for him and do not fear, for the Lord is with thee, he will deliver thee from all trouble.
40 Rise my son, go down unto Egypt with thy masters, and do not fear, for the Lord is with thee, my son. And she continued to speak like unto these words unto Joseph, and she was still.
41 And Joseph heard this, and he wondered greatly at this, and he continued to weep; and after this one of the Ishmaelites observed him crying and weeping upon the grave, and his anger was kindled against him, and he drove him from there, and he smote him and cursed him. 42 And Joseph said unto the men, May I find grace in your sight to take me back to my father's house, and he will give you abundance of riches.
43 And they answered him, saying, Art thou not a slave, and where is thy father? and if thou hadst a father thou wouldst not already twice have been sold for a slave for so little value; and their anger was still roused against him, and they continued to smite him and to chastise him, and Joseph wept bitterly.
44 And the Lord saw Joseph's affliction, and the Lord again smote these men, and chastised them, and the Lord caused darkness to envelope them upon the earth, and the lightning flashed and the thunder roared, and the earth shook at the voice of the thunder and of the mighty wind, and the men were terrified and knew not where they should go.
45 And the beasts and camels stood still, and they led them, but they would not go, they smote them, and they crouched upon the ground;a dn the men said to each other, What is this that God has done to us? what are our transgressions, and what are our sins that this thing has thus befallen us?
46 And one of them answered and said unto them, Perhaps on account of the sin of afflicting this slave has this thing happened this day to us; now therefore implore him strongly to forgive us, and the we shall know on whose account this evil befalleth us, and if God shall have compassion over us, then we shall know that all this cometh to us on account of the sin of afflicting this slave.
47 And the men did so, and they supplicated Joseph and pressed him to forgive them; and they said, We have sinned to the Lord and to thee, now therefore vouchsafe to request of thy God that he shall put away this death from amongst us, for we have sinned to him.
48 And Joseph did according to their words, and the Lord hearkened to Joseph, and the Lord put away the plague which he had inflicted upon those men on account of Joseph, and the beasts rose up from the ground and they conducted them, and they went on, and the raging storm abated and the earth became tranquilized, and the men proceeded on their journey to g down to Egypt, and the men knew that this evil had befallen them on account of Joseph.
49 And they said to each other, Behold we know that it was on account of his affliction that this evil befell us; now therefore why shall we bring this death upon our souls? Let us hold counsel what to do to this slave.
50 And one answered and said, Surely he told us to bring him back to his father; now therefore come, let us take him back and we will go to the place that he will tell us, and take from his family the price that we gave for him and we will then go away.
51 And one answered again and said, Behold this counsel is very good, but we cannot do so for the way is very far from us, and we cannot go out of our road.
52 And one more answered and said unto them, This is the counsel to be adopted, we will not swerve from it; behold we are this day going to Egypt, and when we shall have come to Egypt, we will sell him there at a high price, and we will be delivered from his evil.

53 And this thing pleased the men and they did so, and they continued their journey to Egypt with Joseph.

CHAPTER XLIII.

1 And when the sons of Jacob had sold their brother Joseph to the Midianites, their hearts were smitten on account of him, and they repented of their acts, and they sought for him to bring him back, but could not find him.
2 And Reuben returned to the pit in which Joseph had been put, in order to lift him out, and restore him to his father, and Reuben stood by the pit, and he heard not a word, and he called out Joseph! Joseph! and no one answered or uttered a word.
3 And Reuben said, Joseph has died through fright, or some serpent has caused his death; and Reuben descended into the pit, and he searched for Joseph and could not find him in the pit, and he came out again.
4 And Reuben tore his garments and he said, The child is not there, and how shall I reconcile my father about him if he be dead? and he went to his brethren and found them grieving on account of Joseph, and counseling together how to reconcile their father about him, and Reuben said unto his brethren, I came to the pit and behold Joseph was not there, what then shall we say unto our father, for my father will only seek the lad from me.
5 And his brethren answered him saying, Thus and thus we did, and our hearts afterward smote us on account of this act, and we now sit to seek a pretext how we shall reconcile our father to it.
6 And Reuben said unto them, What is this you have done to bring down the grey hairs of our father in sorrow to the grave? the thing is not good, that you have done.
7 And Reuben sat with them, and they all rose up and swore to each other not to tell this thing unto Jacob, and they all Said, The man who will tell this to our father or his household, or who will report this to any of the children of the land, we will all rise up against him and slay him with the sword.
8 And the sons of Jacob feared each other in this matter, from the youngest to the oldest, and no one spoke a word, and they concealed the thing in their hearts.
9 And they afterward sat down to determine and invent something to say unto their father Jacob concerning all these things.
10 And Issachar said unto them, Here is an advice for you if it seem good in your eyes to do this thing, take the coat which belongeth to Joseph and tear it, and kill a kid of the goats and dip it in its blood.
11 And send it to our father and when he seeth it he will say an evil beast has devoured him, therefore tear ye his coat and behold his blood will be upon his coat, and by your doing this we shall be free of our father's murmurings.
12 And Issachar's advice pleased them, and they hearkened unto him and they did according to the word of Issachar which he had counselled them.
13 And they hastened and took Joseph's coat and tore it, and they killed a kid of the goats and dipped the coat in the blood of the kid, and then trampled it in the dust, and they sent the coat to their father Jacob by the hand of Naphtali, and they commanded him to say these words:
14 We had gathered in the cattle and had come as far as the road to Shechem and farther, when we found this coat upon the road in the wilderness dipped in blood and in dust; now therefore know whether it be thy son's coat or not.
15 And Naphtali went and he came unto his father and he gave him the coat, and he spoke unto him all the words which his brethren had commanded him.
16 And Jacob saw Joseph's coat and he knew it and he fell upon his face to the ground, and became as still as a stone, and he afterward rose up and cried out with a loud and weeping voice and he said, It is the coat of my son Joseph!
17 And Jacob hastened and sent one of his servants to his sons, who went to them and found them coming along the road with the flock.

18 And the sons of Jacob came to their father about evening, and behold their garments were torn and dust was upon their heads, and they found their father crying out and weeping with a loud voice.
19 And Jacob said unto his sons, Tell me truly what evil have you this day suddenly brought upon me? and they answered their father Jacob, saying, We were coming along this day after the flock had been gathered in, and we came as far as the city of Shechem by the road in the wilderness, and we found this coat filled with blood upon the ground, and we knew it and we sent unto thee if thou couldst know it.
20 And Jacob heard the words of his sons and he cried out with a loud voice, and he said,It is the coat of my son, an evil beast has devoured him; Joseph is rent in pieces, for I sent him this day to see whether it was well with you and well with the flocks and to bring me word again from you, and he went as I commanded him, and this has happened to him this day whilst I thought my son was with you.
21 And the sons o Jacob answered and said, He did not come to us, neither have we seen him from the time of our going out from thee until now.
22 And when Jacob heard their words he again cried out aloud, and he rose up and tore his garments, and he put sackcloth upon his loins, and he wept bitterly and he mourned and lifted up his voice in weeping and exclaimed and said these words,
23 Joseph my son, O my son Joseph, I sent thee this day after the welfare of thy brethren, and behold thou hast been torn in pieces; through my hand has this happened to my son.
24 It grieves me for thee Joseph my son, it grieves me for thee; how sweet wast thou to me during life, and now how exceedingly bitter is thy death to me.
25 O that I had died in thy stead Joseph my son, for it grieves me sadly for thee my son, O my son, my son. Joseph my son, where art thou, and where hast thou been drawn? arouse, arouse from thy place, and come and see my grief for thee, O my son Joseph.
26 Come now and number the tears gushing from my eyes down my cheeks, and bring them up before the Lord, that his anger may turn from me.
27 O Joseph my son, how didst thou fall, by the hand of one by whom no one had fallen from the beginning of the world unto this day; for thou hast been put to death by the smiting of an enemy, inflicted with cruelty, but surely I know that this has happened to thee, on account f the multitude of my sins.
28 Arouse now and see how bitter is my trouble for thee my son, although I did not rear thee, nor fashion thee, nor give thee breath and soul, but it was God who formed thee and built thy bones and covered them with flesh, and breathed in thy nostrils the breath of life, and then he gave thee unto me.
29 Now truly God who gave thee unto me, he has taken thee from me, and such then has befallen thee this day, and all the works of God are good.
30 And Jacob continued to speak like unto these words concerning Joseph, and he wept bitterly; he fell to the ground and became still.
31 And all the sons of Jacob seeing their father's trouble, they repented of what they had done, and they also wept bitterly.
32 And Judah rose up and lifted his father's head from the ground, and placed it upon his lap,a nd he wiped his father's tears from his cheeks, and Judah wept an exceeding great weeping, whilst his father's head was reclining upon his lap, still as a stone.
33 And the sons of Jacob saw their father's trouble, and they lifted up their voices and continued to weep, and Jacob was yet lying upon the ground still as a stone.
34 And all his sons and his servants and his servant's children rose up and stood round him to comfort him, and he refused to be comforted.
35 And the whole household of Jacob rose up and mourned a great mourning on account of Joseph and their father's trouble, and the intelligence reached

Isaac, the son of Abraham, the father of Jacob, and he wept bitterly on account of Joseph, he and all his household, and he went from the place where he dwelt in Hebron, and his men with him, and he comforted Jacob his son, and he refused to be comforted.

36 And after this, Jacob rose up from the ground, and his tears were running down his cheeks, and he said unto his sons, Rise up and take your swords and your bows, and go forth into the field, and seek whether you can find my son's body and bring it unto me that I may bury it.

37 Seek also, I pray you, among the beasts and hunt them, and that which shall come the first before you seize and bring it unto me, perhaps the Lord will this day pity my affliction, and prepare before you that which did tear my son in pieces, and bring it unto me, and I will avenge the cause of my son.

38 And his sons did as their father had commanded them, and they rose up early in the morning, and each took his sword and his bow in his hand, and they went forth into the field to hunt the beasts.

39 And Jacob was still crying aloud and weeping and walking to and fro in the house, and smiting his hands together, saying, Joseph my son, Joseph my son.

40 And the sons of Jacob went into the wilderness to seize the beasts,and behold a wolf came toward them, and they seized him, and brought him unto their father, and they said unto him, This is the first we have found, and we have brought him unto thee as thou didst command us, and thy son's body we could not find.

41 And Jacob took the beast form the hands of his sons, and he cried out with a loud and weeping voice, holding the beast in his hand, and he spoke with a bitter heart unto the beast, Why didst thou devour my son Joseph, and how didst thou have no fear of the God of the earth, or of my trouble for my son Joseph?

42 And thou didst devour my son for naught, because he committed no violence, and didst thereby render me culpable on his account, therefore God will require him that is persecuted.

43 And the Lord opened the mouth of the beast in order to comfort Jacob with its words,and it answered Jacob and spoke these words unto him, 44 As God liveth who created us in the earth, and as thy soul liveth, my lord, I did not see thy son, neither did I tear him to pieces, but from a distant land I also came to seek my son who went from me this day, and I know not whether he be living or dead.

45 And I came this day into the field to seek my son, and your sons found me, and seized me and increased my grief, and have this day brought me before thee,a nd I have now spoken all my words to thee.

46 And now therefore, O son of man, I am in thy hands, and do unto me this day as it may seem good in thy sight, but by the life of God who created me, I did not see thy son, nor did I tear him to pieces, neither has the flesh of man entered my mouth all the days of my life.

47 And when Jacob heard the words of the beast he was greatly astonished, and sent forth the best from his hand, and she went her say.

48 And Jacob was still crying aloud and weeping for Joseph day after day, and he mourned for his son many days.

CHAPTER XLIV.

1 And the sons of Ishmael who had bought Joseph from the Midianites, who had bought him from his brethren, went to Egypt with Joseph, and they came upon the borders of Egypt, and when they came near unto Egypt, they met four men of the sons of Medan the son of Abraham, who had gone forth from the land of Egypt on their journey.

2 And the Ishmaelites said unto them, Do you desire to purchase this slave from us? and they said, Deliver him over to us, and they delivered Joseph over to them, and they beheld him, that he was a very comely youth and they purchased him for twenty shekels.

3 And the Ishmaelites continued their journey to Egypt, and the Medanim also returned that day to Egypt, and the Medanim said to each other, Behold we have heard that Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, captain of the guard, seeketh a good servant who shall stand before him to attend him, and to make him overseer over his house and all belonging to him.
4 Now therefore come let us sell him to him for what we may desire, if he be able to give unto us that which we shall require for him.
5 And these Medanim went and came to the house of Potiphar, and said unto him, We have heard that thou seekest a good servant to attend thee, behold we have a servant that will please thee, if thou canst give unto us that which we may desire, and we will sell him unto thee. 6 And Potiphar said, Bring him before me, and I will see him, and if he please me I will give unto you that which you may require for him.
7 And the Medanim went and brought Joseph and placed him before Potiphar, and he saw him, and he pleased him exceedingly, and Potiphar said unto them, Tell me what you require for this youth?
8 And they said, Four hundred pieces of silver we desire for him, and Potiphar said, I will give it you if you bring me the record of his sale to you, and will tell me his history, for perhaps he may be stolen, for this youth is neither a slave, nor the son of a slave, but I observe in him the appearance of a goodly and handsome person.
9 And the Medanim went and brought unto him the Ishmaelites who had sold him to them, and they told him, saying, He is a slave and we sold him to them.
10 And Potiphar heard the words of the Ishmaelites in his giving the silver unto the Medanim, and the Medanim took the silver and went on their journey, and the Ishmaelites also returned home.
11 And Potiphar took Joseph and brought him to his house that he might serve him, and Joseph found favor in the sight of Potiphar, and he placed confidence in him, and made him overseer over his house, and all that belonged to him he delivered over into his hand.
12 And the Lord was with Joseph and he became a prosperous man, and the Lord blessed the house of Potiphar for the sake of Joseph.
13 And Potiphar left all that he had in the hand of Joseph, and Joseph was one that caused things to come in and go out, and everything was regulated by his wish in the house of Potiphar.
14 And Joseph was eighteen years old, a youth with beautiful eyes and of comely appearance, and like unto him was not in the whole land of Egypt.
15 At that time whilst he was in his master's house, going in and out of the house and attending his master, Zelicah, his master's wife, lifted up her eyes toward Joseph and she looked at him, and behold he was a youth comely and well favored.
16 And she coveted his beauty in her heart, and her soul was fixed upon Joseph, and she enticed him day after day, and Zelicah persuaded Joseph daily, but Joseph did not lift up his eyes to behold his master's wife.
17 And Zelicah said unto him, How goodly are thy appearance and form, truly I have looked at al the slaves, and have not seen so beautiful a slave as thou art; and Joseph said unto her, Surely he who created me in my mother's womb created all mankind.
18 And she said unto him, How beautiful are thine eyes, with which thou hast dazzled all the inhabitants of Egypt, men and women; and he said unto her, How beautiful they are whilst we are alive, but shouldst thou behold them in the grave, surely thou wouldst move away from them.
19 And she said unto him, How beautiful and pleasing are all thy words; take now, I pray thee, the harp which is in the house, and play with thy hands and let us hear thy words.
20 And he said unto her, How beautiful and pleasing are my words when I speak the praise of my God and his glory; and she said unto him, How very beautiful is the hair of thy head, behold the golden comb which is in the house, take it I pray thee, and curl the hair of thy head.

21 And he said unto her, How long wilt thou speak these words? cease to utter these words to me, and rise and attend to thy domestic affairs.
22 And she said unto him, There is no one in my house, and there is nothing to attend to but to thy words and to thy wish; yet notwithstanding all this, she could not bring Joseph unto her, neither did he place his eye upon her, but directed his eyes below to the ground.
23 And Zelicah desired Joseph in her heart, that he should lie with her, and at the time that Joseph was sitting in the house doing his work, Zelicah came and sat before him, and she enticed him daily with her discourse to lie with her, or even to look at her, but Joseph would not hearken to her.
24 And she said unto him, If thou wilt not do according to my words, I will chastise thee with the punishment of death, and put an iron yoke upon thee.
25 And Joseph said unto her, Surely God who created man looseth the fetters of prisoners, and it is he who will deliver me from thy prison and from thy judgment.
26 And when she could not prevail over him, to persuade him, and her soul being still fixed upon him, her desire threw her into a grievous sickness.
27 And all the women of Egypt came to visit her, and they said unto her, Why art thou in this declining state? thou that lackest nothing; surely thy husband is a great and esteemed prince in the sight of the king, shouldst thou lack anything of what thy heart desireth?
28 And Zelicah answered them, saying, This day it shall be made known to you, whence this disorder springs in which you see me, and she commanded her maid servants to prepare food for all the women, and she made a banquet for them,a nd all the women ate in the house of Zelicah.
29 And she gave them knives to peel the citrons to eat them, and she commanded that they should dress Joseph in costly garments, and that he should appear before them, and Joseph came before their eyes and all the women looked on Joseph, and could not take their eyes from off him, and they all cut their hands with the knives that they had in their hands, and all the citrons that were in their hands were filled with blood.
30 And they knew not what they had done but they continued to look at the beauty of Joseph, and did not turn their eyelids from him.
31 And Zelicah saw what they had done, and she said unto them, What is this work that you have done? behold I gave you citrons to eat and you have all cut your hands.
32 And all the women saw their hands, and behold they were full of blood, and their blood flowed down upon their garments, and they said unto her, this slave in your house has overcome us, and we could not turn our eyelids from him on account of his beauty.
33 And she said unto them, Surely this happened to you in the moment that you looked at him, and you could not contain yourselves from him; how then can I refrain when he is constantly in my house, and I see him day after day going in and out of my house? how then can I keep from declining or even from perishing on account of this?
34 And they said unto her, the words are true, for who can see this beautiful form in the house and refrain from him, and is he not thy slave and attendant in thy house, and why dost thou not tell him that which is in thy heart, and sufferest thy soul to perish through this matter?
35 And she said unto them, I am daily endeavoring to persuade him, and he will not consent to my wishes, and I promised him everything that is good, and yet I could meet with no return from him; I am therefore in a declining state as you see.
36 And Zelicah became very ill on account of her desire toward Joseph, and she was desperately lovesick on account of him, and all the people of the house of Zelicah and her husband knew nothing of this matter, that Zelicah was ill on account of her love to Joseph.

37 And all the people of her house asked her, saying, Why art thou ill and declining, and lackest nothing? and she said unto them, I know not this thing which is daily increasing upon me.
38 And all the women and her friends came daily to see her, and they spoke with her, and she said unto them, This can only be through the love of Joseph; and they said unto her, Entice him and seize him secretly, perhaps he may hearken to thee, and put off this death from thee.
39 And Zelicah became worse from her love to Joseph, and she continued to decline, till she had scarce strength to stand.
40 And on a certain day Joseph was doing his master's work in the house, and Zelicah came secretly and fell suddenly upon him, and Joseph rose up against her, and he was more powerful than she, and he brought her down to the ground.
41 And Zelicah wept on account of the desire of her heart toward him, and she supplicated him with weeping, and her tears flowed down her cheeks, and she spoke unto him in a voice of supplication and in bitterness of soul, saying,
42 Hast thou ever heard, seen or known of so beautiful a woman as I am, or better than myself, who speak daily unto thee, fall into a decline through love for thee, confer all this honor upon thee, and still thou wilt not hearken to my voice?
43 And if it be through fear of thy master lest he punish thee, as the king liveth no harm shall come to thee from thy master through this thing; now, therefore pray listen to me, and consent for the sake of the honor which I have conferred upon thee, and put off this death from me, and why should I die for thy sake? and she ceased to speak.
44 And Joseph answered her, saying, Refrain from me, and leave this matter to my master; behold my master knoweth not what there is with me in the house, for all that belongeth to him he has delivered into my hand, and how shall I do these things in my master's house?
45 For he hath also greatly honored me in his house, and he hath also made me overseer over his house, and he hath exalted me, and there is no one greater in this house than I am, and my master hath refrained nothing from me, excepting thee who art his wife, how then canst thou speak these words unto me, and how can I do this great evil and sin to God and to thy husband? 46 Now therefore refrain from me, and speak no more such words as these, for I will not hearken to thy words. But Zelicah would not hearken to Joseph when he spoke these words unto her, but she daily enticed him to listen to her.
47 And it was after this that the brook of Egypt was filled above all its sides,and all the inhabitants of Egypt went forth, and also the king and princes went forth with timbrels and dances, for it was a great rejoicing in Egypt, and a holiday at the time of the inundation of the sea Sihor, and they went there to rejoice all the day.
48 And when the Egyptians went out to the river to rejoice, as was their custom, all the people of the house of Potiphar went with them, but Zelicah would not go with them, for she said, I am indisposed, and she remained alone in the house, and no other person was with her in the house.
49 And she rose up and ascended to her temple in the house, and dressed herself in princely garments, and she placed upon her head precious stones of onyx stones, inlaid with silver and gold, and she beautified her face and skin with all sorts of women's purifying liquids, and she perfumed the temple and the house with cassia and frankincense, and she spread myrrh and aloes, and she afterward sat in the entrance of the temple, in the passage of the house, through which Joseph passed to do his work, and behold Joseph came from the field, and entered the house to do his master's work.
50 And he came to the place through which he had to pass, and he saw all the work of Zelicah, and he turned back.
51 And Zelicah saw Joseph turning back from her, and she called out to him, saying What aileth thee Joseph? come to thy work, and behold I will make room for thee until thou shalt have passed to thy seat.

52 And Joseph returned and came to the house, and passed from thence to the place of his seat, and he sat down to do his master's work as usual and behold Zelicah came to him and stood before him in princely garments, and the scent from her clothes was spread to a distance.
53 And she hastened and caught hold of Joseph and his garments, and she said unto him, As the king liveth if thou wilt not perform my request thou shalt die this day, and she hastened and stretched forth her other hand and drew a sword from beneath her garments, and she placed it upon Joseph's neck, and she said, Rise and perform my request, and if not thou diest this day.
54 And Joseph was afraid of her at her doing this thing, and he rose up to flee from her, and she seized the front of his garments, and in the terror of his flight the garment which Zelicah seized was torn, and Joseph left the garment in the hand of Zelicah, and he fled and got out, for he was in fear.
55 And when Zelicah saw that Joseph's garment was torn, and that he had left it in her hand, and had fled, she was afraid of her life, lest the report should spread concerning her, and she rose up and acted with cunning, and put off the garments in which she was dressed, and she put on her other garments.
56 And she took Joseph's garment, and she laid it beside her, and she went and seated herself in the place where she had sat in her illness, before the people of her house had gone out to the river, and she called a young lad who was then in the house, and she ordered him to call the people of the house to her.
57 And when she saw them she said unto them with a loud voice and lamentation, See what a Hebrew your master has brought to me in the house, for he came this day to lie with me.
58 For when you had gone out he came to the house, and seeing that there was no person in the house, he came unto me, and caught hold of me, with intent to lie with me.
59 And I seized his garments and tore them and called out against him with a loud voice, and when I had lifted up my voice he was afraid of his life and left his garment before me, and fled.
60 And the people of her house spoke nothing, but their wrath was very much kindled against Joseph, and they went to his master and told him the words of his wife.
61 And Potiphar came home enraged, and his wife cried out to him, saying, What is this thing that thou hast done unto me in bringing a Hebrew servant into my house, for he came unto me this day to sport with me; thus did he do unto me this day.
62 And Potiphar heard the words of his wife, and he ordered Joseph to be punished with severe stripes, and they did so to him.
63 And whilst they were smiting him, Joseph called out with a loud voice, and he lifted up his eyes to heaven, and he said, O Lord God, thou knowest that I am innocent of all these things, and why shall I die this day through falsehood, by the hand of these uncircumcised wicked men, whom thou knowest?
64 And whilst Potiphar's men were beating Joseph, he continued to cry out and weep, and there was a child there eleven months old, and the Lord opened the mouth of the child, and he spake these words before Potiphar's men, who were smiting Joseph, saying,
65 What do you want of this man, and why do you do this evil unto him? my mother speaketh falsely and uttereth lies; thus was the transaction.
66 And the child told them accurately all that happened, and all the words of Zelicah to Joseph day after day did he declare unto them.
67 And all the men heard the words of the child and they wondered greatly at the child's words, and the child ceased to speak and became still.
68 And Potiphar was very much ashamed at the words of his son, and he commanded his men not to beat Joseph any more, and the men ceased beating Joseph.

69 And Potiphar took Joseph and ordered him to be brought to justice before the priests, who were judges belonging to the king, in order to judge him concerning this affair.
70 And Potiphar and Joseph came before the priests who were the king's judges, and he said unto them, Decide I pray you, what judgment is due to a servant, for thus has he done.
71 And the priests said unto Joseph, Why didst thou do this thing to thy master? and Joseph answered them, saying, Not so my lords, thus was the matter; and Potiphar said unto Joseph, Surely I entrusted in thy hands all that belonged to me, and I withheld nothing from thee but my wife, and how couldst thou do this evil?
72 And Joseph answered saying, Not so my lord, as the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, my lord, the word which thou didst hear from thy wife is untrue, for thus was the affair this day.
73 A year has elapsed to me since I have been in thy house; hast thou seen any iniquity in me, or any thing which might cause thee to demand my life?
74 And the priests said unto Potiphar, Send, we pray thee and let them bring before us Joseph's torn garment, and let us see the tear in it, and if it shall be that the tear is in front of the garment, then his face must have been opposite to her and she must have caught hold of him, to come to her, and with deceit did thy wife do all that she has spoken.
75 And they brought Joseph's garment before the priests who were judges, and they saw and behold the tear was in front of Joseph, and all the judging priests knew that she had pressed him, and they said, The judgment of death is not due to this slave for he has done nothing, but his judgment is, that he be placed in the prison house on account of the report, which through him has gone forth against thy wife.
76 And potiphar heard their words, and he placed him in the prison house, the place where the king's prisoners are confined, and Joseph was in the house of confinement twelve years.
77 And notwithstanding this, his master's wife did not turn from him, and she did not cease from speaking to him day after day to hearken to her, and at the end of three months Zelicah continued going to Joseph to the house of confinement day by day, and she enticed him to hearken to her, and Zelicah said unto Joseph, How long wilt thou remain in this house? but hearken now to my voice, and I will bring thee out of this house.
78 And Joseph answered her, saying, It is better for me to remain in this house than to hearken to thy words, to sin against God; and she said unto him, If thou wilt not perform my wish, I will pluck out thine eyes, add fetters to thy feet, and will deliver thee into the hands of them whom thou didst not know before.
79 And Joseph answered her and said, Behold the God of the whole earth is able to deliver me from all that thou canst do unto me, for he openeth the eyes of the blind, and looseth those that are bound, and preserveth all strangers who are unacquainted with the land.
80 And when Zelicah was unable to persuade Joseph to hearken to her, she left off going to entice him; and Joseph was still confined in the house of confinement. And Jacob the father of Joseph, and all his brethren who were in the land of Canaan still mourned and wept in those days on account of Joseph, for Jacob refused to be comforted for his son Joseph, and Jacob cried aloud, and wept and mourned all those days.

CHAPTER XLV.

1 And it was at that time in that year, which is the year of Joseph's going down to Egypt after his brothers had sold him, that Reuben the son of Jacob went to Timnah and took unto him for a wife Eliuram, the daughter of Avi the Canaanite, and he came to her.

2 And Eliuram the wife of Reuben conceived and bare him Hanoch, Palu, Chetzron and Carmi, four sons; and Simeon his brother took his sister Dinah for a wife, and she bare unto him Memuel, Yamin, Ohad, Jachin and Zochar, five sons.
3 And he afterward came to Bunah the Canaanitish woman, the same is Bunah whom Simeon took captive from the city of Shechem, and Bunah was before Dinah and attended upon her, and Simeon came to her, and she bare unto him Saul.
4 And Judah went at that time to Adulam, and he came to a man of Adulam, and his name was Hirah, and Judah saw there the daughter of a man from Canaan, and her name was Aliyath, the daughter of Shua, and he took her, and came to her, and Aliyath bare unto Judah, Er, Onan and Shiloh; three sons.
5 And Levi and Issachar went to the land of the east, and they took unto themselves for wives the daughters of Jobab the son of Yoktan, the son of Eber; and Jobab the son of Yoktan had two daughters; the name of the elder was Adinah, and the name of the younger was Aridah.
6 And Levi took Adinah, and Issachar took Aridah, and they came to the land of Canaan, to their father's house, and Adinah bare unto Levi, Gershon, Kehath and Merari; three sons.
7 And Aridah bare unto Issachar Tola, Puvah, Job and Shomron, four sons; and Dan went to the land of Moab and took for a wife Aphlaleth, the daughter of Chamudan the Moabite, and he brought her to the land of Canaan.
8 And Aphlaleth was barren, she had no offspring, and God afterward remembered Aphlaleth the wife of Dan, and she conceived and bare a son, and she called his name Chushim.
9 And Gad and Naphtali went to Haran and took from thence the daughters of Amuram the son of Uz, the son of Nahor, for wives.
10 And these are the names of the daughters of Amuram; the name of the elder was Merimah, and the name of the younger Zaith; and Naphtali took Merimah, and Gad took Uzith; and brought them to the land of Canaan, to their father's house.
11 And Merimah bare unto Naphtali Yachzeel, Guni, Jazer and Shalem, four sons; and Uzith bare unto Gad Zephion, Chagi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi and Arali, seven sons.
12 And Asher went forth and took Adon the daughter of Aphlal, the son of Hadad, the son of Ishmael, for a wife, and he brought her to the land of Canaan.
13 And Adon the wife of Asher died in those days; she had no offspring; and it was after the death of Adon that Asher went to the other side of the river and took for a wife Hadurah the daughter of Abimael, the son of Eber, the son of Shem.
14 And the young woman was of a comely appearance, and a woman of sense, and she had been the wife of Malkiel the son of Elam, the son of Shem.
15 And Hadurah bare a daughter unto Malkiel, and he called her name Serach, and Malkiel died after this, and Hadurah went and remained in her father's house.
16 And after the death of the wife of Asher he went and took Hadurah for a wife, and brought her to the land of Canaan, and Serach her daughter he also brought with them, and she was three years old, and the damsel was brought up in Jacob's house.
17 And the damsel was of a comely appearance, and she went in the sanctified ways of the children of Jacob; she lacked nothing, and the Lord gave her wisdom and understanding.
18 And Hadurah the wife of Asher conceived and bare unto him Yimnah, Yishvah, Yishvi and Beriah; four sons.
19 And Zebulun went to Midian, and took for a wife Merishah the daughter of Molad, the son of Abida, the son of Midian, and brought her to the land of Canaan.
20 And Merushah bare unto Zebulun Sered, Elon and Yachleel; three sons.

21 And Jacob sent to Aram, the son of Zoba, the son of Terah, and he took for his son Benjamin Mechalia the daughter of Aram, and she came to the land of Canaan to the house of Jacob; and Benjamin was ten years old when he took Machalia the daughter of Aram for a wife.
22 And Mechalia conceived and bare unto Benjamin Bela, Becher, Ashbel, Gera and Naaman, five sons; and Benjamin went afterward and took for a wife Aribath, the daughter of Shomron, the son of Abraham, in addition to his first wife, and he was eighteen years old; and Aribath bare unto Benjamin Achi, Vosh, Mupim, Chupim, and Ord; five sons.
23 And in those days Judah went to the house of Shem and took Tamar the daughter of Elam, the son of Shem, for a wife for his first born Er.
24 And Er came to his wife Tamar, and she became his wife, and when he came to her he outwardly destroyed his seed, and his work was evil in the sight of the Lord, and the Lord slew him.
25 And it was after the death of Er, Judah's first born, that Judah said unto Onan, go to thy brother's wife and marry her as the next of kin, and raise up seed to thy brother.
26 And Onan took Tamar for a wife and he came to her, and Onan also did like unto the work of his brother, and his work was evil in the sight of the Lord, and he slew him also.
27 And when Onan died, Judah said unto Tamar, Remain in thy father's house until my son Shiloh shall have grown up, and Judah did no more delight in Tamar, to give her unto Shiloh, for he said, Peradventure he will also die like his brothers.
28 And Tamar rose up and went and remained in her father's house, and Tamar was in her father's house for some time.
29 And at the revolution of the year, Aliyath the wife of Judah died; and Judah was comforted for his wife, an dafter the death of Aliyath, Judah went up with his friend Hirah to Timnah to shear their sheep.
30 And Tamar heard that Judah had gone up to Timnah to shear the sheep, and that Shiloh was grown up, and Judah did not delight in her.
31 And Tamar rose up and put off the garments of her widowhood, and she put a vail upon her, and she entirely covered herself, and she went and sat in the public thoroughfare, which is upon the road to Timnah.
32 And Judah passed and saw her and took her and he came to her,and she conceived by him, and at the time of being delivered, behold, there were twins in her womb, and he called the name of the first Perez, and the name of the second Zarah.

CHAPTER XLVI. 1 In those days Joseph was still confined in the prison house in the land of Egypt.
2 At that time the attendants of Pharaoh were standing before him, the chief of the butlers and the chief of the bakers which belonged to the king of Egypt.
3 And the butler took wine and placed it before the king to drink, and the baker placed read before the king to eat, and the king drank of the wine and ate of the bread, he and his servants and ministers that ate at the king's table.
4 And whilst they were eating and drinking, the butler and the baker remained there, and Pharaoh's ministers found many flies in the wine, which the butler had brought, and stones of nitre were found in the baker's bread.
5 And the captain of the guard placed Joseph as an attendant on Pharaoh's officers, and Pharaoh's officers were in confinement one year.
6 And at the end of the year, they both dreamed dreams in one night, in the place of confinement where they were, and in the morning Joseph came to them to attend upon them as usual, and he saw them, and behold their countenances were dejected and sad.
7 And Joseph asked them, Why are your countenances sad and dejected this day?

and they said unto him, We dreamed a dream, and there is no one to interpret it; and Joseph said unto them, Relae, I pray you, your dream unto me, and God shall give you an answer of peace as you desire.
8 And the butler related his dream unto Joseph, and he said, I saw in my dream, and behold a large vine was before me, and upon that vine I saw three branches, and the vine speedily blossomed and reached a great height, and its clusters were ripened and became grapes.
9 And I took the grapes and pressed them in a cup, and placed it in Pharaoh's hand and he drank; and Joseph said unto him, The three branches that were upon the vine are three days.
10 Yet within three days, the king will order thee to be brought out and he will restore thee to thy office, and thou shalt give the king his wine to drink as at first when thou wast his butler; but let me find favor in thy sight, that thou shalt remember me to Pharaoh when it will be well with thee, and do kindness unto me, and get me brought forth from this prison, for I was stolen away from the land of Canaan and was sold for a slave in this place.
11 And also that which was told thee concerning my master's wife is false, for they placed me in this dungeon for naught; and the butler answered Joseph, saying, If the king deal well with me as at first, as thou hast interpreted to me, I will do all that thou desirest, and get thee brought out of this dungeon.
12 And the baker, seeing that Joseph had accurately interpreted the butler's dream, also approached, and related the whole of his dream to Joseph.
13 And he said unto him, In my dream I saw and behold three white baskets upon my head, and I looked, and behold there were in the uppermost basket all manner of baked meats for Pharaoh, and behold the birds were eating them from off my head.
14 And Joseph said unto him, The three baskets which thou didst see are three days, yet within three days Pharaoh will take off thy head, and hang thee upon a tree, and the birds will eat thy flesh from off thee, as thou sawest in thy dream.
15 In those days the queen was about to be delivered, and upon that day she bare a son unto the king of Egypt, and they proclaimed that the king had gotten his first born son and all the people of Egypt together with the officers and servants of Pharaoh rejoiced greatly.
16 And upon the third day of his birth Pharaoh made a feast for his officers and servants, for the hosts of the land of Zoar and of the land of Egypt.
17 And all the people of Egypt and the servants of Pharaoh came to eat and drink with the king at the feast of his son, and to rejoice at the king's rejoicing.
18 And all the officers of the king and his servants were rejoicing at that time for eight days at the feast, and they made merry with all sorts of musical instruments, with timbrels and with dances in the king's house for eight days.
19 And the butler, to whom Joseph had interpreted his dream, forgot Joseph,and he did not mention him to the king as he had promised, for this thing was from the Lord in order to punish Joseph because he had trusted in man.
20 And Joseph remained after this in the prison house two years, until he had completed twelve years.

CHAPTER XLVII.

1 And Isaac the son of Abraham was still living in those days in the land of Canaan; he was very aged, one hundred and eighty years old, and Esau his son, the brother of Jacob, was in the land of Edom, and he and his sons had possessions in it amongst the children of Seir.
2 And Esau heard that his father's time was drawing nigh to die, and he and his sons and household came unto the land of Canaan, unto his father's house, and Jacob and his sons went forth from the place where they dwelt in Hebron, and they all came to their father Isaac, and they found Esau and his sons in the tent.

3 And Jacob and his sons sat before his father Isaac, and Jacob was still mourning for his son Joseph.
4 And Isaac said unto Jacob, Bring me hither thy sons and I will bless them; and Jacob brought his eleven children before his father Isaac.
5 And Isaac placed his hands upon all the sons of Jacob, and he took hold of them and embraced them, and kissed them one by one, and Isaac blessed them on that day, and he said unto them, May the God of your fathers bless you and increase your seed like the stars of heaven for number.
6 And Isaac also blessed the sons of Esau, saying, May God cause you to be a dread and a terror to all that will behold you, and to all your enemies.
7 And Isaac called Jacob and his sons, and they all came and sat before Isaac, and Isaac said unto Jacob, The Lord God of the whole earth said unto me, Unto thy seed will I give this land for an inheritance if thy children keep my statutes and my ways, and I will perform unto them the oath which I swore unto thy father Abraham.
8 Now therefore my son, teach thy children and thy children's children to fear the Lord, and to go in the good way which will please the Lord thy God, for if you keep the ways of the Lord and his statutes the Lord will also keep unto you his covenant with Abraham, and will do well with you and your seed all the days.
9 And when Isaac had finished commanding Jacob and his children, he gave up the ghost and died, and was gathered unto his people.
10 And Jacob and Esau fell upon the face of their father Isaac, and they wept, and Isaac was one hundred and eighty years old when he died in the land of Canaan, in Hebron, and his sons carried him to the cave of Machpelah, which Abraham had bought from the children of Heth for a possession of a burial place.
11 And all the kings of the land of Canaan went with Jacob and Esau to bury Isaac, and all the kings of Canaan showed Isaac great honor at his death.
12 And the sons of Jacob and the sons of Esau went barefooted round about, walking and lamenting until they reached Kireath-arba.
13 And Jacob and Esau buried their father Isaac in the cave of Machpelah, which is in Kireath-arba in Hebron, and they buried him with very great honor, as at the funeral of kings.
14 And Jacob and his sons, and Esau and his sons, and all the kings of Canaan made a great and heavy mourning, and they buried him and mourned for him many days.
15 And at the death of Isaac, he left his cattle and his possessions and all belonging to him to his sons; and Esau said unto Jacob, Behold I pray thee, all that our father has left we will divide it in two parts, and I will have the choice, and Jacob said, We will do so.
16 And Jacob took all that Isaac had left in the land of Canaan, the cattle and the property, and he placed them in two parts before Esau and his sons, and he said unto Esau, Behold al this is before thee, choose thou unto thyself the half which thou wilt take.
17 And Jacob said unto Esau, Hear thou I pray thee what I will speak unto thee, saying, The Lord God of heaven and earth spoke unto our fathers Abraham and Isaac, saying, Unto thy seed will I give this land for an inheritance forever.
18 Now therefore all that our father has left is before thee, and behold all the land is before thee; choose thou from them what thou desirest.
19 If thou desirest the whole land take it for thee and thy children forever, and I will take this riches, and if thou desirest the riches take it unto thee, and I will take this land for me and for my children to inherit it forever.

20 And Nebayoth, the son of Ishmael, was then in the land with his children, and Esau went on that day and consulted with him saying,
21 Thus has Jacob spoken unto me, and thus has he answered me, now give thy advice and we will hear.
22 And Nebayoth said, What is this that Jacob hath spoken unto thee? behold all the children of Canaan are dwelling securely in their land, an Jacob sayeth he will inherit it with his seed all the days.
23 Go now therefore and take all thy father's riches and leave Jacob thy brother in the land, as he has spoken. 24 And Esau rose up and returned to Jacob, and did all that Nebayoth the son of Ishmael had advised; and Esau took all the riches that Isaac had left, the souls, the beasts, the cattle and the property, and all the riches; he gave nothing to his brother Jacob; and Jacob took all the land of Canaan, from the brook of Egypt unto the river Euphrates, and he took it for an everlasting possession, and for his children and for his seed after him forever.
25 Jacob also took from his brother Esau the cave of Machpelah, which is in Hebron, which Abraham had bought from Ephron for a possession of a burial place for him and his seed for ever.
26 And Jacob wrote all these things in the book of purchase, and he signed it, and he testified all this with four faithful witnesses.
27 And these are the words which Jacob wrote in the book, saying: The land of Canaan and all the cities of the Hittites, the Hivites, the Jebusites, the Amorites, the Perizzites,and the Gergashites, all the seven nations from the river of Egypt unto the river Euphrates.
28 And the city of Hebron Kireath-arba, and the cave which is in it, the whole did Jacob buy from his brother Esau for value, for a possession and for an inheritance for his seed after him forever.
29 And Jacob took the book of purchase and the signature, the command and the statutes and the revealed book, and he placed them in an earthen vessel in order that they should remain for a long time, and he delivered them into the hands of his children.
30 Esau took all that his father had left him after his death from his brother Jacob, and he took all the property, from man and beast, camel and ass, ox and lamb, silver and gold, stones and bdellium, and all the riches which had belonged to Isaac the son of Abraham; there was nothing left which Esau did not take unto himself, from all that Isaac had left after his death.
31 And Esau took all this, and he and his children went home to the land of Seir the Horite, away from his brother Jacob and his children.
32 And Esau had possessions amongst the children of Seir, and Esau returned not to the land of Canaan from that day forward.
33 And the whole land of Canaan became an inheritance to the children of Israel for an everlasting inheritance, and Esau with all his children inherited the mountain of Seir.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

1 In those days, after the death of Isaac, the Lord commanded and caused a famine upon the whole earth.
2 At that time Pharaoh king of Egypt was sitting upon his throne in the land of Egypt, and lay in his bed and dreamed dreams, and Pharaoh saw in his dream that he was standing by the side of the river of Egypt.
3 And whilst he was standing he saw and behold seven fat fleshed and well favored kine came up out of the river.
4 And seven other kine, lean fleshed and ill favored, came up after them, and the seven ill favored ones swallowed up the well favored ones, and still their appearance was ill as at first. 5 And he awoke, and he slept again and he dreamed a second time, and he saw and behold seven ears of corn came up upon one stalk, rank and good, and seven thin ears blasted with the east wind sprang up after them, and the thin ears swallowed up the full ones, and Pharaoh awoke out of his dream.

6 And in the morning the king remembered his dreams, and his spirit was sadly troubled on account of his dreams, and the king hastened and sent and called for all the magicians of Egypt, and the wise men, and they came and stood before Pharaoh.
7 And the king said unto them, I have dreamed dreams,a dn there is none to interpret them; and they said unto the king, relate thy dreams to thy servants and let us hear them.
8 And the king related his dreams to them, and they all answered and said with one voice to the king, may the king live for ever; and this is the interpretation of thy dreams.
9 The seven good kine which thou didst see denote seven daughters that will be born unto thee in the latter days, and the seven kine which thou sawest come up after them, and swallowed them up, are for a sign that the daughters which will be born unto thee will all die in the life-time of the king.
10 And that which thou didst see in the second dream of seven full good ears of corn coming up upon one stalk, this is their interpretation, that thou wilt build unto thyself in the latter days seven cities throughout the land of Egypt; and that which thou sawest of the seven blasted ears of corn springing up after them and swallowing them up whilst thou didst behold them with thine eyes, is for a sign that the cities which thou wilt build will all be destroyed in the latter days, in the life-time of the king.
11 And when they spoke these words the king did not incline his ear to their words, neither did he fix his heart upon them, for the king knew in his wisdom that they did not give a proper interpretation of the dreams; and when they had finished speaking before the king, the king answered them, saying, What is this thing that you have spoken unto me? surely you have uttered falsehood and spoken lies; therefore now give the proper interpretation of my dreams, that you may not die.
12 And the king commanded after this, and he sent and called again for other wise men, and they came and stood before the king, and the king related his dreams to them, and they all answered him according to the first interpretation, and the king's anger was kindled and he was very wroth, and the king said unto them, Surely you speak lies and utter falsehood in what you have said.
13 And the king commanded that a proclamation should be issued throughout the land of Egypt, saying, It is resolved by the king and his great men, that any wise man who knoweth and understandeth the interpretation of dreams, and will not come this day before the king, he shall die.
14 And the man that will declare unto the king the proper interpretation of his dreams, there shall be given unto him all that he will require from the king. And all the wise men of the land of Egypt came before the king, together with all the magicians and sorcerers that were in Egypt and in Goshen, in Raamses, in Tachpanches, in Zoar, and in all the places on the borders of Egypt, and they all stood before the king. 15 And all the nobles and the princes, and the attendants belonging to the king, came together from all the cities of Egypt, and they all sat before the king, and the king related his dreams before the wise men, and the princes, and all that sat before the king were astonished at the vision.
16 And all the wise men who were before the king were greatly divided in their interpretation of his dreams; some of them interpreted them to the king, saying, The seven good kine are seven kings, who from the king's issue will be raised over Egypt.
17 And the seven bad kine are seven princes, who will stand up against them in the latter days and destroy them; and the seven ears of corn are the seven great princes belonging to Egypt, who will fall in the hands of the seven less powerful princes of their enemies, in the wars of our lord the king.

18 And some of them interpreted to the king in this manner, saying, The seven good kine are the strong cities of Egypt, and the seven bad kine are the seven nations of the land of Canaan, who will come against the seven cities of Egypt in the latter days and destroy them.
19 And that which thou sawest in the second dream, of seven good and bad ears of corn, is a sign that the government of Egypt will again return to thy seed as at first.
20 And in his reign the people of the cities of Egypt will turn against the seven cities of Canaan who are stronger than they are, and will destroy them, and the government of Egypt will return to thy seed.
21 And some of them said unto the king, This is the interpretation of thy dreams; the seven good kine are seven queens, whom thou wilt take for wives in the latter days, and the seven bad kine denote that those women will all die in the lifetime of the king.
22 And the seven good and bad ears of corn which thou didst see in the second dream are fourteen children, and it will be in the latter days that they will stand up and fight amongst themselves,and seven of them will smite the seven that are more powerful.
23 And some of them said these words unto the king, saying, The seven good kine denote that seven children will be born to thee,and they will slay seven of thy children's children in the latter days; and the seven good ears of corn which thou didst see in the second dream, are those princes against whom seven other less powerful princes fill fight and destroy them in the latter days, and avenge thy children's cause, and the government will again return to thy seed.
24 And the king heard all the words of the wise men of Egypt and their interpretation of his dreams, and none of them pleased the king.
25 And the king knew in his wisdom that they did not altogether speak correctly in all these words, for this was from the Lord to frustrate the words of the wise men of Egypt, in order that Joseph might go froth from the house of confinement, and in order that he should become great in Egypt.
26 And the king saw that none amongst all the wise men and magicians of Egypt spoke correctly to him, and the king's wrath was kindled, and his anger burned within him. 27 And the king commanded that all the wise men and magicians should go out from before him, and they all went out from before the king with shame and disgrace.
28 And the king commanded that a proclamation be sent throughout Egypt to slay all the magicians that were in Egypt, and not one of them should be suffered to live.
29 And the captains of the guards belonging to the king rose up, and each man drew his sword, and they began to smite the magicians of Egypt, and the wise men.
30 And after this Merod, chief butler to the king, came and bowed down before the king and sat before him.
31 And the butler said unto the king, May the king live forever, and his government be exalted in the land.
32 Thou wast angry with thy servant in those days, now two years past, and didst place me in the ward, and I was for some time in the ward,I and the chief of the bakers.
33 And there was with us a Hebrew servant belonging to the captain of the guard, his name was Joseph, for his master had been angry with him and placed him in the house of confinement, and he attended us there.
34 And in some time after when we were in the ward, we dreamed dreams in one night, I and the chief of the bakers; we dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dream.
35 And we came in the morning and told them to that servant,and he interpreted to us our dreams, to each man according to his dream, did he correctly interpret.

36 And it came to pass as he interpreted to us, so was the event; there fell not to the ground any of his words.
37 And now therefore my lord and king do not slay the people of Egypt for naught; behold that slave is still confined in the house by the captain of the guard his master, in the house of confinement.
38 If it pleaseth the king let him send for him that he may come before thee and he will make known to thee, the correct interpretation of the dream which thou didst dream.
39 And the king heard the words of the chief butler, and the king ordered that the wise men of Egypt should not be slain.
40 And the king ordered his servants to bring Joseph before him, and the king said unto them, Go to him and do not terrify him lest he be confused and will not know to speak properly.
41 And the servants of the king went to Joseph, and they brought him hastily out of the dungeon, and the king's servants shaved him, and he changed his prison garment and he came before the king.
42 And the king was sitting upon his royal throne in a princely dress girt around with a golden ephod, and the fine gold which was upon it sparkled, and the carbuncle and the ruby and the emerald, together with all the precious stones that were upon the king's head, dazzled the eye, and Joseph wondered greatly at the king.
43 And the throne upon which the king sat was covered with gold and silver, and with onyx stones, and it had seventy steps.
44 And it was their custom throughout the land of Egypt, that every man who came to speak to the king, if he was a prince or one that was estimable in the sight of the king, he ascended to the king's throne as far as the thirty-first step, and the king would descend to the thirty-sixth step, and speak with him.
45 If he was one of the common people, he ascended to the third step, and the king would descend to the fourth and speak to him, and their custom was, moreover, that any man who understood to speak in all the seventy languages, he ascended the seventy steps, and went up and spoke till he reached the king.
46 And any man who could not complete the seventy, he ascended as many steps as the languages which he knew to speak in.
47 And it was customary in those days in Egypt that no one should reign over them, but who understood to speak in the seventy languages.
48 And when Joseph came before the king he bowed down to the ground before the king, and he ascended tothe third step, and the king sat upon the fourth step and spoke with Joseph.
49 And the king said unto Joseph, I dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter to interpret it properly, and I commanded this day that all the magicians of Egypt and the wise men thereof, should come before me, and I related my dreams to them, and no one has properly interpreted them to me.
50 And after this I this day heard concerning thee, that thou art a wise man, and canst correctly interpret every dream that thou hearest.
51 And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, Let Pharaoh relate his dreams that he dreamed; surely the interpretations belong to God; and Pharaoh related his dreams to Joseph, the dream of the kine, and the dream of the ears of corn, and the king left off speaking.
52 And Joseph was then clothed with the spirit of God before the king, and he knew all the things that would befall the king from that day forward, and he knew the proper interpretation of the king's dream, and he spoke before the king.
53 And Joseph found favor in the sight of the king, and the king inclined his ears and his heart, and he heard all the words of Joseph. And Joseph said unto the king, Do not imagine that they are two dreams, for it is only one dream, for that which God has chosen to do throughout the land he has shown to the king in his dream, and this is the proper interpretation of thy dream:

54 The seven good kine and ears of corn are seven years,and the seven bad kine and ears of corn are also seven years; it is one dream.
55 Behold the seven years that are coming there will be a great plenty throughout the land, and after that the seven years of famine will follow them, a very grievous famine, and all the plenty will be forgotten from the land, and the famine will consume all the inhabitants of the land.
56 The king dreamed one dream, and the dream was therefore repeated unto Pharaoh because the thing is established by God, and God will shortly bring it to pass.
57 Now therefore I will give thee counsel and deliver thy soul and the souls of the inhabitants of the land from the evil of the famine, that thou seek throughout thy kingdom for a man very discreet and wise, who knoweth all the affairs of government, and appoint him to superintend over the land of Egypt.
58 And let the man whom thou placest over Egypt appoint officers under him, that they gather in all the food of the good years that are coming, and let them lay up corn and deposit it in thy appointed stores.
59 And let them keep that food for the seven years of famine, that it may be found for thee and thy people and thy whole land, and that thou and thy land be not cut off by the famine.
60 Let all the inhabitants of the land be also ordered that they gather in, every man the produce of his field, of all sorts of food, during the seven good years, and that they place it in their stores, that it may be found for them in the days of the famine and that they may live upon it.
61 This is the proper interpretation of thy dream, and this is the counsel given to save thy soul and the souls of all thy subjects.
62 And the king answered and said unto Joseph, Who sayeth and who knoweth that thy words are correct? And he said unto the king, This shall be a sign for thee respecting all my words, that they are true and that my advice is good for thee.
63 Behold thy wife siteth this day upon the stool of delivery, and she will bear thee a son and thou wilt rejoice with him; when thy child shall have gone forth from his mother's womb, thy first born son that has been born these two years back shall die, and thou wilt be comforted in the child that will be born unto thee this day.
64 And Joseph finished speaking these words to the king,a nd he bowed down to the king and he went out, and when Joseph had gone out from the king's presence, those signs which Joseph had spoken unto the king came to pass on that day.
65 And the queen bare a son on that day and the king heard the glad tidings about his son, and he rejoiced, and when the reporter had gone forth from the king's presence, the king's servants found the first born son of the king fallen dead upon the ground.
66 And there was great lamentation and noise in the king's house,a nd the king heard it, and he said, What is the noise and lamentation that I have heard in the house? and they told the king that his first born son had died; then the king knew that all Joseph's words that he had spoken were correct, and the king was consoled for his son by the child that was born to him on that day as Joseph had spoken.

CHAPTER XLIX.

1 After these things the king sent and assembled all his officers and servants, and all the princes and nobles belonging to the king, and they all came before the king.
2 And the king said unto them, Behold you have seen and heard all the words of this Hebrew man, and all the signs which he declared would come to pass, and not any of his words have fallen to the ground.
3 You know that he has given a proper interpretation of the dream, and it will surely come to pass, now therefore take counsel, and know what you will do and how the land will be delivered from the famine.

4 Seek now and see whether the like can be found, in whose heart there is wisdom and knowledge, and I will appoint him over the land. 5 For you have heard what the Hebrew man has advised concerning this to save the land therewith from the famine, and I know that the land will not be delivered from the famine but with the advice of the Hebrew man, him that advised me.
6 And they all answered the king and said, The counsel which the Hebrew has given concerning this is good; now therefore, our lord and king, behold the whole land is in thy hand, do that which seemeth good in thy sight.
7 Him whom thou chosest, and whom thou in thy wisdom knowest to be wise and capable of delivering the land with his wisdom, him shall the king appoint to be under him over the land.
8 And the king said to all the officers: I have thought that since God has made known to the Hebrew man all that he has spoken, there is none so discreet and wise in the whole land as he is; if it seem good in your sight I will place him over the land, for he will save the land with his wisdom.
9 And all the officers answered the king and said, But surely it is written in the laws of Egypt, and it should not be violated, that no man shall reign over Egypt, nor be the second to the king, but one who has knowledge in all the languages of the sons of men.
10 Now therefore our lord and king, behold this Hebrew man can only speak the Hebrew language, and how then can he be over us the second under government, a man who not even knoweth our language?
11 Now we pray thee send for him, and let him come before thee, and prove him in all things, and do as thou seest fit.
12 And the king said, It shall be done to-morrow, and the thing that you have spoken is good; and all the officers came on that day before the king.
13 And on that night the Lord sent one of his ministering angels, and he came into the land of Egypt unto Joseph, and the angel of the Lord stood over Joseph, and behold Joseph was lying in the bed at night in his master's house in the dungeon, for his master had put him back into the dungeon on account of his wife.
14 And the angel roused him from his sleep, and Joseph rose up and stood upon his legs, and behold the angel of the Lord was standing opposite to him; and the angel of the Lord spoke with Joseph, and he taught him all the languages of man in that night, and he called his name Jehoseph.
15 And the angel of the Lord went from him, and Joseph returned and lay upon his bed, and Joseph was astonished at the vision which he saw.
16 And it came to pass in the morning that the king sent for all his officers and servants, and they all came and sat before the king, and the king ordered Joseph to be brought,and the king's servants went and brought Joseph before Pharaoh.
17 And the king came forth and ascended the steps of the throne, and Joseph spoke unto the king in all languages, and Joseph went up to him and spoke unto the king until he arrived before the king in the seventieth step, and he sat before the king.
18 And the king greatly rejoiced on account of Joseph, and all the king's officers rejoiced greatly with the king when they heard all the words of Joseph.
19 And the thing seemed good in the sight of the king and the officers, to appoint Joseph to be second to the king over the whole land of Egypt, and the king spoke to Joseph, saying,
20 Now thou didst give me counsel to appoint a wise man over the land of Egypt, in order with his wisdom to save the land from the famine; now therefore, since God has made all this known to thee, and all the words which thou hast spoken, there is not throughout the land a discreet and wise man like unto thee.

21 And thy name no more shall be called Joseph, but Zaphnath Paaneah shall be thy name; thou shalt be second to me, and according to thy word shall be all the affairs of my government, and at thy word shall my people go out and come in.
22 Also from under thy hand shall my servants and officers receive their salary which is given to them monthly, and to thee shall all the people of the land bow down; only in my throne will I be greater than thou.
23 And the king took off his ring from his hand and put it upon the hand of Joseph, and the king dressed Joseph in a princely garment, and he put a golden crown upon his head,and he put a golden chain upon his neck.
24 And the king commanded his servants, and they made him ride in the second chariot belonging to the king, that went opposite to the king's chariot, and he caused him to ride upon a great and strong horse from the king's horses, and to be conducted through the streets of the land of Egypt.
25 And the king commanded that all those that played upon timbrels, harps and other musical instruments should go forth with Joseph; one thousand timbrels, one thousand mecholoth, and one thousand nebalim went after him.
26 And five thousand men, with drawn swords glittering in their hands, and they went marching and playing before Joseph, and twenty thousand of the great men of the king girt with girdles of skin covered with gold, marched at the right hand of Joseph, and twenty thousand a his left, and all the women and damsels went upon the roofs or stood in the streets playing and rejoicing at Joseph, and gazed at the appearance of Joseph and at his beauty.
27 And the king's people went before him and behind him, perfuming the road with frankincense and with cassia, and with all sorts of fine perfume, and scattered myrrh and aloes along the road, and twenty men proclaimed these words before him throughout the land in a loud voice:
28 Do you see this man whom the king has chosen to be his second? all the affairs of government shall be regulated by him, and he that transgresses his orders, or that does not bow down before him to the ground, shall die, for he rebels against the king and his second.
29 And when the heralds had ceased proclaiming, all the people of Egypt bowed down to the ground before Joseph and said, May the king live, also may his second live; and all the inhabitants of Egypt bowed down along the road, and when the heralds approached them, they bowed down, and they rejoiced with all sorts of timbrels, mechol and nebal before Joseph.
30 And Joseph upon his horse lifted up his eyes to heaven, and called out and said, He raiseth the poor man from the dust, He lifteth up the needy from the dunghill. O Lord of Hosts, happy is the man who trusteth in thee. 31 And Joseph passed throughout the land of Egypt with Pharaoh's servants and officers, and they showed him the whole land of Egypt and all the king's treasures.
32 And Joseph returned and came on that day before Pharaoh, and the king gave unto Joseph a possession in the land of Egypt, a possession of fields and vineyards, and the king gave unto Joseph three thousand talents of silver and one thousand talents of gold, and onyx stones and bdellium and many gifts.
33 And on the next day the king commanded all the people of Egypt to bring unto Joseph offerings and gifts, and that he that violated the command of the king should die; and they made a high place in the street of the city, and they spread out garments there, and whoever brought anything to Joseph put it into the high place.
34 And all the people of Egypt cast something into the high place, one man a golden ear-ring, and the other rings and ear-rings, and different vessels of gold and silver work, and onyx stones and bdellium did he cast upon the high place; every one gave something of what he possessed.
35 And Joseph took all these and placed them in his treasuries, and all the officers and nobles belonging to the king exalted Joseph, and they gave him many gifts, seeing that the king had chosen him to be his second.

36 And the king sent to Potiphera, the son of Ahiram priest of On, and he took his young daughter Osnath and gave her unto Joseph for a wife.
37 And the damsel was very comely, a virgin, one whom man had not known, and Joseph took her for a wife; and the king said unto Joseph, I am Pharaoh, and beside thee none shall dare to lift up his hand or his foot to regulate my people throughout the land of Egypt.
38 And Joseph was thirty years old when he stood before Pharaoh, and Joseph went out from before the king, and he became the king's second in Egypt.
39 And the king gave Joseph a hundred servants to attend him in his house, and Joseph also sent and purchased many servants and they remained in the house of Joseph.
40 Joseph then built for himself a very magnificent house like unto the houses of kings, before the court of the king's palace,a nd he made in the house a large temple, very elegant in appearance and convenient for his residence: three years was Joseph in erecting his house.
41 And Joseph made unto himself a very elegant throne of abundance of gold and silver, and he covered it with onyx stones and bdellium, and he made upon it the likeness of the whole land of Egypt, and the likeness of the river of Egypt that watereth the whole land of Egypt; and Joseph sat securely upon his throne in his house and the Lord increased Joseph's wisdom.
42 And all the inhabitants of Egypt and Pharaoh's servants and his princes loved Joseph exceedingly, for this thing was from the Lord to Joseph.
43 And Joseph had an army that made war, going out in hosts and troops to the number of forty thousand six hundred men, capable of bearing arms to assist the king and Joseph against the enemy, besides the king's officers and his servants and inhabitants of Egypt without number.
44 And Joseph gave unto his mighty men, and to all his host, shields and javelins, and caps and coats of mail and stones for slinging.

CHAPTER L.

1 At that time the children of Tarshish came against the sons of Ishmael, and made war with them, and the children of Tarshish spoiled the Ishmaelites for a long time.
2 And the children of Ishmael were small in number in those days, and they could not prevail over the children of Tarshish, and they were sorely oppressed.
3 And the old men of the Ishmaelites sent a record to the king of Egypt, saying, Send I pray thee unto thy servants officers and hosts to help us to fight against the children of Tarshish, for we have been consuming away for a long time.
4 And Pharaoh sent Joseph with the mighty men and host which were with him, and also his mighty men from the king's house.
5 And they went to the land of Havilah to the children of Ishmael, to assist them against the children of Tarshish, and the children of Ishmael fought with the children of Tarshish, and Joseph smote the Tarshishites and he subdued all their land, and the children of Ishmael dwell therein unto this day.
6 And when the land of Tarshish was subdued, all the Tarshishites ran away, and came on the border of their brethren the children of Javan, and Joseph with all his mighty men and host returned to Egypt, not one man of them missing.
7 And at the revolution of the year, in the second year of Joseph's reigning over Egypt, the Lord gave great plenty throughout the land for seven years as Joseph had spoken, for the Lord blessed all the produce of the earth in those days for seven years, and they ate and were greatly satisfied.
8 And Joseph at that time had officers under him, and they collected all the food of the good years, and heaped corn year by year, and they placed it in the treasuries of Joseph.

9 And at any time when they gathered the food Joseph commanded that they should bring the corn in the ears, and also being with it some of the soil of the field, that it should not spoil.
10 And Joseph did according to this year by year, and he heaped up corn like the sand of the sea for abundance, for his stores were immense and could not be numbered for abundance.
11 And also all the inhabitants of Egypt gathered all sorts of food in their stores in great abundance during the seven good years, but they did not do unto it as Joseph did.
12 And all the food which Joseph and the Egyptians had gathered during the seven years of Plenty, was secured for the land in stores for the seven years of famine, for the support of the whole land.
13 And the inhabitants of Egypt filled each man his store and his concealed place with corn, to be for support during the famine.
14 And Joseph placed all the food that he had gathered in all the cities of Egypt, and he closed all the stores and placed sentinels over them. 15 And Joseph's wife Osnath the daughter of Potiphera bare him two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim, and Joseph was thirty-four years old when he begat them.
16 And the lads grew up and they went in his ways and in his instructions, they did not deviate from the way which their father taught them, either to the right or left.
17 And the Lord was with the lads, and they grew up and had understanding and skill in all wisdom and in all the affairs of government, and all the king's officers and his great men of the inhabitants of Egypt exalted the lads, and they were brought up amongst the king's children.
18 And the seven years of plenty that were throughout the land were at an end, and the seven years of famine came after them as Joseph had spoken, and the famine was throughout the land.
19 And all the people of Egypt saw that the famine had commenced in the land of Egypt, and all the people of Egypt opened their stores of corn for the famine prevailed over them.
20 And they found all the food that was in their stores, full of vermin and not fit to et,and the famine prevailed throughout the land, and all the inhabitants of Egypt came and cried before Pharaoh, for the famine was heavy upon them.
21 And they said unto Pharaoh, Give food unto thy servants,a nd wherefore shall we die through hunger before thy eyes, even we and our little ones?
22 And Pharaoh answered them, saying, And wherefore do you cry unto me? did not Joseph command that the corn should be laid up during the seven years of plenty for the years of famine? and wherefore did you not hearken to his voice?
23 And the people of Egypt answered the king, saying, As thy soul liveth, our lord, thy servants have done all that Joseph ordered, for thy servants also gathered in all the produce of their fields during the seven years of plenty and laid it in the stores unto this day.
24 And when the famine prevailed over thy servants we opened our stores, and behold all our produce was filled with vermin and was not fit for food.
25 And when the king heard all that had befallen the inhabitants of Egypt, the king was greatly afraid on account of the famine, and he was much terrified; and the king answered the people of Egypt, saying, Since all this has happened unto you, go unto Joseph, do whatever he shall say unto you, transgress not his commands.
26 And all the people of Egypt went forth and came unto Joseph, and said unto him, Give unto us food, and wherefore shall we die before thee through hunger? for we gathered in our produce during the seven years as thou didst command, and we put it in store, and thus has it befallen us.
27 And when Joseph heard al the words of the people of Egypt and what had befallen them, Joseph opened all his stores of the produce and he sold it unto the people of Egypt.

28 And the famine prevailed throughout the land, and the famine was in all countries, but in the land of Egypt there was produce for sale.
29 And all the inhabitants of Egypt came unto Joseph to buy corn, for the famine prevailed over them, and all their corn was spoiled, and Joseph daily sold it to all the people of Egypt.
30 And all the inhabitants of the land of Canaan and the Philistines, and those beyond the Jordan, and the children of the east and all the cities of the lands far and nigh heard that there was corn in Egypt, and they all came to Egypt to buy corn, for the famine prevailed over them.
31 And Joseph opened the stores of corn and placed officers over them, and they daily stood and sold to all that came.
32 And Joseph knew that his brethren also would come to egypt to buy corn, for the famine prevailed throughout the earth. And Joseph commanded al his people that they should cause it to be proclaimed throughout the land of Egypt, saying,
33 It is the pleasure of the king, of his second and of their great men, that any person who wishes to buy corn in Egypt shall not send his servants to Egypt to purchase, but his sons, and also any Egyptian or Canaanite, who shall come from any of the stores from buying corn in Egypt, and shall go and sell it throughout the land, he shall die, of for one shall buy but for the support of his household.
34 And any man leading two or three beasts shall die, for a man shall only lead his own beast.
35 And Joseph placed sentinels at the gates of Egypt, and commanded them, saying, Any person who may come to buy corn, suffer him not to enter until his name, and the name of his father, and the name of his father's father be written down, and whatever is written by day, send their names unto me in the evening that I may know their names.
36 And Joseph placed officers throughout the land of Egypt, and he commanded them to do all these things.
37 And Joseph did all these things, and made these statutes, in order that he might know when his brethren should come to Egypt to buy corn; and Joseph's people caused it daily to be proclaimed in Egypt according to these words and statutes which Joseph had commanded.
38 And all the inhabitants of the east and west country, and of all the earth, heard of the statutes and regulations which Joseph had enacted in Egypt, and the inhabitants of the extreme parts of the earth came and they bought corn in Egypt day after day, and then went away.
39 And all the officers of Egypt did as Joseph had commanded, and all that came to Egypt to buy corn, the gate keepers would write their names, and their fathers' names, and daily bring them in the evening before Joseph.

CHAPTER LI.

1 And Jacob afterward heard that there was corn in Egypt, and he called unto his sons to go to Egypt to buy corn, for upon them also did the famine prevail, and he called unto his sons, saying,
2 Behold I hear that there is corn in Egypt, and all the people of the earth go there to purchase, now therefore why will you show yourselves satisfied before the whole earth? go you also down to Egypt and buy us a little corn amongst those that come there, that we may not die.
3 And the sons of Jacob hearkened to the voice of their father, and they rose up to go down to Egypt in order to buy corn amongst the rest that came there.
4 And Jacob their father commanded them, saying, When you come into the city do not enter together in one gate, on account of the inhabitants of the land.
5 And the sons of Jacob went forth and they went to Egypt, and the sons of Jacob did all as their father had commanded them, and Jacob did not send Benjamin, for he said, Lest an accident might befall him on the road like his brother; and ten of Jacob's sons went forth.

6 And whilst the sons of Jacob were going on the road, they repented of what they had done to Joseph, and they spoke to each other, saying, We know that our brother Joseph went down to Egypt, and now we will seek him where we go, and if we find him we will take him from his master for a ransom, and if not, by force, and we will die for him.
7 And the sons of Jacob agreed to this thing and strengthened themselves on account of Joseph, to deliver him from the hand of his master, and the sons of Jacob went to Egypt; and when they came near to egypt they separated from each other, and they came through ten gates of Egypt, and the gate keepers wrote their names on that day, and brought them to Joseph in the evening.
8 And Joseph read the names from the hand of the gate-keepers of the city, and he found that his brethren had entered at the ten gates of the city, and Joseph at that time commanded that it should be proclaimed throughout the land of Egypt, saying,
9 Go forth all ye store guards, close all the corn stores and let only one remain open, that those who come may purchase from it.
10 And all the officers of Joseph did so at that time, and they closed all the stores and left only one open.
11 And Joseph gave the written names of his brethren to him that was set over the open store, and he said unto him, Whosoever shall come to thee to buy corn, ask his name, and when men of these names shall come before thee, seize them and send them, and they did so.
12 And when the sons of Jacob came into the city, they joined together in the city to seek Joseph before they bought themselves corn.
13 And they went to the walls of the harlots, and they sought Joseph in the walls of the harlots for three days, for they thought that Joseph would come in the walls of the harlots, for Joseph was very comely and well favored, and the sons of Jacob sought Joseph for three days, and they could not find him.
14 And the man who was set over the open store sought for those names which Joseph had given him, and he did not find them.
15 And he sent to Joseph, saying, These three days have passed, and those men whose names thou didst give unto me have not come; and Joseph sent servants to seek the men in all Egypt, and to bring them before Joseph.
16 And Joseph's servants went and came into Egypt and could not find them, and went to Goshen and they were not there, and then went to the city of Raamses and could not find them.
17 And Joseph continued to send sixteen servants to seek his brothers, and they went and spread themselves in the four corners of the city, and four of the servants went into the house of the harlots, and they found the ten men there seeking their brother.
18 And those four men took them and brought them before him, and they bowed down to him to the ground, and Joseph was sitting upon his throne in his temple, clothed with princely garments, and upon his head was a large crown of gold, and all the mighty men were sitting around him.
19 And the sons of Jacob saw Joseph, and his figure and comeliness and dignity of countenance seemed wonderful in their eyes, and they again bowed down to him to the ground.
20 And Joseph saw his brethren, and he knew them, but they knew him not, for Joseph was very great in their eyes, therefore they knew him not.
21 And Joseph spoke to them, saying, From whence come ye? and they all answered and said, Thy servants have come from the land of Canaan to buy corn, for the famine prevails throughout the earth, and thy servants heard that there was corn in Egypt, so they have come amongst the other comers to buy corn for their support.
22 And Joseph answered them, saying, If you have come to purchase as you say, why do you come through ten gates of the city? it can only be that you have come to spy through the land.

23 And they all together answered Joseph, and said, Not so my lord, we are right, thy servants are not spies, but we have come to buy corn, for thy servants are all brothers, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan, and our father commanded us, saying, When you come to the city do not enter together at one gate on account of the inhabitants of the land.
24 And Joseph again answered them and said, That is the thing which I spoke unto you, you have come to spy through the land, therefore you all came through ten gates of the city; you have come to see the nakedness of the land.
25 Surely every one that cometh to buy corn goeth his way, and you are already three days in the land, and what do you do in the walls of harlots in which you have been for these three days? surely spies do like unto these things.
26 And they said unto Joseph, Far be it from our lord to speak thus, for we are twelve brothers, the sons o our father Jacob, in the land of Canaan, the son of Isaac, the son of Abraham, the Hebrew, and behold the youngest is with our father this day in the land of Canaan, and one is not, for he was lost from us, and we thought perhaps he might be in this land, so we are seeking him throughout the land, and have come even to the houses of harlots to seek him there.
27 And Joseph said unto them, And have you then sought him throughout the earth, that there only remained Egypt for you to seek him in? And what also should your brother do in the houses of harlots, although he were in Egypt? have you not said, That you are from the sons of Isaac, the son of Abraham, and what shall the sons of Jacob do then in the houses of harlots?
28 And they said unto him, Because we heard that Ishmaelites stole him from us,and it was told unto us that they sold him in Egypt, and thy servant, our brother, is very comely and well favored, so we thought he would surely be in the houses of harlots, therefore thy servants went there to seek him and give ransom for him.
29 And Joseph still answered them, saying, Surely you speak falsely and utter lies, to say of yourselves that you are the sons of Abraham; as Pharaoh liveth you are spies, therefore have you come to the houses of harlots that you should not be known.
30 And Joseph said unto them, And now if you find him, and his master requireth of you a great price, will you give it for him? and they said, It shall be given.
31 And he said unto them, And if his master will not consent to part with him for a great price, what will you do unto him on his account? and they answered him, saying, If he will not give him unto us we will slay him, and take our brother and go away.
32 And Joseph said unto them, That is the thing which I have spoken to you; you are spies, for you are come to slay the inhabitants of the land, for we heard that two of your brethren smote all the inhabitants of Shechem, in the land of Canaan, on account of your sister, and you now come to do the like in Egypt on account of your brother.
33 Only hereby shall I know that you are true men; if you will send home one from amongst you to fetch your youngest brother from your father, and to bring him here unto me, and by doing this thing I will know that you are right.
34 And Joseph called to seventy of his mighty men, and he said unto them, Take these men and bring them into the ward.
35 And the mighty men took the ten men, they laid hold of them and put them into the ward, and they were in the ward three days.
36 And on the third day Joseph had them brought out of the ward, and he said unto them, Do this for yourselves if you be true men, so that you may live, one of your brethren shall be confined in the ward whilst you go and take home the corn for your household to the land of Canaan, and fetch your youngest brother, and bring him here unto me, that I may know that you are true men when you do this thing.

37 And Joseph went out from them and came into the chamber, and wept a great weeping, for his pity was excited for them, and he washed his face, and returned to them again, and he took Simeon from them and ordered him to be bound, but Simeon was not willing to be done so, for he was a very powerful man and they could not bind him.
38 And Joseph called unto his mighty men and seventy valiant men came before him with drawn swords in their hands, and the sons of Jacob were terrified at them.
39 And Joseph said unto them, Seize this man and confine him in prison until his brethren come to him, and Joseph's valiant men hastened and they all laid hold of Simeon to bind him, and Simeon gave a loud and terrible shriek and the cry was heard at a distance.
40 And all the valiant men of Joseph were terrified at the sound of the shriek, that they fell upon their faces, and they were greatly afraid and fled.
41 And all the men that were with Joseph fled, for they were greatly afraid of their lives, and only Joseph and Manasseh his son remained there, and Manassah the son of Joseph saw the strength of Simeon, and he was exceedingly wroth. 42 And Manassah the son of Joseph rose up to Simeon, and Manassah smote Simeon a heavy blow with his fist against the back of his neck, and Simeon was stilled of his rage.
43 And Manassah laid hold of Simeon and he seized him violently and he bound him and brought him into the house of confinement, and all the sons of Jacob were astonished at the act of the youth.
44 And Simeon said unto his brethren, None of you must say that this is the smiting of an Egyptian, but it is the smiting of the house of my father.
45 And after this Joseph ordered him to be called who was set over the storehouse, to fill their sacks with corn as much as they could carry, and to restore every man's money into his sack, and to give them provision for the road, and thus did he unto them.
46 And Joseph commanded them, saying, Take heed lest you transgress my orders to bring your brother as I have told you, and it shall be when you bring your brother hither unto me, then will I know that you are true men, and you shall traffic in the land, and I will restore unto you your brother, and you shall return in peace to your father.
47 And they all answered and said, According as our lord speaketh so will we do, and they bowed down to him to the ground.
48 And every man lifted his corn upon his ass, and they went out to go to the land of Canaan to their father; and they came to the inn and Levi spread his sack to give provender to his ass, when he saw and behold his money in full weight was still in his sack.
49 And the man was greatly afraid, and he said unto his brethren, My money is restored, and lo, it is even in my sack, and the men were greatly afraid, and they said, What is this that God hath done unto us?
50 And they all said, And where is the Lord's kindness with our fathers, with Abraham, Issac, and Jacob, that the Lord has this day delivered us into the hands of the king of Egypt to contrive against us?
51 And Judah said unto them, Surely we are guilty sinners before the Lord our God in having sold our brother, our own flesh, and wherefore do you say, Where is the Lord's kindness with our fathers?
52 And Reuben said unto them, Said I not unto you, do not sin against the lad, and you would not listen to me? now God requireth him from us, and how dare you say, Where is the Lord's kindness with our fathers, whilst you have sinned unto the Lord?
53 And they tarried over night in that place, and they rose up early in the morning and laded their asses with their corn, and they led them and went on and came to their father's house in the land of Canaan.

54 And Jacob and his household went out to meet his sons, and Jacob saw and behold their brother Simeon was not with them, and Jacob said unto his sons, Where is your brother Simeon, whom I do not see? and his sons told him all that had befallen them in Egypt.

CHAPTER LII.

1 And they entered their house, and every man opened his sack and they saw and behold every man's bundle of money was there, at which they and their father were greatly terrified.
2 And Jacob said unto them, What is this that you have done to me? I sent your brother Joseph to inquire after your welfare and you said unto me, A wild beast did devour him.
3 And Simeon went with you to buy food and you say the king of Egypt hath confined him in prison, and you wish to take Benjamin to cause his death also, and bring down my grey hairs with sorrow to the grave on account of Benjamin and his brother Joseph.
4 Now therefore my son shall not go down with you, for his brother is dead and he is left alone, and mischief may befall him by the way in which you go, as it befell his brother.
5 And Reuben said unto his father, Thou shalt slay my two sons if I do not bring thy son and place him before thee; and Jacob said unto his sons, Abide ye here and do not go down to Egypt, for my son shall not go down with you to Egypt, nor die like his brother.
6 And Judah said unto them, refrain ye from him until the corn is finished, and he will then say, Take down your brother, when he will find his own life and the life of his household in danger from the famine.
7 And in those days the famine was sore throughout the land, and all the people of the earth went and came to Egypt to buy food, for the famine prevailed greatly amongst them, and the sons of Jacob remained in Canaan a year and two months until their corn was finished.
8 And it came to pass after their corn was finished, the whole household of Jacob was pinched with hunger, and all the infants of the sons of Jacob came together and they approached Jacob, and they all surrounded him, and they said unto him, Give unto us bread, and wherefore shall we all perish through hunger in thy presence?
9 Jacob heard the words of his son's children, and he wept a great weeping, and his pity was roused for them, and Jacob called unto his sons and they all came and sat before him.
10 And Jacob said unto them, And have you not seen how your children have been weeping over me this day, saying, Give unto us bread, and there is none? now therefore return and buy for us a little food.
11 And Judah answered and said unto his father, If thou wilt send our brother with us we will go down and buy corn for thee, and if thou wilt not send him then we will not go down, for surely the king of Egypt particularly enjoined us, saying, You shall not see my face unless your brother be with you, for the king of Egypt is a strong and mighty king, and behold if we shall go to him without our brother we shall all be put to death.
12 Dost thou not know and hast thou not heard that this king is very powerful and wise, and there is not like unto him in all the earth? behold we have seen all the kings of the earth and we have not seen one like that king, the king of Egypt; surely amongst all the kings of the earth there is none greater than Abimelech king of the Philistines, yet the king of Egypt is greater and mightier than he, and Abimelech can only be compared to one of his officers.
13 Father, thou hast not seen his palace and his throne, and all his servants standing before him; thou hast not seen that king upon his throne in his pomp and royal appearance, dressed in his kingly robes with a large golden crown upon his head; thou hast not seen the honor and glory which God has given unto him, for there is not like unto him in all the earth.

14 Father, thou hast not seen the wisdom, the understanding and the knowledge which God has given in his heart, nor heard his sweet voice when he spake unto us.
15 We know not, father, who made him acquainted with our names and all that befell us, yet he asked also after thee, saying, Is your father still living, and is it well with him?
16 Thou hast not seen the affairs of the government of Egypt regulated by him, without inquiring of Pharaoh his lord; thou hast not seen the awe and fear which he impressed upon all the Egyptians.
17 And also when we went from him, we threatened to do unto Egypt like unto the rest of the cities of the Amorites, and w were exceedingly wroth against all his words which he spoke concerning us as spies, and now when we shall again come before him his terror will fall upon us all, and not one of us will be able to speak to him either a little or a great thing.
18 Now therefore father, send we pray thee the lad with us, and we will go down and buy thee food for our support, and not die through hunger. And Jacob said, Why have you dealt so ill with me to tell the king you had a brother? what is this thing that you have done unto me?
19 And Judah said unto Jacob his father, Give the lad into my care and we will rise up and go down to Egypt and buy corn, and then return, and it shall be when we return if the lad be not with us, then let me bear thy blame forever.
20 Hast thou seen all our infants weeping over thee through hunger and there is no power in thy hand to satisfy them? now let thy pity be roused for them and send our brother with us and we will go.
21 For how will the Lord's kindness to our ancestors be manifested to thee when thou sayest that the king of Egypt will take away thy son? as the Lord liveth I will not leave him until I bring him and place him before thee; but pray for us unto the Lord, that he may deal kindly with us, to cause us to be received favorably and kindly before the king of Egypt and his men, for had we not delayed surely now we had returned a second time with thy son.
22 And Jacob said unto his sons, I trust in the Lord God that he may deliver you and give you favor in the sight of the king of Egypt, and in the sight of all his men.
23 Now therefore rise up and go to the man, and take for him in your hands a present from what can be obtained int he land and bring it before him, and may the Almighty God give you mercy before him that he may send Benjamin and Simeon your brethren with you.
24 And all the men rose up,and they took their brother Benjamin, and they took in their hands a large present of the best of the land, and they also took a double portion of silver.
25 And Jacob strictly commanded his sons concerning Benjamin, saying, Take heed of him in the way in which you are going, and do not separate yourselves from him in the road, neither in Egypt.
26 And Jacob rose up from his sons and spread forth his hands and he prayed unto the Lord on account of his sons, saying, O Lord God of heaven and earth, remember thy covenant with our father Abraham, remember it with my father Isaac and deal kindly with my sons and deliver them not into the hands of the king of Egypt; do it I pray thee O God for the sake of thy mercies and redeem all my children and rescue them from Egyptian power, and send them their two brothers.
27 And all the wives of the sons of Jacob and their children lifted up their eyes to heaven and they all wept before the Lord, and cried unto him to deliver their fathers from the hand of the king of Egypt.
28 And Jacob wrote a record to the king of Egypt and gave it into the hand of Judah and into the hands of his sons for the king of Egypt, saying,

29 From thy servant Jacob, son of Isaac, son of Abraham the Hebrew, the prince of God, to the powerful and wise king, the revealer of secrets, king of Egypt, greeting.
30 Be it known to my lord the king of Egypt, the famine was sore upon us in the land of Canaan, and I sent my sons to thee to buy us a little food from thee for our support.
31 For my sons surrounded me and I being very old cannot see with my eyes, for my eyes have become very heavy through age, as well as with daily weeping for my son, for Joseph who was lost from before me, and I commanded my sons that they should not enter the gates of the city when they came to Egypt, on account of the inhabitants of the land.
32 And I also commanded them to go about Egypt to seek for my son Joseph, perhaps they might find him there, and they did so, and thou didst consider them as spies of the land.
33 Have we not heard concerning thee that thou didst interpret Pharaoh's dream and didst speak truly unto him? how then dost thou not know in thy wisdom whether my sons are spies or not?
34 Now therefore, my lord and king, behold I have sent my son before thee, as thou didst speak unto my sons; I beseech thee to put thy eyes upon him until he is returned to me in peace with his brethren.
35 For dost thou not know, or hast thou not heard that which our God did unto Pharaoh when he took my mother Sarah, and what he did unto Abimelech king of the Philistines on account of her, and also what our father Abraham did unto the nine kings of Elam, how he smote them all with a few men that were with him?
36 And also what my two sons Simeon and Levi did unto the eight cities of the Amorites, how they destroyed them on account of their sister Dinah?
37 And also on account of their brother Benjamin they consoled themselves for the loss of his brother Joseph; what will they then do for him when they see the hand of any people prevailing over them, for his sake?
38 Dost thou not know, O king of Egypt, that the power of God is with us, and that also God ever heareth our prayers and forsaketh us not all the days?
39 And when my sons told me of thy dealings with them, I called not unto the Lord on account of thee, for then thou wouldst have perished with thy men before my son Benjamin came before thee, but I thought that as Simeon my son was in thy house, perhaps thou mightest deal kindly with him, therefore I did not this thing unto thee. 40 Now therefore behold Benjamin my son cometh unto thee with my sons, take heed of him and put thy eyes upon him, and then will God place his eyes over thee and throughout thy kingdom.
41 Now I have told thee all that is in my heart, and behold my sons are coming to thee with their brother, examine the face of the whole earth for their sake and send them back in peace with their brethren.
42 And Jacob gave the record to his sons into the care of Judah to give it unto the king of Egypt.

CHAPTER LIII.

1 And the sons of Jacob rose up and took Benjamin and the whole of the presents, and they went and came to Egypt and they stood before Joseph.
2 And Joseph beheld his brother Benjamin with them and he saluted them, and these men came to Joseph's house.
3 And Joseph commanded the superintendant of his house to give to his brethren to eat, and he did so unto them.
4 And at noon time Joseph sent for the men to come before him with Benjamin, and the men told the superintendant of Joseph's house concerning the silver that was returned in their sacks, and he said unto them, It will be well with you, fear not, and he brought their brother Simeon unto them.
5 And Simeon said unto his brethren, The lord of the Egyptians has acted very kindly unto me, he did not keep me bound, as you saw with your eyes, for when you went out from the city he let me free and dealt kindly with me in his house.

6 And Judah took Benjamin by the hand, and they came before Joseph, and they bowed down to him to the ground.
7 And the men gave the present unto Joseph and they all sat before him, and Joseph said unto them, Is it well with you, is it well with your children, is it well with your aged father? and they said, It is well, and Judah took the record which Jacob had sent and gave it into the hand of Joseph.
8 And Joseph read the letter and knew his father's writing, and he wished to weep and he went into an inner room and he wept a great weeping; and he went out.
9 And he lifted up his eyes and beheld his brother Benjamin,and he said, Is this your brother of whom you spoke unto me? And Benjamin approached Joseph, and Joseph placed his hand upon his head and he said unto him, May God be gracious unto thee my son.
10 And when Joseph saw his brother, the son of his mother, he again wished to weep, and he entered the chamber, and he wept there, and he washed his face, and went out and refrained from weeping, and he said, Prepare food.
11 And Joseph had a cup from which he drank, and it was of silver beautifully inlaid with onyx stones and bdellium, and Joseph struck the cup in the sight of his brethren whilst they were sitting to eat with him.
12 And Joseph said unto the men, I know by this cup that Reuben the first born, Simeon and Levi and Judah, Issachar and Zebulun are children from one mother, seat yourselves to eat according to your births. 13 And he also placed the others according to their births, and he said, I know that this your youngest brother has no brother, and I, like him, have no brother, he shall therefore sit down to eat with me.
14 And Benjamin went up before Joseph and sat upon the throne, and the men beheld the acts of Joseph, and they were astonished at them; and the men ate and drank at that time with Joseph, and he then gave presents unto them, and Joseph gave one gift unto Benjamin, and Manasseh and Ephraim saw the acts of their father, and they also gave presents unto him, and Osnath gave him one present, and they were five presents in the hand of Benjamin.
15 And Joseph brought them out wine to drink, and they would not drink, and they said, From the day on which Joseph was lost we have not drunk wine, nor eaten any delicacies.
16 And Joseph swore unto them, and he pressed them hard, and they drank plentifully with him on that day, and Joseph afterward turned to his brother Benjamin to speak with him, and Benjamin was still sitting upon the throne before Joseph.
17 And Joseph said unto him, Hast thou begotten any children? and he said, Thy servant has ten sons, and these are their names, Bela, Becher, Ashbal, Gera, Naaman, Achi, Rosh, Mupim, Chupim, and Ord, and I called their names after my brother whom I have not seen.
18 And he ordered them to bring before him his map of the stars, whereby Joseph knew all the times, and Joseph said unto Benjamin, I have heard that the Hebrews are acquainted with all wisdom, dost thou know anything of this?
19 And Benjamin said, Thy servant is knowing also in all the wisdom which my father taught me, and Joseph said unto Benjamin, Look now at this instrument and understand where thy brother Joseph is in Egypt, who you said went down to Egypt.
20 And Benjamin beheld that instrument with the map of the stars of heaven, and he was wise and looked therein to know where his brother was, and Benjamin divided the whole land of Egypt into four divisions, and he found that he who was sitting upon the throne before him was his brother Joseph, and Benjamin wondered greatly, and when Joseph saw that his brother Benjamin was so much astonished, he said unto Benjamin, What hast thou seen, and why art thou astonished?

21 And Benjamin said unto Joseph, I can see by this that Joseph my brother sitteth here with me upon the throne, and Joseph said unto him, I am Joseph thy brother, reveal not this thing unto thy brethren; behold I will send thee with them when they go away, and I will command them to be brought back again into the city, and I will take thee away from them.
22 And if they dare their lives and fight for thee, then shall I know that they have repented of what they did unto me, and I will make myself known to them, and if they forsake thee when I take thee, then shalt thou remain with me, and I will wrangle with them, and they shall go away, and I will not become known to them.
23 At that time Joseph commanded his officer to fill their sacks with food, and to put each man's money into his sack, and to put the cup in the sack of Benjamin, and to give them provision for the road, and they did so unto them.
24 And on the next day the men rose up early in the morning, and they loaded their asses with their corn, and they went forth with Benjamin, and they went to the land of Canaan with their brother Benjamin.
25 They had not gone far from Egypt when Joseph commanded him that was set over his house, saying, Rise, pursue these men before they get too far from Egypt, and say unto them, Why have you stolen my master's cup?
26 And Joseph's officer rose up and he reached them, and he spoke unto them all the words of Joseph; and when they heard this thing they became exceedingly wroth, and they said, He with whom thy master's cup shall be found shall die, and we will also become slaves.
27 And they hastened and each man brought down his sack from his ass, and they looked in their bags and the cup was found in Benjamin's bag, and they all tore their garments and they returned to the city, and they smote Benjamin in the road, continually smiting him until he came into the city, and they stood before Joseph.
28 And Judah's anger was kindled, and he said, This man has only brought me back to destroy Egypt this day.
29 And the men came to Joseph's house, and they found Joseph sitting upon his throne, and all the mighty men standing at his right and left.
30 And Joseph said unto them, What is this act that you have done, that you took away my silver cup and went away? but I know that you took my cup in order to know thereby in what part of the land your brother was.
31 And Judah said, What shall we say to our lord, what shall we speak and how shall we justify ourselves? God has this day found the iniquity of all thy servants, therefore has he done this thing to us this day.
32 And Joseph rose up and caught hold of Benjamin and took him from his brethren with violence, and he came tothe house and locked the door at them, and Joseph commanded him that was set over his house that he should say unto them, Thus saith the king, Go in peace to your father, behold I have taken the man in whose hand my cup was found.

CHAPTER LIV.

1 And when Judah saw the dealings of Joseph with them, Judah approached him and broke open the door, and came with his brethren before Joseph.
2 And Judah said unto Joseph, Let it not seem grievous in the sight of my lord, may thy servant I pray thee speak a word before thee? and Joseph said unto him, Speak.
3 And Judah spoke before Joseph, and his brethren were there standing before them; and Judah said unto Joseph, Surely when we first came to our lord to buy food, thou didst consider us as spies of the land, and we brought Benjamin before thee, and thou still makest sport of us this day.
4 Now therefore let the king hear my words, and send I pray thee our brother that he may go along with us to our father, lest thy soul perish this day with all the souls of the inhabitants of Egypt.

5 Dost thou not know what two of my brethren, Simeon and Levi, did unto the city of Shechem, and unto seven cities of the Amorites, on account of our sister Dinah, and also what they would do for the sake of their brother Benjamin?
6 And I with my strength, who am greater and mightier than both of them, come this day upon thee and thy land if thou art unwilling to send our brother.
7 Hast thou not heard what our God who made choice of us did unto Pharaoh on account of Sarah our mother, whom he took away from our father, that he smote him and his household with heavy plagues, that even unto this day the Egyptians relate this wonder to each other? so will our God do unto thee on account of Benjamin whom thou hast this day taken from his father, and on account of the evils which thou this day heapest over us in thy land; for our God will remember his covenant with our father Abraham and bring evil upon thee, because thou hast grieved the soul of our father this day.
8 Now therefore hear my words that I have this day spoken unto thee, and send our brother that he may go away lest thou and the people of thy land die by the sword, for you cannot all prevail over me.
9 And Joseph answered Judah, saying, Why hast thou opened wide thy mouth and why dost thou boast over us, saying, Strength is with thee? as Pharaoh liveth, if I command all my valiant men to fight with you, surely thou and these thy brethren would sink in the mire.
10 And Judah said unto Joseph, Surely it becometh thee and thy people to fear me; as the Lord liveth if I once draw my sword I shall not sheathe it again until I shall this day have slain all Egypt, and I will commence with thee and finish with Pharaoh thy master.
11 And Joseph answered and said unto him, Surely strength belongeth not alone to thee; I am stronger and mightier than thou, surely if thou drawest thy sword I will put it to thy neck and the necks of all thy brethren.
12 And Judah said unto him, Surely if I this day open my mouth against thee I would swallow thee up that thou be destroyed from off the earth and perish this day from thy kingdom. And Joseph said, Surely if thou openest thy mouth I have power and might to close thy mouth with a stone until thou shalt not be able to utter a word; see how many stones are before us, truly I can take a stone, and force it into thy mouth and break thy jaws.
13 And Judah said, God is witness between us, that we have not hitherto desired to battle with thee, only give us our brother and we will go from thee; and Joseph answered and said, As Pharaoh liveth, if all the kings of Canaan came together with you, you should not take him from my hand.
14 Now therefore go your way to your father, and your brother shall be unto me for a slave, for he has robbed the king's house. And Judah said, What is it to thee or to the character of the king, surely the king sendeth forth from his house, throughout the land, silver and gold either in gifts or expenses, and thou still talkest about thy cup which thou didst place in our brother's bag and sayest that he has stolen it from thee?
15 God forbid that our brother Benjamin or any of the seed of Abraham should do this thing to steal from thee, or from any one else, whether king, prince, or any man.
16 Now therefore cease this accusation lest the whole earth hear thy words, saying, For a little silver the king of Egypt wrangled with the men,and he accused them and took their brother for a slave.
17 And Joseph answered and said, Take unto you this cup and go from me and leave your brother for a slave, for it is the judgment of a thief to be a slave.
18 And Judah said, Why art thou not ashamed of thy words, to leave our brother and to take thy cup? Surely if thou givest us thy cup, or a thousand times as much, we will not leave our brother for the silver which is found in the hand of any man, that we will not die over him.

19 And Joseph answered, And why did you forsake your brother and sell him for twenty pieces of silver unto this day, and why then will you not do the same to this your brother?
20 And Judah said, the Lord is witness between me and thee that we desire not thy battles; now therefore give us our brother and we will go from thee without quarreling.
21 And Joseph answered and said, If all the kings of the land should assemble they will not be able to take your brother from my hand; and Judah said, What shall we say unto our father, when he seeth that our brother cometh not with us, and will grieve over him?
22 And Joseph answered and said, This is the thing which you shall tell unto your father, saying, The rope has gone after the bucket.
23 And Judah said, Surely thou art a king, and why speakest thou these things, giving a false judgment? woe unto the king who is like unto thee.
24 And Joseph answered and said, There is no false judgment in the word that I spoke on account of your brother Joseph, for all of you sold him to the Midianites for twenty pieces of silver, and you all denied it to your father and said unto him, An evil beast has devoured him, Joseph has been torn to pieces.
25 And Judah said, Behold the fire of Shem burneth in my heart, now I will burn all your land with fire; and Joseph answered and said, Surely thy sister-in-law Tamar, who killed your sons, extinguished the fire of Shechem.
26 And Judah said, If I pluck out a single hair from my flesh, I will fill all Egypt with its blood.
27 And Joseph answered and said, Such is your custom to do as you did to your brother whom you sold, and you dipped his coat in blood and brought it to your father in order that he might say an evil beast devoured him and here is his blood.
28 And when Judah heard this thing he was exceedingly wroth and his anger burned within him, and there was before him in that place a stone, the weight of which was about four hundred shekels, and Judah's anger was kindled and he took the stone in one hand and cast it to the heavens and caught it with his left hand.
29 And he placed it afterward under his legs, and he sat upon it with all his strength and the stone was turned into dust from the force of Judah.
30 And Joseph saw the act of Judah and he was very much afraid, but he commanded Manassah his son and he also did with another stone like unto the act of Judah, and Judah said unto his brethren, Let not any of you say, this man is an Egyptian, but by his doing this thing he is of our father's family.
31 And Joseph said, Not to you only is strength given, for we are also powerful men, and why will you boast over us all? and Judah said unto Joseph, Send I pray thee our brother and ruin not thy country this day.
32 And Joseph answered and said unto them, Go and tell your father, an evil beast hath devoured him as you said concerning your brother Joseph.
33 And Judah spoke to his brother Naphtali, and he said unto him, Make haste, go now and number all the streets of Egypt and come and tell me; and Simeon said unto him, Let not this thing be a trouble to thee; now I will go to the mount and take up one large stone from the mount and level it at every one in Egypt, and kill all that are in it.
34 And Joseph heard all these words that his brethren spoke before him, and they did not know that Joseph understood them, for they imagined that he knew not to speak Hebrew.
35 And Joseph was greatly afraid at the words of his brethren lest they should destroy Egypt, and he commanded his son Manasseh, saying, Go now make haste and gather unto me all the inhabitants of Egypt, and all the valiant men together, and let them come to me now upon horseback and on foot and with all sorts of musical instruments, and Manasseh went and did so.
36 And Naphtali went as Judah had commanded him, for Naphtali was lightfooted as one of the swift stage, and he would go upon the ears of corn and they would not break under him.

37 And he went and numbered all the streets of Egypt, and found them to be twelve, and he came hastily and told Judah, and Judah said unto his brethren, Hasten you and put on every man his sword upon his loins and we will come over Egypt, and smite them all, and let not a remnant remain.
38 And Judah said, Behold, I will destroy three of the streets with my strength, and you shall each destroy one street; and when Judah was speaking this thing, behold the inhabitants of Egypt and all the mighty men came toward them with all sorts of musical instruments and with loud shouting.
39 And their number was five hundred cavalry and ten thousand infantry, and four hundred men who could fight without sword or spear, only with their hands and strength.
40 And all the mighty men came with great storming and shouting, and they all surrounded the sons of Jacob and terrified them, and the ground quaked at the sound of their shouting.
41 And when the sons of Jacob saw these troops they were greatly afraid of their lives, and Joseph did so in order to terrify the sons of Jacob to become tranquilized.
42 And Judah, seeing some of his brethren terrified, said unto them, Why are you afraid whilst the grace of God is with us? and when Judah saw all the people of Egypt surrounding them at the command of Joseph to terrify them, only Joseph commanded them, saying, Do not touch any of them.
43 Then Judah hastened and drew his sword, and uttered a loud and bitter scream, and he smote with his sword, and he sprang upon the ground and he still continued to shout against all the people.
44 And when he did this thing the Lord caused the terror of Judah and his brethren to fall upon the valiant men and all the people that surrounded them.
45 And they all fled at the sound of the shouting, and they were terrified and fell one upon the other, and many of them died as they fell, and they all fled from before Judah and his brethren and from before Joseph.
46 And whilst they were fleeing, Judah and his brethren pursued them unto the house of Pharaoh, and they all escaped, and Judah again sat before Joseph and roared at him like a lion, and gave a great and tremendous shriek at him.
47 And the shriek was heard at a distance, and all the inhabitants of Succoth heard it, and all Egypt quaked at the sound of the shriek, and also the walls of Egypt and of the land of Goshen fell in from the shaking f the earth, and Pharaoh also fell from his throne upon the ground, and also all the pregnant women of Egypt and Goshen miscarried when they heard the noise of the shaking, for they were terribly afraid.
48 And Pharaoh sent word, saying, What is this thing that has this day happened in the land of Egypt? and they came and told him all the things from beginning to end,and Pharaoh was alarmed and he wondered and was greatly afraid.
49 And his fright increased when he heard all these things, and he sent unto Joseph, saying, Thou hast brought unto me the Hebrews to destroy all Egypt; what wilt thou do with that thievish slave? send him away and let him go with his brethren, and let us not perish through their evil, even we, you and all Egypt.
50 And if thou desirest not to do this thing, cast off from thee all my valuable things, and go with them to their land, if thou delightest in it, for they will this day destroy my whole country and slay all my people; even all the women of Egypt have miscarried through their screams; see what they have done merely by their shouting and speaking, moreover if they fight with the sword, they will destroy the land; now therefore chose that which thou desirest, whether me or the Hebrews, whether Egypt or the land of the Hebrews.
51 And they came and told Joseph all the words of Pharaoh that he had said concerning him, and Joseph was greatly afraid at the words of Pharaoh and Judah and his brethren were still standing before Joseph indignant and enraged, and all the sons of Jacob roared at Joseph, like the roaring of the sea and its waves.

52 And Joseph was greatly afraid of his brethren and on account of Pharaoh, and Joseph sought a pretext to make himself known unto his brethren, lest they should destroy all Egypt.
53 And Joseph commanded his son Manasseh, and Manasseh went and approached Judah, and placed his hand upon his shoulder, and the anger of Judah was stilled.
54 And Judah said unto his brethren, Let no one of you say that this is the act of an Egyptian youth for this is the work of my father's house. 55 And Joseph seeing and knowing that Judah's anger was stilled, he approached to speak unto Judah in the language of mildness.
56 And Joseph said unto Judah, Surely you speak truth and have this day verified your assertions concerning your strength, and may your God who delighteth in you, increase your welfare; but tell me truly why from amongst all thy brethren dost thou wrangle with me on account of the lad, as none of them have spoken one word to me concerning him.
57 And Judah answered Joseph, saying, Surely thou must know that I was security for the lad to his father, saying, If I brought him not unto him I should bear his blame forever.
58 Therefore have I approached thee from amongst all my brethren, for I saw that thou wast unwilling to suffer him to go from thee; now therefore may I find grace in thy sight that thou shalt send him to go with us, and behold I will remain as a substitute for him, to serve thee in whatever thou desirest, for wheresoever thou shalt send me I will go to serve thee with great energy.
59 Send me now to a mighty king who has rebelled against thee, and thou shalt know what I will do unto him and unto his land; although he may have cavalry and infantry or an exceeding mighty people, I will slay them all and bring the king's head before thee.
60 Dost thou not know or hast thou not heard that our father Abraham with his servant Eliezer smote all the kings of Elam with their hosts in one night, they left not one remaining? and ever since that day our father's strength was given unto us for an inheritance, for us and our seed forever.
61 And Joseph answered and said, You speak truth, and falsehood is not in your mouth, for it was also told unto us that the Hebrews have power and that the Lord their God delighteth much in them, and who then can stand before them?
62 However, on this condition will I send your brother, if you will bring before me his brother the son of his mother, of whom you said that he had gone from you down to Egypt; and it shall come to pass when you bring unto me his brother I will take him in his stead, because not one of you was security for him to your father, and when he shall come unto me, I will then send with you his brother for whom you have been security.
63 And Judah's anger was kindled against Joseph when he spoke this thing, and his eyes dropped blood with anger, and he said unto his brethren, How doth this man this day seek his own destruction and that of all Egypt!
64 And Simeon answered Joseph, saying, Did we not tell thee at first that we knew not the particular spot to which he went, and whether he be dead or alive, and wherefore speaketh my lord like unto these things?
65 And Joseph observing the countenance of Judah discerned that his anger began t kindle when he spoke unto him, saying, Bring unto me your other brother instead of this brother?
66 And Joseph said unto his brethren, Surely you said that your brother was either dead or lost, now if I should call him this day and he should come before you, would you give him unto me instead of his brother?
67 And Joseph began to speak and call out, Joseph, Joseph, come this day before me, and appear to thy brethren and sit before them. 68 And when Joseph spoke this thing before them, they looked each a different way to see from whence Joseph would come before them.

69 And Joseph observed all their acts, and said unto them, Why do you look here and there? I am Joseph whom you sold to Egypt, now therefore let it not grieve you that you sold me, for as a support during the famine did God send me before you.
70 And his brethren were terrified at him when they heard the words of Joseph, and Judah was exceedingly terrified at him.
71 And when Benjamin heard the words of Joseph he was before them in the inner part of the house, and Benjamin ran unto Joseph his brother, and embraced him and fell upon his neck, and they wept.
72 And when Joseph's brethren saw that Benjamin had fallen upon his brother's neck and wept with him, they also fell upon Joseph and embraced him, and they wept a great weeping with Joseph.
73 And the voice was heard in the house of Joseph that they were Joseph's brethren, and it pleased Pharaoh exceedingly, for he was afraid of them lest they should destroy Egypt.
74 And Pharaoh sent his servants unto Joseph to congratulate him concerning his brethren who had come to him, and all the captains of the armies and troops that were in Egypt came to rejoice with Joseph, and all Egypt rejoiced greatly about Joseph's brethren.
75 And Pharaoh sent his servants to Joseph, saying, Tell thy brethren to fetch all belonging to them and let them come unto me, and I will place them in the best part of the land of Egypt, and they did so.
76 And Joseph commanded him that was set over his house to bring out to his brethren gifts and garments, and he brought out to them many garments being robes of royalty and many gifts, and Joseph divided them amongst his brethren.
77 And he gave unto each of his brethren a change of garments of gold and silver,and three hundred pieces of silver, and Joseph commanded them all to be dressed in these garments, and to be brought before Pharaoh.
78 And Pharaoh seeing that all Joseph's brethren were valiant men, and of beautiful appearance, he greatly rejoiced.
79 And they afterward went out from the presence of Pharaoh to go to the land of Canaan, to their father, and their brother Benjamin was with them.
80 And Joseph rose up and gave unto them eleven chariots from Pharaoh, and Joseph gave unto them his chariot, upon which he rode on the day of his being crowned in Egypt, to fetch his father to Egypt; and Joseph sent to all his brothers' children, garments according to their numbers, and a hundred pieces of silver to each of them, and he also sent garments to the wives of his brethren from the garments of the king's wives, and he sent them.
81 And he gave unto each of his brethren ten men to go with them to the land of Canaan to serve them, to serve their children and all belonging to them in coming to Egypt.
82 And Joseph sent by the hand of his brother Benjamin ten suits of garments for his ten sons, a portion above the rest of the children of the sons of Jacob.
83 And he sent to each fifty pieces of silver, and ten chariots on the account of Pharaoh, and he sent to his father ten asses laden with all the luxuries of Egypt, and ten she asses laden with corn and bread and nourishment for his father, and to all that were with him as provisions for the road.
84 And he sent to his sister Dinah garments of silver and gold,and frankincense and myrrh, and aloes and women's ornaments in great plenty, and he sent the same from the wives of Pharaoh to the wives of Benjamin.
85 And he gave unto all his brethren, also to their wives, all sorts of onyx stones and bdellium, and from all the valuable things amongst the great people of Egypt, nothing of all the costly things was left but what Joseph sent of to his father's household.
86 And he sent his brethren away, and they went, and he sent his brother

Benjamin with them.
87 And Joseph went out with them to accompany them on the road unto the borders of Egypt, and he commanded them concerning his father and his household, to come to Egypt.
88 And he said unto them, Do not quarrel on the road, for this thing was from the Lord to keep a great people from starvation, for there will be yet five years of famine in the land.
89 And he commanded them, saying, When you come unto the land of Canaan, do not come suddenly before my father in this affair, but act in your wisdom.
90 And Joseph ceased to command them, and he turned and went back to Egypt, and the sons of Jacob went to the land of Canaan with joy and cheerfullness to their father Jacob.
91 And they came unto the borders of the land, and they said to each other, What shall we do in this matter before our father, for if we come suddenly to him and tell him the matter, he will be greatly alarmed at our words and will not believe us.
92 And they went along until they came nigh unto their houses, and they found Serach, the daughter of Asher, going forth to meet them, and the damsel was very good and subtle, and knew how to play upon the harp.
93 And they called unto her and she came before them, and she kissed them, and they took her and gave unto her a harp, saying, Go now before our father, and sit before him, and strike upon the harp, and speak these words.
94 And they commanded her to go to their house, and she took the harp and hastened before them,a dn she came and sat near Jacob.
95 And she played well and sang, and uttered in the sweetness of her words, Joseph my uncle is living, and he ruleth throughout the land of Egypt, and is not dead.
96 And she continued to repeat and utter these words, and Jacob heard her words and they were agreeable to him.
97 He listened whilst she repeated them twice and thrice, and joy entered the heart of Jacob at the sweetness of her words, and the spirit of God was upon him, and he knew all her words to be true.
98 And Jacob blessed Serach when she spoke these words before him, and he said unto her, My daughter, may death never prevail over thee, for thou hast revived my spirit; only speak yet before me as thou hast spoken, for thou hast gladdened me with all thy words.
99 And she continued to sing these words, and Jacob listened and it pleased him, and he rejoiced, and the spirit of God was upon him.
100 Whilst he was yet speaking with her, behold his sons came to him with horses and chariots and royal garments and servants running before them.
101 And Jacob rose up to meet them, and saw his sons dressed in royal garments and he saw all the treasures that Joseph had sent to them.
102 And they said unto him, Be informed that our brother Joseph is living, and it is he who ruleth throughout the land of Egypt, and it is he who spoke unto us as we told thee.
103 And Jacob heard all the words of his sons, and his heart palpitated at their words, for he could not believe them until he saw all that Joseph had given them and what he had sent him, and all the signs which Joseph had spoken unto them.
104 And they opened out before him, and showed him all that Joseph had sent, they gave unto each what Joseph had sent him, and he knew that they had spoken the truth, and he rejoiced exceedingly an account of his son.
105 And Jacob said, It is enough for me that my son Joseph is still living, I will go and see him before I die.
106 And his sons told him all that had befallen them, and Jacob said, I will go down to Egypt to see my son and his offspring.
107 And Jacob rose up and put on the garments which Joseph had sent him, and after he had washed, and shaved his hair, he put upon his head the turban which Joseph had sent him.

108 And all the people of Jacob's house and their wives put on the garments which Joseph had sent to them, and they greatly rejoiced at Joseph that he was still living and that he was ruling in Egypt.
109 And all the inhabitants of Canaan heard of this thing, and they came and rejoiced much with Jacob that he was still living.
110 And Jacob made a feast for them for three days, and all the kings of Canaan and nobles of the land ate and drank and rejoiced in the house of Jacob.

CHAPTER LV.

1 And it came to pass after this that Jacob said,I will go and see my son in Egypt and will then come back to the land of Canaan of which God had spoken unto Abraham, for I cannot leave the land of my birth-place.
2 Behold the word of the Lord came unto him, saying, Go down to Egypt with all thy household and remain there, fear not to go down to Egypt for I will there make thee a great nation.
3 And Jacob said within himself, I will go and see my son whether the fear of his God is yet in his heart amidst all the inhabitants of Egypt.
4 And the Lord said unto Jacob, Fear not about Joseph, for he still retaineth his integrity to serve me, as will seem good in thy sight, and Jacob rejoiced exceedingly concerning his son.
5 At that time Jacob commanded his sons and household to go to Egypt according to the word of the Lord unto him, and Jacob rose up with his sons and all his household, and he went out from the land of Canaan from Beer-sheba, with joy and gladness of heart, and they went to the land of Egypt.
6 And it came to pass when they came near Egypt, Jacob sent Judah before him to Joseph that he might show him a situation in Egypt, and Judah did according to the word of his father, and he hastened and ran and came to Joseph, and they assigned for them a place in the land of Goshen for all his household, and Judah returned and came along the road to his father.
7 And Joseph harnessed the chariot, and he assembled all his mighty men and his servants and all the officers of Egypt in order to go and meet his father Jacob, and Joseph's mandate was proclaimed in Egypt, saying, All that do not go to meet Jacob shall die.
8 And on the next day Joseph went forth with all Egypt a great and mighty host, all dressed in garments of fine linen and purple and with instruments of silver and gold and with their instruments of war with them.
9 And they all went to meet Jacob with all sorts of musical instruments, with drums and timbrels, strewing myrrh and aloes all along the road, and they all went after this fashion, and the earth shook at their shouting.
10 And all the women of Egypt went upon the roofs of Egypt and upon the walls to meet Jacob, and upon the head of Joseph was Pharaoh's regal crown, for Pharaoh had sent it unto him to put on at the time of his going to meet his father.
11 And when Joseph came within fifty cubits of his father, he alighted from the chariot and he walked toward his father, and when all the officers of Egypt and her nobles saw that Joseph had gone on foot toward his father, they also alighted and walked on foot toward Jacob.
12 And when Jacob approached the camp of Joseph, Jacob observed the camp that was coming toward him with Joseph, and it gratified him and Jacob was astonished at it.
13 And Jacob said unto Judah, Who is that man whom I see in the camp of Egypt dressed in kingly robes with a very red garment upon him and a royal crown upon his head, who has alighted from his chariot and is coming toward us? and Judah answered his father, saying, He is thy son Joseph the king; and Jacob rejoiced in seeing the glory of his son.

14 And Joseph came nigh unto his father and he bowed to his father, and all the men of the camp bowed to the ground with him before Jacob.
15 And behold Jacob ran and hastened to his son Joseph and fell upon his neck and kissed him, and they wept, and Joseph also embraced his father and kissed him, and they wept and all the people of Egypt wept with them.
16 And Jacob said unto Joseph, Now I will die cheerfully after I have seen thy face, that thou art still living and with glory.
17 And the sons of Jacob and their wives and their children and their servants, and all the household of Jacob wept exceedingly with Joseph, and they kissed him and wept greatly with him.
18 And Joseph and all his people returned afterward home to Egypt, and Jacob and his sons and all the children of his household came with Joseph to Egypt, and Joseph placed them in the best part of Egypt, in the land of Goshen.
19 And Joseph said unto his father and unto his brethren, I will go up and tell Pharaoh, saying, My brethren and my father's household and all belonging to them have come unto me, and behold they are in the land of Goshen.
20 And Joseph did so and took from his brethren Reuben, Issachar Zebulun and his brother Benjamin, and he placed them before Pharaoh.
21 And Joseph spoke unto Pharaoh, saying, My brethren and my father's household and all belonging to them, together with their flocks and cattle have come unto me from the land of Canaan, to sojourn in Egypt; for the famine was sore upon them.
22 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, Place thy father and brethren in the best part of the land, withhold not from them all that is good, and cause them to eat of the fat of the land.
23 And Joseph answered, saying, Behold I have stationed them in the land of Goshen, for they are shepherds, therefore let them remain in Goshen to feed their flocks apart from the Egyptians.
24 And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, Do with thy brethren all that they shall say unto thee; and the sons of Jacob bowed down to Pharaoh, and they went forth from him in peace, and Joseph afterward brought his father before Pharaoh.
25 And Jacob came and bowed down to Pharaoh,and Jacob blessed Pharaoh, and he then went out; and Jacob and all his sons, and all his household dwelt in the land of Goshen.
26 In the second year, that is in the hundred and thirtieth year of the life of Jacob, Joseph maintained his father and his brethren, and all his father's household, with bread according to their little ones, all the days of the famine; they lacked nothing.
27 And Joseph gave unto them the best part of the whole land; the best of Egypt had they all the days of Joseph; and Joseph also gave unto them and unto the whole of his father's household, clothes and garments year by year; and the sons of Jacob remained securely in Egypt all the days of their brother.
28 And Jacob always ate at Joseph's table, Jacob and his sons did not leave Joseph's table day or night, besides what Jacob's children consumed in their houses.
29 And all Egypt ate bread during the days of the famine from the house of Joseph, for all the Egyptians sold all belonging to them on account of the famine.
30 And Joseph purchased all the lands and fields of Egypt for bread on the account of Pharaoh, and Joseph supplied all Egypt with bread all the days of the famine, and Joseph collected all the silver and gold that came unto him for the corn which they bought throughout the land, and he accumulated much gold and silver, besides an immense quantity of onyx stones, bdellium and valuable garments which they brought unto Joseph from every part of the land when their money was spent.
31 And Joseph took all the silver and gold that came into his hand, about seventy two talents of gold and silver, and also onyx stones and bdellium in great abundance, and Joseph went and concealed them in four parts, and he concealed one part in the wilderness near the Red sea, and one part by the river Perath, and the third and fourth part he concealed in the desert opposite to the wilderness of Persia and Media.

32 And he took part of the gold and silver that was left, and gave it unto all his brothers and unto all his father's household, and unto all the women of his father's household, and the rest he brought to the house of Pharaoh, about twenty talents of gold and silver.
33 And Joseph gave all the gold and silver that was left unto Pharaoh, and Pharaoh placed it in the treasury, and the days of the famine ceased after that in the land, and they sowed and reaped in the whole land, and they obtained their usual quantity year by year; they lacked nothing.
34 And Joseph dwelt securely in Egypt, and the whole land was under his advice, and his father and all his brethren dwelt in the land of Goshen and took possession of it.
35 And Joseph was very aged, advanced in days, and his two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, remained constantly in the house of Jacob, together with the children of the sons of Jacob their brethren, to learn the ways of the Lord and his law.
36 And Jacob and his sons dwelt in the land of Egypt in the land of Goshen, and they took possession in it, and they were fruitful and multiplied in it.

CHAPTER LVI.

1 And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years, and the days of Jacob, and the years of his life were a hundred and forty seven years.
2 At that time Jacob was attacked with that illness of which he died and he sent and called for his son Joseph from Egypt, and Joseph his son came from Egypt and Joseph came unto his father.
3 And Jacob said unto Joseph and unto his sons, Behold I die, and the God of your ancestors will visit you, and bring you back to the land, which the Lord sware to give unto you and unto your children after you, now therefore when I am dead, bury me in the cave which is in Machpelah in Hebron in the land of Canaan, near my ancestors.
4 And Jacob made his sons swear to bury him in Machpelah, in Hebron, and his sons swore unto him concerning this thing.
5 And he commanded them, saying, Serve the Lord your God, for he who delivered your fathers will also deliver you from all trouble.
6 And Jacob said, Call all your children unto me, and all the children of Jacob's sons came and sat before him, and Jacob blessed them, and he said unto them, The Lord God of your fathers shall grant you a thousand times as much and bless you, and may he give you the blessing of your father Abraham; and all the children of Jacob's sons went forth on that day after he had blessed them.
7 And on the next day Jacob again called for his sons, and they all assembled and came to him and sat before him, and Jacob on that day blessed his sons before his death, each man did he bless according to his blessing; behold it is written in the book of the law of the Lord appertaining to Israel.
8 And Jacob said unto Judah, I know my son that thou art a mighty man for thy brethren; reign over them, and thy sons shall reign over their sons forever.
9 Only teach thy sons the bow and all the weapons of war, in order that they may fight the battles of their brother who will rule over his enemies.
10 And Jacob again commanded his sons on that day, saying, Behold I shall be this day gathered unto my people; carry me up from Egypt, and bury me in the cave of Machpelah as I have commanded you.
11 Howbeit take heed I pray you that none of your sons carry me, only yourselves, and this is the manner you shall do unto me, when you carry my body to go with it to the land of Canaan to bury me, 12 Judah, Issachar and Zebulun shall carry my bier at the eastern side; Reuben, Simeon and Gad at the south, Ephraim, Manasseh and Benjamin at the west, Dan, Asher and Naphtali at the north.

13 Let not Levi carry with you, for he and his sons will carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord with the Israelites in the camp, neither let Joseph my son carry, for as a king so let his glory be; howbeit, Ephraim and Manasseh shall be in their stead.
14 Thus shall you do unto me when you carry me away; do not neglect any thing of all that I command you; and it shall come to pass when you do this unto me, that the Lord will remember you favorably and your children after you forever.
15 And you my sons, honor each his brother and his relative, and command your children and your children's children after you to serve the Lord God of your ancestors all the days.
16 In order that you may prolong your days in the land, you and your children and your children's children for ever, when you do what is good and upright in the sight of the Lord your God, to go in all his ways.
17 And thou, Joseph my son, forgive I pray thee the wrongs of thy brethren and all their misdeeds in the injury that they heaped upon thee, for God intended it for thine and thy children's benefit.
18 And O my son leave not thy brethren to the inhabitants of Egypt, neither hurt their feelings, for behold I consign them to the hand of God and in thy hand to guard them from the Egyptians; and the sons of Jacob answered their father saying, O, our father, all that thou hast commanded us, so will we do; may God only be with us.
19 And Jacob said unto his sons, So may God be with you when you keep all his ways; turn not from his ways either to the right or the left in performing what is good and upright in his sight.
20 For I know that many and grievous troubles will befall you in the latter days in the land, yea your children and children's children, only serve the Lord and he will save you from all trouble.
21 And it shall come to pass when you shall go after God to serve him and will teach your children after you, and your children's children, to know the Lord, then will the Lord raise up unto you and your children a servant from amongst your children, and the Lord will deliver you through his hand from all affliction, and bring you out of Egypt and bring you back to the land of your fathers to inherit it securely.
22 And Jacob ceased commanding his sons, and he drew his feet into the bed, he died and was gathered to his people.
23 And Joseph fell upon his father and he cried out and wept over him and he kissed him, and he called out in a bitter voice, and he said, O my father, my father.
24 And his son's wives and all his household came and fell upon Jacob, and they wept over him, and cried in a very loud voice concerning Jacob. 25 And all the sons of Jacob rose up together, and they tore their garments, and they all put sackcloth upon their loins, and they fell upon their faces, and they cast dust upon their heads toward the heavens.
26 And the thing was told unto Osnath Joseph's wife, and she rose up and put on a sack and she with all the Egyptian women with her came and mourned and wept for Jacob.
27 And also all the people of Egypt who knew Jacob came all on that day when they heard this thing, and all Egypt wept for many days.
28 And also from the land of Canaan did the women come unto Egypt when they heard that Jacob was dead, and they wept for him in Egypt for seventy days.
29 And it came to pass after this that Joseph commanded his servants the doctors to embalm his father with myrrh and frankincense and all manner of incense and perfume, and the doctors embalmed Jacob as Joseph had commanded them.
30 And all the people of Egypt and the elders and all the inhabitants of the land of Goshen wept and mourned over Jacob, and all his sons and the children of his household lamented and mourned over their father Jacob many days.

31 And after the days of his weeping had passed away, at the end of seventy days, Joseph said unto Pharaoh, I will go up and bury my father in the land of Canaan as he made me swear, and then I will return.
32 And Pharaoh sent Joseph, saying, Go up and bury thy father as he said, and as he made thee swear; and Joseph rose up with all his brethren to go to the land of Canaan to bury their father Jacob as he had commanded them.
33 And Pharaoh commanded that it should be proclaimed throughout Egypt, saying, Whoever goeth not up with Joseph and his brethren to the land of Canaan to bury Jacob, shall die.
34 And all Egypt heard of Pharaoh's proclamation, and they all rose up together, and all the servants of Pharaoh, and the elders of his house, and all the leaders of the land of Egypt went up with Joseph, and all the officers and nobles of Pharaoh went up as the servants of Joseph, and they went to bury Jacob in the land of Canaan.
35 And the sons of Jacob carried the bier upon which he lay; according to all that their father commanded them, so did his sons unto him.
36 And the bier was of pure gold, and it was inlaid round about with onyx stones and bdellium; and the covering of the bier was gold woven work, joined with threads, and over them were hooks of onyx stones and bdellium.
37 And Joseph placed upon the head of his father Jacob a large golden crown, and he put a golden sceptre in his hand, and they surrounded the bier as was the custom of kings during their lives.
38 And all the troops of Egypt went before him in this array, at first all the mighty men of Pharaoh, and the mighty men of Joseph, and after them the rest of the inhabitants of Egypt, and they were all girded with swords and equipped with coats of mail, and the trappings of war were upon them.
39 And all the weepers and mourners went at a distance opposite to the bier, going and weeping and lamenting, and the rest of the people went after the bier.
40 And Joseph and his household went together near the bier barefooted and weeping, and the rest of Joseph's servants went around him; each man had his ornaments upon him, and they were all armed with their weapons of war.
41 And fifty of Jacob's servants went in front of the bier, and they strewed along the road myrrh and aloes, and all manner of perfume, and all the sons of Jacob that carried the bier walked upon the perfumery, and the servants of Jacob went before them strewing the perfume along the road.
42 And Joseph went up with a heavy camp, and they did after this manner every day until they reached the land of Canaan, and they came to the threshing floor of Atad, which was on the other side of Jordan, and they mourned an exceeding great and heavy mourning in that place.
43 And all the kings of Canaan heard of this thing and they all went forth, each man from his house, thirty-one kings of Canaan, and they all came with their men to mourn and weep over Jacob.
44 And all these kings beheld Jacob's bier, and behold Joseph's crown was upon it, and they also put their crowns upon the bier, and encircled it with crowns.
45 And all these kings made in that place a great and heavy mourning with the sons of Jacob and Egypt over Jacob, for all the kings of Canaan knew the valor of Jacob and his sons.
46 And the report reached Esau, saying, Jacob died in Egypt, and his sons and all Egypt are conveying him to the land of Canaan to bury him.
47 And Esau heard this thing, and he was dwelling in mount Seir, and he rose up with his sons and all his people and all his household, a people exceedingly great, and they came to mourn and weep over Jacob.
48 And it came to pass, when Esau came he mourned for his brother Jacob, and all Egypt and all Canaan again rose up and mourned a great mourning with Esau over Jacob in that place.

49 And Joseph and his brethren brought their father Jacob from that place, and they went to Hebron to bury Jacob in the cave by his fathers.
50 And they came unto Kireatharba, to the cave,and as they came Esau stood with his sons against Joseph and his brethren as a hindrance in the cave, saying, Jacob shall not be buried therein, for it belongeth to us and to our father.
51 And Joseph and his brethren heard the words of Esau's sons, and they were exceedingly wroth, and Joseph approached unto Esau, saying, What is this thing which they have spoken? surely my father Jacob bought it from thee for great riches after the death of Isaac, now five and twenty years ago, and also all the land of Canaan he bought from thee and from thy sons, and they seed after thee.
52 And Jacob bought it for his sons and his seed after him for an inheritance for ever, and why speakest thou these things this day?
53 And Esau answered, saying, Thou speakest falsely and utterest lies, for I sold not anything belonging to me in all this land, as thou sayest, neither did my brother Jacob buy aught belonging to me in this land.
54 And Esau spoke these things in order to deceive Joseph with his words, for Esau knew that Joseph was not present in those days when Esau sold all belonging to him in the land of Canaan to Jacob.
55 And Joseph said unto Esau, Surely my father inserted these things with thee in the record of purchase, and testified the record with witnesses, and behold it is with us in Egypt.
56 And Esau answered, saying unto him, Bring the record, all that thou wilt find in the record, so will we do.
57 And Joseph called unto Naphtali his brother, and he said, Hasten quickly, stay not, and run I pray thee to Egypt and bring all the records; the record of the purchase, the sealed record and the open record, and also all the first records in which all the transactions of the birth-right are written, fetch thou.
58 And thou shalt bring them unto us hither, that we may know from them all the words of Esau and his sons which they spoke this day.
59 And Naphtali hearkened to the voice of Joseph and he hastened and ran to go down to Egypt, and Naphtali was lighter on foot than any of the stags that were upon the wilderness, for he would go upon ears of corn without crushing them.
60 And when Esau saw that Naphtali had gone to fetch the records, he and his sons increased their resistance against the cave, and Esau and all his people rose up against Joseph and his brethren to battle.
61 And all the sons of Jacob and the people of Egypt fought with Esau and his men, and the sons of Esau and his people were smitten before the sons of Jacob, and the sons of Jacob slew of Esau's people forty men.
62 And Chushim the son of Dan, the son of Jacob, was at that time with Jacob's sons, but he was about a hundred cubits distant from the place of battle, for he remained with the children of Jacob's sons by Jacob's bier to guard it.
63 And Chushim was dumb and deaf, still he understood the voice of consternation amongst men.
64 And he asked, saying, Why do you not bury the dead, and what is this great consternation? and thy answered him the words of Esau and his sons; and he ran to Esau in the midst of the battle,a nd he slew Esau with a sword, and he cut off his head, and it sprang to a distance, and Esau fell amongst the people of the battle.
65 And when Chushim did this thing the sons of Jacob prevailed over the sons of Esau, and the sons of Jacob buried their father Jacob by force in the cave, and the sons of Esau beheld it.
66 And Jacob was buried in Hebron, in the cave of Machpelah which Abraham had bought from the sons of Heth for the possession of a burial place,a nd he was buried in very costly garments.

67 And no king had such honor paid him as Joseph paid unto his father at his death, for he buried him with great honor like unto the burial of kings.
68 And Joseph and his brethren made a mourning of seven days for their father.

CHAPTER LVII.

1 And it was after this that the sons of Esau waged war with the sons of Jacob, and the sons of Esau fought with the sons of Jacob in Hebron, and Esau was still lying dead, and not buried.
2 And the battle was heavy between them, and the sons of Esau were smitten before the sons of Jacob, and the sons of Jacob slew of the sons of Esau eighty men, and not one died of the people of the sons of Jacob; and the hand of Joseph prevailed over all the people of the sons of Esau, and he took Zepho, the son of Eliphaz, the son of Esau, and fifty of his men captive, and he bound them with chains of iron, and gave them into the hand of his servants to bring them to Egypt.
3 And it came to pass when the sons of Jacob had taken Zepho and his people captive, all those that remained were greatly afraid of their lives from the house of Esau, lest they should also be taken captive, and they all fled with Eliphaz the son of Esau and his people, with Esau's body, and they went on their road to Mount Seir.
4 And they came unto Mount Seir and they buried Esau in Seir, but they had not brought his head with them to Seir, for it was buried in that place where the battle had been in Hebron.
5 And it came to pass when the sons of Esau had fled from before the sons of Jacob, the sons of Jacob pursued them unto the borders of Seir, but they did not slay a single man from amongst them when they pursued them, for Esau's body which they carried with them excited their confusion, so they fled and the sons of Jacob turned back from them and came up to the place where their brethren were in Hebron, and they remained there on that day, and on the next day until they rested from the battle.
6 And it came to pass on the third day they assembled all the sons of Seir the Horite, and they assembled all the children of the east, a multitude of people like the sand of the sea, and they went and came down to Egypt to fight with Joseph and his brethren, in order to deliver their brethren.
7 And Joseph and all the sons of Jacob heard that the sons of Esau and the children of the east had come upon them to battle in order to deliver their brethren.
8 And Joseph and his brethren and the strong men of Egypt went forth and fought in the city of Raamses, and Joseph and his brethren dealt out a tremendous blow amongst the sons of Esau and the children of the east.
9 And they slew of them six hundred thousand men, and they slew amongst them all the mighty men of the children of Seir the Horite; there were only a few of them left, and they slew also a great many of the children of the east, and of the children of Esau; and Eliphaz the son of Esau, and the children of the east all fled before Joseph and his brethren.
10 And Joseph and his brethren pursued them until they came unto Succoth, and they yet slew of them in Succoth thirty men, and the rest escaped and they fled each to his city.
11 And Joseph and his brethren and the mighty men of Egypt turned back from them with joy and cheerfulness of heart, for they had smitten all their enemies.
12 And Zepho the son of Eliphaz and his men were still slaves in Egypt to the sons of Jacob, and their pains increased.
13 And when the sons of Esau and the sons of Seir returned tot heir land, the sons of Seir saw that they had all fallen into the hands of the sons of Jacob, and the people of Egypt, on account of the battle of the sons of Esau.

14 And the sons of Seir said unto the sons of Esau, You have seen and therefore you know that this camp was on your account, and not one mighty man or an adept in war remaineth.
15 Now therefore go forth from our land, go from us to the land of Canaan to the land of the dwelling of your fathers; wherefore shall your children inherit the effects of our children in latter days?
16 And the children of Esau would not listen to the children of Seir, and the children of Seir considered to make war with them.
17 And the children of Esau sent secretly to Angeas king of Africa, the same is Dinhabah, saying,
18 Send unto us some of thy men and let them come unto us, and we will fight together with the children of Seir the Horite, for they have resolved to fight with us to drive us away from the land.
19 And Angeas king of Dinhabah did so, for he was in those days friendly to the children of Esau, and Angeas sent five hundred valiant infantry to the children of Esau, and eight hundred cavalry.
20 And the children of Seir sent unto the children of the east and unto the children of Midian, saying, You have seen what the children of Esau have done unto us, upon whose account we are almost all destroyed, in their battle with the sons of Jacob.
21 Now therefore come unto us and assist us, and we will fight them together, and we will drive them from the land and be avenged of the cause of our brethren who died for their sakes in their battle with their brethren the sons of Jacob.
22 And all the children of the east listened to the children of Seir, and they came unto them about eight hundred men with drawn swords, and the children of Esau fought with the children of Seir at that time in the wilderness of Paran.
23 And the children of Seir prevailed then over the sons of Esau, and the children of Seir slew on that day of the children of Esau in that battle about two hundred men of the people of Angeas king of Dinhabah.
24 And on the second day the children of Esau came again to fight a second time with the children of Seir, and the battle was sore upon the children of Esau this second time, and it troubled them greatly on account of the children of Seir.
25 And when the children of Esau saw that the children of Seir were more powerful than they were, some men of the children of Esau turned and assisted the children of Seir their enemies.
26 And there fell yet of the people of the children of Esau in the second battle fifty-eight men of the people of Angeas king of Dinhabah.
27 And on the third day the children of Esau heard that some of their brethren had turned from them to fight against them in the second battle; and the children of Esau mourned when they heard this thing.
28 And they said, What shall we do unto our brethren who turned from us to assist the children of Seir our enemies? and the children of Esau again sent to Angeas king of Dinhabah, saying,
29 Send unto us again other men that with them we may fight with the children of Seir, for they have already twice been heavier than we were.
30 And Angeas again sent to the children of Esau about six hundred valiant men,a nd they came to assist the children of Esau.
31 And in ten days' time the children of Esau again waged war with the children of Seir in the wilderness of Paran, and the battle was very severe upon the children of Seir, and the children of Esau prevailed at this time over the children of Seir, and the children of Seir were smitten before the children of Esau, and the children of Esau slew from them about two thousand men.

32 And all the mighty men of the children of Seir died in this battle, and there only remained their young children that were left in their cities.
33 And all Midian and the children of the east betook themselves to flight from the battle, and they left the children of Seir and fled when they saw that the battle was severe upon them, and the children of Esau pursued all the children of the east until they reached their land.
34 And the children of Esau slew yet of them about two hundred and fifty men and from the people of the children of Esau there fell in that battle about thirty men, but this evil came upon them through their brethren turning from them to assist the children of Seir the Horite, and the children of Esau again heard of the evil doings of their brethren, and they again mourned on account of this thing.
35 And it came to pass after the battle, the children of Esau turned back and came home unto Seir, and the children of Esau slew those who had remained in the land of the children of SEir; they slew also their wives and little ones, they left not a soul alive except fifty young lads and damsels whom they suffered to live, and the children of Esau did not put them to death, and the lads became their slaves, and the damsels they took for wives.
36 And the children of Esau dwelt in Seir in the place of the children of Seir, and they inherited their land and took possession of it.
37 And the children of Esau took all belonging in the land to the children of Seir, also their flocks, their bullocks and their goods, and all belonging tot he children of Seir, did the children of Esau take, and the children of Esau dwelt in Seir in the place of the children of Seir unto this day, and the children of Esau divided the land into divisions to the five sons of Esau, according to their families.
38 And it came to pass in those days, that the children of Esau resolved to crown a king over them in the land of which they became possessed. And they said to each other, Not so, for he shall reign over us in our land, and we shall be under his counsel and he shall fight our battles, against our enemies, and they did so.
39 And all the children of Esau swore, saying, That none of their brethren should ever reign over them, but a strange man who is not of their brethren, for the souls of all the children of Esau were embittered every man against his son, brother and friend, on account of the evil they sustained from their brethren when they fought with the children of Seir.
40 Therefore the sons of Esau swore, saying, From that day forward they would not choose a king from their brethren, but one from a strange land unto this day.
41 And there was a man there from the people of Angeas king of Dinhabah; his name was Bela the son of Beor, who was a very valiant man, beautiful and comely and wise in all wisdom, and a man of sense and counsel; and there was none of the people of Angeas like unto him.
42 And all the children of Esau took him and anointed him and they crowned him for a king, and they bowed down to him, and they said unto him, May the king live, may the king live.
43 And they spread out the sheet, and they brought him each man earrings of gold and silver or rings or bracelets, and they made him very rich in silver an din gold, in onyx stones and bdellium, and they made him a royal throne, and they placed a regal crown upon his head, and they built a palace for him and he dwelt therein, and he became king over all the children of Esau.
44 And the people of Angeas took their hire for their battle from the children of Esau, and they went and returned a that time to their master in Dinhabah.
45 And Bela reigned over the children of Esau thirty years, and the children of Esau dwelt in the land instead of the children of Seir, and they dwelt securely in their stead unto this day.

CHAPTER LVIII.

1 And it came to pass in the thirty-second year of the Israelites going down to Egypt, that is in the seventy-first year of the life of Joseph, in that year died Pharaoh king of Egypt, and Magron his son reigned in his stead.
2 And Pharaoh commanded Joseph before his death to be a father to his son, Magron, and that Magron should be under the care of Joseph and under his counsel.
3 And all Egypt consented to this thing that Joseph should be king over them, for all the Egyptians loved Joseph as of heretofore, only Magron the son of Pharaoh sat upon his father's throne, and he became king in those days in his father's stead.
4 Magron was forty-one years old when he began to reign, and forty years he reigned in Egypt, and all Egypt called his name Pharaoh after the name of his father, as it was their custom to do in Egypt to every king that reigned over them.
5 And it came to pass when Pharaoh reigned in his father's stead, he placed the laws of Egypt and all the affairs of government in the hand of Joseph, as his father had commanded him.
6 And Joseph became king over Egypt, for he superintended over all Egypt, and all Egypt was under his care and under his counsel, for all Egypt inclined to Joseph after the death of Pharaoh, and they loved him exceedingly to reign over them.
7 But there were some people amongst them, who did not like him, saying, No stranger shall reign over us; still the whole government of Egypt devolved in those days upon Joseph, after the death of Pharaoh, he being the regulator, doing as he liked throughout the land without any one interfering.
8 And all Egypt was under the care of Joseph, and Joseph made war with all his surrounding enemies, and he subdued them; also all the land and all the Philistines, unto the borders of Canaan, did Joseph subdue, and they were all under his power and they gave a yearly tax unto Joseph.
9 And Pharaoh king of Egypt sat upon his throne in his father's stead, but he was under the control and counsel of Joseph, as he was at first under the control of his father.
10 Neither did he reign but in the land of Egypt only, under the counsel of Joseph, but Joseph reigned over the whole country at that time, from Egypt unto the great river Perath.
11 And Joseph was successful in all his ways, and the Lord was with him, and the Lord gave Joseph additional wisdom, and honor, and glory, and love toward him in the hearts of the Egyptians and throughout the land, and Joseph reigned over the whole country forty years.
12 And all the countries of the Philistines and Canaan and Zidon, and on the other side of Jordan, brought presents unto Joseph all his days, and the whole country was in the hand of Joseph, and they brought unto him a yearly tribute as it was regulated, for Joseph had fought against all his surrounding enemies and subdued them, and the whole country was in the and of Joseph, and Joseph sat securely upon his throne in Egypt.
13 And also all his brethren the sons of Jacob dwelt securely in the land, all the days of Joseph, and they were fruitful and multiplied exceedingly in the land, and they served the Lord all their days, as their father Jacob had commanded them.
14 And it came to pass at the end of many days and years, when the children of Esau were dwelling quietly in their land with Bela their king, that the children of Esau were fruitful and multiplied in the land, and they resolved to go and fight with the sons of Jacob and all Egypt, and to deliver their brother Zepho, the son of Eliphaz, and his men, for they were yet in those days slaves to Joseph.
15 And the children of Esau sent unto all the children of the east, and they made peace with them, and all the children of the east came unto them to go with the children of Esau to Egypt to battle.

16 And there came also unto them of the people of Angeas, king of Dinhabah, and they also sent unto the children of Ishmael and they also came unto them.
17 And all this people assembled and came unto Seir to assist the children of Esau in their battle, and this camp was very large and heavy with people, numerous as the sand of the sea, about eight hundred thousand men, infantry and cavalry, and all these troops went down to Egypt to fight with the sons of Jacob, and they encamped by Raamses.
18 And Joseph went forth with his brethren with the mighty men of Egypt, about six hundred men, and they fought with them in the land of Raamses; and the sons of Jacob at that time again fought with the children of Esau, in the fiftieth year of the sons of Jacob going down to Egypt, that is the thirtieth year of the reign of Bela over the children of Esau in Seir.
19 And the Lord gave all the mighty men of Esau and the children of the east into the and of Joseph and his brethren, and he people of the children of Esau and the children of the east were smitten before Joseph. 20 And of the people of Esau and the children of the east that were slain, there fell before the sons of Jacob about two hundred thousand men, and their king Bela the son of Beor fell with them in the battle, and when the children of Esau saw that their king had fallen in battle and was dead, their hands became weak in the combat.
21 And Joseph and his brethren and all Egypt were still smiting the people of the house of Esau, and all Esau's people were afraid of the sons of Jacob and fled from before them.
22 And Joseph and his brethren and all egypt pursued them a day's journey, and they slew yet from them about three hundred men, continuing to smite them in the road; and they afterward turned back from them.
23 And Joseph and all his brethren returned to Egypt, not one man was missing from them, but of the Egyptians there fell twelve men.
24 And when Joseph returned to Egypt he ordered Zepho and his men to be additionally bound, and they bound them in irons and they increased their grief.
25 And all the people of the children of Esau, and the children of the east, returned in shame each unto his city, for all the mighty men that were with them had fallen in battle.
26 And when the children of Esau saw that their king had died in battle they hastened and took a man from the people of the children of the east; his name was Jobab the son of Zarach, from the land of Botzrah, and they caused him to reign over them instead of Bela their king.
27 And Jobab sat upon the throne of Bela as king in his stead, and Jobab reigned in Edom over all the children of Esau ten years, and the children of Esau went no more to fight with the sons of Jacob from that day forward, for the sons of Esau knew the valor of the sons of Jacob, and they were greatly afraid of them.
28 But from that day forward the children of Esau hated the sons of Jacob, and the hatred and enmity were very strong between them all the days, unto this day.
29 And it came to pass after this, at the end of ten years, Jobab, the son of Zarach, from Botzrah, died, and the children of Esau took a man whose name was Chusham, from the land of Teman, and they made him king over them instead of Jobab, and Chusham reigned in Edom over all the children of Esau for twenty years.
30 And Joseph, king of Egypt, and his brethren, and all the children of Israel dwelt securely in Egypt in those days, together with all the children of Joseph and his brethren, having no hindrance or evil accident; and the land of Egypt was at that time at rest from war in the days of Joseph and his brethren.

CHAPTER LIX.

1 And these are the names of the sons of Israel who dwelt in Egypt, who had come with Jacob, all the sons of Jacob came unto Egypt, every man with his household.
2 The children of Leah were Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar and Zebulun, and their sister Dinah.
3 And the sons of Rachel were Joseph and Benjamin.
4 And the sons of Zilpah, the handmaid of Leah, were Gad and Asher.
5 And the sons of Bilhah, the handmaid of Rachel, were Dana and Naphtali.
6 And these were their offspring that were born unto them in the land of Canaan, before they came unto Egypt with their father Jacob.
7 The sons of Reuben were Chanoch, Pallu, Chetzron and Carmi.
8 And the sons of Simeon were Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zochar and Saul, the son of the Canaanitish woman.
9 And the children of Levi were Gershon, Kehath and Merari, and their sister Jochebed, who was born unto them in their going down to Egypt.
10 And the sons of Judah were Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez and Zarach.
11 And Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan; and the sons of Perez were Chezron and Chamul.
12 And the sons of Issachar were Tola, Puvah, Job and Shomron.
13 And the sons of Zebulun were Sered, Elon and Jachleel, and the son of Dan was Chushim.
14 And the sons of Naphtali were Jachzeel, Guni, Jetzer and Shilam.
15 And the sons of Gad were Ziphion, Chaggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi and Areli.
16 And the children of Asher were Jimnah, Jishvah, Jishvi, Beriah and their sister Serach; and the sons of Eriah were Cheber and Malchiel.
17 And the sons of Benjamin were Bela, Becher, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, Achi, Rosh, Mupim, Chupim and Ord.
18 And the sons of Joseph, that were born unto him in Egypt, were Manasseh and Ehpraim.
19 And all the souls that went forth from the loins of Jacob, were seventy souls; these are they who came with Jacob their father unto Egypt to dwell there: and Joseph and all his brethren dwelt securely in Egypt, and they ate of the best of Egypt all the days of the life of Joseph.
20 And Joseph lived in the land of Egypt ninety-three years, and Joseph reigned over all Egypt eighty years.
21 And when the days of Joseph drew nigh that he should die, he sent and called for his brethren and all his father's household, and they all came together and sat before him.
22 And Joseph said unto his brethren and unto the whole of his father's household, Behold I die, and God will surely visit you and bring you up from this land to the land which he swore to your fathers to give unto them.
23 And it shall be when God shall visit you to bring you up from here to the land of your fathers, then bring up my bones with you from here.
24 And Joseph made the sons of Israel to swear for their seed after them, saying, God will surely visit you and you shall bring up my bones with you from here.
25 And it came to pass after this that Joseph died in that year, the seventy-first year of the Israelites going down to Egypt.
26 And Joseph was one hundred and ten years old when he died in the land of Egypt, and all his brethren and all his servants rose up and they embalmed Joseph, as was their custom, and his brethren and all Egypt mourned over him for seventy days.
27 And they put Joseph in a coffin filled with spices and all sorts of perfume, and they buried him by the side of the river, that is Sihor, and his sons and all his brethren, and the whole of his father's household made a seven day's mourning for him.

28 And it came to pass after the death of Joseph, all the Egyptians began in those days to rule over the children of Israel, and Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who reigned in his father's stead, took all the laws of Egypt and conducted the whole government of Egypt under his counsel, and he reigned securely over his people.

CHAPTER LX.

1 And when the year came round, being the seventy-second year from the Israelites going down to Egypt, after the death of Joseph, Zepho, the son of Eliphaz, the son of Esau, fled from Egypt, he and his men, and they went away.
2 And he came to Africa, which is Dinhabah, to Angeas king of Africa, and Angeas received them with great honor, and he made Zepho the captain of his host.
3 And Zepho found favor in the sight of Angeas and in the sight of his people, and Zepho was captain of the host to Angeas king of Africa for many days.
4 And Zepho enticed Angeas king of Africa to collect all his army to go and fight with the Egyptians, and with the sons of Jacob, and to avenge of them the cause of his brethren.
5 But Angeas would not listen to Zepho to do this thing, for Angeas knew the strength of the sons of Jacob, and what they had done to his army in their warfare with the children of Esau.
6 And Zepho was in those days very great in the sight of Angeas and in the sight of all his people, and he continually enticed them to make war against Egypt, but they would not.
7 And it came to pass in those days there was in the land of Chittim a man in the city of Puzimna, whose name was Uzu, and he became degenerately defied by the children of Chittim, and the man died and had no son, only one daughter whose name was Jania.
8 And the damsel was exceedingly beautiful, comely and intelligent, there was none seen like unto her for beauty and wisdom throughout the land.
9 And the people of Angeas king of Africa saw her and they came and praised her unto him, and Angeas sent to the children of Chittim, and he requested to take her unto himself for a wife, and the people of Chittim consented to give her unto him for a wife.
10 And when the messengers of Angeas were going forth from the land of Chittim to take their journey, behold the messengers of Turnus king of Bibentu came unto Chittim, for Turnus king of Bibentu also sent his messengers to request Jania for him, to take unto himself for a wife, for all his men had also praised her to him, therefore he sent all his servants unto her.
11 And the servants of Turnus came to Chittim, and they asked for Jania, to be taken unto Turnus their king for a wife.
12 And the people of Chittim said unto them, We cannot give her, because Angeas king of Africa desired her to take her unto him for a wife before you came, and that we should give her unto him, and now therefore we cannot do this thing to deprive Angeas of the damsel in order to give her unto Turnus.
13 For we are greatly afraid of Angeas lest he come in battle against us and destroy us, and Turnus your master will not be able to deliver us from his hand.
14 And when the messengers of Turnus heard all the words of the children of Chittim, they turned back to their master and told him all the words of the children of Chittim.
15 And the children of Chittim sent a memorial to Angeas, saying, Behold Turnus has sent for Jania to take her unto him for a wife, and thus have we answered him; and we heard that he has collected his whole army to go to war against thee, and he intends to pass by the road of Sardunia to fight against thy brother Lucus, and after that he will come to fight against thee.

16 And Angeas heard the words of the children of Chittim which they sent to him in the record, and his anger was kindled and he rose up and assembled his whole army and came through the islands of the sea, the road to Sardunia, unto his brother Lucus king of Sardunia.
17 And Niblos, the son of Lucus, heard that his uncle Angeas was coming, and he went out to meet him with a heavy army, and he kissed him and embraced him, and Niblos said unto Angeas, When thou askest my father after his welfare, when I shall go with thee to fight with Turnus, ask of him to make me captain of his host, and Angeas did so, and he came unto his brother and his brother came to meet him, and he asked him after his welfare.
18 And Angeas asked his brother Lucus after his welfare, and to make his son Niblos captain of his host, and Lucus did so, and Angeas and his brother Lucus rose up and they went toward Turnus to battle, and there was with them a great army and a heavy people.
19 And he came in ships, and they came into the province of Ashtorash, and behold Turnus came toward them, for he went forth to Sardunia, and intended to destroy it and afterward to pass on from there to Angeas to fight with him.
20 And Angeas and Lucus his brother met Turnus in the valley of Canopia, and the battle was strong and mighty between them in that place.
21 And the battle was severe upon Lucus king of Sardunia, and all his army fell, and Niblos his son fell also in that battle.
22 And his uncle Angeas commanded his servants and they made a golden coffin for Niblos and they put him into it, and Angeas again waged battle toward Turnus, and Angeas was stronger than he, and he slew him, and he smote all his people with the edge of the sword, and Angeas avenged the cause of Niblos his brother's son and the cause of the army of his brother Lucus.
23 And when Turnus died, the hands of those that survived the battle became weak, and they fled from before Angeas and Lucus his brother.
24 And Angeas and his brother Lucus pursued them unto the highroad, which is between Alphanu and Romah, and they slew the whole army of Turnus with the edge of the sword.
25 And Lucus king of Sardunia commanded his servants that they should make a coffin of brass, and that they should place therein the body of his son Niblos, and they buried him in that place. 26 And they built upon it a high tower there upon the highroad, and they called its name after the name of Niblos unto this day, and they also buried Turnus king of Bibentu there in that place with Niblos.
27 And behold upon the highroad between Alphanu and Romah the grave of Niblos is on one side and the grave of Turnus on the other, and a pavement between them unto this day.
28 And when Niblos was buried Lucus his father returned with his army to his land Sardunia, and Angeas his brother king of Africa went with his people unto the city of Bibentu, that is the city of Turnus.
29 And the inhabitants of Bibentu heard of his fame and they were greatly afraid of him, and they went forth to meet him with weeping and supplication, and the inhabitants of Bibentu entreated of Angeas not to slay them nor destroy their city; and he did so, for Bibentu was in those days reckoned as one of the cities of the children of Chittim; therefore he did not destroy the city.
30 But from that day forward the troops of the king of Africa would go to Chittim to spoil and plunder it, and whenever they went Zepho the captain of the host of Angeas would go with them.
31 And it was after this that Angeas turned with his army and they came to the city of Puzimna, and Angeas took thence Jania the daughter of Uzu for a wife and brought her unto his city unto Africa.

CHAPTER LXI.

1 And it came to pass at that time Pharaoh king of Egypt commanded all his people to make for him a strong palace in Egypt.
2 And he also commanded the sons of Jacob to assist the Egyptians in the building, and the Egyptians made a beautiful and elegant palace for a royal habitation, and he dwelt therein and he renewed his government and he reigned securely.
3 And Zebulun the son of Jacob died in that year, that is the seventy-second year of the going down of the Israelites to Egypt, and Zebulun died a hundred and fourteen years old, and was put into a coffin and given into the hands of his children.
4 And in the seventy-fifth year died his brother Simeon, he was a hundred and twenty years old at his death, and he was also put into a coffin and given into the hands of his children.
5 And Zepho the son of Eliphaz the son of Esau, captain of the host to Angeas king of Kinhabah, was still daily enticing Angeas to prepare for battle to fight with the sons of Jacob in Egypt, and Angeas was unwilling to do this thing, for his servants had related to him all the might of the sons of Jacob, what they had done unto them in their battle with the children of Esau.
6 And Zepho was in those days daily enticing Angeas to fight with the sons of Jacob in those days.
7 And after some time Angeas hearkened to the words of Zepho and consented to him to fight with the sons of Jacob in Egypt, and Angeas got all his people in order, a people numerous as the sand which is upon the sea shore, and he formed his resolution to go to Egypt to battle.
8 And amongst the servants of Angeas was a youth fifteen years old, Balaam the son of Beor was his name and the youth was very wise and understood the art of witchcraft.
9 And Angeas said unto Balaam, Conjure for us, I pray thee, with the witchcraft, that we may know who will prevail in this battle to which we are now proceeding.
10 And Balaam ordered that they should bring him wax, and he made thereof the likeness of chariots and horsemen representing the army of Angeas and the army of Egypt, and he put them in the cunningly prepared waters that he had for that purpose, and he took in his hand the boughs of myrtle trees, and he exercised his cunning, and he joined them over the water, and there appeared unto him in the water the resembling images of the hosts of Angeas falling before the resembling images of the Egyptians and the sons of Jacob.
11 And Balaam told this thing to Angeas, and Angeas despaired and did not arm himself to go down to Egypt to battle, and he remained in his city.
12 And when Zepho the son of Eliphaz saw that Angeas despaired of going forth to battle with the Egyptians, Zepho fled from Angeas from Africa, and he went and came unto Chittim.
13 And all the people of Chittim received him with great honor, and they hired him to fight their battles all the days, and Zepho became exceedingly rich in those days, and the troops of the king of Africa still spread themselves in those days, and the children of Chittim assembled and went to Mount Cuptizia on account of the troops of Angeas king of Africa, who were advancing upon them.
14 And it was one day that Zepho lost a young heifer, and he went to seek it, and he heard it lowing round about the mountain.
15 And Zepho went and he saw and behold there was a large cave at the bottom of the mountain, and there was a great stone there at the entrance of the cave, and Zepho split the stone and he came into the cave and he looked and behold, a large animal was devouring the ox; from the middle upward it resembled a man, and from the middle downward it resembled an animal, and Zepho rose up against the animal and slew it with his sword.

16 And the inhabitants of Chittim heard of this thing, and they rejoiced exceedingly, and they said, What shall we do unto this man who has slain this animal that devoured out cattle?
17 And they all assembled to consecrate one day in the year to him, and they called the name thereof Zepho after his name, and they brought unto him drink offerings year after year on that day, and they brought unto him gifts.
18 At that time Jania the daughter of Uzu wife of king Angeas became ill, and her illness was heavily felt by Angeas and his officers, and Angeas said unto his wise men, What shall I do to Jania and how shall I heal her from her illness? and his wise men said unto him, Because the air of our country is not like the air of the land of Chittim, and our water is not like their water, therefore from this has the queen become ill.
19 For through the change of air and water she became ill, and also because in her country she drank only the water which came from Purmah, which her ancestors had brought up with bridges.
20 And Angeas commanded his servants, and they brought unto him in vessels of the waters of Purmah belonging to Chittim, and they weighed those waters with all the waters of the land of Africa, and they found those waters lighter than the waters of Africa.
21 And Angeas saw this thing, and he commanded all his officers to assemble the hewers of stone in thousands and tens of thousands, and they hewed stone without number, and the builders came and they built an exceedingly strong ridge, and they conveyed the spring of water form the land of Chittim unto Africa, and those waters were for Jania the queen and for all her concerns, to drink from and to bake, wash and bathe therewith, and also to water therewith all seed from which food can be obtained, and all fruit of the ground.
22 And the king commanded that they should bring of the soil of Chittim in large ships, and they also brought stones to build therewith, and the builders built palaces for Jania the queen, and the queen became healed of her illness.
23 And at the revolution of the year the troops of Africa continued coming tot he land of Chittim to plunder as usual, and Zepho son of Eliphaz heard their report, and he gave orders concerning them and he fought with them, and they fled before him, and he delivered the land of Chittim from them.
24 And the children of Chittim saw the valor of Zepho, and the children of Chittim resolved and they made Zepho king over them, and he became king over them, and whilst he reigned they went to subdue the children of Tubal, and all the surrounding islands.
25 And their king Zepho went at their head and they made war with Tubal and the islands, and they subdued them, and when they returned from the battle they renewed his government for him, and they built for him a very large palace for his royal habitation and seat, and they made a large throne for him, and Zepho reigned over the whole land of Chittim and over the land of Italia fifty years.

CHAPTER LXII.

1 In that year, being the seventy-ninth year of the Israelites going down to Egypt, died Reuben the son of Jacob, in the land of Egypt; Reuben was a hundred and twenty-five years old when he died, and they put him into a coffin, and he was given into the hands of his children.
2 And in the eightieth year died his brother Dan; he was a hundred and twenty years at his death, and he was also put into a coffin and given into the hands of his children.
3 And in that year died Chusham king of Edom, and after him reigned Hadad the son of Bedad, for thirty-five years; and in the eighty-first year died Issachar the son of Jacob, in Egypt, and Issachar was a hundred and twenty-two years old at his death, and he was put into a coffin in Egypt, and given into the hands of his children.

4 And in the eighty-second year died Asher his brother, he was a hundred and twenty-three years old at his death, and he was placed in a coffin in Egypt, and given into the hands of his children.
5 And in the eighty-third year died Gad, he was a hundred and twenty-five years old at his death, and he was put into a coffin in Egypt, and given into the hands of his children.
6 And it came to pass in the eighty-fourth year, that is the fiftieth year of the reign of Hadad, son of Bedad, king of Edom, that Hadad assembled all the children of Esau, and he got his whole army in readiness, about four hundred thousand men, and he directed his way to the land of Moab, and he went to fight with Moab and to make them tributary to him.
7 And the children of joab heard this thing, and they were very much afraid, and they sent tot he children of Midian to assist them in fighting with Hadad, son of Bedad, king of Edom.
8 And Hadad came unto the land of Moab, and Moab and the children of Midian went out to meet him, and they placed themselves in battle array against him in the field of Moab.
9 And Hadad fought with Moab, and there fell of the children of Moab and the children of Midian many slain ones, about two hundred thousand men.
10 And the battle was very severe upon Moab, and when the children of Moab saw that the battle was sore upon them, they weakened their hands and turned their backs, and left the children of Midian to carry on the battle.
11 And the children of Midian knew not the intentions of Moab, but they strengthened themselves in battle and fought with Hadad and all his host, and all Midian fell before him.
12 And Hadad smote all Midian with a heavy smiting, and he slew them with the edge of the sword, he left none remaining of those who came to assist Moab.
13 And when all the children of Midian had perished in battle, and the children of Moab had escaped, Hadad made all Moab at that time tributary to him, and they became under his hand, and they gave a yearly tax as it was ordered, and Hadad turned and went back to his land.
14 And at the revolution of the year, when the rest of the people of Midian that were in the land heard that all their brethren had fallen in battle with Hadad for the sake of Moab, because the children of Moab had turned their backs in battle and left Midian to fight, then five of the princes of Midian resolved with the rest of their brethren who remained in their land, to fight with Moab to avenge the cause of their brethren.
15 And the children of Midian sent to all their brethren the children of the east, and all their brethren, all the children of Keturah came to assist Midian to fight with Moab.
16 And the children of Moab heard this thing, and they were greatly afraid that all the children of the east had assembled together against them for battle, and they the children of Moab sent a memorial to the land of Edom to Hadad the son of Bedad, saying,
17 Come now unto us and assist us and we will smite Midian, for they all assembled together and have come against us with all their brethren the children of the east to battle, to avenge the cause of Midian that fell in battle.
18 And Hadad, son of Bedad, king of Edom, went forth with his whole army and went to the land of Moab to fight with Midian, and Midian and the children of the east fought with Moab in the field of Moab, and the battle was very fierce between them.
19 And Hadad smote all the children of Midian and the children of the east with the edge of the sword, and Hadad at that time delivered Moab from the hand of Midian, and those that remained of Midian and of the children of the east fled before Hadad and his army, and Hadad pursued them to their land, and smote them with a very heavy slaughter, and the slain fell in the road.
20 And Hadad delivered Moab from the hand of Midian, for all the children of Midian had fallen by the edge of the sword, and Hadad turned and went back to his land.

21 And from that day forth, the children of Midian hated the children of Moab, because they had fallen in battle for their sake, and there was a great and mighty enmity between them all the days.
22 And all that were found of Midian in the road of the land of Moab perished by the sword of Moab, and all that were found of Moab in the road of the land of Midian, perished by the sword of Midian; thus did Midian unto Moab and Moab unto Midian for many days.
23 And it came to pass at that time that Judah the son of Jacob died in Egypt, in the eighty-sixth year of Jacob's going down to Egypt, and Judah was a hundred and twenty-nine years old at his death, and they embalmed him and put him into a coffin, and he was given into the hands of his children.
24 And in the eighty-ninth year died Naphtali, he was a hundred and thirty-two years old, and he was put into a coffin and given into the hands of his children.
25 And it came to pass in the ninety-first year of the Israelites going down to Egypt, that is in the thirtieth year of the reign of Zepho the son of Eliphaz, the son of Esau, over the children of Chittim, the children of Africa came upon the children of Chittim to plunder them as usual, but they had not come upon them for these thirteen years.
26 And they came to them in that year, and Zepho the son of Eliphaz went out to them with some of his men and smote them desperately, and the troops of Africa fled from before Zepho and the slain fell before him, and Zepho and his men pursued them, going on and smiting them until they were near unto Africa.
27 And Angeas king of Africa heard the thing which Zepho had done, and it vexed him exceedingly, and Angeas was afraid of Zepho all the days.

CHAPTER LXIII.

1 And in the ninety-third year died Levi, the son of Jacob, in Egypt, and Levi was a hundred and thirty-seven years old when he died, and they put him into a coffin and he was given into the hands of his children.
2 And it came to pass after the death of Levi, when all Egypt saw that the sons of Jacob the brethren of Joseph were dead, all the Egyptians began to afflict the children of Jacob, and to embitter their lives from that day unto the day of their going forth from Egypt, and they took from their hands all the vineyards and fields which Joseph had given unto them, and all the elegant houses in which the people of Israel lived, and all the fat of Egypt, the Egyptians took all from the sons of Jacob in those days.
3 And the hand of all Egypt became more grievous in those days against the children of Israel, and the Egyptians injured the Israelites until the children of Israel were wearied of their lives on account of the Egyptians.
4 And it came to pass in those days, in the hundred and second d year of Israel's going down to Egypt, that Pharaoh king of Egypt died, and Melol his son reigned in his stead, and all the mighty men of Egypt and all that generation which knew Joseph and his brethren died in those days.
5 And another generation rose up in their stead, which had not known the sons of Jacob and all the good which they had done to them, and all their might in Egypt.
6 Therefore all egypt began from that day forth to embitter the lives of the sons of Jacob, and to afflict them with all manner of hard labor, because they had not known their ancestors who had delivered them in the days of the famine.
7 And this was also from the Lord, for the children of Israel, to benefit them in their latter days, in order that all the children of Israel might know the Lord their God.
8 And in order to know the signs and mighty wonders which the Lord would do in Egypt on account of his people Israel, in order that the children of Israel might fear the Lord God of their ancestors, and walk in all his ways, they and their seed after them all the days.

9 Melol was twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned ninety-four years, and all Egypt called his name Pharaoh after the name of his father, as it was their custom to do to every king who reigned over them in Egypt.
10 At that time all the troops of Angeas king of Africa went forth to spread along the land of Chittim as usual for plunder.
11 And Zepho the son of Eliphaz the son of Esau heard their report, and he went forth to meet them with his army, and he fought them there in the road.
12 And Zepho smote the troops of the king of Africa with the edge of the sword, and left none remaining of them, and not even one returned to his master in Africa.
13 And Angeas heard of this which Zepho the son of Eliphaz had done to all his troops, that he had destroyed them, and Angeas assembled all his troops, all the men of the land of Africa, a people numerous like the sand by the sea shore.
14 And Angeas sent to Lucus his brother, saying, Come to me with all thy men and help me to smite Zepho and all the children of Chittim who have destroyed my men, and Lucus came with his whole army, a very great force, to assist Angeas his brother to fight with Zepho and the children of Chittim.
15 And Zepho and the children of Chittim heard this thing, and they were greatly afraid and a great terror fell upon their hearts.
16 And Zepho also sent a letter to the land of Edom to Hadad the son of Bedad king of Edom and to all the children of Esau, saying,
17 I have heard that Angeas king of Africa is coming to us with his brother for battle against us, and we are greatly afraid of him, for his army is very great, particularly as he comes against us with his brother and his army likewise.
18 Now therefore come you also up with me and help me, and we will fight together against Angeas and his brother Lucus, and you will save us out of their hands, but if not, know ye that we shall all die.
19 And the children of Esau sent a letter to the children of Chittim and to Zepho their king, saying, We cannot fight against Angeas and his people for a covenant of peace has been between us these many years, from the days of Bela the first king, and from the days of Joseph the son of Jacob king of Egypt, with whom we fought on the other side of Jordan when he buried his father.
20 And when Zepho heard the words of his brethren the children of Esau he refrained from them, and Zepho was greatly afraid of Angeas.
21 And Angeas and Lucus his brother arrayed all their forces, about eight hundred thousand men, against the children of Chittim.
22 And all the children of Chittim said unto Zepho, Pray for us to the God of thy ancestors, peradventure he may deliver us from the hand of Angeas and his army, for we have heard that he is a great God and that he delivers all who trust in him.
23 And Zepho heard their words, and Zepho sought the Lord and he said,
24 O Lord God of Abraham and Isaac my ancestors, this day I know that thou art a true God, and all the gods of the nations are vain and useless.
25 Remember now this day unto me thy covenant with Abraham our father, which our ancestors related unto us, and do graciously with me this day for the sake of Abraham and Isaac our fathers, and save me and the children of Chittim from the hand of the king of Africa who comes against us for battle.
26 And the Lord hearkened to the voice of Zepho, and he had regard for him on account of Abraham and Isaac, and the Lord delivered Zepho and the children of Chittim from the hand of Angeas and his people.
27 And Zepho fought Angeas king of Africa and all his people on that day, and the Lord gave all the people of Angeas into the hands of the children of Chittim.

28 And the battle was severe upon Angeas, and Zepho smote all the men of Angeas and Lucus his brother, with the edge of the sword, and there fell from them unto the evening of that day about four hundred thousand men.
29 And when Angeas saw that al his men perished, he sent a letter to all the inhabitants of Africa to come to him, to assist him in the battle, and he wrote in the letter, saying, All who are found in Africa let them come unto me from ten years old and upward; let them all come unto me, and behold if he comes not he shall die, and all that he has, with his whole household, the king will take.
30 And all the rest of the inhabitants of Africa were terrified at the words of Angeas, and there went out of the city about three hundred thousand men and boys, from ten years upward, and they came to Angeas.
31 And at the end of ten days Angeas renewed the battle against Zepho and the children of Chittim, and the battle was very great and strong between them.
32 And from the army of Angeas and Lucus Zepho sent many of the wounded unto his land, about two thousand men, and Sosiphtar the captain of the host of Angeas fell in that battle.
33 And when Sosiphtar had fallen the African troops turned their backs to flee, and they fled, and Angeas and Lucus his brother were with them.
34 And Zepho and the children of Chittim pursued them, and they smote them still heavily on the road, about two hundred men, and they pursued Azdrubal the son of Angeas who had fled with his father, and they smote twenty of his men in the road, and Azdrubal escaped from the children of Chittim, and they did not slay him.
35 And Angeas and Lucus his brother fled with the rest of their men, and they escaped and came into Africa with terror and consternation, and Angeas feared all the days lest Zepho the son of Eliphaz should go to war with him.

CHAPTER LXIV.

1 And Balaam the son of Beor was at that time with Angeas in the battle, and when he saw that Zepho prevailed over Angeas, he fled from there and came to Chittim.
2 And Zepho and the children of Chittim received him with great honor, for Zepho knew Balaam's wisdom, and Zepho gave unto Balaam many gifts and he remained with him.
3 And when Zepho had returned from the war, he commanded all the children of Chittim to be numbered who had gone into battle with him, and behold not one was missed.
4 And Zepho rejoiced at this thing, and he renewed his kingdom, and he made a feast to all his subjects.
5 But Zepho remembered not the Lord and considered not that the Lord had helped him in battle, and that he had delivered him and his people from the hand of the king of Africa, but still walked in the ways of the children of Chittim and the wicked children of Esau, to serve other gods which his brethren the children of Esau had taught him; it is therefore said, From the wicked goes forth wickedness.
6 And Zepho reigned over all the children of Chittim securely, but knew not the Lord who had delivered him and all his people from the hand of the king of Africa; and the troops of Africa came no more to Chittim to plunder as usual, for they knew of the power of Zepho who had smitten them all at the edge of the sword, so Angeas was afraid of Zepho the son of Eliphaz, and of the children of Chittim all the days.
7 At that time when Zepho had returned from the war, and when Zepho had seen how he prevailed over all the people of Africa and had smitten them in battle at the edge of the sword, then Zepho advised with the children of Chittim, to go to Egypt to fight with the sons of Jacob and with Pharaoh king of Egypt.
8 For Zepho heard that the mighty men of Egypt were dead and that Joseph and his brethren the sons of Jacob were dead, and that all their children the children of Israel remained in Egypt.

9 And Zepho considered to go to fight against them and all Egypt, to avenge the cause of his brethren the children of Esau, whom Joseph with his brethren and all Egypt had smitten in the land of Canaan, when they went up to bury Jacob in Hebron.
10 And Zepho sent messengers to Hadad, son of Bedad, king of Edom, and to all his brethren the children of Esau, saying,
11 Did you not say that you would not fight against the king of Africa for he is a member of your covenant? behold I fought with him and smote him and all his people.
12 Now therefore I have resolved to fight against Egypt and the children of Jacob who are there, and I will be revenged of them for what Joseph, his brethren and ancestors did to us in the land of Canaan when they went up to bury their father in Hebron.
13 Now then if you are willing to come to me to assist me in fighting against them and Egypt, then shall we avenge the cause of our brethren.
14 And the children of Esau hearkened to the words of Zepho, and the children of Esau gathered themselves together, a very great people, and they went to assist Zepho and the children of Chittim in battle.
15 And Zepho sent to all the children of the east and to all the children of Ishmael with words like unto these, and they gathered themselves and came to the assistance of Zepho and the children of Chittim in the war upon Egypt.
16 And all these kings, the king of Edom and the children of the east, and all the children of Ishmael, and Zepho the king of Chittim went forth and arrayed all their hosts in Hebron.
17 And the camp was very heavy, extending in length a distance of three days' journey, a people numerous as the sand upon the sea shore which can not be counted.
18 And all these kings and their hosts went down and came against all Egypt in battle, and encamped together in the valley of Pathros.
19 And all Egypt heard their report, and they also gathered themselves together, all the people of the land of Egypt, and of all the cities belonging to Egypt, about three hundred thousand men.
20 And the men of Egypt sent also to the children of Israel who were in those days in the land of Goshen, to come to them in order to go and fight with these kings.
21 And the men of Israel assembled and were about one hundred and fifty men, and they went into battle to assist the Egyptians.
22 And the men of Israel and of Egypt went forth, about three hundred thousand men and one hundred and fifty men, and they went toward these kings to battle, and they placed themselves from without the land of Goshen opposite Pathros.
23 And the Egyptians believed not in Israel to go with them in their camps together for battle, for all the Egyptians said, Perhaps the children of Israel will deliver us into the hand of the children of Esau and Ishmael, for they are their brethren.
24 And all the Egyptians said unto the children of Israel, Remain you here together in your stand and we will go and fight against the children of Esau and Ishmael, and if these kings should prevail over us, then come you altogether upon them and assist us, and the children of Israel did so.
25 And Zepho the son of Eliphaz the son of Esau king of Chittim, and Hadad the son of Bedad king of Edom, and all their camps, and all the children of the east, and children of Ishmael, a people numerous as sand, encamped together in the valley of Pathros opposite Tachpanches.
26 And Balaam the son of Beor the Syrian was there in the camp of Zepho, for he came with the children of Chittim to the battle, and Balaam was a man highly honored in the eyes of Zepho and his men.

27 And Zepho said unto Balaam, Try by divination for us that we may know who will prevail in the battle, we or the Egyptians. 28 And Balaam rose up and tried the art of divination, and he was skillful in the knowledge of it, but he was confused and the work was destroyed in his hand.
29 And he tried it again but it did not succeed, and Balaam despaired of it and left it and did not complete it, for this was from the Lord, in order to cause Zepho and his people to fall into the hand of the children of Israel, who had trusted in the Lord, the God of their ancestors, in their war.
30 And Zepho and Hadad put their forces in battle array, and all the Egyptians went alone against them, about three hundred thousand men, and not one man of Israel was with them.
31 And all the Egyptians fought with these kings opposite Pathros and Tachpanches, and the battle was severe against the Egyptians.
32 And the kings were stronger than the Egyptians in that battle, and about one hundred and eighty men of Egypt fell on that day, and about thirty men of the forces of the kings, and all the men of Egypt fled from before the kings, so the children of Esau and Ishmael pursued the Egyptians, continuing to smite them unto the place where was the camp of the children of Israel.
33 And all the Egyptians cried unto the children of Israel, saying, Hasten to us and assist us and save us from the hand of Esau, Ishmael and the children of Chittim.
34 And the hundred and fifty men of the children of Israel ran from their station to the camps of these kings, and the children of Israel cried unto the Lord their God to deliver them.
35 And the Lord hearkened to Israel, and the Lord gave all the men of the kings into their hand, and the children of Israel fought against these kings, and the children of Israel smote about four thousand of the kings' men.
36 And the Lord threw a great consternation in the camp of the kings, so that the fear of the children of Israel fell upon them.
37 And all the hosts of the kings fled from before the children of Israel and the children of Israel pursued them continuing to smite them unto the borders of the land of Cush.
38 And the children of Israel slew of them in the road yet two thousand men, and of the children of Israel not one fell.
39 And when the Egyptians saw that the children of Israel had fought with such few men with the kings, and that the battle was so very severe against them,
40 All the Egyptians were greatly afraid of their lives on account of the strong battle, and all Egypt fled, every man hiding himself from the arrayed forces, and they hid themselves in the road, and they left the Israelites to fight.
41 And the children of Israel inflicted a terrible blow upon the kings' men, and they returned from them after they had driven them to the border of the land of Cush.
42 And all Israel knew the thing which the men of Egypt had done to them, that they had fled from them in battle, and had left them to fight alone.
43 So the children of Israel also acted with cunning, and as the children of Israel returned from battle, they found some of the Egyptians in the road and smote them there.
44 And whilst they slew them, they said unto them these words:
45 Wherefore did you go from us and leave us, being a few people, to fight against these kings who had a great people to smite us, that you might thereby deliver your own souls?
46 And of some which the Israelites met on the road, they the children of Israel spoke to each other, saying, Smite, smite, for he is an Ishmaelite, or an Edomite, or from the children of Chittim, and they stood over him and slew him, and they knew that he was an Egyptian.
47 And the children of Israel did these things cunningly against the Egyptians, because they had deserted them in battle and had fled from them.

48 And the children of Israel slew of the men of Egypt in the road in this manner, about two hundred men.
49 And all the men of Egypt saw the evil which the children of Israel had done to them, so all Egypt feared greatly the children of Israel, for they had seen their great power, and that not one man of them had fallen.
50 So all the children of Israel returned with joy on their road to Goshen, and the rest of Egypt returned each man to his place.

CHAPTER LXV.

1 And it came to pass after these things, that all the counsellors of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and all the elders of Egypt assembled and came before the king and bowed down to the ground, and they sat before him.
2 And the counsellors and elders of Egypt spoke unto the king, saying,
3 Behold the people of the children of Israel is greater and mightier than we are, and thou knowest all the evil which they did to us in the road when we returned from battle.
4 And thou hast also seen their strong power, for this power is unto them from their fathers, for but a few men stood up against a people numerous as the sand, and smote them at the edge of the sword, and of themselves not one has fallen, so that if they had been numerous they would then have utterly destroyed them.
5 Now therefore give us counsel what to do with them, until we gradually destroy them from amongst us, lest they become too numerous for us in the land.
6 For if the children of Israel should increase in the land, they will become an obstacle to us, and if any war should happen to take place, they with their great strength will join our enemy against us, and fight against us, destroy us from the land and go away from it.
7 So the king answered the elders of Egypt and said unto them, This is the plan advised against Israel, from which we will not depart,
8 Behold in the land are Pithom and Rameses, cities unfortified against battle, it behoves you and us to build them, and to fortify them.
9 Now therefore go you also and act cunningly toward them, and proclaim a voice in Egypt and in Goshen at the command of the king, saying,
10 All ye men of Egypt, Goshen, Pathros and all their inhabitants! the king has commanded us to build Pithom and Rameses, and to fortify them for battle; who amongst you of all Egypt, of the children of Israel and of all the inhabitants of the cities, are willing to build with us, shall each have his wages given to him daily at the king's order; so go you first and do cunningly, and gather yourselves and come to Pithom and Rameses to build.
11 And whilst you are building, cause a proclamation of this kind to be made throughout Egypt every day at the command of the king.
12 And when some of the children of Israel shall come to build with you, you shall give them their wages daily for a few days.
13 And after they shall have built with you for their daily hire, draw yourselves away from them daily one by one in secret, and then you shall rise u and become their task-masters and officers, and you shall leave them afterward to build without wages, and should they refuse, then force them with all your might to build.
14 And if you do this it will be well with us to strengthen our land against the children of Israel, for on account of the fatigue of the building and the work, the children of Israel will decrease, because you will deprive them from their wives day by day.
15 And all the elders of Egypt heard the counsel of the king, and the counsel seemed good in their eyes and in the eyes of the servants of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all Egypt, and they did according to the word of the king.

16 And all the servants went away from the king, and they caused a proclamation to be made in all Egypt, in Tachpanches and in Goshen, and in all the cities which surrounded Egypt, saying,
17 You have seen what the children of Esau and Ishmael did to us, who came to war against us and wished to destroy us.
18 Now therefore the king commanded us to fortify the land, to build the cities Pithom and Rameses, and to fortify them for battle, if they should again come against us.
19 Whosoever of you from all Egypt and from the children of Israel will come to build with us, he shall have his daily wages given by the king, as his command is unto us.
20 And when Egypt and all the children of Israel heard all that the servants of Pharaoh had spoken, there came from the Egyptians, and the children of Israel to build with the servants of Pharaoh, Pithom and Rameses, but none of the children of Levi came with their brethren to build.
21 And all the servants of Pharaoh and his princes came at first with deceit to build with all Israel as daily hired laborers,and they gave to Israel their daily hire at the beginning.
22 And the servants of Pharaoh built with all Israel, and were employed in that work with Israel for a month.
23 And at the end of the month, all the servants of Pharaoh began to withdraw secretly from the people of Israel daily.
24 And Israel went on with the work at that time, but they then received their daily hire, because some of the men of Egypt were yet carrying on the work with Israel at that time; therefore the Egyptians gave Israel their hire in those days, in order that they, the Egyptians their fellow-workmen, might also take the pay for their labor.
25 And at the end of a year and four months all the Egyptians had withdrawn from the children of Israel, so that the children of Israel were left alone engaged in the work. 26 And after all the Egyptians had withdrawn from the children of Israel they returned and became oppressors and officers over them, and some of them stood over the children of Israel as task masters, to receive from them all that they gave them for the pay of their labor.
27 And the Egyptians did in this manner to the children of Israel day by day, in order to afflict the Israelites in their work.
28 And all the children of Israel were alone engaged in the labor, and the Egyptians refrained from giving any pay to the children of Israel from that time forward.
29 And when some of the men of Israel refused to work on account of the wages not being given to them, then the exactors and the servants of Pharaoh oppressed them and smote them with heavy blows, and made them return by force, to labor with their brethren; thus did all the Egyptians unto the children of Israel all the days.
30 And all the children of Israel were greatly afraid of the Egyptians in this matter, and all the children of Israel returned and worked alone without pay.
31 And the children of Israel built Pithom and Rameses, and all the children of Israel did the work, some making bricks, and some building, and the children of Israel built and fortified all the land of Egypt and its walls, and the children of Israel were engaged in work for many years, until the time came when the Lord remembered them and brought them out of Egypt.
32 But the children of Levi were not employed in the work with their brethren of Israel, from the beginning unto the day of their going forth form Egypt.
33 For all the children of Levi knew that the Egyptians had spoken all these words with deceit to the Israelites, therefore the children of Levi refrained from approaching to the work with their brethren.
34 And the Egyptians did not direct their attention to make the children of Levi work afterward, since they had not been with their brethren at the beginning, therefore the Egyptians left them alone.

35 And the hands of the men of Egypt were directed with continued severity against the children of Israel in that work, and the Egyptians made the children of Israel work with rigor.
36 And the Egyptians embittered the lives of the children of Israel with hard work, in mortar and bricks, and also in all manner of work in the field.
37 And the children of Israel called Melol the king of Egypt "Meror, king of Egypt," because in his days the Egyptians had embittered their lives with all manner of work.
38 And all the work wherein the Egyptians made the children of Israel labor, they exacted with rigor, in order to afflict the children of Israel, but the more they afflicted them, the more they increased and grew, and the Egyptians were grieved because of the children of Israel.

CHAPTER LXVI.

1 At that time died Hadad the son of Bedad king of Edom, and Samlah from Mesrekah, from the country of the children of the east, reigned in his place.
2 In the thirteenth year of the reign of Pharaoh king of Egypt, which was the hundred and twenty-fifth year of the Israelites going down into Egypt, Samlah had reigned over Edom eighteen years.
3 And when he reigned, he drew forth his hosts to go and fight against Zepho the son of Eliphaz and the children of Chittim, because they had made war against Angeas king of Africa, and they destroyed his whole army.
4 But he did not engage with him, for the children of Esau prevented him, saying, He was their brother, so Samlah listened to the voice of the children of Esau, and turned back with all his forces to the land of Edom, and did not proceed to fight against Zepho the son of Eliphaz.
5 And Pharaoh king of Egypt heard this thing, saying, Samlah king of Edom has resolved to fight the children of Chittim, and afterward he will come to fight against Egypt.
6 And when the Egyptians heard this matter, they increased the labor upon the children of Israel, lest the Israelites should do unto them as they did unto them in their war with the children of Esau in the days of Hadad.
7 So the Egyptians said unto the children of Israel, Hasten and do your work, and finish your task, and strengthen the land, lest the children of Esau your brethren should come to fight against us, for on your account will they come against us.
8 And the children of Israel did the work of the men of Egypt day by day, and the Egyptians afflicted the children of Israel in order to lessen them in the land.
9 But as the Egyptians increased the labor upon the children of Israel, so did the children of Israel increase and multiply, and all Egypt was filled with the children of Israel.
10 And in the hundred and twenty-fifth year of Israel's going down into Egypt, all the Egyptians saw that their counsel did not succeed against Israel, but that they increased and grew, and the land of Egypt and the land of Goshen were filled with the children of Israel.
11 So all the elders of Egypt and its wise men came before the king and bowed down to him and sat before him.
12 And all the elders of Egypt and the wise men thereof said unto the king, May the king live forever; thou didst counsel us the counsel against the children of Israel, and we did unto them according to the word of the king.
13 But in proportion to the increase of the labor so do they increase and grow in the land, and behold the whole country is filled with them.
14 Now therefore our lord and king, the eyes of all Egypt are upon thee to give them advice with thy wisdom, by which they may prevail over Israel to destroy them, or to diminish them from the land; and the king answered them saying, Give you counsel in this matter that we may know what to do unto them.

15 And an officer, one of the king's counsellors, whose name was Job, from Mesopotamia, in the land of Uz, answered the king, saying,
16 If it please the king, let him hear the counsel of his servant; and the king said unto him, Speak.
17 And Job spoke before the king, the princes, and before all the elders of Egypt, saying,
18 Behold the counsel of the king which he advised formerly respecting the labor of the children of Israel is very good, and you must not remove from them that labor forever.
19 But this is the advice counselled by which you may lessen them, if it seems good to the king to afflict them.
20 Behold we have feared war for a long time, and we said, When Israel becomes fruitful in the land, they will drive us from the land if a war should take place.
21 If it please the king, let a royal decree go forth, and let it be written in the laws of Egypt which shall not be revoked, that every male child born to the Israelites, his blood shalt be spilled upon the ground.
22 And by your doing this, when all the male children of Israel shall have died, the evil of their wars will cease; let the king do so and send for all the Hebrew midwives and order them in this matter to execute it; so the thing pleased the king and the princes, and the king did according to the word of Job.
23 And the king sent for the Hebrew midwives to be called, of which the name of one was Shephrah, and the name of the other Puah.
24 And the midwives came before the king, and stood in his presence.
25 And the king said unto them, When you do the office of a midwife tothe Hebrew women, and see them upon the stools, if it be a son, then you shall kill him, but if it be a daughter, then she shall live.
26 But if you will not do this thing, then will I burn you up and all your houses with fire.
27 But the midwives feared God and did not hearken to the king of Egypt nor to his words, and when the Hebrew women brought forth to the midwife son or daughter, then did the midwife do all that was necessary to the child and let it live; thus did the midwives all the days.
28 And this thing was told to the king, and he sent and called for the midwives and he said to them, Why have you done this thing and have saved the children alive?
29 And the midwives answered and spoke together before the king, saying,
30 Let not the king think that the Hebrew women are as the Egyptian women, for all the children of Israel are hale, and before the midwife comes to them they are delivered, and as for us thy handmaids, for many days no Hebrew woman has brought forth upon us, for all the Hebrew women are their own midwives, because they are hale.
31 And Pharaoh heard their words and believed them in this matter, and the midwives went away from the king, and God dealt well with them, and the people multiplied and waxed exceedingly.

CHAPTER LXVII.

1 There was a man in the land of Egypt of the seed of Levi, whose name was Amram, the son of Kehath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel.
2 And this man went and took a wife, namely Jochebed the daughter of Levi his father's sister, and she was one hundred and twenty-six years old, and he came unto her.
3 And the woman conceived and bare a daughter, and she called her name Miriam, because in those days the Egyptians had embittered the lives of the children of Israel.

4 And she conceived again and bare a son and she called his name Aaron, for in the days of her conception, Pharaoh began to spill the blood of the male children of Israel.
5 In those days died Zepho the son of Eliphaz, son of Esau, king of Chittim, and Janeas reigned in his stead.
6 And the time that Zepho reigned over the children of Chittim was fifty years, and he died and was buried in the city of Nabna in the land of Chittim.
7 And Janeas, one of the mighty men of the children of Chittim, reigned after him and he reigned fifty years.
8 And it was after the death of the king of Chittim that Balaam the son of Beor fled from the land of Chittim, and he went and came to Egypt to Pharaoh king of Egypt.
9 And Pharaoh received him with great honor, for he had heard of his wisdom, and he gave him presents and made him for a counsellor, and aggrandized him.
10 And Balaam dwelt in Egypt, in honor with all the nobles of the king, and the nobles exalted him, because they all coveted to learn his wisdom.
11 And in the hundred and thirtieth year of Israel's going down to Egypt, Pharaoh dreamed that he was sitting upon his kingly throne, and lifted up his eyes and saw an old man standing before him, and there were scales in the hands of the old man,such scales as are used by merchants.
12 And the old man took the scales and hung them before Pharaoh.
13 And the old man took all the elders of Egypt and all its nobles and great men, and he tied them together and put them in one scale.
14 And he took a milk kid and put it into the other scale, and the kid preponderated over all.
15 And Pharaoh was astonished at this dreadful vision, why the kid should preponderate over all, and Pharaoh awoke and behold it was a dream.
16 And Pharaoh rose up early in the morning and called al his servants and related to them the dream, and the men were greatly afraid.
17 And the king said to all his wise men, Interpret I pray you the dream which I dreamed, that I may know it.
18 And Balaam the son of Beor answered the king and said unto him, This means nothing else but a great evil that will spring up against Egypt in the latter days.
19 For a son will be born to Israel who will destroy all Egypt and its inhabitants, and bring forth the Israelites from Egypt with a mighty hand.
20 Now therefore, O king, take counsel upon this matter, that you may destroy the hope of the children of Israel and their expectation, before this evil arise against Egypt.
21 And the king said unto Balaam, And what shall we do unto Israel? surely after a certain manner did we at first counsel against them and could not prevail over them. 22 Now therefore give you also advice against them by which we may prevail over them.
23 And Balaam answered the king, saying, Send now and call thy two counsellors, and we will see what their advice is upon this matter and afterward thy servant will speak.
24 And the king sent and called his two counsellors Reuel the Midianite and Job the Uzite, and they came and sat before the king.
25 And the king said to them, Behold you have both heard the dream which I have dreamed, and the interpretation thereof; now therefore give counsel and know and see what it to be done to the children of Israel, whereby we may prevail over them, before their evil shall spring up against us.
26 And Reuel the Midianite answered the king and said, May the king live, may the king live forever.
27 If it seem good to the king, let him desist from the Hebrews and leave them, and let him not stretch forth his hand against them.
28 For these are they whom the Lord chose in days of old, and took as the lot of his inheritance from amongst all the nations of the earth and the kings of the earth; and who is there that stretched his hand against them with impunity, of whom their God was not avenged?

29 Surely thou knowest that when Abraham went down to Egypt, Pharaoh, the former king of Egypt, saw Sarah his wife, and took her for a wife, because Abraham said, She is my sister, for he was afraid, lest the men of Egypt should slay him on account of his wife.
30 And when the king of Egypt had taken Sarah then God smote him and his household with heavy plagues, until he restored unto Abraham his wife Sarah, then was he healed.
31 And Abimelech the Gerarite, king of the Philistines, God punished on account of Sarah wife of Abraham, in stopping up every womb from man to beast.
32 When their God came to Abimelech in the dream of night and terrified him in order that he might restore t Abraham Sarah whom he had taken, and afterward all the people of Gerar were punished on account of Sarah, and Abraham prayed to his God for them, and he was intreated of him, and he healed them.
33 And Abimelech feared all this evil that came upon him and his people, and he returned to Abraham his wife Sarah, and gave him with her many gifts.
34 He did so also to Isaac when he had driven him from Gerar, and God had done wonderful things to him, that all the water courses of Gerar were dried up, and their productive trees did not bring forth.
35 Until Abimelech of Gerar, and Ahuzzath one of his friends, and Pichol the captain of his host, went to him and they bent and bowed down before him to the ground.
36 And they requested of him to supplicate for them, and he prayed to the Lord for them, and the Lord was intreated of him and he healed them.
37 Jacob also, the plain man, was delivered through his integrity from the hand of his brother Esau, and the hand of Laban the Syrian his mother's brother, who had sought his life; likewise from the hand of all the kings of Canaan who had come together against him and his children to destroy them, and the Lord delivered them out of their hands, that they turned upon them and smote them, for who had ever stretched forth his hand against them with impunity?
38 Surely Pharaoh the former, thy father's, raised Joseph the son of Jacob above all the princes of the land of Egypt, when he saw his wisdom, for through his wisdom he rescued all the inhabitants of the land from the famine.
39 After which he ordered Jacob and his children to come down to Egypt, in order that through their virtue, the land of Egypt and the land of Goshen might be delivered form the famine.
40 Now therefore if it seem good in thine eyes, cease from destroying the children of Israel, but if it be not thy will that they shall dwell in Egypt, send them forth from here, that they may go to the land of Canaan, the land where their ancestors sojourned.
41 And when Pharaoh heard the words of Jethro he was very angry with him, so that he rose with shame from the king's presence, and went to Midian, his land, and took Joseph's stick with him.
42 And the king said to Job the Uzite, What sayest thou Job, and what is thy advice respecting the Hebrews?
43 So Job said to the king, Behold all the inhabitants of the land are in thy power, let the king do as it seems good in his eyes.
44 And the king said unto Balaam, What dost thou say, Balaam, speak thy word that we may hear it.
45 And Balaam said to the king, Of all that the king has counselled against the Hebrews will they be delivered, and the king will not be able to prevail over them with any counsel.
46 For if thou thinkest to lessen them by the flaming fire, thou canst not prevail over them, for surely their God delivered Abraham their father from Ur of the Chaldeans; and if thou thinkest to destroy them with a sword, surely Isaac their father was delivered from it, and a ram was placed in his stead.

47 And if with hard and rigorous labor thou thinkest to lessen them, thou wilt not prevail even in this, for their father Jacob served Laban in all manner of hard work, and prospered.
48 Now therefore, O King, hear my words, for this is the counsel which is counselled against them, by which thou wilt prevail over them, and from which thou shouldst not depart.
49 If it please the king let him order all their children which shall be born from this day forward, to be thrown into the water, for by this canst thou wipe away their name, for none of them, nor of their fathers, were tried in this manner.
50 And the king heard the words of Balaam, and the thing pleased the king and the princes, and the king did according to the word of Balaam.
51 And the king ordered a proclamation to be issued and a law to be made throughout the land of Egypt, saying, Every male child born to the Hebrews from this day forward shall be thrown into the water.
52 And Pharaoh called unto all his servants, saying, Go now and seek throughout the land of Goshen where the children of Israel are, and see that every son born to the Hebrews shall be cast into the river, but every daughter you shall let live.
53 And when the children of Israel heard this thing which Pharaoh had commanded, to cast their male children into the river, some of the people separated from their wives and others adhered to them.
54 And from that day forward, when the time of delivery arrived to those women of Israel who had remained with their husbands, they went to the field to bring forth there, and they brought forth in the field, and left their children upon the field and returned home.
55 And the Lord who had sworn to their ancestors to multiply them, sent one of his ministering angels which are in heaven to wash each child in water, to anoint and swathe it and to put into its hands two smooth stones from one of which it sucked milk and from the other honey, and he caused its hair to grow to its knees, by which it might cover itself; to comfort it and to cleave to it, through his compassion for it.
56 And when God had compassion over them and had desired to multiply them upon the face of the land, he ordered his earth to receive them to be preserved therein till the time of their growing up, after which the earth opened its mouth and vomited them forth and they sprouted forth from the city like the herb of the earth, and the grass of the forest, and they returned each to his family and to his father's house, and they remained with them.
57 And the babes of the children of Israel were upon the earth like the herb of the field, through God's grace to them.
58 And when all the Egyptians saw this thing, they went forth, each to his field with his yoke of oxen and his ploughshare, and they ploughed it up as one ploughs the earth at seed time.
59 And when they ploughed hey were unable to hurt the infants of the children of Israel, so the people increased and waxed exceedingly.
60 And Pharaoh ordered his officers daily to go to Goshen to seek for the babes of the children of Israel.
61 And when they had sought and found one, they took it from its mother's bosom by force, and threw it into the river, but the female child they left with its mother; thus did the Egyptians do to the Israelites all the days.

CHAPTER LXVIII.

1 And it was at that time the spirit of God was upon Miriam the daughter of Amram the sister of Aaron, and she went forth and prophecied about the house, saying, Behold a son will be born unto us from my father and mother this time, and he will save Israel from the hands of Egypt.

2 And when Amram heard the words of his daughter, he went and took his wife back to the house, after he had driven her away at the time when Pharaoh ordered every male child of the house of Jacob to be thrown into the water.
3 So Amram took Jochebed his wife, three years after he had driven her away, and he came to her and she conceived.
4 And at the end of seven months from her conception she brought forth a son, and the whole house was filled with great light as of the light of the sun and moon at the time of their shining.
5 And when the woman saw the child that it was good and pleasing to the sight, she hid it for three months in an inner room. 6 In those days the Egyptians conspired to destroy all the Hebrews there.
7 And the Egyptian women went to Goshen where the children of Israel were, and they carried their young ones upon their shoulders, their babes who could not yet speak.
8 And in those days, when the women of the children of Israel brought forth, each woman had hidden her son from before the Egyptians, that the Egyptians might not know of their bringing forth, and might not destroy them from the land.
9 And the Egyptian women came to Goshen and their children who could not speak were upon their shoulders, and when an Egyptian woman came into the house of a Hebrew woman her babe began to cry.
10 And when it cried the child that was in the inner room answered it, so the Egyptian women went and told it at the house of Pharaoh.
11 And Pharaoh sent his officers to take the children and slay them; thus did the Egyptians to the Hebrew women all the days.
12 And it was at that time, about three months from Jochebed's concealment of her son, that the thing was known in Pharaoh's house.
13 And the woman hastened to take away her son before the officers came, and she took for him an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and put the child therein, and she laid it in the flags by the river's brink.
14 And his sister Miriam stood afar off to know what would be done to him, and what would become of her words.
15 And God sent forth at that time a terrible heat in the land of Egypt, which burned up the flesh of man like the sun in his circuit, and it greatly oppressed the Egyptians.
16 And all the Egyptians went down to bathe in the river, on account of the consuming heat which burned up their flesh.
17 And Bathia, the daughter of Pharaoh, went also to bathe in the river, owing to the consuming heat, and her maidens walked at the river side, and all the women of Egypt as well.
18 And Bathia lifted up her eyes to the river, and she saw the ark upon the water, and sent her maid to fetch it.
19 And she opened it and saw the child, and behold the babe wept, and she had compassion on him, and she said, This is one of the Hebrew children.
20 And all the women of Egypt walking on the river side desired to give him suck, but he would not suck, for this thing was from the Lord, in order to restore him to his mother's breast.
21 And Miriam his sister was at that time amongst the Egyptian women at the river side, and she saw this thing and she said to Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and fetch a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?
22 And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, Go, and the young woman went and called the child's mother.
23 And Pharaoh's daughter said to Jochebed, Take this child away and suckle it for me, and I will pay thee thy wages, two bits of silver daily; and the woman took the child and nursed it.
24 And at the end of two years, when the child grew up, she brought him to the daughter of Pharaoh, and he was unto her as a son, and she called his name

Moses, for she said, Because I drew him out of the water. 25 And Amram his father called his name Chabar, for he said, It was for him that he associated with his wife whom he had turned away.
26 And Jochebed his mother called his name Jekuthiel, Because, she said, I have hoped for him to the Almighty, and God restored him unto me.
27 And Miriam his sister called him Jered, for she descended after him to the river to know what his end would be.
28 And Aaron his brother called his name Abi Zanuch, saying, My father left my mother and returned to her on his account.
29 And Kehath the father of Amram called his name Abigdor, because on his account did God repair the breach of the house of Jacob, that they could no longer throw their male children into the water.
30 And their nurse called him Abi Socho, saying, In his tabernacle was he hidden for three months, on account of the children of Ham.
31 And all Israel called his name Shemaiah, son of Nethanel, for they said, In his days has God heard their cries and rescued them from their oppressors.
32 And Moses was in Pharaoh's house, and was unto Bathia, Pharaoh's daughter, as a son, and Moses grew up amongst the king's children.

CHAPTER LXIX.

1 And the king of Edom died in those days, in the eighteenth year of his reign, and was buried in his temple which he had built for himself as his royal residence in the land of Edom.
2 And the children of Esau sent to Pethor, which is upon the river, and they fetched from there a young man of beautiful eyes and comely aspect, whose name was Saul, and they made him king over them in the place of Samlah.
3 And Saul reigned over all the children of Esau in the land of Edom for forty years.
4 And when Pharaoh king of Egypt saw that the counsel which Balaam had advised respecting the children of Israel did not succeed, but that still they were fruitful, multiplied and increased throughout the land of Egypt,
5 Then Pharaoh commanded in those days that proclamation should be issued throughout Egypt to the children of Israel, saying, No man shall diminish any thing of his daily labor.
6 And the man who shall be found deficient in his labor which he performs daily, whether in mortar or in bricks, then his youngest son shall be put in their place.
7 And the labor of Egypt strengthened upon the children of Israel in those days, and behold if one brick was deficient in any man's daily labor, the Egyptians took his youngest boy by force form his mother, and put him into the building in the place of the brick which his father had left wanting.
8 And the men of Egypt did so to all the children of Israel day by day, all the days for a long period.
9 But the tribe of Levi did not at that time work with the Israelites their brethren, from the beginning, for the children of Levi knew the cunning of the Egyptians which they exercised at first toward the Israelites. CHAPTER LXX.

1 And in the third year from the birth of Moses, Pharaoh was sitting at a banquet, when Alparanith the queen was sitting at his right and Bathia at his left, and the lad Moses was lying upon her bosom, and Balaam the son of Beor with his two sons, and all the princes of the kingdom were sitting at table in the king's presence.
2 And the lad stretched forth his hand upon the king's head, and took the crown from the king's head and placed it on his own head.
3 And when the king and princes saw the work which the boy had done, the king and princes were terrified, and one man to his neighbor expressed astonishment.

4 And the king said unto the princes who were before him at table, What speak you and what say you, O ye princes, in this matter, and what is to be judgment against the boy on account of this act?
5 And Balaam the son of Beor the magician answered before the king and princes, and he said, Remember now, O my lord and king, the dream which thou didst dream many days since, and that which thy servant interpreted unto thee.
6 Now therefore this is a child from the Hebrew children, in whom is the spirit of God, and let not my lord the king imagine that this youngster did this thing without knowledge.
7 For he is a Hebrew boy, and wisdom and understanding are with him, although he is yet a child, and with wisdom has he done this and chosen unto himself the kingdom of Egypt.
8 For this is the manner of all the Hebrews to deceive kings and their nobles, to do all these things cunningly, in order to make the kings of the earth and their men tremble.
9 Surely thou knowest that Abraham their father acted thus, who deceived the army of Nimrod king of Babel, and Abimelech king of Gerar, and that he possessed himself of the land of the children of Heth and all the kingdoms of Canaan.
10 And that he descended into Egypt and said of Sarah his wife, she is my sister, in order to mislead Egypt and her king.
11 His son Isaac also did so when he went to Gerar and dwelt there, and his strength prevailed over the army of Abimelech king of the Philistines.
12 He also thought of making the kingdom of the Philistines stumble, in saying that Rebecca his wife was his sister.
13 Jacob also dealt treacherously with his brother, and took from his hand his birthright and his blessing.
14 He went then to Padan-aram to the house of Laban his mother's brother, and cunningly obtained from him his daughter, his cattle, and all belonging to him, and fled away and returned to the land of Canaan to his father.
15 His sons sold their brother Joseph, who went down into Egypt and became a slave, and was placed in the prison house for twelve years.
16 Until the former Pharaoh dreamed dreams, and withdrew him from the prison house, and magnified him above all the princes in Egypt on account of his interpreting his dreams to him.
17 And when God caused a famine throughout the land he sent for and brought his father and all his brothers, and the whole of his father's household, and supported them without price or reward, and bought the Egyptians for slaves.
18 Now therefore my lord king behold this child has risen up in their stead in Egypt, to do according to their deeds and to trifle with every king, prince and judge.
19 If it please the king, let us now spill his blood upon the ground, lest he grow up and take away the government from thy hand, and the hope of Egypt perish after he shall have reigned.
20 And Balaam said to the king, Let us moreover call for all the judges of Egypt and the wise men thereof, and let us know if the judgment of death is due to this boy as thou didst say, and then we will slay him.
21 And Pharaoh sent and called for all the wise men of Egypt and they came before the king, and an angel of the Lord came amongst them, and he was like one of the wise men of Egypt.
22 And the king said to the wise men, Surely you have heard what this Hebrew boy who is in the house has done, and thus has Balaam judged in the matter.
23 Now judge you also and see what is due to the boy for the act which he has committed.
24 And the angel, who seemed like one of the wise men of Pharaoh, answered and said as follows, before all the wise men of Egypt and before the king and the princes:
25 If it please the king let the king send for men who shall bring before him an onyx stone and a coal of fire, and place them before the child, and if the child shall stretch forth his hand and take the onyx stone, then shall we know that with wisdom has the youth done all that he has done, and we must slay him.

26 But if he stretch forth his hand upon the coal, then shall we know that it was not with knowledge that he did this thing, and he shall live.
27 And the thing seemed good in the eyes of the king and the princes, so the king did according to the word of the angel of the Lord.
28 And the king ordered the onyx stone and coal to be brought and placed before Moses.
29 And they placed the boy before them, and the lad endeavored to stretch forth his hand to the onyx stone, but the angel of the Lord took his hand and placed it upon the coal, and the coal became extinguished in his hand, and he lifted it up and put it into his mouth, and burned part of his lips and part of his tongue, and he became heavy in mouth and tongue.
30 And when the king and princes saw this, they knew that Moses had not acted with wisdom in taking off the crown from the king's head.
31 So the king and princes refrained from slaying the child, so Moses remained in Pharaoh's house, growing up, and the Lord was with him.
32 And whilst the boy was in the king's house, he was robed in purple and he grew amongst the children of the king.
33 And when Moses grew up in the king's house, Bathia the daughter of Pharaoh considered him as a son, and all the household of Pharaoh honored him, and all the men of Egypt were afraid of him.
34 And he daily went forth and came into the land of Goshen, where his brethren the children of Israel were, and Moses saw them daily in shortness of breath and hard labor.
35 And Moses asked them, saying, Wherefore is this labor meted out unto you day by day?
36 And they told him all that had befallen them, and all the injunctions which Pharaoh had put upon them before his birth.
37 And they told him all the counsels which Balaam the son of Beor had counselled against them, and what he had also counselled against him in order to slay him when he had taken the king's crown from off his head.
38 And when Moses heard these things his anger was kindled against Balaam, and he sought to kill him, and he was in ambush for him day by day.
39 And Balaam was afraid of Moses, and he and his two sons rose up and went forth from Egypt, and they fled and delivered their souls and betook themselves to the land of Cush to Kikianus, king of Cush.
40 And Moses was in the king's house going out and coming in, the Lord gave him favor in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his servants, and in the eyes of all the people of Egypt, and they loved Moses exceedingly.
41 And the day arrived when Moses went to Goshen to see his brethren, that he saw the children of Israel in their burdens and hard labor, and Moses was grieved on their account.
42 And Moses returned to Egypt and came to the house of Pharaoh, and came before the king, and Moses bowed down before the king.
43 And Moses said unto Pharaoh, I pray thee my lord, I have come to seek a small request from thee, turn not away my face empty; and Pharaoh said unto him, Speak.
44 And Moses said unto Pharaoh, Let there be given unto they servants the children of Israel who are in Goshen, one day to rest therein from their labor.
45 And the king answered Moses and said, Behold I have lifted up thy face in this thing to grant thy request.
46 And Pharaoh ordered a proclamation to be issued throughout Egypt and Goshen, saying, 47 To you, all the children of Israel, thus says the king, for six days you shall do your work and labor, but on the seventh day you shall rest, and shall not preform any work, thus shall you do all the days, as the king and Moses the son of Bathia have commanded.

48 And Moses rejoiced at this thing which the king had granted to him, and all the children of Israel did as Moses ordered them.
49 For this thing was from the Lord to the children of Israel, for the Lord had begun to remember the children of Israel to save them for the sake of their fathers.
50 And the Lord was with Moses and his fame went throughout Egypt.
51 And Moses became great in the eyes of all the Egyptians, and in the eyes of all the children of Israel, seeking good for his people Israel and speaking words of peace regarding them to the king.

CHAPTER LXXI.

1 And when Moses was eighteen years old, he desired to see his father and mother and he went to them to Goshen, and when Moses had come near Goshen, he came to the place where the children of Israel were engaged in work, and he observed their burdens, and he saw an Egyptian smiting on e of his Hebrew brethren.
2 And when the man who was beaten saw Moses he ran to him for help, for the man Moses was greatly respected in the house of Pharaoh, and he said to him, My lord attend to me, this Egyptian came to my house in the night, bound me, and came to my wife in my presence, and now he seeks to take my life away.
3 And when Moses heard this wicked thing, his anger was kindled against the Egyptian, and he turned this way and the other, and when he saw there was no man there he smote the Egyptian and hid him in the sand, and delivered the Hebrew from the hand of him that smote him.
4 And the Hebrew went to his house, and Moses returned to his home, and went forth and came back to the king's house.
5 And when the man had returned home, he thought of repudiating his wife, for it was not right in the house of Jacob, for any man to come to his wife after she had been defiled.
6 And the woman went and told her brothers, and the woman's brothers sought to slay him, and he fled to his house and escaped.
7 And on the second day Moses went forth to his brethren, and saw, and behold two men were quarreling, and he said to the wicked one, Why dost thou smite thy neighbor?
8 And he answered him and said to him, Who has set thee for a prince and judge over us? dost thou think to slay me as thou didst slay the Egyptian? and Moses was afraid and he said, Surely the thing is known?
9 And Pharaoh heard of this affair, and he ordered Moses to be slain, so God sent his angel, and he appeared unto Pharaoh in the likeness of a captain of the guard.
10 And the angel of the Lord took the sword from the hand of the captain of the guard, and took his head off with it, for the likeness of the captain of the guard was turned into the likeness of Moses.
11 And the angel of the Lord took hold of the right hand of Moses, and brought him forth from Egypt, and placed him from without the borders of Egypt, a distance of forty days' journey.
12 And Aaron his brother alone remained in the land of Egypt, and he prophecied to the children of Israel, saying,
13 Thus says the Lord God of your ancestors, Throw away, each man, the abominations of his eyes, and do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt.
14 And the children of Israel rebelled and would not hearken to Aaron at that time.
15 And the Lord thought to destroy them, were it not that the Lord remembered the covenant which he had made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

16 In those days the hand of Pharaoh continued to be severe against the children of Israel, and he crushed and oppressed them until the time when God sent forth his word and took notice of them.

CHAPTER LXXII.

1 And it was in those days that there was a great war between the children of Cush and the children of the east and Aram, and they rebelled against the king of Cush in whose hands they were.
2 So Kikianus king of Cush went forth with all the children of Cush, a people numerous as the sand, and he went to fight against Aram and the children of the east, to bring them under subjection.
3 And when Kikianus went out, he left Balaam the magician, with his two sons, to guard the city, and the lowest sort of the people of the land.
4 So Kikianus went forth to Aram and the children of the east, and he fought against them and smote them, and they all fell down wounded before Kikianus and his people.
5 And he took many of them captives and he brought them under subjection as at first, and he encamped upon their land to take tribute from them as usual.
6 And Balaam the son of Beor, when the king of Cush had left him to guard the city and the poor of the city, he rose up and advised with the people of the land to rebel against king Kikianus, not to let him enter the city when he should come home.
7 And the people of the land hearkened to him, and they swore to him and made him king over them, and his two sons for captains of the army.
8 So they rose up and raised the walls of the city at the two corners, and they built an exceeding strong building.
9 And at the third corner they dug ditches without number, between the city and the river which surrounded the whole land of Cush, and they made the waters of the river burst forth there.
10 At the fourth corner they collected numerous serpents by their incantations and enchantments, and they fortified the city and dwelt therein, and no one went out or in before them.
11 And Kikianus fought against Aram and the children of the east and he subdued them as before, and they gave him their usual tribute, and he went and returned to his land.
12 And when Kikianus the king of Cush approached his city and all the captains of the forces with him, they lifted up their eyes and saw that the walls of the city were built up and greatly elevated, so the men were astonished at this.
13 And they said one to the other, It is because they saw that we were delayed, in battle, and were greatly afraid of us, therefore have they done this thing and raised the city walls and fortified them so that the kings of Canaan might not come in battle against them.
14 So the king and the troops approached the city door and they looked up and behold, all the gates of the city were closed, and they called out to the sentinels, saying, Open unto us, that we may enter the city.
15 But the sentinels refused to open to them by the order of Balaam the magician, their king, they suffered them not to enter their city.
16 So they raised a battle with them opposite the city gate, and one hundred and thirty men of the army of Kikianus fell on that day.
17 And on the next day they continued to fight and they fought at the side of the river; they endeavored to pass but were not able, so some of them sank in the pits and died.
18 So the king ordered them to cut down trees to make rafts, upon which they might pass to them, and they did so.
19 And when they came to the place of the ditches, the waters revolved by mills, and two hundred men upon ten rafts were drowned.

20 And on the third day they came to fight at the side where the serpents were, but they could not approach there, for the serpents slew of them one hundred and seventy men, and they ceased fighting against Cush, and they besieged Cush for nine years, no person came out or in.
21 At that time that the war and the siege were against Cush, Moses fled from Egypt from Pharaoh who sought to kill him for having slain the Egyptian.
22 And Moses was eighteen years old when he fled from Egypt from the presence of Pharaoh, and he fled and escaped to the camp of Kikianus, which at that time was besieging Cush.
23 And Moses was nine years in the camp of Kikianus king of Cush, all the time that they were besieging Cush, and Moses went out and came in with them.
24 And the king and princes and all the fighting men loved Moses, for he was great and worthy, his stature was like a noble lion, his face was like the sun, and his strength was like that of a lion, and he was counsellor to the king.
25 And at the end of nine years, Kikianus was seized with a mortal disease, and his illness prevailed over him, and he died on the seventh day.
26 So his servants embalmed him and carried him and buried him opposite the city gate to the north of the land of Egypt.
27 And they built over him an elegant strong and high building, and they placed great stones below.
28 And the king's scribes engraved upon those stones all the might of their king Kikianus, and all his battles which he had fought, behold they are written there at this day.
29 Now after the death of Kikianus king of Cush it grieved his men and troops greatly on account of the war.
30 So they said one to the other, Give us counsel what we are to do at this time, as we have resided in the wilderness nine years away from our homes.
31 If we say we will fight against the city man of us will fall wounded or killed, and if we remain here in the seige we shall also die.
32 For now all the kings of Aram and of the children of the east will hear that our king is dead, and they will attack us suddenly in a hostile manner, and they will fight against us and leave no remnant of us.
33 Now therefore let us go and make a king over us, and let us remain in the siege until the city is delivered up to us.
34 And they wished to choose on that day a man for king from the army of Kikianus, and they found no object of their choice like Moses to reign over them.
35 And they hastened and stripped off each man his garments and cast them upon the ground, and they made a great heap and placed Moses thereon.
36 And they rose up and blew with trumpets and called out before him, and said, May the king live, may the king live!
37 And all the people and nobles swore unto him to give him for a wife Adoniah the queen, the Cushite, wife of Kikianus, and they made Moses king over them on that day.
38 And all the people of Cush issued a proclamation on that day, saying, Every man must give something to Moses of what is in his possession.
39 And they spread out a sheet upon the heap, and every man cast into it something of what he had, one a gold ear-ring and the other a coin.
40 Also of onyx stones, bdellium, pearls and marble did the children of Cush cast unto Moses upon the heap, also silver and gold in great abundance.
41 And Moses took all the silver and gold, all the vessels, and the bdellium and onyx stones, which all the children of Cush had given to him, and he placed them amongst his treasures.
42 And Moses reigned over the children of Cush on that day, in the place of Kikianus king of Cush.

CHAPTER LXXIII.

Gospel Mysteries

1 In the fifty-fifth year of the reign of Pharaoh king of Egypt, that is in the hundred and fifty-seventh year of the Israelites going down into Egypt, reigned Moses in Cush.
2 Moses was twenty-seven years old when he began to reign over Cush, and forty years did he reign.
3 And the Lord granted Moses favor and grace in the eyes of all the children of Cush, and the children of Cush loved him exceedingly, so Moses was favored by the Lord and by men.
4 And in the seventh day of his reign, all the children of Cush assembled and came before Moses and bowed down to him to the ground.
5 And all the children spoke together in the presence of the king, saying, Give us counsel that we may see what is to be done to this city.
6 For it is now nine years that we have been besieging round about the city, and have not seen our children and our wives.
7 So the king answered them, saying, If you will hearken to my voice in all that I shall command you, then will the Lord give the city into our hands and we shall subdue it.
8 For if we fight with them as in the former battle which we had with them before the death of Kikianus, many of us will fall down wounded as before.
9 Now therefore behold here is counsel for you in this matter; if you will hearken to my voice, then will the city be delivered into our hands.
10 So all the forces answered the king, saying, All that our lord shall command that will we do.
11 And Moses said unto them, Pass through and proclaim a voice in the whole camp unto all the people, saying,
12 Thus says the king, Go into the forest and bring with you of the young ones of the stork, each man a young one in his hand.
13 And any person transgressing the word of the king, who shall not bring his young one, he shall die, and the king will take all belonging to him.
14 And when you shall bring them they shall be in your keeping, you shall rear them until they grow up, and you shall teach them to dart upon, as is the way of the young ones of the hawk.
15 So all the children of Cush heard the words of Moses, and they rose up and caused a proclamation to be issued throughout the camp, saying,
16 Unto you, all the children of Cush, the king's order is, that you go all together to the forest, and catch there the young storks each man his young one in his hand, and you shall bring them home.
17 And any person violating the order of the king shall die, and the king will take all that belongs to him.
18 And all the people did so, and they went out to the wood and they climbed the fir trees and caught, each man a young one in his hand, all the young of the storks, and they brought them into the desert and reared them by order of the king, and they taught them to dart upon, similar to the young hawks.
19 And after the young storks were reared, the king ordered them to be hungered for three days, and all the people did so.
20 And on the third day, the king said unto them, strengthen yourselves and become valiant men, and put on each man his armor and gird on his sword upon him, and ride each man his horse and take each his young stork in his hand.
21 And we will rise up and fight against the city at the place where the serpents are; and all the people did as the king had ordered.
22 And they took each man his young one in his hand, and they went away, and when they came to the place of the serpents the king said to them, Send forth each man his young stork upon the serpents.
23 And they sent forth each man his young stork at the king's order, and the young storks ran upon the serpents and they devoured them all and destroyed them out of that place.
24 And when the king and people had seen that all the serpents were destroyed in that place, all the people set up a great shout.

25 And they approached and fought against the city and took it a subdued it, and they entered the city.
26 And there died on that day one thousand and one hundred men of the people of the city, all that inhabited the city, but of the people besieging not one died.
27 So all the children of Cush went each to his home, to his wife and children and to all belonging to him.
28 And Balaam the magician, when he saw that the city was taken, he opened the gate and he and his two sons and eight brothers fled and returned to Egypt to Pharaoh king of Egypt.
29 They are the sorcerers and magicians who are mentioned in the book of the law, standing against Moses when the Lord brought the plagues upon Egypt.
30 So Moses took the city by his wisdom, and the children of Cush placed him on the throne instead of Kikianus king of Cush.
31 And they placed the royal crown upon his head, and they gave him for a wife Adoniah the Cushite queen, wife of Kikianus.
32 And Moses feared the Lord God of his fathers, so that he came not to her, nor did he turn his eyes to her.
33 For Moses remembered how Abraham had made his servant Eliezer swear, saying unto him, Thou shalt not take a woman from the daughters of Canaan for my son Isaac.
34 Also what Isaac did when Jacob had fled from his brother, when he commanded him, saying, Thou shalt not take a wife from the daughters of Canaan, nor make alliance with any of the children of Ham.
35 For the Lord our God gave Ham the son of Noah, and his children and all his seed, as slaves to the children of Shem and to the children of Japheth, and unto their seed after them for slaves, forever.
36 Therefore Moses turned not his heart nor his eyes to the wife of Kikianus all the days that he reigned over Cush.
37 And Moses feared the Lord his God all his life, and Moses walked before the Lord in truth, with all his heart and soul, he turned not from the right way all the days of his life; he declined not from the way either to the right or to the left, in which Abraham, Isaac and Jacob had walked.
38 And Moses strengthened himself in the kingdom of the children of Cush, and he guided the children of Cush with his usual wisdom, and Moses prospered in his kingdom.
39 And at that time Aram and the children of the east heard that Kikianus king of Cush had died, so Aram and the children of the east rebelled against Cush in those days.
40 And Moses gathered all the children of Cush, a people very mighty, about thirty thousand men, and he went forth to fight with Aram and the children of the east.
41 And they went at first tothe children of the east, and when the children of the east heard their report, they went to meet them,a nd engaged in battle with them.
42 And the war was severe against the children of the east, so the Lord gave all the children of the east into the hand of Moses, and about three hundred men fell down slain.
43 And all the children of the east turned back and retreated, so Moses and the children of Cush followed them and subdued them, and put a tax upon them, as was their custom.
44 So Moses and all the people with him passed form there to the land of Aram for battle.
45 And the people of Aram also went to meet them, and they fought against the, and the Lord delivered them into the hand of Moses, and many of the men of Aram fell down wounded.
46 And Aram also were subdued by Moses and the people of Cush, and also gave their usual tax.

47 And Moses brought Aram and the children of the east under subjection to the children of Cush, and Moses and all the people who were with him, turned to the land of Cush.
48 And Moses strengthened himself in the kingdom of the children of Cush, and the Lord was with him, and all the children of Cush were afraid of him.

CHAPTER LXXIV.

1 In the end of years died Saul king of Edom, and Baal Chanan the son of Achbor reigned in his place.
2 In the sixteenth year of the reign of Moses over Cush, Baal Chanan the son of Achbor reigned in the land of Edom over all the children of Edom for thirty-eight years.
3 In his days Moab rebelled against the power of Edom, having been under Edom since the days of Hadad the son of Bedad, who smote them and Midian, and brought Moab under subjection to Edom.
4 And when Baal Chanan the son of Achbor reigned over Edom, all the children of Moab withdrew their allegiance from Edom.
5 And Angeas king of Africa died in those days, and Azdrubal his son reigned in his stead.
6 And in those days died Janeas king of the children of Chittim, and they buried him in his temple which he had built for himself in the plain of Canopia for a residence, and Latinus reigned in his stead.
7 In the twenty-second year of the reign of Moses over the children of Cush, Latinus reigned over the children of Chittim forty-five years.
8 And he also built for himself a great and mighty tower, and he built therein an elegant temple for his residence, to conduct his government, as was the custom.
9 In the third year of his reign he caused a proclamation to be made to all his skillful men, who made many ships for him.
10 And Latinus assembled all his forces, and they came in ships, and went therein to fight with Azdrubal son of Angeas king of Africa, and they came to Africa and engaged in battle with Azdrubal and his army.
11 And Latinus prevailed over Azdrubal, and Latinus took from Azdrubal the aqueduct which his father had brought form the children of Chittim, when he took Janiah the daughter of Uzi for a wife, so Latinus overthrew the bridge of the aqueduct, and smote the whole army of Azdrubal a severe blow.
12 And the remaining strong men of Azdrubal strengthened themselves, and their hearts were filled with envy, and they courted death, and again engaged in battle with Latinus king of Chittim.
13 And the battle was severe upon all the men of Africa, and they all fell wounded before Latinus and his people, and Azdrubal the king also fell in that battle.
14 And the king Azdrubal had a very beautiful daughter, whose name was Ushpezena, and all the men of Africa embroidered her likeness on their garments, on account of her great beauty and comely appearance.
15 And the men of Latinus saw Ushpezena, the daughter of Azdrubal, and praised her unto Latinus their king.
16 And Latinus ordered her to be brought to him, and Latinus took Ushpezena for a wife, and he turned back on his way to Chittim.
17 And it was after the death of Azdrubal son of Angeas, when Latinus had turned back to his land from the battle, that all the inhabitants of Africa rose up and took Anibal the son of Angeas, the younger brother of Azdrubal, and made him king instead of his brother over the whole land of Africa.
18 And when he reigned, he resolved to go to Chittim to fight with the children of Chittim, to avenge the cause of Azdrubal his brother, and the cause of the inhabitants of Africa, and he did so.

19 And he made many ships, and he came therein with his whole army, and he went to Chittim.
20 So Anibal fought with the children of Chittim, and the children of Chittim fell wounded before Anibal and his army, and Anibal avenged his brother's cause.
21 And Anibal continued the war for eighteen years with the children of Chittim, and Anibal dwelt in the land of Chittim and encamped there for a long time.
22 And Anibal smote the children of Chittim very severely, and he slew their great men and princes, and of the rest of the people he smote about eighty thousand men.
23 And at the end of days and years, Anibal returned to his land of Africa, and he reigned securely in the place of Azdrubal his brother.

CHAPTER LXXV.

1 At that time, in the hundred and eightieth year of the Israelites going down into Egypt, there went forth from Egypt valiant men, thirty thousand on foot, from the children of Israel, who were all of the tribe of Joseph, of the children of Ephraim the son of Joseph.
2 For they said the period was completed which the Lord had appointed to the children of Israel in the times of old, which he had spoken to Abraham.
3 And these men girded themselves,and they put each man his sword at his side, and every man his armor upon him, and they trusted to their strength, and they went out together from Egypt with a mighty hand.
4 But they brought no provision for the road, only silver and gold, not even bread for that day did they bring in their hands, for they thought of getting their provision for pay from the Philistines, and if not they would take it by force.
5 And these men were very mighty and valiant men, one man could pursue a thousand and two could rout ten thousand, so they trusted to their strength and went together as they were.
6 And they directed their course toward the land of Gath, and they went down and found the shepherds of Gath feeding the cattle of the children of Gath.
7 And they said to the shepherds, Give us some of the sheep for pay, that we may eat, for we are hungry, for we have eaten no bread this day.
8 And the shepherds said, Are they our sheep or cattle that we should give them to you even for pay? so the children of Ephraim approached to take them by force.
9 And the shepherds of Gath shouted over them that their cry was heard at a distance, so all the children of Gath went out to them.
10 And when the children of Gath saw the evil doings of the children of Ephraim, they returned and assembled the men of Gath, and they put on each man his armor, and came forth to the children of Ephraim for battle.
11 And they engaged with them in the valley of Gath, and the battle was severe, and they smote from each other a great many on that day.
12 And on the second day the children of Gath sent to all the cities of the Philistines that they should come to their help, saying,
13 Come up unto us and help us, that we may smite the children of Ephraim who have come forth from Egypt to take our cattle, and to fight against us without cause.
14 Now the souls of the children of Ephraim were exhausted with hunger and thirst, for they had eaten no bread for three days. And forty thousand men went forth from the cities of the Philistines to the assistance of the men of Gath.
15 And these men were engaged in battle with the children of Ephraim, and the Lord delivered the children of Ephraim into the hands of the Philistines.
16 And they smote all the children of Ephraim, all who had gone forth from Egypt, none were remaining but ten men who had run away from the engagement.

17 For this evil was from the Lord against the children of Ephraim, for they transgressed the word of the Lord in going forth from Egypt, before the period had arrived which the Lord in the days of old had appointed to Israel.
18 And of the Philistines also there fell a great many, about twenty thousand men,a nd their brethren carried them and buried them in their cities.
19 And the slain of the children of Ephraim remained forsaken in the valley of Gath for many days and years, and were not brought to burial, and the valley was filled with men's bones.
20 And the men who had escaped from the battle came to Egypt, and told all the children of Israel all that had befallen them.
21 And their father Ephraim mourned over them for many days, and his brethren came to console him.
22 And he came unto his wife and she bare a son, and he called his name Beriah, for she was unfortunate in his house.

CHAPTER LXXVI.

1 And Moses the son of Amram was still king in the land of Cush in those days, and he prospered in his kingdom, and he conducted the government of the children of Cush in justice, in righteousness, and integrity.
2 And all the children of Cush loved Moses all the days that he reigned over them, and all the inhabitants of the land of Cush were greatly afraid of him.
3 And in the fortieth year of the reign of Moses over Cush, Moses was sitting on the royal throne whilst Adoniah the queen was before him, and all the nobles were sitting around him.
4 And Adoniah the queen said before the king and the princes, What is this thing which you, the children of Cush, have done for this long time?
5 Surely you know that for forty years that this man has reigned over Cush he has not approached me, nor has he served the gods of the children of Cush.
6 Now therefore hear, O ye children of Cush, and let this man no more reign over you as he is not of our flesh.
7 Behold Menacrus my son is grown up, let him reign over you, for it is better for you to serve the son of your lord, than to serve a stranger, a slave of the king of Egypt.
8 And all the people and nobles of the children of Cush heard the words which Adoniah the queen had spoken in their ears.
9 And all the people were preparing until the evening, and in the morning they rose up early and made Menacrus, son of Kikianus, king over them.
10 And all the children of Cush were afraid to stretch forth their hand against Moses, for the Lordwas with Moses, and the children of Cush remembered the oath which they swore unto Moses, therefore they did no harm to him.
11 But the children of Cush gave many presents to Moses, and sent him from them with great honor.
12 So Moses went forth from the land of Cush, and went home and ceased to reign over Cush, and Moses was sixty-six years old when he went out of the land of Cush, for the thing was from the Lord, for the period had arrived which he had appointed in the days of old, to bring forth Israel from the affliction of the children of Ham.
13 So Moses went to Midian, for he was afraid to return to Egypt on account of Pharaoh, and he went and sat at a well of water in Midian.
14 And the seven daughters of Reuel the Midianite went out to feed their father's flock.
15 And they came to the well and drew water to water their father's flock.
16 So the shepherds of Midian came and drove them away, and Moses rose up and helped them and watered the flock.
17 And they came home to their father Reuel, and told him what Moses did for them.

18 And they said, An Egyptian man has delivered us from the hands of the shepherds, he drew up water for us and watered the flock.
19 And Reuel said to his daughters, And where is he? wherefore have you left the man?
20 And Reuel sent for him and fetched him and brought him home, and he ate bread with him.
21 And Moses related to Reuel that he had fled from Egypt and that he reigned forty years over Cush, and that they afterward had taken the government from him, and had sent him away in peace with honor and with presents.
22 And when Reuel had heard the words of Moses, Reuel said within himself, I will put this man into the prison house, whereby I shall conciliate the children of Cush, for he has fled from them.
23 And they took and put him into the prison house, and Moses was in prison ten years, and whilst Moses was in the prison house, Zipporah the daughter of Reuel took pity over him, and supported him with bread and water all the time.
24 And all the children of Israel were yet in the land of Egypt serving the Egyptians in all manner of hard work, and the hand of Egypt continued in severity over the children of Israel in those days.
25 At that time the Lord smote Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he afflicted him with the plague of leprosy from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head; owing tothe cruel treatment of the children of Israel was this plague at that time form the Lord upon Pharaoh king of Egypt.
26 For the Lord had hearkened to the prayer of his people the children of Israel, and their cry reached him on account of their hard work.
27 Still his anger did not turn from them, and the hand of Pharaoh was still stretched out against the children of Israel, and Pharaoh hardened his neck before the Lord, and he increased his yoke over the children of Israel, and embittered their lives with all manner of hard work.
28 And when the Lord had inflicted the plague upon Pharaoh king of Egypt, he asked his wise men and sorcerers to cure him.
29 And his wise men and sorcerers said unto him, That if the blood of little children were put into the wounds he would be healed.
30 And Pharaoh hearkened to them, and sent his ministers to Goshen to the children of Israel to take their little children.
31 And Pharaoh's ministers went and took the infants of the children of Israel from the bosoms of their mothers by force, and they brought them to Pharaoh daily, a child each day, and the physicians killed them and applied them to the plague; thus did they all the days.
32 And the number of the children which Pharaoh slew was three hundred and seventy-five.
33 But the Lord hearkened not to the physicians of the king of Egypt, and the plague went on increasing mightily.
34 And Pharaoh was ten years afflicted with that plague, still the heart of Pharaoh was more hardened against the children of Israel.
35 And at the end of ten years the Lord continued to afflict Pharaoh with destructive plagues.
36 And the Lord smote him with a bad tumor and sickness at the stomach, and that plague turned to a severe boil.
37 At that time the two ministers of Pharaoh came from the land of Goshen where all the children of Israel were, and went to the house of Pharaoh and said to him, We have seen the children of Israel slacken in their work and negligent in their labor.
38 And when Pharaoh heard the words of his ministers, his anger was kindled against the children of Israel exceedingly, for he was greatly grieved at his bodily pain.
39 And he answered and said, Now that the children of Israel know that I am ill, they turn and scoff at us, now therefore harness my chariot for me, and I will betake myself to Goshen and will see the scoff of the children of Israel with which they are deriding me; so his servants harnessed the chariot for him.

40 And they took and made him ride upon a horse, for he was not able to ride of himself.
41 And he took with him ten horsemen and ten footmen, and went to the children of Israel to Goshen.
42 And when they had come to the border of Egypt, the king's horse passed into a narrow place, elevated in the hollow part of the vineyard, fenced on both sides, the low, plain country being on the other side.
43 And the horses ran rapidly in that place and pressed each other, and the other horses pressed the king's horse.
44 And the king's horse fell into the low plain whilst the king was riding upon it, and when he fell the chariot turned over the king's face and the horse lay upon the king, and the king cried out, for his flesh was very sore.
45 And the flesh of the king was torn from him, and his bones were broken and he could no ride, for this thing was from the Lord to him, for the Lord had heard the cries of his people the children of Israel and their affliction.
46 And his servants carried him upon their shoulders, a little at a time, and they brought him back to Egypt, and the horsemen who were with him came also back to Egypt.
47 And they placed him in his bed, and the king knew that his end was come to die, so Aparanith the queen his wife came and cried before the king, and the king wept a great weeping with her.
48 And all his nobles and servants came on that day and saw the king in that affliction, and wept a great weeping with him.
49 And the princes of the king and all his counsellors advised the king to cause one to reign in his stead in the land, whomsoever he should choose from his sons.
50 And the king had three sons and two daughters which Aparanith the queen his wife had borne to him, besides the king's children of concubines.
51 And these were their names, the first born Othri, the second Adikam, and the third Morion, and their sisters, the name of the elder Bathia and of the other Acuzi.
52 And Othri the first born of the king was an idiot, precipitate and hurried in his words.
53 But Adikam was a cunning and a wise man and knowing in all the wisdom of Egypt, but of unseemly aspect, thick in flesh, and very short in stature; his height was one cubit.
54 And when the king saw Adikam his son intelligent and wise in all things, the king resolved that he should be king in his stead after his death.
55 And he took for him a wife Gedudah daughter of Abilot, and he was ten years old, and she bare unto him four sons.
56 And he afterward went and took three wives and begat eight sons and three daughters.
57 And the disorder greatly prevailed over the king, and his flesh stank like the flesh of a carcass cast upon the field in summer time, during the heat of the sun.
58 And when the king saw that his sickness had greatly strengthened itself over him, he ordered his son Adikam to be brought to him, and they made him king over the land in his place.
59 And at the end of three years, the king died, in shame, disgrace, and disgust, and his servants carried him and buried him in the sepulchre of the kings of Egypt in Zoan Mizraim.
60 But they embalmed him not as was usual with kings, for his flesh was putrid, and they could not approach to embalm him on account of the stench, so they buried him in haste.
61 For this evil was from the Lord to him, for the Lord had requited him evil for the evil which in his days he had done to Israel.

62 And he died with terror and with shame, and his son Adikam reigned in his place.

CHAPTER LXXVII. 1 Adikam was twenty years old when he reigned over Egypt, he reigned four years.
2 In the two hundred and sixth year of Israel's going down to Egypt did Adikam reign over Egypt, but he continued not so long in his reign over Egypt as his fathers had continued their reigns.
3 For Melol his father reigned ninety-four years in Egypt, but he was ten years sick and died, for he had been wicked before the Lord.
4 And all the Egyptians called the name of Adikam Pharaoh like the name of his fathers, as was their custom to do in Egypt.
5 And all the wise men of Pharaoh called the name of Adikam Ahuz, for short is called Ahuz in the Egyptian language.
6 And Adikam was exceedingly ugly, and he was a cubit and a span and he had a great beard which reached to the soles of his feet.
7 And Pharaoh sat upon his father's throne to reign over Egypt, and he conducted the government of Egypt in his wisdom.
8 And whilst he reigned he exceeded his father and all the preceding kings in wickedness, and he increased his yoke over the children of Israel.
9 And he went with his servants to Goshen to the children of Israel, and he strengthened the labor over them and he said unto them, Complete your work, each day's task, and let not your hands slacken from our work from this day forward as you did in the days of my father.
10 And he placed officers over them from amongst the children of Israel, and over these officers he placed task-masters from amongst his servants.
11 And he placed over them a measure of bricks for them to do according to that number, day by day, and he turned back and went to Egypt.
12 At that time the task-masters of Pharaoh ordered the officers of the children of Israel according to the command of Pharaoh, saying.
13 Thus says Pharaoh, Do your work each day, and finish your task, and observe the daily measure of bricks; diminish not anything.
14 And it shall come to pass that if you are deficient in your daily bricks, I will put your young children in their stead.
15 And the task-masters of Egypt did so in those days as Pharaoh had ordered them.
16 And whenever any deficiency was found in the children of Israel's measure of their daily bricks, the task-masters of Pharaoh would go to the wives of the children of Israel and take infants of the children of Israel to the number of bricks deficient, they would take them by force from their mother's laps, and put them in the building instead of the bricks;
17 Whilst their fathers and mothers were crying over them and weeping when they heard the weeping voices of their infants in the wall of the building.
18 And the task-masters prevailed over Israel, that the Israelites should place their children in the building, so that a man placed his son in the wall and put mortar over him, whilst his eyes wept over him, and his tears ran down upon his child.
19 And the task-masters of Egypt did so to the babes of Israel for many days, and no one pitied or had compassion over the babes of the children of Israel.
20 And the number of all the children killed in the building was two hundred and seventy, some whom they had built upon instead of the bricks which had been left deficient by their fathers, and some whom they had drawn out dead form the building.
21 And the labor imposed upon the children of Israel in the days of Adikam exceeded in hardship that which they performed in the days of his father.
22 And the children of Israel sighed every day on account of their heavy work, for they had said to themselves, Behold when Pharaoh shall die, his son will rise up and lighten our work!

23 But they increased the latter work more than the former, and the children of Israel sighed at this and their cry ascended to God on account of their labor.
24 And God heard the voice of the children of Israel and their cry, in those days, and God remembered to them his covenant which he had made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.
25 And God saw the burden of the children of Israel, and their heavy work in those days, and he determined to deliver them.
26 And Moses the son of Amram was still confined in the dungeon in those days, in the house of Reuel the Midianite, and Zipporah the daughter of Reuel did support him with food secretly day by day.
27 And Moses was confined in the dungeon in the house o Reuel for ten years.
28 And at the end of ten years, which was the first year of the reign of Pharaoh over Egypt, in the place of his father,
29 Zipporah said to her father Reuel, No person inquires or seeks after the Hebrew man, whom thou didst bind in prison now ten years.
30 Now therefore, if it seem good in thy sight, let us send and see whether he is living or dead, but her father knew not that she had supported him.
31 And Reuel her father answered and said to her, Has ever such a thing happened that a man should be shut up in a prison without food for ten years, and that he should live?
32 And Zipporah answered her father, saying, Surely thou hast heard that the God of the Hebrews is great and awful, and does wonders for them at all times.
33 He it was who delivered Abraham from Ur of the Chaldeans, and Isaac from the sword of his father, and Jacob from the angel of the Lord who wrestled with him at the ford of Jabbuk.
34 Also with this man has he done many things, he delivered him from the river in Egypt and from the sword of Pharaoh, and from the children of Cush, so also can he deliver him from famine and make him live.
35 And the thing seemed good in the sight of Reuel, and he did according to the word of his daughter, and sent to the dungeon to ascertain what became of Moses.
36 And he saw, and behold the man Moses was living in the dungeon, standing upon his feet, praising and praying to the God of his ancestors.
37 And Reuel commanded Moses to be brought out of the dungeon, so they shaved him and he changed his prison garments and ate bread.
38 And afterward Moses went into the garden of Reuel which was behind the house, and he there prayed to the Lord his God, who had done mighty wonders for him.
39 And it was that whilst he prayed he looked opposite to him, and behold a sapphire stick was placed in the ground, which was planted in the midst of the garden.
40 And he approached the stick and he looked, and behold the name of the Lord God of hosts was engraved thereon, written and developed upon the stick.
41 And he read it and stretched forth his hand and he plucked it like a forest tree from the thicket, and the stick was in his hand.
42 And this is the stick with which all the works of our God were performed, after he had created heaven and earth, and all the host of them, seas, rivers and all their fishes.
43 And when God had driven Adam from the garden of Eden, he took the stick in his hand and went and tilled the ground from which he was taken.
44 And the stick came down to Noah and was given to Shem and his descendents, until it came into the hand of Abraham the Hebrew.
45 And when Abraham had given all he had to his son Isaac, he also gave to him this stick.
46 And when Jacob had fled to Padan-aram, he took it into his hand, and when he returned to his father he had not left it behind him.
47 Also when he went down to Egypt he took it into his hand and gave it to Joseph, one portion above his brethren, for Jacob had taken it by force from his brother Esau.

48 And after the death of Joseph, the nobles of Egypt came into the house of Joseph, and the stick came into the hand of Reuel the Midianite, and when he went out of Egypt, he took it in his hand and planted it in his garden.
49 And all the mighty men of the Kinites tried to pluck it when they endeavored to get Zipporah his daughter, but they were unsuccessful.
50 So that stick remained planted in the garden of Reuel, until he came who had a right to it and took it.
51 And when Reuel saw the stick in the hand of Moses, he wondered at it, and he gave him his daughter Zipporah for a wife.

CHAPTER LXXVIII.

1 At that time died Baal Channan son of Achbor, king of Edom, and was buried in his house in the land of Edom.
2 And after his death the children of Esau sent to the land of Edom, and took from there a man who was in Edom, whose name was Hadad, and they made him king over them in the place of Baal Channan, their king.
3 And Hadad reigned over the children of Edom forty-eight years.
4 And when he reigned he resolved to fight against the children of Moab, to bring them under the power of the children of Esau as they were before, but he was not able, because the children of Moab heard this thing, and they rose up and hastened to elect a king over them from amongst their brethren.
5 And they afterward gathered together a great people, and sent to the children of Ammon their brethren for help to fight against Hadad king of Edom.
6 And Hadad heard the thing which the children of Moab had done, and was greatly afraid of them, and refrained from fighting against them.
7 In those days Moses, the son of Amram, in Midian, took Zipporah, the daughter of Reuel the Midianite, for a wife.
8 And Zipporah walked in the ways of the daughters of Jacob, she was nothing short of the righteousness of Sarah, Rebecca, Rachel and Leah.
9 And Zipporah conceived and bare a son and he called his name Gershom, for he said, I was a stranger in a foreign land; but he circumcised not his foreskin, at the command of Reuel his father-in-law.
10 And she conceived again and bare a son, but circumcised his foreskin, and called his name Eliezer, for Moses said, Because the God of my fathers was my help, and delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh.
11 And Pharaoh king of Egypt greatly increased the labor of the children of Israel in those days, and continued to make his yoke heavier upon the children of Israel.
12 And he ordered a proclamation to be made in Egypt, saying, Give no more straw to the people to make bricks with, let them go and gather themselves straw as they can find it.
13 Also the tale of bricks which they shall make let them give each day, and diminish nothing from them, for they are idle in their work.
14 And the children of Israel heard this, and they mourned and signed, and they cried unto the Lord on account of the bitterness of their souls.
15 And the Lord heard the cries of the children of Israel, and saw the oppression with which the Egyptians oppressed them.
16 And the Lord was jealous of his people and his inheritance, and heard their voice, and he resolved to take them out of the affliction of Egypt, to give them the land of Canaan for a possession.

CHAPTER LXXIX.

1 And in those days Moses was feeding the flock of Reuel the Midianite his father-in-law, beyond the wilderness of Sin, and the stick which he took from his father-in-law was in his hand.

2 And it came to pass one day that a kid of goats strayed from the flock, and Moses pursued it and it came to the mountain of God to Horeb.
3 And when he came to Horeb, the Lord appeared there unto him in the bush, and he found the bush burning with fire, but the fire had no power over the bush to consume it.
4 And Moses was greatly astonished at this sight, wherefore the bush was not consumed, and he approached to see this mighty thing, and the Lord called unto Moses out of the fire and commanded him to go down to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, to send the children of Israel from his service.
5 And the Lord said unto Moses, Go, return to Egypt, for all those men who sought thy life are dead, and thou shalt speak unto Pharaoh to send forth the children of Israel from his land. 6 And the Lord showed him to do signs and wonders in Egypt before the eyes of Pharaoh and the eyes of his subjects, in order that they might believe that the Lord had sent him.
7 And Moses hearkened to all that the Lord had commanded him, and he returned to his father-in-law and told him the thing, and Reuel said to him, Go in peace.
8 And Moses rose up to go to Egypt, and he took his wife and sons with him, and he was at an inn in the road, and an angel of God came down, and sought an occasion against him.
9 And he wished to kill him on account of his first born son, because he had not circumcised him, and had transgressed the covenant which the Lord had made with Abraham.
10 For Moses had hearkened to the words of his father-in-law which he had spoken to him, not to circumcise his first born son, therefore he circumcised him not.
11 And Zipporah saw the angel of the Lord seeking an occasion against Moses, and she new that this thing was owing to his not having circumcised her son Gershom.
12 And Zipporah hastened and took of the sharp rock stones that were there, and she circumcised her son, and delivered her husband and her son from the hand of the angel of the Lord.
13 And Aaron the son of Amram, the brother of Moses, was in Egypt walking at the river side on that day.
14 And the Lord appeared to him in that place, and he said to him, Go now toward Moses in the wilderness, and he went and met him in the mountain of God, and he kissed him.
15 And Aaron lifted up his eyes, and saw Zipporah the wife of Moses and her children, and he said unto Moses, Who are these unto thee?
16 And Moses said unto him, They are my wife and sons, which God gave to me in Midian; and the thing grieved Aaron on account of the woman and her children.
17 And Aaron said to Moses, Send away the woman and her children that they may go to her father's house, and Moses hearkened to the words of Aaron, and did so.
18 And Zipporah returned with her children, and they went to the house of Reuel, and remained there until the time arrived when the Lord had visited his people, and brought them forth from Egypt from the hand of Pharaoh.
19 And Moses and Aaron came to Egypt to the community of the children of Israel, and they spoke to them all the words of the Lord, and the people rejoiced an exceeding great rejoicing.
20 And Moses and Aaron rose up early on the next day, and they went to the house of Pharaoh, and they took in their hands the stick of God.
21 And when they came to the king's gate, two young lions were confined there with iron instruments, and no person went out or came in from before them, unless those whom the king ordered to come, when the conjurors came and withdrew the lions by their incantations, and thus brought them to the king.

22 And Moses hastened and lifted up the stick upon the lions, and he loosed them, and Moses and Aaron came into the king's house.
23 The lions also came with them in joy, and they followed them and rejoiced as a dog rejoices over his master when he comes from the field.
24 And when Pharaoh saw this thing he was astonished at it, and he was greatly terrified at the report, for their appearance was like the appearance of the children of God.
25 And Pharaoh said to Moses, What do you require? and they answered him, saying, The Lord God of the Hebrews has sent ut to thee, to say, Send forth my people that they may serve me.
26 And when Pharaoh heard their words he was greatly terrified before them, and he said to them, Go to-day and come back to me to-morrow, and they did according to the word of the king.
27 And when they had gone Pharaoh sent for Balaam the magician and to Jannes and Jambres his sons, and to all the magicians and conjurors and counsellors which belonged to the king, and they all came and sat before the king.
28 And the king told them all the words which Moses and his brother Aaron had spoken to him, and the magicians said to the king, But how came the men to thee, on account of the lions which were confined at the gate?
29 And the king said, Because they lifted up their rod against the lions and loosed them, and came to me, and the lions also rejoiced at them as a dog rejoices to meet his master.
30 And Balaam the son of Beor the magician answered the king, saying, These are none else than magicians like ourselves.
31 Now therefore send for them, and let them come and we will try them, and the king did so.
32 And in the morning Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron to come before the king, and they took the rod of God, and came to the king and spoke to him, saying,
33 Thus said the Lord God of the Hebrews, Send my people that they may serve me.
34 And the king said to them, But who will believe you that you are the messengers of God and that you come to me by his order?
35 Now therefore give a wonder or sign in this matter, and then the words which you speak will be believed.
36 And Aaron hastened and threw the rod out of his hand before Pharaoh and before his servants, and the rod turned into a serpent.
37 And the sorcerers saw this and they cast each man his rod upon the ground and they became serpents.
38 And the serpent of Aaron's rod lifted up its head and opened its mouth to swallow the rods of the magicians.
39 And Balaam the magician answered and sid, This thing has been from the days of old, that a serpent should swallow its fellow, and that living things devour each other.
40 Now therefore restore it to a rod as it was at first, and we will also restore our rods as they were at first, and if thy rod shall swallow our rods, then shall we know that the spirit of God is in thee, and if not, thou art only an artificer like unto ourselves.
41 And Aaron hastened and stretched forth his hand and caught hold of the serpent's tail and it became a rod in his hand, and the sorcerers did the like with their rods, and they got hold, each man of the tail of his serpent, and they became rods as at first.
42 And when they were restored to rods, the rod of Aaron swallowed up their rods. 43 And when the king saw this thing, he ordered the book of records that related to the kings of Egypt, to be brought, and they brought the book of records, the chronicles of the kings of Egypt, in which all the idols of Egypt were inscribed, for they thought of finding therein the name of Jehovah, but they found it not.

44 And Pharaoh said to Moses and Aaron, Behold I have not found the name of your God written in this book, and his name I know not.
45 And the counsellors and wise men answered the king, We have heard that the God of the Hebrews is a son of the wise, the son of ancient kings.
46 And Pharaoh turned to Moses and Aaron and said to them, I know not the Lord whom you have declared, neither will I send his people.
47 And they answered and said to the king, The Lord God of Gods is his name, and he proclaimed his name over us from the days of our ancestors, and sent us, saying, Go to Pharaoh and say unto him, Send my people that they may serve me.
48 Now therefore send us, that we may take a journey for three days in the wilderness, and there may sacrifice to him, for from the days of our going down to Egypt, he has not taken from our hands either burnt offering, oblation or sacrifice, and if thou wilt not send us, his anger will be kindled against thee, and he will smite Egypt either with the plague or with the sword.
49 And Pharaoh said to them, Tell me now his power and his might; and they said to him, He created the heaven and the earth, the seas and all their fishes, he formed the light, created the darkness, caused rain upon the earth and watered it, and made the herbage and grass to sprout, he created man and beast and the animals of the forest, the birds of the air and the fish of the sea, and by his mouth they live and die.
50 Surely he created thee in thy mother' womb, and put into thee the breath of life, and reared thee and placed thee upon the royal throne of Egypt, and he will take thy breath and soul from thee, and return thee to the ground whence thou wast taken.
51 And the anger of the king was kindled at their words, and he said to them, But who amongst all the Gods of nations can do this? my river is mine own, and I have made it for myself.
52 And he drove them from him, and he ordered the labor upon Israel to be more severe than it was yesterday and before.
53 And Moses and Aaron went out from the king's presence, and they saw the children of Israel in an evil condition for the task-masters had made their labor exceedingly heavy.
54 And Moses returned to the Lord and said, Why hast thou ill treated thy people? for since I came to speak to Pharaoh what thou didst send me for, he has exceedingly ill used the children of Israel.
55 And the Lord said to Moses, Behold thou wilt see that with an outstretched hand and heavy plagues, Pharaoh will send the children of Israel from his land.
56 And Moses and Aaron dwelt amongst their brethren the children of Israel in egypt.
57 And as for the children of Israel the Egyptians embittered their lives, with the heavy work which they imposed upon them.

CHAPTER LXXX.

1 And at the end of two years, the Lord again sent Moses to Pharaoh to bring forth the children of Israel, and to send them out of the land of Egypt.
2 And Moses went and came to the house of Pharaoh, and he spoke to him the words of the Lord who had sent him, but Pharaoh would not hearken to the voice of the Lord, and God roused his might in Egypt upon Pharaoh and his subjects, and God smote Pharaoh and his people with very great and sore plagues.
3 And the Lord sent by the hand of Aaron and turned all the waters of Egypt into blood, with all their streams and rivers.
4 And when an Egyptian came to drink and draw water, he looked into his pitcher, and behold all the water was turned into blood; and when he came to drink from his cup the water in the cup became blood.
5 And when a woman kneaded her dough and cooked her victuals, their appearance was turned to that of blood.

6 And the Lord sent again and caused al their waters to bring forth frogs, and all the frogs came into the houses of the Egyptians.
7 And when the Egyptians drank, their bellies were filled with frogs and they danced in their bellies as they dance when in the river.
8 And all their drinking water and cooking water turned to frogs, also when they lay in their beds their perspiration bred frogs.
9 Notwithstanding all this the anger of the Lord did not turn from them, and his hand was stretched out against all the Egyptians to smite them with every heavy plague.
10 And he sent and smote their dust to lice,and the lice became in Egypt tot he height of two cubits upon the earth.
11 The lice were also very numerous, in the flesh of man and beast, in all the inhabitants of Egypt, also upon the king and queen the Lord sent the lice, and it grieved Egypt exceedingly on account of the lice.
12 Notwithstanding this, the anger of the Lord did not turn away, and his hand was still stretched out over Egypt.
13 And the Lord sent all kinds of beasts of the field into Egypt, and they came and destroyed all Egypt, man and beast, and trees, and all things that were in Egypt.
14 And the Lord sent fiery serpents, scorpions, mice, weasels, toads, together with others creeping in dust.
15 Flies, hornets, fleas, bugs and gnats, each swarm according to its kind.
16 And all reptiles and winged animals according to their kind came to Egypt and grieved the Egyptians exceedingly.
17 And the fleas and flies came into the eyes and ears of the Egyptians.
18 And the hornet came upon them and drove them away, and they removed from it into their inner rooms, and it pursued them.
19 And when the Egyptians hid themselves on account of the swarm of animals, they locked their doors after them, and God ordered the Sulanuth which was in the sea, to come up and go into Egypt. 20 And she had long arms, ten cubits in length of the cubit of a man.
21 And she went upon the roofs and uncovered the raftering and flooring and cut them, and stretched forth her arm into the house and removed the lock and the bolt, and opened the houses of Egypt.
22 Afterward came the swarm of animals into the houses of Egypt, and the swarm of animals destroyed the Egyptians, and it grieved them exceedingly.
23 Notwithstanding this the anger of the Lord did not turn away from the Egyptians, and his hand was yet stretched forth against them.
24 And God sent the pestilence, and the pestilence pervaded Egypt, in the horses and asses, and in the camels, in herds of oxen and sheep and in man.
25 And when the Egyptians rose up early in the morning to take their cattle to pasture they found all their cattle dead.
26 And there remained of the cattle of the Egyptians only one in ten, and of the cattle belonging to Israel in Goshen not one died.
27 And God sent a burning inflammation in the flesh of the Egyptians, which burst their skins, and it became a severe itch in all the Egyptians from the soles of their feet tot he crowns of their heads.
28 And many boils were in their flesh, that their flesh wasted away until they became rotten and putrid.
29 Notwithstanding this the anger of the Lord did not turn away, and his hand was still stretched out over all Egypt.
30 And the Lord sent a very heavy hail, which smote their vines and broke their fruit trees and dried them up that they fell upon them.
31 Also every green herb became dry and perished, for a mingling fire descended amidst the hail, therefore the hail and the fire consumed all things.
32 Also men and beasts that were found abroad perished of the flames of fire and of the hail, and all the young lions were exhausted.

33 And the Lord sent and brought numerous locusts into Egypt, the Chasel, Salom, Chargol, and Chagole, locusts each of its kind, which devoured all that the hail had left remaining.
34 Then the Egyptians rejoiced at the locusts, although they consumed the produce of the field, and they caught them in abundance and salted them for food.
35 And the Lord turned a mighty wind of the sea which took away all the locusts, even those that were salted, and thrust them into the Red Sea; not one locust remained within the boundaries of Egypt.
36 And God sent darkness upon Egypt, that the whole land of Egypt and Pathros became dark for three days, so that a man could not see his hand when he lifted it to his mouth.
37 At that time died many of the people of Israel who had rebelled against the Lord and who would not hearken to Moses and Aaron, and believed not in them that God had sent them.
38 And who had said, We will not go forth from Egypt lest we perish with hunger in a desolate wilderness, and who would not hearken to the voice of Moses. 39 And the Lord plagued them in the three days of darkness, and the Israelites buried them in those days, without the Egyptians knowing of them or rejoicing over them.
40 And the darkness was very great in Egypt for three days, and any person who was standing when the darkness came, remained standing in his place, and he that was sitting remained sitting, and he that was lying continued lying in the same state, and he that was walking remained sitting upon the ground in the same spot;a nd this thing happened to all the Egyptians, until the darkness had passed away.
41 And the days of darkness passed away, and the Lord sent Moses and Aaron to the children of Israel, saying, Celebrate your feast and make your Passover, for behold I come in the midst of the night amongst all the Egyptians, and I will smite all their first born, from the first born of a man to the first born of a beast, and when I see your Passover, I will pass over you.
42 And the children of Israel did according to all that the Lord had commanded Moses and Aaron, thus did they in that night.
43 And it came to pass in the middle of the night, that the Lord went forth in the midst of Egypt, and smote all the first born of the Egyptians, from the first born of man to the first born of beast.
44 And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he and all his servants and all the Egyptians, and there was a great cry throughout Egypt in that night, for there was not a house in which there was not a corpse.
45 Also the likenesses of the first born of Egypt, which were carved in the walls of their houses, were destroyed and fell to the ground.
46 Even the bones of their first born who had died before this and whom they had buried in their houses, were raked up by the dogs of Egypt on that night and dragged before the Egyptians and cast before them.
47 And all the Egyptians saw this evil which had suddenly come upon them, and all the Egyptians cried out with a loud voice.
48 And all the families of Egypt wept upon that night, each man for his son and each man for his daughter, being the first born, and the tumult of Egypt was heard at a distance on that night.
49 And Bathia the daughter of Pharaoh went forth with the king on that night to seek Moses and Aaron in their houses, and they found them in their houses, eating and drinking and rejoicing with all Israel.
50 And Bathia said to Moses, Is this the reward for the good which I have done to thee, who have reared thee and stretched thee out, and thou hast brought this evil upon me and my father's house?
51 And Moses said to her, Surely ten plagues did the Lord bring upon Egypt; did any evil accrue to thee from any of them? did one of them affect thee? and she said, No.

52 And Moses said to her, Although thou art the first born to thy mother, thou shalt not die, and no evil shall reach thee int he midst of Egypt.
53 And she said, What advantage is it to me, when I see the king, my brother, and all his household and subjects in this evil, whose first born perish with all the first born of Egypt? 54 And Moses said to her, Surely thy brother and his household, and subjects, the families of Egypt, would not hearken to the words of the Lord, therefore did this evil come upon them.
55 And Pharaoh king of Egypt approached Moses and Aaron, and some of the children of Israel who were with them in that place, and he prayed to them, saying,
56 Rise up and take your brethren, all the children of Israel who are in the land, with their sheep and oxen, and all belonging to them, they shall leave nothing remaining, only pray for me to the Lord your God.
57 And Moses said to Pharaoh, Behold though thou art thy mother's first born, yet fear not, for thou wilt not die, for the Lord has commanded that thou shalt live, in order to show thee his great might and strong stretched out arm.
58 And Pharaoh ordered the children of Israel to be sent away, and all the Egyptians strengthened themselves to send them, for they said, We are all perishing.
59 And all the Egyptians sent the Israelites forth, with great riches, sheep and oxen and precious things, according tot he oath of the Lord between him and our father Abraham.
60 And the children of Israel delayed going forth at night, and when the Egyptians came to them to bring them out, they said to them, Are we thieves, that we should go forth at night?
61 And the children of Israel asked of the Egyptians, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and garments, and the children of Israel stripped the Egyptians.
62 And Moses hastened and rose up and went to the river of Egypt, and brought up from thence the coffin of Joseph and took it with him.
63 The children of Israel also brought up, each man his father's coffin with him, and each man the coffins of his tribe.

CHAPTER LXXXI.

1 And the children of Israel journeyed from Raamses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, besides the little ones and their wives.
2 Also a mixed multitude went up with them, and flocks and herds, even much cattle.
3 And the sojourning of the children of Israel, who dwelt in the land of Egypt in hard labor, was two hundred and ten years.
4 And at the end of two hundred and ten years, the Lord brought forth the children of Israel from Egypt with a strong hand.
5 And the children of Israel traveled from Egypt and from Goshen and from Raamses, and encamped in Succoth on the fifteenth day of the first month.
6 And the Egyptians buried all their first born whom the Lord had smitten, and all the Egyptians buried their slain for three days.
7 And the children of Israel traveled from Succoth and encamped in Ethom, at the end of the wilderness.
8 And on the third day after the Egyptians had buried their first born, many men rose up from Egypt and went after Israel to make them return to Egypt, for they repented that they had sent the Israelites away from their servitude. 9 And one man said to his neighbor, Surely Moses and Aaron spoke to Pharaoh, saying, We will go a three days' journey in the wilderness and sacrifice to the Lord our God.
10 Now therefore let us rise up early in the morning and cause them to return, and it shall be that if they return with us to Egypt to their masters, then shall we know that there is faith in them, but if they will not return, then will we fight with them, and make them come back with great power and a strong hand.

11 And all the nobles of Pharaoh rose up in the morning, and with them about seven hundred thousand men, and they went forth from Egypt on that day, and came to the place where the children of Israel were.
12 And all the Egyptians saw and behold Moses and Aaron and all the children of Israel were sitting before Pi-hahiroth, eating and drinking and celebrating the feast of the Lord.
13 And all the Egyptians said to the children of Israel, Surely you said, We will go a journey for three days in the wilderness and sacrifice to our God and return.
14 Now therefore this day makes five days since you went, why do you not return to your masters?
15 And Moses and Aaron answered them, saying, Because the Lord our God has testified in us, saying, You shall no more return to Egypt, but we will betake ourselves to a land flowing with milk and honey, as the Lord our God had sworn to our ancestors to give to us.
16 And when the nobles of Egypt saw that the children of Israel did not hearken to them, to return to Egypt, they girded themselves to fight with Israel.
17 And the Lord strengthened the hearts of the children of Israel over the Egyptians, that they gave them a severe beating, and the battle was sore upon the Egyptians, and all the Egyptians fled from before the children of Israel, for many of them perished by the hand of Israel.
18 And the nobles of Pharaoh went to Egypt and told Pharaoh, saying, The children of Israel have fled, and will no more return to Egypt, and in this manner did Moses and Aaron speak to us.
19 And Pharaoh heard this thing, and his heart and the hearts of all his subjects were turned against Israel, and they repented that they had sent Israel; and all the Egyptians advised Pharaoh to pursue the children of Israel to make them come back to their burdens.
20 And they said each man to his brother, What is this which we have done, that we have sent Israel from our servitude?
21 And the Lord strengthened the hearts of all the Egyptians to pursue the Israelites, for the Lord desired to overthrow the Egyptians in the Red Sea.
22 And Pharaoh rose up and harnessed his chariot, and he ordered all the Egyptians to assemble, not one man was left excepting the little ones and the women.
23 And all the Egyptians went forth with Pharaoh to pursue the children of Israel, and the camp of Egypt was an exceedingly large and heavy camp, about ten hundred thousand men.
24 And the whole of this camp went and pursued the children of Israel to bring them back to Egypt, and they reached them encamping by the Red Sea. 25 And the children of Israel lifted up their eyes, and beheld all the Egyptians pursing them, and the children of Israel were greatly terrified at them, and the children of Israel cried to the Lord.
26 And on account of the Egyptians, the children of Israel divided themselves into four divisions, and they were divided in their opinions, for they were afraid of the Egyptians, and Moses spoke to each them.
27 The first division was of the children of Reuben, Simeon, and Issachar, and they resolved to cast themselves into the sea, for they were exceedingly afraid of the Egyptians.
28 And Moses said to them, Fear not, stand still and see the salvation of the Lord which He will effect this day for you.
29 The second division was of the children of Zebulun, Benjamin and Naphtali, and they resolved to go back to Egypt with the Egyptians.

30 And Moses said to them, Fear not, for as you have seen the Egyptians this day, so shall you see them no more for ever.
31 The third division was of the children of Judah and Joseph, and they resolved to go to meet the Egyptians to fight with them.
32 And Moses said to them, Stand in your places, for the Lord will fight for you, and you shall remain silent.
33 And the fourth division was of the children of Levi, Gad and Asher, and they resolved to go into the midst of the Egyptians to confound them, and Moses said to them, Remain in your stations and fear not, only call unto the Lord that he may save you out of their hands.
34 After this Moses rose up from amidst the people, and he prayed to the Lord and said,
35 O Lord God of the whole earth, save now thy people whom thou didst bring forth from Egypt, and let not the Egyptians boast that power and might are theirs.
36 So the Lord said to Moses, Why dost thou cry unto me? speak to the children of Israel that they shall proceed, and do thou stretch out thy rod upon the sea dn divide it, and the children of Israel shall pass through it.
37 And Moses did so, and he lifted up his rod upon the sea and divided it.
38 And the waters of the sea were divided into twelve parts, and the children of Israel passed through on foot, with shoes, as a man would pass through a prepared road.
39 And the Lord manifested to the children of Israel his wonders in Egypt and in the sea by the hand of Moses and Aaron.
40 And when the children of Israel had entered the sea, the Egyptians came after them, and the waters of the sea returned upon them, and they all sank in the water, and not one man was left excepting Pharaoh, who gave thanks to the Lord and believed in him, therefore the Lord did not cause him to perish at that time with the Egyptians.
41 And the Lord ordered an angel to take him from amongst the Egyptians, who cast him upon the land of Ninevah and he reigned over it for a long time.
42 And on that day the Lord saved Israel from the hand of Egypt, and all the children of Israel saw that the Egyptians had perished, and they beheld the great hand of the Lord, in what he had performed in Egypt and in the sea.
43 Then sang Moses and the children of Israel this song unto the Lord, on the day when the Lord caused the Egyptians to fall before them.
44 And all Israel sang in concert, saying, I will sing to the Lord for He is greatly exalted, the horse and his rider has he cast into the sea; behold it is written in the book of the law of God.
45 After this the children of Israel proceeded on their journey, and encamped in Marah, and the Lord gave to the children of Israel statutes and judgments in that place in Marah, and the Lord commanded the children of Israel to walk in all his ways and to serve him.
46 And they journeyed from Marah and came to Elim, and in Elim were twelve springs of water and seventy date trees, and the children encamped there by the waters.
47 And they journeyed from Elim and came to the wilderness of Sin, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departure from Egypt.
48 At that time the Lord gave the manna to the children of Israel to eat, and the Lord caused food to rain form heaven for the children of Israel day by day.
49 And the children of Israel ate the manna for forty years, all the days that they were in the wilderness, until they came to the land of Canaan to possess it.
50 And they proceeded from the wilderness of Sin and encamped in Alush.
51 And they proceeded from Alush and encamped in Rephidim.
52 And when the children of Israel were in Rephidim, Amalek the son of Eliphaz, the son of Esau, the brother of Zepho, came to fight with Israel.

53 And he brought with him eight hundred and one thousand men, magicians and conjurers, and he prepared for battle with Israel in Rephidim.
54 And they carried on a great and severe battle against Israel, and the Lord delivered Amalek and his people into the hands of Moses and the children of Israel, and into the hand of Joshua, the son of Nun, the Ephrathite, the servant of Moses.
55 And the children of Israel smote Amalek and his people at the edge of the sword, but the battle was very sore upon the children of Israel.
56 And the Lord said to Moses, Write this thing as a memorial for thee in a book, and place it in the hand of Joshua, the son of Nun, thy servant, and thou shalt command the children of Israel, saying, When thou shalt come to the land of Canaan, thou shalt utterly efface the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.
57 And Moses did so, and he took the book and wrote upon it these words, saying,
58 Remember what Amalek has done to thee in the road when thou wentest forth from Egypt.
59 Who met thee in the road and smote thy rear, even those that were feeble behind thee when thou wast faint and weary.
60 Therefore it shall be when the Lord thy God shall have given thee rest from all thine enemies round about in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, to possess it, that thou shalt blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven, thou shalt not forget it.
61 And the king who shall have pity on Amalek, or upon his memory or upon his seed, behold I will require it of him, and I will cut him off from amongst his people.
62 And Moses wrote all these things in a book, and he enjoined the children of Israel respecting all these matters.

CHAPTER LXXXII.

1 And the children of Israel proceeded from Rephidim and they encamped in the wilderness of Sinai, in the third month from their going forth from Egypt.
2 At that time came Reuel the Midianite, the father-in-law of Moses, with Zipporah his daughter and her two sons, for he had heard of the wonders of the Lord which he had done to Israel, that he had delivered them from the hand of Egypt.
3 And Reuel came to Moses to the wilderness where he was encamped, where was the mountain of God.
4 And Moses went forth to meet his father-in-law with great honor, and all Israel was with him.
5 And Reuel and his children remained amongst the Israelites for many days, and Reuel knew the Lord from that day forward.
6 And in the third month from the children of Israel's departure from Egypt, on the sixth day thereof, the Lord gave to Israel the ten commandments on Mount Sinai.
7 And all Israel heard all these commandments, and all Israel rejoiced exceedingly in the Lord on that day.
8 And the glory of the Lord rested upon Mount Sinai, and he called to Moses, and Moses came in the midst of a cloud and ascended the mountain.
9 And Moses was upon the mount forty days and forty nights; he ate no bread and drank no water, and the Lord instructed him in the statues and judgments in order to teach the children of Israel.
10 And the Lord wrote the ten commandments which he had commanded the children of Israel upon two tablets of stone, which he gave to Moses to command the children of Israel.
11 And at the end of forty days and forty nights, when the Lord had finished speaking to Moses on Mount Sinai, then the Lord gave to Moses the tablets of stone, written with the finger of God.

12 And when the children of Israel saw that Moses tarried to come down from the mount, they gathered round Aaron, and said, As for this man Moses we know not what has become of him.
13 Now therefore rise up, make unto us a god who shall go before us, so that thou shalt not die.
14 And Aaron was greatly afraid of the people, and he ordered them to bring him gold and he made it into a molten calf for the people.
15 And the Lord said to Moses, before he had come down from the mount, Get thee down, for thy people whom thou didst bring forth from Egypt have corrupted themselves.
16 They have made to themselves a molten calf, and have bowed down to it, now therefore leave me, that I may consume them from off the earth, for they are a sitffnecked people.
17 And Moses besought the countenance of the Lord, and he prayed to the Lord for the people on account of the calf which they had made, and he afterward descended from the mount and in his hands were the two tablets of stone, which God had given him to command the Israelites.
18 And when Moses approached the camp and saw the calf which the people had made, the anger of Moses was kindled and he broke the tablets under the mount.
19 And Moses came to the camp and he took the calf and burned it with fire, and ground it till it became fine dust, and strewed it upon the water and gave it to the Israelites to drink.
20 And there died of the people by the swords of each other about three thousand men who had made the calf.
21 And on the morrow Moses said to the people, I will go up to the Lord, peradventure I may make atonement for your sins which you have sinned to the Lord.
22 And Moses again went up to the Lord, and he remained with the Lord forty days and forty nights.
23 And during the forty days did Moses intreat the Lord in behalf of the children of Israel, and the Lord hearkened to the prayer of Moses, and the Lord was intreated of him in behalf of Israel.
24 Then spake the Lord to Moses to hew two stone tablets and to bring them up to the Lord, who would write upon them the ten commandments.
25 Now Moses did so, and he came down and hewed the two tablets and went up to Mount Sinai to the Lord, and the Lord wrote the ten commandments upon the tablets.
26 And Moses remained yet with the Lord forty days and forty nights, and the Lord instructed him in statutes and judgments to impart to Israel.
27 And the Lord commanded him respecting the children of Israel that they should make a sanctuary for the Lord, that his name might rest therein, and the Lord showed him the likeness of the sanctuary and the likeness of all its vessels.
28 And at the end of the forty days, Moses came down from the mount and the two tablets were in his hand.
29 And Moses came tothe children of Israel and spoke to them all the words of the Lord, and he taught them laws, statues and judgments which the Lord had taught him.
30 And Moses told the children of Israel the word of the Lord, that a sanctuary should be made for him, to dwell amongst the children of Israel.
31 And the people rejoiced greatly at all the good which the Lord had spoken to them, through Moses, and they said, We will do all that the Lord has spoken to thee.
32 And the people rose up like one man and they made generous offerings to the sanctuary of the Lord, and each man brought the offering of the Lord for the work of the sanctuary, and for all its service.
33 And all the children of Israel brought each man of all that was found in his possession for the work of the sanctuary of the Lord, gold, silver and brass, and every thing that was serviceable for the sanctuary.

34 And all the wise men who were practised in work came and made the sanctuary of the Lord, according to all that the Lord had commanded, every man in the work in which he had been practised; and all the wise men in heart made the sanctuary, and its furniture and all the vessels for the holy service, as the Lord had commanded Moses.
35 And the work of the sanctuary of the tabernacle was completed at the end of five months, and the children of Israel did all that the Lord had commanded Moses.
36 And they brought the sanctuary and all its furniture to Moses; like unto the representation which the Lord had shown to Moses, so did the children of Israel.
37 And Moses saw the work, and behold they did it as the Lord had commanded him, so Moses blessed them.

CHAPTER LXXXIII.

1 And in the twelfth month, in the twenty-third day of the month, Moses took Aaron and his sons, and he dressed them in their garments, and anointed them and did unto them as the Lord had commanded him, and Moses brought up all the offerings which the Lord had on that day commanded him.
2 Moses afterward took Aaron and his sons and said to them, For seven days shall you remain at the door of the tabernacle, for thus am I commanded.
3 And Aaron and his sons did all that the Lord had commanded them through Moses, and they remained for seven days at the door of the tabernacle.
4 And on the eighth day, being the first day of the first month, in the second year from the Israelites' departure from Egypt, Moses erected the sanctuary, and Moses put up all the furniture of the tabernacle and all the furniture of the sanctuary, and he did all that the Lord had commanded him.
5 And Moses called to Aaron and his sons, and they brought the burnt offering and the sin offering for themselves and the children of Israel, as the Lord had commanded Moses.
6 On that day the two sons of Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, took strange fire and brought it before the Lord who had not commanded them, and a fire went forth from before the Lord, and consumed them, and they died before the Lord on that day.
7 Then on the day when Moses had completed to erect the sanctuary, the princes of the children of Israel began to bring their offerings before the Lord for the dedication of the altar.
8 And they brought up their offerings each prince for one day, a prince each day for twelve days.
9 And all the offerings which they brought, each man in his day, one silver charger weighing one hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels after the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour, mingled with oil for a meat offering.
10 One spoon, weighing ten shekels of gold, full of incense.
11 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the first year for a burnt offering.
12 And one kid of the goats for a sin offering.
13 And for a sacrifice of peach offering, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of a year old. 14 Thus did the twelve princes of Israel day by day, each man in his day.
15 And it was after this, in the thirteenth day of the month, that Moses commanded the children of Israel to observe the Passover.
16 And the children of Israel kept the Passover in its season in the fourteenth day of the month, as the Lord had commanded Moses, so did the children of Israel.

17 And in the second month, on the first day thereof, the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying,
18 Number the heads of all the males of the children of Israel from twenty years old and upward, thou and thy brother Aaron and the twelve princes of Israel.
19 And Moses did so, and Aaron came with the twelve princes of Israel, and they numbered the children of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai.
20 And the number of the children of Israel by the houses of their fathers, from twenty years old and upward, were six hundred and three thousand, five hundred and fifty.
21 But the children of Levi were not numbered amongst their brethren the children of Israel.
22 And the number of all the males of the children of Israel from one month old and upward, was twenty-two thousand, two hundred and seventy-three.
23 And the number of the children of Levi from one month old and above, was twenty-two thousand.
24 And Moses placed the priests and the Levites each man to his service and to his burden to serve the sanctuary of the tabernacle, as the Lord had commanded Moses.
25 And on the twentieth day of the month, the cloud was taken away from the tabernacle of testimony.
26 At that time the children of Israel continued their journey from the wilderness of Sinai, and they took a journey of three days, and the cloud rested upon the wilderness of Paran; there the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, for they had provoked the Lord in asking him for meat, that they might eat.
27 And the Lord hearkened to their voice, and gave them meat which they ate for one month.
28 But after this the anger of the Lord was kindled against them, and he smote them with a great slaughter, and they were buried there in that place.
29 And the children of Israel called that place Kebroth Hattaavah, because there they buried the people that lusted flesh.
30 And they departed from Kebroth Hattaavah and pitched in Hazeroth, which is in the wilderness of Paran.
31 And whilst the children of Israel were in Hazeroth, the anger of the Lord was kindled against Miriam on account of Moses, and she became leprous, white as snow.
32 And she was confined without the camp for seven days, until she had been received again after her leprosy.
33 The children of Israel afterward departed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the end of the wilderness of Paran.
34 At that time, the Lord spoke to Moses to send twelve men from the children of Israel, one man to a tribe, to go and explore the land of Canaan. 35 And Moses sent the twelve men, and they came to the land of Canaan to search and examine it, and they explored the whole land from the wilderness of Sin to Rechob as thou comest to Chamoth.
36 And at the end of forty days they came to Moses and Aaron, and they brought him word as it was in their hearts, and ten of the men brought up an evil report to the children of Israel, of the land which they had explored, saying, It is better for us to return to Egypt than to go to this land, a land that consumes its inhabitants.
37 But Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephuneh, who were of those that explored the land, said, The land is exceedingly good.
38 If the Lord delight in us, then he will bring us to this land and give it to us, for it is a land flowing with milk and honey.
39 But the children of Israel would not hearken to them, and they hearkened to the words of the ten men who had brought up an evil report of the land.
40 And the Lord heard the murmurings of the children of Israel and he was angry and swore, saying,

41 Surely not one man of this wicked generation shall see the land from twenty years old and upward excepting Caleb the son of Jephuneh and Joshua the son of Nun.
42 But surely this wicked generation shall perish in this wilderness, and their children shall come to the land and they shall possess it; so the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he made them wander in the wilderness for forty years until the end of that wicked generation, because they did not follow the Lord.
43 And the people dwelt in the wilderness of Paran a long time, and they afterward proceeded to the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea.

CHAPTER LXXXIV.

1 At that time Korah the son of Jetzer the son of Kehath the son of Levi, took many men of the children of Israel, and they rose up and quarreled with Moses and Aaron and the whole congregation.
2 And the Lord was angry with them, and the earth opened its mouth, and swallowed them up, with their houses and all belonging to them, and all the men belonging to Korah.
3 And after this God made the people go round by the way of Mount Seir for a long time.
4 At that time the Lord said unto Moses, Provoke not a war against the children of Esau, for I will not give to you of any thing belonging to them, as much as the sole of the foot could tread upon, for I have given Mount Seir for an inheritance to Esau.
5 Therefore did the children of Esau fight against the children of Seir in former times, and the Lord had delivered the children of Seir into the hands of the children of Esau, and destroyed them from before them, and the children of Esau dwelt in their stead unto this day.
6 Therefore the Lord said to the children of Israel, Fight not against the children of Esau your brethren, for nothing in their land belongs to you, but you may buy food of them for money and eat it, and you may buy water of them for money and drink it.
7 And the children of Israel did according to the word of the Lord.
8 And the children of Israel went about the wilderness, going round by the way of Mount Sinai for a long time, and touched not the children of Esau, and they continued in that district for nineteen years.
9 At that time died Latinus king of the children of Chittim, in the forty-fifth year of his reign, which is the fourteenth year of the children of Israel's departure from Egypt.
10 And they buried him in his place which he had built for himself in the land of Chittim, and Abimnas reigned in his place for thirty-eight years.
11 And the children of Israel passed the boundary of the children of Esau in those days, at the end of nineteen years, and they came and passed the road of the wilderness of Moab.
12 And the Lord said to Moses, beseige not Moab, and do not fight against them, for I will give you nothing of their land.
13 And the children of Israel passed the road of the wilderness of Moab for nineteen years, and they did not fight against them.
14 And in the thirty-sixth year of the children of Israel's departing from Egypt the Lord smote the heart of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and he waged war, and went forth to fight against the children of Moab.
15 And Sihon sent messengers to Beor the son of Janeas, the son of Balaam, counsellor to the king of Egypt, and to Balaam his son, to curse Moab, in order that it might be delivered into the hand of Sihon.
16 And the messengers went and brought Beor the son of Janeas, and Balaam his son, from Pethor in Mesopotamia, so Beor and Balaam his son came to the city of Sihon and they cursed Moab and their king in the presence of Sihon king of the Amorites.

17 So Sihon went out with his whole army, and he went to Moab and fought against them, and he subdued them, and the Lord delivered them into this hands, and Sihon slew the king of Moab.
18 And Sihon took all the cities of Moab in the battle; he also took Heshbon from them, for Heshbon was one of the cities of Moab, and Sihon placed his princes and his nobles in Heshbon, and Heshbon belonged to Sihon in those days.
19 Therefore the parable speakers Beor and Balaam his son uttered these words, saying, Come unto Heshbon, the city of Sihon will be built and established.
20 Woe unto thee Moab! thou art lost, O people of Kemosh! behold it is written upon the book of the law of God.
21 And when Sihon had conquered Moab, he placed guards in the cities which he had taken from Moab, and a considerable number of the children of Moab fell in battle into the hand of Sihon, and he made a great capture of them, sons and daughters, and he slew their king; so Sihon turned back to his own land.
22 And Sihon gave numerous presents of silver and gold to Beor and Balaam his son, and he dismissed them, and they went to Mesopotamia to their home and country.
23 At that time all the children of Israel passed from the road of the wilderness of Moab, and returned and surrounded the wilderness of Edom.
24 So the whole congregation came to the wilderness of Sin in the first month of the fortieth year from their departure from Egypt, and the children of Israel dwelt there in Kadesh, of the wilderness of Sin, and Miriam died there and she was buried there.
25 At that time Moses sent messengers to Hadad king of Edom, saying, Thus says thy brother Israel, Let me pass I pray thee through thy land, we will not pass through filed or vineyard, we will not drink the water of the well; we will walk in the king's road.
26 And Edom said to him, Thou shalt not pass through my country, and Edom went forth to meet the children of Israel with a mighty people.
27 And the children of Esau refused to let the children of Israel pass through their land, so the Israelites removed from them and fought not against them.
28 For before this the Lord had commanded the children of Israel, saying, You shall not fight against the children of Esau, therefore the Israelites removed form them and did not fight against them.
29 So the children of Israel departed from Kadesh, and all the people came to Mount Hor.
30 At that time the Lord said to Moses, Tell thy brother Aaron that he shall die there, for he shall not come to the land which I have given to the children of Israel.
31 And Aaron went up, at the command of the Lord, to Mount Hor, in the fortieth year, in the fifth month, in the first day of the month.
32 And Aaron was one hundred and twenty-three years old when he died in Mount Hor.

CHAPTER LXXXV.

1 And king Arad the Canaanite, who dwelt in the south, heard that the Israelites had come by the way of the spies, and he arranged his forces to fight against the Israelites.
2 And the children of Israel were greatly afraid of him, for he had a great and heavy army, so the children of Israel resolved to return to Egypt.
3 And the children of Israel turned back about the distance of three days' journey unto Maserath Beni Jaakon, for they were greatly afraid on account of the king Arad.

4 And the children of Israel would not get back to their places, so they remained in Beni Jaakon for thirty days.
5 And when the children of Levi saw that the children of Israel would not turn back, they were jealous for the sake of the Lord, and they rose up and fought against the Israelites their brethren, and slew of them a great body, and forced them to turn back to their place, Mount Hor.
6 And when they returned, king Arad was still arranging his host for battle against the Israelites.
7 And Israel vowed a vow, saying, If thou wilt deliver this people into my hand, then I will utterly destroy their cities.
8 And the Lord hearkened to the voice of Israel, and he delivered the Canaanites into their hand, and he utterly destroyed them and their cities, and he called the name of the place Hormah.
9 And the children of Israel journeyed from Mount Hor and pitched in Oboth, and they journeyed from Oboth and they pitched at Ije-abarim, in the border of Moab.
10 And the children of Israel sent to Moab, saying, Let us pass now through thy land into our place, but the children of Moab would not suffer the children of Israel to pass through their land, for the children of Moab were greatly afraid lest the children of Israel should do unto them as Sihon king of the Amorites had done to them, who had taken their land and had slain many of them.
11 Therefore Moab would not suffer the Israelites to pass through his land, and the Lord commanded the children of Israel, saying, That they should not fight against Moab, so the Israelites removed from Moab.
12 And the children of Israel journeyed from the border of Moab, and they came to the other side of Arnon, the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites, and they pitched in the border of Sihon, king of the Amorites, in the wilderness of Kedemoth.
13 And the children of Israel sent messengers to Sihon, king of the Amorites, saying,
14 Let us pass through thy land, we will not turn into the fields or into the vineyards, we will go along by the king's highway until we shall have passed thy border, but Sihon would not suffer the Israelites to pass.
15 So Sihon collected all the people of the Amorites and went forth into the wilderness to meet the children of Israel, and he fought against Israel in Jahaz.
16 And the Lord delivered Sihon king of the Amorites into the hand of the children of Israel, and Israel smote all the people of Sihon with the edge of the sword and avenged the cause of Moab.
17 And the children of Israel took possession of the land of Sihon from Aram unto Jabuk, unto the children of Ammon, and they took all the spoil of the cities.
18 And Israel took all these cities, and Israel dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites.
19 And all the children of Israel resolved to fight against the children of Ammon, to take their land also.
20 So the Lord said to the children of Israel, Do not besiege the children of Ammon, neither stir up battle against them, for I will give nothing to you of their land, and the children of Israel hearkened to the word of the Lord, and did not fight against the children of Ammon.
21 And the children of Israel turned and went up by the way of Bashan to the land of Og, king of Bashan, and Og the king of Bashan went out to meet the Israelites in battle, and he had with him many valiant men, and a very strong force from the people of the Amorites.
22 And Og king of Bashan was a very powerful man, but Naaron his son was exceedingly powerful, even stronger than he was.

23 And Og said in his heart, Behold now the whole camp of Israel takes up a space of three parsa, now will I smite them at once without sword or spear.
24 And Og went up Mount Jahaz, and took therefrom one large stone, the length of which was three parsa, and he placed it on his head, and resolved to throw it upon the camp of the children of Israel, to smite all the Israelites with that stone.
25 And the angel of the Lord came and pierced the stone upon the head of Og, and the stone fell upon the neck of Og that Og fell to the earth on account of the weight of the stone upon his neck.
26 At that time the Lord said to the children of Israel, Be not afraid of him for I have given him and all his people and all his land into your hand, and you shall do to him as you did to Sihon.
27 And Moses went down to him with a small number of the children of Israel, and Moses smote Og with a stick at the ankles of his feet and slew him.
28 The children of Israel afterward pursued the children of Og and all his people, and they beat and destroyed them till there was no remnant left of them.
29 Moses afterward sent some of the children of Israel to spy out Jaazer, for Jaazer was a very famous city.
30 And the spies went to Jaazer and explored it, and the spies trusted in the Lord, and they fought against the men of Jaazer.
31 And these men took Jaazer and its villages, and the Lord delivered them into their hand, and they drove out the Amorites who had been there.
32 And the children of Israel took the land of the two kings of the Amorites, sixty cities which were on the other side of Jordan, from the brook of Arnon unto Mount Hermon.
33 And the children of Israel journeyed and came into the plain of Moab which is on this side of Jordan, by Jericho.
34 And the children of Moab heard all the evil which the children of Israel had done to the two kings of the AMorites, to Sihon and Og, so all the men of Moab were greatly afraid of the Israelites.
35 And the elders of Moab said, Behold the two kings of the Amorites, Sihon and Og, who were more powerful than all the kings of the earth, could not stand against the children of Israel, how then can we stand before them?
36 Surely they sent us a message before now to pass through our land on their way, and we would not suffer them, now they will turn upon us with their heavy swords and destroy us; and Moab was distressed on account of the children of Israel, and they were greatly afraid of them, and they counselled together what was to be done to the children of Israel.
37 And the elders of Moab resolved and took one of their men, Balak the son of Zippor the Moabite, and made him king over them at that time, and Balak was a very wise man.
38 And the elders of Moab rose up and sent to the children of Midian to make peace with them, for a great battle and enmity had been in those days between Moab and Midian, from the days of Hadad the son of Bedad king of Edom, who smote Midian in the field of Moab, unto these days.
39 And the children of Moab sent to the children of Midian, and they made peace with them, and the elders of Midian came to the land of Moab to make peace in behalf of the children of Midian.
40 And the elders of Moab counselled with the elders of Midian what to do in order to save their lives from Israel.
41 And all the children of Moab said tot he elders of Midian, Now therefore the children of Israel lick up all that are round about us, as the ox licks up the grass of the field, for thus did they do to the two kings of the Amorites who are stronger than we are.
42 And the elders Midian said to Moab, We have heard that at the time when Sihon king of the AMorites fought against you, when he prevailed over you and took your land, he had sent to Beor the son of Janeas and to Balaam his son from Mesopotamia, and they came and cursed you; therefore did the hand of Sihon prevail over you, that he took your land.

43 Now therefore send you also to Balaam his son, for he still remains in his land, and give him his hire, that he may come and curse all the people of whom you are afraid; so the elders of Moab heard this thing, and it pleased them to send to Balaam the son of Beor.
44 So Balak the son of Zippor king of Moab sent messengers to Balaam, saying,
45 Behold there is a people come out from Egypt, behold they cover the face of the earth, and they abide over against me.
46 Now therefore come and curse this people for me, for they are too mighty for me, peradventure I shall prevail to fight against them, and drive them out, for I heard that he whom thou blessest is blessed, and whom thou cursest is cursed.
47 So the messengers of Balak went to Balaam and brought Balaam to curse the people to fight against Moab.
48 And Balaam came to Balak to curse Israel, and the Lord said to Balaam, Curse not this people for it is blessed.
49 And Balak urged Balaam day by day to curse Israel, but Balaam hearkened not to Balak on account of the word of the Lord which he had spoken to Balaam.
50 And when Balak saw that Balaam would not accede to his wish, he rose up and went home, and Balaam also returned to his land and he went from there to Midian.
51 And the children of Israel journeyed from the plain of Moab, and pitched by Jordan from Beth-jesimoth even unto Abel-shittim, at the end of the plains of Moab.
52 And when the children of Israel abode in the plain of Shittim, they began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab.
53 And the children of Israel approached Moab, and the children of Moab pitched their tents opposite to the camp of the children of Israel.
54 And the children of Moab were afraid of the children of Israel, and the children of Moab took all their daughters and their wives of beautiful aspect and comely appearance, and dressed them in gold and silver and costly garments.
55 And the children of Moab seated those women at the door of their tents, in order that the children of Israel might see them and turn to them, and not fight against Moab.
56 And all the children of Moab did this thing to the children of Israel, and every man placed his wife and daughter at the door of his tent, and all the children of Israel saw the act of the children of Moab, and the children of Israel turned to the daughters of Moab and coveted them, and they went to them.
57 And it came to pass that when a Hebrew came to the door of the tent of Moab, and saw a daughter of Moab and desired her in his heart, and spoke with her at the door of the tent that which he desired, whilst they were speaking together the men of the tent would come out and speak to the Hebrew like unto these words:
58 Surely you know that we are brethern, we are all the descendents of Lot and the descendents of Abraham his brother, wherefore then will you not remain with us, and wherefore will you not eat our bread and our sacrifice?
59 And when the children of Moab had thus overwhelmed him with their speeches, and enticed him by their flattering words, they seated him in the tent and cooked and sacrificed for him, and he ate of their sacrifice and of their bread.
60 They then gave him wine and he drank and became intoxicated, and they placed before him a beautiful damsel, and he did with her as he liked, for he knew not what he was doing, as he had drunk plentifully of wine.
61 Thus did the children of Moab to Israel in that place, in the plain of Shittim, and the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel on account of this matter, and he sent a pestilence amongst them, and there died of the Israelites twenty-four thousand men.

62 Now there was a man of the children of Simeon whose name was Zimri, the son of Salu, who connected himself with the Midianite Cosbi, the daughter of Zur, king of Midian, in the sight of all the children of Israel.
63 And Phineas the son of Elazer, the son of Aaron the priest, saw this wicked thing which Zimri had done, and he took a spear and rose up and went after them, and pierced them both and slew them, and the pestilence ceased from the children of Israel.

CHAPTER LXXXVI.

1 At that time after the pestilence, the Lord said to Moses, and to Elazer the son of Aaron the priest, saying,
2 Number the heads of the whole community of the children of Israel, from twenty years old and upward, all that went forth in the army.
3 And Moses and Elazer numbered the children of Israel after their families, and the number of all Israel was seven hundred thousand, seven hundred and thirty.
4 And the number of the children of Levi, from one month old and upward, was twenty-three thousand, and amongst these there was not a man of those numbered by Moses and Aaron in the wilderness of Sinai.
5 For the Lord had told them that they would die in the wilderness, so they all died, and not one had been left of them excepting Caleb the son of Jephuneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.
6 And it was after this that the Lord said to Moses, Say unto the children of Israel to avenge upon Midian the cause of their brethren the children of Israel.
7 And Moses did so, and the children of Israel chose from amongst them twelve thousand men, being one thousand to a tribe, and they went to Midian.
8 And the children of Israel warred against Midian, and they slew every male, also the five princes of Midian, and Balaam the son of Beor did they slay with the sword.
9 And the children of Israel took the wives of Midian captive, with their little ones and their cattle, and all belonging to them.
10 And they took all the spoil and all the prey, and they brought it to Moses and to Elazer to the plains of Moab.
11 And Moses and Elazer and all the princes of the congregation went forth to meet them with joy.
12 And they divided all the spoil of Midian, and the children of Israel had been revenged upon Midian for the cause of their brethren the children of Israel.

CHAPTER LXXXVII.

1 At that time the Lord said to Moses, Behold thy days are approaching to an end, take now Joshua the son of Nun thy servant and place him in the tabernacle, and I will command him, and Moses did so.
2 And the Lord appeared in the tabernacle in a pillar of cloud, and the pillar of cloud stood at the entrance of the tabernacle.
3 And the Lord commanded Joshua the son of Nun and said unto him, Be strong and courageous, for thou shalt bring the children of Israel to the land which I swore to give them, and I will be with thee.
4 And Moses said to Joshua, Be strong and courageous, for thou wilt make the children of Israel inherit the land, and the Lord will be with thee, he will not leave thee nor forsake thee, be not afraid nor disheartened.
5 And Moses called to all the children of Israel and said to them, You have seen all the good which the Lord your God has done for you in the wilderness.

6 Now therefore observe all the words of this law, and walk in the way of the Lord your God, turn not from the way which the Lord has commanded you, either to the right or to the left.
7 And Moses taught the children of Israel statues and judgments and laws to do in the land as the Lord had commanded him.
8 And he taught them the way of the Lord and his laws; behold they are written upon the book of the law of God which he gave to the children of Israel by the hand of Moses.
9 And Moses finished commanding the children of Israel, and the Lord said to him, saying, Go up to the Mount Abarim and die there, and be gathered unto thy people as Aaron thy brother was gathered.
10 And Moses went up as the Lord had commanded him, and he died there in the land of Moab by the order of the Lord, in the fortieth year from the Israelites going forth from the land of Egypt.
11 And the children of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab for thirty days, and the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were completed.

CHAPTER LXXXVIII.

1 And it was after the death of Moses that the Lord said to Joshua the son of Nun, saying,
2 Rise up and pass the Jordan to the land which I have given to the children of Israel, and thou shalt make the children of Israel inherit the land.
3 Every place upon which the sole of your feet shall tread shall belong to you, from the wilderness of Lebanon unto the great river the river of Perath shall be your boundary.
4 No man shall stand up against thee all the days of thy life; as I was with Moses, so will I be with thee, only be strong and of good courage to observe all the law which Moses commanded thee, turn not from the way either to the right or to the left, in order that thou mayst prosper in all that thou doest.
5 And Joshua commanded the officers of Israel, saying, Pass through the camp and command the people, saying, Prepare for yourselves provisions, for in three days more you will pass the Jordan to possess the land.
6 And the officers of the children of Israel did so, and they commanded the people and they did all that Joshua had commanded.
7 And Joshua sent two men to spy out the land of Jericho, and the men went and spied out Jericho.
8 And at the end of seven days they came to Joshua in the camp and said to him, The Lord has delivered the whole land into our hand, and the inhabitants thereof are melted with fear because of us.
9 And it came to pass after that, that Joshua rose up in the morning and all Israel with him, and they journeyed from Shittim, and Joshua and all Israel with him passed the Jordan; and Joshua was eighty-two years old when he passed the Jordan with Israel.
10 And the people went up from Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and they encamped in Gilgal at the eastern corner of Jericho.
11 And the children of Israel kept the Passover in Gilgal, in the plains of Jericho, on the fourteenth day of the month, as it is written in the law of Moses.
12 And the manna ceased at that time on the morrow of the Passover, and there was no more manna for the children of Israel, and they ate of the produce of the land of Canaan.
13 And Jericho was entirely closed against the children of Israel, no one came out or went in.
14 And it was in the second month, on the first day of the month, that the Lord said to Joshua, Rise up, behold I have given Jericho into thy hand with all the people thereof; and all your fighting men shall go round the city, once each day, thus shall you do for six days.

15 And the priests shall blow upon trumpets, and when you shall hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall give a great shouting, that the walls of the city shall fall down; all the people shall go up every man against his opponent.
16 And Joshua did so according to all that the Lord had commanded him.
17 And on the seventh day they went round the city seven times, and the priests blew upon trumpets.
18 And at the seventh round, Joshua said to the people, Shout, for the Lord has delivered the whole city into our hands.
19 Only the city and all that it contains shall be accursed to the Lord, and keep yourselves from the accursed thing, lest you make the camp of Israel accursed and trouble it.
20 But all the silver and gold and brass and iron shall be consecrated to the Lord, they shall come into the treasury of the Lord. 21 And the people blew upon trumpets and made a great shouting, and the walls of Jericho fell down, and al the people went up, every man straight before him, and they took the city and utterly destroyed all that was in it, both man and woman, young and old, ox and sheep and ass, with the edge of the sword.
22 And they burned the whole city with fire; only the vessels of silver and gold, and brass and iron, they put into the treasury of the Lord.
23 And Joshua swore at that time, saying, Cursed be the man who builds Jericho; he shall lay the foundation thereof in his first-born, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates thereof.
24 And Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, son of Judah, dealt treacherously in the accursed thing, and he took of the accursed thing and hid it in the tent, and the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel.
25 And it was after this when the children of Israel had returned from burning Jericho, Joshua sent men to spy out also Ai, and to fight against it.
26 And the men went up and spied out Ai, and they returned and said, Let not all the people go up with thee to Ai, only let about three thousand men go up and smite the city, for the men thereof are but few.
27 And Joshua did so, and there went up with him of the children of Israel about three thousand men, and they fought against the men of Ai.
28 And the battle was severe against Israel, and the men of Ai smote thirty-six men of Israel, and the children of Israel fled from before the men of Ai.
29 And when Joshua saw this thing, he tore his garments and fell upon his face to the ground before the Lord, he, with the elders of Israel, and they put dust upon their heads.
30 And Joshua said, Why O Lord didst thou bring this people over the Jordan? what shall I say after the Israelites have turned their backs against their enemies?
31 Now therefore all the Canaanites, inhabitants of teh land, will hear this thing, and surround us and cut off our name.
32 And the Lord said to Joshua, Why dost thou fall upon thy face? rise, get thee off, for the Israelites have sinned, and taken of the accursed thing; I will no more be with them unless they destroy the accursed thing from amongst them.
33 And Joshua rose up and assembled the people, and brought the Urim by the order of the Lord, and the tribe of Judah was taken, and Achan the son of Carmi was taken.
34 And Joshua said to Achan, Tell me my son, what hast thou done, and Achan said, I saw amongst the spoil a goodly garment of Shinar and two hundred shekels of silver, and a wedge of gold of fifty shekels weight; I coveted them and took them, and behold they are all hid in the earth in the midst of the tent.
35 And Josua sent men who went and took them from the tent of Achan, and they brought them to Joshua.

36 And Joshua took Achan and these utensils, and his sons and daughters and all belonging to him, and they brought them into the valley of Achor.
37 And Joshua burned them there with fire, and all the Israelites stoned Achan with stones, and they raised over him a heap of stones; therefore did he call that place the valley of Achor, so the Lord's anger was appeased, and Joshua afterward came to the city and fought against it.
38 And the Lord said to Joshua, Fear not, neither be thou dismayed, behold I have given into thy hand Ai, her king and her people, and thou shalt do unto them as thou dist to Jericho and her king, only the spoil thereof and the cattle thereof shall you take for a prey for yourselves; lay an ambush for the city behind it.
39 So Joshua did acording to the word of the Lord, and he chose from amongst the sons of war thirty thousand valiant men, and he sent them, and they lay in ambush for the city.
40 And he commanded them, saying, When you shall see us we will flee before them with cunning, and they will pursue us, you shall then rise out of the ambush and take the city, and they did so.
41 And Joshua fought, and the men of the city went out toward Israel, not knowing that they were lying in ambush for them behind the city.
42 And Joshua and all the Israelites feigned themselves wearied out before them, and they fled by the way of the wilderness with cunning.
43 And the men of Ai gathered all the people who were in the city to pursue the Israelites, and they went out and were drawn away from the city, not one remained, and they left the city open and pursued the Israelites.
44 And those who were lying in ambush rose up out of their places, and hastened to come to the city and took it and set it on fire, and the men of Ai turned back, and behold the smoke of the city ascended to the skies, and they had no means of retreating either one way or the other.
45 And all the men of Ai were in the midst of Israel, some on this side oand some on that side, and they smote them so that not one of them remained.
46 And the children of Israel took Melosh king ao Ai alive, and they brought him to Joshua, and Joshua hanged him on a tree and he died.
47 And the children of Israel returned to the city after having burned it, and they smote all those that were in it with the edge of the sword.
48 And the number of those that had fallen of the men of Ai, both man and woman, was twelve thousand; only the cattle and the spoil of the city they took to themselves, according to the word of the Lord to Joshua.
49 And all the kings on this side Jordan, all the kings of Canaan, heard of the evil which the children of Israel had done to Jericho and to Ai, and they gathered themselves together to fight against Israel.
50 Only the inhabitants of Gibeon were greatly afraid of fighting against the Israelites lest they should perish, so they acted cunningly, and they came to Joshua and to all Israel, and said unto them, We have come from a distand land, now therefore make a covenant with us.
51 And the inhabitants of Gibeon over-reached the children of Israel, and the children of Israel made a covenant with them, and they made peace with them, and the princes of the congregation swore unto them, but afterward the children of Israel knew that they were neighbors to them and were dwelling amongst them.
52 But the children of Israel slew them not; for they had sworn to them by the Lord, and they became hewers of wood and drawers of water.
53 And Joshua said to them, Why did you deceive me, to do this thing to us? and they answered him, saying, Because it was told to thy servants all that you had done to all the kings of the Amorites, and we were greatly afraid of our lives, and we did this thing.
54 And Joshua appointed them on that day to hew wood and to draw water, and he divided them for slaves to all the tribes of Israel.

55 And when Adonizedek king of Jerusalem heard all that the children of Israel had done to Jericho and to Ai, he sent to Hoham king of Hebron and to Piram King of Jarmuth, and to Japhia king of Lachish and to Deber king of Eglon, saying,
56 Come up to me and help me, that we may smite the children of Israel and the inhabitants of Gibeon who have made peace with the children of Israel.
57 And they gathered themselves together and the five kings of the Amorites wient up with all their camps, a mighty people numerous as the sand of the sea shore.
58 And they gathered themselves together and the five kings of the Amorites went up with all their camps, a mighty people numerous as the sand of the sea shore.
58 And all these kings came and encamped before Gibeon, and they began to fight against the inhabitants of Gibeon, and all the men of Gibeon sent to Joshua, saying, Come up puickly to us and help us, for all the kings of the Amorites have gathered together to fight against us.
59 And Joshua and all the fighting people went up from Gilgal, and joshua came suddenly to them, and smote these five kings with a great slaughter.
60 And the Lord confounded them before the children of Israel, who smote them with a terrible slaughter in Gibeon, and pursued them along the way that goes up to Beth Horon unto Makkedah, and they fled from before the children of Israel.
61 And whilst they were fleeing, the Lord sent upon them hailstones from heaven, and more of them died by the hailstones, than by the slaghter of the children of Israel.
62 And the children of Israel pursued them, and they still smote them in the road, going on and smiting them.
63 And when they were smiting, the day was declining toward evening, and Joshua said in the sight of all the people, Sun, stand thou still upon Gibeon, and thou moon in the valley of Ajalon, until the nation shall have revenged itself upon its enemies.
64 And the Lord hearkened to the voice of Joshua, and the sun stood still in the midst of the heavens, and it stood still six and thirty moments,(1) and the moon also stood still and hastened not to go down a whole day.
65 And there was no day like that, before it or after it, that the Lord hearkened to the voice of a man, for the Lord fought for Israel.

CHAPTER LXXXIX

1 Then spoke Joshua this song, on the day that the Lord had given the Amorites into the hand of Joshua and the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of all Israel,
2 Thou hast done mighty things, O Lord, thou hast performed great deeds; who is like unto thee? my lips shall sing to thy name.
3 My goodness and my fortress, my high tower, I will sing a new song unto thee, with thanksgiving will I sing to thee, thou art the strength of my salvation.
4 All the kings of the earth shall praise thee, the princes fo the world shall sing to thee, the children of Israel shall rejoice in they salvation, they shall sing and praise thy power.
5 To thee, O lord, did we confide; we said thou art our God, for thou wast our shelter and strong tower against our enemies.
6 To thee we cried and were not ashamed, in thee we trusted and were delivered; when we cried unto thee, thou didst hear our voice, thou dist deliver our souls from the sword, thou dist show unto us thy grace, thou dist give unto us thy salvation, thou dist rejoice our hearts with thy strength.
7 Thou dist go forth for our salvation, with thine arm thou dist redeem thy people; thou dist answer us from the heavens of they holiness, thou dist save us from ten thousands of people.

8 The sun and moon stood still in heaven, and thou dist stand in thy wrath against our oppressors and dist command thy judgments over them.
9 All the princes of the earth stood up, the kings of the nations hath gathered themselves together, they were not moved at thy presence, they desired thy battles.
10 Thou didst rise against them in thine anger, and dist bring down they wrath upon them; thou dist destroy them in thine anger, and cut them oft in thine heart.
11 Nations have been consumed with thy fury, kingdoms have declined because of thy wrath, thou dist wound kings in the day of thine anger.
12 Thou dist pour out thy fury upon them, thy wrathful anger took hold of them; thou dist turn theri iniquity upon them, and dist cut them off in their wickedness.
13 They did spread a trap, they fell therein, in the net they hid, their foot was caught.
14 Thine hand was ready for all thine enemies who said, Through their sword they possessed the land, through their arm they dwelt in the city; thou dist fill their faces with shame, thou dist bring their horns down to the ground, thou dist terrify them in thy warth, and dist destroy them in thine anger.
15 The earth trembled and shook at the sound of they storm over them, thou dist not withhold their souls from death, and dist bring down their lives to the grave.
16 Thou dist pursue them in they storm, thou didst consume them in thy whirlwind, thou dist turn their rain into hail, they fell in deep pits so that they could not rise.
17 Their carcasses were like rubbish cast out in the middle of the streets.
18 They were consumed and destroyed in thine anger, thou dist save thy people with thy might.
19 Therefore our hearts rejoice in thee, our souls exult in thy salvation.
20 Our tongues shall relate thy might, we will sing and praise thy wondrous works.
21 For thou didst save us from our enemies, thou didst deliver us from those who rose up against us, thou didst destroy them from before us and depress them beneath our feet.
22 Thus shall all thine enemies perish O Lord, and the wicked shall be like chaff driven by the wind, and thy beloved shall be like trees planted by the waters.
23 So Joshua and all Israel with him returned to the camp in Gilgal, after having smitten all the kings, so that not a remnant was left of them.
24 And the five kings fled alone on foot from battle, and hid themselves in a cave, and Joshua sought for them in the field of battle, and did not find them.
25 And it was afterward told to Joshua, saying, The kings are found and behold they are hidden in a cave.
26 And Joshua said, Appoint men to be at the mouth of the cave, to guard them, lest they take themselves away; and the children of Israel did so.
27 And Joshua called to all Israel and said to the officers of battle, Place your feet upon the necks of these kings, and Joshua said, So shall the Lord do to all your enemies.
28 And Joshua commanded afterward that they should slay the kings and cast them into the cave, and to put great stones at the mouth of the cave.
29 And Joshua went afterward with all the people that were with him on that day to Makkedah, and he smote in with the edge of the sword.
30 And he utterly destroyed the souls and all belonging to the city, and he did to the king and people thereof as he had done to Jericho.
31 And he passed from there to Libnah and he fought against it, and the Lord delivered it into his hand, and Joshua smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls thereof, and he did to it and to the king thereof as he had done to Jericho.

32 And form there he passed on to Lachish to fight against it, and Horam king of Gaza went up to assist the men of Lachish, and Joshua smote him and his people until there was none left to him.
33 And Joshua took Lachish and all the people thereof, and he did to it as he had done to Libnah. 34 And Joshua passed form there to Eglon, and he took that also, and he smote it and all the people thereof with the edge of the sword.
35 And form there he passed to Hebron and fought against it and took it and utterly destroyed it, and he retruned from there with all Israel to Debir and fought against it and smote it with the edge of the sword.
36 And he destroyed every soul in it, he left none remaining, and he did to it and the king thereof as he had done to Jericho.
37 And joshua smote all the kings of the Amorites from Kadesh-barnea to Azah, and he took their country at once, for the Lord had fought for Israel.
38 And Joshua with all Israel came to the camp to Gilgal.
39 When at that time Jabin king of Chazor heard all that Joshua had done to the kings of the Amorites, Jabin sent to Jobat king of Achshaph, and to all the kings of the Amorites, saying,
40 Come quickly to us and help us, that we may smite the children of Israel, before they come upon us and do unto us as they have done to the other kings of the Amorites.
41 And all these kings hearkened to the words of Jabin, king of Chazor, and they went forth with all their camps, seventeen kings, and their people were as numerous as the sand on the sea shour, together with horses and chariots innumerable, and they came and pitched together at the waters of Merom, and they were met together to fight against Israel.
42 And the Lord said to Joshua, Fear them not, for to-morrow about this time I will deliver them up all slain before you, thou shalt hough their horses and burn their chariots with fire.
43 And Joshua withall the men of war came suddenly upon them and smote them, and they fell into their hands, for the Lord had delivered them into the hands of the children of Israel.
44 So the children of Israel pursued all these kings with their camps, and smote them until there was none left of them, and Joshua did to them as the Lord had spoken to him.
45 And Joshua returned at that time to Chazor and smote it with the sword and destroyed every soul in it and burned it with fire, and form Chazor, Joshua passed to Shimron and smote it and utterly destroyed it.
46 From there he passed to Achshaph and he did to it as he had done to Shimron.
47 From there he passed to Adulam and he smote all the people in it, and he did to Adulam as he had done to Achshaph and to Shimron.
48 And he passed form them to all the cities of the kings which he had smitten, and he smote all the people that were left of them and he utterly destroyed them.
49 Only their booty and cattle the Israelites took to themselves as prey, but every human being they smote, they suffered not a soul to live.
50 As the Lord had commanded Moses so did Joshua and all Israel, they failed not in anything.
51 So Joshua and all the children of Israel smote the whole land of Canaan as the Lord had commanded them, and smote all their kings, being thirty and one kings, and the children of Israel took their whole country. 52 Besides the kingdoms of Sihon and Og which are on the other side Jordan, of which Moses had smitten many cities, and Moses gave them to the Reubenites and the Gadites and to half the tribe of Manasseh.
53 And Joshua smote all the kings that were on this side Jordan to the west, and gave them for an inheritance to thenine tribes and to the half tribe of Israel.

54 For five years did Joshua carry on the war with these kings, and he gave their cities to the Israelites, and the land became tranquil from battle throughout the cities of the Amorites and the Canaanites.

CHAPTER XC.

1 At that time in the fifth year after the children of Israel had passed over Jordan, after the children of Israel had rested from their war with the Canaanites, at that time great and severe battles arose between Edom and the children fo Chittim, and the children of Chittim fought agains Edom.
2 And Abianus king of Chittim went forth in that year, that is in the thirty-first year of the reign, and a great force with him of the mighty men of the children fo Chittim, and he went to Seir to fight against the children of Esau.
3 And Hadad the king of Edom heard of his report, and he went forth to meet him with a heavy people and strong force, and engaged in battle with him in the field of Edom.
4 And the hand of Chittim prevailed over the children of Esau, and the children of Chittim slew of the children of Esau, two and twenty thousand men, and all that children of Esau fled from before them.
5 And the children of Chittim pursued them and they reached Hadad king of Edom, who was running before them and they caught him alive, and brought him to Abianus king of Chittim.
6 And Abianus ordered him to be slain, and Hadad king of Edom died in the forty-eighth year of his reign.
7 And the children of Chittim continued their pursuit of Edom, and they smote them with a great slaughter and Edom became subject to the children of Chittim.
8 And the children of Chittim ruled over Edom, and Edom became under the hand of the children of Chittim and became one kingdom from that day.
9 And from that time they could no more lift up their heads, and their kingdom became one with the children of Chittim.
10 And Abianus placed officers in Edom and all the children of Edom became subject and tributary to Abianus, and Abianus turned back to his own land, Chittim.
11 And when he returned he renewed his government and built for himself a spacious and fortified palace for a royal residence, and reigned securely over the children of Chittim and over Edom.
12 In those days, after the children of Israel had driven away all the Canaanites and the Amorites, Joshua was old and advanced in years.
13 And the Lord said to Joshua, Thou art old, advanced in life, and a great part of the land remains to be possessed. 14 Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance to the nine tribes and to the half tribe of Manasseh, and Joshua rose up and did as the Lord had spoken to him.
15 And he divided the whole land to the tribes of Israel as an inheritance, according to their divisions.
16 But to the tribe of Levi he gave no inheritance, the offerings of the Lord are their inheritance as the Lord had spoken of them by the hand of Moses.
17 And Joshua gave Mount Hebron to Caleb the son of Jephuneh, one portion above his brethren, as the Lord had spoken through Moses.
18 Therefore Hebron became an inheritance to Caleb and his children unto this day.
19 And Joshua divided the whole land by lots to all Israel for an inheritance, as the Lord had commanded him.
20 And the children of Israel gave cities to the Levites from their own inheritance, and suburbs for their cattle, and property, as the Lord had commanded Moses so did the children of Israel, and they divided the land by lot whether great of small.

21 And they went to inherit the land according to their boundaries, and the children of Israel gave to Joshua the son of Nun an inheritance amongst them.
22 By the word of the Lord did they give to him the city which he required, Timnath-serach in Mount Ephraim, and he built the city and dwelt therein.
23 These are the inheritances which Elazer the priest of Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers of the tribes portioned out to the children of Israel by lot in Shiloh, before the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle, and they left off dividing the land.
24 And the Lord gave the land to the Israelites, and they possessed it as the Lord had spoken to them, and as the Lord had sworn to their ancestors.
25 And the Lord gave to the Israelites rest from all their enemies around them, and no man stood up against them, and the Lord delivered all their enemies into their hands, and not one thing failed of all the god which the Lord had spoken to the children of Israel, yea the Lord performed everything.
26 And Joshua called to all the children of Israel and he blessed them, and commanded them to serve the Lord, and he afterward sent them away, and they went each man to his city, and each man to his inheritance.
27 And the children of Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and the Lord gave them rest from all around them, and they dwelt securely in their cities.
28 And it came to pass in those days, that Abianus king of Chittim died, in the thirty-eiththe year of his reign, that is the seventh year of his reign over Edom, and they buried him in his place which he had built for himself, and Latinus reigned in his stead fifty years.
29 And during his reign he brought forth an army, and he went and fought against the inhabitants of Britannia and Kernania, the children of Elisha son of Javan, and he prevailed over them and made them tributary.
30 He then heard that Edom had revolted form under the hand of Chittim, and Latinus went to them and smote them and subdued them, and placed them under the hand of the children of Chittim, and Edom became one kingdom with the children of Chittim all the days.
31 And for many years there was no king in Edom, and their government was with the children of Chittim and their king.
32 And it was in the twenty-sixtysixth year after the children of Israel had departed from Egypt, that Joshua was old, advanced in years, being one hundred and eight years old in those days.
33 And Joshua called to all Israel, to their elders, their judges and officers, after the Lord had given to all the Israelites rest form all their enemies round about, and Joshua said to the elders of Israel, and to their judges, Behold I am old, advanced in years, and you have seen what the Lord has done to all the nations whom he has driven away from before you, for it is the Lord who has fought for you.
34 Now therefore strengthen youselves to keep and to do all the words of the law of Moses, not to deviate from it to the right or to the left, and not to come amongst those nations who are left in the land; neither shall you make mention of the name of their gods, but you shall cleave to the Lords your God, as you have done to this day.
35 And Joshua greatly exhorted the children of Israel to serve the Lord all their days.
36 And all the Israelites said, We will serve the Lord our God all our days, we and our children, and our children's children, and our seed for ever.
37 And Joshua made a covenant with the people on that day, and he sent away the children of Israel, and they went each man to his inheritance and to his city.
38 And it was in those days, when the children of Israel were dwelling securely in their cities, that they buried the coffins of the tribes of their ancestors, which they had brought up form Egypt, each man in the inheritance of his children, the twelve sons of Jacob did the children of Israel bury, each man in the possession of his children.

39 And these are the names of the cities wherein they buried the twelve sons of Jacob, whom the children of Israel had brought up from Egypt.
40 And they buried Reuben and Gad on this side Jordan, in Romia, which Moses had given to their children.
41 And Simeon and Levi they buried in the city Mauda, which he had given to the children of Simeon, and the suburb of the city was for the children of Levi.
42 And Judah they buried in the city of Benjamin opposite Bethlehem.
43 And the bones of Issachar and Zebulun they buried in Zidon, in the portion which fell to their children.
44 And Dan was buried in the city of his children in Eshtael, and Naphtali and Asher they buried in Kadeshnaphtali, each man in his place which he had given to his children.
45 And the bones of Joseph they buried in Shechem, in the part of the field which Jacob had purchased form Hamor, and which became to Joseph for an inheritance.
46 And they buried Benjamin in Jerusalem opposite the Jebusite, which was given to the children of Benjamin; the children of Israel buried their fathers each man in the city of his children.
47 And at the end of two years, Joshua the son of Nun died, one hundred and ten years old, and the time which Joshua judged Israel was twenty-eight years, and Israel served the Lord all they days of his life.
48 And the other affairs of Joshua and his battles and his reproofs with which he reproved Israel, and all which he had commanded them, and the names of the cities which the children of Israel possessed in his days, behold they are written in the book of the words of Joshua to the children of Israel, and in the book of the wars of the Lord, which Moses and Joshua and the children of Israel had written.
49 And the children of Israel buried Joshua in the border of his inheritance, in Timnath-search, with was given to him in Mount Ephraim.
50 And Elazer the son of Aaron died in those days, and they buried him in a hill belonging to Phineas his son, which was given him in Mount Ephraim.

CHAPTER XCI.

1 At that time, after the death of Joshua, the children of the Canaanites were still in the land, and the Israelites resolved to drive them out.
2 And the children of Israel asked of the Lord, saying, Who shall first go up for us to the Canaanites to fight agains them? and the Lord said, Judah shall go up.
3 And the children of Judah said to Simeon, Go up with us into our lot, and we will fight against the Canaanites and we likewise will go up with you, in your lot, so that children of Simeon went with the children of Judah.
4 And the children of Judah went up and fought agains the Canaanites into the hands of the children of Judah, and they smote them in Bezek, ten thousand men.
5 And they fough with Adonibezek in Bezek, and he fled from before them, and they pursued him and caught him, and they took hold of him and cut off his thumbs and great toes.
6 And Adoni-bezek said, Three score and ten kings having their thumbs and great toes cut off, gathered their meat under my table, as I have done, so God has requited me, and they brought him to Jerusalem and he died there.
7 And the children of Simeon went with the children of Judah, and they smote the Canaanites with the edge of the sword.
8 And the Lord was with the children of Judah, and they possessed the mountain, and the children of Joseph went up to Bethel, the same is Luz, and the Lord was with them.

9 And the children of Joseph spied out Bethel, and the watchmen saw a man going forth from the city, and they caught him and said unto him, Show us now the entrance of the city and we will show kindness to thee.
10 And that man showed them the entrance of the city, and the children of Joseph came and smote the city with the ecge of the sword.
11 And the man with his family they sent away, and he went to the Hittites and he built a city, and he called the name thereof Luz, so all the Israelites dwelt in their cities, and the children of Israel dwelt in their cities, and the children of Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders, who had lengthened their days after Joshua, and saw the great work of the Lord, which he had preformed for Israel.
12 And the elders judged Israel after the death of Joshua for seventeen years.
13 And all the elders also fought the battles of Israel agains the Canaanites and the Lord drove the Canaanites from before the children of Israel, in order to place the Israelites in their land.
14 And he accomplished all the words which he had spoken to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and the oath which he had sworn, to give to them and to their children, the land of the Canaanites.
15 And the Lord gave to the children of Israel the whole land of Canaan, as he had sworn to their ancestors, and the Lord gave them rest from those around them, and the children of Israel dwelt securely in their cities.
16 Blessed be the Lord for ever, amen, and amen.
17 Strengthen yourselves, and let the hearts of all you that trust in the Lord be of good courage.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:331

The first ordinance instituted for the cleansing of the earth, was that of immersion in water; it was buried in the liquid element, and all things sinful upon the face of it were washed away. ... The second ordinance instituted for the sanctification of the earth, is that of fire and the Holy Ghost.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:332

The law of meekness includes all the laws of the Gospel, with its ordinances and blessings, Priesthood and powers, through obedience to which mankind become justified, sanctified, purified, and glorified. Such are the meek of the earth, and none others.

Orson Hyde, JD 4:258, Salt Lake City

Gospel Mysteries

The order of heaven places man in the front rank; hence he is first to be addressed. Woman follows under the protection of his counsels, and the superior strength of his arm. Her desire should be unto her husband, and he should rule over her. I will here venture the assertion, that no man can be exalted to a celestial glory in the kingdom of God whose wife rules over him; and as the man is not without the woman, nor the woman without the man in the Lord, it follows as a matter of course, that the woman who rules over her husband, thereby deprives herself of a celestial glory.

Orson Hyde, JD 4:259, Salt Lake City

It will be borne in mind that once on a time, there was a marriage in Cana of Galilee; and on a careful reading of that transaction, it will be discovered that no less a person than Jesus Christ was married on that occasion. If he was never married, his intimacy with Mary and Martha, and the other Mary also whom Jesus loved, must have been highly unbecoming and improper to say the best of it.

Orson Hyde, JD 4:260, Salt Lake City

If God be not our Father, grandfather, or great grandfather, or some kind of a father in reality, in deed and in truth, why are we taught to say, "Our Father who art in heaven?"

Orson Hyde, JD 4:260, Salt Lake City

...It may excite still more when they are told that if none of the natural blood of Christ flows in their veins, they are not the chosen or elect of God. Object not, therefore, too strongly against the marriage of Christ, but remember that in the last days, secret and hidden things must come to light, and that your life also (which is the blood) is hid with Christ in God.

John Taylor, JD 24:233, Bear Lake

God has organized His Church after the pattern that exists in the heavens, and has given us laws for the government thereof, and placed at the head of it the holy Priesthood, which is after the order of Melchizedek, which is after the order of the Son of God, and which is after the power of an endless life, and then He has also introduced the Aaronic Priesthood as an appendage to the other.

John Taylor, JD 24:234, Bear Lake

I hear sometimes of parties, and of cliques, and of rings in our midst. What! what, a party in the Church and kingdom of God? What! rings associated with the principles of eternal truth -- associated with the celestial law that emanates from our Heavenly Father? The devil got up a ring and was cast out of heaven for getting it up, as also a third part of the spirits who associated themselves with him. They were cast out because they devised principles that were in opposition to the word and will and law of God, and every man who follows in their footsteps, unless he speedily repent, will be placed in the same position -- will also be cast out.

Gospel Mysteries

Joseph Smith, JD 6:237, 2 Jun 1839, Commerce, Illinois

The keys have to be brought from heaven, whenever the Gospel is sent. When they are revealed from heaven it is by Adam's authority. Daniel 7 speaks of the Ancient of Days. He means the oldest man -- our Father Adam (Michael). ... He (Adam) is the Father of the human family, and presides over the spirits of all men...

Joseph Smith, JD 6:239, 2 Jun 1839, Commerce, Illinois

There will be here and there a Stake for the gathering of the Saints. Some may have cried peace, but the Saints and the world will have little peace from henceforth. Let this not hinder us from going to the Stakes; for God has told us to flee, not dallying, or we shall be scattered, one here, and another there. There your children shall be blessed, and you in the midst of friends, where you may be blessed. ... The time is soon coming when no man will have any peace but in Zion and her Stakes.

Brigham Young, JD 1:32, 4 Mar 1852, Salt Lake City, Territorial House

Let every heart be firm, and every one say, I will never contend any more with a man for property, I will not be cruel to my fellow-creature, but I will do all the good I can, and as little evil as possible. Now, where would be the wrong of taking this course? This is the way to approximate toward a celestial state.

Brigham Young, JD 1:202, 6 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What hinders this people from being as holy as the Church of Enoch? I can tell you the reason in a few words. It is because you will not cultivate the disposition to be so -- this comprehends the whole. If my heart is not fully given up to this work, I will give my time, my talents, my hands, and my possessions to it, until my heart consents to be subject; I will make my hands labor in the cause of God until my heart bows in submission to it.

Brigham Young, JD 1:203, 6 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Let every man and every woman do this [tie themselves to the kingdom of God], and then be willing to make every sacrifice the Lord may require; and when they have bound up their affections, time, and talents, with all they have, to the interest of the kingdom, then they have gained the victory, and their work is complete, so far as they understand. If this people would take that course, what hinders their being in the millennium? ... The Millennium consists in this -- every heart in the Church and Kingdom of God being united in one; the Kingdom increasing to the overcoming of everything opposed to the economy of heaven, and Satan being bound, and having a seal set upon him. All things else will be as they are now, we shall drink, and wear clothing. Let the people be holy, and the earth under their feet will be holy.

Brigham Young, JD 1:203, 6 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If the people will not serve the devil another moment whilst they live, if this congregation is possessed of that spirit and resolution here in this house is the Millennium. ... Let the whole people of the United States be possessed of that spirit and here is the Millennium, and so will it spread over all the world.

Brigham Young, JD 6:319-320, 7 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

A person was mentioned today who did not believe that Brigham Young was a Prophet, Seer, and Revelator. I wish to ask every member of this whole community, if they ever heard him profess to be a Prophet, Seer, and Revelator, as Joseph Smith was? He professed to be an Apostle of Jesus Christ, called and sent of God to save Israel. If you know what the calling of an Apostle is, and if there were ten thousand of them on the earth at the same time, you must know that [p.320] the words of an Apostle who magnifies his calling are the words of the Almighty to the people all the time. He never need be called in question whether he revealed the mind of the Lord or not. ... When a man is an Apostle, and stands at the head of the kingdom of God on the earth, and magnifies his calling, he has the keys of all the power that ever was bestowed upon mortal man for the building up of the kingdom of God on the earth.

Brigham Young, JD 6:322, 7 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

The Lord must and will have a company of the Saints who will follow him to the cross, if it be necessary; and these he will crown. They are the ones who will wear a celestial crown and have dominion, rule, and government. These are they who will receive honor of the Father, with glory, exaltation, and eternal lives. They shall reign over kingdoms, and have power to be Gods, even the sons of God. Those other classes will take different stations and possess inferior glories, according to their works in the flesh. That class who will altogether serve the world and disregard the cause of truth will become servants to the sons of God and be in servitude throughout eternity.

Brigham Young, JD 1:70, 8 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I long for the time that a point of the finger, or motion of the hand, will express every idea without utterance. When a man is full of the light of eternity, then the eye is not the only medium through which he sees, his ear is not the only medium by which he hears, nor the brain the only means by which he understands. When the whole body is full of the Holy Ghost, he can see behind him with as much ease, without turning his head, as he can see before him. If you have not that experience, you ought to have.

Brigham Young, JD 1:50, 9 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Our Father in Heaven begat all the spirits that ever were, or ever will be upon this earth; and they were born spirits in the eternal world.

Brigham Young, JD 1:50, 9 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When our father Adam came into the garden of Eden, he came into it with a celestial body, and brought Eve, one of his wives with him. He helped to make and organize this world. He is Michael, the Archangel, the Ancient of Days! about whom, holy men have written and spoken -- He is our Father and our God, and the only God with whom we have to do.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 1:50-51, 9 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And who is the Father? He is the first of the human family; and when he took a tabernacle, it was begotten by his Father in heaven, after the same manner as the tabernacles of Cain, Abel, and the rest of the sons and daughters of Adam and Eve; from the fruits of the earth, the first earthly tabernacles were originated by the Father, and so [p.51] on in succession.

Brigham Young, JD 1:50, 9 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Holy Ghost is the spirit of the Lord, and issues forth from Himself, and may properly be called God's minister to execute his will in immensity; being called to govern by His influence and power; but He is not a person of tabernacle as we are, and as our Father in Heaven and Jesus Christ are.

Brigham Young, JD 1:50, 9 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When Adam and Eve had eaten of the forbidden fruit, their bodies became mortal from its effects, and therefore their offspring were mortal.

Brigham Young, JD 1:51, 9 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Jesus, our elder brother, was begotten in the flesh by the same character that was in the garden of Eden, and who is our Father in Heaven. Now, let all who may hear these doctrines, pause before they make light of them, or treat them with indifference, for they will prove their salvation or damnation.

Brigham Young, JD 1:51, 9 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is true that the earth was organized by three distinct characters, namely, Eloheim, Yahovah [Jehovah], and Michael, these three forming a quorum, as in all heavenly bodies, and in organizing element, perfectly represented in the Deity, as Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:21, 18 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Be faithful in your families, and in your prayer circles...

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:22, 18 Apr 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If you do not overcome your passions here, you have got to do it there. You are not going to step right into the presence of God when you leave this state of mortality; you have got to make many covenants and fulfill them to the very letter.

Brigham Young, JD 1:91, 13 Jun 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

In reality there can be no miracle, only to the ignorant. There are spiritual agents, invisible to the natural eye, not only in us, but in the elements, in the heavens above, and in the earth beneath, who are continually producing effects, the cause of which we cannot comprehend.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 1:93, 13 Jun 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We are now, or may be, as perfect in our sphere as God and Angels are in theirs, but the greatest intelligence in existence can continually ascend to greater heights of perfection.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:281, 25 Jul 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Man, when he was first placed upon this earth, was an immortal being, capable of eternal endurance; his flesh and bones, as well as his spirit, were immortal and eternal in their nature... and the earth itself, as a living being, was immortal and eternal in its nature.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:288, 25 Jul 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It matters not how wicked you are; if you have murdered all the days of your life, and committed all the sins the devil would prompt you to commit, you will get a resurrection; your spirit will be restored to your body.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:290, 25 Jul 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Here then we find, from the first chapter [of the Book of Revelation], that they were made Kings and Priests before they were dead; and in the next quotation, we find that they still retained their kingly office after death, and actually had made songs to express their happy condition -- Thou "hast made us kings and priests." Now we see the reason why they are to wear crowns, for they will be made Kings and Priests on the earth; the Lord then, must have some way to give this kingly power. ..."Yes we understand it; the Lord has revealed the ordinances; we know how the sons and daughters of God obtain this kingly office, while living here in this mortal tabernacle."

Orson Pratt, JD 1:291, 25 Jul 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The earth is to die; it has already received certain ordinances, and will have to receive other ordinances for its recovery from the fall.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:291, 25 Jul 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God has more expansive views; His works are without beginning, and without end; they are one eternal round. What kind of works are they? They are to make creations, and people them with living beings, and place them in a condition to prove themselves; and to exercise the kingly and priestly office to redeem them after they have suffered pain, and sorrow, and distress; and to bring them up into the presence of God; that they, in their turn, may become kings and priests for other creations that shall be made, and that shall be governed and ruled over by those possessing the proper authority.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:292, 25 Jul 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

A complete purification is again to come upon the earth, and that too, by the more powerful element of fire; and the wicked will be burned as stubble. ... As the waters cover the great deep, so will the earth be overwhelmed and immersed in the glory of God, and His Spirit be poured out upon all flesh, before the earth dies. After this purifying ordinance, there will be a thousand years of rest, during which righteousness shall abound upon the earth...

Brigham Young, JD 3:91, 8 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Gospel of Jesus Christ, must be preached to all nations for a witness and a testimony; for a sign that the day has come, the set time for the Lord to redeem Zion, and gather Israel, preparatory to the coming of the Son of Man.

Brigham Young, JD 3:93, 8 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

How much does it take to prepare a man, or woman, or any being, to become angels to the devil, to suffer with him to all eternity? Just as much as it does to prepare a man to go into the celestial kingdom, into the presence of the Father and the Son, and to be made an heir to His kingdom, and all His glory, and be crowned with crowns of glory, immortality, and eternal lives. Now who will be damned to all eternity? Will any of the rest of mankind? No; not one of them.

Brigham Young, JD 6:293-294, 15 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

They [Prophets and Apostles] also go into the spiritual world to live with spirits. Do they commune with the Father and Son? The Father communes with them as he pleases, through the means of angels, or otherwise the Son and the Holy Ghost. This is the situation of the Prophet, the Apostle, and all Saints before they receive their resurrected bodies; but they are looking forward to the time when they shall receive their bodies from the dust; [p.294] and those that have been faithful, probably, will now soon get their resurrected bodies.

Brigham Young, JD 6:295, 15 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

About the time the Temples are ready, the strangers will be along and will converse with you, and will inquire of you, probably, if you understand the resurrection of the dead. ... They will expound the Scriptures to you, and open your minds, and teach you of the resurrection of the just and the unjust, of the doctrine of salvation: they will use the keys of the holy Priesthood, and unlock the door of knowledge, to let you look into the palace of truth. ... You will enter into the Temple of the Lord and begin to offer up ordinances before the Lord for your dead. Says this or that man, I want to save such a person -- I want to save my father; and he straightway goes forth in the ordinance of baptism, and is confirmed, and washed and anointed, and ordained to the blessings of the holy Priesthood for his ancestors.

Brigham Young, JD 6:296, 15 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The land of Joseph is the land of Zion; and it takes North and South America to make the land of Joseph.

Brigham Young, JD 6:297, 15 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

The names of every son and daughter of Adam are already written in the Lamb's Book of Life. Is there ever a time when they will be taken out of it? Yes, when they become sons of perdition, and not till then. Every person has the privilege of retaining it there for ever and ever. If they neglect that privilege, then their names will be erased, and not till then. All the names of the human family are written there, and the Lord will hold them there until they come to the knowledge of the truth, that they can rebel against him, and can sin against the Holy Ghost; then they will be thrust down to hell, and their names be blotted out from the Lamb's Book of Life.

Brigham Young, JD 6:297, 15 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If they choose death, evil, and darkness, the time will come when those who are acquainted with the power of God will deny that power, and speak against the Holy Ghost, and commit the unpardonable sin. They then throw themselves out of the power of the Saviour, and take to themselves power, and say, "I will not hearken to the Lord Jesus now; I will serve whom I please, and I defy the power of the Son of God." They yield themselves servants to the Devil and become his angels. They are then out of the hands of the Saviour, and can never dwell in heaven, worlds without end.

Brigham Young, JD 6:275, 28 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We will take Joseph [Smith] for instance; he is faithful to his calling -- has filled his mission to this earth, and sealed his testimony with his blood; he has done the work his Father gave him to do, and will soon come to the resurrection. His spirit is waiting for the resurrection of the body, which will soon be. But has he the power to resurrect that body? He has not. Who has this power? Those that have already passed through the resurrection -- who have been resurrected in their time and season by some person else, and have been appointed to that authority just as you Elders have with regard to your authority to baptize. You have not the power to baptize yourselves, neither have you power to resurrect yourselves; and you could not legally baptize a second person for the remission of sins until some person first baptized you and ordained you to this authority. So with those that hold the keys of the resurrection to resurrect the Saints. Joseph will come up in his turn, receive his body again, and continue his mission in the eternal worlds until he carries it out to perfection, with all the rest of the faithful, to be made perfect with those who have lived before, and those who shall live after; and when the work is finished, and it is offered to the Father, then they will be crowned and receive keys and powers by which they will be capable of organizing worlds.

Brigham Young, JD 6:275, 28 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

After men have got their exaltations and their crowns -- have become Gods, even the sons of God -- are made Kings of kings and Lords of lords, they have the power then of propagating their species in spirit; and that is the first of their operations with regard to organizing a world. Power is then given to them to organize the elements, and then commence the organization of tabernacles. How can they do it? Have they to go to that earth? Yes, an Adam will have to go there, and he cannot do without Eve; he must have Eve to commence the work of generation, and they will go into the garden, and continue to eat and drink of the fruits of the corporeal world, until this grosser matter is diffused sufficiently through their celestial bodies to enable them, according to the established laws, to produce mortal tabernacles for their spiritual children. This is a key for you. The faithful will become Gods, even the sons of God; but this does not overthrow the idea that we have a father. Adam is my father; (this I will explain to you at some future time;)...

Orson Pratt, JD 1:54, 29 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...We will show you that it [plural marriage] is incorporated as a part of our religion, and necessary for our exaltation to the fullness of the Lord's glory in the eternal world.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:55, 29 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We should say, that our spirits were formed by generation, the same as the body or tabernacle of flesh and bones.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:56-57, 29 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...If one has power to become the Father of spirits, so has another; [p.57] if one God can propagate his species, and raise up spirits after his own image and likeness, and call them his sons and daughters, so can all other Gods that become like him, do the same thing; consequently there will be many Fathers, and there will be many families, and many sons and daughters; and they will be the children of those glorified, celestial beings that are counted worthy to be Gods.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:60, 29 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We read that those who do the works of Abraham, are to be blessed with the blessing of Abraham. Have you not, in the ordinances of this last dispensation, had the blessings of Abraham pronounced upon your heads? O yes, you say, I well recollect, since God has restored the everlasting Priesthood, that by a certain ordinance these blessings were placed upon our heads -- the blessings of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

Orson Pratt, JD 1:65, 29 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Here, then, you can read their history; they are not Gods, but they are angels or servants to the Gods. There is a difference between the two classes; the Gods are exalted; they hold keys of power; are made Kings and Priests; and this power is conferred upon them in time, by the everlasting priesthood, to hold a kingdom in eternity that shall never be taken from them worlds without end; and they will propagate their species. They are not servants; for one God is not to be a servant to another God...

Brigham Young, JD 6:282, 29 Aug 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It [baptism for the dead] is all connected with the exaltation of man, showing how he becomes exalted to be a king and a Priest -- yea, even a God, like his Father in heaven. Without the doctrine that this revelation reveals, no man on earth ever could be exalted to be a God.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 1:247, 23 Sep 1852

Gospel Mysteries

I want to live all the time in righteousness, as I know that God sees me and all the works of His hands. When we see as He sees, and comprehend as He comprehends, it will be by the same powers and keys that we are known to Him.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 1:208, 8 Oct 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I have helped to build up two temples, and have had my endowments in them, and in other places; but to have an endowment that is proper and consistent, is to have it in a temple that has been built and consecrated to that purpose.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 1:161, 9 Oct 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

I tell you, brethren, if you are not passive you will have to go into that mill, and perhaps have to grind there one thousand years, and then the Gospel will be offered to you again, and then if you will not accept of it, and become passive, you will have to go into the mill again, and thus you will have offers of salvation from time to time, until all the human family, except the sons of perdition, are redeemed.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:31, 8 Nov 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now, brethren, you have got a spirit in you, and the spirit was created and organized -- was born and begotten by our Father and our God before we ever took these bodies; and these bodies were formed by him, and through him, and of him, just as much as the spirit was; for I will tell you, he commenced and brought forth spirits; and then, he commenced and brought forth tabernacles for those spirits to dwell in. I came through him, both spirit and body. God made the elements that they are made of, just as much as he made anything. Tell me the first thing that is made on earth that God did not organize and place here in this world. Not a thing.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:36, 8 Nov 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Where did the earth come from? From its parent earths.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:36, 8 Nov 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The earth is alive. If it was not it could not produce. If you find a piece of earth that is dead, you cannot produce anything from it, except you resurrect it and restore it to life. ... If you have got half an acre, you can bless it, and dedicate it, and consecrate it to God, and ask him to fill it with life.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 1:355, 14 Nov 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now you may reflect upon it, you never will obtain your resurrected bodies, until you bring your spirits into subjection. I am not talking to this earthly house of mine, neither am I talking to your bodies, but I am speaking to your spirits.

Gospel Mysteries

Heber C. Kimball, JD 1:356, 14 Nov 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I ask, then, if it is your spirits that must be brought into subjection? It is; and if you do not do that in these bodies, you will have to go into another estate to do it. You have got to train yourselves according to the law of God, or you will never obtain your resurrected bodies.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 1:356, 14 Nov 1852, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When we escape from this earth, we suppose we are going to heaven? Do you suppose you are going to the earth that Adam came from? that Eloheim came from? where Jehovah the Lord came from? No. When you have learned to be obedient to the Father that dwells upon this earth, to the Father and God of this earth, and obedient to the messengers He sends -- when you have done all that, remember you are not going to leave this earth. You will never leave it until you become qualified, and capable, and capacitated to become a father of an earth yourselves.

Brigham Young, JD 1:5, 16 Jan 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I wish to impress upon your minds the reality that when the body which is organized for intelligence to dwell in, dies, and returns to its mother earth, all the feelings, sensibilities, faculties, and powers of the spirit are still alive, they never die, but in the absence of the body are more acute. They are organized for an eternal existence.

Brigham Young, JD 1:278, 14 Feb 1853, Salt Lake City, Temple Block

To me as an individual, it is no matter whether you build a temple or not; I and my brethren have received our endowments, keys, blessings -- all the tokens, signs, and every preparatory ordinance, that can be given to man, for his entrance into the celestial gate.

Brigham Young, JD 1:312, 20 Feb 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Salvation is an individual operation. I am the only person that can possibly save myself. When salvation is sent to me, I can reject or receive it. In receiving it, I yield implicit obedience and submission to its great Author throughout my life, and to those whom He shall appoint to instruct me... Now those men, or those women, who know no more about the power of God, and the influences of the Holy Spirit, than to be led entirely by another person, suspending their own understanding, and pinning their faith upon another's sleeve, will never be capable of entering into the celestial glory, to be crowned as they anticipate; they will never be capable of becoming Gods. ... Who will? Those who are valiant and inspired with the true independence of heaven, who will go forth boldly in the service of their God, leaving others to do as they please, determined to do right, though all mankind should take the opposite course.

Brigham Young, JD 1:117, 27 Feb 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Suppose that our Father in heaven, our elder brother, the risen Redeemer, the Saviour of the world, or any of the Gods of eternity should act upon this principle, to love truth, knowledge, and wisdom, because they are all powerful, and by the aid of this power they could send devils to hell, torment the people of the earth, exercise sovereignty over them, and make them miserable at their pleasure; they would cease to be Gods; and as fast as they adopted and acted upon such principles, they would become devils, and be thrust down in the twinkling of an eye; the extension of their kingdom would cease, and their God-head come to an end.

Brigham Young, JD 1:119, 27 Feb 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

A great promise was made to Abraham, which was -- you shall have seed, and unto your increase there shall be no end. The same promise was made unto the Saviour, and unto every true and faithful man who serves God with all his heart, and whose delight is in keeping the law of the Lord, obeying the behests of Jehovah, and building up His kingdom upon the earth.

Brigham Young, JD 1:120, 27 Feb 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is such a man's [a man who has stood the test and proved faithful] privilege to have wives and children, and neighbors, and friends, who wish to be sealed to him. Who else? No one. I tell you nobody else. Do you hear it?

Brigham Young, JD 1:120, 27 Feb 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If you are a first rate good man, and honor your Priesthood, it is your privilege [to be plurally married]. The man who has proved himself before God, has been faithful, has gone through and performed everything the Lord has laid upon him to do, for the purpose of building up and sustaining His kingdom, has proved himself before men, angels, and his Father in heaven, he is the only character that will increase, and obtain a celestial glory.

Brigham Young, JD 1:133, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

...Does a man's being a Prophet in this Church prove that he shall be the President of it? I answer, no! A man may be a Prophet, Seer, and Revelator, and it may have nothing to do with his being the President of the Church.

Brigham Young, JD 1:133, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

You old men that have been through the mill pretty well, have been inquiring after light -- which way do you go? You will tell me you go to the east for light? So we commence by laying the stone on the south-east corner, because there is the most light.

Brigham Young, JD 1:134-135, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Now recollect that the High Priesthood, and the lesser Priesthood, and all the Priesthood there is, are combined, centered in, composed of, and circumscribed by, the Apostleship. ... The keys of the eternal Priesthood, which is after the order of the son of God, are comprehended by being an Apostle. All the Priesthood, all the keys, all [p.135] the gifts, all the endowments, and everything preparatory to entering into the presence of the Father and of the Son, are in, composed of, circumscribed by, or I might say incorporated within the circumference of, the Apostleship.

Brigham Young, JD 1:137, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Said Joseph, "Will you insult the Priesthood [by wanting to ordain a man a High Priest after he has been ordained an Apostle]? Is that all the knowledge you have of the office of an Apostle? Do you not know that the man who receives the Apostleship, receives all the keys that ever were, or that can be, conferred upon mortal man?..."

Brigham Young, JD 2:31, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Temple Block

The preparatory ordinances there [in the Kirtland Temple] administered, though accompanied by the ministration of angels, and the presence of the Lord Jesus, were but a faint similitude of the ordinances of the House of the Lord in their fullness.

Brigham Young, JD 2:31, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Temple Block

Your endowment is, to receive all those ordinances in the House of the Lord, which are necessary for you, after you have departed this life, to enable you to walk back to the presence of the Father, passing the angels who stand as sentinels, being enabled to give them the key words, the signs and tokens, pertaining to the Holy Priesthood, and gain your eternal exaltation in spite of earth and hell.

Parley Pratt, JD 2:43, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Temple Block

Demons, foul or unclean spirits, adulterous or murderous spirits, those who love or make a lie, can communicate with beings in the flesh, as well as those who are more true and virtuous.

Parley Pratt, JD 2:44, 6 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Temple Block

Who ordained our first founders to the Apostleship, to hold the keys of the kingdom of God, in these times of restoration? Peter, James, and John, from the eternal world. Who instructed him in the mysteries of the Kingdom, and in all the things pertaining to Priesthood, law, philosophy, sacred architecture, ordinances, sealings, anointings, baptisms for the dead, and in the mysteries of the first, second, and third heavens, many of which are unlawful to utter? Angels and spirits from the eternal worlds. Who revealed to him the plan of redemption, and of exaltation for the dead who had died without the Gospel? and the keys and preparations necessary for holy and perpetual converse with Jesus Christ, and with the spirits of just men made perfect, and with the general assembly and Church of the first-born, in the holy of holies? Those from the dead!
Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:7, 7 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Conference

The outward tabernacle, inhabited by a spirit, returns to the element from which it emanated. But the thinking being, the individual, active agent or identity that inhabited that tabernacle, never ceased to exist, to think, act, live, move, or have a being; never ceased to exercise those sympathies, affections, hopes, and aspirations, which are founded in the very nature of intelligences, being the inherent and invaluable principles of their eternal existence.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:8, 7 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Conference

Why, they are organized intelligences. What are they made of? They are made of the element which we call spirit, which is as much an element of material existence, as earth, air, electricity, or any other tangible substance recognized by man; but so subtle, so refined is its nature, that it is not tangible to our gross organs. It is invisible to us, unless we are quickened by a portion of the same element...

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:9, 7 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Conference

Thrones, kingdoms, crowns, principalities, and powers, in the celestial and eternal worlds, and the fullness of the presence of the Father, and of His Son Jesus Christ, are reserved for resurrected beings, who dwell in immortal flesh. The world of resurrected beings, and the world of spirits, are two distinct spheres, as much so as our own sphere is distinct from that of the spirit world.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:15, 7 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Conference

You have been baptized, you have had the laying on of hands, and some have been ordained, and some anointed with a holy anointing. ... I have received the holy anointing, and I can never rest till the last enemy is conquered, death destroyed, and truth reigns triumphant.

John Taylor, JD 1:231, 8 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

The laws and ordinances that exist in the eternal world have their pattern in the things which are revealed to the children of men on earth. The Priesthood as it exists on the earth is a pattern of things in heaven.

Brigham Young, JD 6:306-307, 8 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Pertaining to the kingdom of God, to this earth, to the organization of it, to the bringing forth of the children of men upon it, to the preparatory Gospel or law to fit and prepare them after receiving their tabernacles, to enter again into the presence of their Father and God, this heirship, this [p.307] right did belong, still belongs, and for ever will belong to the first-born son in every family of Adam's race. ... Jesus Christ, first-begotten of the Father, of all the rest of the children, and of all they possess, alone is the lawful heir.

Orson Hyde, JD 6:312, 8 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Be careful not to wash your feet against any but those that are worthy; but endeavour, with long-suffering, and amid the contradiction of sinners against yourself, to be diligent and patient until it go to the last extremity; but when you have done so against a house, an individual, or people, be careful not to return there again, but go your way, even as it is said.

Gospel Mysteries

Orson Hyde, JD 6:312, 8 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

When the servants of God bind up the law and wash their feet against the people, does not this look like the Saints judging the world? With such a people the judgement is passed. They do not know it; but they will find it out when they wake up from the long sleep of death and reckon their history. They will find out that away back at a certain time a servant of God washed his feet against them. Ah! there the die was cast; there their doom was sealed; there they were barred out against coming into the kingdom of God. That was the important moment when salvation passed from them.

Orson Hyde, JD 1:72, 9 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now sanctification means, not only the purifying of the heart by prayer, and by acts of obedience to God, but it means also to purify a people, and purge from their midst that which is evil.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:257, 10 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

...It is a fact that all beings are not equal in their intellectual capacity, in their dispositions, and in the gifts and callings of God. It is a fact that some beings are more intelligent than others, and some are endowed with abilities or gifts which others do not possess. In organizing and peopling the worlds, it was found necessary to place among the inhabitants some superior intelligences, who were capacitated to teach, to rule, and preside among other intelligences. ... Hence one intelligence is peculiarly adapted to one department or usefulness, and another to another. We read much in the Bible in relation to a choice or election, on the part of Deity, towards intelligences in His government on earth, whereby some were chosen to fill stations very different from others. And this election not only affected the individuals thus chosen, but their posterity for long generations, or even for ever.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:258, 10 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

When He [God] speaks of nobility, He simply means an election made, and an office or a title conferred, on the principle of superiority of intellect, or nobleness of action, or of capacity to act. And when this election, with its titles, dignities, and estates, includes the unborn posterity of a chosen man, as in the case of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, it is with a view of the noble spirits of the eternal world coming through their lineage, and being taught in the commandments of God. Hence the Prophets, Kings, Priests, Patriarchs, Apostles, and even Jesus Christ, were included in the election of Abraham, and of his seed, as manifested to him in an eternal covenant.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:258, 10 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

It may be inquired, why God made one unequal to another, or inferior in intellect or capacity. To which I reply, that He did not create their intelligence at all. It never was created, being an inherent attribute of the eternal element called spirit, which element composes each individual spirit, and which element exists in an infinitude of degrees in the scale of intellect, in all the varieties manifested in the eternal God, and thence to the lowest agent, which acts by its own will.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:261, 10 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

But no man can hold the keys of Priesthood or of Apostleship, to bless or administer salvation to the nations, unless he is a literal descendant of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Jesus Christ and his ancient Apostles of both hemispheres were of that lineage.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 1:261, 10 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

In the lineage of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, according to the flesh, was held the right of heirship to the keys of Priesthood for the blessings and for the salvation of all nations. From this lineage sprang the Prophets, John the Baptist, Jesus, and the Apostles; and from this lineage sprang the great Prophet and restorer in modern times, and the Apostles who hold the keys under his hand.

Brigham Young, JD 2:124, 17 Apr 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

So it will be with every wicked man and woman, and every wicked nation, kingdom, and government upon earth, sooner or later; they will be thrown back to the native element from which they originated, to be worked over again, and be prepared to enjoy some sort of a kingdom.

Brigham Young, JD 1:111, 8 May 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is not only a privilege, but a duty for the Saints to seek unto the Lord their God for wisdom and understanding, to be in possession of the spirit that fills the heavens, until their eyes are anointed and opened to see the world as it really is, to know what is made for, and why all things are as they are.

John Taylor, JD 1:159, 12 Jun 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

But I believe, furthermore, that there are eternal grades of progression, which will continue worlds without end, and to an infinity of enjoyment, expansion, glory, progression, and of everything calculated to ennoble and exalt mankind.

Brigham Young, JD 1:188, 19 Jun 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I will now say, not only to our delegate to congress, but to the Elders who leave the body of the Church, that he thought that all the cats and kittens were let out of the bag when brother Pratt went back last fall, and published the Revelation concerning the plurality of wives: it was thought there was no other cat to let out. But allow me to tell you, Elders of Israel, and delegated to Congress, you may expect an eternity of cats, that have not yet escaped from the bag. Bless your souls, there is no end to them, for if there is not one thing, there will always be another.

Brigham Young, JD 1:349, 10 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

To choose life is to choose an eternal existence in an organized capacity: to refuse life and choose death is to refuse an eternal existence in an organized capacity, and be contented to become decomposed, and return again to native element. ... All things have come within the bounds of man's limited knowledge -- the things he naturally understands, teach him, that there is no period, in all the eternities, wherein organized existence will become stationary, that it cannot advance in knowledge, wisdom, power, and glory.

Brigham Young, JD 1:350, 10 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Nothing less than the privilege of increasing eternally, in every sense of the word, can satisfy the immortal spirit.

Brigham Young, JD 1:351, 10 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He has caused us to forget every thing we once knew before our spirits entered within this vail of flesh. For instance, it is like this: when we lie down to sleep, our minds are often as bright and active as the minds of an angel, at least they are as active as when our bodies are awake. They will range over the earth, visit distant friends, and, for aught we know, the planets, and accomplish great feats; do that which will enhance our happiness, increase to us every enjoyment of life, and prepare us for celestial glory; but when we wake in the morning, it is all gone from us; we have forgotten it.

Brigham Young, JD 1:351, 10 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Why cannot we behold all things in space? Because there is a curtain dropped, which makes them out of sight to us. Why cannot we behold the inhabitants in Kolob, or the inhabitants in any of those distant planets? For the same reason; because there is a curtain dropped that interrupts our vision. So it is, something intervenes between us and them, which we cannot penetrate.

Brigham Young, JD 1:352, 10 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now understand, to choose life is to choose principles that will lead you to an eternal increase, and nothing short of them will produce life in the resurrection for the faithful. Those that choose death, make choice of the path which leads to an end of their organization. The one leads to endless increase and progression, the other to the destruction of the organized being, ending in its entire decomposition into the particles that compose the native elements.

Brigham Young, JD 1:238, 24 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I believe the Father came down in his tabernacle and begat Jesus Christ. ... I believe He has a tabernacle, and begat Jesus Christ in His express image and likeness, because the Bible expressly declares it.

Brigham Young, JD 1:240, 24 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

From dust I am, and to dust I must return. So it is with the rest of us, we shall all die and be buried in the silent grave, unless we can obtain faith sufficient to overcome death. We die because we have not conquered death, hell, and the grave. But if we continue obeying the Gospel, you will see the time when we will have that power.

Brigham Young, JD 1:245, 24 Jul 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We must begin and make Zion in our own hearts, and then extend it to our neighborhoods, and so continue until the Lord shall reign upon the earth.

Jedediah Grant, JD 1:345, 7 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Celsus was a heathen philosopher; and what does he say upon the subject of Christ and his Apostles, and their belief? He says, "The grand reason why the Gentiles and philosophers of his school persecuted Jesus Christ, was, because he had so many wives; there were Elizabeth, and Mary, and a host of others that followed him." After Jesus went from the stage of action, the Apostles followed the example of their master.

Jedediah Grant, JD 1:346, 7 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The grand reason of the burst of public sentiment in anathemas upon Christ and his disciples, causing his crucifixion, was evidently based upon polygamy, according to the testimony of the philosophers who rose in that age. A belief in the doctrine of a plurality of wives caused the persecution of Jesus and his followers.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 2:111, 13 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

The question is asked many times, "Has brother Brigham got the Urim and Thummim?" Yes, he has got everything; everything that is necessary for him to receive the will and mind of God to this people.

Brigham Young, JD 1:269, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

What hinders us from being truly rich? This is the point. I will tell you when you and I may consider ourselves truly rich -- When we can speak to the earth -- to the native elements in boundless space, and say to them -- "Be ye organized, and planted here, or there, and stay until I command you hence;"...

Brigham Young, JD 1:270, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

This [meal of bread and fish] the Saviour called from the surrounding elements; he was quite capable of doing it, because he had the keys and power of true riches, if any man possess which, he is rich in time, and in eternity both.

Brigham Young, JD 1:270, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

He, unperceived by his disciples and the multitudes, spoke to the native elements, and brought forth bread. He had the power. We have not that power, but are under the necessity of producing bread according to a systematic plan... But when we possess the true riches, we shall be able to call forth the bread from the native element, like as Jesus Christ did. Everything that is good for man is there.

Brigham Young, JD 1:271, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

We are seeking to be made rich in the power of God, so as to be able to control the elements, and say -- "let there be light," and there is light; "Let there be water," and there is water; "Let this or that come," and it cometh; by the power that is within us to command the elements; and they obey, just as they did the Saviour when he changed the water into wine, or made bread to feed the multitudes.

Brigham Young, JD 1:272, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

The Father and I are one, you disciples and I are one; it is quite a curiosity, but it is as true as it is curious. It is nothing more than a key-word to exaltation, glory, power, and excellency, by which principalities, kingdoms, dominions, and eternal lives will surround us. That will give you true riches and nothing else will. The only true riches in existence are for you and I to secure for ourselves a holy resurrection...

Brigham Young, JD 1:274, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

What is a mystery? We do not know, it is beyond our comprehension. When we talk about mystery, we talk about eternal obscurity; for that which is known, ceases to be a mystery; and all that is known, we may know as we progress in the scale of intelligence.

Brigham Young, JD 1:274, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

We are of the earth, earthy, and not only will the portion of mother earth which composes these bodies get a resurrection, but the earth itself. It has already had a baptism. ... The Lord baptized the earth for the remission of sins, and it has been once cleansed from the filthiness that has gone out of it, which was in the inhabitants who dwelt upon its face.

Brigham Young, JD 1:275, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Jesus says, he will destroy death and him that hath the power of it. What can you make of this but decomposition, the returning of the organized particles to their native element, after suffering the wrath of God until the time appointed. ... When the elements in an organized form do not fill the end of their creation, they are thrown back again, like brother Kimball's old pottery ware, to be ground up, and made over again. ... And if he [Jesus] ever makes "a full end of the wicked," what else can he do than entirely disorganize them, and reduce them to their native element? Here are some of the mysteries of the kingdom. ... There can be no such thing as power to annihilate element. There is one eternity of element, which can be organized or disorganized, composed or decomposed...

Brigham Young, JD 1:276, 14 Aug 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Remember, that true riches -- life, happiness, and salvation, is to secure for ourselves a part in the first resurrection, where we are out of the reach of death, and him that hath the power of it; then we are exalted to thrones, and have power to organize element.

Orson Hyde, JD 1:125, 6 Oct 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

"But," says one, "I wish to see the Father, and the Saviour, or an angel now." Before you can see the Father, the Saviour, or an angel, you have to be brought into close places in order to enjoy this manifestation. The fact is, your very life must be suspended on a thread, as it were. If you want to see your Saviour, be willing to come to that point where no mortal arm can rescue, no earthly power save! When all other things fail, when everything else proves futile and fruitless, then perhaps your Saviour and your Redeemer may appear; his arm is not shortened that he cannot save, nor his ear heavy that he cannot hear; and when help on all sides appears to fail, my arm shall save, my power shall rescue, and you shall hear my voice, saith the Lord.

Orson Hyde, JD 1:126-127, 6 Oct 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

In order to be made pillars in the temple of our God, what [p.127] are we to do? We must overcome.

Orson Hyde, JD 1:126, 6 Oct 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

The angels are not fond to descend to this world, because of the coldness of spirit that reigns in it; they would rather remain in heaven around the throne of God, among the higher order of intelligences, where they can enjoy life, and peace, and the communion of the Holy One. When they are sent, they will come; but they are tolerably well advanced among them that overcome.

Orson Hyde, JD 1:130, 6 Oct 1853, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

If the earth falls, and is not to rise again, it will be removed out of its present orbit. Where will it go to? God says He will gather all things into one; then He will gather the earth likewise, and all that is in it, in one. The gathering will be upon a larger scale in time to come; for by and by the stars of Heaven will fall. Which way will they go? They will rally to a grand center, and there will be one grand constellation of worlds. ... The earth will have to be removed from its place, and reel to and fro like a drunkard. The fact is, it has got to leave the old track in which it has roamed in time passed, and beat a new path; and saith the Lord,"come up here." What is He going to do with it? Why take it where the sun will shine upon it continually, and there shall be no more night there... We have but one sun to shine upon us, but when the earth is taken out of this orbit it will come in contact with the rays of other suns that illuminate other spheres; their rays will dazzle our earth, and make the glory of God rest upon it, so that there will be no more night there. Is it possible then that there are worlds reserved in eternal night, in an eternal eclipse, rolling in the shade? What is their use? They are the homes of them that love darkness rather than light; and it shall be said unto them, Depart, ye cursed, into outer darkness. There are planets that revolve in eternal darkness, that you who love darkness rather than light may go and find your own home.

Jedediah Grant, JD 2:11, 19 Feb 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When the Priesthood of God is upon the earth, then the priesthood of the devil may be seen operating, for he has got one.

Jedediah Grant, JD 2:14, 19 Feb 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If ever you are brought into the presence of God, and exalted to a seat in His celestial kingdom, it will be by virtue of the Holy Priesthood, therefore you have got to be proved, not only by being tempted by the devil, but the Priesthood will try you -- it will try you to the core.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:112-113, 19 Mar 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

As for my going into the immediate presence of God when I die, I do not expect it, but I expect to go into the world of spirits and associate with my brethren, and preach the gospel in the spiritual world, and prepare myself in every necessary way to receive my body again, and then enter through [p.113] the wall [veil] into the celestial world. I never shall come into the presence of my Father and God until I have received my resurrected body, neither will any other person; and I doubt whether all those who profess to be Saints will ever be gathered with the spirits of the just in the spiritual world; but they will be left where they attain to. The righteous are gathered to the spirit world to prepare for the resurrection of their bodies.

John Taylor, JD 1:372, 19 Apr 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Have you forgot who you are, and what your object is? Have you forgot that you profess to be Saints of the Most High God, clothed upon with the Holy Priesthood? Have you forgot that you are aiming to become Kings and Priests to the Lord, and Queens and Priestesses to Him?

Orson Hyde, JD 2:80, 6 Oct 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

"Then you really mean to hold to the doctrine that the Savior of the world was married; do you mean to be understood so? And if so, do you mean to be understood that he had more than one wife?"

Orson Hyde, JD 2:81, 6 Oct 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

How was it with Mary and Martha, and other women that followed him? In old times, and it is common in this day, the women, even as Sarah, called their husbands Lord; the word Lord is tantamount to husband in some languages, master, lord, husband, are about synonymous.

Orson Hyde, JD 2:82, 6 Oct 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

...Jesus was the bridegroom at the marriage of Cana of Galilee... We say it was Jesus Christ who was married, to be brought into the relation whereby he could see his seed, before he was crucified. ... I shall say here, that before the Savior died, he looked upon his own natural children, as we look upon ours...

Orson Pratt, JD 2:237, 15 Oct 1854, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...It is the spirit of man, and not the mortal tabernacle, that enjoys, that suffers, that has pleasure and pain. ...The body of flesh and bones, when the spirit has left it, is incapable of any sensation whatever...

Orson Pratt, JD 2:343, 18 Feb 1855, Salt Lake City, Temple Block

We heard a most excellent discourse last Sunday about the angels being sent to the various nations of the earth, to superintend the affairs and destinies thereof; also about each person upon the face of the whole earth having his guardian angel from the time that he comes into the world.

Orson Hyde, JD 2:210, 18 Mar 1855, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I discover that some of the Eastern papers represent me as a great blasphemer, because I said, in my lecture on Marriage, at our last Conference, that Jesus Christ was married at Cana of Galilee, that Mary, Martha, and others were his wives, and that he begat children. ... Startle not at this! for even the Father himself honored that law by coming down to Mary, without a natural body, and begetting a son; and if Jesus begat children, he only "did that which he had seen his Father do."

George A. Smith, JD 2:215, 18 Mar 1855, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Lord poured His Spirit upon us, and gave us some little idea of the law of anointing, and conferred upon us some blessings. He taught us how to shout hosannah, gave Joseph the keys of the gathering together of Israel, and revealed to us, what? Why the fact was he dare not yet trust us with the first key of the Priesthood. He told us to wash ourselves, and that almost made the women mad, and they said, as they were not admitted into the Temple while this washing was being performed, that some mischief was going on, and some of them were right huffy about it. We were instructed to wash each other's feet, as an evidence that we had borne testimony of the truth of the Gospel to the world. We were taught to anoint each other's head with oil in the name of the Lord, as an ordinance of anointing.

Brigham Young, JD 2:255, 6 Apr 1855, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You are aware that many think that the devil has rule and power over both body and spirit. Now, I want to tell you that he does not hold any power over man, only so far as the body overcomes the spirit that is in a man, through yielding to the spirit of evil.

Brigham Young, JD 2:256, 6 Apr 1855, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If the spirit yields to the body, the devil then has power to overcome both the body and spirit of that man, and he loses both.

Orson Pratt, JD 2:260, 7 Apr 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

...The Saint who has been sealed unto eternal life and falls into transgression and does not repent, but dies in his sin, will be afflicted and tormented after he leaves this vale of tears until the day of redemption; but having been sealed with the spirit of promise through the ordinances of the house of God, those things which have been sealed upon his head will be realized by him in the morning of the resurrection.

Orson Pratt, JD 2:261, 7 Apr 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

...Our President has told us that the law relating to a full consecration of our property would perhaps be one of the last laws that would be fulfilled before the coming of Christ.

Brigham Young, JD 3:155, 6 May 1855, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...My faith is placed upon the Lord Jesus Christ, and my knowledge I have received from him. That must be the case with every person who expects to receive a celestial glory, to be crowned in a celestial kingdom of our God.

Orson Pratt, JD 3:16, 20 May 1855, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When He [God] set the forbidden fruit before them, He said, "If you eat, it will make you mortal, whereas you are now immortal, but you may choose for yourselves."

Brigham Young, JD 2:301, 3 Jun 1855, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

To have such a promise so sealed upon our heads, which no power on earth can take from us, to be sealed up to the day of redemption and have the promise of eternal lives, is the greatest of all.

Brigham Young, JD 3:53, 13 Jul 1855, Provo, Conference

Did you realize that the order of prayer required you to mentally follow the words of the person who was praying? ... There are times and places when all should vocally repeat the words spoken, but in our prayer meetings and in our family circles let every heart be united with the one who takes the lead by being mouth before the Lord, and let every person mentally repeat the prayers, and all unite in whatever is asked for, and the Lord will not withhold, but will give to such persons the things which they ask for and rightly need.

Jedediah Grant, JD 3:61, 13 Jul 1855, Provo, Conference

One doctrine which you need is to make your families, your streets, and every thing about you clean, and to prepare proper outhouses. Purify yourselves, your houses, lots, farms, and every thing around you on the right and on the left, then the Spirit of the Lord can dwell with you. ... Saints must practice cleanliness and purity, and show by their prayers, by all their works, and in their families, that they are reforming, and forsaking all and every kind and species of filthiness and evil practice...

Jedediah Grant, JD 3:61, 13 Jul 1855, Provo, Conference

Talk about the Saints coming up to the Church of the first born, to the state of perfection which Enoch attained; if men and women ever attain to this, they have got to be pure in all their habits, pure in their spirits as well as in their doctrines, for the Lord has told us what is right and required in those things.

E. T. Benson, JD 3:64, 13 Jul 1855, Provo, Conference

God has condescended to speak to His Saints, and has instructed them to wash their bodies with pure water, and to observe cleanliness of body as well as of spirit; this is necessary and belongs to our religion.

Brigham Young, JD 3:265, 14 Jul 1855, Provo, Bowery

This law [of plural marriage] was never given of the Lord for any but his faithful children; it is not for the ungodly at all; no man has a right to a wife, or wives, unless he honors his Priesthood and magnifies his calling before God.

Brigham Young, JD 3:266, 14 Jul 1855, Provo, Bowery

Now if any of you will deny the plurality of wives, and continue to do so, I promise that you will be damned; and I will go still further and say, take this revelation, or any other revelation that the Lord has given, and deny it in your feelings, and I promise that you will be damned.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 3:188-189, 26 Aug 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Well, then, when a man holding the eternal Priesthood passes the veil, he still holds his authority, and his heart is full of affection and love towards God's creatures, and he is clothed with the power of God, and he is His Prophet, Apostle, and Elder. ... Let a man pass the veil with the everlasting Priesthood, having magnified it to the day of his death, and [p.189] you cannot get it off him; it will remain with him in the world of spirits; and when he wakes up in that world among the spirits, he has that power, and that obligation on him, that if he can find a person worthy of salvation, why, as soon as he ascertains that, and he remembers what he may teach and who he may teach, he then discovers that he has got a mission.

George A. Smith, JD 3:29, 23 Sep 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The Lord conferred portions of the Priesthood upon certain races of men, and through promises made to their fathers they were entitled to the rights, and blessings, and privileges of that Priesthood. Other races, in consequence of their corruptions, their murders, their wickedness, or the wickedness of their fathers, had the Priesthood taken from them, and the curse that was upon them was decreed should descend upon their posterity after them, it was decreed that they should not bear rule.

George A. Smith, JD 3:37, 23 Sep 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

This spirit [of murmuring] will in the end lead a man to destruction; and all that will preserve the Saints in the last days from the general destruction in the vortex of ruin to which the world is rushing, will be their unity with each other, their clinging with all their might, mind, and strength to the building up of this kingdom, and making it their only interest, that they may hang together as one...

Brigham Young, JD 3:46, 6 Oct 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I am sent for continually [to give blessings], though I only go occasionally, because it is the privilege of every father, who is an Elder in Israel, to have faith to heal his family, just as much so as it is my privilege to have faith to heal my family; and if he does not do it he is not living up to his privilege.

Brigham Young, JD 3:50, 6 Oct 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We are as yet obliged to have devils in our community, we could not build up the kingdom without them. Many of you know you can not get your endowment without the devil's being present; indeed we cannot make rapid progress without the devils.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:124, 6 Oct 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Some will come with great zeal and anxiety, saying, "I want my endowments; I want my washings and anointings; I want my blessings; I wish to be sealed up to eternal lives; I wish to have my wife sealed and my children sealed to me;" in short, "I desire this and I wish that." What good would all this do you, if you do not live up to your profession and practice your religion?

Parley P. Pratt, JD 3:135, 7 Oct 1855, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Now, when the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled there will be an uprooting of their governments and institutions, and of their civil, political, and religious polity. There will be a shaking of nations, a downfall of empires, an upturning of thrones and dominions, as Daniel has foretold, and the kingdom and power, and rule on the earth will return to another people, and exist under another polity, as Daniel has further foretold.

Brigham Young, JD 3:192, 27 Jan 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

An individual who holds a share in the Priesthood, and continues faithful to his calling, who delights himself continually in doing the things God requires at his hands, and continues through life in the performance of every duty, will secure to himself not only the privilege of receiving, but the knowledge how to receive the things of God, that he may know the mind of God continually... Upon whoever are bestowed the keys of the eternal Priesthood, by a faithful life, will secure themselves power to see the things of God, and will understand them as plainly as they ever understood anything by gazing upon it with their natural eyes, or as clearly as they ever could distinguish one object from another by their sensations.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:229, 2 Feb 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I saw their [evil spirit's] hands, their eyes, and every feature of their faces, the hair on their heads, and their ears, in short they had full-formed bodies. ... The spirits of the wicked, who have died for thousands of years past, are at war with the Saints of God upon the earth.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:230, 2 Feb 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If men and women do not qualify themselves and become sanctified and purified in this life, they will go into a world of spirits where they will have a greater contest with the devils than ever you had with them here.

Brigham Young, JD 3:203, 17 Feb 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We might ask, when shall we cease to learn? I will give you my opinion about it; never, never. If we continue to learn all we can, pertaining to the salvation which is purchased and presented to us through the Son of God, is there a time when a person will cease to learn? Yes, when he has sinned against God the Father, Jesus Christ the Son, and the Holy Ghost -- God's minister; when he has denied the Lord, defied Him and committed the sin that in the Bible is termed the unpardonable sin -- the sin against the Holy Ghost. That is the time when a person will cease to learn, and from that time forth, will descend in ignorance, forgetting that which they formerly knew, and decreasing until they return to the native element, whether it be one thousand or in one million years, or during as many eternities as you can count.

Brigham Young, JD 3:205-206, 17 Feb 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God never bestows upon his people, or upon an individual, superior blessings without a [p.206] severe trial to prove them, to prove that individual, or that people, to see whether they will keep their covenants with Him, and keep in remembrance what He has shown them. The greater the vision, the greater the display of power of the enemy. And when such individuals are off their guard they are left to themselves, as Jesus was.

Brigham Young, JD 3:206, 17 Feb 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...The Father withdrew Himself, withdrew His Spirit, and cast a veil over him [Jesus]. That is what made him [Jesus] sweat blood. If he had had the power of God upon him, he would not have sweat blood; but all was withdrawn from him, and a veil was cast over him, and he then plead with the Father not to forsake him. "No," says the Father, "you must have your trials, as well as others." So when individuals are blessed with visions, revelations, and great manifestations, look out, then the devil is nigh unto you, and you will be tempted in proportion to the vision, revelation, or manifestation you have received.

Brigham Young, JD 3:208, 17 Feb 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Did all the disciples have visions? No, they did not. Do they now? No. I know the inquiry may arise, can a person be a real disciple without having visions? Yes, but that person cannot be a special witness to the doctrine he believes in.

Brigham Young, JD 3:208, 17 Feb 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When the spirits of men are subject to the body, and continue to be, and commit the amount of evil necessary to fill up their cup, they are cast out and their names will be blotted out from the Lamb's Book of Life. ... Their names were always there [in the Lamb's Book of Life], and never will be blotted out, though they be up and down, warm, hot, and cool, and though they may sin today, and tomorrow repent of it, but their names will remain in the Lamb's Book of Life until they sin the sin unto death. And when their names are once blotted out they will never be written there again; they will then be numbered with those who will cease to increase, cease to learn, to multiply, and spread abroad.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:250, 9 Mar 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This tabernacle will be laid down, and my spirit will pass through the veil, into the world of spirits. I told you, the other day, that when you are through with this state of existence, your labor is not at an end. The spirit world will probably be equal to this in that respect, and I think a little harder.

Brigham Young, JD 3:246, 16 Mar 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The law is very strict; and in this congregation there are men and women who, with uplifted hands to heaven, before the Father, the Son, and all the holy angels, made solemn covenants that they never would do thus and so. For example, one obligation is, "I will never have anything to do with any of the daughters of Eve, unless they are given to me of the Lord." Men will call God to witness that they never will transgress this law, and promise to live a virtuous life, so far as intercourse with females is concerned... Do we enforce upon them the strict penalty of the law? Not yet.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:269, 23 Mar 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The most of those present have received their endowments, their washings, and anointings, and have made covenants to their God and their brethren, before witnesses, that they would be faithful, that they would be true, that they would listen to the counsels of the Lord's servants, and cease to do evil. All who have done this have been pronounced clean, and then will they go and pollute themselves with the wicked? I am sorry to say that a few are unwise enough to do so. ...If they do not repent of their follies and sins, their washings and anointings will prove a curse instead of a blessing, and will expedite their condemnation. If a man sins to that degree that he is cut off from the Church, he forfeits the blessings promised on condition of keeping his covenants. When a man loses his membership in this Church, he also loses his Priesthood, and of course the blessings of his endowments.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 3:271, 23 Mar 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

After you have received your endowments, a wicked course will more seriously affect you, it will, therefore, be requisite for you to be much more careful how you trifle with holy principles, and transgress your covenants. For this reason I wish the Bishops to take heed who they recommend as worthy to receive endowments, for we shall require a strict account from them.

Brigham Young, JD 3:277, 23 Mar 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God gave Lucifer power, influence, mastery, and rule, to a certain extent, to control the life pertaining to the elements composing the body, and the spirit which God places in the body becomes intimately connected with it, and is of course more or less affected by it.

George A. Smith, JD 3:289, 6 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

These derangements are constantly increasing, and will increase; and the time is not far distant when millions of people will fly to these Valleys as the peaceful, plentiful place of refuge. Then it becomes the Saints to store up food for themselves, and for the hosts who will come here for sustenance and protection, for as the Lord lives they will flow here by thousands and millions, and seek bread and protection at the hands of this people.

Orson Pratt, JD 3:303, 6 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Where there are two or three who go to lay hands upon the sick, they, if faithful, generally have more confidence before God than if they were to administer singly; they prevail more before the Lord; and, hence, the commandment is, that two or three lay hands upon the sick and pray over them, that they may be healed. We are instructed to send for two or three Elders, because it is supposed that two or three will accomplish more than one can by officiating singly.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 3:316, 7 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He [Christ] died to accomplish the salvation of all except the sons of perdition, and they have had all these blessings applied to them, and have partaken of them, known them, and then turned enemies to them, and there is not anything greater that you can do for them, and they perish, for after the blood of Christ has been shed and they despised it, nothing more can be done for them than already has been, for they have rejected the means of salvation.

Orson Pratt, JD 3:344, 13 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Adam and Eve were immortal, the same as resurrected beings, but previous to their transgressions they had no knowledge of good and evil. After the redemption we will not only have the same kind of bodies that they possessed in the garden of Eden before the fall, but we will have a knowledge of good and evil through our experience.

Orson Pratt, JD 3:348, 13 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You are not to suppose that you are going to be jumped into the midst of revelations, and by one great and grand step are to burst the veil, and to rend it from your eyes, do you think that you are to step into the celestial kingdom and see it all at once? No, these blessings are by far too precious to be attained in such a way; they are to be attained by diligence and faith from day to day, and from night to night.

Orson Pratt, JD 3:351, 13 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When you shall rend the veil that is between you and the heavens, it will be by your works of faith and obedience. Do you realize that you are the individuals to rend that veil? Jesus has done his part, and he is willing that the veil should be rent; he has made intercession before the Father; he has offered his own life, and what more can he do? When you shall have faith to rend that veil which is over your minds, you will find that the heavens are ready and waiting to bestow the blessings promised, just as soon as you are prepared to receive them.

Orson Pratt, JD 3:353, 13 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Could Moses have withstood that terrible manifestation, if he had not practiced for many years the principles of righteousness? A mere vision would not have strengthened him and, even to shew him the glory of God in part would not have enabled him to combat with the powers of darkness that then came to him. It was by his knowledge of God, by his perseverance, his diligence and obedience in former years, that he was enabled to rebuke the devil, in the name of Jesus Christ, and drive him from him.

Brigham Young, JD 3:318, 20 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If they had received [revelations] from the proper source, the same power that revealed to them would have shown them that they must keep the things revealed in their own bosoms, and they seldom would have a desire to disclose them to the second person. That is a general rule, but will it apply in every case, and to the people called the kingdom of God at all times? No, not in the strictest sense, but the Spirit which reveals will impart the proper discretion. All the people have not learned this lesson, they should have learned it long ago.

Brigham Young, JD 3:319, 20 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Though we have it in history that our father Adam was made of the dust of this earth, and that he knew nothing about his God previous to being made here, yet it is not so; and when we learn the truth we shall see and understand that he helped to make this world, and was the chief manager in that operation. He was the person who brought the animals and seeds from other planets to this world, and brought a wife with him and stayed here. You may read and believe what you please as to what is found written in the Bible. Adam was made from the dust of an earth, but not from the dust of this earth. He was made as you and I are made, and no person was ever made upon any other principle. Do you not suppose that he was acquainted with his associates, who came and helped to make this earth? Yes, they were just as familiar with each other as we are with our children and parents.

Brigham Young, JD 3:321, 20 Apr 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We cannot even give endowments without representing a devil.

Brigham Young, JD 3:332, 8 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

A great many of you have had your endowments, and you know what a vote with uplifted hands means. It is a sign which you make in token of your covenant with God and with one another, and it is for you to perform your vows. When you raise your hands to heaven and let them fall and then pass on with your covenants unfulfilled, you will be cursed.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 3:356, 15 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Mankind are organized of element designed to endure to all eternity; it never had a beginning and never can have an end. There never was a time when this matter, of which you and I are composed, was not in existence, and there never can be a time when it will pass out of existence; it cannot be annihilated. It is brought together, organized, and capacitated to receive knowledge and intelligence, to be enthroned in glory, to be made angels, Gods -- beings who will hold control over elements, and have power by their word to command the creation and redemption of worlds, or to extinguish suns by their breath, and disorganize worlds, hurling them back into their chaotic state.

Brigham Young, JD 3:357, 15 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We are organized for the express purpose of controlling the elements, of organizing and disorganizing, of ruling over kingdoms, principalities, and powers, and yet our affections are often too highly placed upon paltry, perishable objects.

Brigham Young, JD 3:360, 15 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Take a Prophet, an Apostle, a man of God, one who is just as good in his calling and capacity as Jesus Christ was in his, a man who has adorned the doctrine of his profession, until he is sealed up unto eternal lives by the power of the Priesthood, one who is sure of a glorious resurrection, and let him desire to have a wife. ... When will she be worthy of the full extent of your affection? When she has lived long enough to secure to herself a glorious resurrection and an eternal exaltation as your companion, and never until then. ...Before your affections become too strong, wait until you and your family are sealed up unto eternal lives, and you know they are yours from that time henceforth and for ever.

Brigham Young, JD 3:361, 15 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When a wife secures to herself a glorious resurrection, she is worthy of the full measure of the love of the faithful husband, but never before. And when a man has passed through the veil, and secured to himself an eternal exaltation, he is then worthy of the love of his wife and children, and not until then, unless he has received the promise of and is sealed up unto eternal lives. Then he may be an object fully worthy of their affections and love on the earth, and not before.

Brigham Young, JD 3:364-365, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

By a close application of the gifts bestowed upon us, we can secure to ourselves the resurrection of these bodies that we now possess, that our spirits inhabit, and when they are resurrected they will be made pure and holy; then they will endure to all eternity. [p.365] But we cannot receive all at once, we cannot understand all at once; we have to receive a little here and a little there.

Brigham Young, JD 3:367, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The Gospel is simple, it is plain. The mystery of godliness, or of the Gospel, is actually couched in our own ignorance; that is the cause of the mystery that we suppose to be in the revelations given to us; it is in our own misunderstanding -- in our ignorance. There is no mystery throughout the whole plan of salvation, only to those who do not understand.

Brigham Young, JD 3:368, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

...When our spirits leave our bodies where do they go to? I will tell you. Will I locate them? Yes, if you wish me to. They do not pass out of the organization of this earth on which we live. ... But where is the spirit world? It is incorporated within this celestial system.

Brigham Young, JD 3:368-369, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Where did he [Satan] go? He came here, and one third part of the spirits in heaven came with him. Do you suppose that one third part of all the beings that existed in eternity came [p.369] with him? No, but one third part of the spirits that were begotten and organized and brought forth to become tenants of fleshly bodies to dwell upon this earth.

Brigham Young, JD 3:369, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When you lay down this tabernacle, where are you going? Into the spirit world. Are you going into Abraham's bosom. No, not any where nigh there, but into the spirit world. Where is the spirit world? It is right here. Do the good and evil spirits go together? Yes, they do. Do they both inhabit one kingdom? Yes, they do. Do they go to the sun? No. Do they go beyond the boundaries of this organized earth? No, they do not. They are brought forth upon this earth, for the express purpose of inhabiting it to all eternity. Where else are you going? No where else, only as you may be permitted.

Brigham Young, JD 3:370, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The wicked spirits that leave here and go into the spirit world, are they wicked there? Yes.

Brigham Young, JD 3:370, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Joseph, also, goes there, but has the devil power over him? No, because he held the keys and power of the eternal Priesthood here, and got the victory while here in the flesh.

Brigham Young, JD 3:371, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

...If you have brought the flesh into subjection by the power of the Priesthood, if you have honored the body, when it crumbles to the earth and your spirit is freed from this home of clay, has the devil any power over it? Not one particle.

Brigham Young, JD 3:371, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

But is Joseph [Smith] glorified? No, he is preaching to the spirits in prison. He will get his resurrection the first of any one in this kingdom, for he was the first that God made choice of to bring forth the work of the last days.

Brigham Young, JD 3:371-372, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Spirits are just as familiar with spirits as bodies are with bodies, though spirits are composed of matter so [p.372] refined as not to be tangible to this coarser organization. They walk, converse, and have their meetings...

Brigham Young, JD 3:372, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Is the spirit world here? It is not beyond the sun, but is on this earth that was organized for the people that have lived and that do and will live upon it.

Brigham Young, JD 3:372-373, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There are two thirds for us, and one third against us; and there is not a son or daughter of Adam but what will be saved in some [p.373] kingdom and receive a glory and an exaltation to a degree, except those who have had the privilege of the Gospel and rejected it and sinned against the Holy Ghost, they will become servants to devils. How long will they exist? I do not know, neither do I care. Every one of this people, with the Saints that have lived before us, from the days of Adam until now, and those that may come after us, all say, "Build up the kingdom of God." What for? To save the inhabitants of the earth, to get them all back into some kind of a kingdom where they can be administered to, and not have this organized matter return again to its native element, for we wish this work to be preserved.

Brigham Young, JD 3:375, 22 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

And when we have passed into the sphere where Joseph is, there is still another department, and then another, and another, and so on to an eternal progression in exaltation and eternal lives.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:1, 29 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I have learned by experience that there is but one God that pertains to this people, and He is the God that pertains to this earth -- the first man. That first man sent his own Son to redeem the world, to redeem his brethren; his life was taken, his blood shed, that our sins might be remitted.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:2, 29 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

...I sat upon the bed thinking and reflecting upon what had past, and all at once my vision was opened, and the walls of the building were no obstruction to my seeing, for I saw nothing but the visions that presented themselves. Why did not the walls obstruct my view? Because my spirit could look through the walls of that house, for I looked with that spirit, element, and power, with which angels could look; and as God sees all things, so were invisible things brought before me, as the Lord would bring things before Joseph in the Urim and Thummim. It was upon that principle that the Lord showed things to the Prophet Joseph.

Gospel Mysteries

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:4, 29 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I believe that Joseph has got the Church organized in the spirit world, and that he calls and sends the Elders to preach the Gospel to the spirits in prison.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:5, 29 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Many think that they are going right into the celestial kingdom of God, in their present ignorance, to at once receive glories and powers; that they are going to be Gods, while many of them are so ignorant, that they can see or know scarcely anything. Such people talk of becoming Gods, when they do not know anything of God, or of His works; such persons have to learn repentance, and obedience to the law of God; they have got to learn to understand angels, and to comprehend and stick to the principles of this Church.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 4:13, 29 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We are required to overcome our faults, and be careful to increase in and learn the truth, and put in practice, and to pray for the Holy Spirit of promise, and to be careful to keep the commandments of God, careful to do nothing to our neighbors, but what I would have them do under the like circumstances and be perfectly willing for them to do to me.

Parley P. Pratt, JD 4:14, 29 Jun 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Here we see that we have only got a portion of the Priesthood and the keys, the others are in the possession of the congregations of the Saints in the heavens, and before we are prepared to be ministered to by them and enjoy their society, we must alter considerably.

Brigham Young, JD 4:24-25, 17 Aug 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

You may go to some people here, and ask what ails them, and they answer, "I don't know, but we feel a dreadful distress in the stomach and in the back; we feel all out of order, and we wish you to lay hands upon us." "Have you used any remedies?" "No. We wish the Elders to lay hands upon us, and we have faith that we shall be healed." That is very inconsistent according to my faith. If we are sick, and ask the Lord to heal us, and to do all for us that is necessary to be done, according to my understanding of the gospel of salvation, I might as well ask the Lord to cause my wheat and corn to grow, without my plowing the ground and casting in the seed. It appears consistent to me to apply every remedy that comes within the range of my knowledge, and to ask my Father in heaven, in the name of Jesus Christ, to sanctify that application to the healing of my body; to another this may appear inconsistent. If a person afflicted with a cancer should come to me and ask me to heal [p.25] him, I would rather go [to] the grave-yard and try to raise a dead person, comparatively speaking. But supposing we were traveling in the mountains, and all we had or could get, in the shape of nourishment, was a little venison, and one or two were taken sick, without anything in the world in the shape of healing medicines within our reach, what should we do? According to my faith, ask the Lord Almighty to send an angel to heal the sick. This is our privilege, when so situated that we cannot get anything to help ourselves. Then the Lord and his servants can do all. But it is my duty to do, when I have it in my power. Many people are unwilling to do one thing for themselves, in case of sickness, but ask God to do it all.

Brigham Young, JD 4:28, 17 Aug 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

If you have a kingdom and a dominion here, it must be concentrated in the head [the Lord]; if we are ever prepared for an eternal exaltation, we must be concentrated in the head of the eternal Godhead. Why? Because everything else is opposed to that kingdom, and the heir of that kingdom will keep up the warfare with that opposing power until death is destroyed, and him that hath the power of it; not annihilated, but sent back to native element.

Brigham Young, JD 4:29, 17 Aug 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

How could you ever get a people equal with regard to their possessions? They never can be, no more than they can be in the appearance of their faces. Are we equal? Yes. Wherein? We are equal in the interest of eternal things, in our God, not aside from Him.

Brigham Young, JD 4:31-32, 17 Aug 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Everything that is opposed to God and His Son Jesus Christ, to the celestial kingdom and to celestial laws, those celestial laws and beings will hold warfare with, until every particle of the opposite is turned back to its native element, though it should take millions and millions of ages to accomplish it. Christ will never cease the warfare, until he destroys death and him that hath the power of it. Every possession and object of affection will be taken from those who forsake the truth, and their identity and existence [p.32] will eventually cease.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:220, 6 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Do your duty, and you will make every house and every place a palace, and your homes will be as the gate of heaven, and a source of joy to your husbands. Of course you must have a heaven of that which you have made. Why, I would go to work and make an altar and a heaven, and I never would take any other course than that which is honourable before God; and how can you live your religion without this?

Brigham Young, JD 4:53, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We have got to be rightly prepared to go into the spirit world, in order to become kings. That is, so far as the power of Satan is concerned you and I have got to be free from his power, but we cannot be while we are in the flesh.

Brigham Young, JD 4:53-54, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I do know that there are sins committed, of such a nature that if the people did understand the doctrine of salvation, they would tremble because of their situation. And furthermore, I know that there are transgressors, who, if they knew themselves, and the only condition upon which they can obtain forgiveness, would beg of their brethren to shed their blood, that the smoke thereof might ascend to God as an offering to appease the wrath that is kindled against them, and that the law might have its course. I will say further; I have had men come to me and [p.54] offer their lives to atone for their sins.

Brigham Young, JD 4:53, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There are sins that men commit for which they cannot receive forgiveness in this world, or in that which is to come, and if they had their eyes open to see their true condition, they would be perfectly willing to have their blood spilt upon the ground that the smoke thereof might ascend to heaven as an offering for their sins, whereas, if such is not the case, they will stick to them and remain upon them in the spirit world. I know, when you hear my brethren telling about cutting people off from the earth, that you consider it is strong doctrine; but it is to save them, not to destroy them.

Brigham Young, JD 4:54, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When you see celestial beings, you will see men and women, but you will see those beings clothed upon with robes of celestial purity.

Brigham Young, JD 4:54-55, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When you are prepared to see our [p.55] Father, you will see a being with whom you have long been acquainted, and He will receive you into His arms, and you will be ready to fall into His embrace and kiss Him...

Brigham Young, JD 4:54, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

God is the Father of our spirits; He begat them, and has sent them here to receive tabernacles, and to prove whether we will honour them. If we do, then our tabernacles will be exalted; but if we do not, we shall be destroyed; one of the two -- dissolution or life. The second death will decompose all tabernacles over whom it gains the ascendancy; and this is the effect of the second death, the tabernacles go back to their native element.

Brigham Young, JD 4:54, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

It is true that the blood of the Son of God was shed for sins through the fall and those committed by men, yet men can commit sins which it can never remit. As it was in ancient days, so it is in our day; and though the principles are taught publicly from this stand, still the people do not understand them; yet the law is precisely the same. There are sins that can be atoned for by an offering upon an altar, as in ancient days; and there are sins that the blood of a lamb, of a calf, or of turtle doves, cannot remit, but they must be atoned for by the blood of the man. That is the reason why men talk to you as they do from this stand; they understand the doctrine and throw out a few words about it. You have been taught that doctrine, but you do not understand it.

Brigham Young, JD 4:56, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

This is the reason why the doctrine of plurality of wives was revealed, that the noble spirits which are waiting for tabernacles might be brought forth.

Brigham Young, JD 4:56, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

If my wife had borne me all the children that she ever would bare, the celestial law would teach me to take young women that would have children.

Brigham Young, JD 4:57, 21 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

True there is a curse upon the woman that is not upon the man, namely, that "her whole affections shall be towards her husband," and what is the next? "He shall rule over you."

Brigham Young, JD 4:43, 22 Sep 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When we get the font prepared that is now being built, I will take you into the waters of baptism [for rebaptism], if you repent of your sins. If you will covenant to live your religion and be Saints of the Most High, you shall have that privilege, and I will have the honor of baptizing you in that font, or of seeing that it is done.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:203, 12 Oct 1856, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I speak this that you may understand that your re-baptisms must be agreeable to the order laid down. It is not simply a man's saying, "Having been commissioned by Jesus Christ, I baptise you for the renewal of your covenant and remission of your sins," but you must be subject to your brethren and fulfill the law of God.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:82, 9 Nov 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When you go into heaven, into the celestial world, you will see the Church organized just as it is here, and you will find all the officers down to the Deacon. Our Church organization is a manifestation of things as they are in heaven, and you are all the time praying that the Church here may be brought into union and set in order as it is in heaven.

Brigham Young, JD 4:133, 4 Dec 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Take a spirit that has gone into the spirit world, does it have control over corruptible bodies? No. It can only act in the capacity of a spirit. As to the devils inhabiting these earthly bodies, it cannot control them, it only controls spirits. But when the spirit is again united to the body, that spirit and body unitedly have control over the evil bodies, those controlled by the devil and given over to the devils, if there is any such thing. Resurrected beings have control over matter as well as spirit.

Brigham Young, JD 4:133, 4 Dec 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When a good man or woman dies, the spirit does not go to the sun or the moon. I have often told you that the spirits go to God who gave them, and that

He is everywhere; if God is not everywhere, will you please tell me where He is not. The moment your eyes are opened upon the spirit land, you will find yourselves in the presence of God...

Brigham Young, JD 4:134, 4 Dec 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Where do you suppose the spirits of our departed friends are? Where they ought to be; they are here, on the other side of the earth, in the East Indies, in Washington, etc.; they are controlling the fallen spirits here, or somewhere else. They could not control the spirits of evil men while here, only by faith, but now one of our departed brethren can control millions of disembodied evil spirits; while they were in the flesh they were afflicted by them.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 4:147, 21 Dec 1856, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

As an individual I am determined to wake up and do my duty, God being my helper...The law of God, the holy Priesthood, and the holy anointing and washing, and everything else that is holy requires it at our hands. I know this.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 4:160, 11 Jan 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

With these men before us here continually, we have seen exemplified a measure of that knowledge, understanding and power that is offered us in the keys of the endowment that are given in the House of the Lord, by which we may grow to a knowledge of all that affects our salvation and exaltation in His kingdom.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 4:163, 11 Jan 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Who is there that has any part of the Priesthood, and who has received his endowments but that ought to be able to administer in his household all those things which are necessary for life and salvation?

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:169, 11 Jan 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The more of the Spirit of God a man has, the more composed he is.

Brigham Young, JD 4:196, 1 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...Gather up all who profess to be Latter-day Saints, and how many of them are there in the way to enter into the straight gate? How many are going to be crowned Gods? You will all admit that this is a hard question to answer. Do you think one half of them will enter in at the straight gate, pass by the angels and the Gods, and receive a celestial exaltation? I pray they may, even if I do not believe so.

Brigham Young, JD 4:197, 1 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Eternal glory, happiness, beauty, power, exaltation, excellency, and every good thing are prepared for the Elders that now sit before me to enter into the presence of the Father and the Son, where they could be exalted, sit with the Gods, be crowned with immortality and eternal lives; become the fathers, not only of many nations, but of an endless posterity; be the framers, not only of a kingdom, but of an endless chain of kingdoms. Nothing more can be done, than what has been done.

Brigham Young, JD 4:199, 1 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

At the time when you receive the greatest blessings by the manifestations of the power and Spirit of God, immediately the Lord may leave you to yourselves, that you may prove yourselves worthy of this exaltation.

Brigham Young, JD 4:200, 1 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You cannot inherit eternal life, unless your appetites are brought in subjection to the spirit that lives within you, that spirit which our Father in heaven gave. I mean the Father of your spirits, of those spirits which He has put into these tabernacles. The tabernacle must be brought in subjection to the spirit perfectly, or your bodies cannot be raised to inherit eternal life; if they do come forth, they must dwell in a lower kingdom.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:208, 1 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When I go into the world of spirits I throw off the old clothing and the old body with all that pertains to it. And when I go there I shall be clothed anew, with the elements that are made in the country that I go to. Why? Because it is immortal and eternal duration. That is the difference between this world and that world; and then at the same time that world is this world, and this world is that world.

Brigham Young, JD 4:215, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is one of the first principles of the doctrine of salvation to become acquainted with our Father and our God. The Scriptures teach that this is eternal life, to "know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ who thou hast sent;" this is as much to say that no man can enjoy or be prepared for eternal life without that knowledge.

Brigham Young, JD 4:217, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Thus you may continue back to Adam and Eve, and ask, "are we of the same species with Adam and Eve?" Yes, every person acknowledges this; this comes within the scope of our understanding. But when we arrive at that point, a vail is dropped, and our knowledge is cut off. Were it not so, you could trace back your history to the Father of our spirits in the eternal world. He is a being of the same species as ourselves; He lives as we do, except the difference that we are earthly, and He is heavenly. He has been earthly, and is of precisely the same species of being that we are. Whether Adam is the personage that we should consider our heavenly Father, or not, is considerable of a mystery to a good many. I do not care for one moment how that is, it is no matter whether we are to consider Him our God, or whether His Father, or His Grandfather, for in either case we are of one species -- of one family -- and Jesus Christ is also of our species.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 4:217, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now to the facts in the case; all the difference between Jesus Christ and any other man that ever lived on the earth, from the days of Adam until now, is simply this, the Father, after He had once been in the flesh, and lived as we live, obtained His exaltation, attained to thrones, gained the ascendancy over principalities and powers, and had the knowledge and power to create -- to bring forth and organize the elements upon natural principles. This he did after His ascension, or His glory, or His eternity, and was actually classed with the Gods, with the beings who create, with those who have kept the celestial law while in the flesh, and again obtained their bodies. Then He was prepared to commence the work of creation, as the scriptures teach.

Brigham Young, JD 4:218, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When the time came that His first-born, the Saviour, should come into the world and take a tabernacle, the Father came Himself and favoured that spirit with a tabernacle instead of letting any other man do it. The Saviour was begotten by the Father of His Spirit, by the same Being who is the Father of our spirits, and that is all the organic difference between Jesus Christ and you and me. And a difference there is between our Father and us consists in that He has obtained His exaltation, and has obtained eternal lives. The principle of eternal lives is an eternal existence, eternal duration, eternal exaltation.

Brigham Young, JD 4:218, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Things were first created spiritually; the Father actually begat the spirits, and they were brought forth and lived with Him. Then He commenced the work of creating earthly tabernacles, precisely as He had been created in this flesh himself, by partaking of the course material that was organized and composed this earth, until His system was charged with it, consequently the tabernacles of His children were organized from the coarse materials of this earth.

Brigham Young, JD 4:219, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now take a person in this congregation who has knowledge with regard to being saved in the kingdom of our God and our Father, and being exalted, one who knows and understands the principles of eternal life, and sees the beauty and excellency of the eternities before him compared with the vain and foolish things of the world, and suppose that he is overtaken in a gross fault, that he has committed a sin that he knows will deprive him of that exaltation which he desires, and that he cannot attain to it without the shedding of his blood, and also knows that by having his blood shed he will atone for that sin, and be saved and exalted with the Gods, is there a man or woman in this house but what would say, "shed my blood that I may be saved with the Gods?" All mankind love themselves, and let these principles be known by an individual, and he would be glad to have his blood shed. That would be loving themselves, even unto an eternal exaltation. Will you love your brothers or sisters likewise, when they have committed a sin that cannot be atoned for without the shedding of their blood? Will you love that man or woman well enough to shed their blood?

Brigham Young, JD 4:219, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

The time has been in Israel under the law of God, the celestial law, or that which pertains to the celestial law, for it is one of the law of that kingdom where our Father dwells, that if a man was found guilty of adultery, he must have his blood shed, and that is near at hand. But now I say, in the name of the Lord, that if this people will sin no more, but faithfully live their religion, their sins will be forgiven them without taking life.

Brigham Young, JD 4:220, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This is loving our neighbor as ourselves; if he needs help, help him; and if he wants salvation and it is necessary to spill his blood on the earth in order that he may be saved, spill it. Any of you who understand the principles of eternity, if you have sinned a sin requiring the shedding of blood, except the sin unto death, would not be satisfied nor rest until your blood should be spilled, that you might gain that salvation you desire. This is the way to love mankind.

Brigham Young, JD 4:220, 8 Feb 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I could refer you to plenty of instances where men have been righteously slain, in order to atone for their sins. I have seen scores and hundreds of people for whom there would have been a chance (in the last resurrection there will be) if their lives had been taken and their blood spilled on the ground as a smoking incense to the Almighty, but who are now angels to the devil, until our elder brother Jesus Christ raises them up -- conquers death, hell, and the grave. I have known a great many men who have left this Church for whom there is no chance whatever for exaltation, but if their blood had been spilled, it would have been better for them. The wickedness and ignorance of the nations forbid this principle's being in full force, but the time will come when the law of God will be in full force.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:248, 1 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Are you ever going to be prepared to see God, Jesus Christ, His angels, or comprehend His servants, unless you take a faithful and prayerful course? Did you actually know Joseph Smith? No. Do you know brother Brigham? No. Do you know brother Heber? No, you do not. Do you know the Twelve? You do not, if you did, you would begin to know God, and learn that those men who are chosen to direct and counsel you are near kindred to God and to Jesus Christ, for the keys, power, and authority of the kingdom of God are in that lineage.

Brigham Young, JD 4:265-266, 8 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City

But it is no great matter whether light is borrowed or begged, for it is not so much the way in which I obtain knowledge, as in the use I make of the knowledge I have obtained. The wrong use of our knowledge is what brings default in me or you. I say that I have no light to lend. If God has given me light, if I possess the light of the Spirit of revelation, and bestow that knowledge upon my [p.266] brethren that same fountain increases in me; whereas, if I were to shut it up -- to close up the vision -- and keep it from the people, it would be like the candle lighted and put under the bushel, where of course the want of free air would extinguish it; and if the light in me becomes darkness, how great is that darkness! This is my explanation with regard to the light that is in me. If I receive from the fountain, the more I give the more I receive. The freer I am to hand out that which the Lord bestows on me, the better my mind is prepared to receive more from the fountain; that is the experience of every individual.

Brigham Young, JD 4:266, 8 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City

When will we possess knowledge, and power, and glory, and wisdom independently? When Jesus has finished his work. When we have proved ourselves worthy to be crowned, when we have passed through all the ordeals of suffering, trials, and temptations, and proven to our Father and our God that we are His friends, that we will live and serve Him, and not forsake our parents -- will not forsake our Father's house and His precepts; when we have proven ourselves faithful in the flesh, and have gone through the vail into the spirit world -- have done all that is required of us in preaching to those who are in prison, and are faithful until we receive our bodies again -- until these tabernacles which we now occupy are resurrected and brought again to the spirits, and the spirits to the tabernacles, and Jesus calls on us to come up and be crowned among the faithful who will receive crowns of glory, immortality, and eternal life, then we will receive that power, knowledge, and wisdom, and possess it as independently as the Gods possess their power. It will then be bequeathed to them that they will have light within themselves. Why? Because they have control over the elements, and it will never be until then.

Brigham Young, JD 4:271-272, 8 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City

Will we all become Gods, and be crowned kings? No, my brethren, there will be millions on [p.272] millions, even the greater part of the celestial world, who will not be capable of a fullness of that glory, immortality, eternal lives and a continuation of them, yet they will go into the celestial kingdom. Will this people all go into that kingdom? I think a great many will have to be burnt out like an old pipe, before they can go into any decent kingdom.

Brigham Young, JD 4:271, 8 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City

If you look at things spiritually, and then naturally, and see how they appear together, you will understand that when you have the privilege of commencing the work that Adam commenced on this earth, you will have all your children come and report to you of their sayings and acts; and you will hold every son and daughter of yours responsible when you get the privilege of being an Adam on earth. Suppose that one of us had been Adam, and had peopled and filled the world with our children, they, although they might be great grandchildren, etc., still, say I, had I been Adam, they would be my flesh, blood, and bones, and have the same kind of a spirit put into them that is in me.

Orson Hyde, JD 5:71, 8 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And inasmuch as our Heavenly Father is accessable to all, it is far better to store our minds with the treasures of wisdom and knowledge, by our own spiritual labors and toil, direct from the great Fountain of celestial light and love, than to trust wholly to the testimony and teachings of others. Obtain the testimony of Jesus, which is the spirit of prophecy.

Brigham Young, JD 4:285, 15 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

Joseph [Smith] has not yet got through there. When he finishes his mission in the spirit world, he will be resurrected, but he has not yet done there.

Brigham Young, JD 4:285, 15 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Joseph [Smith] is not resurrected; and if you will visit the graves you will find the bodies of Joseph and Hyrum [Smith] yet in their resting place. Do not be mistaken about that; they will be resurrected in due time.

Brigham Young, JD 4:286, 15 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When his [Joseph Smith's] spirit again quickens his body, he will ascend to heaven, present his resurrected body to the Father and the Son, receive his commission as a resurrected being, and visit his brethren on this earth, as did Jesus after his resurrection.

Brigham Young, JD 4:287, 15 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The man that cannot know millions of things that he would not tell his wife, will never be crowned in the celestial kingdom, never, never, never. It cannot be; it is impossible. And that man who cannot know things without telling any other living being upon the earth, who cannot keep his secrets and those that God reveals to him, never can receive the voice of his Lord to dictate him and the people on this earth.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:294, 15 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

In England, when not in a situation to go, I have blessed my handkerchief, and asked God to sanctify it and fill it with life and power, and sent it to the sick, and hundreds have been healed by it; in like manner I have sent my cane. Dr. Richards used to lay his old black cane on a person's head, and that person has been healed through its instrumentality, by the power of God. I have known Joseph, hundreds of times, send his handkerchief to the sick, and they have been healed. There are persons in this congregation who have been healed by throwing my old cloak on their beds.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:294, 15 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The rough oak boxes in which the bodies of Joseph and Hyrum were brought from Carthage, were made into canes and other articles. I have a cane made from the plank of one of those boxes, so as brother Brigham and a great many others, and we prize them highly, and esteem them a great blessing. I want to carefully preserve my cane, and when I am done with it here, I shall hand it down to my heir, with instructions to him to do the same. And the day will come when there will be multitudes who will be healed and blessed through the instrumentality of those canes, and the devil cannot overcome those who have them, in consequence of their faith and confidence in the virtues connected with them.

D. H. Wells, JD 5:43, 22 Mar 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

We read that Satan shall be bound a thousand years. How is this to be accomplished? By our becoming so impregnated with the principles of the Gospel -- with the Holy Ghost -- that the enemy will have no place in us or in our families, and shedding forth that influence in our neighborhoods. The adversary is first to be driven from ourselves, then from our families, then from our neighbors, next from our Territory, and eventually from the nations, until he shall find no place upon the face of the whole earth: then will he not be bound? Yes, so far as this earth is concerned; and that is the way in which it is to be done, in my humble opinion.

WIlford Woodruff, JD 5:85, 8 Apr 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Why, by and by, it was revealed through the servants of the Lord, that females should be baptized for females, and males for males; but the full particulars of this order was not revealed till after the days of Joseph; therefore this shows an advance in the building up of the kingdom, the gathering of Israel, and the warning of the nations of the earth.

Joseph Young, JD 6:242, 8 Apr 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

He [Brigham Young] says that all the endowments have to be given on this side of the vail, or they never will be given. (President B. Young: That is true.)

Joseph Young, JD 6:242, 8 Apr 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

"Why," says one,"the endowments are going on." That is true: a portion of the endowments are going on, but there are other things that never will until the Temple is built, -- of which are the baptism for the dead and our endowments by proxy for our dead friends. Are they going on? No. Will they, before that house is built? No, not that I know of.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:363-364, 19 Apr 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There are a great many people in the world that God ordained to give them their endowment, and they become vessels of wrath, fitted for destruction. Have we not labored years here, and toiled to give you our blessings, and endowments, and anointings, and then sealed you up, and this, and that, and the other? Do you see them turn away? Did we make them so? We gave them all their blessings as mush as we have given you yours; and they have [p.364] become vessels of wrath, they are fitting for destruction, and they will go and do the work of God, and He will bring about his purposes by them, and they will be destroyed...

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:364, 19 Apr 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Everybody is elected that will be elected, and then honor their calling and priesthood, and obtain the blessings and promises; and if they be faithful to the end of their days, they will be saved -- every one of them.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:18, 6 Jun 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

If I obtain all the blessings of the Priesthood, all the endowments, all the blessings that God has to confer upon us in this probation, and keep those things sacred while I live, I am then as pure and holy as it is possible for a man to be while in the flesh. Then, if my wives are one with me, my children and their posterity will partake of those blessings which have been placed upon me. Every blessing conferred upon me tends to benefit my posterity. Those blessings are for every righteous man; and the blessings that are conferred upon faithful men and women in their holy anointings and sealings will rest upon their posterity after them for ever and for ever, through their faithfulness; and there is no end to it.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:19, 6 Jun 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Those who go through their endowments now and are sealed up unto eternal lives, those blessings will stick to them, if they will stick to the blessings and promises that are made over unto them, and step forward with one heart and one mind to do the will of God as made known to them from time to time from this stand.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:21, 6 Jun 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

As I have said, I know that we will see those things of which I have spoken -- such famines as this world never beheld. Yes, we have got to see those scenes; but if we will keep our vows and covenants, the Lord will hold them off until we can prepare ourselves; and if you will wake up and do as you are told, you will escape. ... I know that He is able to suffer famines to come upon us, and then to rain manna down from heaven to sustain us. ... I do not know how He does that, but I know that He can do it just as easily as He could bring me into existence upon this earth.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:335, 7 Jun 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

God does not want to shed blood without it is necessary, any more than He wants us to go and slaughter a beast when we have no need of it. But when we have need of meat, and are driven to it by necessity, then it is all right. If it is necessary, then it is all right. If it is necessary that we should shed blood, then it is right. All things are right that are done according to the will and pleasure of God.

Orson Hyde, JD 5:17, 14 Jun 1857, Bowery

Remember the counsel that is given, "Store up all your grain," and take care of it! Prize it above gold and silver, above rich clothing and fine apparel, and above everything else except the bread of life! And I tell you it is almost as necessary to have bread to sustain the body as it is to have food for the spirit; for the one is as necessary as the other to enable us to carry on the work of God upon the earth.

Brigham Young, JD 4:371-372, 28 Jun 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There is one principle that I wish the people would understand and lay to heart. Just as fast as you will prove before your God that you are worthy to receive the mysteries, if you please to call them so, of the kingdom of heaven -- that you are full of confidence in God -- that you will never betray a thing that God tells you -- that you will never reveal to your neighbor that which ought not to be revealed, as quick as you prepare to be entrusted with the things of God, [p.372] there is an eternity of them to bestow upon you.

Brigham Young, JD 4:372, 28 Jun 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Giving endowments to a great many proves their overthrow, through revealing things to them which they cannot keep. They are not worthy to receive them. Brother Heber takes the lead in giving endowments, and you may ask, "Why do you give such folks their endowments?" To qualify them to be devils, if they wish to be. The plan of salvation is calculated to make devils as well as Saints; for by and by we shall need some to serve as devils; and it takes almost as much knowledge to make a complete devil as it does to fit a man to go into the celestial kingdom of God, and become an heir to His kingdom. ...I defy any of them to give an idea of what is taught them in their endowments, except a garbled mass of trash. God takes that knowledge from their minds. We have to make devils, and we are preparing them.

Brigham Young, JD 4:372, 28 Jun 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

And just as fast as you prove to Him that you will preserve everything secret that ought to be -- that you will deal out to your neighbors all which you ought, and no more, and learn how to dispense your knowledge to your families, friends, neighbours, and brethren, the Lord will bestow upon you, and give to you, and bestow upon you, until finally he will say to you, "You shall never fall; your salvation is sealed unto you; you are sealed up unto eternal life and salvation, through your integrity."

Brigham Young, JD 5:4, 5 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We can make Zion, or we can make Babylon, just as we please. We can make just what we please of this place. The people can make Zion: they can make a heaven within themselves. When people gather here, they should come with a determination to make Zion within themselves, with the resolution that "I will carry myself full of the Spirit of Zion wherever I go; and this is the way in which I will control evil spirits; for I mean that my spirit shall have control over evil;" and do you not see that such a course will make Zion? This American continent will be Zion; for it is so spoken of by the prophets. Jerusalem will be rebuilt and will be the place of gathering, and the tribe of Judah will gather there; but this continent of America is the land of Zion.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:31, 12 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

You ladies have not any priesthood, only in connection with your husbands. You suppose that you receive the priesthood when you receive your endowments; but the priesthood is on your husbands. Can you honour God and abuse your husbands like the devil? How can you honour the Priesthood, except you honour the man you are connected with? I am talking about good men; I will not in this connection say anything about bad men. How can you honor the Priesthood, except you honour the one you are connected with?

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:34, 12 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

But, perhaps, many of you have never thought that Joseph [Smith] was with Jesus in the spirit world ere the organization of this earth, and came forth in this last dispensation.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 5:53, 19 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

[For] The intelligence that is in me to cease to exist is a horrid thought; it is past enduring. This intelligence must exist; it must dwell somewhere. If I take the right course and preserve it in its organization, I will preserve to myself eternal life. This is the greatest gift that ever was bestowed on mankind, to know how to preserve their identity.

Brigham Young, JD 5:54, 19 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The principles of life and salvation are the only principles of freedom; for every principle that is opposed to God -- that is opposed to the principles of eternal life, whether it is in heaven, on the earth, or in hell, the time will be when it will cease to exist, cease to preserve, manifest, and exhibit its identity; for it will be returned to its native element.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:87, 26 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Bless your souls, if a man is a Prophet, and that Prophet has a posterity, his whole posterity are prophets. Tell about raising up kings, and priests, and prophets unto the Most High God!

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:88, 26 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

You can see the stars; they are as thick as the hairs on my head. What are they? They are worlds like this, and redeemed worlds, as this will be some time; and we are the boys that will help redeem it.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:95, 26 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I believe in annihilation in one degree. Men will sin so that they will be damned spiritually and temporally. There will be a dissolution of the natural body and of the spirit, and they will go back into their native element, the same as a chemist can go to work and dissolve a five-dollar gold piece, and throw it into a liquid. Does not that show there can be a dissolution of the natural body and the spirit? That is what is called the second death.

Joseph Young, JD 6:227, 26 Jul 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I have heard brother Brigham say, and I endorse the sentiment, that every man and every woman who is not willing to lay down his or her mortal life for this Gospel cannot be saved. The Lord will bring us into a place where we shall be tried whether we are as willing to die as we are to live, and I know this is true; and if I have not gained that point, I have got to live so as to arrive at it on this side of the vail.

Brigham Young, JD 5:96, 2 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Still I do not know but that Joseph [Smith] had quite as many of his [family] connections valiant for the truth, in proportion to their number, as Jesus had; for Jesus had many brothers and sisters, and the most of them were opposed to him, and continued so during the greater part of their lives.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:129, 2 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Here, in the Territory of Deseret, is the kingdom of God, and here are all the officers pertaining to that kingdom; and here is an organization that is organized after the order of God, and it is organized after the order of the Church of the First Born. Let me explain what the Church of the First Born is. It is the first Church that ever was raised up upon this earth; that is, the first born Church. That is what I mean; and when God our Father organized that Church, He organized it just as His Father organized the Church on the earth where He dwelt; and that same order is organized here in the City of Great Salt Lake; and it is that order that Joseph Smith the Prophet of God organized in the beginning in Kirtland, Ohio. Brother Brigham Young, myself, and others were present when that was done; and when those officers received their endowments, they were together in one place. They were organized, and received their endowments and blessings, and those keys were placed upon them, and that kingdom will stand for ever.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:133, 2 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

You have received your endowments. What is it for? To learn you to hold your tongues, and keep what you get, and increase upon it. If you do not keep the word of life you receive -- that which proceeds from God, your minds never will expand, and you will always be barren, like unto a barren woman.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:137, 2 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I do not think that many ever supposed that animals are going to be resurrected. When God touched Elijah's eyes, and he looked on the mountain, and he saw chariots and horses, and men by the thousands and millions. Where did they come from? There is nothing on this earth but what came from heaven, and it grew and was created before it grew on this earth; the Bible says so... Yes, everything that is upon this earth grew before it came here; it was transported from heaven to earth.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 4:376, 16 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

And I will say to you that, if you will live your religion while you are gone, when you come back you shall have your endowments, and God shall bless you, while the man or the woman who has received their endowments and does not magnify their calling, will not be benefitted at all by them, and they will only tend to their condemnation.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:172, 23 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Some say the earth exists without spirit; I do not believe any such thing; it has a spirit as much as any body has a spirit. How can anything live, except it has a living spirit? How can the earth produce vegetation, fruit, trees, and every kind of production, if there is no life in it?

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:179, 23 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Well, let me tell you, the Holy Ghost is a man; he is one of the sons of our Father and our God; and he is that man that stood next to Jesus Christ, just as I stand by brother Brigham.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:162, 30 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I never knew it to fail, when men made covenants, but they were brought to the test, to see if they would live up to them. This people have made covenants, they have made vows, and they have been instructed by brother Brigham; and he has told them that those covenants and penalties are true and faithful; and I say they are as true as the Lord God liveth; and the day will come that you will have to fulfill those vows and covenants that you have made; and not one word shall fail.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:164, 30 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

If you will lay a bowie knife or a loaded revolver under your pillow every night, you will not have many unpleasant dreams, nor be troubled with the nightmare; for there is nothing that the Devil is so much afraid of as a weapon of death.

John Taylor, JD 5:189, 30 Aug 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

What are we engaged in? We are engaged in building up the kingdom of God, and many of you have been ordained by the revelations of the Almighty to hold the power and authority of the Holy Priesthood. Besides this, you have been ordained kings and queens, priests and priestesses to your Lord; you have been put in possession of principles that all the kings, potentates, and powers upon the earth are entirely ignorant of; they do not understand it; but you have received this from the hands of God.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:271, 27 Sep 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Now, will the day come when this pitcher will return to its mother earth? It will; and it may be thrown into some part of the earth where it may be thousands and millions of years before that pitcher or the elements of which it is composed will be brought back again; and so it will be with thousands and millions of the people; they will never be brought back into the shape they were in once. Some men enquire, "Why?" Simply because they have dishonoured the spirit and bodies that God gave them; therefore God will make a desolation of those bodies and spirits, and he will throw them back into the earth; that is, that portion that belongs to the earth will go back there. And so it will be with our spirits: they will go back into the elements or space that they once occupied before they came here. Now, you may believe what you have a mind to about it; it is just as easy to conceive of a dissolution as to conceive of anything else.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 5:278, 27 Sep 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When I sleep, I have fifteen shooters, six shooters, and all other kind of shooters; and the devils do not come there: and if they succeed in troubling me, they have to get into some other person's body.

Erastus Snow, JD 5:289, 4 Oct 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Gospel Mysteries

Every man in Israel is responsible in a certain degree for the conduct of his wives and children. He has covenanted that he will assume that responsibility; that is, he will assume the responsibility of the sins of his wives, if he fails to discharge his duties towards them in teaching and leading them in the ways of life and salvation.

Erastus Snow, JD 5:291, 4 Oct 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Do you uphold your husband before God as your lord? "What! -- my husband to be my lord?" I ask, can you get into the celestial kingdom without him? Have any of you been there? You will remember that you never got into the celestial kingdom without the aid of your husband. If you did, it was because your husband was away, and some one had to act proxy for him. No woman will get into the celestial kingdom, except her husband receives her, if she is worthy to have a husband; if not, someone will receive her as a servant.

Brigham Young, JD 5:330, 7 Oct 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Just so with our Father: he reveals to us as we are prepared to receive, and I hope to continue to learn. There is no cessation, in time or in eternity, to the progress and increase of the righteous.

Brigham Young, JD 5:331-332, 7 Oct 1857, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The Devil was cursed and sent down from heaven. He has no body of his own; therefore he is constantly endeavouring to obtain possession of the tabernacles belonging to others. Some have grumbled because I believe our God to be so near to us as Father Adam. There are many who know that doctrine to be true. Where was Michael in the creation of this earth? Did he have a mission to the earth? He did. Where was he? In the Grand Council, and performed the mission assigned him there. Now, if it should happen that we have to pay tribute to Father Adam, what a humiliating circumstance it would be! Just wait till you pass Joseph Smith; and after Joseph lets you pass him, you will find Peter; and after you pass [p.332] the Apostles and many of the Prophets, you will find Abraham, and he will say, "I have the keys, and except you do thus and so, you cannot pass;" and after a while you come to meet Jesus; and when you at length meet Father Adam, how strange it will appear to your present notions. If we can pass Joseph and have him say, "Here; you have been faithful, good boys; I hold the keys of this dispensation; I will let you pass;" then we shall by very glad to see the white locks of Father Adam. But those are ideas which do not concern us at present, although it is written in the Bible -- "This is eternal life, to know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ who thou hast sent."

George A. Smith, JD 5:366, 1 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This is the safest place on this earth; and as we learn more righteousness, divest ourselves more and more of selfishness, and become more and more instructed in the intrinsic value of earthly substance, compared to eternal riches, the principle of safety will increase and the Millennium will actually commence with this people.

George A. Smith, JD 5:367, 1 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

Every man and woman should cultivate in their hearts a desire to love the Lord, keep his commandments, and appreciate the spirit and the freedom of the Gospel and the privilege and blessing of the fullness of the holy Priesthood more than all the treasures upon the face of the earth.

John Taylor, JD 6:24, 1 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Was the kingdom that the Prophets talked about, that should be set up in the latter times, going to be a Church? Yes. And a State? Yes, it was going to be both Church and State, to rule both temporarily [temporally] and spiritually.

Isaac Morley, JD 6:215, 8 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We should reflect upon the covenants and obligations that we have made unto God and before our brethren. There are many keys in those holy covenants whereby we can derive comfort. Obedience is the grand key whereby this people are to be exalted; and I sincerely believe that the Presidency is comforted by the obedience that is rendered to their requirements.

Brigham Young, JD 6:41, 15 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I go into my room where we have our prayer circle, and among twelve men there will be perhaps twelve different prayers offered up -- one praying for one thing and another for another thing. You may reduce the number to three, and let them be clothed for secret prayer; and while one is praying aloud, each of the others will be praying for that which the one that is mouth is not praying for, unless they are better taught in regard to prayer than is the Christian world.

Brigham Young, JD 6:43, 15 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If you do not know what to ask for, let me tell you how to pray. When you pray in secret or with your families, if you do not know anything to ask for, submit yourselves to your Father in heaven and beseech him to guide you by the inspiration of the Holy Ghost, and to guide this people, and dictate the affairs of his kingdom on the earth, and there leave it. Ask him to put you just where he wants you, and to tell you what he wants you to do, and feel that you are on hand to do it.

Brigham Young, JD 6:45, 15 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Take the men whose hearts, when they pray, are upon one sentence and upon one idea at a time, when they ask God for anything, or to bring this or that to pass, do you think that the powers of hell can hinder what they ask for? No. It is as true as the heavens -- as firm as the mountains that rest upon these valleys -- as sure as eternity, that nothing can fail which they agree upon; for God will grant it. What is our difficulty? When I go to my prayer-room, among men who have been with me for years, there is too great a diversity of feeling and desires to be in accordance with the Gospel.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:50, 15 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

It is not the Spirit of God that leads a man or woman to shed blood -- to desire to kill and slay. When the time comes that we have need to shed blood, then it will be necessary we should do it, and it will be just as innocent as to go and kill an ox when we are hungry or in time of famine.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:67, 22 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When the head speaks, let every man and woman listen and obey. I do not care so much about the women obeying as I do about the men. I am not talking about them, but of you, Elders of Israel, that have the Priesthood. Women do not hold a particle of Priesthood, only what they hold in connection with their husbands; neither have the men, except that which they hold in connection with those who hold the keys of the kingdom at head-quarters. Do not step out on one side and say you have Priesthood independent. You have not a particle in that way.

Brigham Young, JD 6:73, 22 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There are myriads of disembodied evil spirits -- those who have long ago laid down their bodies here and in the regions round about, among and around us; and they are trying to make us and our children sick, and are trying to destroy us and to tempt us to evil.

Brigham Young, JD 6:75, 22 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If you keep silent, you can master your feelings, can subdue your passions, and ultimately become masters of them and banish them from you. If you give way to your unbridled tongues, you increase anger within you, and the first you know your blood is boiling with wrath.

Brigham Young, JD 6:75, 22 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is no matter how you are tempted, if you do not give way to temptation; but if you give way to temptation, it carries you to destruction.

Brigham Young, JD 6:76-77, 22 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When we [p.77] come to understanding, there will not be as many desires and prayers as there are people, while one is officiating as mouth for the whole; but when he who is mouth prays, every heart will wait until he utters a sentence, and that embodies what they also desire. When the sisters meet together and appoint one of their number to pray, they will never let a desire escape from the heart until they know what the mouth is praying for. They all will desire the same and pray for the same. This people are hastening to that degree of perfection.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:101, 29 Nov 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Did God produce us? He did, and every son and daughter of Adam upon the face of this earth; and he produced us upon the same principle that we produce one another. And so it is with the fruit of creation.

Gospel Mysteries

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:125, 13 Dec 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

After receiving the Priesthood, when a person receives his endowment, he is an heir to the Priesthood -- an heir of God, and a joint-heir with Jesus Christ; that is, he has commenced his heirship.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:125-126, 13 Dec 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Judas lost that saving principle, and they took him and killed him. It is said [p.126] in the Bible that his bowels gushed out; but they actually kicked him until his bowels came out. "I will suffer my bowels to be taken out before I will forfeit the covenant I have made with Him and my brethren." Do you understand me?

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:125, 13 Dec 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Father waited until the meridian of time -- that is, till the time was half up, before he came on the earth and begat in the flesh the Son of God, who was to be our Saviour. Was every woman qualified to raise that child [Jesus Christ]? No. You will find that Mary was of the Royal Priesthood, which is after the order of God; and he was particular who raised that child, that it might be trained according to his [God's] dictation.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:127, 13 Dec 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When you got your endowments, did you not make a covenant not to speak against the anointed? And every woman that received this ordinance made a covenant with her husband that she would be true and faithful to him, be a guardian angel to him, and watch over his pillow by night and by day, and be true to her God and to the anointed.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 6:190-191, 27 Dec 1857, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I also make a practice of dedicating my children to the Lord, that they may grow up in his wisdom and increase in his power. ... I am preaching these things to my brethren and sisters, that they may know, if they have not dedicated and consecrated their children to the Lord, that it has to be done. But you may inquire, "How shall we do [p.191] it?" You will have to do it as brother Brigham and others have done when in Nauvoo. We had to take our children and wash and anoint them, and place the birthright and father's blessing upon them in the house of God, and then have them sealed to us; and you will have to do just so. ...In proportion as you bring yourselves into subjection, your children will receive the blessings of heaven.

Orson Hyde, JD 6:154, 3 Jan 1858, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I tell you, Joseph holds the keys, and none of us can get into the celestial kingdom without passing by him. We have not got rid of him, but he stands there as the sentinel, holding the keys of the kingdom of God; and there are many of them beside him.

Orson Hyde, JD 6:157, 3 Jan 1858, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The grand secret we shall find to be, when we get through, that these

[the First Presidency] are gods unto us, and there are millions of them [other Gods] beside; but they [the other Gods] have but little to do with us. It is the power that is next to us that we have to do with more particularly -- the power under whose jurisdiction we are immediately brought.

George A. Smith, JD 6:160-161, 3 Jan 1858, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The very moment that revelation to this Church through our Prophet and Presidency ceases to be communicated [p.161] unto us, and we adopt any series of books, whether the writings of Joseph [Smith] or the writings or any other man, or all the writings and revelations that ever have been given, and say, This much we receive, and no more; then we are as dead as the lifeless corpse: we cut off the channel of revelation, and the light and the communication between us and eternal happiness; we cut asunder the thread of light, and we are in darkness and adrift in the sea, without a compass to guide us, like any other religious denomination.

George A. Smith, JD 6:161, 3 Jan 1858, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But if we would inherit the blessings of the Priesthood -- if we would stand in the presence of the Almighty -- stand upon Mount Zion and inherit the blessings of a glorious celestial dominion, we have got to be clean, we must cleanse ourselves, put away our follies, and be prepared to stand united.

Brigham Young, JD 6:195, 7 Feb 1858, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

"I have a wife." She is only committed to you to enable you to prove whether you will treat her in a righteous manner: she is not yet yours.

Brigham Young, JD 6:198, 7 Feb 1858, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We know enough to damn us; and when we know enough for that, we know enough to save us, if that knowledge is improved upon.

Brigham Young, JD 7:47, 28 Mar 1858, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

With regard to doctrinal points that which we do not understand should not be talked about in this stand; and the Elders of Israel should never contend about any point of doctrine that does not pertain to the present day's salvation.

Brigham Young, JD 7:66, 6 Jun 1858, Provo, Bowery

A man who has wisdom to control one wife and five children can control ten wives and one hundred children; then he can control a town, a city, a state, a nation, a kingdom, or the whole world.

Brigham Young, JD 7:57, 27 Jun 1858, Provo, Bowery

They will be decomposed, both soul and body, and return to their native element. I do not say that they will be annihilated; but they will be disorganized, and will be as though they never had been, while we will live and retain our identity, and contend against those principles which tend to death or dissolution. I am after life; I want to preserve my identity, so that you can see Brigham in the eternal worlds just as you see him now. I want to see that eternal principle of life dwelling within us which will exalt us eternally in the presence of our Father and God. If you wish to retain your present identity in the morn of the resurrection, you must so live that the principle of life will be within you as a well of water springing up unto eternal life.

Brigham Young, JD 7:163, 5 Jun 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It will be so with every person who receives a resurrection; the blood will not be resurrected with the body, being designed only to sustain the life of this present organization.

Brigham Young, JD 7:173, 12 Jun 1859, Funeral of Fanny Young

And when the Lord has committed his holy Priesthood to men on earth, without which no mortal being can be prepared to enter in to the celestial kingdom, how do many of the Elders treat it? That question I do not wish to answer; but I really wish that such persons would learn a little good sense.

Brigham Young, JD 6:333, 19 Jun 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The spirit from the eternal worlds enters the tabernacle at the time of what is termed quickening, and forgets all it formerly knew.

Brigham Young, JD 6:333, 19 Jun 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You read of the first and second death. We witness, day by day, the dissolution of the body; and there is also a second death. ... The greatest gift that God can bestow upon the children of men is the gift of eternal life; that is, to give mankind power to preserve their identity -- to preserve themselves before the Lord.

Brigham Young, JD 7:7, 3 Jul 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Every man and woman will receive to a fullness, though the quantity will vary according to the extent of their capacity, and each will be crowned with glory and eternal life, if faithful. He that endures to the end the same shall be saved. Not to run for a season and then turn away; but those who endure to the end will receive a fullness of joy which will give them satisfaction.

Brigham Young, JD 6:348, 31 Jul 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Make servants [in the kingdoms of glory] of such characters [drunkards and apostates] and set them to work in their different departments, and they can do something: they are not useless. They are the workmanship of God's hands -- brothers to Jesus, flesh of his flesh and bone of his bone. The same Father that begat the tabernacle of Jesus on the earth brought forth the world of mankind; and we are all his children, whether we do wickedly or not. We are the offspring of one common Father.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 7:202, 31 Jul 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is by the law of the Priesthood that men are, and by that law they may maintain their eternal identity. A strict observance of those laws will secure an inheritance in that kingdom where death never enters, and all else will sooner or later pass away as a night vision.

Brigham Young, JD 7:205, 31 Jul 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Some think that they can prosper by lying a little, breaking the Sabbath, and doing almost everything that they ought not to do. In the end they will learn that they have trod the path that leads to the first and second death, which will have power over them; and the time will come when they will be as though they had not been.

Brigham Young, JD 7:238, 1 Sep 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You need exhorting rather than teaching. You have been taught doctrine in abundance, and I have sometimes thought it a pity the Lord has revealed quite as much as he has. And I can truly say that I believe, if I am guilty in any one point in my walk before this people, it is in telling them things they are not worthy of -- that I have given into them things that they could not receive. For this reason I deem it mainly needful to stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance.

Brigham Young, JD 7:240, 1 Sep 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What is called spirit-rapping, spirit-knocking, and so forth, is produced by the spirits that the Lord has suffered to communicate to people on the earth, and make them believe in revelation. There are many who do not believe this; but I believe it, and have from the beginning. ... Are there any communications from evil spirits? Yes; and the Devil is making the people believe very strongly in revelations from the spirit world.

George A. Smith, JD 10:66-67, 4 Sep 1859

Now, it is not certain that the Prophet always reveals those secrets unto the people. It may happen in [p. 67] many instances, that the Lord will reveal unto his servants the Prophets many things that are to come, and yet leave those who are not enlightened by the Spirit of Prophecy to wait until those things transpire before they are apprised of them.

Orson Pratt, JD 7:254, 11 Sep 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He [Adam] was a being intended in his construction to endure for evermore. Death had no dominion over his tabernacle; the principle of blood which flows in the mortal tabernacles of men did not exist in his immortal body; but his veins and arteries contained a fluid of a far purer nature than that of blood; in other words, they were filled with the spirit of life, which was calculated to preserve them in immortality.

Orson Pratt, JD 7:312, 18 Sep 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

It is our privilege to sanctify ourselves and have even greater power than those who go to the nations. Why? Because here is the great central place of gathering, and here should center all the powers of the everlasting Priesthood. Here, in our midst, should be poured out the blessings of that Priesthood to their fullest extent.

Orson Pratt, JD 7:313, 18 Sep 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You have the keys of the Priesthood; you have the key-words of the Priesthood here; you have the signs of the Priesthood here; you have all the ordinances of the Priesthood here which have been revealed; you have learned the rules and laws of the Priesthood...

Orson Hyde, JD 7:315, 6 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What did we agree to before we came here? If to anything, I suppose the very same things we agreed to since we did come here, that are legitimate and proper. The husband agreed to be a faithful servant of God, to do his duty to all that were placed under his charge. The wife, on her part, covenants that she will be a faithful and devoted wife, and will obey her husband in the Lord in all things. If this were so, it is all right; for it is just as we are taught on the earth. ... Children agreed to obey their parents, as parents agreed to obey their superiors in the kingdom of God; and parents were brought under obligation to train their children in the way they should go.

Brigham Young, JD 7:333, 8 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When you can thus feel, then you may begin to think that you can find something about God, and begin to learn who he is. He is our Father -- the Father of our spirits, and was once a man in mortal flesh as we are, and is now an exalted Being. How many Gods there are, I do not know. But there never was a time when there were not Gods and worlds, and when men were not passing through the same ordeals that we are now passing through. That course has been from all eternity, and it is and will be to all eternity.

Brigham Young, JD 7:336, 8 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Parents -- you who continue to live the life of true Christians, and are filled with faith, virtue, and good works, I promise you, in the name of Israel's God, that you will have your children, and no power can rob you of them; for all will be saved, except the sons of perdition. If they go to hell, you will have the privilege of dragging them from there, if you are faithful. This is the promise made to Abraham.

Brigham Young, JD 7:285, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When you tell me that father Adam was made as we make adobes from the earth, you tell me what I deem an idle tale. When you tell me that the beasts of the field were produced in that manner, you are speaking idle words devoid of meaning. There is no such thing in all the eternities where the Gods dwell. Mankind are here because they are the offspring of parents who were first brought here from another planet, and power was given them to propagate their species, and they were commanded to multiply and replenish the earth.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 7:285, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Shall I say that the seeds of vegetables were planted here by the Characters that framed and built this world -- that the seeds of every plant composing the vegetable kingdom were brought from another world?

Brigham Young, JD 7:285, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The life that is in within us is a part of an eternity of life, and is organized spirit, which is clothed upon by tabernacles, thereby constituting our present being, which is designed for the attainment of further intelligence. The matter composing our bodies and spirits has been organized from the eternity of matter that fills immensity.

Brigham Young, JD 7:286, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Being whom we call Father was the Father of the spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ, and he was also his Father pertaining to the flesh.

Brigham Young, JD 7:287, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Every principle, act, and portion of the lives of the children of men that does not tend to this [achieving eternal life] will lead to an eternal dissolution of the identity of the person.

Brigham Young, JD 7:289, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...No man or woman in this dispensation will ever enter into the celestial kingdom of God without the consent of Joseph Smith.

Brigham Young, JD 7:289, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He [Joseph Smith] holds the keys of that [celestial] kingdom for the last dispensation -- the keys to rule in the spirit-world; and he rules there triumphantly, for he gained full power and a glorious victory over the power of Satan while he was yet in the flesh, and was a martyr to his religion and to the name of Christ, which gives him a most perfect victory in the spirit-world. He reigns there as supreme a being in his sphere, capacity, and calling, as God does in heaven.

Brigham Young, JD 7:290, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Adam and Eve are the parents of all pertaining to the flesh, and I would not say that they are not also the parents of our spirits.

Brigham Young, JD 7:290, 9 Oct 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Joseph was foreordained to be the temporal savior of his father's house, and the seed of Joseph are ordained to be the spiritual and temporal saviors of all the house of Israel in the latter days. Joseph's seed has mixed itself with all the seed of man upon the face of the whole earth.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 7:133-134, 18 Dec 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There [p. 134] is one virtue, attribute, or principle, which, if cherished and practiced by the Saints, would prove salvation to thousands upon thousands. I allude to charity, or love, from which proceed forgiveness, long-suffering, kindness, and patience.

Brigham Young, JD 7:133, 18 Dec 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I ask intelligent men -- those in whose bosoms the spirit of revelation continually abides, whether their souls do not mourn to see the neglect, the weakness, the blindness, and stupidity of those who have received the words of eternal life -- who have received the promises and covenants of God, and have had the rights and privileges of receiving the revelations of Jesus Christ to guide and direct them in the path of truth and holiness, so that they could make sure to themselves salvation and eternal lives in the celestial kingdom of our Father and God. Is it not painful? Are you not astonished to see people who have received the Holy Spirit of promise, the Holy Ghost, -- who have received visions -- who have been endowed with faith and with the knowledge of God -- who have had power to lay hands upon the sick, and diseases have departed at their command, and foul spirits at their word, turn away and forsake their covenants and their God?

Brigham Young, JD 7:136, 18 Dec 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is necessary that we should be tried, in order to prove whether we can be still in prayer time. You know that it is sometimes necessary to correct our children for making a noise in prayer time. It is now prayer time with us.

Brigham Young, JD 7:142, 18 Dec 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Then angels will come and begin to resurrect the dead, and the Saviour will also raise the dead, and they will receive the keys of the resurrection, and will begin to assist in that work. Will the wicked know of it? They will know just as much about it as they now know about "Mormonism," and no more.

Brigham Young, JD 7:142, 18 Dec 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Jesus has been upon the earth a great many more times than you are aware of. When Jesus makes his next appearance on earth, but few of this Church and kingdom will be prepared to receive him and see him face to face and converse with him; but he will come to his temple.

Brigham Young, JD 7:142, 18 Dec 1859, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Let every man and woman that believes in the redemption of Zion, the gathering of Israel, the calling of Prophets and Apostles in the last days, and the building up of the kingdom of God, no more to be thrown down, come here prepared to receive the mysteries of the kingdom and learn the further things of eternity, to bring heaven to earth, and in their understandings be exalted to heaven...

Gospel Mysteries

When we entered into the fullness of the Gospel -- into a sacred and holy covenant with God, we virtually agreed to surrender our will to him; we agreed to place ourselves under his direction, guidance, dictation, and counsel, that our will should be merged in his.

Erastus Snow, JD 7:358-359, 5 Jan 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I understand that that second death is a spiritual death. Is it meant that the spirit shall die? Each of you can draw your own conclusions as well as I. Your traditions may be such that your thoughts do not run in the same channel with mine in this respect. But I can conceive of no other spiritual death than dissolution. I understand, when applied to the mortal tabernacle, it alludes to the dissolution of that tabernacle; [p.359] it ceases to act in its functions, being dissolved, to return to its native element.

Erastus Snow, JD 7:359, 5 Jan 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The idea of the second death, or dissolution of the spirit, is that which is the most terrifying to the soul.

Brigham Young, JD 9:102, 5 Jan 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Angels are those beings who have been on an earth like this, and have passed through the same ordeals that we are now passing through. They have kept their first estate far enough to preserve themselves in the Priesthood. They did not so violate the law of the Priesthood and condemn themselves to the sin against the Holy Ghost as to be finally lost. They are not crowned with the celestial ones. They are persons who have lived upon an earth, but did not magnify the Priesthood in that high degree that many others have done who have become Gods, even the sons of God.

Brigham Young, JD 9:104, 5 Jan 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Is every man and woman capable of receiving the highest glory of God? No. We are surrounded with circumstances that control us to a certain degree.

Brigham Young, JD 9:106, 5 Jan 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

No person on the earth can truly call anything his own, and never will until he has passed the ordeals we are all now passing, and has received his body again in a glorious resurrection, to be crowned by him who will be ordained and set apart to set a crown upon our heads. Then will be given to us that which we now only seem to own, and we will be forever one with the Father and the Son, and not until then.

Brigham Young, JD 9:108, 5 Jan 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Do not imagine that I am in the least finding fault with the Devil. I would not bring a railing accusation against him, for he is fulfilling his office and calling manfully; he [Satan] is more faithful in his calling than are many of the people. ... When we have lived to see millions of worlds created -- yea, more in number than the particles of matter that compose this earth and millions of earths like his, if so many could be numerated by man, and people live on them to pass through the ordeals we are passing through, you will never see one of them [other earths] without a devil.

Orson Pratt, JD 7:375, 29 Jan 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is one thing I will assure you of -- God will never reveal anything to me, or to any other man, which will come in contact [conflict] with the views and revelations which he gives to the man who holds the keys. We never need expect such a thing.

Brigham Young, JD 8:8, 4 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The earth will abide its creation, and will be counted worthy of receiving the blessings designed for it, and will ultimately roll back into the presence of God who formed it and established its mineral, vegetable, and animal kingdoms. These will all be retained upon the earth, come forth in the resurrection, and abide for ever and for ever. Who will be destroyed? Those who have the words of eternal life offered to them and reject those words.

Brigham Young, JD 8:10, 4 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I shall not cease learning while I live, nor when I arrive in the spirit-world; but shall there learn with greater facility; and when I again receive my body, I shall learn a thousand times more in a thousand times less time; and then I do not mean to cease learning, but shall still continue my researches.

Brigham Young, JD 8:17, 5 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It has been stated that I teach the doctrine that the Gods continue to increase in all their attributes to all eternity. Have you ever heard me teach such a doctrine? I have taught doctrine; but have I called in question any of the Gods? It has been stated that God our Father comprehends eternity, from eternity to eternity, all there is, all there was, all there ever can be about eternity, in and through it. When a person undertakes to establish such a doctrine, what does he do? He gives bounds to that eternity which he at the same time admits to be boundless. Admit such doctrine, and eternity flees away like the shadow of morning; and that is as much as I ever teach about it. Do I say that heavenly beings improve? I am not yet there; I do not know. Understand eternity? There is not and never was a man in the finite flesh who understands it.

Brigham Young, JD 8:27, 25 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There are certain portions of this native element that will be refined and prepared to enter into the celestial kingdom -- into the celestial family of the celestial world. If the spirit honours the body and the body honours the spirit while they are here united, the particles of matter that compose the mortal tabernacle will be resurrected and brought forth to immortality and eternal life; but it cannot be brought forth and made immortal, except it undergoes a change, for "dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt return." What for? To prepare the body to be made immortal and fitted to dwell in the presence of the Gods.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 8:27, 25 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is commonly termed death to have the spirit and body separated; but literally that is not death only to those who are sons of perdition.

Brigham Young, JD 8:28, 25 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Spirits, when they leave their bodies, do not dwell with the Father and the Son, but live in the spirit-world, where there are places prepared for them.

Brigham Young, JD 8:29, 25 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This promise is made to every son and daughter of Adam, if they obey the conditions laid down; and their names have been written in the Lamb's book of life from the beginning, before we came into the world, and they will remain there to all eternity, unless we blot them out through a wicked course.

Brigham Young, JD 8:30, 25 Mar 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Be very careful that you do not so conduct yourselves that when your bodies die, you will not receive them in an immortal state. Be careful that your lives are such that you be not deprived entirely of these bodies which have borne so much affliction and pain. There is a great design in the formation of the body.

Brigham Young, JD 8:35, 6 Apr 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Lord has bestowed the holy Priesthood upon the children of men, by which alone they can be prepared to enter into the celestial kingdom of our God.

Brigham Young, JD 8:43, 8 Apr 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The particles of this earth that now compose this body will be re-arranged, and the spirit will be clothed with an immortal tabernacle. Let the spirit reign predominant over the flesh, and bring into subjection the whole man, every feeling and every desire of his heart, and let him be devoted wholly, body and spirit, to the end for which he has been created. When the flesh is brought into subjection, it is made worthy through that means.

Orson Pratt, JD 8:49, 8 Apr 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

In a revelation given to this Church, it is said that no man shall know until he [Jesus] comes; therefore we cannot expect to know the day nor the hour; but we know it [the second coming] is near at hand, and what a consolation it is. There may be men that will know within a year -- that will have revelation to say within one or two years when the Lord shall appear. I do not know that there is anything against this.

Brigham Young, JD 8:72, 22 Apr 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

You need not teach that this place is Zion, or that Nauvoo or Missouri is Zion; but tell the people that North and South America are the land of Zion, and that our God will finish his work where he commenced it, where the center stake of Zion is, and where the garden of Eden was.

Brigham Young, JD 8:32, 5 Apr 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

As many as will be faithful to their calling, and manifest their faith by their good works, will find that they belong to the elect; and every one that forsakes his covenants and his God, and turns away from the holy commandments delivered to him, will find that he belongs to that class who are reprobates.

Brigham Young, JD 8:58, 20 May 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And I will say, as I have before said, if guilt before my God and my brethren rests upon me in the least, it is in this one thing -- that I have revealed too much concerning God and his kingdom, and the designs of our Father in heaven. If my skirts are stained in the least with wrong, it is because I have been too free in telling what God is, how he lives, the nature of his providences and designs in creating the world, in bringing forth the human family on the earth, his designs concerning them, etc.

Brigham Young, JD 8:61, 20 May 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If we are crowned to become lords of lords and kings of kings, it will be to rule and reign over our own posterity pertaining to this flesh -- these tabernacles -- this commencement in our finite state or being. When I reign king of kings and lord of lords over my children, it will be when my first, second, third, fourth, and so on, son rises up and counts thousands and millions of his posterity, and is king over them; then I am a king of these kings. Our Father, who is Lord of all, will reign a King of kings and Lord of lords over all his children.

Brigham Young, JD 8:63, 20 May 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When men will live to the age of a tree, their food will be fruit.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:86, 3 Jun 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This is the religion of Jesus Christ as taught in these books -- the Bible and the Book of Mormon, and it is in accordance with that which is in my breast, and which is a better book, for it is life in Christ; and that living being that receives light and intelligence from the heavens through the revelations of the Holy Ghost is a living oracle. It is the living Oracle that is within us that will guide us in the way of life.

Brigham Young, JD 8:279, 3 Jun 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Enoch was the only man that could build a city to God; and as soon as he had it completed, he and his city, with its walls, houses, land, rivers, and everything pertaining to it, were taken away.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 8:279, 3 Jun 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Men in the flesh are clothed with the Priesthood with its blessings, the apostatizing from which and turning away from the Lord prepares them to become sons of perdition. There was a Devil in heaven, and he strove to possess the birthright of the Saviour.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:243, 12 Jun 1860, Willow Creek

After the earth was made, then there was a garden spot selected, and the Lord commanded some of his associates to go and plant it, and to cause all kinds of vegetation to grow, and fruits of every description. Some suppose the Lord commanded all these things to come out of the earth. Yes, he did, after the seeds were put in the earth; and he blessed the earth, and the vegetation that was in the earth. When all these things were done, the garden was beautified, and made pure and clean and holy and sanctified; and then the next thing was to bring forth the animal creation; but the animals were not brought there until the vegetation was planted and grown. We often sing "This earth was once a garden place," where God our Father dwelt, and took possession and a stand that mankind will take who attain to that honor.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:243-244, 12 Jun 1860, Willow Creek

The religion [p.244] of Jesus Christ, of angels, of Brigham, and of all good men is to take a care of and improve and adorn the earth as Adam did. When he planted the garden, he planted it with seeds he brought with him; and he also brought the animals from the earth he lived upon, where his Father dwelt.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:107, 1 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Unless we are very diligent, we shall be very far behind the times when the New Jerusalem comes down from heaven, adorned as a bride for her husband. Now, I believe that Enoch went away from here on a piece of earth, but I do not believe that he remained idle all the time: they have been improving and cultivating the earth -- they have been multiplying and increasing the inhabitants where they live. So it is with the lost tribes of Israel: they are not asleep. God speaks to them through their Prophets, and they are learning to be obedient and to be subject to the law of God.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:108, 1 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I can tell you it is time for us to be humble, prayerful, to live our religion, -- not only those men who hold office -- not merely those who are selected to lead prayer-circles and to pray according to the holy order, but it is for all...

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:109, 1 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Brethren, do you believe that there will be thousands and hundreds of thousands that will flock to this people for bread, for meat, for clothing, and for the comforts of life? Such will be the case, and I do not know but it will come before we are ready for it.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 8:116, 8 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Children are now born who will live until every son of Adam will have the privilege of receiving the principles of eternal life.

Brigham Young, JD 8:118, 8 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The spirits of the human family are pure and holy at the time they enter tabernacles; but the Lord has so ordered that the enemy has great power over our tabernacles, whose organization pertains to the earth.

Brigham Young, JD 8:123, 15 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When the testimony of the Elders ceases to be given, and the Lord says to them, "Come home; I will now preach my own sermons to the nations of the earth," all you now know can scarcely be called a preface to the sermon that will be preached with fire and sword, tempests, earthquakes, hail, rain, thunders and lightnings, and fearful destruction. What matters the destruction of a few railway cars? You will hear of magnificent cities, now idolized by the people, sinking in the earth, entombing the inhabitants. The sea will heave itself beyond its bounds, engulfing mighty cities. Famine will spread over the nations, and nation will rise up against nation, kingdom against kingdom, and states against states, in our own country and in foreign lands; and they will destroy each other, caring not for the blood and lives of their neighbors, of their families, or for their own lives.

Brigham Young, JD 8:134, 29 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Many think that Enoch and his whole city were taken from the earth directly into the presence of God. That is a mistaken idea. If, within three hundred and sixty-five years, I can see a people capable of surmounting every sin, of overcoming every evil and effect of sin to such a degree as to be separated in the flesh from the sinful portion of the world and from all the effects of the fall -- a great people as pure and holy as were the people of Enoch, I should not complain, and perhaps, have no cause to. Yet, in the latter days, God will cut short his work in righteousness. Do you understand that what the Lord will perform in the latter days will be done quicker than in the former days?

Brigham Young, JD 8:136, 29 Jul 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

It is highly gratifying to the Lord, to angels, and to all good men, to see intelligent beings organized to receive a great amount of intelligence -- seeking to possess eternal life.

Brigham Young, JD 8:150, 26 Aug 1860, Provo

If we obtain the glory that Abraham obtained, we must do so by the same means that he did. If we are ever prepared to enjoy the society of Enoch, Noah, Melchizedek, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, or of their faithful children, and of the faithful Prophets and Apostles, we must pass through the same experience, and gain the knowledge, intelligence, and endowments that will prepare us to enter into the celestial kingdom of our Father and God. ...

Gospel Mysteries

Every trial and experience you pass through is necessary for your salvation.

Brigham Young, JD 8:154, 26 Aug 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Jesus will redeem the last and least of the sons of Adam, except the sons of perdition, who will be held in reserve for another time. They will become angels of the Devil.

Brigham Young, JD 8:154, 26 Aug 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

All [of the glory] they [the sectarian world] have ever desired or anticipated they will receive, and far more; but they cannot dwell with the Father and Son, unless they go through those ordeals that are ordained for the Church of the Firstborn. The ordinances of the house of God are expressly for the Church of the Firstborn.

Brigham Young, JD 8:154, 26 Aug 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The disciples of Jesus were to dwell with him. Where will the rest go? Into kingdoms prepared for them, where they will live and endure. Jesus will bring forth, by his own redemption, every son and daughter of Adam, except the sons of perdition, who will be cast into hell. Others will suffer the wrath of God -- will suffer all the Lord can demand at their hands, or justice can require of them; and when they have suffered the wrath of God till the utmost farthing is paid, they will be brought out of prison.

Brigham Young, JD 8:159, 2 Sep 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The Gospel of salvation is a portion of the law that pertains to the kingdom where God resides; and the ordinances pertaining to the holy Priesthood are the means by which the children of men find access to the way of life, wherein they can extend their travels until they return to the presence of their Father and God.

Brigham Young, JD 8:179, 9 Sep 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

"What will you do with all those who have sought to kill you?" Make them soap-boilers and kitchen flunkeys. We are not going to send them into hell fire, for it takes a good Latter-day Saint apostatized to get down into that deep (did I say bottom-less?) pit. A person, to become an angel of the Devil, has first to be a good Saint, and then deny the Lord who bought him. Do you query why we give endowments to A., B., and C? It is to make devils of those who will deny the faith, for that is also necessary, as a host of devils will be needed. We also want Saints, angels, holy ones, and those that are exalted to the highest glory -- we want them to inherit kingdoms that number millions on millions.

Brigham Young, JD 8:182, 9 Sep 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We want to hurry and gather the brethren, that they may receive their endowments, and either remain Saints or apostatize; and those who continue faithful may be taught to more and more honor their faith and co-operate in building up the kingdom of God on the earth.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 8:167, 16 Sep 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

You who are in the Church and have been a long time faithful, the Lord will never suffer to so fall away that you cannot be saved.

Orson Pratt, JD 8:311, 16 Sep 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

It is true there are some promises that God has made upon some subjects without conditions. We might mention the following in the revelation upon marriage, concerning sealing blessings upon persons, and sealing them up to eternal life -- sealing upon them blessings for time and for all eternity, at the time when the man and woman go forth and are sealed by the Priesthood having authority to do this. This remains upon them, if they are sealed unconditionally; at least, the revelation says, if such a one transgresses, he shall be destroyed in the flesh and suffer until the day of redemption; and when they shall come forth and inherit all that was placed upon their heads by the servants of God, on the condition that they have not committed the sin against the Holy Ghost or shed innocent blood. This would seem to be as near an unconditional promise as can well be made to mortals.

Brigham Young, JD 8:191, 30 Sep 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Learn first to obtain power over the smaller objects and principles around you. Learn to control yourselves and that which is immediately around you, and always keep in view that the animal, vegetable, and mineral kingdoms -- the earth and its fullness -- will all, except the children of men, abide their creation -- the law by which they were made, and will receive their exaltation.

George A. Smith, JD 8:255, 6 Oct 1860, Tabernacle

When a man's mind is illuminated by a dream, it leaves a vivid and pleasant impression: when it may be guided by the Spirit of God, it leaves the mind happy and comfortable, and the understanding clear.

Brigham Young, JD 8:196-197, 7 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Is it not a glorious [p.197] thought that there are kingdoms, mansions of glory, and comfortable habitations prepared for all the sons and daughters of Adam, except the sons of perdition? All will not have part in the first resurrection, and perhaps many will not appear in the second; but all will be resurrected, and, except the sons of perdition, enter kingdoms, the least of which I presume is more glorious than ever John Wesley saw in vision. All the inhabitants of the earth will enter a glory, except the sons of perdition, or angels to the Devil. But where will they dwell? -- what shall be their fate before they are prepared for a kingdom of glory? They will be cast into prison, and there remain until they have paid the debt they have contracted; wherefore it is better to make peace with the officer while in the way with him, as Jesus has said.

Brigham Young, JD 8:198, 7 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...The nearest way to the center Stake of Zion was through Great Salt Lake City. ... Where is the center Stake of Zion? In Jackson County, Missouri. ... This is the land of Zion; and who are Zion? The pure in heart are Zion; they have Zion within them. Purify yourselves, sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, and have the Zion of God within you, and then you will rejoice more and more.

Brigham Young, JD 8:203, 8 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When the temple is built here, I want to maintain it for the use of the Priesthood: if this cannot be, I would rather not see it built, but go into the mountains and administer there in the ordinances of the holy Priesthood, which is our right and privilege.

Brigham Young, JD 8:208, 14 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Many of the sisters grieve because they are not blessed with offspring. You will see the time when you will have millions of children around you. If you are faithful to your covenants, you will be mothers of nations. You will become Eves to earths like this; and when you have assisted in peopling one earth, there are millions of earths still in the course of creation. And when they have endured a thousand million times longer than this earth, it is only as it were the beginning of your creations.

Brigham Young, JD 8:222, 21 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Man is the transgressor. Eve was the first to partake of the forbidden fruit, and the man was disposed to follow her, and did follow her; consequently, sin is in the world, and when redemption comes it must come by man. When we speak of law and the transgression of law, we refer to the law of God to man. I doubt whether it can be found, from the revelations that are given and the facts as they exist, that there is a female in all the regions of hell.

Brigham Young, JD 8:224, 21 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

As I have frequently told them, no man in this dispensation will enter the courts of heaven, without the approbation of the Prophet Joseph Smith, jun. ... If I ever pass into the heavenly courts, it will be by the consent of the Prophet Joseph. If you ever pass through the gates into the Holy City, you will do so upon his certificate that you are worthy to pass. Can you pass without this inspection? No; neither can any person in this dispensation, which is the dispensation of the fullness of times. In this generation, and in all generations that are to come, every one will have to undergo the scrutiny of this Prophet.

Brigham Young, JD 8:225, 21 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Our bodies are now mortal. In the resurrection there will be a reunion of the spirits and bodies, and they will walk, talk, eat, drink, and enjoy.

Brigham Young, JD 8:225, 21 Oct 1860, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Those who are resurrected will thus dictate in the Temple. When the Saints pass through death, they cannot officiate in this sinful world, but they will dictate those who are here. "Go, now, and be baptized for the honorable -- for those who would have received the law of God and the true religion, if they had lived; be baptized for the heathen -- for all who were honest; officiate for them, and save them, and bring them up. Be baptized for them, anointed for them, washed and sealed for them, and fulfill all the ordinances which cannot be dispensed with." They will all be performed for the living and the dead upon Mount Zion.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:240, 25 Nov 1860, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It will be with them as President Young was talking this morning about a certain class of individuals: there will be a dissolution, not only of the tabernacles, but of the spirits; for the body is not accountable to the spirit, but it is rendered accountable for the acts of the person that dwells in it -- that is, to some extent. ... There will probably be thousands who will be brought forth, in the resurrection, in their sins, and their conduct in life will have rendered them worthy of the second death.

Brigham Young, JD 8:344, 20 Jan 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

As soon as your spirits are unlocked from these tabernacles, you are in the spirit-world, and you will there have to contend against evil spirits as we here have to contend against wicked persons.

Brigham Young, JD 8:345, 20 Jan 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is no ecclesiastical law that you know anything about, to free a wife from a man to whom she has been sealed, if he honours his Priesthood.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 8:349, 17 Feb 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Then who is to gather the people of God? You all say that we are to become a kingdom of kings and priests -- of queens and priestesses; and the Bible supports this doctrine. Now, the truth is, you are the very kings and priests that have got to gather the Saints, and your wives have got to school them and nurse them. ... We are informed in the Bible that in the last days the sons of God shall be brought from afar, and his daughters from the ends of the earth; and also that the elect will be gathered from the four quarters of the globe.

Brigham Young, JD 8:351, 3 Mar 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Christians are exhorted to be faithful, for eventually Jesus will crown his brethren as kings and priests, -- not only the Twelve Apostles that brother Broderick referred to this morning, but also all that keep his commands and live faithfully to the requirements of the holy Gospel. We are exhorted to be steadfast and immovable, always abounding in good works.

Brigham Young, JD 8:352, 3 Mar 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Until the last spirit that has been designed to come here and take a tabernacle has come upon the earth, the winding up scene cannot come.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 8:354-355, 3 Mar 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The angels that now walk in their golden streets, and they [p.355] have the tree of life within their paradise, had to obtain that gold and put it there. When we have streets paved with gold, we will have placed it there ourselves. When we enjoy a Zion in its beauty and glory, it will be when we have built it.

George A. Smith, JD 9:69, 10 Mar 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When this people shall have learned to do the will of our Heavenly Father, and to be united in all things, then will be brought about the prediction that the wicked shall slay the wicked. The time is not far distant when the distressed of all nations will come from the east and from the west, from the north and from the south, and claim protection from the Saints of the Most High God.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:41, 17 Mar 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This brings to my mind the vision that Joseph Smith had, when he saw Adam open the gate of the Celestial City and admit the people one by one. He then saw Father Adam conduct them to the throne one by one, when they were crowned Kings and Priests of God. I merely bring this up to impress upon your mind the principles of order, but it will nevertheless apply to every member of the Church.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:42-43, 17 Mar 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Why, you will find the judgment of God coming upon those who blasphemed his name, and the United States will suffer, for they will be afflicted with wars and with trouble at home. While this is going on, the man who lives his religion and honors his calling will be prospered and go back to Jackson county, Missouri, with the faithful Elders, where they will receive their inheritances. They will then have to fulfill their covenants which they have made with the Lord their God, for these things will be required at our hands. None will be permitted to dwell there [in Jackson County] who will not observe the laws of the kingdom of God. And [p.43] remember, there is no other way to go to Jackson County but through Great Salt Lake City.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:7, 6 Apr 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Brother Wells was speaking of the extension of our settlements, that every inch of ground that is consecrated to God and the use of his Saints is redeemed from the power of Satan.

John Taylor, JD 9:12-13, 6 Apr 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Let the principles of union and faith be observed at your homes; and if you are men having families, let there be a daily incense arise from your family altar, and let your constant and daily prayer be, "God bless the Presidency of the [p.13] Church, God bless the Twelve, the Bishops, and all the constituted authorities of the Church, and the Lord give me wisdom to act according to their dictation, and the Lord bless all those that believe on their words."

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:25-26, 7 Apr 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

No man will become a king, only by honouring his calling, and by obtaining a crown by experience [p.26], and continuing in well-doing. There is no woman that will ever be a queen except she is a good woman and well attached to a good king.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:25, 7 Apr 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I am alluding to fathers and mothers -- to the Elders of Israel -- to men of God that have been anointed with a holy anointing, to be what? To be Priests of God. Live for it, and honour your present calling, and keep your election sure. If you were not elected in eternity, and to enlist under the banner of Christ; and finally we will all be elected, if we only take a course that is proper.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:25, 7 Apr 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I am a son of God; I came from him. I belong to the family of Christ, and I am an heir to all the promises with my Savior Jesus. If I am faithful, and do not do anything worse than I have done, I shall come off victoriously.

Brigham Young, JD 9:37, 7 Apr 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We must live by principle; and if we do, we shall attain to perfection -- to being crowned with crowns of glory, immortality, and eternal lives. I would rather be purified here than to live ten thousand years to attain the same point in another existence.

Brigham Young, JD 9:86-87, 7 May 1861, Mill Creek

What are the privileges of a Bishop? Has he the privilege of the administration of angels? Yes; this belongs to the lesser Priesthood. Has he the privilege of using the Urim and Thummim? Yes. The breastplate of Aaron that you read of in the Scriptures was a Urim and Thummim, fixed in bows similar to the one Joseph Smith found. Aaron wore this Urim and [p.87] Thummim on his breast, and looked into it like looking on a mirror, and the information he needed was there obtained.

Brigham Young, JD 9:87, 7 May 1861, Mill Creek

What ordination should a man receive to possess all the keys and powers of the Holy Priesthood that were delivered to the sons of Adam? He should be ordained an Apostle of Jesus Christ. That office puts him in possession of every key, every power, every authority, communication, benefit, blessing, glory, and kingdom that was ever revealed to man. That pertains to the office of an Apostle of Jesus Christ.

Brigham Young, JD 9:91, 7 May 1861, Mill Creek

Let a Quorum of High Priests go into an upper room, and there appear before the Lord in the garments of the holy Priesthood, and offer up before the Father, in the name of Jesus, the signs of the holy Priesthood, and then ask God to give a revelation concerning that doctrine, and they have a right to receive it. If you cannot get the information in any other way, suppose you were upon the islands of the sea, far away from the main body of the Church, you are entitled to the administration of angels who administer in the terrestrial kingdom; and they have a right to receive administrations from the celestial. In this capacity you could ask for revelations pertaining to doctrine.

Brigham Young, JD 9:137, 28 Jul 1861, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When will Zion be redeemed? When will the Savior make his appearance in the midst of his people? When will the vail be taken away, that we may behold the glory of God? Can any of you answer these questions? Yes, readily, when I tell you. The redemption of Zion is the first step preparatory to the two last-named events. Just as soon as the Latter-day Saints are ready and prepared to return to Independence, Jackson County, in the State of Missouri, North America, just so soon will the voice of the Lord be heard, "Arise now, Israel, and make your way to the center Stake of Zion." ... We must be pure to be prepared to build up Zion.

Brigham Young, JD 9:138, 28 Jul 1861, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We are gathering a few that will be faithful in the midst of this people, and prepare themselves to be crowned kings and priests unto God. ... Will all become kings and priests? No; not even all that will embrace the fullness of the Gospel.

Brigham Young, JD 9:138, 28 Jul 1861, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Zion will extend, eventually, all over this earth. There will be no nook or corner upon the earth but what will be in Zion. It will all be Zion.

Brigham Young, JD 9:139, 28 Jul 1861, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Some person holding the keys of the resurrection, having previously passed through that ordeal, will be delegated to resurrect our bodies, and our spirits will be there and prepared to enter into their bodies.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 9:163, 1 Dec 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If I have a blessing given to me by the holy Priesthood, or if I receive a blessing from a Patriarch, those gifts and blessings will reach into the other world; and if I am true to my covenants through this life, I can claim every blessing that has been conferred upon me, because that authority by which they were conferred is ordained of God; and it is that by which the sons of the Most High administer unto the children of men the ordinances of life and salvation; and those official acts will have their effect upon those persons beyond the grave as well as in this life. These are the true riches; they are riches that will last to all eternity, and we have power through these blessings, conferred by the Gospel, to receive our bodies again, and to preserve our identity in eternity.

Gospel Mysteries

Wilford Woodruff, JD 9:165, 1 Dec 1861, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is our duty to live in that way that we can have power to unlock and comprehend the mysteries of the kingdom of God...

Brigham Young, JD 9:147-148, 12 Jan 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The punishment of God is Godlike. It endures forever, because there never will be a time when people ought not to be damned, and there must always be a hell to send them to. How long the damned remain in hell, I know not, nor what degree of suffering they endure. ... [p.148] They will receive according as their deeds have been while in the body. God's punishment is eternal, but that does not prove that a wicked person will remain eternally in a state of punishment.

Brigham Young, JD 9:148, 12 Jan 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Father frequently came to visit his son Adam, and talked and walked with him; and the children of Adam were more or less acquainted with their Grandfather, and their children were more or less acquainted with their Great-Grandfather...

Brigham Young, JD 9:149, 12 Jan 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is no plan, no device, no possible way in which we can get rid of "Mormonism," only by taking the downward road which leads to hell, until spiritually and temporally the whole organized being is dissolved and the particles thereof have returned again to native elements. We read in the Scriptures of the second death not having power over certain ones. The first death is the separation of the spirit from the body; the second death is, as I have stated, the dissolution of the organized particles which compose the spirit, and their return to native element.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:101, 6 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

By observing strictly the precepts of the Gospel, we can learn how to live forever, and how to receive our tabernacles again in the morning of the first resurrection, to dwell on this earth for ever. To attain the possession of these blessings, we must live worthy of them.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:102, 6 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

One half of the people we gather may not be true Saints, but that makes no difference, for if there is not more than one Saint to ten who profess to be Saints, the Almighty will preserve the ten unworthy persons for the sake of the one good Saint.

Brigham Young, JD 9:192, 9 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

A thief may dig up dead bodies and sell them for the dissecting knife, or may take their raiment from them, but when the resurrection takes place, the Saints will come forth with all the glory, beauty, and excellency of resurrected Saints clothed as they were when they were laid away. ..I will promise you that they will be well clothed in the resurrection, for the earth and the elements around it are full of these things. All that is needed in power to bring forth those things necessary, as Jesus did when he fed the multitude with a few loaves and fishes, perhaps no more than would on ordinary occasions feed six men; he organized the elements around and fed five thousand. In the resurrection everything that is necessary will be brought from the elements to clothe and to beautify the resurrected Saints, who will receive their reward.

Brigham Young, JD 9:193, 9 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If the particles of which the body is composed are distributed to the four quarters of the earth, at the sound of the trumpet, when the dead are to come forth the dust that composed their bodies, that portion which is suffered to endure, will come from the ends of the earth, mote by mote, particle by particle, atom by atom, bone by bone, sinew to sinew, and flesh will cover them, and the same body will come forth in the resurrection, as much so as the body of Jesus came forth from the tomb.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:371, 9 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Joseph the Prophet said that our heavenly Father went on from one degree of knowledge to another until he obtained the knowledge that made him God. So also will it be with us, we shall have to advance from one degree of faith to another until we get that knowledge that will prepare us for exaltation in our Father's kingdom. But we must first prove ourselves in this state of probation, then we rise from step to step till we reach that position that is promised to the people of God.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:376, 9 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Some of you have got an idea that wool will not do; but let me inform you that when Peter came and sat in the Temple in Kirtland, he had on a neat woollen garment, nicely adjusted around the neck. ... To return to the subject of the garments of the Holy Priesthood, I will say that the one which Jesus had on when he appeared to the Prophet Joseph was neat and clean, and Peter had on the same kind, and he also had a key in his hand.

Brigham Young, JD 9:283, 23 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Man is the offspring of God. Who can fully realize this? Our Heavenly Father orders all things that pertain to this earth and to multitudes of worlds of which we are ignorant. We are as much the children of this great Being as we are the children of our mortal progenitors. We are flesh of his flesh, bone of his bone, and the same fluid that circulates in our bodies, called blood, once circulated in his veins as it does in ours.

Brigham Young, JD 9:286, 23 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Brother Kimball quoted a saying of Joseph the Prophet, that he would not worship a God who had not a Father; and I do not know that he would if he had not a mother; the one would be as absurd as the other.

Brigham Young, JD 9:286, 23 Feb 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

Our former religious traditions had taught us that our Father in heaven has no tabernacle, that his center is everywhere and his circumference is nowhere. Yet we read that "God came from Teman, and the Holy One from Mount Paran." "Before him went the pestilence, and burning coals went forth at his feet." "And the ancient of days did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool."

Brigham Young, JD 9:240, 2 Mar 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We wish a Temple, not for the public congregation, but for the Priesthood, wherein to arrange and organize fully the Priesthood in its order and degrees, to administer the ordinance of the Priesthood to the Saints for their exaltations.

Brigham Young, JD 9:246, 23 Mar 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The animal, vegetable, and mineral kingdoms abide the law of their Creator; the whole earth and all things pertaining to it, except man, abide the law of their creation.

Brigham Young, JD 9:243, 6 Apr 1862, Salt Lake City, Dedication of Theater

It is written, "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." Refuse evil, choose good, hate iniquity, love truth. All this our fathers have done before us; I do not particularly mean father Adam, or his Father; I do not particularly mean Abraham, or Moses, the Prophets, or Apostles, but I mean our fathers who have been exalted for millions of years previous to Adam's time. They have all passed through the same ordeals we are now passing through, and have searched all things, even to the depths of hell.

Brigham Young, JD 9:244, 6 Apr 1862, Salt Lake City, Dedication of Theater

There is no music in hell, for all good music belongs to heaven. Sweet harmonious sounds give exquisite joy to human beings capable of appreciating music.

Brigham Young, JD 9:269, 6 Apr 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

With the introduction of the Priesthood upon the earth was also introduced the sealing ordinance, that the chain of the Priesthood from Adam to the latest generation might be united in one unbroken continuance. It is the same power and the same keys that Elijah held, and was to exercise in the last days. ... I have had visions and revelations instructing me how to organize this people so that they can live like the family of heaven, but I cannot do it while so much selfishness and wickedness reign in the Elders of Israel.

Orson Hyde, JD 10:48, 6 Apr 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

May we not arrive at a point where we can secure the confidence of the Almighty, so that he will say, "Whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven. You know my policy; I have full confidence in you, indeed the light of Heaven shines in your hearts, and with this go and do as seemeth good unto you?"

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:299, 7 Apr 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He has said to his children ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and the door shall be opened unto you. But we may ask as much as we please if our works do not correspond with our petitions.

Daniel H. Wells, JD 9:302, 7 Apr 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I do not know but we are now building up a Temple in which may be revealed the keys of the resurrection of the dead.

Brigham Young, JD 9:290, 27 Apr 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Never give way to vain laughter. ... I noticed that the brethren gave way to that laugh which I choose not to hear. I hope they will accept of this caution and watch, govern, control and subdue their passions.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:44, 4 May 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Even in the endowments, there is not a solitary thing but what is an imitation of the Son or the Father in some way or other; and all this is done to keep us in remembrance of him.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:46, 4 May 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is great blessing to be placed upon the faithful men in the latter days -- they are to be sealed up unto eternal life, and against all sins and blasphemies, except the shedding of innocent blood, or consenting thereunto, which is the same in the eyes of God.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:327, 7 Jun 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Jesus took Peter, James and John into a high mountain, and there gave them their endowment, and placed upon them authority to lead the Church of God in all the world, to ordain men to the Priesthood, to set in order the Church and send forth the Elders of Israel to preach to a perishing world. For the same purpose has the Lord called us up into these high mountains, that we may become endowed with power from on high in the Church and kingdom of God, and become kings and priests unto God, which we never can be lawfully until we are ordained and sealed to that power, for the kingdom of God is a kingdom of kings and priests, and will rise in mighty power in the last days.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 9:328, 7 Jun 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The majority of this people are a righteous people, and God will defend the righteous, and for the righteous' sake preserve a great many for the time being that are not righteous; for he [God] has great respect for his friends -- for his anointed -- for the elect whose lives have been hid with Christ in God, and none of these will be lost because Jesus Christ saves all whom the Father has put in his power.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 10:28, 8 Jun 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is the calling of the wife and mother to know what to do with everything that is brought into the house, laboring to make her home desirable to her husband and children, making herself an Eve in the midst of a little paradise of her own creating, securing her husband's love and confidence, and tying her offspring to herself, with a love that is stronger than death, for an everlasting inheritance.

Brigham Young, JD 10:30, 8 Jun 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is our business to live, to learn how to preserve our lives, and labor to make the earth into a Garden of Eden; unless we do this, we are unworthy to possess eternal life.

Brigham Young, JD 10:30, 8 Jun 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We thus proceed from one step to another until we merge into immortality. We do not become another kind of beings in passing through the resurrection, but we are more refined through the application of the laws of the Gospel to our lives and passing through the grave. The grave will take away every deformity from the mortal organisms of the faithful, and they will be perfect as our Father in heaven is perfect.

Brigham Young, JD 9:320, 6 Jul 1862, Bowery

Monogamy, or restrictions by law to one wife, is no part of the economy of Heaven among men.

Brigham Young, JD 9:314, 13 Jul 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

All must have the privilege of proving to God and angels what they will do with the talent and ability God has given them, whether they will waste their blessings in pandering to unholy appetites or use them in the way God has designed they should. This is one great reason why men are permitted to do as they do.

Brigham Young, JD 9:315, 13 Jul 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The glory of those who are not permitted to enter into the presence of the Father and the Son will be greater than mortals can imagine, in glory, excellency, exquisite pleasure, and intense bliss. It has not entered into the heart of man to conceive of the greatness of their glory. But the glory of those who enter into the presence of God exceeds all these in glory, as the light of the sun exceeds the light of the moon and stars. All these different glories are ordained to fit the capacities and conditions of men.

Brigham Young, JD 9:317, 13 Jul 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Be this as it may, there are no bounds to the elements that compose worlds like this. This earthly ball, this little opake substance thrown off into space, is only a speck in the great universe; and when it is celestialized it will go back into the presence of God, where it was first framed.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 10:12, 27 Jul 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We also know that any man who receives this Priesthood, and is faithful thereunto, will receive the same blessings and power in any and every age of the world.

Brigham Young, JD 10:2, 28 Sep 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

God is the Father of our spirits, which are clothed upon by fleshly bodies, begotten for us by our earthly fathers. Jesus is our elder Brother spirit clothed upon with an earthly body begotten by the Father of our spirits.

Brigham Young, JD 10:4, 28 Sep 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

God foreknows all, and has predestinated all who believe the truth to the possession of eternal life, and this in short is all there is of it.

Brigham Young, JD 10:4, 28 Sep 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There is no mystery in the Gospel of salvation for those who are heirs of salvation, and they can readily comprehend the truth in many places of the Bible where the language does not do justice to the principles designed to be set forth.

Brigham Young, JD 10:18, 6 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Hear it, ye Saints, that man or woman who is crowned with crowns of glory, immortality and eternal lives will never be heard to grumble or complain.

Brigham Young, JD 10:23, 6 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Jesus Christ made water into wine by calling together from the elements the properties of wine. He fed thousands of people with five loaves and two small fishes by calling the elements together to compose bread and fish; and he says, "Greater works than these shall ye do, because I go to the Father." It is our privilege and our duty to continue to learn, and we shall have wisdom enough to command the elements as he did, and until the earth is brought back to its paradisiacal state. But we must first redeem ourselves from every root of bitterness that may be in our nature, striving daily to overcome the evil that is in the world and in ourselves, sanctifying our hearts and affections until there shall be nothing abiding in us contrary to the Holy Ghost in its perfect and full fruition of enjoyment to the creature.

Brigham Young, JD 10:24, 6 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Those who attain to the blessing of the first or celestial resurrection will be pure and holy, and perfect in body. Every man and woman that reaches to this unspeakable attainment will be as beautiful as the angels that surround the throne of God. If you can, by faithfulness in this life, obtain the right to come up in the morning of the resurrection, you need entertain no fears that the wife will be dissatisfied with her husband, or the husband with the wife; for those of the first resurrection will be free from sin and from the consequences and power of sin.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:76, 6 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When we went on that journey, Joseph told us there was an endowment laid up for us; for what? Because we had done just as we were told; and I can bear testimony that we received that endowment. Have we got through with our endowments? No, we have not; we have only just commenced, merely received the initiative ordinances, and we are only children in these things yet, but if we are faithful, we shall receive all that our hearts can desire, for the Almighty will withhold no good thing from them that love him and keep his commandments.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:78, 6 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

In regard to this work, I know that it will roll on, and the kingdom will be built up, the elect gathered, and the chosen ones go back to the center stake of Zion. There are a great many that are remaining in the States till we go back, but I can tell them they will have to come here, for this is the only way there is for the true Saints to get to Jackson County, and they will find it out to be so in due time.

Charles C. Rich, JD 10:94-95, 6 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Bowery

All that wisdom and knowledge which we have obtained we will carry with us to the spirit world, and this, you can readily perceive, would make just about such a heaven on the other [p. 95] side of the vail as we have made on this side. I do not think we would make it much different. Of course we will have to learn beyond the vail as much so as we have need of learning while here.

Amasa M. Lyman, JD 10:85, 7 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

People talk about going to heaven, but when we find ourselves in heaven we shall find that we have reached it without going to it. Heaven is a development of internal powers and external changes.

Amasa M. Lyman, JD 10:89, 7 Oct 1862, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Prophet Joseph [Smith] once took me by the arm in the street, and said, "I have so many blessings, and there is nothing but what you can enjoy in your time and place the same as I do, and so can every man."

Brigham Young, JD 10:104, 8 Mar 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The people want to know a great deal -- they want to know all, but it cannot all be learned in one day nor in a short period of time. We expect to learn to all eternity.

Brigham Young, JD 10:109, 8 Mar 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

As for offering refutations to charges made against us, it would be impossible to keep pace with the thousands of freshly invented falsehoods that the powers spiritual and the powers temporal would produce to feed the credulity of the masses.

Brigham Young, JD 10:110, 8 Mar 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Shall I tell you the law of God in regard to the African race? If the white man who belongs to the chosen seed, mixes his blood with the seed of Cain, the penalty, under the law of God, is death on the spot. This will always be so.

Brigham Young, JD 10:111, 8 Mar 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Purify your flesh and blood, your spirits, your habitations and your country, and then you will be pure before God. This change has got to be before this earth will be taken back into a celestial atmosphere.

John Taylor, JD 10:149-150, 6 Apr 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

It is a nice thing to get our endowments, and there is something yet to be got which we have not yet received. The Scripture says, "First temporal and then spiritual," and the temporal things are mixed up with spiritual things; but before we are worthy of the one we must take hold of the other. ... By and bye you will go into that Temple, and when you have received your endowments in it and the spiritual blessings that you can get, you will learn more about building another Temple, and then will come temporal things again. The Temple we are now building, in [p. 150] comparison, is no more than a little plaything, but in doing it we shall learn better how to perform temporal things and spiritual things.

Ezra T. Benson, JD 10:153, 6 Apr 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Do we expect to realize a fullness of these blessings today. No, but we expect to realize some of them -- a little today and a little more tomorrow, and thus go on from step to step and from grace to grace until we find ourselves safely landed back in the presence of our Father in heaven.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:165, 6 Apr 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There are but few here who received the endowment that was given in the Temple at Kirtland; many of those who did receive it are dead, quite a number are turned away, for the apostasy was very great in those days considering the number of the people, hence there are but few now with us who partook of that endowment. There are still other endowments that were given to a very few in Nauvoo, and which we do not give here at present, but which will be given to the faithful when that Temple is finished, if not before.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:166, 6 Apr 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Gospel Mysteries

Have you not had your endowments, sisters, and been sealed to your husbands? Yes, many of you have, and now let me ask if there is anything more than what you have received, any further ordinances to be received? Yes, lots of them. There were but a hundred and thirty who received a part in advance of the ordinances of endowment that were revealed by the Prophet Joseph. Bless you, it will be one endowment after another till we pass through the vail into the other world, and until we have passed all the ordeals requisite to prepare us to enter into celestial glory and exaltation.

Charles C. Rich, JD 10:162, 7 Apr 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

If we do not gain experience and obtain the necessary endowments as we pass along, we shall find ourselves very poorly prepared for the great and glorious endowments that are to be received in that Temple. If we do not prepare ourselves, those endowments, if we are permitted to receive them at all, will be no better for us than the endowments given to some men in Nauvoo -- that it, they will prove a curse instead of a blessing.

Brigham Young, JD 10:221, 20 Apr 1863, American Fork

We may rejoice greatly in the possession of the spirit of truth, and in the power of God, which elevates the soul to the contemplation of heavenly things, but it does not teach men how to raise corn. The Lord could impart this information in a special revelation, the same as he instructed Adam and Eve how to cover their nakedness. He showed them how to make aprons of leaves and then coats of skins, and instructed Adam in extracting the metals from their ores, the same as one man instructs another.

Brigham Young, JD 10:221, 20 Apr 1863, American Fork

We shall never see the time when we shall not need to be taught, nor when there will not be an object to be gained. I never expect to see the time that there will not be a superior knowledge, and, consequently, incitements to further progress and further improvements.

Brigham Young, JD 10:222, 20 Apr 1863, American Fork

The world is wrong and we have to right it under the direction of Heaven. For this purpose are we located upon the land of Zion, and the land of Zion is North and South America -- the land where our heavenly Father made his appearance and planted the Garden of Eden.

Brigham Young, JD 10:172, 24 May 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Those who are counted worthy to dwell with the Father and the Son have previously received an education fitting them for that society; they have been made fully acquainted with every pass-word, token and sign which have enabled them to pass by the porters through the doors into the celestial kingdom.

Brigham Young, JD 10:173, 24 May 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I will put my own definition to the term sanctification, and say it consists in overcoming every sin and bringing all into subjection to the law of Christ. ... All the Lord has called us to do is to renovate our own hearts, then our families, extending the principles to neighborhoods, to the earth we occupy, and so continue until we drive the power of Satan from the earth and Satan to his own place. That is the work Jesus is engaged in, and we will be co-workers with him. Do not suppose that we shall ever in the flesh be free from temptations to sin. Some suppose that they can in the flesh be sanctified body and spirit and become so pure that they will never again feel the effects of the power of the adversary of truth. Were it possible for a person to attain to this degree of perfection in the flesh, he could not die neither remain in a world where sin predominates.

Brigham Young, JD 10:175, 24 May 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I suppose that God never organized an earth and peopled it that was ever reduced to a lower state of darkness, sin and ignorance than this. I suppose this is one of the lowest kingdoms that ever the Lord Almighty created, and on that account is capable of becoming exalted to be one of the highest kingdoms that has ever had an exaltation in all the eternities.

Brigham Young, JD 10:188, 31 May 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The sons of Ephraim are wild and uncultivated, unruly, ungovernable. The spirit in them is turbulent and resolute; they are the Anglo-Saxon race, and they are upon the face of the whole earth, bearing the spirit of rule and dictation, to go forth from conquering to conquer.

Brigham Young, JD 10:191, 31 May 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The Father is a perfect man in every part, a person of tabernacle endowed with all the features and attributes of a perfect being.

Brigham Young, JD 10:300, 4 Jun 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It has been observed that we have made covenants to do thus and so, and that we ought not to speak against the Lord and his anointed.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 10:217, 12 Jun 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

No man ever did or ever will obtain salvation only through the ordinances of the Gospel and through the name of Jesus. There can be no change in the Gospel; all men that are saved from Adam to infinitum are saved by the one system of salvation.

Brigham Young, JD 10:211, 14 Jun 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

What I possess, whether wives and children, goods and chattels, will not be mine, in the strict sense of the word, until I have passed all the ordeals that God has ordained that his children shall pass; until I have overcome every sin and every obstacle to my being crowned in the celestial kingdom of our Father and God. If I am unfaithful with that which God has put in my possession, it will be taken from me and be given to another.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:235, 27 Jun 1863, Provo

I might say much more upon this subject, but I will ask, has it not been imitated before you in your holy endowments so that you might understand how things were in the beginning of creation and cultivation of this earth? God the Father made Adam the Lord of this creation in the beginning, and if we are the Lords of this creation under Adam, ought we not to take a course to imitate our Father in heaven? Is not all this exhibited to us in our endowments?

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:235, 27 Jun 1863, Provo

And I will say more, the spot chosen for the garden of Eden was Jackson County, in the State of Missouri, where Independence now stands; it was occupied in the morn of creation by Adam and his associates who came with him for the express purpose of peopling this earth.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:237, 27 Jun 1863, Provo

Who are angels? They are sanctified men who once lived upon this earth and held the Priesthood just as we do now, and who are co-workers with us.
Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:240-241, 19 Jul 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When the kingdom of God is organized upon the earth, it is done to protect the Church of Christ in its rights and privileges, so that you see the [p. 241] Church makes a government to protect itself, but who knows what that government is? All those to whom it has been revealed, and no others.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 10:241, 19 Jul 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Think of your holy endowments and what you have been anointed to become, and reflect upon the blessings which have been placed upon you, for they are the same in part that were placed upon Jesus; he was the one that inducted his Apostles into these ordinances; it was he who set up the kingdom of which we are subjects.

Brigham Young, JD 10:251, 6 Oct 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Righteousness tends to an eternal duration of organized intelligence, while sin bringeth to pass their dissolution.

Brigham Young, JD 10:252, 6 Oct 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There are places on the earth where the Lord can come and dwell, if he pleases. They may be found on the tops of high mountains, or in some cavern or places where sinful man has never marked the soil with his polluted feet.

Brigham Young, JD 10:254, 6 Oct 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There are some of the sealing ordinances that cannot be administered in the house that we are now using; we can only administer in it some of the first ordinances of the Priesthood pertaining to the endowment. There are more advanced ordinances that cannot be administered there...

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 10:254, 6 Oct 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Some of us are not dependent on the Temple for our endowment blessings, for we have received them under the hands of Joseph the Prophet, and know where to go to bestow the same on others. You may ask me whether the leaders of this Church have received all their endowment blessings. I think we have got all that you can get in your probation, if you live to be the age of Methuselah; and we can give what we possess to others who are worthy.

Brigham Young, JD 10:267, 6 Oct 1863, Salt Lake City, Bowery

When God bestows upon us our power to command the elements -- to speak, and the soil is formed and filled with fertility -- to speak, and the rain descends upon it to moisten and germinate the seed that we have planted and to nourish it until it ripens its golden fruit, then shall we possess true riches, and not until then. When we possess this power by the irrevocable decree of heaven, we possess wealth that cannot take the wings of the morning and leave us poor indeed.

Brigham Young, JD 10:288, 6 Nov 1863, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Instead of the righteous being bound tighter and tighter, they will continue to have more and more liberty, as we are more and more faithful, and obtain more power with the heavens and more of the power of God upon us. Let us seek diligently unto the Lord, until we obtain the faith of Jesus in its fullness, for those who possess this are free indeed.

Brigham Young, JD 10:309, Jun 1864

Most of you, my brethren, are Elders, Seventies, or High Priests; perhaps there is not a Priest or Teacher present. The reason of this is that when we give the brethren their endowments, we are obliged to confer upon them the Melchisedec Priesthood; but I expect to see the day when we shall be so situated that we can say to a company of brethren you can go and receive the ordinances pertaining to the Aaronic order of Priesthood, and then you can go into the world and preach the Gospel; or do something that will prove whether you will honor that Priesthood before you receive more. Now we pass them through the ordinances of both Priesthoods in one day, but this is not as it should be and would if we had a Temple wherein to administer these ordinances.

orge Q. Cannon, JD 11:30, 13 Nov 1864, Kaysville

I have no doubt that many of my brethren and sisters have sensibly felt in various places and at various times evil influences around them. Brother Joseph Smith gave an explanation of this. There are places in the Mississippi Valley where the influence or the presence of invisible spirits are very perceptibly felt. He said that numbers had been slain there in war, and that there were evil influences or spirits which affect the spirits of those who have tabernacles on the earth. ... I have come to the conclusion that if our eyes were open to see the spirit world around us, we should feel differently on this subject than we do; we would not be so unguarded and careless, and so indifferent whether we had the spirit or not; but we would be continually watchful and prayerful to our heavenly Father for His Holy Spirit and His holy angels to be around about us to strengthen us to overcome every evil influence.

George Q. Cannon, JD 11:31-32, 13 Nov 1864, Kaysville

We have had line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little, and there a little, from the beginning unto the present time, and there never was a day, an hour, a moment, from the organization of this Church unto the present time that we, as a people, have been destitute of the voice of God and the instruction of the Holy Ghost. While this is the case, and we have abundance of teaching poured out upon us, and we should refuse to obey any of them, we need not expect visitations from higher personages, coming down to administer unto us and impart unto us things that we could know, if we would only learn to be obedient [p.32] to the counsels and instructions we now receive.

George A. Smith, JD 11:10, 15 Nov 1864, Ogden, Tabernacle

I have always heard it suggested that as the spirit of "Mormonism" gathered together the seed of Abraham -- mostly the sons of Abraham that are mixed among the nations; that the Holy Spirit falling upon men, who are not of the pure blood, who had the predominance of other blood in their veins, that the manifestation is greater, and when great manifestations fall on men, great trials immediately follow.

Brigham Young, JD 11:15, 11 Dec 1864, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When an angel is appointed to perform a duty, to go to the earth to preach the Gospel, or to do anything for the advancement of his Father's kingdom in any part of the great domain of heaven, the vision of that angel is opened to see and understand the magnitude of the work that is expected of him to perform, and the grand results which will grow out of it. That is the reason why the angels are of one heart and of one mind, in their faithfulness and obedience to the requirements of their Father and God. They can desire and ask for nothing that will make them happy, good and great that is withheld from them; and life eternal is theirs.

Brigham Young, JD 11:15, 11 Dec 1864, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Remarks have been made as to our staying here [in Utah]. I will tell you how long we will stay here. If we live our religion, we shall stay here in these mountains forever and forever, worlds without end, and a portion of the Priesthood will go and redeem and build up the center Stake of Zion.

John Taylor, JD 11:27, 11 Dec 1864, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...We are also attending to other things, we are securing to ourselves an everlasting exaltation, we are learning God and His laws, and the whisperings of His Spirit, whereby we can be saved and exalted and be brought to a closer union and connection with Him by covenants and ordinances, and anointings, and endowments, and blessings, that He is revealing and unfolding.

Brigham Young, JD 11:40-41, 8 Jan 1865, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

If our Father and God should be disposed to walk through one of these aisles, we should not know him from one of the congregation. You would see a man, and that is all you would know about him; you would merely know Him as a stranger from some neighboring city or country. This is the character of Him whom we worship and acknowledge as our Father and God: when He is disposed to visit a house, a neighborhood, or a congregation, He does it at His pleasure; and although He may be seen by mortals in this character, yet no man can see Him in His glory and live. When the Lord sends an angel to visit men, He gives him power and authority to appear to the people as a man, and not as an angel in his glory; for we could not [p.41] endure the presence even of an angel in his glory. No mortal man has ever seen God in His glory at any time and lived. We may have seen the Lord and angels many times, and did not know it.

Brigham Young, JD 11:43, 8 Jan 1865, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We read that there is nothing impossible with God. In a broad sense there is not; but in another sense there are things he never attempted and never will. He will not exalt a spirit to thrones, to immortality, and eternal lives, unless that spirit is first clothed in mortal flesh, and with it, passes through a mortal probation, and overcomes the world, the flesh, and the devil through the atonement made by Jesus Christ and the power of the Gospel. The spirit must be clothed as He is, or it never can be glorified with him.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 11:66, 22 Jan 1865, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When the first missionaries went to England, disembodied spirits sought to destroy them, and had there not been an angel of salvation present, they would have been slain; nothing but the power of God saved them. ... Sometimes they [evil spirits] are invisible, and sometimes they are in the tabernacles of men.

John Taylor, JD 11:77, 5 Feb 1865, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

My understanding of the thing is, that God has made each man a register within himself, and each man can read his own register, so far as he enjoys his perfect faculties.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 11:81, 19 Feb 1865, Centerville

We are the sons and daughters of God; we have proceeded from him through the laws of generation, the same as my children have proceeded from me. God is the great father of our race, and as a man is not perfect without the woman, neither is the woman without the man in the Lord; they depend upon each other, and are necessary to each other for the propagation of our species.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 11:81, 19 Feb 1865, Centerville

The Priesthood is also with the woman, because she is connected with the man, and the man is connected with his God. Being so connected, we must all be honorable if we are good.

Brigham Young, JD 11:117, Jun or Jul 1865

Gospel Mysteries

I expect to obtain the same as Abraham obtained by faith and prayer, also the same as Isaac and Jacob obtained; but there are few who live for the blessings of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob after they are sealed upon them. No blessing that is sealed upon us will do us any good, unless we live for it.

Brigham Young, JD 11:118, Jun or Jul 1865

Abraham was faithful to the true God, he overthrew the idols of his father and obtained the Priesthood after the order of Melchisedek, which is after the order of the Son of God, and a promise that of the increase of his seed there should be no end; when you obtain the Holy Priesthood, which is after the order of Melchizedek, sealed upon you, and the promise that your seed shall be numerous as the stars in the firmament, or as the sands upon the sea shore, and of your increase there shall be no end, you have then got the promise of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and all the blessings that were conferred upon them. How many of the youth of our land are entitled to all the blessings of the kingdom of Heaven, without first receiving the law of adoption? When a man and woman have received their endowments and sealings, and then had children born to them afterwards, those children are legal heirs to the kingdom and to all its blessings and promises, and they are the only ones that are on this earth.

Brigham Young, JD 11:121, 18 Jun 1865, Salt Lake City, Bowery

In all my public administration as a minister of truth, I have never yet been under the necessity of preaching, believing or practicing doctrines that are not fully and clearly set forth in the Old and New Testaments, Book of Doctrine and Covenants, and Book of Mormon.

Brigham Young, JD 11:122-123, 18 Jun 1865, Salt Lake City, Bowery

He created man, as we create our children; for there is no other process of creation in heaven, on the earth, in the earth, or under the earth, or in all the eternities, that is, that were, or that ever will be. ... There exist fixed laws and regulations by which the elements are fashioned to fulfill their destiny in all the varied kingdoms and orders of creation, and this process of creation is from everlasting to everlasting. ... "And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and begat a son in his own likeness, after his own image." I am quite satisfied to be made aware by the scriptures, and [p.123] by the spirit of God, that He is not only the God and Father of Jesus Christ, but is also the Father of our spirits and the Creator of our bodies which bear His image as Seth bore the image of his father Adam.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 11:144, 6 Oct 1865, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We are made one with the Father and the Son by observing His word, His law and His ordinances.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 11:145, 6 Oct 1865, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The majority of the members of this Church are the very elect of our God. There are some that are not so good, who care not for God, for His servant Brigham, for Heber, nor for the Twelve Apostles. But the day will come when the Lord will choose a people out of this people, upon whom he will bestow his choicest blessings.

Gospel Mysteries

John Taylor, JD 11:163-164, 7 Oct 1865, Salt Lake City, Bowery

As God is our Father, and the organizer of these bodies, and of this [p.164] earth on which we live, He wants to teach us all, principles that will be calculated to exalt us and exalt the earth on which we live.

John Taylor, JD 11:163, 7 Oct 1865, Salt Lake City, Bowery

We emanated from Him; we are His children, and not only His children temporally and spiritually, but we are united to Him by covenant to serve Him; we have covenanted to serve Him in baptism; we have covenanted to serve Him in our endowments, to keep His commandments, and walk according to the laws of life.

Daniel H. Wells, JD 11:183, 8 Oct 1865, Salt Lake City, Bowery, Conference

How are we to learn God whom to know is eternal life? We learn to know Him through the principles of the Gospel. He is revealed to man through the authority of the Holy Priesthood, which has been established among the children of men through the revelations of the Lord Jesus Christ to His servants.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 11:211, 4 Apr 1866, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If our wives would remember and keep faithfully the covenant they have made, they would observe the laws of their husbands, and teach their children to honor every law of God, and to love, honor, and obey their earthly father. If I keep my covenants, I shall be saved in the presence of God; if I violate them, I shall be damned; and so it will be with my family; and what applies to me in this respect will apply to all.

John Taylor, JD 11:222, 7 Apr 1866, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Then what did this principle [sealing] open up to our view? That our wives, who have been associated with us in time -- who had borne with us the heat and burden of the day, who had shared in our afflictions, trials, troubles, and difficulties, that they could reign with us in the eternal kingdoms of God, and that they should be sealed to us not only for time, but for all eternity.

Brigham Young, JD 11:215, 29 Apr 1866, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I could say something encouraging to parents, if they would heed. Let the father and mother, who are members of this Church and kingdom, take a righteous course, and strive with all their might never to do a wrong, but to do good all their lives; if they have one child or one hundred children, if they conduct themselves towards them as they should, binding them to the Lord by their faith and prayers, I care not where those children go, they are bound up to their parents by an everlasting tie, and no power of earth or hell can separate them from their parents in eternity; they will return again to the fountain from whence they sprang.

Brigham Young, JD 11:249, 17 Jun 1866, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...The Great architect, manager and superintendent, controller and dictator who guides this work is out of sight to our natural eyes. He lives on another planet; he is in another state of existence; he has passed the ordeals we are now passing through; he has received an experience, has suffered and enjoyed, and knows all that we know regarding the toils, sufferings, life and death of this mortality, for he has passed through the whole of it, and has received his crown and exaltation, and holds the keys and the power of this kingdom; he sways his scepter, and does his will among the children of men, among Saints and among sinners, and brings forth results to suit his purpose among kingdoms and nations and empires, that all may redound to his glory and to the perfection of his work.

Brigham Young, JD 11:262, 12 Aug 1866, Salt Lake City, Bowery

There is also a man down the street who tried to exhibit the endowments to a party who was here. You will see what becomes of that man. Do not touch him. He has forfeited every right and title to eternal life; but let him alone, and you will see by and by what will become of him.

Brigham Young, JD 11:268, 19 Aug 1866, Salt Lake City, Bowery

If it is wrong for a man to have more than one wife at a time, the Lord will reveal it by and by, and he will put it away that it will not be known in the Church.

Brigham Young, JD 11:269, 19 Aug 1866, Salt Lake City, Bowery

The only men who become Gods, even the Sons of God, are those who enter into polygamy. Others attain unto a glory and may even be permitted to come into the presence of the Father and the Son; but they cannot reign as kings in glory, because they had the blessings offered unto them, and they refused to accept them.

Brigham Young, JD 11:271, 19 Aug 1866, Salt Lake City, Bowery

By and by the word will be given to me and my brethren to arise from the dead in the first resurrection, and receive the keys thereof, and go and call forth the rest.

Brigham Young, JD 11:272, 19 Aug 1866, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Why are so many of the inhabitants of the earth cursed with a skin of blackness? It comes in consequence of their fathers rejecting the power of the Holy Priesthood, and the law of God. They will go down to death. And when all the rest of the children have received their blessings in the Holy Priesthood, then that curse will be removed from the seed of Cain, and they will then come up and possess the priesthood, and receive all the blessings which we now are entitled to.

Brigham Young, JD 11:283, 13 Jan 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Gospel Mysteries

There are some of our Elders who will argue themselves into false doctrine by giving an undue preference to one scripture and passing over others equally as important.

Brigham Young, JD 11:286, 13 Jan 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Some men seem as if they could learn so much and no more. They appear to be bounded in their capacity for acquiring knowledge, as Brother Orson Pratt, has in theory, bounded the capacity of God. According to his theory, God can progress no further in knowledge and power; but the God that I serve is progressing eternally, and so are his children: they will increase to all eternity, if they are faithful.

Brigham Young, JD 11:290, 13 Jan 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If the spirit yields to the body, it becomes corrupt; but if the body yields to the spirit it becomes pure and holy, and is fitted to come forth with the just in the morning of the first resurrection, and to dwell with the sanctified; otherwise we cannot be prepared for this glory.

Brigham Young, JD 11:297, 3 Feb 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...No such man [greedy and exploitative] ever can magnify the priesthood nor enter the celestial kingdom. Now, remember, they will not enter that kingdom; and if they happen to go there, it will be because somebody takes them by the hand, saying, "I want you for a servant;" or, "Master, will you let this man pass in my service?" "Yes, he may go into your service; but he is not fit for a lord, nor a master, nor fit to be crowned;" and if such men get there, it will be because somebody takes them in [to the celestial kingdom] as servants.

Brigham Young, JD 11:301, 3 Feb 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The same will apply to our mechanics -- if they will not labor for the building up of this kingdom, instead of working to get rich, they will miss the gate of the celestial kingdom, and will not get in there unless we take them in for servants.

Brigham Young, JD 11:324, 10 Feb 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Of the great many who have been baptized into this Church, but few have been able to abide the word of the Lord; they have fallen out on the right and on the left, and have foundered by the way, and a few have gathered together. Will these be prepared to enter the celestial kingdom? Some of them will be, and will become kings and priests; but not all of these, only a portion of them.

Brigham Young, JD 11:328, 10 Feb 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We are trying to teach this people to use their brains, that they may obtain knowledge and wisdom to sustain themselves and to dictate for others; that they may be worthy to be made kings and priests to God, which they never can be unless they learn, here or somewhere else, to govern, manage, legislate, and sustain themselves, their families, and friends, even to the making of nations, and nation after nation. If they cannot attain to this, they will have to be servants somewhere.

Brigham Young, JD 11:349, 6 Apr 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We must not get down and pray, and then get right up and let our actions say we do not believe a word of our prayer; but all the acts of our lives must be concentrated on the building up of the Kingdom of God, then we shall be His disciples in very deed.

Brigham Young, JD 12:28, 7 Apr 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If a person is weary, worn out, cast down, fainting, or dying, a brandy sling, a little wine, or a cup of tea is good to revive them. Do not throw these things away, and say they must never be used; they are good to be used with judgment, prudence, and discretion.

Brigham Young, JD 11:372, 8 Apr 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

They receive more in the House of the Lord now than is their due. Our brethren and sisters, baptized three, four, or six months ago, go and get their endowments, the sealing blessings for all eternity, the highest that can be conferred upon them, yet how lightly they are treated.

Brigham Young, JD 12:35, 14 Apr 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We never shall become one to that extent that we shall look alike or possess precisely the same mental power and ability; this is not the design of Heaven.

Brigham Young, JD 12:37, 14 Apr 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You may think that these things [of the Word of Wisdom] are not of much importance; no more they are, unless they are observed, but let the people observe them and they lay the foundation for longevity, and they will begin to live out their days, not only a hundred years, but, by and bye, hundreds of years on the earth. Do you think they will stuff themselves then with tea, and coffee, and perhaps with a little brandy sling before breakfast and a little before going to bed, and then beef, pork, mutton, sweetmeats, and pastry, morning, noon, and night? No; you will find they will live as our first parents did, on fruits and on a little simple food, and they will never overload the stomach.

Brigham Young, JD 12:63, 16 Jun 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Lord is merciful, but, when He comes to His Kingdom on the earth, He will banish traitors from His presence, and they will be sons of perdition. Every apostate who ever received this gospel in faith, and had the spirit of it, will have to repent in sackcloth and ashes, and sacrifice all he possesses, or be a son of perdition, go down to hell, and there dwell with the damned; and those who persecute and destroy the people of God, and shed the blood of innocence, will be judged accordingly.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 12:68, 23 Jun 1867, Salt Lake City, Bowery

Do we find any curious ideas advanced in our day? Yes, I can relate a circumstance that I once heard myself, from one of the first elders in this church. He was preaching to the people on the principle of adultery, and told them that, according to the law of the Lord, whosoever commits adultery shall have his blood shed. But the idea striking him that millions had committed this crime whose blood had never been shed, he thought this could not be correct, and so to improve it he said if their blood was not shed in this life it would be in the resurrection. What an absurdity! There is no blood there [in the resurrection]. Flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God.

Brigham Young, JD 12:94, 30 Jun 1867, Salt Lake City, Bowery

What will the devil do with such characters [apostates]? Will he have them in his kingdom? Yes, he will be obliged to, because he is an apostate himself. He [Satan] apostatized from the Celestial Kingdom, and was thrust down to hell.

Brigham Young, JD 12:97, 30 Jun 1867, Salt Lake City, Bowery

I ask this question of you, mother Eves, every one of you. If you are not sanctified and prepared, you ought to be sanctifying and preparing yourselves for the blessings in store for you when it will be said of you, this is Eve. Why? Because you are the mother of all living. You might as well prepare first as last. If you wish to be Eves and mothers of human families you ought to bear the burden.

Daniel H. Wells, JD 12:134, 18 Aug 1867, Salt Lake City, Bowery

You should always put forth the right hand when taking either the bread or the cup; and you should take off your hats if you have them on, and partake of the consecrated emblems with reverence, and remember that you do it in commemoration of the death, sufferings, and resurrection of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, who will yet rule and reign on this earth, King of kings and Lord of lords.

Daniel H. Wells, JD 12:134, 18 Aug 1867, Salt Lake City, Bowery

In this dispensation will be revealed the keys of the resurrection, which will enable men to go forth clothed with power to raise and bring forth the dead.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:313, 7 Oct 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The time will come when the faith of this people, the pure in heart, will be sufficiently great that when they build a house to the name of the Lord, and do not suffer any unclean thing to enter therein, that the Lord will come and grace it with his presence, as well as by the presence of his angels. That will be the time when the pure in heart, who enter into the house of God, will behold his face.

Gospel Mysteries

Orson Pratt, JD 19:320, 7 Oct 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Let us look at the inscription that John says was written on their [the 144,000] foreheads. That will tell us that the name of their Father was written there. What was his name? God, translated into the English language. Ahman in the pure language. The Father's name John saw inscribed on the foreheads of the hundred and forty-four thousand who were singing the new song before the Lord.

Brigham Young, JD 12:101, 17 Nov 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We receive the Gospel, not that we may have our names written in the Lamb's book of life, but that our names may not be blotted out of that book. "For," saith the Lord, "He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment, and I will not blot his name out of the book of life." Why? Because he had overcome through his faithfulness. My doctrine is -- that there never was a son and daughter of Adam and Eve born on this earth whose names were not already written in the Lamb's book of life, and there they will remain until their conduct is such that the angel who keeps the record is authorized to blot them out and record them elsewhere.

Brigham Young, JD 12:103, 17 Nov 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Let no person give up prayer because he has not the spirit of prayer, neither let any earthly circumstance hurry you while in the performance of this important duty. By bowing down before the Lord to ask Him to bless you, you will simply find this result -- God will multiply blessings on you temporally and spiritually.

Brigham Young, JD 12:103, 17 Nov 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When men and women have travelled to a certain point in their labors in this life, God sets a seal upon them that they never can forsake their God or His kingdom; for, rather than they should do this, He will at once take them to Himself.

Brigham Young, JD 12:109, 17 Nov 1867, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This people are greatly blessed by receiving the Spirit of the Almighty, and by being privileged to go into His house and making covenants with Him, and in return receiving the keys of eternal life from his hands.

Brigham Young, JD 12:162, 16 Feb 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We cannot now administer the further ordinances of God in the fullest sense of the word legally unto the people, neither shall we be able to do so until we have a temple built for that purpose.

Brigham Young, JD 12:163-164, 16 Feb 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is absolutely necessary that the [p.164] Saints should receive the further ordinances of the house of God before this short existence shall come to a close, that they may be prepared and fully able to pass all the sentinels leading into the celestial kingdom and into the presence of God.

Brigham Young, JD 12:166, 16 Feb 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The voice of the Lord is gather out from her, my people, that ye partake not of her sins nor of her plagues, and build temples to My name, and seal up My sons and daughters to eternal life...

Brigham Young, JD 12:167, 16 Feb 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We are all called to be Saints, to be filled with the purity of God, and with the power of the Holy Spirit of the Lord Jesus -- the spirit of revelation -- we are called from darkness into light, from error to truth, from the power of Satan to the living God, we are called from the kingdoms of darkness to the kingdom of God and light, and, by and bye, we shall be chosen because we are worthy, and it will be said to us: "You have lived the life of a saint, now you are chosen to be an heir of the celestial kingdom of our Father and God."

Daniel H. Wells, JD 12:233, 22 Mar 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Why, we are called and chosen to be righteous, holy beings; and let us remember that the time for being chosen because we have been righteous will come after a while, and happy will be that individual who has so lived up to his privileges as to be among the chosen ones. If we wish to attain to this great blessing we must live for it, and not be neglectful in regard to the things of God.

Brigham Young, JD 12:174, 29 Mar 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Our children who are born in the Priesthood are legal heirs, and entitled to the revelations of the Lord, and as the Lord lives, his angels have charge over them, though they may be left to themselves occasionally.

Brigham Young, JD 12:201-202, 8 Apr 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Let the sisters take care of themselves, and make themselves beautiful, and if any of you are so superstitious and ignorant as to say that this is pride, I can say that you are not informed as to the pride which is sinful before the Lord, you are also ignorant as to the excellency of the heavens, and of the beauty which dwells in the society of the Gods. Were you to see an angel, you would see a beautiful and lovely [p.202] creature. Make yourselves like angels in goodness and beauty.

Erastus Snow, JD 12:214, 8 Apr 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

With regard to the aborigines of this continent, there are several prophecies to the effect that they will one day become a pure people; but that will not take place until the fullness of the Gentiles has come.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 12:188, 12 Apr 1868, Bountiful

I have been to the altar where Adam offered sacrifices and blessed his son and then left them and went to heaven.

Heber C. Kimball, JD 12:191, 12 Apr 1868, Bountiful

Our children are heirs to our rights and privileges, and when an earth is organized for us we will take our children there as God our Father brought His children here when He came.

Brigham Young, JD 12:228-229, 17 May 1868, Bountiful

And [p.229] where is the land of Zion? It is wherever the finger of the Lord has pointed out for His people to gather to. That is the place to go to. I recollect a lady asking me in Canada, in 1832 or '33, how large Jackson County was; and when I said 30 miles square, said she, "Suppose the whole world would embrace your doctrine, how would they get into Jackson County?" My reply was that, "Jackson County, in that case, would cover the whole world. Zion will expand as far as the necessity of the case requires it. You need not fear but there will be room for you, if you believe and gather with the Saints."

Brigham Young, JD 12:244, 25 Jul 1868, Mill Creek

It is for us to live so that we can claim the blessings of God. You recollect reading of the brother of Jared, Mahonri Moriancumer, who saw the Lord. If he had not kept the commandments of God he would not have had power to see the finger of the Lord. But he was faithful in all things, and this gave Mahonri such exceeding great faith that he had a right to the blessings he asked. If we were to keep the commandments of God, as he did, we would have the right to claim the blessings even as Mahonri had. But if we will not be obedient in all things we cannot claim them.

Brigham Young, JD 12:274, 16 Aug 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...Jesus has gone to prepare mansions for every creature. Who will go down as "sons of perdition" and receive the reward of the damned? None but those who have sinned against the Holy Ghost. All others will be gathered into kingdoms where there will be a certain amount of peace and glory.

Brigham Young, JD 12:312, 29 Nov 1868, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But you take an Elder in Israel who honors his calling, and though he may travel the world over, his wife at home says: "I am perfectly satisfied with regard to my husband, he would suffer his head to be taken from his shoulders before he would violate his covenants with me, they are sacred before God."

Brigham Young, JD 13:76, 10 Dec 1868, Salt Lake City, 13th Ward

All people have guardian angels. Whether our departed dead guard us is not for me to say. I can say we have our guardian angels.

Brigham Young, JD 13:77, 10 Dec 1868, Salt Lake City, 13th Ward

As quickly as the spirit is unlocked from this house of clay, it is free to travel with lightning speed to any planet, or fixed star, or to the uttermost part of the earth, or to the depths of the sea, according to the will of him who dictates.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 12:351, 10 Jan 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This is why we build our temples and endowment houses that we may be taught and instructed, sanctified and set apart; that we may be full of the Holy Ghost and the power of God, that we may stand forth as the elect of God, as the chosen of Jehovah to bring to pass the things spoken of by the prophets.

Orson Pratt, JD 12:353, 24 Feb 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

How old was Joseph Smith when the Lord first manifested Himself to him? He was about fourteen years and four months old.

Erastus Snow, JD 13:9, 28 Feb 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The foundation and the seeds of dissolution and death are sown in our tabernacles. The passions of human nature work, ultimately, the overthrow and dissolution of our bodies; and this is no more true than that the spirit, in like manner, works out its own dissolution, that is, whosoever suffers the second death, which is a spiritual death, suffers that death as the legitimate fruit of his evil doings as certainly and as naturally as the body suffers death through the violation of the laws of its own organization. Whether we violate the laws of our organizations ignorantly or otherwise, the results are the same.

Brigham Young, JD 13:3, 7 Apr 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...Every son and daughter in Israel should say, we will keep the "Word of Wisdom" independent of father, mother, or any elder in the church; we know what is right and we will do it. By so doing this people will increase health in their systems, and the destroying angel, when he comes along, will pass them by.

Brigham Young, JD 13:31, 8 Apr 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

They are Latter-day Saints; they wish to gather to Zion and to enjoy all the blessings of Zion; they are anxiously waiting for every gift and blessing God has in store for the faithful, and to be numbered with the Church of the Firstborn...

Brigham Young, JD 13:139-140, 11 Jul 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

No matter how many generations come and go, believers in him are required to eat bread and drink wine in remembrance of his death and sufferings until he comes again. Why are they required to do this? To witness unto the Father, to Jesus and to angels that they are believers in and desire to follow him [p.14] in the regeneration, keep his commandments, build up his kingdom, revere his name and serve him with an undivided heart, that they may be worthy to eat and drink with him in his Father's kingdom. This is why the Latter-day Saints partake of the ordinances of the Lord's supper.

Brigham Young, JD 13:143, 11 Jul 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We must believe that this same Jesus was crucified for the sins of the world, that is, for the original sin, not the actual individual transgressions of the people; not but that the blood of Christ will cleanse from all sin, all who are disposed to act their part by repentance, and faith in his name. But the original sin was atoned for by the death of Christ, although its effects we still see in the diseases, tempers and every species of wickedness with which the human family is afflicted.

Brigham Young, JD 13:145, 11 Jul 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Our spirits once dwelt in the heavens and were as pure and holy as the angels; but angels have tabernacles and spirits have none, and they are anxious to take tabernacles and they come to the meanest, lowest and humblest of the human race to obtain one rather than run any risk of not doing so.

Brigham Young, JD 13:149, 11 Jul 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I have heard a great many sermons, prayers and exhortations for people to go and get religion and have their names written in the "Lamb's Book of Life." I want to inform the whole world, all the sons and daughters of Adam, that their names are written there, and there they will remain to all eternity unless they by their evil acts blot them out.

Brigham Young, JD 13:57, 18 Jul 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Then if we receive the Holy Ghost we shall know and understand things as they are, we shall be able to read the Scriptures by the Spirit, with which they were written, and if we continue faithful we shall be led to a knowledge of God and Jesus whom He has sent, which the apostle says "is eternal life".

Wilford Woodruff, JD 13:319, 5 Sep 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Adam, himself, was a prophet and he ordained his sons to the Melchizedek Priesthood; the Gospel of Christ was taught to him after the Fall, and he attended to the ordinances of the house of God. He was a High Priest, and, as a High Priest, held the keys of the kingdom of God.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 13:319, 5 Sep 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And the highest office that any man has ever held on the face of the earth in this or any other generation is that of an Apostle. ... And the office of an Apostle entitles him to hold the keys of the kingdom of God; and what he binds on earth is bound in heaven, and what he looses on earth is loosed in heaven.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 13:327, 5 Sep 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And this work of administering the ordinances of the house of God to the dead, I may say, will require the whole of the Millennium, with Jesus at the head of the resurrected dead to attend to it.

Orson Pratt, JD 13:187, 7 Oct 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Some angels are Gods, and still possess the lower office called angels. Adam is called an Archangel, yet he is a God. Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, no doubt, have the right to officiate in the capacity of angels if they choose, but still they have ascended to their exaltation, to a higher state than that of angels -- namely, to thrones, kingdoms, principalities and powers, to reign over kingdoms and to hold the everlasting Priesthood.

Brigham Young, JD 13:155, 14 Nov 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I will say a word with regard to prayer. It matters not whether you or I feel like praying, when the time comes to pray, pray. If we do not feel like it, we should pray till we do.

George Q. Cannon, JD 13:49, 5 Dec 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

"Hurry up brethren," he [the Prophet Joseph] used to say, "let us finish the temple; the Lord has a great endowment in store for you, and I am anxious that the brethren should have their endowments and receive the fullness of the Priesthood." ... Prior to the completion of the Temple, he took the Twelve and certain other men, who were chosen, and bestowed upon them a holy anointing, similar to that which was received on the day of Pentecost by the Twelve, who had been told to tarry at Jerusalem. This endowment was bestowed upon the chosen few whom Joseph anointed and ordained, giving unto them the keys of the Holy Priesthood, the power and authority which he himself held, to build up the Kingdom of God in all the earth and accomplish the great purposes of our Heavenly Father; and it was by virtue of this authority, on the death of Joseph, that President Young, as President of the quorum of the Twelve, presided over the Church.

Orson Pratt, JD 13:63, 9 Dec 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

These are the two-thirds who kept their first estate. Their numbers, probably, cannot be less than two hundred thousand millions, leaving, as an approximate estimate, one hundred thousand millions of rebellious spirits or devils who were cast out from Heaven and banished to this creation, having no privilege of fleshly tabernacles.

Orson Pratt, JD 13:64, 9 Dec 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The devil has not the power to take full possession of the tabernacles of human creatures, unless they give way to him and his influence to that degree that he gets power over them.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 13:167, 12 Dec 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But unto the Latter-day Saints the sealing ordinances have been revealed, and they will have effect after death, and, as I have said, will re-unite men and women eternally in the family organization. Herein is why these principles are a part of our religion, and by them husbands and wives, parents and children will be re-united until the links in the chain are re-united back to Father Adam. We could not obtain a fullness of celestial glory without this sealing ordinance or the institution called the patriarchal order of marriage, which is one of the most glorious principles of our religion.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 13:169, 12 Dec 1869, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What joy, consolation and satisfaction it will be to the Apostles, Elders and Saints of God, of this day, who remain true and faithful to the end, having become members of the Church of the Firstborn, and been valiant in the testimony of Jesus, when they meet Father Adam, Enoch, Jacob, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Jesus and the Apostles, how great their joy will be!

Brigham Young, JD 13:316, 17 Apr 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If the spirit should return to native element the element would not be destroyed; the particles of matter will remain for ever.

Brigham Young, JD 13:316, 17 Apr 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I have no fear of heavenly beings, for they are my friends. I want to go to their society and to be associated with them. I like some of God's messengers, who travel about, to visit me. I am fond of their society. I like the spirits that dwell there. I want to go home; I want to go back again and live there for ever.

Brigham Young, JD 13:330, 24 Apr 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We will also have hands laid on us for the reception of the Holy Ghost; and then we will receive the washings and anointings for and in their behalf, preparatory to their becoming heirs of God and joint-heirs with Christ.

Brigham Young, JD 14:42, 8 May 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And following down the chain of his [an infidel's] reasoning, he will say there was a time when there was no earth, no stars, no worlds, no anything. Well, I know there never was such a time. That is faith against faith, declaration against declaration. What a pitiful condition it would be for all space to contain nothing! To suppose that element, worlds, men, the grass of the fields, or the trees of the forest were created, is all folly! They are from eternity. It is equally vain to imagine space empty! There is no space without a kingdom, neither is there any kingdom without space, and they are from everlasting to everlasting. "How do you know it?" asks the unbeliever. By the revelations of God, by the revelations of Jesus Christ.

Brigham Young, JD 14:71-72, 10 Jul 1870, Ogden, Tabernacle

But the fact exists that the Father, the Divine Father, whom we serve, the God of the Universe, the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the Father of our spirits, provided this sacrifice and sent his Son to die for us; and it is also a great fact that the Son came to do the will of the Father, and that he has paid the debt, in fulfillment of the Scripture which says,"He was the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world." Is it so on any other earth? On every earth. How many earths are there? I observed this morning that you may take the particles of matter composing this earth, and if they could be enumerated they would only be a beginning to the number of the creations of God; and they are continually coming into existence, and undergoing changes and passing through the same experiences that we are passing through. Sin is upon every earth that ever was created, and if it was not so, I would like some philosophers to let us know how people can be exalted to become sons of God, and enjoy a fullness of glory with the Redeemer. Consequently every earth has its redeemer, and every earth has its tempter; and every earth, and the people thereof, [p.72] in their turn and time, receive all that we receive, and pass through all the ordeals that we are passing through.

Brigham Young, JD 14:72, 10 Jul 1870, Ogden, Tabernacle

Do you see the reason and propriety of laying hands on each other? When we are prepared, when we are holy vessels before the Lord, a stream of power from the Almighty can pass through the tabernacle of the administrator to the system of the patient, and the sick are made whole; the headache, fever or other disease has to give way.

Brigham Young, JD 13:215, 17 Jul 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is no ordinance that God has delivered, by His own voice, through His Son Jesus Christ or by the mouths of any of His prophets, Apostles or evangelists, that is useless. Every ordinance, every commandment and requirement is necessary for the salvation of the human family.

Brigham Young, JD 13:271, 24 Jul 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

So it is with regard to the inhabitants of the sun. Do you think it is inhabited? I rather think it is. Do you think there is any life there? No question of it; it was not made in vain. It was made to give light to those who dwell upon it, and to other planets; and so will this earth when it is celestialized. Every planet in its first rude, organic state receives not the glory of God upon it, but is opaque; but when celestialized, every planet that God brings into existence is a body of light, but not till then. Christ is the light of this planet.

Brigham Young, JD 13:248, 25 Sep 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God never did make a world out of nothing; He never will, He never can! There is no such principle in existence. Worlds are made of crude element which floats, without bounds in the eternities -- in the immensity of space; an eternity of matter -- no limits to it, in its natural crude state, and the power of the Almighty has this influence and wisdom -- when He speaks He is obeyed, and matter comes together and is organized.

Brigham Young, JD 13:250, 25 Sep 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He is our Father; He is our God, the Father of our Spirits; He is the framer of our bodies, and set the machine in successful operation to bring forth these tabernacles that I now look upon in this building, and all that ever did or ever will live on the face of the whole earth.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 13:281, 30 Oct 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We receive revelation from Heaven, you receive your revelations from every foul spirit that has departed this life, and gone out of the bodies of mobbers, murderers, highwaymen, drunkards, thieves, liars, and every kind of debauched character, whose spirits are floating around here, and searching and seeking whom they can destroy; for they are the servants of the devil; and they are permitted to come now to reveal to the people.

Brigham Young, JD 13:283, 30 Oct 1870, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is space, and in that space there are mansions or kingdoms which God has prepared for His children to inhabit, according to their several capacities. We shall all go somewhere, and all upon whom the second death has no power will live eternally. We want to prepare for that mansion that Jesus went to prepare for his disciples.

Brigham Young, JD 13:309, 13 Nov 1870, Ogden, Tabernacle

The Scriptures say that He, the Lord, came walking in the Temple, with His train; I do not know who they were, unless His wives and children; but at any rate they filled the Temple, and how many there were who could not get into the Temple I cannot say. This is the account given by Isaiah, whether he told the truth or not I leave every body to judge for himself.

Brigham Young, JD 14:97, 8 Apr 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And through the Millennium, the thousand years that the people will love and serve God, we will build temples and officiate therein for those who have slept for hundreds and thousands of years -- those who would have received the truth if they had had the opportunity; and we will bring them up, and form the chain entire, back to Adam.

George Q. Cannon, JD 14:124, 8 Apr 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is true that God, in his mercy, has permitted us to build another house, which we call the Endowment House, and in which we have received many ordinances and blessings; but there are several [ordinances] which cannot be attended to in the Endowment House; they must be postponed until a temple is completed, in which the Elders and men of God who bear the Holy Priesthood, can go and administer the things of God, and have them accepted by him.

George Q. Cannon, JD 14:124, 8 Apr 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The walls were completed, it was roofed, the spire was finished, and the upper story so far completed that the Elders could go in and administer in the ordinances of God's house -- the sealings, washings and anointings, and in the performance of those ceremonies and ordinances which were necessary for our growth, increase and perfection as a people...

George Q. Cannon, JD 14:128, 8 Apr 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We build temples and we administer and submit to ordinances and perform those things within them which will prepare us to dwell eternally with our God, with Jesus and the Apostles in the heavens. There each man will have his family and kingdom. It is said that God is Lord of lords and King of kings; but how can he be Kings of kings unless there be kings under him to give him homage and pay respect unto him and acknowledge him as their Lord and their King? When God led Abraham forth and told him that as the stars of the firmament were innumerable so should his seed be, he proclaimed to him the greatness of his kingdom in eternity. He told Abraham that he should be a king over an innumerable host; for if Abraham were not to be king over them, of what use or glory would his posterity be to him? ... There shall be no end to the increase of his kingdom. His glory consisted of this; and the glory of God consists in the number of his posterity; and as generation succeeds generation, until the earth is filled and glorified, other worlds will be rolled into existence, upon which the posterity of God, our heavenly Father, shall increase throughout the endless ages of eternity. As it was said to Abraham and Jesus, so it will be said to the faithful sons and daughters of God; hence the Latter-day Saints believe in the eternal nature of the marriage relationship.

Brigham Young, JD 14:86, 9 Apr 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We are here as a human family. Bless your hearts, there is not one of us but what is a son or daughter of Adam and Eve, not any but what are just as much brothers and sisters as we should be if born of the same parents, right in the same family, with only ten children in the family. It is the same blood precisely. I do not care where we come from, we are all of this family, and the blood has not been changed.

Brigham Young, JD 14:89, 9 Apr 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The law of tithing is an eternal law. The Lord Almighty never had his kingdom on the earth without this law of tithing being in the midst of his people, and he never will. It is an eternal law that God has instituted for the benefit of the human family, for their salvation and exaltation. This law is in the Priesthood, but we do not want any to observe it unless they are willing to do so.

Brigham Young, JD 14:89, 9 Apr 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

By and by, according to the Scriptures, the days of a man shall be like the days of a tree. But in those days people will not eat and drink as they do now; if they do their days will not be like a tree, unless it be a very short-lived tree. This is our business.

Brigham Young, JD 14:136, 21 May 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The kingdom of God and its mysteries are and can be known only to him to whom God reveals them, and I hope and pray that we are or may be among that number.

Brigham Young, JD 14:136, 21 May 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God notices this world. He organized it, and brought forth the inhabitants upon it. We are his children, literally, spiritually, naturally, and in every respect. We are the children of our Father; Jesus is our elder brother, ready to save all who will come to him.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 14:157, 4 Jun 1871, Ogden, Tabernacle

As for a person being saved in the celestial kingdom of God without being prepared to dwell in a pure and holy place, it is all nonsense and ridiculous; and if there be any who think they can gain the presence of the Father and the Son by fighting for instead of living their religion, they will be mistaken, consequently the quicker we make up our minds to live our religion the better it will be for us. If we live so as to enjoy the spirit of the faith that we have embraced there is no danger of our being deceived.

Orson Pratt, JD 14:241, 20 Aug 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

So it will be when we come up into the presence of our Father and God in the mansion whence we emigrated to this world. When we get there we will behold the face of our Father, the face of our mother, for we are begotten there the same as we are begotten by our fathers and mothers here, and hence our spirits are the children of God, legally and lawfully, in the same sense that we are the children of our parents here in this world.

Orson Pratt, JD 14:242-243, 20 Aug 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This puts me in mind of a certain vision that John the Revelator had on the Isle of Patmos. On that occasion he saw one hundred and forty-four thousand standing upon Mount Zion, singing a new and glorious song; the singers seemed to be among the most happy and glorious of those who were shown to John. They, the [p.243] one hundred and forty-four thousand, had a peculiar inscription in their foreheads. What was it? It was the Father's name. It is God -- the being we worship. If, then, the one hundred forty-four thousand are to have the name of God inscribed on their foreheads, will it be simply a plaything, a something that has no meaning? or will it mean that which the inscriptions specify? -- that they are indeed Gods -- one with the Father and one with the Son; as the Father and Son are one, and both of them called Gods, so will all His children be one with the Father and the Son, and they will be one so far as carrying out the great purposes of Jehovah is concerned.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 14:284, 3 Sep 1871, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I will say that no one supposes for a moment that a confirmed and unrepentant drunkard will ever be permitted within the gates of the celestial city. We all understand this, but I want to bear my testimony that those who prostitute mind and body by the debasing use of intoxicating drinks and the crimes and evils to which it leads will never have part in the celestial kingdom.

Brigham Young, JD 14:229, 16 Sep 1871, 13th Ward

The advantage of this Priesthood that Brother George A. Smith has been talking about is that when persons yield obedience to it [the Priesthood], they secure to themselves the sanction of Him who is its author, and who has bestowed it upon the children of men. His power is around them and defends them; and when they pass into the spirit world they are out of the reach of the power of Satan, and they are not liable to be tempted, hunted, and chased as the wicked are, although the wicked may rest and enjoy far more there than here; but a person who obeys the Priesthood of the Son of God is entirely free from this. Where the pure in heart are the wicked cannot come. This is the state of the spirit world.

Brigham Young, JD 14:231, 16 Sep 1871, 13th Ward

The brightness and glory of the next apartment is inexpressible. ... They move with ease and like lightning. ... If we want to behold Jerusalem in the days of the Savior; or if we want to see the Garden of Eden as it was when created, there we are, and we see it as it existed spiritually, for it was created first spiritually and then temporally, and spiritually it still remains. ... This is what the faithful Saints are coming to; they will possess this power, and if they wish to visit different planets, they will be there. ... When we pass into the spirit world we shall possess a measure of this power; not to that degree that we will when resurrected and brought forth in the fullness of glory to inherit the kingdoms prepared for us.

Brigham Young, JD 14:232, 16 Sep 1871, 13th Ward

This life is given to prepare for the next. You will not drop off there as here: you will stay there, except those who are destroyed by the second death.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:69, 4 Feb 1872, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...There were a few individuals in the various generations of Israel, such as Prophets, Schools of Prophets, etc., which received the higher law, and obtained the higher priesthood, and were blessed of the Lord, and had the privilege of entering into his rest, being filled with the spirit of prophecy and revelation, having the power not only to prophecy and to obtain revelation, but to come up by the virtue of the higher law, into near communion with the Father and the Son, having the privilege to behold, by vision, the face of the Lord.

Orson Pratt, JD 14:344, 10 Mar 1872, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Go to the Latter-day Saints and inquire of them what Zion is, and they will tell you it is the Church of the Living God wherever it can be found.

Brigham Young, JD 15:7, 28 Apr 1872, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You hearken to that still small voice that whispers eternal truth, that opens the visions of eternity to you that you can discern, understand and follow, and the foul spirits that throng the air, and that fill our houses if we let them in, will not have power over you.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:53, 7 Jun 1872, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The wicked as well as the righteous will feel the power of these keys. The wicked as well as the righteous must be sealed to that end for which they have lived. The wicked, who have disobeyed the law of God, must be sealed over unto darkness, until they have been punished and beaten with many stripes, until the last resurrection, until the last trump shall sound. But the righteous, in the flesh and behind the veil, will come forth in the first resurrection, but prior to that great event they will co-operate in their labors for the consummation of the purposes of the Almighty so far as necessary to prepare the way for the second coming of the Lord Jesus Christ to reign here, personally, on the earth for the space of one thousand years.

Brigham Young, JD 15:64, 9 Jun 1872, Brigham City, Bowery

But when we inquire about the character of our Father, there are some things connected therewith that men do not understand, neither should they understand them. It is not in accordance with the mind and will of him we worship as our God, that the inhabitants of the earth, in their weak and wicked capacity, and ignorance, should understand them.

Brigham Young, JD 15:127, 11 Aug 1872, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

So it will be when, as the Scriptures foretell, "the element shall melt with fervent heat." The Lord Almighty will send forth his angels, who are well instructed in chemistry, and they will separate the elements and make new combinations thereof, and the whole heavens will be a sheet of fire.

Brigham Young, JD 15:137, 24 Aug 1872, Farmington

We have not, neither can we receive here, the ordinance and the keys of the resurrection. They will be given to those who have passed off this stage of action and have received their bodies again, as many have already done and many more will. They will be ordained, by those who hold the keys of the resurrection, to go forth and resurrect the Saints, just as we receive the ordinance of baptism, then the keys of authority to baptize others for the remission of their sins.

Brigham Young, JD 15:137, 24 Aug 1872, Farmington

We cannot receive, while in the flesh, the keys to form and fashion kingdoms and to organize matter, for they are beyond our capacity and calling, beyond this world. In the resurrection, men who have been faithful and diligent in all things in the flesh, have kept their first and second estate, and worthy to be crowned Gods, even the sons of God, will be ordained to organize matter.

Brigham Young, JD 15:137, 24 Aug 1872, Farmington

We have not the power in the flesh to create and bring forth or produce a spirit; but we have the power to produce a temporal body. The germ of this, God has placed within us. And when our spirits receive our bodies, and through our faithfulness we are worthy to be crowned, we will then receive authority to produce both spirit and body. But these keys we cannot receive in the flesh.

Brigham Young, JD 15:138, 24 Aug 1872, Farmington

We will operate here, in all the ordinances of the house of God which pertain to this side of the vail, and those who pass beyond and secure to themselves a resurrection pertaining to the lives will go on and receive more and more, more and more, and will receive one after another until they are crowned Gods, even the sons of God.

Brigham Young, JD 15:138-139, 24 Aug 1872, Farmington

If we [p.139] ask who will stand at the head of the resurrection in this last dispensation, the answer is -- Joseph Smith, Junior, the Prophet of God. He is the man who will be resurrected and receive the keys of the resurrection, and he will seal this authority upon others, and they will hunt up their friends and resurrect them when they shall have been officiated for, and bring them up.

Brigham Young, Jr., JD 15:142, 25 Aug 1872, Farmington

He [the unfaithful Elder] may hang around, and declare that he is one of the crowd, and that he is going along with them on that train; but, ignorant of the time it starts, and destitute of the means to pay his way, he strays off for a short time, and in the meanwhile the train starts and leaves him behind. It is just so with an unfaithful Elder in this kingdom -- he is not prepared for events as they transpire, and, lacking the spirit of the Gospel, is liable to be left behind.

Brigham Young, JD 15:162, 9 Oct 1872, Salt Lake City, Conference

There is not a Latter-day Saint nor a Former-day Saint that ever did, or ever will expect to see any such customs or fashions when they get into heaven. If they were to see an angel, they would see a being beautifully but modestly dressed, white, comely and nice to look upon.

Brigham Young, JD 15:166, 9 Oct 1872, Salt Lake City, Conference

He is going to set up his kingdom -- a literal, temporal kingdom. It will be a kingdom of priests by and by.

Brigham Young, JD 15:221, 9 Oct 1872, Salt Lake City, Conference

By strict obedience to these requirements, we prove ourselves faithful to our God; and when we have passed through all the ordeals necessary, and have proved perfectly submissive to all rules and regulations which give lives eternal, he then sets us free and crowns us with glory, immortality and eternal lives; and there is no other path that we can walk in, no other system, no other laws or ordinances by which we can gain exaltation, only by submitting ourselves perfectly to the requirements of heaven.

Brigham Young, JD 15:229, 9 Oct 1872, Salt Lake City, Conference

Set that example before your wives and your children, before your neighbors and this people, that you can say: "Follow me, as I follow Christ." When we do this, all is right, and our consciences are clear.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:246, 15 Dec 1872, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Gospel Mysteries

If we were born in heaven before this world was made, the question might arise as to the nature of that birth. Was it by command that the spiritual substance, scattered through space, was miraculously brought together, and organized into a spiritual form, and called a spirit? Is that the way we were born? Is that the way that Jesus, the firstborn of every creature, was brought into existence. Oh no; we were all born there after the same manner that we are here, that is to say, every person that had an existence before he came here had a literal father and a literal mother, a personal father and a personal mother... Now I look upon every man and woman that have ever come here on this globe, or that ever will come, as having a father and mother in the heavens by whom their spirits were brought into existence.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:251, 15 Dec 1872, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Here were two beings united who were as immortal as you will be when you come forth from your graves in the morning of the first resurrection. Under these conditions Adam and Eve were married.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:252, 15 Dec 1872, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

We come forth in the morning of the first resurrection as immortal males and immortal females. Our wives, married to us for eternity, come forth, and they are ours by virtue of that which God has pronounced upon them through those whom he has appointed, and to whom he has given authority. We have a legal claim upon them in the resurrection.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 15:281, 12 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 13th Ward

Let us build this Temple that we may attend to the ordinances for the living and the dead. If we do not do this we shall be sorry. When I see men who have received the word of God, and tasted the powers of the world to come, and then turn away, I think of the parable of the five wise and five foolish virgins. It will pay us to be wise and to have oil in our lamps, to have fellowship with the Holy Spirit, and to live our religion and keep the commandments of God day by day.

George Q. Cannon, JD 15:299, 12 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

There was to be no end to the kingdom of Abraham, he was to have thrones, principalities and dominions; to be crowned not with a barren, empty crown, not a crown without a kingdom, but a real one, emblematical of endless and boundless rule, power, dominion, and glory. The Lord has promised the same glory to every being who attains to the glory of the sun, who gains a fullness of glory in his celestial kingdom. They will all be heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ.

John Taylor, JD 15:271, 15 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 13th Ward

Some people object to music. Why music prevails in the heavens, and among the birds! God has filled them with it. There is nothing more pleasing and delightful than it is to go into the woods or among the bushes early in the morning and listen to the warbling and rich melody of the birds, and it is strictly in accordance with the sympathies of our nature. We have no idea of the excellence of the music we shall have in heaven.

John Taylor, JD 15:273, 15 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 13th Ward

Let the heart be drawn out to God. Let there be an altar in every house, and let the sacred fire burn on that altar.

Orson Hyde, JD 15:307, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Do I want a mansion in yonder world that is glorious? Then I must comply with the law of Heaven and pay my tithes and bring my offerings and prove to the Heavens that I am a friend of his government; and that I am willing to sacrifice anything to please him and to secure the desired treasure.

Orson Hyde, JD 15:310, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

I love to see innocence, purity, cleanliness and all this, and I would rather have disclosed to me, in the visions of one night's sleep, the true principles of godliness as they exist on the other side of the veil, than to have all the pride and fashion that decorate these poor mortal bodies, for one view of eternal things throws into the shade all earthly grandeur and glory.

Orson Hyde, JD 15:311, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

We may think that we are going to get all our sealings, anointings, our marriages and everything of that kind free, but we are mistaken about that -- we have got to pay for them all. How do you pay? Tithing and offerings to the kingdom of God pay for it all. Then when you come up to have accounts adjusted, and the books are opened, and another book is opened and the dead are judged out of those things written in the books according to their works, they have paid the charges, and that which they claim is their own, it is given to them of God.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:314-315, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Suppose that Saints, who have not only heard the law of God, but have embraced the Gospel of the Son of God, have been renewed in their minds by the power of the Holy Ghost and have tasted the good word of God and the powers of the world to come, should be so far overcome as to shed innocent blood, would there be any forgiveness for them? Not at all. Would it be our duty, if such a person were judged, and condemned by the laws of our country to be hanged by the neck until dead, to visit him and pray that God would forgive his sins? No, we would be sinning against God in doing so. Why? Because God has revealed to us that persons who have this light and knowledge, and shed innocent blood, cannot be forgiven in this world nor in the [p.315] world to come, and we should not ask him to do that which he has decreed that he will not do. Such a person commits the unpardonable sin -- he sheds innocent blood after having the light of the Holy Ghost, knowing that in so doing he is not only sinning against God the Father and against his Son, but against the convictions of the Holy Ghost. Supposing, again, that persons outside of this Church, that have heard the Gospel of the Son of God, but have refused to obey it, should murder, they sin against great light and knowledge, but not against the Holy Ghost. Here is the difference between the two classes of murderers; the Latter-day Saint would never be forgiven, but he would become a son of perdition.

Gospel Mysteries

Orson Pratt, JD 15:318, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

I will here ask, will many of these individuals who have sinned against God come forth and inherit that high degree of exaltation in the celestial world? ... No. Why not? Because they are not prepared for it. I do not say but what they may in some future age, according to the purposes of God, be led along from one step to another, until, finally, some of them attain to celestial glory.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:319, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Over whom will they reign [in the celestial kingdom]? Their own children, their own posterity will be the citizens of their kingdoms; in other words, the patriarchal order will prevail there to the endless ages of eternity, and the children of each patriarch will be his while eternal ages roll on.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:320, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Understand me now, resurrected parents are the parents not of bodies of flesh and bones, but of spirits the same as we were before we came and took these mortal bodies, that is when we lived up in yonder world in the presence of our Father, and in the company of the thousands and millions of our brother and sister spirits.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:320, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

There is only one way by which children can be freed from that celestial law and order of things, and that is by rebellion. They are agents, and they can rebel against God and against the order of things he has instituted there, just as Satan and the fallen angels rebelled and turned away.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:321, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

We have now mentioned three classes of angels [pre-mortal spirits, resurrected beings, spirits awaiting resurrection]. There are others, among them some redeemed from former creations before this world was made, one of whom administered to our first parents after they were cast out of the garden as they were offering sacrifices and burnt offerings, according to the commandments which they received from God when they were driven from the garden. ...These angels that came to Adam were not men who had been redeemed from this earth -- not men who had been translated from this earth -- but they pertained to former worlds.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:321, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Some of these angels have received their exaltation, and still are called angels. For instance Michael has received his exaltation. He is not without his kingdom and crown, wife or wives and posterity, because he lived faithful to the end. Who is he? Our first, great progenitor, Adam, is called Michael, the Prince. ... Some of these angels have received their exaltation. They are kings, they are priests, they have entered into their glory and sit upon thrones -- they hold the scepter over their posterity.

Gospel Mysteries

Orson Pratt, JD 15:322, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Yes, angels will be sent forth from the celestial world to minister to those who inherit the glory of the moon, bearing messages of joy and peace and of all that which is calculated to exalt, redeem, and ennoble those who have resurrected into a terrestrial glory. They can receive the Spirit of the Lord there, and the ministrations of angels there.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:323, 19 Jan 1873, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Those in the terrestrial world have the privilege of beholding Jesus sometimes -- they can receive the presence of the Son, but not of the fullness of the Father; but those in the telestial world, still lower, receive only the Holy Ghost, administered to them by messengers ordained and sent forth to minister to them for glory and exaltation, providing they will obey the law that is given unto them, which law will be telestial law. That will finally exalt them. How far I know not, but where God and Christ are they can not come, worlds without end.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 15:324, 9 Feb 1873, Salt Lake City, 13th Ward

The Lord designed in the beginning to place before man, the knowledge of good and evil, and gave him a commandment to cleave to good and abstain from evil. But if he should fail, he would give to him the law of sacrifice and provide a Savior for him, that he might be brought back again into the presence and favor of God and partake of eternal life with him.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:360, 9 Mar 1873, Salt Lake City, 16th Ward

Blessed are they who have faithfully paid their tithing all the time, and blessed are their children, they will receive their inheritance in the Land of Zion, when the Lord shall come.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:362, 9 Mar 1873, Salt Lake City, 16th Ward

Let the righteous among this people abide in their righteousness, and let them cleave unto the Lord their God; and if there are those among them who will not keep his commandments, they will be cleansed out by the judgments of which I have spoken. But if the majority of this people will be faithful, the Lord will preserve them from their enemies, from sword, pestilence and plague, and from every weapon that is lifted against them.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:363, 9 Mar 1873, Salt Lake City, 16th Ward

Do you suppose that the Lord will suffer any unclean thing to be in that army [that returns to redeem Zion]? Not at all, for his angels and he himself are to go before us. God will not dwell in the midst of a people who will not sanctify themselves before him.

Orson Pratt, JD 15:366, 9 Mar 1873, Salt Lake City, 16th Ward

Then the servants of God will need to be armed with the power of God, they will need to have that sealing blessing pronounced upon their foreheads that they can stand forth in the midst of these desolations and plagues and not be overcome by them.

Brigham Young, JD 16:27, 6 Apr 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...I tell you today that if our minds are not made up to serve God, if we are not for Christ, and for his kingdom upon the earth; if we are not willing to devote our time, talents, means, influence and everything that he has given into our possession, we are not in the way we should walk.

Brigham Young, JD 16:21, 7 Apr 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Suppose that a female angel were to come into your house and you had the privilege of seeing her, how would she be dressed? ... She would be neat and nice, her countenance full of glory, brilliant, bright, and perfectly beautiful, and in every act her gracefulness would charm the heart of every beholder. There is nothing needless about her.

Brigham Young, JD 16:41, May 18 1873, Ogden, Tabernacle

If, however, we are striving to the utmost of the ability God has given us to prove that we are willing to serve him and perform our duties, we are justified. We have the kingdom of God to build up, Zion to redeem; we have to sanctify ourselves so that we may be prepared to be caught up with the Church of the First Born, and if we improve every day and hour, then if we die we shall be found justified. But if we continue to live, we must become Saints in very deed, or come short of the fullness of the glory of God that is to be revealed.

Brigham Young, JD 16:46, May 18 1873, Ogden, Tabernacle

Where is the divine who knows the least thing about that Being who is the Father of our Spirits and the author of our bodies?

Orson Pratt, JD 16:50, May 18 1873, Ogden, Tabernacle

We come down to the days of Noah. He was a righteous man, and called of God to preach the Gospel among the nations as it was revealed to his forefathers, and before the days of the flood, so great was the faith of many of the people, after the days that Enoch's city was caught up, the Holy Ghost fell upon them, and they were caught up by the power of heaven into the midst of Zion -- the Zion of Enoch.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:81, 15 Jun 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But we read that in the latter days God will accept the house that shall be built, and not only the house erected to his name, but also the dwelling-houses of his people, showing that they must be a very pure people, or he would not accept of their private dwellings.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:82, 15 Jun 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But in the latter days there will be a people so pure in Mount Zion, with a house established upon the tops of the mountains, that God will manifest himself, not only in their Temple and upon all their assemblies, with a visible cloud during the day, but when the night shall come, if they shall be assembled for worship, God will meet with them by his pillar of fire; and when they retire to their habitations, behold each habitation will be lighted up by the glory of God, -- a pillar of flaming fire by night.

Brigham Young, JD 16:113, 27 Jun 1873, Logan, Bowery

All he would have to do would be to send an angel to perform a little meteorological and chemical change, and the clouds would gather no more moisture, and no more rain would fall on the earth. Where would your trees be then? What would become of your gardens?

Franklin D. Richards, JD 16:62, 28 Jun 1873, Logan

If our record shews that we have been faithful in all things, and have never forgotten to pay our Tithing, our posterity can come to the house of the Lord and ask, as a right, for the blessings they need for themselves or their dead.

George Q. Cannon, JD 16:116, 29 Jun 1873, Logan, Bowery

I cannot conceive of any man being able to attain unto celestial glory who is not willing to sacrifice everything that he has for the cause of God.

George Q. Cannon, JD 16:120, 29 Jun 1873, Logan, Bowery

I also believe that when Satan is loosed again for a little while, when the thousand years shall be ended, it will be through mankind departing from the practice of those principles which God has revealed, and this Order of Enoch probably among the rest.

Daniel H. Wells, JD 16:127, 9 Aug 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Our Father has passed through these ordeals, and has trodden the paths we are treading. He kept his second estate, and has attained to his exaltation. We have the privilege of following in his footsteps. It has been revealed in our day who we are, and the relationship we hold to God. We have learned that God is our Father, and that we are his children, bona fide his children. Not in a spiritual sense alone, but when we say, "Our Father who are in heaven," we mean just what we say.

George Q. Cannon, JD 16:143, 10 Aug 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Many men wonder how it is that we can believe in celestial marriage. We believe in it because it lies at the foundation of all future greatness. If a man rule in heaven he will rule over his own posterity. The Apostle John, said that they sang a new song in heaven -- "And hast made us unto our God kings and Priests: and we shall reign on the earth." Reign on the earth! This was the song. Over whom were they to reign? Over whom more properly than their families.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:151, 16 Aug 1873, Ogden, Tabernacle

When the day of the power of the Lord shall come, then will be a time when not only the sick, the lame and the blind, but also the very elements will be wrought upon by the power of God, as the Lord has spoken, and be subservient to the commands of his servants.

Brigham Young, JD 16:166, 31 Aug 1873, Paris, Idaho, Bowery

Now, where a man in this Church says, "I don't want but one wife, I will live my religion with one," he will perhaps be saved in the celestial kingdom; but when he gets there he will not find himself in possession of any wife at all. He has had a talent that he has hid up. He will come forward and say, "Here is that which thou gavest me, I have not wasted it, and here is the one talent," and he will not enjoy it, but it will be taken and given to those who have improved the talents they received, and he will find himself without any wife, and he will remain single for ever and ever. But if the woman is determined not to enter into a plural marriage, that woman when she comes forth will have the privilege of living in single blessedness through all eternity.

Brigham Young, JD 16:167, 31 Aug 1873, Paris, Idaho, Bowery

They who will be exalted cannot perform all the labor, they must have servants and you can be servants to them.

Brigham Young, JD 16:167, 31 Aug 1873, Paris, Idaho, Bowery

After the earth was prepared Father Adam came and stayed here, and there was a woman brought to him. ... There is no doubt but that he left many companions.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:179, 31 Aug 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God gave the command [Be fruitful and multiply] to these two immortal personages, before the Fall, showing clearly and plainly that immortal beings had that capacity, or else God would never have given it to them. I will admit that they had no power to beget children of mortality; it required a fall to enable them to do that, and without that no mortal beings could have been produced.

Brigham Young, JD 16:186, 4 Sep 1873, Franklin

We can at the present time, go into the Endowment House and be baptized for the dead, receive our washings and anointing, etc., for there we have a font that has been erected, dedicated expressly for baptizing people for the remission of sins, for their health and for their dead friends; in this the Saints have the privilege of being baptized for their friends. We also have the privilege of sealing women to men, without a Temple. This we can do in the Endowment House; but when we come to other sealing ordinances, ordinances pertaining to the Holy Priesthood, to connect the chain of the Priesthood from father Adam until now, by sealing children to their parents, being sealed for our forefathers, etc., they cannot be done without a Temple. But we can seal women to men, but not men to men, without a Temple. ... This ordinance will not be performed anywhere but in a Temple; neither will children be sealed to their living parents in any other place than a Temple.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 16:247, 7 Oct 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We have got to learn to stand or fall for ourselves, male and female. It is true that we are taught in the principles of the Gospel that man is the head of the woman, and Christ is the head of the man; and according to the order that is established in the kingdom of God, it is the duty of the man to follow Christ, and it is the duty of the woman to follow the man in Christ, not out of him.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 16:247-248, 7 Oct 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You must be obedient. [p.248] Obedience is the first law of heaven. Without it the elements could not be controlled. Without it neither the earth nor those who dwell upon it could be controlled. The angels in heaven would not be controlled without it, and in fact without obedience there could be no union or order, and chaos and confusion would prevail.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:258, 7 Oct 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

All who are born before their parents enter that new and everlasting covenant have to be made legitimate heirs. In what way? According to the ordinance and law of adoption. ... But in order that parents may have their children legitimately under their control, it is necessary that the ordinance of adoption in the house of God should be performed in regard to the children born before their parents entered into the eternal covenant of marriage.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:260-261, 7 Oct 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Among these hidden things that are to be revealed [p.261] are the books of genealogy, tracing individuals and nations among all people, back to ancient times. It may be inquired -- "How can all this be done?" We answer, by the Urim and Thummim, which the Lord God has ordained to be used in the midst of his holy house, in his Temple. You may inquire -- "What is the Urim and Thummim?" We reply, it is a divine instrument, prepared in ancient times, by which he who possessed it could call upon the name of the Lord, and receive from him answers to all matters it was necessary that he should know. ... When that instrument is restored to the house of God, to the Temple of the Most High, our ancestry, that is, the ancestry of all faithful in the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will be made manifest. Not all at once, but by degrees.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 16:273, 7 Oct 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Before we are prepared to return to Jackson County, to build up the center Stake of Zion, I believe that a system or order of things will be introduced for our practice, requiring more faith and devotion than, I fear, some of us possess at the present moment. This will call forth a perfect submission in respect to our temporal affairs, equal to that in which we now yield ourselves in spiritual matters.

Gospel Mysteries

Lorenzo Snow, JD 16:276, 7 Oct 1873, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

And I think we are not justified in anticipating the privilege of returning to build up the center stake of Zion, until we shall have shown obedience to the law of consecration. One thing, however, is certain, we shall not be permitted to enter the land from whence we were expelled, till our hearts are prepared to honor this law, and we become sanctified through the practice of the truth.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:318, 22 Nov 1873, 16th Ward

After man and woman were placed in the Garden of Eden, we find that they were tempted. By whom? By a being or beings who once dwelt in the presence of God, in his celestial kingdom. They were once angels of light and truth, having authority in the presence of the Father.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:324, 22 Nov 1873, 16th Ward

Our first parents were not mortal when they were placed on this earth, but they were as immortal as those who are resurrected in the presence of God...

Orson Pratt, JD 16:335, 28 Dec 1873, 1st Ward

...I am of the opinion that the spirits of children who die here regain their former dimensions of manhood or womanhood, and hence if you were to see them you would perhaps be disappointed. But by and by the resurrection will come, then these full grown spirits, who have died in infancy here, will again enter in to the infant tabernacle, and they will come forth as infants, as they were at the time they laid down their bodies; then their parents will have no difficulty in recognizing them.

Orson Pratt, JD 16:338, 28 Dec 1873, 1st Ward

...I can not see that it will be necessary for the immortal body to be vivified or quickened and refreshed by sleep. They will no doubt eat and drink in an immortal state, but whether it will be necessary to do this is another question entirely. ... Suffice it to say that, even children of mortality, when quickened by the Spirit of God, have often lived for quite a period of time without eating or drinking.

George A. Smith, JD 17:59, 7 May 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

And it has been generally understood among us that the redemption of Zion would not occur upon any other principle than upon that of the law of consecration.

George A. Smith, JD 17:62, 7 May 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

...For we know that we can never be prepared for the coming of the Savior only by uniting and becoming one, in temporal as well as in spiritual things, and being prepared to enjoy the blessings of exaltation.

Gospel Mysteries

Wilford Woodruff, JD 17:71, 8 May 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We have been willing, with every feeling of our hearts, that Joseph Smith, President Young, and the leaders of this people should guide and direct us in regard to our eternal interests; and the blessings sealed upon us by their authority reach the other side of the vail and are in force after death, and they affect our destiny to the endless ages of eternity. Men, in the days of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and of Jesus and the Apostles, had blessings sealed upon them, kingdoms, thrones, principalities and powers, with all the blessings of the New and Everlasting Covenant.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 17:72, 8 May 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Lord has called upon us to unite together and take hold of this work, and to prepare ourselves for the great events which are at hand, that when the destroying angels go forth to reap the earth, beginning at the sanctuary, they need not destroy any man upon whom is the mark set by the writer with the inkhorn, who cried and mourned because of the abominations done among men.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:112, 14 Jun 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

If we would go back then [to Zion], we must comply with the celestial law, the law of consecration, the law of oneness, which the Lord has spoken of from the beginning. Except you are one you are not mine. ... There is no other way for us to become one but by keeping the law of heaven, and when we do this we shall become sanctified before God, and never before.

Brigham Young, JD 18:243, 23 Jun 1874, Salt Lake City, Third Ward

All things were created first spiritual, and then temporal. Everything in the spirit world was presented as we see it now, and this temporal earth was presented there. We were in the spirit world, and we came here into this time, which is in eternity, nothing in the world only a change of time and seasons allotted to a change of being that makes it time to us. It is in eternity, and we are just as much in eternity now, as we shall be millions of years hence. But it is time measured to finite beings, and it is changeable, and we call it temporal, while the fact is it is all spiritual in the first place, then temporal, then spiritual, and made immortal, consequently you can not divide them.

Brigham Young, JD 18:246, 23 Jun 1874, Salt Lake City, Third Ward

All that the Lord requires of us is strict obedience to the laws of life. All the sacrifice that the Lord asks of his people is strict obedience to our own covenants that we have made with our God, and that is to serve him with an undivided heart.

Brigham Young, JD 18:249, 23 Jun 1874, Salt Lake City, Third Ward

Were it not for what is revealed concerning the sealing ordinances, children born out of the covenant could not be sealed to their parents; children born in the covenant are entitled to the Spirit of the Lord and all the blessings of the kingdom.

Gospel Mysteries

Brigham Young, JD 18:249, 23 Jun 1874, Salt Lake City, Third Ward

The fact is, let the pure principles of the kingdom of God be taught to men and women, and far more of the latter [women] than of the former [men] will receive and obey them. What shall we do with them? They want exaltation, they want to be in the great family of heaven, they do not want to be cast off, then they must be taken into the families of those who prove themselves worthy to be exalted with the Gods.

Brigham Young, JD 17:118, 28 Jun 1874, Brigham City, Bowery

For us to think that we have an inheritance on the earth is folly, unless God has declared, and sealed it upon us, by revelation, that we shall never fall, never doubt, never come short of glorifying him or of doing his will in all things.

Brigham Young, JD 17:119, 28 Jun 1874, Brigham City, Bowery

It takes a higher power than a bill of divorce to take a woman from a man who is a good man and honors his Priesthood -- it must be a man who possesses a higher power in the Priesthood, or else the woman is bound to her husband, and will be forever and ever.

George Q. Cannon, JD 17:137-138, 19 Jul 1874, 14th Ward

It is not a strong assurance or hope that the Latter-day Saints have, that they will receive these blessing in the eternal worlds; but when the promise is sealed upon their heads that they shall come forth in the morning of the first resurrection and be crowned with glory, immortality and eternal lives, there is a testimony from God, our eternal Father in the heavens above, which rests down upon them and confirms the truth of these words upon the soul of a faithful man or woman, and they know, when words are pronounced upon them by a man who has the authority, sealing upon them blessings, keys, thrones, principalities, powers and exaltations in [p.138] the eternal kingdoms of God our Father, I say they know, by the testimony of the Spirit of God which rests down upon them at such times, that these words are not the words of men, but that they are the words of the Spirit of God inspiring that man, and that God takes a record of that ordinance in the heavens, and that it is sealed upon them and upon their children, and that they will actually come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, according to the promise, hence, there is no fear of death in the minds of the Latter-day Saints.

Brigham Young, JD 17:143, 19 Jul 1874, 14th Ward

This is our home, built expressly for us by the Father of our spirits, who is the Father, maker, framer and producer of these mortal bodies that we now inherit, and which go back to mother earth. When the spirit leaves them they are lifeless; and when the mother feels life come to her infant it is the spirit entering the body preparatory to the immortal existence. But suppose an accident occurs and the spirit has to leave this body prematurely, what then? All that the physician says is -- "it is a still birth," and that is all they know about it, but whether the spirit remains in the body a minute, an hour, a day, a year, or lives there until the body has reached a good old age, it is certain that the time will come when they will be separated, and the body will return to mother earth, there to sleep upon that mother's bosom. That is all there is about death.

Brigham Young, JD 17:143, 19 Jul 1874, 14th Ward

When the earth was framed and brought into existence and man was placed upon it, it was near the throne of our Father in heaven. And when man fell -- though that was designed in the economy, there was nothing about it mysterious or unknown to the Gods, they understood it all, it was all planned -- but when man fell, the earth fell into space, and took up its abode in this planetary system, and the sun became our light. When the Lord said -- "Let there be light," there was light, for the earth was brought near the sun that it might reflect upon it so as to give us light by day, and the moon to give us light by night. This is the glory the earth came from, and when it is glorified it will return again unto the presence of the Father, and it will dwell there, and these intelligent beings that I am looking at, if they live worthy of it, will dwell upon this earth.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:147, 19 Jul 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

How much of the earth was taken up in connection with their habitations [the city of Enoch] we are not informed. It might have been a large region. ... In those days the land was united; the eastern and the western hemispheres were one; but they dwelt in that portion of our globe that is now called the western hemisphere, and they were taken up from this portion of the globe. No doubt all the region of country occupied by them was translated, or taken away from the earth.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:148-149, 19 Jul 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He has told us that they [the people of the city of Enoch] have been ministering angels during all that time. To whom? To those of the terrestrial order, if you can understand that expression. ... Even so, he granted to the people of Enoch their desire to become ministering spirits unto those of the terrestrial order until the earth should rest and they should again return to it. ... This middle class, whose glory is typified by the glory of our moon in the firmament of the heavens as compared with the sun, are those who once dwelt on this or some other creation and, if they have had the Gospel laid before them they have not had a full opportunity of receiving it; or they have not [p.149] heard it all, and have died without having the privilege. In the resurrection they come forth with terrestrial bodies. They must be administered to says the vision, and God has appointed agents or messengers to minister to these terrestrial beings, for their good, blessing, exaltation, glory and honor in the eternal worlds. Enoch and his people understanding this principle sought that they, before receiving the fullness of their celestial glory, might be instruments in the hands of God of doing much good among beings of the terrestrial order. We read in the New Testament concerning certain angels that are in the eternal worlds, and the question is asked by the Apostle Paul -- "Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for those who shall be heirs of salvation?" -- not for those who were already heirs of salvation, but for those who shall be -- those who were to be redeemed, that were to be brought forth and exalted. Enoch and his people were appointed to this ministry, holding the Priesthood thereof, with power and authority to administer in order that those beings may be exalted and brought up, and inherit all the glory that they are desirous to receive.

Gospel Mysteries

Orson Pratt, JD 17:153, 19 Jul 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You may try to get the fullness thereof [celestial glory] singlehanded, but you can't do it, for God has made this a point of order and law, that all beings who are exalted to that highest glory shall be united in the Lord, as husband and wife.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:154, 19 Jul 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...If you are faithful, you will be entitled to your wife and your children, to all eternity, by virtue of the covenants which you have entered into, and which have been sealed on earth, by divine authority, and sealed in heaven in your behalf.

Brigham Young, JD 17:157, 9 Aug 1874, Lehi

Now I want to give you these few words -- the kingdom of God will protect every person, every sect and all people upon the face of the whole earth, in their legal rights. I shall not tell you the names of the members of this kingdom, neither shall I read to you its constitution, but the constitution was given by revelation. The day will come when it will be organized in strength and power.

Brigham Young, JD 17:159, 9 Aug 1874, Lehi

What Joseph meant by being damned was that people will go into the spirit world without the Priesthood, and consequently they are under the power of Satan, and will have to be redeemed, or else they will be forever under his power.

George A. Smith, JD 17:196, 6 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

There are many false spirits gone out into the world, and when Joseph Smith communicated the keys of the Priesthood to the servants of the Lord, he gave them the power to try these spirits, and this power was given to the Church, and no man need be led astray only as he suffers himself to lose the Holy Spirit, which is the result of sin, wickedness, neglect or transgression.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 17:193, 7 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

If a man does right, is valiant in the testimony of Jesus Christ, obeys the Gospel, and keeps his covenants, when he passes to the other side of the vail he has an entrance into the presence of God and the Lamb; having kept celestial law he enters into celestial glory, he is preserved by that law, and he participates in that glory through the endless ages of eternity.

John Taylor, JD 17:207, 7 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

We find that after the days of Noah an order was introduced called the patriarchal order, in which every man managed his own family affairs, and prominent men among them were kings and priests unto God, and officiated in what is known among us as the Priesthood of the Son of God, or the Priesthood after the Order of Melchisedec. Man began again to multiply on the face of the earth, and the heads of families became their kings and priests, that is, the fathers of their own people, and they were more or less under the influence and guidance of the Almighty.

John Taylor, JD 17:208, 7 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

One of the Prophets, in speaking of the affairs that were then to take place, said that a certain power should arise which should make war with and prevail against the Saints, and that that power should seek to change the times and the laws, and that they should be given into his hand, for a time, and times and the dividing of times. Very well, these things have taken place.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:222, 7 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

It had also been lawful for a man to marry his own sister, as in the days of Adam, for you know there were no other ladies on the face of the earth for the sons of Adam except their own sisters, and they were obliged to marry them or to live bachelors.

John Taylor, JD 17:177, 9 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

We are called upon once in a while to take a new step in this great work. At one time it was polygamy, at another it was baptism for the dead, then it was building Temples, then certain endowments, then the sealing of our children to us, then certain promises made to ourselves, such as God made to Abraham in former days, and now it is that we must get a little closer together, and be more united in regard to our temporal affairs, that we may be prepared to act and to operate in all things according to the mind and will of God and this step in advance, like every other, has caused us to reflect and ponder, and many of us are full of fears and doubts in relation to many things and many men.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 17:245, 9 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

This is one of the legacies that is designed from God to the Saints while dwelling in the flesh among a world of devils, for the world is full of them, there are millions and millions -- all that were cast out of heaven; they never die, and they never leave the earth, but they dwell here and will continue to do so until Satan is bound.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 17:250, 9 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Enoch had to practice this law, and we shall have to do the same if we are ever accepted of God as he was. It was promised that the New Jerusalem will be built up in our day and generation, and it will have to be done by the United Order of Zion and according to celestial law.

Charles C. Rich, JD 17:171, 11 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

We need to be valiant before the Lord, valiant in testimony, valiant in keeping his commandments, valiant in rejecting every evil practice that may be presented before us; and if this is our course, and we continue therein, the time will come when we will be counted worthy of an inheritance and exaltation among the sanctified in the presence of our Father.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:184, 11 Oct 1874, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

There is a certain degree of judgment rendered upon every man and every woman as soon as they have passed the ordeals of this present probation. When they lay their bodies down their spirits return into the presence of God, when a decree of judgement and sentence is immediately passed.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:324, 14 Mar 1875, 16th Ward

We are also told that we are his sons and his daughters, that we were begotten by him, before the foundation of this world; that we are his offspring, as much so as the little children in this room are the offspring of their parents.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:325, 14 Mar 1875, 16th Ward

The elements, composing our spirits were eternal; they were never created, neither indeed can be; they existed from all eternity, and were, at a certain period, combined or organized in the form of our spirits; and hence the pre-existence of man before the world was made.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:327, 14 Mar 1875, 16th Ward

Let us then keep all the commandments, and laws, and conditions which God has appointed for us to keep. It is our right and privilege to knock, and we have the promise that it shall be opened to us; to seek, and when we do seek, to do so with the expectation of finding. In this way we may receive more and more information and knowledge, concerning the things of God, and the works of his hands.

Orson Pratt, JD 17:331-332, 14 Mar 1875, 16th Ward

"...Now what does all this mean [D&C 88:51-61]?" The Lord wanted to represent these kingdoms so that we could understand what he desired to impart, and he gave it as a parable, in order to assist our weak comprehensions to understand something about Mercury, Venus, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and others of the various worlds that he has formed. ... Do we not expect that the Lord will, by and by, come and visit us and stay a little while, about a thousand years. Yes, and then we shall be made glad with the joy of the countenance of our Lord. ... [p.332] Then what? He withdraws. What for? To fulfill other purposes; for he has other worlds or creations and other sons and daughters, perhaps just as good as those dwelling on this planet, and they, as well as we, will be visited, and they will be made glad with the countenance of their Lord.

and eternal presence of the Lord their God. I mean those who are made celestial, not those who are in the lower orders, who are governed by telestial laws, but those who are exalted to the highest degree of glory, those who will be made kings and priests, those who have kept celestial law, obeyed celestial ordinances, and received the Priesthood which God has ordained, and to which he has given power and authority to administer and to seal on earth that it may be sealed in heaven.

John Taylor, JD 17:370, 8 Apr 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Man was created in the image of God, and he was the offspring of Deity himself, and consequently made in his likeness; and being made in that likeness, he was a son of God, and the very object of his being planted upon the earth was that he might multiply.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:25, 11 Apr 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God is determined to raise up Prophets among that people [the ten tribes], but he will not bestow upon them all the fullness of the blessings of the Priesthood. The fullness will be reserved to be given to them after they come to Zion. But Prophets will be among them while in the north, and a portion of the Priesthood will be there...

Orson Pratt, JD 18:25, 11 Apr 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What particular blessing has the Lord for Ephraim? He holds the birthright. "Ephraim is my first-born," saith the Lord in the 31st chapter of Jeremiah. The first-born in the great latter-day work, holding the keys of blessings for all the twelve tribes of Israel. God has an order in his kingdom.

WIlford Woodruff, JD 18:32, 27 Jun 1875, Salt Lake City, Second Ward

Children are taken away in their infancy, and they go to the spirit world. They come here and fulfill the object of their coming, that is, they tabernacle in the flesh. They come to receive a probation and an inheritance on the earth; they obtain a body or tabernacle, and that tabernacle will be preserved for them, and in the morning of the resurrection the spirits and bodies will be reunited, and as here we find children of various ages in a family, from the infant at the mother's breast to manhood, so will it be in the family organization in the celestial world. Our children will be restored to us as they are laid down if we, their parents, keep the faith and prove ourselves worthy to obtain eternal life; and if we do not so prove ourselves our children will still be preserved, and will inherit celestial glory.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:49, 11 Jul 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Supposing it had been possible for Adam and Eve, before they fell, to have had children, what kind of children would they have been? Would mortal children have descended from immortality without any transgression? Would people of flesh and blood and bones come into the world from immortal parents? No.

Gospel Mysteries

Orson Pratt, JD 18:167, 18 Jul 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

In the great latter-day work, then, the Lord will search after the descendants of Ephraim and Manasseh, and will bring them also to the knowledge of the truth.

Brigham Young, JD 18:71, 31 Aug 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...Because a man is ordained an Apostle it does not prove that he belongs to the Quorum of the Apostles.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 18:109, 12 Sep 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

In no age or dispensation can a man be called to a greater calling than to administer in the ordinances of the house of God, and nothing but the power of God and the inspiration of the Almighty can sustain and uphold any man, no matter what age he may live in, who is called of God to declare the words of life and salvation, and to preach repentance to an unbelieving generation.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 18:110, 12 Sep 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The parable of the ten virgins is intended to represent the second coming of the Son of man, the coming of the Bridegroom to meet the bride, the Church, the Lamb's wife, in the last days; and I expect that the Savior was about right when he said, in reference to the members of the Church, that five of them were wise and five were foolish; for when the Lord of heaven comes in power and great glory to reward every man according to the deeds done in the body, if he finds one-half of those professing to be members of his Church prepared for salvation, it will be as many as can be expected, judging by the course that many are pursuing.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 18:113, 12 Sep 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Millennium is dawning upon the world, we are at the end of the sixth thousand years, and the great day of rest, the Millennium of which the Lord has spoken, will soon dawn and the Savior will come in the clouds of heaven to reign over his people on the earth one thousand years.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 18:117, 12 Sep 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I do not expect that more than half of us will have oil in our lamps and be prepared to enter into the marriage supper with the Bridegroom. ... It seems to me that there will be but a remnant even of the Latter-day Saints who will be prepared to inherit eternal life and for the coming of the bridegroom.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 18:93, 6 Oct 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

And he that believes, is baptized and receives the light and testimony of Jesus Christ, and walks well for a season, receiving the fullness of the blessings of the Gospel in this world, and afterwards turns wholly unto sin, violating his covenants, he will be among those whom the Gospel can never reach in the spirit world; all such go beyond its saving power, they will taste the second death, and be banished from the presence of God eternally.

Gospel Mysteries

Daniel H. Wells, JD 18:100, 7 Oct 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

No man can get a greater evidence of the Lord's having forgiven him his sins, than the knowledge that he has actually turned away from them, and that he is living in obedience to the principles of the holy Gospel. Every man and every woman knows this for himself or herself, and if they have, then may they know that the Lord has forgiven them their sins, and not without.

Daniel H. Wells, JD 18:102, 7 Oct 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

This earthly probation is a day of trial. We have to pass through tests and ordeals, and have to prove ourselves worthy to be numbered among that great company who will stand as saviors upon Mount Zion, with the very impress of deity upon them -- the name of God written upon their foreheads.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 18:127, 8 Oct 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Our lives have been hid with Christ in God, and we are heirs of the eternal Priesthood, through the lineage of our fathers. Thus saith the Lord through the mouth of the Prophet Joseph Smith, who sealed his testimony with his blood, and his testimony from that hour has been in force upon all the world.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:131, 9 Oct 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

It is an easy matter for the Great Jehovah to manifest himself, if he pleases so to do, upon a mountain or hill, or in the secret closet; or while we slumber upon our pillows by night, the visions of eternity may be opened to our minds, and we may receive great consolation, joy and peace, through the manifestations given us by the gift and power of the Holy Ghost.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:132, 9 Oct 1875, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

Since that time buildings have been reared to the name of the Most High, and the Priesthood have been called together, and the councils of the Priesthood have been blessed, endowments have been made manifest, and ordinances of endowments, keys of endowments, signs and tokens of endowments, and principles calculated to give joy and to impart happiness, for the Lord had commanded, that in the midst of Zion, life for ever more should be poured out upon the fallen sons and daughters of his people.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 18:275, 8 Apr 1876, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

The Holy Ghost is a personage who acts in Christ's stead. ... Without the aid of the Holy Spirit no mortal can walk in the straight and narrow way, being unable to discern right from wrong, the genuine from the counterfeit, so nearly alike can they be made to appear.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 18:277, 8 Apr 1876, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

He [Jesus] had power to lay down his life and take it up again, and if we keep inviolate the covenants of the Gospel, remaining faithful and true to the end, we too, in his name and through his redeeming blood, will have power in due time to resurrect these our bodies after they shall have been committed to the earth.

Brigham Young, JD 18:213, 15 Aug 1876, Logan

There are very few of the children of Father Adam and Mother Eve, who will be prepared to go into the Celestial Kingdom. Those who prepare themselves here below, through obedience to the Gospel, receiving through their faithfulness the keys of the Priesthood, and sanctifying themselves through the truth, they are preparing themselves to become the sons of God. If we become the sons of God, we shall be joint heirs with Jesus Christ to all the inheritances that the Father hath prepared for the faithful. But there are few of all the human family that will ever attain to this highest state of glory.

Brigham Young, JD 18:217, 15 Aug 1876, Logan

It is for us to choose whether we will be sons and daughters, joint heirs with Jesus Christ, or whether we accept an inferior glory; or whether we sin against the Holy Ghost, which cannot be pardoned or forgiven in this world, nor in the world to come; the penalty of which is to suffer the second death. What is that we call death, compared to the agonies of the second death? If people could see it, as Joseph and Sidney saw it, they would pray that the vision be closed up; for they could not endure the sight. Neither could they endure the sight of the Father and the Son in their glory, for it would consume them.

Brigham Young, JD 18:231, 17 Sep 1876, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is said in this book [the Bible] that God made the earth in six days. This is a mere term, but it matters not whether it took six days, six months, six years, or six thousand years. The creation occupied certain periods of time. We are not authorized to say what the duration of these days was, whether Moses penned these words as we have them, or whether the translators of the Bible have given the words their intended meaning.

George Q. Cannon, JD 18:254, 17 Sep 1876, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The heathen believes his doctrine and teaches it to his children. Belief alone is not sufficient. We must know, if we ever get eternal life. "To know God and Jesus Christ whom he has sent, is life eternal."

Brigham Young, JD 18:258, 8 Oct 1876, Salt Lake City, Conference

That is, spirits were begotten, born and educated in the celestial world, and were brought forth by celestial bodies.

Brigham Young, JD 18:259, 8 Oct 1876, Salt Lake City, Conference

When they receive their crowns, their dominions, they then will be prepared to frame earth's like unto ours and to people them in the same manner as we have been brought forth by our parents, by our Father and God.

Brigham Young, JD 18:260, 8 Oct 1876, Salt Lake City, Conference

The great and grand secret of salvation, which we should continually seek to understand through our faithfulness, is the continuation of the lives. Those of the Latter-day Saints who will continue to follow after the revelations and commandments of God to do them, who are found to be obedient in all things, continually advancing little by little towards perfection and the knowledge of God, they, when they enter the spirit world and receive their bodies, will be able to advance faster in the things pertaining to the knowledge of the Gods, and will continue onward and upward until they become Gods, even the sons of God.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:297, 12 Nov 1876, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We shall have the power of locomotion; and like Jesus, after his resurrection, we shall be able to mount up and pass from one world to another. We shall not be confined to our native earth. There are many worlds inhabited by people who are glorified, for heaven is not one place, but many; heaven is not one world but many.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:320, 3 Dec 1876, Salt Lake City, 20th Ward

I have no doubt there will be a certain degree of the glory of the immortal beings withheld from the children of mortality, during the whole period of the millennium. Kings and priests will come here to reign, and will mingle freely with their children of whom they are ancestors. And those who are mortal can receive instruction from those who are immortal, that will prepare them for the time when the earth is to undergo a still greater change. The children of mortality will need this preparation in order to live when this earth is burning up, which is to be its final destiny.

John Taylor, JD 18:328, 31 Dec 1876, Salt Lake City, 7th Ward

For Satan had already been struggling in the heavens among the sons of God, from whom he dissented, and thus he became the devil, and they that took sides with him became his angels.

John Taylor, JD 18:334, 31 Dec 1876, Salt Lake City, 7th Ward

The component parts of man can no more become the flesh of beasts or fishes than gold can become silver, lead turn to iron, or copper to gold. Each is separate and distinct from the other.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:343, 25 Feb 1877, Salt Lake City, 18th Ward

Perhaps you may be anxious to know what "Ondi-Ahman" means. It means the place where Adam dwelt. "Ahman" signifies God. The whole term means Valley of God, where Adam dwelt. It is in the original language spoken by Adam, as revealed to the Prophet Joseph.

Orson Pratt, JD 18:347, 25 Feb 1877, Salt Lake City, 18th Ward

Gospel Mysteries

The earth must be resurrected again, as well as our bodies; its elements will be re-united, and they will be brought together by the power of God's word. He will then so organize these elements now constituted upon this earth, that there will be no curse attached to any of its compound thus made.

Daniel H. Wells, JD 18:369-370, 6 Apr 1877, St. George, Temple Dedication

Holy Father, we dedicate unto thee the furniture and utensils used in the holy washings, anointings and ceremonies of this thy holy House; also the curtains and frames for partitions; together with [p.370] the altars and their cushions...

Brigham Young, JD 19:4, 19 Apr 1877, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

When we become sanctified in the truth, and our faith, through the Gospel of the Son of God, becomes sufficiently powerful we will be able to remove the thorns and thistles and obnoxious weeds that grow immediately around us, and to bless and sanctify our gardens and farms, so that they will bring forth spontaneously the fruits and flowers, the cereals and vegetables that sustain life; and upon this principle as righteousness extends will the whole earth eventually be redeemed and sanctified, when all things will be as they were in the beginning, when the Lord finished the earth and pronounced everything to be "very good."

Orson Pratt, JD 18:363, 13 May 1877, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The higher Priesthood after the order of the Son of God, we are told, in a modern revelation, holds the power to commune with the Church of the First-born that are in heaven, and that too not in a spiritual sense alone; or, as some would infer, to commune with them without receiving any revelation, to commune with them without beholding their personages; but in the literal sense, even the same as one man communes with another. It holds not only the power of the ministration of holy angels to be seen personally, but also the power of beholding the face of God the Father, that through the power and manifestations of the spirit of God and of his angels we may be prepared to enter into the presence of God the Father in the world to come, and enjoy continual communion with him, and be crowned with the glory of the celestial kingdom, to stand in our place and calling to all eternity, in connection with all those who hold the Priesthood in the eternal worlds.

Brigham Young, JD 19:33, 18 May 1877, Logan, Temple Site Dedication

Into this house, when it is completed, we expect to enter to enjoy the blessings of the priesthood, and receive our washings, our anointings, our endowments, and our sealings; and the brethren will be sealed to brethren to connect the links and make perfect the chain from ourselves to Father Adam.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:16, 20 May 1877, Logan

When the Temple was built, the Lord did not see proper to reveal all the ordinances of the Endowments such as we now understand. He revealed little by little. No rooms were prepared for washings; no special place prepared for the anointings, such as you understand, and such as you comprehend at the period of the history of the Church! Neither did we know the necessity of the washings, such as we now receive. It is true, our hands were washed, our faces and our feet. The Prophet Joseph was commanded to gird himself with a towel, doing this in the Temple. What for? That the first Elder might witness to our Father and God, that we were clean from the blood of that wicked generation, that then lived. We had gone forth according to our best ability, to publish glad tidings of great joy, for thousands of miles, upon this continent. After this we were called in, and this washing of hands and feet was to testify to God that we were clean from the blood of this generation. The holy anointing was placed upon the heads of his servants, but not the full development of the Endowments in the anointing.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:18, 20 May 1877, Logan

He has said that his people are always to build unto his name a house. What for? That his name might be there; that his angels might be there; that his presence might be there; and that there the fullness of the holy Priesthood might be more fully revealed; and that there all the ordinances might be performed, that were ordained from before the foundation of the world. This is the object of Temples.

Brigham Young, JD 19:36-37, 17 Jun 1877, Farmington

These treasures that are in the earth [p.37] are carefully watched, they can be removed from place to place according to the good pleasure of Him who made them and owns them. He has his messengers at his service, and it is just as easy for an angel to remove the minerals from any part of one of these mountains to another, as it is for you and me to walk up and down this hall.

Brigham Young, JD 19:66-67, 19 Jul 1877, Ogden, Tabernacle

What is the difference between a Saint of God and an angel of God? One is clothed upon with mortality, the other has passed through mortality and has received the celestial glory of our heavenly Father, and is free from the contaminating influences of sin that we have to contend with. This is the difference. We ask the question, can mortal beings [p.67] live so that they are worthy of the society of angels? I can answer the question for myself -- I believe that they can; I am sure that they can. But in doing this, they must subdue the sin that is within themselves, correct every influence that arises within their own hearts that is opposed to the sanctifying influences of the grace of God, and purify themselves by their faith and by their conduct, so that they are worthy. Then they are prepared for the society of angels. To be Saints indeed, requires every wrong influence that is within them, as individuals, to be subdued, until every evil desire is eradicated, and every feeling of their hearts is brought into entire subjection to the will of Christ.

John Taylor, JD 19:124, 7 Oct 1877, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

You heard too that although the Priesthood held certain powers and privileges, the manifestations and powers thereof were only conferred according to the exigencies of the case and the necessities and requirements thereof. God has conferred upon us these blessings, but here are certain manifestations and powers that must come directly from him, and it is the duty of the Twelve to hunt up, search after, pray for and obtain them; and it is also the duty of these Presidents of Stakes, Bishops, High Priests, Seventies, and all men holding prominent positions, to seek after and comprehend God, whom to know is life everlasting.

George Q. Cannon, JD 19:235-236, 8 Oct 1877, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Was it necessary that Elder Taylor should be set apart to preside over this people? was it [p.236] necessary that the Twelve Apostles should be set apart to preside over this people? No, it was not, for they already possessed the power, authority and ordination. Was it necessary for the Prophet Joseph Smith to set apart Brigham or Heber or Willard, or any of the rest of the Twelve Apostles? No, for the same reason, they had received the fullness of the Holy Priesthood, the full endowment and the keys, and the authority, and the fullness of the Apostleship; therefore it was not necessary.

Charles C. Rich, JD 19:164, 11 Nov 1877, Paris, Idaho, Conference

There are ordinances that can only be administered in a Temple, hence the importance of completing the Temple so that these ordinances may be administered for the living and for the dead. In relation to this deviation from this rule pertaining to sealings and endowments, we understand that the Priesthood is greater than the Temple, and that which is sealed on earth by those holding the keys, is sealed in heaven.

John Taylor, JD 19:155, 14 Nov 1877, 14th Ward

But there are certain eternal laws among the Gods in the eternal worlds which render it necessary that mankind shall go through certain ordeals and observe certain ordinances and be governed by certain laws before they can be exalted in the kingdom of God.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:178, 2 Dec 1877, 14th Ward

We can only go about so far with our natural sight; but there is a faculty in every man and woman which is now sleeping in a dormant state; and as soon as it is touched by the spirit of the Lord, we shall be enabled to see a new world of things as it were, mysteries will be opened up and we will perceive naturally as if they were written, and in this way we shall be able to learn very rapidly indeed. If we want a knowledge of this world or of ourselves, when our spirits were born, or if we desire to know things that took place before the foundations of the world were laid or the nucleus was formed, when the sons of God shouted for joy, if we desired to know these things it would only be necessary for the Spirit of the Lord to touch the vision of our minds and light up our understanding and we could gaze upon things past for thousands of generations of worlds before the earth was made, and we could see the succession of worlds that have been and were in existence long before this earth was formed, we could see the ordeals through which they had passed, see them brought into existence and passing through their several changes and finally become glorified celestial mansions in the presence of God.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:214, 9 Dec 1877, 12th Ward

You will perceive, Latter-day Saints, how this Urim and Thummim was formed in the first place. It was not something that existed on the earth in a natural state, it was something made by the Lord. He is a good mechanic, he understands how to make things.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:291, 1878, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

It is doubtful whether the children of mortality on other worlds, will ever behold the light of this earth, after it is made eternal, unless they happen to catch a glimpse of it by vision. God dwells in a world of light too glorious for mortal eyes to behold, unless aided by the Spirit of the living God.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:292, 1878, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

There may be a process of communication by means of celestial, heavenly light, that will far outstrip the natural light which proceeds from yonder luminaries in our heavens. It may be that this natural light travels very slowly, compared with the light that proceeds forth from celestial worlds, wherever they may be situated.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:293, 1878, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

What has the Lord said to us, Latter-day Saints, concerning these planets [DC 88]? He says, all these are kingdoms, to which he has given laws. And he likens these worlds, or kingdoms, unto a man having a field, and he sent forth his servants to dig in this field. ... Why was it necessary, that there should be a withdrawal of the presence of the Lord in visiting the different worlds? I think it was necessary, so far as mortality is concerned, and indicates that the inhabitants of these different planets are fallen, as we are.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:294, 1878, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

To be in the presence of God, then, is simply to have the veil withdrawn, which will be done when we prove ourselves worthy of celestial glory.

Orson Pratt, JD 19:289, 1878, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Hence, when the materials of our body shall come together again to be reorganized, our bodies will be a little different to what they are now. Blood will not then flow in the arteries and veins of the immortal male and female; for blood leads to death -- leads to change; but instead of blood will flow the pure Spirit of the living God.

Charles C. Rich, JD 19:250, 10 Feb 1878, Paris, Idaho

It was a long time after the Prophet Joseph Smith had received the keys of the kingdom of God, and after Hyrum and others had received many blessings, that the Lord gave Joseph a revelation, to show him and others how they could ask for and receive certain blessings. We read in the revelations of St. John, that the Saints are to receive a white stone, "and in the stone a new name, which no man knoweth save him that receiveth it." Joseph tells us that this new name is a key-word, which can only be obtained through the endowments. This is one of the keys and blessings that will be bestowed upon the Saints in these last days, for which we should be very thankful.

Erastus Snow, JD 19:269, 3 Mar 1878, Beaver City

If I believe anything that God has ever said about himself, and anything pertaining to the creation and organization of man upon the earth, I must believe that Deity consists of man and woman.

Erastus Snow, JD 19:275, 3 Mar 1878, Beaver City

Now the term devil we use also as a term representing a power that is at the head of the rebellion against God our Father. A power that stands at the head of that organized rebellion. A power that governs all evil spirits. He is called in the Scriptures that old Serpent, the devil, and Satan, and Lucifer, and a variety of names. These are applied to him, and all representing the chief power over that organized rebellion, that governs and controls these evil spirits, and that power holds the power of death over mortality, and over man in the flesh. And why and how do they obtain that power? I have said by influencing the parents in the first place, and then by influencing their posterity after them, and violating the laws of their being, and thereby subjecting themselves to dissolution and death.

Erastus Snow, JD 19:276, 3 Mar 1878, Beaver City

That immortal tabernacle, that incorruptible, will have no blood circulating in its veins.

Erastus Snow, JD 19:277, 3 Mar 1878, Beaver City

And when he [Jesus] was raised from the dead he was quickened by the spirit, by the spirit and power of the Father, and the life that was in him was not the life infused by the circulation of the blood, it was not that that kept the machinery of this organism in motion, it was the element called spirit. And this is the essential difference between the mortal and immortal.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 19:299, 6 Apr 1878, Conference

And I wish all Israel to understand that when we impart of our substance to build Temples that we do not do it to benefit the Lord at all, he [the Lord] had his endowments a long time before we were born, and also passed through his probation. We are his children, he wishes to exalt us back to his presence, and he knows very well we are obliged to walk in the same path and receive the same ordinances in order to inherit the same glory that surrounds him.

George Q. Cannon, JD 20:6, 7 Apr 1878, Salt Lake City, Conference

I have said, and I firmly believe, that the day will most assuredly come when the people of these mountains will become a great factor in the settlement of differences, in the preservation of human rights in the future, in the great contests which seem ready to burst upon us at any moment.

Orson Pratt, JD 20:18, 23 Jun 1878, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

For it will be remembered that animals did not devour one another until after the fall, neither was there any death, until after the fall. What did they eat, then? The Lord said, "To every beast of the field, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat." The grass, and the herbs, and every green thing were their food. And Adam and Eve ate fruits and vegetables, not animal flesh.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 19:361, 30 Jun 1878, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

No man can enter into the kingdom of God except he is born of the water and of the Spirit. Men may be judged and their bodies lie in the grave until the last resurrection, to come forth and receive of a telestial glory, but no man will receive of the celestial glory except it be through the ordinances of the House of God.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 20:28, 7 Jul 1878, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

In other words, some of the Saints have said, and believe, that a man with one wife, sealed to him by the authority of the Priesthood for time and eternity, will receive an exaltation as great and glorious, if he is faithful, as he possibly could with more than one. I want here to enter my solemn protest against this idea, for I know it is false. There is no blessing promised except upon conditions, and no blessing can be obtained by mankind except by faithful compliance with the conditions, or law, upon which the same is promised. The marriage of one woman to a man for time and eternity by the sealing power, according to the law of God, is a fulfillment of the celestial law in part -- and is good as far as it goes -- and so far as a man abides these conditions of the law, he will receive his reward therefore, and this reward, or blessing, he could not obtain on any other grounds or conditions. But this is only the beginning of the law, not the whole of it. Therefore, whoever has imagined that he could obtain the fullness of the blessings pertaining to this celestial law, by complying with only a portion of its conditions, has deceived himself. He cannot do it.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 20:30, 7 Jul 1878, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What we do not learn relative to the salvation of our souls which are our bodies and spirits, in this probation we will have to learn in the eternity which lies before us, for we cannot be saved without knowledge. "But what if we never get knowledge?" Then we never will be saved. Suppose we live and die without knowledge? Then, if we ever obtain salvation we will have to get it in the next world...

Joseph F. Smith, JD 20:30, 7 Jul 1878, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

"But," says one, "how will it be with good men who believe the doctrine [of plural marriage], but are prevented, or cannot enter into the practice of it?" I reply that every man and woman will receive all that they are worthy of, and something thrown in perhaps, on the score of the boundless charity of God. But who can justly expect to obtain more than they merit? All the judgments of God are not given unto man.

Orson Pratt, JD 20:74-75, 25 Aug 1878, 13th Ward

It was the Lord whom we serve, the Supreme Ruler of the universe, who organizes and disorganizes according to his own will and pleasure. He garnishes the heavens in his wisdom and builds the vast superstructure of the universe, as a very handy work. He brings into life and being new worlds [p.75] and disorganizes them, scattering the elements, and again brings them together by his power or by the laws he has ordained, and by his laws makes new creations, new worlds, and new universes, and inhabits them with myriads and myriads of intelligent beings? This is the work of the great Supreme Ruler of all things.

Orson Pratt, JD 20:74, 25 Aug 1878, 13th Ward

How many organizations the materials of our earth have undergone before they were organized according to the revelations given to Moses, are not revealed.

John Taylor, JD 21:59, 21 Sep 1878, Ogden, Weber Stake

The Lord has blessed us with endowments and covenants of which the world know nothing, neither can they know anything about it. And he has given unto us these things that we might be brought into closer union with God, that we might know how to save ourselves, our wives and children, as well as our fathers and progenitors who have gone before us.

John Taylor, JD 20:131, 1 Dec 1878, Bountiful

To speak of these laws, God himself is governed by law, and the Priesthood in the eternal world are governed by law, just as much as his works are.

John Taylor, JD 20:133, 1 Dec 1878, Bountiful

He has placed in our power certain principles which are the offspring of God, which have emanated from him, in regard to endowments and anointings and other intelligence which it would not be proper to speak of at the present time.

Orson Pratt, JD 20:155, 9 Mar 1879, London

The earth will have to pass away the same as our bodies do, and the dust thereof be mingled in a chaotic form. But that same being who organized the earth will again speak, and eternity will again hear his voice, and the materials of our earth will come together again, and when it unites them in one, and forms them into a world, a habitation for immortal beings; for kings and for priests, and for those that have been faithful to the end.

Erastus Snow, JD 20:186-187, 6 Apr 1879, Conference

...The devil who deluded them, will rejoice over them until, peradventure, the time shall come when the long-suffering and mercy [p.187] of an indulgent Father shall cause him to send messengers from the terrestrial or celestial world, as the case may be, to see if there are any among them who, by their sad experience, have learned to appreciate the light, and are yearning for a better condition. And if they do, the offer of salvation may again be made to them, and they, through the means that our Savior has wrought out for them, and through the ordinances of the House of God, and the servants and handmaidens of God who may be called priests and priestesses, to administer for and in their behalf.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 20:188, 7 Apr 1879, Salt Lake City, Conference

The Lord proposes to confer the highest blessings upon the Latter-day Saints; but, like Abraham, we must prepare ourselves for them, and to do this the same law that was given to him of the Lord has been given to us for our observance. We are also required to arrive at a state of perfection before the Lord; and the Lord in this case, the same as in every other, has not made a requirement that cannot be complied with, but on the other hand, He has placed for the use of the Latter-day Saints the means by which they can conform to His holy order.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 20:189, 7 Apr 1879, Salt Lake City, Conference

But we are subject to folly, to the weakness of the flesh, and we are more or less ignorant, thereby liable to err. Yes, but that is no reason why we should not feel desirous to comply with this command of God [plural marriage], especially seeing that he has placed within our reach the means of accomplishing this work. This I understand is the meaning of the word perfection, as expressed by our Savior and by the Lord to Abraham. A person may be perfect in regard to some things and not others.

Aurelius Miner, JD 20:235, 11 May 1879, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It was by the power of faith that God created the heavens and the earth, and if God could by the power of faith organize these vast planets which revolve in the most perfect order through space, if, I say, that he could do this by the power of faith, how great a portion of that power would it take to remove the Wasatch range? Not a very large proportion. ... Do you fast and pray according to the ordinances of this system, through which the power of God is obtained? If you have not, then your ministrations were in vain because you failed to comply with the conditions.

John Taylor, JD 21:4, 31 Aug 1879, Logan

It is in consonance with the fore-ordained plan of the Almighty that a man should pass through certain trials and difficulties, and be tested in every possible way, in order to be prepared for an exaltation in the kingdom of God.

John Taylor, JD 21:8, 31 Aug 1879, Logan

When the people shall have torn to shreds the Constitution of the United States the Elders of Israel will be found holding it up to the nations of the earth and proclaiming liberty and equal rights to all men, and extending the hand of fellowship to the oppressed of all nations.

Erastus Snow, JD 21:24, Oct 1879, Brigham City

Gospel Mysteries

The wonderful mechanism of the nervous system, through which the spirit makes it impressions upon the body, is, as it were, an intermediate organism between the fine spiritual body and the coarser elements of the tabernacle.

George Q. Cannon, JD 21:76-77, 5 Oct 1879, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is our duty though to contend for more faith, for greater power, for clearer revelations, for better understanding concerning his great truths as he communicates them to us. That is our duty; that is the object of our lives as Latter-day [p.77] Saints -- to live so near unto him that nothing can happen to us but that we will be prepared for it beforehand.

George Q. Cannon, JD 21:78, 5 Oct 1879, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Why, the devil would have no power on the earth if it were not for some people who allow him to use their tabernacles.

Orson Pratt, JD 24:25, 26 Oct 1879, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...The Lord is not confined to an exact pattern in relation to these Temples building in the different Stakes any more than He is confined in the creation of worlds to make them all of the same size. He does not make them all of one size, nor does He construct any in many respects alike; there is a variation as much as there is in human form. Take men and women. There are general outlines that are common to all, but did you ever see two faces alike among all the millions of the human family? What a great variety, and yet all are constructed in general outline alike -- after the image of God. So in regard to the building of Temples. The Lord will not confine Himself to any one special method to be so many feet long, so many feet wide, and so many places for the Priesthood to stand, but He will construct His Temples in a great variety of ways, and by and by, when the more perfect order shall exist we shall construct them, through the aid of revelation, in accordance with the Temples that exist in yonder heaven.

George Q. Cannon, JD 21:267, 2 Nov 1879, Hyde Park

And so with the great events that will take place in the future; they will come along in so natural a manner, the Lord will bring them to pass in such a way that they will not be accepted by the people, except by those who can comprehend the truth, as the fulfillment of the predictions of the prophets.

George Q. Cannon, JD 21:269, 2 Nov 1879, Hyde Park

For the day of God's power in the redemption of Zion will come. But I do not expect that to come upon us all of a sudden. I expect that it will be the natural result of the natural growth of the people in the things of God.

George Q. Cannon, JD 21:269, 2 Nov 1879, Hyde Park

Who can conceive of any power that was lacking? Who had power to promise unto man that they should be kings and priests unto God? And in addition to that, who had the power to seal upon them the actual kingly and priestly dignity and confirm upon them the fullness of it, and also to give them promises respecting the Godhead that should be fulfilled upon them, and if faithful, to come forth in the morning of the first resurrection?

George Q. Cannon, JD 21:270, 2 Nov 1879, Hyde Park

...President Young and the Twelve Apostles, whose President at the death of the Prophet Joseph he was, actually received under the hands of the Prophet Joseph, every key, and power, and authority that he himself possessed, and that they actually did take hold and complete the temple he started, and endowed their fellow servants therein with the same authority and the same priestly and kingly dignity that they had received from under his hands.

George Q. Cannon, JD 21:270, 2 Nov 1879, Hyde Park

...One temple, at least, has been completed, while three others are in process of erection, which we hope will soon be completed, into which buildings the Saints of God can enter and receive their endowments, receive their washings and anointings and sealings and ordinances, and have the keys of the holy priesthood bestowed upon them, which they can exercise in the right way for the building up of the work of God.

Orson Pratt, JD 21:200, 12 Nov 1879, Mount Pleasant

We learn, therefore, when speaking of this spiritual creation, that not only all the children of men, of all generations, and of all ages, were created spiritually in heaven, but that fish and fowls, and beast, and all animated things, having life, were first made spiritual in heaven, on the fifth and sixth days, before bodies of flesh were prepared for them on the earth; and that there was no flesh upon the earth until the morning of the seventh day.

Orson Pratt, JD 21:201, 12 Nov 1879, Mount Pleasant

We are also told that the earth was organized in a spiritual form, that is, that portion that gives life to the earth. We read about the earth's dying, and that it shall be quickened again. What is it that will make the earth die? It will be the withdrawing of the spiritual portion from it, that which gives it life -- that which animates it, and causes it to bring forth fruit; that which quickens the earth is the Spirit of God.

Orson Pratt, JD 21:205, 12 Nov 1879, Mount Pleasant

In this new creation [celestial earth] the tree of life will flourish and grow. All beings that partake of the fruit of the tree of life will be constituted, so that they will live for ever and ever.

H. W. Naisbitt, JD 21:39, 23 Nov 1879, Salt Lake City, 13th Ward

Salvation, in its largest aspect, consists in the proportion of truth received; men and women only are saved in proportion to the truth which they appropriate. An ignorant man will only obtain the salvation which belongs to the ignorant. The idler will only obtain that salvation which belongs to an idle man.

Gospel Mysteries

C. W. Penrose, JD 21:46, 29 Nov 1879, Provo, Tabernacle

When the human body is in a healthy condition, the spirit that dwells therein animates every portion; but when the body gets into an unhealthy condition, there are parts of it through which the spirit does not circulate.

C. W. Penrose, JD 21:49, 29 Nov 1879, Provo, Tabernacle

But we read that the Melchizedek priesthood contains greater powers than that. It not only holds the keys of the ministration of angels, but of communion with the heavenly Jerusalem, the general assembly and church of the first-born with Jesus Christ the Mediator of the new covenant and God the highest and holiest of all. And the time will come when under this priesthood to those who hold this authority and calling, and have the spirit of it and minister in that spirit and obtain the power thereof, the Lord will unveil his face and they shall gaze upon his glory.

C. W. Penrose, JD 21:51, 29 Nov 1879, Provo, Tabernacle

This is why he has given unto us laws with regard to the marriage relations, that Israel shall not marry Gentiles; that Israel shall wed Israel; that the daughters of God shall marry the sons of God, etc., in order that our children may be heirs to the blessings pertaining to the everlasting covenant, that by and by there may be a race of men and women upon the earth who will be holy unto the Lord, born with natural desires in them to do right, which they have inherited from their parents...

Joseph F. Smith, JD 21:10, 7 Dec 1879, Salt Lake City, 17th Ward

And as he has here stated, as having come from the mouth of the Prophet, this doctrine of eternal union of husband and wife, and of plural marriage, is one of the most important doctrines ever revealed to man in any age of the world. Without it man would come to a full stop; without it we never could be exalted to associate with and become gods, neither could we attain to the power of eternal increase, or the blessings pronounced upon, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, the fathers of the faithful.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 21:12, 7 Dec 1879, Salt Lake City, 17th Ward

Herein is the difference between the second and the first death, herein man became spiritually dead; for from the first death he may be redeemed by the blood of Christ through obedience to the laws and ordinances of the Gospel, but from the second there is no redemption at all.

John Taylor, JD 21:159, 7 Dec 1879, 14th Ward

Whenever men are placed in communication with God and are in possession of the Gospel of the Son of God, it brings life and immortality to light, and places them in relationship with God that other men know nothing about.

John Taylor, JD 21:15, 8 Feb 1880, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

Gospel Mysteries

Permit me to say there are eternal laws that exist with the Gods in the eternal worlds, and from which they cannot depart, and to which they are bound in all their acts, I was going to say as we are, but I will say not as we are, but as we ought to be, subject to the law of God in all our acts, and that it is absolutely necessary that men should be placed in a state of trial, in a state of probation.

John Taylor, JD 21:18, 8 Feb 1880, Salt Lake City, 14th Ward

It is said that God has made of one blood all nations of the earth, yet there are certain classes of men among the nations just as much as there are certain classes of metals. ... There are bodies celestial, there are bodies terrestrial, there are bodies telestial. ... This distinction arises from the acts of men, as it is said "Ye are servants to whom you yield yourselves servants to obey."

John Taylor, JD 21:210, 1 Mar 1880, Kaysville

And if we have received any office, or calling, or authority, or any power to administer in any of the ordinances, we have received that from the hand of God, and we can only perform these ordinances according to the priesthood we are permitted to possess.

H. W. Naisbitt, JD 21:111, 7 Mar 1880, 10th Ward

Now, if we would cultivate this spirit, if we would listen to its teachings, it would come to us in many ways, in visions, in dreams and manifestations of the power of God. We could have the ministrations of angels, and many of us probably the ministration of the Son -- as some have done in the history and experience of this Church -- and this is the position to which we will all arrive if we are faithful to the great trust that is laid upon us; we shall not only enjoy the society of "an innumerable company of angels," not only come "to the general assembly and church of the firstborn," but we shall also be privileged to go to Jesus, and to God the Father of us all and there bask in his presence and be educated in his ways and sit down to the glory which awaits the just.

John Taylor, JD 21:247, 21 Mar 1880, Ogden, Tabernacle

Then when they [the children of Israel] were short of food he supplied them with angel's food, manna.

John Taylor, JD 21:253, 21 Mar 1880, Ogden, Tabernacle

And then when the time comes that these calamities we read of, shall overtake the earth, those that are prepared will have the power of translation, as they had in former times, and the city will be translated. And Zion that is on the earth will rise, and the Zion above will descend, as we are told, and we will meet and fall on each other's necks and embrace and kiss each other.

Gospel Mysteries

But do you know that Jesus is the Christ? No, you cannot know unless you get a revelation from God to that effect. You may believe that Jesus is the Christ, you may have been trained up in that belief, but you cannot know it unless God shall reveal it to you. It is only by the power of the Holy Ghost, that this knowledge can come to the children of men, neither can knowledge come to any one concerning the things of God, except by the same spirit.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 22:90, 1 May 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But if men believe in God, they must also believe in Jesus Christ as the Savior of the world, as the Redeemer of man; they must believe he is the Son of God, because all men come to God by Jesus Christ. His [Jesus Christ's] name is the key word of salvation.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:121, 6 Jun 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We live in the generation itself when Jesus Christ will come in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:126, 6 Jun 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now, those who have got oil in their lamps, are men who live their religion, pay their tithing, pay their debts, keep the commandments of God, and do not blaspheme his name; men and women who will not sell their birthright for a mess of pottage or for a little gold or silver; these are those that will be valiant in the testimony of Jesus Christ.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:196, 3 Jul 1880, Salt Lake City

No other angels are coming from any other world to administer in this dispensation; those men will minister who dwelt here in the flesh.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:196, 3 Jul 1880, Salt Lake City

Joseph Smith, I expect, will sound the sixth trumpet.

Orson Pratt, JD 21:287, 18 Jul 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The inhabitants of heaven, who were selected to come on this creation, were agents, just as much as we are. They had a law given to them, just as much as we have. They had penalties affixed to that law, just the same as we have. They could keep that law given to them in heaven, just as well as we could keep a law given to us. They could rebel against that law, because of their agency, the same as we rebel against the laws of heaven.

John Taylor, JD 22:201, 18 Jul 1880, Ogden, Tabernacle

No man has a right to use his priesthood to carry on his own peculiar ideas, or to set himself up as a standard, with the exception of the First Presidency, and they have no right to do it unless God be with them, and sustain them, and they are upheld by the people.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:109, 25 Jul 1880, 14th Ward

Many will fall by the wayside, many will lose their faith, many will be led away by false and seducing spirits; but there will be those who will be saved and exalted, and all of us who are here tonight have this privilege if we will accept of it; we can be saved each of us and crowned with glory in the presence of God and the Lamb. There is no provision to exclude us; we are not predestined for damnation; we are predestined to be saved if we will accept of the salvation offered.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:298, 1 Aug 1880, Logan, Tabernacle

...I would like to ask, if it was wrong to desire revelation? What business have we with this priesthood, if we have not power to receive revelation? What is the priesthood given for? If we do not have revelation, it is because we do not live as we should live, because we do not magnify our priesthood as we ought to; if we did we would not be without revelation, none would be barren or unfruitful. ... This idea that no man has any right to call upon God and receive revelation is wrong, and it has been wrong in any age of the world.

Orson Pratt, JD 21:328, 1 Aug 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The tree of life will be on the earth in the midst of that city that will descend on the earth, and whoever eats of the fruit of that tree will live forever, just the same as the tree of life was placed upon the earth before Adam transgressed. Any one eating of the fruit of that tree could not die, for the decree of the Lord had gone forth, and his word must be fulfilled.

Orson Pratt, JD 21:330-331, 1 Aug 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Moreover, you will not only be favored with this great privilege [of seeing the Lord], but Isaiah tells us that "the Lord will create upon every dwelling place of Mount Zion, and upon her assemblies, a cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night." When you hold your meeting in the day time, you shall be sheltered by a cloud, and when you hold your meetings in the night time, instead of lighting up your lamps with common oil, or with gas, or anything of this kind, you will have no need of any artificial light, for the Lord God will be the light thereof, and his [p.331] glory will be there, and you will see it and you will hear his voice.

C. W. Penrose, JD 21:230, 8 Aug 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Faith is a force. It is as much a force as magnetism or electricity. It is the power by which the universe was framed. God can speak to the elements of our bodies and bring them forth again according to certain fixed laws known to him if not to us.

Orson Pratt, JD 21:233, 8 Aug 1880, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

This would seem to indicate that there is something connected with the earth itself, wherein it has an agency; and that because of the exercise of its agency, and keeping the law, it should be crowned with celestial glory. The materials out of which our earth is formed, are also governed by law.

Gospel Mysteries

Erastus Snow, JD 21:372, 8 Aug 1880, Paris

Now, the Levitical Priesthood referred to was not a new Priesthood. We do not understand it to be an order of the Priesthood instituted at the time Israel was in the wilderness of Sinai, but that it had been from the beginning a part of the Holy Priesthood, an appendage, or a subdivision, or branch of the same Priesthood. The rights of this descended from father to son, among the first-born, unless the first-born failed to appreciate it and exercise it in righteousness. In that event it passed to one of the others.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:317, 10 Oct 1880, Salt Lake City, Conference

It has been my faith and belief from the time that I was made acquainted with the Gospel that no greater prophet than Joseph Smith ever lived on the face of the earth save Jesus Christ. He was raised up to stand at the head of this great dispensation -- the greatest of all dispensations God has ever given to man. He remarked on several occasions when conversing with his brethren: "brethren you do not know me, you do not know who I am."

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:317-318, 10 Oct 1880, Salt Lake City, Conference

After the death of Joseph Smith I saw and conversed with him many times in my dreams in the night season. On one occasion he and his brother Hyrum met me when on the sea going on a mission to England. ... And there were many things he laid before me in his interview on that occasion. And when I awoke many of the things he had told me were taken from me, I could not comprehend them. I have had [p.318] many interviews with Brother Joseph until the last 15 or 20 years of my life; I have not seen him for that length of time. ... And on one occasion, I saw Brother Brigham and Brother Heber ride in carriage ahead of the carriage in which I rode when I was on my way to attend conference; and they were dressed in the most priestly robes.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 21:318, 10 Oct 1880, Salt Lake City, Conference

But what I was going to say in this: the thought came to me that Brother Joseph had left the work of watching over this church and kingdom to others, and that he had gone ahead, and that he had left this work to men who have lived and labored with us since he left us. This idea manifested itself to me, that such men advance in the spirit world. And I believe myself that these men who have died and gone into the spirit world had this mission left with them, to watch over the Latter-day Saints.

Orson Pratt, JD 22:28, 10 Oct 1880, Salt Lake City, Conference

Joseph Smith, when he translated these records by the aid of the Urim and Thummim, had not yet received any Priesthood, so far as his temporal existence was concerned. But, now, do not misunderstand me in regard to this position. He did hold the Priesthood before he came here upon the earth. ... You will find this recorded in a sermon delivered by the Prophet Joseph, showing that not only he, but also all of the faithful that have received the Priesthood here in this life, were ordained before the foundation of the world.
George Q. Cannon, JD 22:124, 31 Oct 1880, Tooele

Gospel Mysteries

When we talk about celestial glory, we talk of the condition of endless increase; if we obtain celestial glory in the fullest sense of the word, then we have wives and children in eternity, we have the power of endless lives granted unto us, the power of propagation that will endure through all eternity, all being fathers and mothers in eternity; fathers of fathers, mothers of mothers, kings and queens, priests and priestesses, and shall I say more? Yes, all becoming gods. For this is the power of God; it is the power by which God presides over the universe, and fills the universe with power, and which we pray unto Him to bestow upon us.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:125, 31 Oct 1880, Tooele

I must bring every appetite. I must bring every passion, I must bring every desire of my being into complete subjection to the will and mind and law of God, or I cannot receive the exaltation He has promised unto His faithful children.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:126, 31 Oct 1880, Tooele

I say to my sisters, you expect to receive exaltation in the presence of God. Will you obtain it if you do not bring your will into subjection to the will of God? No. Will you be cast off? If you do certain things, you will. But I think the women of this Church would have to do a great many bad things before their God would cast them off entirely. The Lord may feel after them, He will bring them through circumstances such as will eventually purify them. But no woman can enter into the celestial kingdom any more than a man whose will is in opposition to the will of God. When God speaks all must submit to it.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:130, 31 Oct 1880, Tooele

We are related to each other; we may not have the same blood in our veins now, but it will be found when we trace it back, that we are of the same family; hence it is that we love one another as we do, at least, that is one reason for it. It is true that we have been scattered among Gentile nations, and are called Gentiles, but nevertheless we are of the pure seed, having come through Gentile lineage that we may be the means of saving them, and through our faithfulness we shall stand at their head. This is the blessing which rests upon us as descendants of Abraham.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 21:353, 2 Jan 1881, Salt Lake City

All these ordinances and ceremonies instituted by the Almighty and comprehended in that which is called the Gospel are necessary. There is no such thing as non-essential ordinances; every one of them is essential. Exaltation cannot be arrived at without them.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 22:209, 9 Jan 1881, Salt Lake City

The Lord has had his endowments a great many years ago. He has ascended to his thrones, principalities and powers in the eternities. We are his children.

Gospel Mysteries

Charles W. Penrose, JD 22:71, 30 Jan 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And the Holy Ghost that proceeds from the Father, that fills all the immensity of space, that is in all things and through all things and round about all things, and is "the law by which all things are governed;" that beareth witness of the truth to all people who abide by the truth, will quicken them and bring them into communion with the Father and the Son.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 22:73, 30 Jan 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Just as soon as we are ready to carry out what has already been revealed, the heavens are ready to reveal more. We have only received a little of that which is designed to be made known in the latter days. God is ready to reveal in this great dispensation all things that were revealed in former times, and many things that have been hid from the foundation of the world.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 22:43, 6 Feb 1881, Logan

When Jesus came to the earth He scarcely found faith among mankind; only John the Baptist holding a commission from God to minister in the first ordinances of the Gospel; John having been called and appointed of God and ordained by a holy angel to that ministry and Priesthood.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 22:47, 6 Feb 1881, Logan

It is a duty, it is the word of the Lord to the Saints, that they should meet with their families morning and evening, and call upon God in His name. This principle is part of the Gospel, it was taught by the Savior on the eastern, and also on the western continent: and, simple as it may appear, it is absolutely necessary that the Latter-day Saints should come together in the family capacity, and kneeling around the family altar, call upon God for His blessings morning and evening.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:239, 24 Apr 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He has commanded us to seek unto him, and he that seeks shall find, to him that knocks it shall be opened, and he that asks shall receive. How? Will it come in such a manner as to convince all the world? No. There would be no faith if this were the case; there would be no room for the exercise of faith. God wishes his children to be developed.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 22:173, 12 Jun 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You cannot convert a Jew. They will never believe in Jesus Christ until he comes to them in Jerusalem, until these fleeing Jews take back their gold and silver to Jerusalem and rebuild their city and temple, and they will do this as the Lord lives.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:182, 21 Jun 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We believe there is an endless hell. We do not, however, believe that human beings are consigned to it eternally. The hell may be endless and the punishment endless, but it does not follow that they who are consigned there are to remain in it eternally.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 22:234, 26 Jun 1881, Bountiful

...Somebody on earth must perform this ordinance [baptism] for them in the flesh [by proxy] before they can receive part in the first resurrection, and be worthy of eternal life. It takes as much to save a dead man as a living one.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 22:235, 26 Jun 1881, Bountiful

Joseph went to God, and He opened his mind by vision in which he saw the destruction of our nation; he saw that famine and pestilence and war would lay waste our land, until it became so terrible that he prayed God to close the vision.

John Taylor, JD 22:218-219, 27 Jun 1881, Hooperville

Jesus tried in his day to get the people to comprehend one thing -- to ask and receive. It is a simple thing. Seek and you shall find; knock [p.219] and it shall be opened to you. For he that asketh receiveth, etc. Do you believe it? If you do, go and try it, and see whether God lives or not, and you will know for yourselves. It was said in former times, "We know that God lives." How do you know? Because we received the things which we asked at his hands. In one place the people are told, You receive not because you ask not; and our Heavenly Father upbraids them for not asking.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:289, 27 Jun 1881, Hooperville

I dreamed one night that this party of brethren were heaving at the windlass, having a rope attached to it reaching forward to the anchor at the bow of the vessel. We were working with all our might endeavoring to raise the anchor, but seemingly we made but little progress. While thus engaged I thought the Prophet Joseph came from the after part of the vessel dressed in his temple clothes, and tapping me on the shoulder told me to go with him. I went, and he climbed on to the forecastle which was higher than the main deck and on a level with the bulwarks, and there he knelt down, also telling me to kneel down with him. He prayed according to the order of prayer which is revealed. After prayer, he arose upon his feet. "Now," said he, "George, take hold of that rope -- the rope we had been pulling on with all our might. I took hold of it, and with the greatest ease and without the least effort, the anchor was raised." "Now," said he, "let this be a lesson to you; remember that great things can be accomplished through the power of prayer and the exercise of faith in the right way."

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:290, 27 Jun 1881, Hooperville

Men have met in secret in holy places, and have besought God in the appointed way, according to the holy order revealed, and deliverance has been wrought out for Zion, when it seemed that everything was dark before them and without one ray of light. At such times, when everything has been hedged up, the servants of God have met in secret places and have plead with God according to the holy order, and the heavens have been moved, and difficulties have vanished away, and our path has been made plain before us, and we have escaped the hands of our enemies.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 22:167, 17 Jul 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Repent and be baptized every one of you, in the name of the Lord Jesus, and you shall be cleansed from sin, and a new heart shall be put into you. You shall be born of the water and be made new creatures in Christ Jesus. You shall be born of the Spirit, the Holy Ghost shall be given unto you as a gift from God, which shall be a light to your feet and a lamp to your path, by which you can be brought into communion with the Father and the Son and the heavenly hosts, by which light and intelligence can be flashed from the celestial kingdom to your souls, and by which you may know you are accepted of God!

John Taylor, JD 22:307, 28 Aug 1881, Provo

In our Temples we expect to receive certain ordinances revealed to us from God through His servants. And would not the world like to know what they consisted of? They will have to go to their God to find out.

John Taylor, JD 22:309, 28 Aug 1881, Provo

They preach to spirits in prison; they officiate in ordinances with which we have nothing to do. ... But who are to be the administrators of these ordinances? Are we? No, they are out of our reach, they are behind the veil.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 22:333, 8 Oct 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

I saw the resurrection of the dead. In the first resurrection those that came forth from their graves seemed to be all dressed alike, but in the second resurrection they were as diverse in their dress as this congregation is before me to-day...

Wilford Woodruff, JD 22:333, 8 Oct 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Hence there are a great many things taught us in dreams that are true, and if a man has the spirit of God he can tell the difference between what is from the Lord and what is not. ... We may never see anything take place exactly as we see it in a dream or a vision, yet it is intended to teach us a principle.

George Q. Cannon, JD 22:326, 9 Oct 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle, Conference

The great difficulty with us is: We have a religion and do not seek for its power, we do not dive to its depths, we do not rise to its heights, we do not comprehend its beauties and blessings. We go along without seeking after our God and the power of our God, as we should do. If we would devote a little time to self-examination when we go to bed, review the events of the day, see if our conduct has been such as God can approve of, and enables us to lie down with a conscience void of offence towards God and all men, we do well, and if we cannot do that it is time to repent.

We are building up Zion, and Zion is not confined to our prominent cities, but includes all the cities of the Saints.

And why was John the Baptist chosen to confer this Priesthood? Because he was the last that held this holy Priesthood upon the earth. And why did he come? Because the Priesthood administers in time and eternity; both the Aaronic and Melchizedek.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 22:343, 23 Oct 1881, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He [Jesus] burst the bonds of death, he conquered the tomb, and came forth with an immortal body filled with glory and eternal life, holding all the powers and keys he held while in the flesh. Having appeared to some of the holy women and the apostles, he then went and administered to the Nephites upon this continent, and from here he went to the ten tribes of Israel, and delivered to them the Gospel, and when they return they will bring the history of the dealings of Jesus of Nazareth with them, while in his immortal body.

George Q. Cannon, JD 23:104, 20 Nov 1881, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

And we shall not only stay here, but we shall spread abroad, and the day will come -- and this is another prediction of Joseph Smith's -- I want to remind you of it, my brethren and sisters, when good government, constitutional government -- liberty -- will be found among the Latter-day Saints, and it will be sought for in vain elsewhere; when the Constitution of this land and republican government and institutions will be upheld by this people who are now so oppressed and whose destruction is now sought so diligently. The day will come when the Constitution, and free government under it, will be sustained and preserved by this people.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 22:350, 29 Jan 1882, 14th Ward

Now she has passed beyond suffering and debility; nothing but the lifeless, inanimate part of Sister Cannon remains, the life, -- the intelligent and the immortal part has gone to God from whence it came. Not but what she might be present [at her funeral] if she desires to be here, and her desire be consistent with the will and pleasure of our heavenly Father; for those who live here in the flesh have a claim upon this earth, and upon the bodies they have occupied while they sojourned here.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 22:351, 29 Jan 1882, 14th Ward

Hence, when messengers are sent to minister to the inhabitants of this earth, they are not strangers, but from the ranks of our kindred, friends, and fellow-beings and fellow-servants.

John Taylor, JD 26:90, 12 Feb 1882, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

The principle of translation was a principle that at that time existed in the Church, and is one of the principles of the Gospel, and which will exist in the last days.

John Taylor, JD 26:91, 12 Feb 1882, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

Such characters have no place within [the Heavenly city]; but those who fear God and work righteousness, who have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb, they will be introduced into the presence of God, to participate with Him in the glories there referred to.

John Taylor, JD 26:95, 12 Feb 1882, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

Our Elders are sent forth to preach faith, repentance and baptism for remission of sins. The doctrine of plural marriage does not belong to people who are governed by such principles as they are, people who break their marriage vows and who wink at those who do it, people who violate their sacred honor with the opposite sex and trample upon and destroy millions of the daughters of Eve, and drag them down to death and destruction -- it does not belong to such people; it belongs to the people who have obeyed the Gospel of the Son of God, the people who are in possession of the principles of life, and who are keeping the commandments of God; it does not belong to Latter-day Saints even unless they are pure and virtuous; unless they are honorable and worthy they cannot be associated with any such thing, much less can the class that I have referred to who are making so much noise about it; so they need not trouble their heads.

John Taylor, JD 23:32, 5 Mar 1882, Assembly Hall

How perfect it [the organization of the Priesthood] was in the days of Enoch we are not told, but everything that they had revealed to them pertaining to the organization of the Church of God, also pertaining to doctrine and ordinances, we have had revealed to us, excepting one thing, and that is the principle and power of translation; that however, will in due time be restored also.

John Taylor, JD 23:64-65, 19 Apr 1882, Conference

It [celestial marriage] does not belong to them, nor does [p.65] it pertain to all of our own people. None but the more pure, virtuous, honorable and upright are permitted to enter into these associations.

John Taylor, JD 23:65, 19 Apr 1882, Conference

Man is a dual being, possessed of body and spirit, made in the image of God, and connected with Him and with eternity. He is a God in embryo and will live and progress throughout the eternal ages, if obedient to the laws of the Godhead, as the Gods progress throughout the eternal ages.

John Taylor, JD 23:67, 19 Apr 1882, Conference

Have you not read that no "murderer hath eternal life abiding in him?" What shall be thought of those unnatural monsters, the slayers of their own offspring? This revolting, unnatural, damnable vice [abortion] may be fashionable, but God will require this crime at their hands.

John Taylor, JD 23:68, 19 Apr 1882, Conference

Our trust is in God. You have heard me say before, Hosanna, the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth; and if this congregation feels as I do we will join together in the same acclaim. Follow me. (The speaker then repeated and was followed by the congregation: Hosanna! Hosanna! Hosanna! to God and the Lamb, for ever and ever worlds without end, Amen, Amen and Amen.)

Erastus Snow, JD 23:183, 6 May 1882, Logan

For it must be remembered that of all the seed of Abraham whom the Lord chose to bear the keys pertaining to this holy order of Priesthood, the seed of Ephraim, the son of Joseph, were the first and [p.184] chief. While the tribe of Levi, unto which Moses and Aaron belonged, was specially charged with the administration of affairs of the lesser Priesthood under the law, yet Ephraim, the peculiar and chosen son of Joseph, was the one whom the Lord had named by his own mouth and through the Prophets, to inherit the keys of presidency of this High Priesthood after the order of the Son of God.

Erastus Snow, JD 23:184, 6 May 1882, Logan

...Ishmael was of the lineage of Ephraim, and that his sons married into Lehi's family, and Lehi's sons married Ishmael's daughters...

Erastus Snow, JD 23:186, 6 May 1882, Logan

And so he elected the seed of Ephraim to be that peculiar people I have referred to, that holy nation, a kingdom of Priests, a people to receive the covenants and oracles, and to be witnesses to certain nations of the God of Israel.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 23:189, 6 May 1882, Logan

I am under the strongest impression that the most valuable consideration, and that which will be of the most service when we return to the spirit world, will be that of having established a proper and well-defined character of as faithful and consistent Latter-day Saints in this state of probation.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 23:194-195, 6 May 1882, Logan

When our friends are stricken down by sickness and disease, or when our little ones are in the agonies of pain and death, there should be Elders in our midst who have educated themselves so thoroughly in developing the gifts of the spirit within them, and in whom the Saints have such perfect confidence, that they would always be sought after instead of doctors. There are men among us who possess the gift of healing, and might have great faith; but they do not exercise the gift, they do not live for it, and therefore, do not have the power to use it so effectually as they might. There are men in this Church who are as good in their hearts and feelings as men ever were, but lack faith and energy, and do not obtain really what is their privilege to receive. If their faith, their energy and determination were equal to their good feelings and desires, their honesty and goodness, they would indeed by mighty men in Israel; and sickness and disease and the power of the evil one would flee before them as chaff before the wind.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 23:125, 14 May 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Adam and Eve came to this world to perform exactly the part that they acted in the garden of Eden; and I will say, they were ordained of God to do what they did, and it was therefore expected that they would eat of the forbidden fruit in order that man might know both good and evil by passing through this school of experience which this life affords us.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 23:127, 14 May 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The first principle, then, ever taught to Father Adam was faith in the Messiah, who was to come in the meridian of time to lay down his life for the redemption of man. The second principle was repentance.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 23:132, 14 May 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We declare to all men that the God of heaven commanded Joseph Smith to introduce and practice the patriarchal order of marriage, including the plurality of wives. And why? Because it was the law given to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob for certain purposes; that holy men might have their wives and children with them in the morning of the first resurrection in their family organization to inherit kingdoms, thrones, principalities and powers in the presence of God throughout the endless ages of eternity.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 23:159, 4 Jun 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God is our Father, and we are his sons and daughters. Our earthly bodies are framed in the image of God; they are framed to fit our spirits which are the offspring of God, which are therefore in his image, according to the law that every seed brings forth its own kind.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 23:161, 4 Jun 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The spirits of the wicked will gravitate together, while the righteous will go to their place in the paradise of God, where they rest from their labors. The wicked go to a place prepared for them, not however, a place of literal fire and brimstone as taught by some religious teachers, but a place where they will have a knowledge and remembrance of their wickedness, and at the same time be without a knowledge of the future; their condition will be a state of awful suspense, not knowing what their fate will be; while the righteous will dwell together, and having served and communed with God while tabernacling in the flesh, they will have closer communion in the spirit, and be prepared for the glorious reign to come.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 23:162, 4 Jun 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And the ransomed of the Lord will walk thereon [the celestial earth], clothed in white raiment, rejoicing in the presence of the Eternal whom they will recognize as their Father; for the past, now shut out by the veil of the flesh, will come back to them, and all their former history will return to their minds; those memories which were shut out by tabernacling in the flesh will come back again, and all their past experience upon the earth and in the spirit world will be fresh to their minds, never to fade away.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 23:173, 18 Jun 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Because the resurrected, righteous man has progressed beyond the pre-existent or disembodied spirits, and has risen above them, having both spirit and body as Christ has, having gained the victory over death and the grave, and having power over sin and Satan, in fact having passed from the condition of the angel to that of a God. He possesses keys of power, dominion and glory that the angel does not possess -- and cannot possess without gaining them in the same way that he gained them, which will be by passing though the same ordeals and proving equally faithful.

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:49, 25 Jun 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The prophecies that were made by the Prophet Joseph Smith concerning this nation and us will be fulfilled. He said that the time would come when the Latter-day Saints would be the only people that would maintain constitutional principles upon this land. I have been taught from my youth that that was the destiny of this people; that this nation would drift away from the Constitution and Constitutional principles; that mobocracy would reign, and the principles of right would be sacrificed to the power of might.

John Taylor, JD 23:179, 24 Jul 1882, Mill Creek

But you [the Jewish people] will yet build a Temple in Jerusalem, and the Lord whom you seek will come to that Temple. What is this for, he enquired? Among other things that we may perform the sacred ordinances about which we are so much maligned, wherein we make eternal covenants with our wives, that we may have a claim upon them in the resurrection.

John Taylor, JD 23:216, 6 Aug 1882, Logan

The organization of the Church is after the plan that exists in heaven...

John Taylor, JD 23:239, 20 Aug 1882, Ephraim

And if other people trample upon the Constitution and pull it to pieces, we will gather together the pieces and rally around the old flag, or what is left of it, and proclaim liberty to the world, as Joseph Smith said we would.

Joseph E. Taylor, JD 23:249, 3 Sep 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The man who has been pure in his spirit, pure in his heart, pure in his intentions and desires before God, when he lays that body down in the grave there will be found in the very elements with which his body will mingle, a power to cleanse and purify all weaknesses as pertaining to the flesh which cannot be regarded as sins before God. Yes, give mother earth time and she will so effectually purify the tabernacle that she will get it ready for the resurrection from the grave to be re-united with the spirit.

Gospel Mysteries

Daniel H. Wells, JD 23:304, 6 Oct 1882, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall, Conference

It is a life's labor for the Latter-day Saint to live his religion, to perform his duty, to fill up the measure of his creation with honor to his God and credit to himself. Our religion is not a matter of enthusiasm to work the mind up to a high pitch for an hour, a day, a week, in some protracted meeting or under some peculiar influence, but day by day, week by week, month by month, year by year, as long as life shall last, the Latter-day Saint does not see an hour nor a moment that he can afford to lay off the armor of righteousness, or lay aside his holy religion. It is he that endures to the end that is promised salvation.

Erastus Snow, JD 23:298, 7 Oct 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He has declared that in the last days Ephraim shall be his first-born; them he would gather together, and upon them he would place his holy Priesthood, and them he would use as his servants and as his instruments to push the people together from the ends of the earth.

George Q. Cannon, JD 23:276-277, 8 Oct 1882, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What, my sisters who have entered into holy covenants, in sacred places, who have in their priestly garments been administered to by the Priests of the Most High God in the holiest sanctuaries that are upon the earth, for them to be placed upon the same level with common prostitutes! My soul revolts at the thought.

George Q. Cannon, JD 23:361, 29 Oct 1882, Tooele

If we get our salvation we shall have to pass by him [Joseph Smith]; if we enter into our glory it will be through the authority that he has received. ... If we enter into our exaltation, it will be because they, as the servants of God, permit us to pass by, just as the revelation says, "pass by the angels and the Gods, which are set there," to our exaltation.

George Q. Cannon, JD 23:365, 29 Oct 1882, Tooele

Now, let me ask you, is it necessary that somebody should rise up outside of this Priesthood to be a Prophet, Seer and Revelator to the Church? Is it not consistent with the wisdom and government of God to acknowledge His servants who have been faithful all their lives, who have proved their integrity before Him, who have never swerved to the right or the left, and whose knees have never trembled, and whose hands have never shaken -- is it not within his power and his wisdom to endow them with all the gifts and qualifications for the guidance of His Church? Certainly it is.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 24:15, 29 Oct 1882, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

...At no time since Enoch walked the earth has the Church of God been organized as perfectly as it is today -- not excepting the dispensation of Jesus and His disciples -- or if it was we have no record of it.

Gospel Mysteries

F. D. Richards, JD 23:317, 6 Nov 1882, Logan

Some seem to forget that if they do not pay tithing, they are not even entitled to a recommend from their Bishop to partake of the general blessings of the Lord's house.

John Taylor, JD 23:325, 23 Nov 1882, Payson

...That we may be true to our devotions at the family altar, and every morning and every evening bow before the Lord with our family and all that pertains to us.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 24:156-157, 3 Dec 1882, Provo, Tabernacle

When God leads the people back to Jackson County, how will he do it? Let me picture to you how some of us may be gathered and led to Jackson County. I think I see two or three hundred thousand people wending their way across the great plain enduring the nameless hardships of the journey, herding and guarding their cattle by day and by night, and defending themselves and little ones from foes on the right hand and on the left, as when they came here. They will find the journey back to Jackson County will be as real as when they came out here. Now, mark it. And though you may be led by the power of God "with a stretched out arm", it will not be more manifest than the leading [p.157] the people out here to those that participate in it.... This is one way to look at it. It is certainly a practical view. Some might ask, what will become of the railroads? I fear that the sifting process would be insufficient were we to travel by railroads. We are apt to overlook the manifestations of the power of God to us because we are participators in them, and regard them as commonplace events.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 23:328, 10 Dec 1882, Kaysville

It is impossible, however, for the Saints of God to inherit a celestial kingdom without their being tried as to whether they will abide in the covenants of the Lord of not.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 23:330, 10 Dec 1882, Kaysville

There was no part of the Gospel that Christ did not fulfill, and he called upon Joseph Smith to fulfill the same. This he did. He laid down his life. He went to the spirit world, and he [Joseph Smith] is there watching over this people. He has power there, and so have our brethren who have gone to the other side of the veil.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 23:331, 10 Dec 1882, Kaysville

Any man who receives this Priesthood and tastes of the word of God, and of the powers of the world to come -- any man that turns away from these things, apostatizes, and turns away from the Church of God, shall not, in accordance with the revelations of the Lord to Joseph Smith, "have forgiveness of sins in this world nor in the world to come."

Wilford Woodruff, JD 23:331, 10 Dec 1882, Kaysville

Gospel Mysteries

We are now at the end of the sixth thousand years. We are bordering upon the millennium.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 24:53, 27 Jan 1883, Nephi

We want to labor as a body of Priesthood, to enter into the holy of holies; we want to come before God, and pray until we get the spirit of this work, until we comprehend our calling before God.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 24:54, 27 Jan 1883, Nephi

...God will never require them [the leading brethren] to stain their hands with the blood of their fellow men, in order to protect themselves from violence; but that the Lord will fight our battles, and frustrate the measures that would lead to such an issue. And the wisdom of this is manifested in the fact that part of our duty is to build Temples, and officiate in the same; and this we could not do so acceptably to God if our hands were stained with the blood of our fellowmen, even in our own defense.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 24:93, 4 Mar 1883, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

The "sons of perdition" are those who have received the Gospel, those to whom the Father has revealed the Son; those who know something concerning the plan of salvation; those who have had keys placed in their hands by which they could unlock the mysteries of eternity; those who received power to ascend to the highest pinnacle of the celestial glory; those who received power sufficient to overcome all things, and who, instead of using it for their own salvation, and in the interest of others, prostituted that power and turned away from that which they knew to be true, denying the Son of God and putting Him to open shame.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 24:94, 4 Mar 1883, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

I think we will find when we shuffle off this mortal coil, when we get rid of the trammels of the mortal body, and enter into the spirit state, we shall be if anything more intelligent than when in the body. We shall not be bound by the same laws that now bind our mortal flesh, and we will be able to comprehend a great many things which were very hard for us to get a little inkling of while in the mortal tabernacle.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 24:96, 4 Mar 1883, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

He [Jesus] had fulfilled His mission, and had received immortal keys and honors and powers as a reward of the fulfillment thereof. He shall occupy the highest place among all the sons of God, because He is the firstborn, and has performed the work of the firstborn in the plan of human redemption.

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:61, 18 Mar 1883, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

In this way the work of God is being carried on far beyond that which we can see with our natural eyes. The work of the preparation of the earth, and of its inhabitants, is pressing forward with a rapidity that we who are taking part in it do not realize. We look at ourselves too much, we think that God's operations and labors are confined to us who comprise this Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. In doing so we make a great blunder. He is operating among the nations of the earth. His spirit has gone forth; and it is accomplishing that which He said should be accomplished. And this great work of the last days will be cut short in righteousness. It is not the conversion of men and women and their baptism into the Church that is alone to be accomplished. The work of God is not to be measured by the number of souls that are brought into the Church.

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:63, 18 Mar 1883, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

President Taylor told me upon my return that, on the 22nd of February, feeling exercised in his mind about our political affairs, and that it was a time of peril, he called a few of the brethren together and they met at the Endowment House according to the holy order, and besought God, in the name of Jesus, to baffle the plans of our enemies and frustrate them in their designs, and put them to confusion and shame.

Erastus Snow, JD 24:71, 6 Apr 1883, Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, Conference

And it is not alone the duty of High Councils and Presidents of Stakes, and of Bishops and their Counselors to labor to correct the errors of the people, but it is the duty of every Elder, High Priest and Seventy -- and especially the Priests, Teachers and Deacons that are appointed and called to be standing ministers in the Church, to visit the house of each member and become familiar with every family, and every individual member of the family, and their daily walk and life and conversation; and ascertain whether they are living as Saints should live; whether the heads of families preside in righteousness in their houses; whether their houses are set in order; whether they have an altar erected whereon are offered up their daily, morning and evening devotions; whether every member is taught to reverence and respect that altar; whether each individual prays in secret as well as responds to the calls made upon him to pray in the family circle and in public...

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:146, 6 May 1883, Logan

If there could be a man or a community found who lived in strict obedience to all the laws taught in this book, [Doctrine and Covenants] you would find almost a perfect people; you would find a people in the condition of the people of Enoch... And so with every other law that God has taught in the revelations that have been given unto us, and the men, as I have said, who have the most faithfully complied with those requirements have emancipated themselves, through the blessing of God, the most perfectly from the power of Satan.

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:147, 6 May 1883, Logan

Diphtheria or some other disease was raging at that time in the city, and in his ward in particular, and his mind was turned to this matter, and after making inquiries he satisfied himself that there were more cases of healing and restorations to health through the administrations of the Elders by the laying on of hands in families where the Word of Wisdom was observed than in families where it was neglected, and that deaths were more frequent in the latter. ... President Taylor says there were none died in the families where the Word of Wisdom was observed.

Gospel Mysteries

John Taylor, JD 24:167, 19 May 1883, Manti

We should seek to know more about ourselves and our bodies, about what is most conducive to health and how to preserve health and how to avoid disease; and to know what to eat and what to drink, and what to abstain from taking into our systems.

John Taylor, JD 24:170, 19 May 1883, Manti

Quite recently a certain Bishop wrote me, stating that one of his Counselors dabbled in astrology; that he had been known to consult it in reference to the sick. He wanted to know what I thought of it. I told him to drop that Counselor, that he was not fit to be a Bishop's counselor, nor to hold the holy Priesthood.

John Taylor, JD 24:171, 19 May 1883, Manti

Let me tell you another thing, I have heard Joseph Smith say...that in this world we may pass along comparatively unknown, but when we appear behind the veil, we shall have to pass by the angels and the Gods, and this can only be done by the righteous and the pure.

John Taylor, JD 24:194, 18 Jun 1883, Deseret, Bowery

The God who is the Father of our spirits is He that organized our bodies.

John Taylor, JD 24:196, 18 Jun 1883, Deseret, Bowery

Now, then, in reference to celestial glory, it is necessary that men should be tried here upon the earth, for men upon other earths have been tried as we are being tried.

John Taylor, JD 24:200, 18 Jun 1883, Deseret, Bowery

We had a great war upon this continent some years ago; but there will yet be wars pass through these United States, and through other nations, until it will be mournful to hear the report of the bloodshed, the sorrow and trouble that will be caused thereby, as also by pestilence, famine and earthquake, and the waves of the sea heaving themselves beyond their bounds, and storms and tempests, etc., etc.

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:222, 20 Jun 1883, Beaver

And as God lives the day will come that constitutional government and the rights of man will have to be maintained by the Latter-day Saints, and that at a time when there will be no other power upon this land that will be able to make headway against the tide of evil that will flood the country. And it will be due to our organization that we shall be able to stem it.

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:224, 20 Jun 1883, Beaver

I would rather see men punished with death -- which we believe is a law that should be put in force against any man who ruins a woman -- than that there ever should be a time in our country when corruption and wrongs of this character [immorality] should run riot and be unchecked.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 24:188, 21 Jun 1883, Ogden

It is the right of individuals to be inspired and to receive manifestations of the Holy Spirit for their personal guidance, to strengthen their faith, and to encourage them in works of righteousness, in being faithful and observing and keeping the commandments which God has given unto them; it is the privilege of every man and woman to receive revelation to this end, but not further.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 24:192, 21 Jun 1883, Ogden

I testify in the name of Israel's God that He will not suffer the head of the Church, him whom He has chosen to stand at the head, to transgress His laws and apostatize; the moment he should take a course that would in time lead to it, God would take him away.

Erastus Snow, JD 24:161, 24 Jun 1883, Parowan

The spirit which accompanies the preaching of the Gospel feels after and searches out and gathers together the seed of Abraham that are worthy to be saved. It gathers together those whom God has called to have part in the latter day work, in the "dispensation of the fullness of times" -- the ten thousands of Ephraim and the thousands of Manasseh, spoken of by Moses when he blessed the tribes of Israel.

John Taylor, JD 24:262-263, 24 Jun 1883, Parowan

Abraham sought the Lord diligently, and finally he had given unto him a Urim and Thummim, in which he was enabled to obtain a knowledge of many things that others were ignorant of. I think the meaning of the name of this instrument is Light and Perfection, in other terms, communicating light perfectly, through a principle that God has ordained for that purposes.

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:181, 15 Jul 1883, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Hence, my brethren and sisters, it is necessary that every man and woman and child, connected with this work should learn as rapidly as possible the habit of self-dependence -- to exercise faith before God for themselves, so that each one in his place or in her place, will be able to perform his or her part to the acceptance of our God, and in such a manner as to bring to pass their own salvation.

Wilford Woodruff, JD 24:242, 20 Jul 1883, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Let me say to this congregation that our Heavenly Father performs all His works -- the creation of worlds, the redemption of worlds -- by the power of the Eternal Priesthood.

Gospel Mysteries

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:274, 12 Aug 1883, Logan, Tabernacle

When he [Brigham Young] sealed a man up to eternal life, he bestowed upon him the blessings pertaining to eternity, and to the Godhead, or when he delegated others to do it in his stead, God in the eternal world recorded the act; the blessings that were sealed upon that man or that woman, they were sealed to be binding in this life, and in that life which is to come; they became part of the records of eternity, and would be fulfilled to the very letter upon the heads of those upon whom they were pronounced, provided they were faithful before God, and fulfilled their part of the covenant.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 24:305, 23 Sep 1883, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The Priesthood of Aaron or Levi, came by descent; it came to a man because he belonged to a certain lineage; but this Melchizedek Priesthood did not come by lineage; it came to all upon whom God pleased to bestow it.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 24:306, 23 Sep 1883, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But when Jesus came on the earth, he received the Melchizedek Priesthood, and that He might receive it in its fullness, Moses and Elias appeared to Him upon the mount of transfiguration.

George Teasdale, JD 24:324, 4 Nov 1883, Logan

...I say, watch over your children with a jealous care. And when your husbands are away, gather them around the family altar, plead before the Almighty with all your faith and power that they may enjoy the fellowship of His Spirit, that the Holy Ghost may be their constant companion...

George Q. Cannon, JD 24:360, 2 Dec 1883, Salt Lake City, Assembly Hall

It is no good sign for us to be beloved by the world, and to be spoken kindly of by the world, however pleasant it may be to us, and however much we may shrink from the opposite condition of affairs, and dread its manifestation, and wish that it could be otherwise -- and it is natural to human nature to shrink from these trials -- nevertheless it is one of the worst signs for us as a people to be spoken well of by the world, and to be free from threatenings, from opposition, and from hatred.

George Q. Cannon, JD 25:295, 1884, Northern Settlements

Let us press forward in that direction, adding faith to faith, adding knowledge to knowledge, adding gift to gift, adding power to power, until we shall behold the face of our Father and our God; and that will be granted to us. It will be granted unto us to behold the face of Jesus; it will be granted unto us to have angels minister to us, and there is no blessing we shall not attain unto if we continue faithful to the Gospel, and to the covenants of the Holy Priesthood which we have received.

George Teasdale, JD 25:20-21, 13 Jan 1884, Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City

We must make our calling and election sure. Who is afraid to die but the sinner? ... But those who love the principles of righteousness and who practice them know that they have passed from death unto [p.21] life. They know that they are redeemed through the precious blood of the Redeemer. When they pass into the spirit world it is not in blindness. They know that they are going into the presence of the Lamb, and the Church of the First Born. They know that they belong to that Church, and they also know whether they have kept their garments clean or not.

Erastus Snow, JD 25:32, 2 Feb 1884, Tabernacle, Logan

Hence it is our duty to step forward and magnify the calling whereunto God has called us. Send out the young men of Israel; send out the middle aged; send out those who have not as yet cleared their garments of the blood of this generation to call the children of men to repentance, and to see how many will engage with us in this great work of salvation, and become saviors upon Mount Zion.

Erastus Snow, JD 25:33-34, 2 Feb 1884, Tabernacle, Logan

The next mission [of those who have been ministering in the spirit world] will be to come and prepare the way in Zion, and in her Stakes, and in the temples of our God for turning the key of the resurrection of the dead, to bring forth those that are asleep, and to exalt them as Gods. And who will be first and foremost? Why, he whom God has chosen and placed first and foremost to hold the keys of this last dispensation. How long will it be? It is not given to me to say the month, the day, or the hour; but it us given unto me to say that that time is nigh at hand. The [p.34] time is drawing near (much nearer than scarcely any of us can now comprehend) when Joseph will be clothed upon with immortality, when his brother Hyrum will be clothed upon with immortality, when the martyrs will be raised from the dead...

Erastus Snow, JD 25:34, 2 Feb 1884, Tabernacle, Logan

But this "morning of the first resurrection" is nigh at hand, and blessed are those who, through their faithfulness, shall be counted worthy to have part in it; for they shall be crowned kings and priests with God and the Lamb -- they shall reign with Christ and in the midst of His people, and carry on the work of the redemption and resurrection of the Saints of God.

John Taylor, JD 25:90, 10 Feb 1884, Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City

Jesus Himself, was a descendant of that class of people who had practiced the things that we today believe in. But they didn't persecute Him because He was a polygamist. They persecuted Him because He was a friend of publicans and sinners.

Joseph F. Smith, JD 25:53, 17 Feb 1884, Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City

We are born into the world as His offspring; endowed with the same attributes. The children of men have sprung from the Almighty, whether the world are willing to acknowledge it or not. He is the Father of our spirits. He is the originator of our earthly tabernacles.

John Taylor, JD 26:350, 20 Feb 1884, Salt Lake City, High Council

Gospel Mysteries

Then there are celestial laws, adapted and suited to celestial beings; terrestrial laws adapted to things of the earth, and other lower laws called telestial. As we are taught in the Doctrine and Covenants; in all the universe there is no space where there is no kingdom, and where there is no kingdom, there is no law; and all things that are governed by law are preserved by law, and sanctioned by law; also even the law or laws of the state of existence to which they belong, be it higher or lower, much or less. There are again celestial laws as before referred to, and terrestrial laws, and the question arises, what is the meaning of a celestial law; and what again is the meaning of a terrestrial law; a celestial law pertains to the law of heaven; and is a principle by which the intelligences in the celestial world are governed. The Gospel in its fullness places those who obey it, under its influences, while at the same time it does not relieve them from other obligations of a terrestrial nature. ... The celestial law above referred to is absolute submission and obedience to the law of God.

John Taylor, JD 26:360, 20 Feb 1884, Salt Lake City, High Council

No man can inherit a celestial kingdom who does not keep a celestial law. No man can inherit a terrestrial kingdom unless he abides a terrestrial law, and no man can inherit a telestial kingdom unless he abides a telestial law. It is for us to see that these laws are executed. We must purge ourselves from sin.

George Q. Cannon, JD 25:151, 14 May 1884, Tabernacle, Salt Lake City

And so, if we understood the law by which Jesus operated when He fed the multitude, it would be as simple to us as the law of electricity is today. ... There is no suspension of law on the part of our Father when He interposes on behalf of His children. He has ministering spirits who minister unto those, as the Apostle tells us, who shall be heirs of salvation.

F. D. Richards, JD 25:233, 17 May 1884, Tabernacle, Logan

It is a popular sentiment among professing Christians generally, and it is believed also by many of the Saints -- because of a certain saying the Savior made use of to the Sadducees on a particular occasion -- that, in neither of the resurrections is there to be any marrying or giving in marriage. This is a mistaken idea. We are nowhere informed that the Savior ever said any such doctrine.

F. D. Richards, JD 25:235, 17 May 1884, Tabernacle, Logan

Let me ask what is to become of that portion of the human family that have gone down into their graves in past ages without having arrived at the age of puberty, or without having lived to years of accountability? What is to become of them? Are they not to be given the blessings of the New and Everlasting Covenant, to increase, multiply and attain to endless lives, and eternal increase in the covenant of Abraham? Undoubtedly, in the resurrection when they shall have regained their tabernacles, if they render the required obedience to the holy law of God.

Gospel Mysteries

This view of the subject brings me to think and to speak a word in reference to the three Nephites. They wanted to tarry until Jesus came, and that they might He took them into the heavens and endowed them with the power of translation, probably in one of Enoch's temples, and brought them back to the earth. [p.237] Thus they received power to live until the coming of the Son of Man. I believe He took them to Enoch's city and gave them their endowments there. I expect in that city of Enoch there are temples; and when Enoch and his people come back, they will come back with their city, their temples, blessings and powers.

John Taylor, JD 25:183, 18 May 1884, Temple Dedication, Logan

In his [Joseph Smith's] anxiety for fear he should not live to see the Temple completed, he prepared a place over what was known as the brick-store -- which many of you who lived in Nauvoo will recollect -- where to a chosen few he administered those ordinances that we now have today associated with endowments, so that if anything should happen to him -- which he evidently contemplated -- he would feel that he had then fulfilled his mission, that he had conferred upon others all the keys given to him by the manifestations of the power of God.

John Taylor, JD 25:185, 18 May 1884, Temple Dedication, Logan

We read sometimes about the millennium. But what do we know about it? It is a time when this work will be going on, and Temples, thousands of them, will be reared for the accomplishment of the objects designed, in which communications from the heavens will be received in regard to our labors, how we may perform them, and for whom.

Erastus Snow, JD 25:195, 31 May 1884, Ephraim

It is not murder in the sight of heaven always, when a man is killed, for sometimes he brings his blood upon his own head by thrusting himself upon some other one to destroy him and is himself slain in the attack, and his blood is therefore upon his own head, and it is not counted murder to the man that slew him.

Erastus Snow, JD 25:200, 31 May 1884, Ephraim

...The Holy Ghost is received by the laying on of hands of the Elders; and the powers of the Priesthood are conferred in the same manner.

George Q. Cannon, JD 25:243, 22 Jun 1884, Tabernacle, Salt Lake City

The day will come when our own nation will be convulsed with intestine [internecine, or internal?] strife. The civil war that is past is not the only war that will take place in this land.

John Taylor, JD 26:324, 20 Jul 1884, Ogden, Tabernacle

One thing we do know; one thing is clearly told us, and that is if we are not governed by a celestial law and cannot abide a celestial law, we cannot inherit a celestial kingdom. What is it to obey a celestial law? Where does the celestial law come from to begin with? From the heavens.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:192, 28 Sep 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

We can have a glimpse occasionally, through the revelations of the Spirit to us, of the glory there is awaiting us, and sometimes when men and women are approaching death -- when they are ready to step out of this existence into the other -- the veil becomes so thin that they behold the glories of the eternal world, and when they come back again -- as some have, we all probably have met those who have been snatched from death -- they come back to this mortal existence with a feeling of regret.

George Q. Cannon, JD 25:326, 5 Oct 1884, Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, Conference

Every human being that is connected with this work will have to be tested before he can enter into the Celestial Kingdom of our God. He will try us to the uttermost. If we have any spot more tender than another, He will feel after it. He will test all in some way or other. ... We have had certain promises made to us. We have had blessings sealed upon us. God has acknowledged them in the heavens when they have been sealed upon our heads by the authority of the Priesthood which He has restored.

George Q. Cannon, JD 25:328, 5 Oct 1884, Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, Conference

Now let it be known throughout all Israel, as the word of the Lord to us for the present, through his servant who stands at the head, that a man who commits adultery, a man who has had his endowments, cannot be baptized again into the Church. ... These must be cut off; because the law that was given in the early days of the Church concerning a man committing adultery once and being received back into the Church does not apply today. There has been a higher law since then, namely, the endowments, and men have taken upon themselves, and women also, sacred obligations in holy places.

F. D. Richards, JD 25:373, 5 Oct 1884, Tabernacle, Salt Lake City

Learn this, mothers, when you sorrowfully lay away your little ones -- learn this: their spirits do always dwell before the face of their Father who is in heaven, and let your hearts be comforted, no sin has contaminated their souls, no spot of contamination has tarnished their young and tender consciences.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:1, 5 Oct 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is by attending to certain ordinances that the blessings of eternity are sealed upon us, and by which, in the plain language of the Scriptures, our calling and election are made sure. But we must obey those ordinances in faith or their efficacy will not avail.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:1, 5 Oct 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

They [the youth of His people] are the redeemed of Christ from before the foundation of the world. Jesus said their angels or spirits do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven. He has promised that they shall come forth in the first resurrection, that they "shall grow up until they become old"...

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:1, 5 Oct 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

But there is one ordinance that the Elders may have perhaps neglected -- and I do not know but I have myself -- and that is, that if we enter a house and the people thereof receive us, there our peace should abide.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:2, 5 Oct 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You are not called upon to contend with any body in public congregations, or to do anything that would stir up wrath and indignation. The Savior simply told his disciples to wash their feet as a testimony against such people. But the generous, charitable feeling of our Elders prompts them not to do a thing against anybody; they would rather pour out a blessing upon the whole people. Consequently, it is a very rare thing that this ordinance is attended to by the Elders of this last dispensation -- speaking from my own experience, and conversation had with the brethren. But when it comes to this, that we are persecuted and our lives taken, it would seem as if this was a duty depending upon those Elders who are thrust out, and warned away from their fields of labor.

John Taylor, JD 25:305, 6 Oct 1884, Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, Conference

By and by when the time came for the accomplishment of the purposes of God, and before the destruction of the wicked, Enoch was caught up to heaven and his Zion with him. And we are told in latter revelation in relation to these matters that a Zion will be built up in our day; that great trouble will overtake the inhabitants of the earth; and that when the time arrives, the Zion that was caught up will descend, and the Zion that will be organized here will ascend, both possessed of the same spirit, their peoples having been preserved by the power of God according to His purposes and as His children, to take part in the events of the latter days.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:247, 18 Oct 1884, Ogden, Tabernacle

In this manner the work of salvation will progress, until throughout the millennium, temples will be built, and the servants and handmaidens of God will go into these temples and officiate, until all who have been born upon the face of the earth, who have not become sons of perdition, will be redeemed, and the entire family reunited, Adam standing at the head.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:247, 18 Oct 1884, Ogden, Tabernacle

I believe the time will come when it will be necessary for every man to trace the line in which he has received the Priesthood that he exercises. It is therefore of great importance in our Church that records should be kept, and that every man should know whence he derives his authority -- from what source, through what channel he has received the Holy Priesthood, and by what right he exercises that authority and administers the ordinances thereof. I believe this is of extreme importance, and that where there are doubts as to a man's legitimately exercising that authority, that doubt should be removed.

Gospel Mysteries

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:249, 18 Oct 1884, Ogden, Tabernacle

When men go forward and attend to other ordinances, such as receiving their endowments, their washings, their anointings, receiving the promises connected therewith, these promises will be fulfilled to the very letter in time and in eternity -- that is, if they themselves are true to the conditions upon which the blessings are promised. And so it is when persons go to the altar and are married for time and eternity. When the man who officiates says: "I seal upon you the power to come forth in the morning of the first resurrection, crowned with glory, immortality, and eternal lives," just as sure as that promise is made, and the persons united (to whom the promise is made) conform with the conditions thereof, just so sure will it be fulfilled.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:251, 18 Oct 1884, Ogden, Tabernacle

But the time will come when there will be a separation, a final separation, of the righteous from the wicked, and that separation will be brought about by the exercise of the Priesthood which God has bestowed. That Priesthood will draw up from the earth the pure, the holy, the worthy. It will draw them up to the society of God. Everything that is not pure will be left behind.

John Taylor, JD 25:355, 19 Oct 1884, Ogden

And I think there are some things we have a right to guard sacredly in our bosoms. We are told "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him; and He will show them His covenant." Now, if the Lord shall commit a secret to me I don't think I should tell it to any one; I don't think I would, not unless He told me. Then, I do not want to know your secrets. I was asked if certain ordinances could be performed in different places. I told them, yes, under certain circumstances. "Where," I was asked -- "Anywhere besides in the temple?" Yes. Anywhere besides the Endowment House? Yes. "Where, in some other house?" In another house or out of doors, as the circumstances might be. Why did I say that? Is not a temple the proper place? Yes...It is the authority of the Priesthood, not the place, that validates and sanctifies the ordinance. I was asked if people could be sealed outside. Yes. I could have told them I was sealed outside, and lots of others.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:79-80, 9 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The plan of salvation devised by our [p.80] Father and God, is intended to save every human being that will be saved; to reach them all, unless, during this probation, they commit what is termed the unpardonable sin, the sin against the Holy Ghost, and become sons of perdition, in which event salvation ceases (so far as they are concerned) to operate; they put themselves outside of the pale of salvation.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:83-84, 9 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

You will remember when Mary, after she missed the body from the sepulchre, rushed forward to a man, supposing him to be a gardener, and asked him where he had laid the body. She did not recognize Him at first, but as soon as He made Himself known she essayed to clasp Him in womanly affection. He, however, told her to stand back, not to touch Him. You must not put your hands on me, Mary. Whatever your relations may be to me, you [p.84] must not touch me now. ... He had not yet been to His Father -- that is, directly to the immediate presence of His Father. Therefore it was not fit that any mortal should put hands upon Him. It was not the privilege even of Mary, closely connected as she was with Him -- it was not her privilege to put her hand upon her resurrected Lord.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:84, 9 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Therefore in the spirit world there are grades of punishment just as there are grades of spirits. Some are ignorant.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:86, 9 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

It is a neverending work that which we have taken upon ourselves. It will never terminate until this earth shall be redeemed, until the power of Satan shall be subdued, until wickedness shall be banished from the earth, until He reigns whose right it is to reign, and every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God. Then will this labor cease so far as the family of man is concerned; but it will never cease until all who belong to this earth, whoever were born upon it -- no matter in what age, no matter what nationality, shall be redeemed who can be redeemed.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:87, 9 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Unless you commit the unpardonable sin, you will have to progress. It is written in the eternity of our God that every soul must progress that does not retrograde.

George Q. Cannon, JD 25:365, 16 Nov 1884, Ephraim

It should be the aim of every father in Israel to have his daughters married to those who are of the right lineage, who have a claim upon the blessings of God, through their descent, added to their own faithfulness in keeping the commandments of God.

We are commanded to marry those of our own faith, and not to go outside of our Church for partners.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 26:20, 16 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The doctrine of evolution, as it is called, is true in some respects -- that is, that species can be improved, exalted, made better, but it remains of the same species. The advancement is in the same line. It is unfoldment. We do not find any radical change from one species to another. It is an eternal principle that every seed produces its own kind, not another kind.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 26:21, 16 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Man's Spirit, then, is an individual, a personality, and the spirit is in the likeness and shape of the body which it inhabits. When the spirit goes out of the body there is a person, a perfectly formed individual, looking like the body which we now see with our natural eyes. Spirits living in the flesh, unless operated upon abnormally by some spiritual influence, cannot see spiritual beings. A spirit can see spirit. Spirit ministers to spirit; and when the spirit goes out of the body that spirit can see other spirits, beings of the same character and nature, and we shall find when we have emerged from this body, that we shall be in the company of a great many persons like ourselves...

Charles W. Penrose, JD 26:21-22, 16 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is a spirit, an influence, that proceeds from God, that fills the immensity of space, the Holy Spirit, the Light of Truth. ... As that light comes forth from the sun, so the light of God comes to us. That [p.22] natural light is the grosser substance or particles of the same Spirit.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 26:22, 16 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

...He [God] dwells in a tabernacle, in a body, though that body is different from our bodies, it being a spiritual body. It is quickened by spirit. Our bodies are quickened by that corruptible substance which we call blood; but our Heavenly Father's body is quickened by spirit. It is not governed by the same laws as those by which earthly bodies are governed.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 26:22, 16 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

A spiritual person can take the hand of another spiritual person and it is substantial. A person in body could not grasp a spirit, for that spirit has different properties to those of our bodies, and it is governed by different laws to those that govern us in this sphere of mortality. A spiritual substance, organized into form, occupies room and space just as much in its sphere as these natural particles occupy in this sphere.

Charles W. Penrose, JD 26:25, 16 Nov 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

As the Father had taken His upward course in worlds before this, so Jesus Christ followed in his footsteps in every respect...

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:11, 20 Nov 1884, Provo, Tabernacle

But we say there is great impropriety in saying that those who labor in the ministry among us shall not take part [in civil affairs]; for this reason: that all the men among us who are the most practical, the most energetic, and the most business like -- from these men the ministers are chosen, that is, men who labor in the ministry as Bishops, as Elders, as missionaries, and in other capacities. They have proved that they are capable of sustaining themselves by their own efforts, and at the same time devote a certain portion of their time to public affairs. Hence, you will find among us as a rule that our Bishops are all practical men; our Presidents of Stakes and their Counselors, and the Bishops and their Counselors, the Teachers and others, are all active business men among us.

We are ready to testify that our belief in marriage and our practice of it, is interwoven with our hopes of eternal salvation.

John Taylor, JD 26:72, 30 Nov 1884, Provo

We talk about angels taking care of us, and all sorts of things like that. But I expect that when we get behind the veil we shall have business to do as much as we have here, and one thing will be, perhaps, to look after the arrangement of our family affairs, and things associated therewith.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:44-47, 7 Dec 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

There is no man can prevent another from receiving salvation. God has not placed it in the power of man to prevent either a man, or a woman, or a child from receiving salvation. He has placed that within the power of the individual himself or herself. If a man be damned it is because he takes a course to be damned; he breaks the laws of God.

John Taylor, JD 26:39, 14 Dec 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

By and by, you will find they will tear the Constitution to shreds, as they have begun now; they won't have to begin; they have started long ago to rend the Constitution of our country to pieces...but we will stand by and maintain its principles and the rights of all men of every color, and every clime; we will cleave to the truth, live our religion and keep the commandments of God, and God will bless us in time and throughout the eternities that are to come.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:60, 14 Dec 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

He inspired His servant Joseph to call other men, upon whom He bestowed all the keys, all the authority, all the blessings, all the knowledge so far as endowments were concerned, so far as the power to go unto God and ask Him in the name of Jesus, and obtain His mind and will, was concerned.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:65, 14 Dec 1884, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Now, I have heard that there are men among us who are professing to cure witchcraft and other evils of that kind. I believe they call themselves astrologers. ... Do not seek for those who have peepstones, for soothsayers, and for those who profess to be able to counteract the influence of witchcraft. ... Any man who professes to have this authority, to have this power, and to use power outside of that which the Priesthood authorizes, is a man that should not be listened to; his claims are false, and his methods are from beneath and not from God. And I say to all of you, witchcraft you may defy if you live as you should do -- defy it, not in a spirit of defiance, not in a spirit to bring evil influences upon you, but in the power and strength of our Father and God. No evil influence of that kind, if you live as you should do, have power over you; you are entrenched in the power of God, in the spirit and gifts of God; you are entrenched round about so that none of these wicked influences can have power over you.

Why, it seems to me that in every well regulated family the head thereof should gather his wives and children around him and bow at the altar, even the family altar, and offer unto God thanksgiving and praise for His protecting care and to entreat Him for His Spirit, that we might be led by its counsels, that He might not suffer us to be led into temptation, but that He would deliver us from evil. And I do not consider that this duty is all the time upon the head of the house. I consider that his family should take a part in family prayer. I do not consider it necessary for the man to be the mouthpiece all the time.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:100, 18 Jan 1885, Ogden, Tabernacle

..."Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion, put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem." What are these beautiful garments? These beautiful garments are the clothing upon [of a person] with the authority and power of the Holy Priesthood.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:104, 18 Jan 1885, Ogden, Tabernacle

Thus we should go on step by step, adding faith to faith, keeping the commandments of God, and purifying ourselves all we can. The Lord will bless us in proportion to the degree that we endeavor to purify ourselves, and keep His commandments. That is the great secret of our full acceptance with God. We must purify ourselves as He is pure.

George Q. Cannon, JD 26:145, 18 Jan 1885, Ogden, Tabernacle

We have our sins, our frailties, our many weaknesses; but God looks down in mercy upon them when we repent of them, and show a disposition to put them away from us. When we are in this condition we can call upon Him and leave ourselves to His mercy, with the full assurance that He has always stood by His faithful people, His faithful servants and handmaidens, and that He will not forsake them in any hour of extremity or of peril.

H. W. Naisbitt, JD 26:115, 8 Mar 1885, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

The scriptures give an account simply of the woman Eve; declaring that this name was given her of Adam, because she was "the mother of all living;" but outside of biblical record there has been handed down from time immemorial the idea that Adam had two wives, the narrators go so far, or rather so near perfecting the tradition so as to give their names, Lilith being said to be the name of one as Eve was the name of the other, and while it may be difficult to harmonize all the Rabbinical and Talmudic versions of this matter, it is said that Joseph Smith taught that Adam had two wives.

H. W. Naisbitt, JD 26:127, 8 Mar 1885, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

And when this life shall come to its end with us, may we be privileged to sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, in the kingdom of our Father and God, and make part of a family there, a great nation of Kings and Priests, associating with those who have passed through much tribulation and washed their robes white in the blood of the Lamb through the ordinances of the Gospel...

Men that are the heads of families need now to be filled with the Holy Spirit, to be Prophets, Seers and Revelators to their families, to their kindred and to those that are around them.

There are revelations and doctrines given unto us in our day, however, which were not given in former ages, because the people were not prepared and were not in a suitable condition to receive such.

Moses Thatcher, JD 26:210, 13 Apr 1885, Logan, Tabernacle

There is but one class of human beings whom God hath decreed shall endure eternal punishment, utter and everlasting condemnation, and they are the "sons of perdition." How few, thank God, will be their numbers and, correspondingly how fruitless and barren after all will be the efforts of Satan to frustrate the designs of the Almighty in his glorious plan of human redemption! You, my brethren and sisters, know what constitutes a "son of perdition." To become such, a man, by the testimony of the Holy Ghost, must know that God the Father and Jesus the Son live, and are the authors of salvation. Belief is insufficient, positive knowledge is necessary.

Erastus Snow, JD 26:214, 31 May 1885, Provo, Tabernacle

Now, it is not said in so many words in the Scriptures, that we have a Mother in heaven as well as a Father. It is left for us to infer this from what we see and know of all living things in the earth including man. ...It is intimated in language sufficiently plain to my understanding that the male and female principle was present with the Gods as it is with man.

Erastus Snow, JD 26:215, 31 May 1885, Provo, Tabernacle

Orson F. Whitney, JD 26:266, 21 Jun 1885, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

Not only man, but the earth itself, which is a living creature, must undergo this ordinance [of baptism of water and spirit] -- this dual baptism, and Jesus, when He comes in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory, to take vengeance upon those who know not God, who have not sought to know Him, who have persecuted His people, and set aside the Gospel as a thing of naught, will deluge the earth with fire and the Holy Ghost.

Orson F. Whitney, JD 26:267, 21 Jun 1885, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

What is the Holy Ghost? It is the Spirit of God. God dwells in the pure element of fire; it is the atmosphere which the holy angels, the spirits of the just, the Gods in eternity breathe and live within, but which would consume us if we came too suddenly upon it, or it upon us. We must needs approach it gradually.

Orson F. Whitney, JD 26:268, 21 Jun 1885, Salt Lake City, Tabernacle

God does not punish except to save, He never chastens except to purify.

Moses Thatcher, JD 26:305, 28 Aug 1885, Logan, Tabernacle

Where God is he [Satan] can never abide, nor can those having received the testimony of Jesus who deny it. Such can never, if they reject the truth, sin against the light and put Jesus again to an open shame, abide the presence of God. When through the atoning blood of Christ their spirits and bodies are brought together in the resurrection of the wicked and are judged according to the deeds done in the body, the second death will pass upon them. The first death resulted in a temporary separation of body and spirit, but the second [death] will result in eternal separation. As the rebellious in heaven lost their first [estate], so these will lose their second estate and become like the first.

Moses Thatcher, JD 26:309, 28 Aug 1885, Logan, Tabernacle

God dwells in eternal fire, and no human being who has not been baptized in water and Spirit can abide that which will come, when the earth is immersed in flames, mountains melt with fervent head and run down like wax.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:299, 30 Aug 1885, Provo, Tabernacle

The first Thursday of every month is a fast day, for the Saints to gather together in prayer and fasting, and to bring their offerings for the poor, that the afflicted and unfortunate may not lack for food or clothing, and the comforts of life.

Franklin D. Richards, JD 26:340-341, Oct 1885, Logan, General Conference

So the Lord, in dealing with his children did not reveal this eternal covenant of marriage until his people had lived a while in keeping the first laws and ordinances of the Church, and learned to walk in the light of the Holy Spirit, and to purify themselves from the various besetments with which they were attended when they went into the waters of baptism, and become better prepared for more exalted principles and truths. One of the last great principles that the Prophet Joseph was commanded of God to teach us, was the law regulating the eternity of marriage; that whereas, we had taken our wives only until death should us part, we should now understand that we were, while in the flesh, laying the foundation for eternal dominions, crowns and exaltations; that our wives and our children were given to us of God for the purpose of laying the foundation of a kingdom; that we shall have, if we are faithful and obedient, the covenant of eternal life ourselves and the power to seal the same upon our generations, that they [p.341] may become, as Abraham's like the sands of the seashore for number.

Moses Thatcher, JD 26:328, 8 Oct 1885, Logan, Tabernacle

I believe that God intends that every man and every woman in His Church and kingdom shall exercise the faculties which he has given them, that in the exercise of their agency He designs to exalt them in eternal glory. So long therefore as the people rely upon their leaders they are not manifesting that degree of faith, they are not in a position to think and reflect for themselves as they should. ... Men and women are now learning that their prayers can be heard, and that if they are not able to receive the counsels of their brethren, they can in all places and under all circumstances, receive the counsels of God, their Heavenly Father.

Moses Thatcher, JD 26:334, 8 Oct 1885, Logan, Tabernacle

When war and desolation and bloodshed, and the ripping up of society come upon the nation, I have said to such, "Come to Utah and we will divide our morsel of food with you, we will divide our clothing with you, and we will offer you protection." I will tell you, my brethren and sisters, the day will come, and it is not far distant, when he who will not take up his sword against his neighbor, will have to flee to Zion for safety; and it is presupposed in this prediction that Zion will have power to give them protection. We are not going to do it outside of the government. There is no power in this land to turn this people against the government of the United States. They will maintain the Constitution of this country inviolate, and although it may have been torn to shreds they will tie it together again, and maintain every principle of it, holding it up to the downtrodden of every nation, kindred, tongue and people, and they will do it, too, under the Stars and Stripes.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 26:365, 10 Jan 1886, Brigham City, Tabernacle

To "multiply" was the first commandment given to our first parents. Purity in matrimonial intercourse, I always believed, should accompany this command, and I have always endeavored to observe faithfully its practice. I married because it was commanded of God, and commenced in plural marriage. I contracted marriage with four women about the same time, and with a mutual understanding with each that they were to be equal -- neither was to take or assume the status of a first or legal wife.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 26:366, 10 Jan 1886, Brigham City, Tabernacle

If we succeed in passing through the approaching fiery ordeals with our fidelity and integrity unimpeached, we may expect at the close of our trials, a great and mighty outpouring of the Spirit and power of God -- a great endowment upon all who shall have remained true to their covenants.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 26:367, 10 Jan 1886, Brigham City, Tabernacle

You and I cannot be made perfect except through suffering: Jesus could not. In His prayer and agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, He foreshadowed the purifying process necessary in the lives of those whose ambition prompts them to secure the glory of a celestial kingdom.

Lorenzo Snow, JD 26:369, 10 Jan 1886, Brigham City, Tabernacle

I hope to address you again, many times in this life, though this may be my last: -- however this will be, I shall expect to meet you in yonder world clothed in robes of celestial beauty, amid the glory of the Sons of God...

Nation of Kings by Orson Pratt:

St. John beheld the New Earth, and the angel said unto him, "Come hither, I will shew thee the Bride, the Lamb's Wife;" and he was carried in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and saw a great city called the holy Jerusalem, descending form the heavens upon the New Earth. This city contained the throne of God and the Lamb, and was inhabited by a great nation of kings who were to "reign forever and ever," being Gods, as is evident from the name of God being written on each of their foreheads. The inscription upon their foreheads was not intended as a mere sham or mockery, but was in reality the name given to each, that all the inhabitants of eternity, when they saw GOD conspicuously inscribed upon all their foreheads, might know most assuredly that each one was a god, as the written title or name expressly declared. The grandeur and glory of this city are still further described; the city and the streets thereof were of pure gold, clear as glass, while the walls and the gates were of the most precious stones; and the glory of God enlightened the city, so that they had no need of the light of the sun or moon. This light was so great that all the nations that were saved that dwelt upon all the face of the New Earth, walked in the light of it. There was no night there, but the whole Earth was clothed in one eternal day. It was in the midst of this city that the King of kings and Lord of lords sat upon His throne, while upon His "right hand did stand the Queen," arrayed in the most costly apparel. (Orson Pratt, The Seer, pp. 169-172.)

Joseph Smith--We must receive all the ordinances:

All men who become heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ will have to receive the fulness of the ordinances of his kingdom; and those who will not receive all the ordinances will come short of the fulness of that glory, if they do not lose the whole. (DHC 5:424)

6 October 1844

Brigham Young on Revelation:

I will not ascend any higher than a priest, and ask the priest what is your right. You have the right to receive the administration of angels. If an angel was to come to you and tell you what the Lord was going to do in this day, you would say you had a revelation. The president of the priests has a right to the Urim and Thummim, which gives revelation. He has the right of receiving visits from angels. Every priest then in the church has the right of receiving revelations. Every member has the right of receiving revelations for themselves, both male and female. It is the very life of the church of the living God, in all ages of the world. (DHC 7:285) 22 August 1852
John Taylor--Kings and Priests:

I hear some of our elders saying, sometimes, that they are going to do great things--to be rulers in the kingdom of God, kings and priests to the Most High, and are again to exalt thousands of other to thrones, principalities, and powers, in the eternal worlds. But we cannot get them out of their nests to travel a few miles here. If they cannot do this, how will they ever learn to go from world to world? (John Taylor, J.D., 1:19-20.)

7 January 1846

William Smith:

I was present with Joseph at the last council that was held previous to the Twelve and others going on their electioneering campaign to the east and various other parts of the United States; it was at this time that I received my initiation into the highest priesthood lodge, was washed and anointed, and clad with the sacerdotal robe of pure white, and ordained to be priest and king, and invested with all the power that any man on earth ever did possess; power entitling me to preach the gospel, to bind up the Kingdom of God on earth, among all nations, and people of every tongue. In consequence of these endowments and ordination received from under the hands of Joseph, I hold as much power and as many keys to seal and bind on earth, as can possibly belong to Brigham Young; the power was conferred equally on all the Twelve, and not therefore bestowed on one. (William Smith's letter to the Warsaw Signal, Jan. 7, 1846; Calling and Election by Ogden Kraut, p. 123-124.)

5th & 6th May 1843

George Miller--Kings and Priests

Many of the Apostles and Elders having returned from England, Joseph washed and anointed as Kings and Priests to God, and over the House of Israel, the following named persons, as he said was commanded of God, viz: James Adams (of Springfield), William Law, William Marks, Willard Richards, Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball, Newel K. Whitney, Hyrum Smith, and myself; and conferred on us Patriarchal Priesthood. This took place on the 5th and 6th of May, 1842. (Journal of George Miller, "De Tal Palo Tal Astilla," p. 120-121)

June 1844

Dan Jones--Joseph Smith the [Proxy] King over the Kingdom of God on the Earth:

Dan Jones heard Wilson Law... declare that while he (Mr. Smith) was once preaching from Daniel 2nd chapter, 44th verse, [he] said that the kingdom referred to was already set up, and that he was the king over it. (DHC 6:568-569)

Parley P. Pratt--Anointing Kings:

This Priesthood, including that of the Aaronic, holds the keys of revelation of the oracles of God to man upon the earth; the power and right to give laws and commandments to individuals, churches, rulers, nations and the world; to appoint, ordain, and establish constitutions and kingdoms; to anoint kings, presidents, governors or judges, and to ordain or anoint them to their several holy callings, also to instruct, warn, or reprove them by the word of the Lord. (Parley P. Pratt, Key to Theology, 1885, p. 66)

14 July 1855

Brigham Young explained that we become king of kings, and lord of lords or fathers of fathers, or prince of princes to our families:

We understand that we are to be made kings and priests unto God; now if I be made the king and lawgiver to my family, and if I have many sons, I shall become the father of many fathers, for they will have sons, and their sons will have sons, and so on, form generation to generation, and, in this way, I may become the father of many fathers, or the king of many kings. This will constitute every man a prince, king, lord, or whatever the Father sees fit to confer upon us.
In this way we can become king of kings, and lord of lords, or father of fathers, or prince of princes, and this is the only course, for another man is not going to raise up a kingdom for you. (J.D. 3:265-266)

Hyrum Andurs--Explains the role of Priestess and Queen in the home within the Patriarchal order of the Priesthood:

A priestess is a female priest--one who exercises priestly rights and powers by virtue of the priesthood. In this context, a queen is a woman with a political status and power in the home, within the patriarchal order of the priesthood. (Doctrines of the Kingdom, p. 411)

30 August 1857

John Taylor Explained:

You have been ordained kings and queens, and priests and priestesses to your Lord; you have been put in possession of principles that all the kings, potentates, and power upon the earth are entirely ignorant of; they do not understand it; but you have received this form the hands of God. (J.D. 5:189)

19 April 1854

John Taylor:

Have you forgotten who you are, and what your object is? Have you forgotten that you profess to be Saints of the Most High God, clothed upon with the holy priesthood? Have you forgotten that you are aiming to become kings and priests to the Lord, and queens and priestesses to him? Have you forgot that you are associated with the Saints of God in Zion, where the oracles of truth are revealed, and the truths of God are made manifest, and clearly developed; where you and your posterity after you can learn the ways of life and salvation; where you are placed in a position that you can obtain blessings from the great Eloheim, that will rest upon you and your posterity worlds without end? (J.D. 1:372)

18 March 1961

Alvin R. Dyer:

I call your attention now to the washing and anointing that you received in the Temple.... When you went into the washing and anointing room, where you were washed and anointed with water and oil, you were given a new name, and you were promised that some day you would be called up to be a king and priest, or a queen and priestess. (From speech "For What Propose", March 18, 1961)

28 August 1859

Brigham Young explained:

After men have got their exaltations and their crowns--have become Gods, even the sons of God--are made Kings of kings and Lords of lords, they have the power then of propagating their species in spirit; and that is the first of their operations with regard to organizing a world. Power is then given to them to organize the elements, and then to commence the organization of tabernacles. How can they do it? Have they to go to that earth? Yes, an Adam will have to go there and he cannot do without Eve; he must have Eve to commence the work of generation, and they will go into the garden, and continue to eat and drink of the fruits of the corporeal world, until this grosser matter is diffused sufficiently through their celestial bodies, to enable them, according to the established laws, to produce mortal tabernacles for their spiritual children. This is a key for you. (J.D. 6:275)

9 October 1859

Brigham Young:

Joseph Smith holds the keys of this last dispensation [as proxy King of kings and Lord of lords, in place of the Lord until he comes to claim those keys], and is now engaged behind the veil in the great work of the last days.  No man or woman in this dispensation will ever enter into the celestial kingdom of God without the consent of Joseph Smith. From the day that the Priesthood was taken from the earth to the winding up scene of all things, every man and woman must have the certificate of Joseph Smith, junior, as a passport to their entrance into the mansion where God and Christ are--

He holds the keys of that kingdom for the last dispensation--the keys to rule in the spirit world; and he rules there triumphantly, for he gained full power and a glorious victory over the power of Satan while he was yet in the flesh, and was a martyr to his religion and to the name of Christ, which gives him a most perfect victory in the spirit world. He reigns there as supreme a being in his sphere, capacity, and calling, as God does in heaven. Many will exclaim--"Oh, that is very disagreeable! It is preposterous! We cannot bear the thought!" But it is true.

I will now tell you something that ought to comfort ever man and woman on the face of the earth. Joseph Smith, junior, will again be on this earth dictating plans and calling forth his brethren to be baptized for the very characters who wish this was not so, in order to bring them into a kingdom to enjoy, perhaps, the presence of angels or the spirits of good men, if they cannot endure the presence of the Father and the Son; and he will never cease his operations, under the directions of the Son of God, until the last ones of the children of men are saved that can be, from Adam till now.

Should not this thought comfort all people? They will, by-and-by, be a thousand times more thankful for such a man as Joseph Smith, junior, than it is possible for them to be for any earthly good whatever. It is his mission to see that all the children of men in this last dispensation are saved, that can be, through the redemption. You will be thankful, every one of you, that Joseph Smith, junior, was ordained to this great calling before the worlds were. I told you that the doctrine of election and reprobation is a true doctrine. It was decreed in the counsels of eternity, long before the foundations of the earth were laid, tat he should be the man, in the last dispensation of this world, to bring forth the word of God to the people, and receive the fulness of the keys and power of the Priesthood of the Son of God. [Note: In order to have a kingdom there must be a king. Joseph Smith holds the Key of the Kingdom of God or is Proxy King of king in this last Dispensation. Also the Prophets who preside after Joseph Smith also hold this key and are Proxy King of kings and Lord of lords for the Lord and will deliver this key up to the Lord when he comes to gather up all the keys and reign as King of kings and Lord of lords over all the earth.] (J.D. 7:289)

Joseph Fielding Smith::

So being ordained an elder, or a high priest, or an apostle, or even president of the Church, is not the thing that brings the exaltation, but obedience to the laws and the ordinances and the covenants required of those who desire to become members of the Chruch of the Firstborn as these are administered in the House of the Lord. To become a member of the Church of the Firstborn, as I understand it, is to become one of the inner circle. We are all members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by being baptized and confirmed, and there are many who seem to be content to remain such without obtaining the privileges of exaltation. the Lord has made it possible for us to become members of the Church of the Firstborn by receiving the blessings of the House of the Lord, and "overcoming all things." Thus we become heirs, "priests and kings, who have received a fulness, and of his glory," who shall "dwell in the presence of God and His Christ forever and ever," with full exaltation. (Take Heed to Yourselves, see pp. 112-114.)

Joseph Fielding Smith:

Each person baptized into the Church is under obligation to keep the commandments of the Lord. He is under covenant, for baptism in a "new and an everlasting covenant." (D. & C. 22:1) When he has proved himself by a worthy life, having been faithful in all things required of him, then it is his privilege to receive other covenants and to take upon himself other obligations which will make of him an heir, and he will become a member of the "Church of the Firstborn". Into his hands "the Father has given all things." He will be a priest and a king, receiving of the Father's fulness and of His glory. (Way to Perfection, p. 208)

2 August 1857

Heber C. Kimball declared:

This people here are the people of God. Here, in the Territory of Deseret, is the Kingdom of God, and here are all the officers pertaining to that kingdom; and here is an organization that is organized after the order of God, and it is organized after the order of the Church of the First Born.
* * * and when God our Father organized that Church, He organized it just as His Father organized the Church on the earth where He dwelt; and that same order id here in the City of Great Salt Lake; and it is that order that Joseph Smith the Prophet of God organized in the beginning in Kirtland, Ohio. brother Brigham Young, myself, and others were present when that was done; and when those officers received their endowments they were together in one place. They were organized, and received their endowments and blessings, and those keys were placed upon them, and that kingdom will stand forever [can there be a kingdom without a King? No there must therefore be a Proxy King in place of the Lord until he comes--this being the Prophet of the Lord].

Now mark it--that kingdom will never be overthrown; although they may kill, that is, if they can, Brother Brigham and me, and Brother Daniel H. Wells, and they may kill the apostles, if they can, and so they may keep on from this time to all eternity, and they never can obliterate this work. I know it. They may kill, and destroy, and waste a great many limbs that are upon this Church; but let me tell you, they never can kill the tree nor destroy the root from whence we have sprung; for our Father and our God is that root, and Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is the tree or vine, and we spring out of that vine. (J.D. 5:129-130)

2 December 1877

The Apostle Orson Pratt:

But the time will come, when the Spirit of God will be poured out upon all flesh and "The wolf shall lie down with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; and the calf and the young lion and the fatling together; and a little child shall lead them," etc. That will change the fall of creation or at least, the living portion of it. The curse then will be removed. It will be like the garden of Eden, and Jesus will be here, and he will teach his people, fulfilling what is written in the sacred Scriptures about his reign of a thousand years. The Saints then will be resurrected, and they will also be the inhabitants of this globe. They are singing about in heaven, while their bodies are sleeping in the grave. Read the 5th chapter of John's Revelations, that will give you an idea what the Saints of heaven anticipate. The words of the new song which John heard them sing, were: "Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof; for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue and people and nation. And hast made us unto our God kings and priests; and we shall reign on the earth!" How plain! "We shall reign on the earth!" They hope for it; they sing about it; they expect it, just as much as we hope to go with them, and mingle with them, and just as much as we have faith that we will, when we lay our bodies down in the grave, go to our former abode where we once were, to the mansions prepared, and that we will join with the heavenly hosts. We will not forget the earth; it is our native abode; but instead of forgetting it, we will join with them in their new song, and with them we will look forward with joyful anticipation to the day when we shall return to reign on the earth, having been made kings and priests unto our God. And Jesus and the Twelve Apostles will be in our midst. (J.D. 19:176)

14 March 1875

Orson Pratt:
Do we not expect that the Lord will, by and by, come and visit us and stay a little while, about a thousand years? Yes, and then we shall be made glad with the joy of the countenance of our Lord. He will be among us, and will be our King, and he will reign as a King of kings and Lord of lords. He will have a throne in Zion, and another in the Temple at Jerusalem, and he will have with him the twelve disciples who were with him during his ministry at Jerusalem; and they will eat and drink with him at his table; and all the people of this globe who are counted worthy to be called Zion, the pure in heart, will be made glad by the countenance of their Lord for a thousand years, during which the earth will rest. (O. Pratt, J.D. 17:332)

August 30, 1857

John Taylor--To Establish the Kingdom of God:

What are we engaged in? We are engaged in building up the kingdom of God, and many of you have been ordained by the revelations of the Almighty to hold the power and authority of the Holy Priesthood. Besides this, you have been ordained kings and queens, and priests and priestesses to your Lord; you have been put in possession of principles that all the kings, potentates, and powers upon the earth are entirely ignorant of they do not understand it; but you have received this from the hands of God.
The kingdom is put upon the shoulders of President Young and this people to carry it out, and by whom? By the Lord God--by him who holds dominion throughout the universe; by him who created all by the word of his power; by him who said, "Let there be light;" by him who spake, and the worlds rolled into existence. By him you received rights that are not of this world--rights that flow from the great Eloheim.
What are we going to do, then? We are going to establish the Kingdom of God upon the earth. This is our privilege--our right, if you please. But I consider it a high privilege--the greatest boon that can be bestowed upon mortals on the earth, to be the representatives of God. (J.D., Vol. 5:189-190, John Taylor August 30, 1857.)

Elijah the Prophet:

His latter-day mission was to "restore the authority and deliver the keys of the priesthood, in order that all the ordances may be attended to in righteousness.... Why send Elijah? Because he holds the keys of the authority to administer in all the ordinances of the priesthood; and without the authority is given, the ordinances could not be administered in righteousness." (Teachings, p. 172.)
"The spirit, power, and calling of Elijah is," the Prophet also taught, "that ye have power to hold the key of the revelations, ordiances, oracles, powers and endowments of the fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood and of the kingdom of God on the earth; and to receive, obtain, and perform all the ordinances belonging to the kingdom of God, even unto the turning of the hearts of the fathers unto the children, and the hearts of the children unto the fathers, even those who are in heaven....
"This is the spirit of Elijah, [1] that we redeem our dead, and [2] connect ourselves with our fathers which are in heaven, and [3] seal up our dead to come forth in the first resurrection; and here is the power of Elijah to seal those who dwell on earth to those who dwell in heaven. This is the power of Elijah and the keys of the kingdom of Jehovah." (Teachings, pp. 337-338.)
"How shall God come to the rescue of this generation?" the Prophet asked. "He will send Elijah the Prophet....Elijah shall reveal the covenants to seal the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers. The anointing and sealing is to be [1] called, [2] elected, and [3] made sure." (Teachings, p. 323.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 224-225).

[Here we see a number of significant things:
1. The spirit, power, and calling of Elijah is to bestow the Fulness of the Melchizedek Priesthood-which is to receive all the ordiances of the temple.

_____2. We learn that it is the Power of
a. Revelations
b. ordiances
c. oracles
d. powers
e. endowments of the fulness of the Melchizedek Preisthood
f. and of the kingdom of God on the earth
g. and to receive

i. perform all the ordiances belonging to the kingdom of God,
j. sealing the children to the fathers.
"...to seal those who dwell on earth to those who dwell in heaven" (Teachings, pp. 337-338.)

3. We learn that it is the power in the to seal up our dead [and ourselves to come forth in the first resurrection which is a joint sealing contained in the New and Everlasting Covenant of Celestial mariage. (D & C 132:19.)

4."It is to seal the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the children to the fathers." (Teachings, p. 323.)
This is contained as part of the joint blessing that husband and wife receive together or not at all; That of sealing children to parents all the way back to Adam and Eve and from them to Our heavenly Father and Mother for this is a Joint blessing or not at all.

5. The Power of Elijah which is fulfilled within the New and Everlasting Covenant contains the following:
" The anointing and sealing is to be [1] called [to join the church and receive the fulness of the priesthood], [2] elected [to receive the Melchizedek Priesthood and the New and everlasting covenant of Celestial Marriage, and [3] the crowning ordinance of the Fulness of the Melchizedek Preisthood in the New and Everlasting Covenant of Marriage is to receive the fulness of the priesthood to be annointed and made a king and priest and queen and preistess and become a member of the Church of the Firstborn and all these are then to be sealed] and made sure [by 1. the sealing power of the Priesthood and 2. the ratifing seal of the Holy Ghost..." (Teachings, p. 323.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 224).

Bruce R. Mcconkie:

Resurrection:

...Those beings[s] resurrected with celestial bodies, whose destiny is to inherit a celestial kingdom, will come forth in the morning of the first resurrection. Their graves shall be opened and they shall be caught up to meet the Lord at his Second Coming. They are Christ's, the firstfruits, and they shall descend with him to reign as kings and priests durring the millennial era. (D. & C. 29:13; 43:18; 76:50-70; 88:97:98; 1 Thess. 4:16-17; Rev. 20:3-7.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 640.)

FIRST AND SECOND ANOINTING:

The "holy anointing" was part of a complex of sanctifying ordiances intended to prepare the brethern to receive a spiritual outpouring known in Kirtland as "an endowment of power."

Purification" was one of the ordiances which prepared the brethren for the "endowment." It consisted of having one's body washed and bathed with cinnamon-perfumed whiskey and later washing one's own body with pure water and perfume. Cf. D&C 89:7. (Kirtland Elders' Quorum Record, 25 January 1836, footnotes.)

The Prophet's remarks refer to a second solemn assembly planned for the 6th of April, 1837. Worthy brethren who were unable to attend to solemn assembly the previous year were invited to participate in certain purifying ordinances preparatory to receiving a spiritual endowment of power. These ordinances consisted of (1) washing "head to foot" in soap and water, (2) washing in clear water and perfumed whiskey, (3) having one's head anointed with consecrated oil and receiving a blessing by the spirit of prophecy, (4) having the anointing blessing sealed with uplifted hands (solemn prayer, a sealing prayer, and the hosannah shout), and (5) washing of faces and feet and partaking of the Lord's Supper. (26 Jan 1836, footnote.)

Elect Lady:

An elect lady is a female member of the Church who has already received, or who through obedience is qualified to receive, the fulness of gospel blessings. This includes [1] temple endowments, [2] celestial marriage, and [3] the fulness of the sealing power. She is one who has been elected or chosen by faithfulness as a daughter of God in this life, and heir of God, a member of his household. Her position is comparable to that of the elders who magnify their callings in the preisthood and thereby receive all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:38.)
In the early days of this dispensation Emma Smith, the Prophet's wife, was in such complete harmony with the Lord's porgram that he forgave her of her sins and addressed her as an elect lady. (D. & C. 25:1-3; History of the Chruch, vol. 4, p. 552.) John the Beloved used a similar salutation to certain chosen women in his day. (2 John 1, 13.) Just as it is possible for the very elect to be deceived, and to fall from grace through disobedience, so an elect lady, by failing to endure to the end, can lose her chosen status. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 217).

According to Wilford Woodruff's Journal, the following Individuals received their Second Anointings:

FIRST AND SECOND COMFORTER:

Jesus Discourses on the Two Comforters

These statements about the two Comforters climax and crown the teachings of the Son of God. We have no record of anything he ever said which can completely withdraw the curtain of eternity and open to the faithful a vision of the glories of God. Based on love, born of obedience, Jesus promises the saints that they can have, here and now in this life, the following:
(1) The gift and constant companionship of the Holy Ghost;

[a] the comfort and peace which it is the function of the Holy Spirit to bestow;

[b] the revelation and th sanctifying power which alone will prepare men for the companionship of gods and angels here after;

(2) Personal visitations from the Second Comforter, the Lord Jesus Christ himself, the resurrected and perfected being who dwells with his Father in the mansions on high; and
(3) God the Father--mark it well Phillip!--shall

[a] visit man in person,

[b] take up his abode with him, as it were, and [c] reveal to him all the hidden mysteries of his kingdom.

Joseph Smith, as the Holy Ghost poured light and revelation into his soul, said this about the two Comforters: "There are two Comforters spoken of. One is the Holy Ghost, the same as given on the day of Pentecost, and that all Saints receive after faith, repentance, adn baptism. This first Comforter or Holy Ghost has no other effect than pure intelligence. It is more powerful in expanding the mind, enlightening the understanding, and storing the intellect with present knowledge, of a man who is of the literal seed of Abraham, than one that is a Gentile, though it may not have half as much visible effect upon the body; for as the Holy Ghost falls upon one of the literal seed of Abraham, it is calm and serene; and his whole soul and body are only exercised by the pure spirit of intelligence; while the effect of the Holy Ghost upon a Gentile, is to purge out the old blood, and make him actually of the seed of Abraham. That man that has none of the blood of Abraham (naturally) must have a new creation by the Holy Ghost. In such a case, there may be more of a powerful effect upon the body, and visible to the eye, than upon an Israelite, while the Israelite at first might be far before the Gentile in pure intelligence.
"The other Comforter spoken of is a subject of great interest, and perhaps understood by few of this generation. After a person has faith in Christ, repents of his sins, and is baptized for the remission of his sins and receives the Holy Ghost (by the laying on of hands), which is the first Comforter, then let him continue to humble himself before God, hungering and thirsting after righteousness, and living by every word of God, and the Lord will soon say unto him, Son, thou shalt be exalted. When the Lord has thoroughly proved him, and finds that the man is determined to serve him at all hazards, then the man will find his calling and his election made sure, then it will be his privilege to receive the other Comforter, which the Lord hath promised the saints, as is recorded in the testimony of St. John, in the 14th chapter, from the 12th to the 27the verses. Note the 16, 17, 18, 21, 23 verses....

"Now what is this other Comforter. It is no more nor less than the Lord Jesus Christ himself; and this is the sum and substance of the whole matter; that when any man obtains this last Comforter, he will have the personage of Jesus Christ to attend him, or appear unto him from time to time, and even he will manifest the Father unto him, and they will take up their abode with him, and the visions of the heavens will be opened unto him, and the Lord will teach him face to face, and he may have a perfect knowledge of the mysteries of the kingdom of God; and this is the state and place the ancient saints arrived at when they had such glorious visions--Isaiah, Ezekiel, John upon the Isle of Patmos, St. Paul in the three heavens, and all the saints who held communion with the general assembly and Church of the First Born." (Teachings, pp. 149-151.) (DNTC 1, p. 735-736.)

The Lord Jesus Christ himself, the Second Comforter, will appear personally to the faithful. Mortal men have power while in this life to see God. "Verily, thus saith the Lord: It shall come to pass that every soul who forsaketh his sins and cometh unto me, and calleth on my name, and obeyeth my voice, and keepeth my commandments, shall see my face and know that I am." (D. & C. 92:1.) The Brother of Jared, among others, is one who complied with this law and thereby saw the Lord. "Because of the knowledge of this man," the record says, "he could not be kept from beholding within the viel; and he saw the finger of Jesus, which, when he saw, he fell with fear; for he knew, that it was the finger of the Lord; and he had faith no longer, for he knew, nothing doubting. Wherefore, having this perfect knowledge of God, he could not be kept from within the veil; therefore he saw Jesus; and he did minister unto him." (Ether 3:19-20.) (DNTC 1, p. 738.)

John 14:23
Jesus here announces the supreme earthly reward for personal righteousness--a personal visitation to man of the Father and the Son. "John 14:23--The appearing of the Father and the Son, in that verse, is a personal appearance; and the idea that the Father and the Son dwell in a man's heart is an old sectarian notion, and is false." (D. & C. 130:3.)

He shall teach you all things
All things? yes, all things; and all things means all things. "And by the power of the Holy Ghost ye may know the truth of all things." (Moro. 10:5.) The revealed word says God knows all things and has all thruth, which means there is nothing he does not know and no truth he does not possess. Consequently, now and hereafter, in time or eternity, the Holy Ghost shall teach all things to deserving and eligible students.

He shall testify of me (John 14:26)
Salvation centers in Christ. The Holy Ghost is Christ's revelator to bear witness of his divine Sonship and of the saving truths of his gospel. "The Holy Ghost," In Abraham's record this third member of the Godhead was called "God the third, the witness or Testator." (Teachings, p. 190.) As a Spirit personage, the Holy Spirit, by laws which are ordained, has power to speak to the spirit within man and to convey truth with absolute certainty. This revealed knowledge becomes a personal testimony to the recipient. By definition and testimony of the gospel is to know by personal revelation from the Holy Ghost that Jesus is the Christ through whom salvation comes; that Joseph Smith is the prophet who revealed anew to the world the saving truths of the gospel; and that the Chruch of Jesus Christ of Later-day Saints is the kingdom of God on earth. [He seals, approves, ratifies, confirms, sanctifies and seals all blessings, truths, and ordiances of the gospel upon you.]

He shall glorify me
The Father and the Son, through their ministries, as Jesus has just announced, glorify each other. (John 13:31-32; 14:13.) Now Jesus says the Holy Ghost shall glorify the Son--a thing which comes to pass because men believe the testimony of the Holy Ghost, so live as to gain exaltation, and thereby add dominions and kingdoms to the endless domains of the Father and the Son. See John 13:31-35.

1 Cor 12:3
Wherefore I give you to understand, that no man speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Jesus accursed: and that no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost.

Two principles are here set forth: 1. Any man who has the Spirit praises Christ and testifies fo his goodness and mercy; and 2. Christ is and can be known by revelation from the Holy Ghost, and in no other way. Revelation is the sole and only sure source of knowledge about God and Christ and gospel truths. A knowledge of these things does not and cannot come by reason, research, or rationalization. God stands revealed, or he remains forever unknown. In keeping with this principle, Joseph Smith said that the latter part of verse three should read: No man can know that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost." (Teachings, p. 223.) (DNTC 2, p. 365-367.)

Jesus taught that "the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things" (John 14:26), and the latter-day revelation on spiritual gifts says this about knowing of Christ's divinity by the power of the Spirit: "To some it is given by the Holy Ghost to know that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and that he was crucified for the sins of the world. To others it is given to believe on their words, that they also might have eternal life if they continue faithful." [Parents to children][Abraham] (D. & C. 46:13-14.) (DNTC 2, p. 367-368.)

The word of God pierces the soul of man [The Holy Ghost]
The Holy Ghost is a personage of spirit, a spirit being ,a dn when he speaks to the spirit within man, knowledge and truth are conveyed with absolute surety. These wisperings of the Spirit are called the still small voice as is shown by the experience of Elijah on Mount Horeb. When the Prophet sought instructions from the Lord, "behold, the Lord passed by, and a great and strond wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks before the Lord; but the Lord was not in the wind: and after the wind an earthquake; but the Lord was not in the earthquake: and after the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voeice." (1Kings 19:11-12.) Then by the wisperings of the Spirit Elijah learned what the Lord wanted him to do. That these spiritual impressions can sink into the heart with a power transcending anything earthly is shown from Joseph Smith's statemrnt: "Thus saith the still small voice, which whispereth through and pierceth all things, and often times it maketh my bones to quake while it maketh mankfest." (D. & C. 85:6.) (DNTC 3, p. 152-153.)

"The priesthood is an everlasting principle, and exited with God form eternity, and will to eternity, without beginning of days or end of years.: (Teachings, p. 157.) Christ and others held the priesthood in pre-existence. Andam, the Prophet says, "obtained in in the creation, before the world was formed." (Teachings, p. 157.)

The "fulness of the gospel" refers to all of the laws and commandments of God. The Lord said that the scriptures were given for "the salvation of mine own elect; for they will hear my voice, and shall see me...." (D & C 35:20-21)

GODHEAD-ATTAIN:

"God" = Eternal Father and Eternal Mother:

What is a good basis for imagining eternal marriage, then? The plain scriptures, I believe. In the first place, modern scriptures and revelations suggest quite plainly that we would more accurately and profitably read the scriptural references to "God" as meaning God the eternal partnership of Heavenly Father and Heavenly Mother. They have a more perfect unity even than that of God and Christ and the Holy Ghost, and so the word God implies both of them, at least as much as it denotes the three beings in the classical Christian trinity called "God". Such a more correct identification of "God" might help us better comprehend the direct role our Heavenly Mother played in our creation and salvation. When we read in Genesis that God said, "Let us create man in our image," it makes most sense to read it as God the Father and God the Mother speaking as One. When we read in John that God sent His only begotten Son to save us, it would be better to understand, as it certainly makes more sense, that our Heavenly Parents sent Their only begotten Son. This process is truer to the evidence -- and to our real needs as men and women -- than looking for a female God between the lines in the scriptures or in apocryphal works of mythologies, as many feminist theologians are doing. It might help us better imagine our futures as husbands and wives, equally yoked in what Shakespeare called "the marriage of true minds" -- and to work toward that future now. Second, modern revelation tells us that when God put "man" on the earth, "in the image of mine Only Begotten created I him; male and female created I them." (Moses 2:27.) Clearly men and woman were both created in the "image" of Christ. That would seem to mean we are created in the image of the Heavenly Parents who together make up the "God" whom Christ came to reveal, that is, the perfect eternal partnership He came to teach us how to achieve and to show us in His life and character what we would be like when we achieved it. (Becoming Bone of Bone and Flesh of Flesh by Eugene England, As Women of Faith, Talks selected from the BYU Women's Conferences, Edited by Mary E. Stoval and Carol Cornwall Madsen, Deseret Book Company, p. 110-111.)

Christ's Service Places Godhood Within Man's Reach:

As a man through the powers of his body he could attain to the dignity and completeness of manhood, but could go on further. As a man he is born, as a man he lives, and as a man he dies. But through the essence and power of the Godhead, which is in him, which descended to him as the gift of God from his Heavenly Father, he is capable of rising from the contracted limits of manhood to the dignity of a God, and thus through the atonement of Jesus Christ and the adoption he is capable of eternal exaltation, eternal lives, and eternal progression. (MA, 139-141; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 58.)

Though "there is none other God but one" for men on this earth to worship, yet "there be gods many and lords many" throughout the infinite expanse of eternity. (1 Cor. 8:4-7.) That is, there are many exalted, perfected, glorified personages who reign as gods over their own dominions. John saw 144,000 of them standing with Christ upon MOunt Zion, all "having his Father's name written in their foreheads" (Rev.14-1), which is to say that they were gods and were so identified by wearing crowns so stating. Indeed, to each person who overcomes and gains exaltation, Christ has promised: "I will write upon him the name of my God,: and he shall "sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:12, 21.)
Joseph Smith said: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) All exalted persons "are gods, even the sons of God." (D. & C. 76:58.) Through obedience to the whole gospel law, including celestial marriage, they attain the "fulness of the glory of the Father" [Even to the ataining of the Eternal Godhead themselves, they take a covenant: They themself in the eternal cycle will become God the 1st or Creator, one of their Sons will become God the Second or God the Savior and a third, God the testitator or witnessor....] (D. & C. 93:6-28.) and "a continuation of the seeds forever and ever. Then shall they be gods, because they have no end; therefore shall they be form everlasting to everlasting, because they continue; then shall they be above all, because all things are subject unto them. Then shall they be gods, because they have all power, and the angels are subject unto them." (D. & C. 132:19-20.) (DNTC 1, p. 491.)

GODHOOD-ATTAIN:

Godhood
That exaltation which the saints of all ages have so devotly sought is godhood itself. Godhood is to have the character, possess the attributes, and enjoy the perfections which the Father has. It is to do what he does, have the powers resident in him [and his complementry companion[s] jointly], and live as he lives, having eternal increase. (D. & C. 132:17:20, 37.) It is to know him in the full and complete sense, and no one can fully know God except another exalted personage who is like him in all respects. Those attaining the supreme height are sons of God (D. & C. 76:50-60); they receive the fulness of the Father and find membership in the Church of the Firstborn (D. & C. 93:17-22); they are joint heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18), inheriting with him all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-51) [Expand the consept of earthly parents oldest child has more tallents takes care of other children and perhaps even saves them but the Father and mother love all their children equally they appreciate the tallents of the oldest children. But they love the Children all the same not the talents-they appreciate the tallents therefore all their children inherit the same-thus we are Joint-heirs with Christ. And Christ our eldest most tallented brother and savior thought it not robery to receive the fulness of God.]
Joseph Smith said: "God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens!... I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity. I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another, and that he was once a man like us; yea, that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did; and I will show it from the Bible.... "Here, then, is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests [and Queens and Priestesses] to God, the same as all gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation the exaltation, until you attain to the resurrection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlasting brunings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power.... [Such persons are] heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a god, and ascend the throne fo eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, pp. 345-347.) Again: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 321-322.)

Hebrews 7:21
God swore an oath that Christ should be a priest forever; that is, though our Lord had possessed the priesthood in pre-existance, he would receive it anew in mortality and would have it forever--in time and in eternity. And this sets the pattern for all who become sons of God and joint-heirs with Christ.
"Every person upon whom the Melchizedek Priesthood is conferred receives his office and clalling in this higher priesthood with an oath and a covenant. The covenant is to this effect: 1. Man on his part solemnly agree to magnify his calling in the priesthood, to keep the commandments of God, to live by every word that proceedeth for from the mouth of Deity, and to walk in paths of righteousness and virtue; and 2. God on his part agrees to give such persons an inheritance of exaltation and godhood in his everlastin presence. The oath is the solemn attestation of Deity, his sworn promise, that those who keep their part in the covenant shall come forth and inherit all things according to the promeise." [D&C 132:19.] (Mormon Doctrine, 2nd ed., p 480.) (DNTC 3, p. 173.)

GODS-ALSO LINAGE:

|v58 And as I said unto Abraham concerning the kindreds of the earth, even so I say unto my servant Joseph: In thee and in thy seed shall the kindred of the earth be blessed.
(D&C: Section 124:58)

Gods in Embryo:
There was a period when we, with jesus and others, basked in the light of the presence of God and enjoyed His smiles. We are the children of God, and as His children there is no attribute we ascribe to Him that we do not possess, though they may be dormant or in embryo. The mission of the Gospel is to develop these powers and make us like our Heavenly Parent[s]. I know this is true, and such knowledge makes me feel happy. (Oct. 4, 1863, MS 25:722; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 3)

Literal offspring of God.

God in His infinite mercy has revealed to us a great truth. It is a truth that , when understood by us, gives a new light to our existence and inspires us with the most exalted hopes. That truth is that God is our Father, and we are His children. What a tender relationship! What a feeling of nearness it creates within us! What? God my Father? Am I indeed His son? Am I indeed His daughter? Do I belong to the family of God? Is this literally true? The answer is, "Yes." God has revealed it, that we are literally His children, His offspring, that we are just as much His children as our offspring are our children, that He begot us, and that we existed with Him in the family relationship as His children. What an immensity of vision is given to us in this truth! What a field for reflection! and how our hearts should be inspired with great hopes and anticipations to think that the Being under whose direction this earth was organized, who governs the planets and controls the universe, who causes the rotation of the seasons and makes this earth so beautiful and such a delightful place of habitation, is our Father and that we are His children, descended from Him! What illimitably hopes the knowledge of this inspires us with! (Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 3.)

To Be Made Gods:

God has removed doubt from our hearts and our minds concerning these things. We know them. The testimony of God is with us. He bears testimony to us that we are His children. And he wants to draw us to Him, in His arms of love. He wants to save us and exalt us and make us like Himself, clothe us with glory and make us indeed gods in the eternal world, wielding dominion and power. For this purpose He has sent us here. For this purpose He has given us His laws, which we understand to some extent. (1890, Contributor 11:480; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 84-85.)

Sons and Daughters of a King:

It is a glorious thing... to know that our religion is true and given us from God and that in obedience to it we may attain to the exalted position occupied by Him and our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.... We are of the race of God, the sons and daughters of a King. What monarch's children do not hope and look forward to sovereignty. May we, who are the offspring of the Almighty King, not hope for crowns and kingdoms in eternity? (DEN, March 28, 1881; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 87.)

Progression From an Infant to a God:

What is there manor helpless, weak, puny, insignificant, it may be said, in many respects, than a human being when it is born into the world. Yet that being, if nurtured properly, if trained as it should be, has before it a career of never-ending glory. That little pulling infant may become, in the eternity of our God, a god, to sway power and dominion in the eternal worlds, to be the father of unnumbered millions. Yet at its birth who would anticipate such a future for it. (Oct. 5, 1844, JD, 25:319; Gospel Truth, George Q. Cannon, p. 104.)

The Origin of Man:

If we take man, he is said to have been made in the image of God, for the simple reason that he is a son of God, and being his son, he is, of course, has offspring, an emanation from God, in whose likeness, we are told, he is made. He did not originate from a chaotic mass of matter, moving or inert, but came forth possessing, in an embryonic state, all the faculties and powers of a God. And when he shall be perfected, and have progressed to maturity, he will be like his Father--a God, being indeed his offspring. As the horse, the ox, the sheep, and every living creature, including man, propagates its own species and perpetuates its own kind, so does God perpetuate his. (Ma, 164--165; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 52.)

A God in Embryo:

Man is a dual being, possessed of body and spirit, made in the image of God, and connected with him and with eternity. He is a God in embryo and will live and progress throughout the eternal ages, if obedient to the laws of the Godhead, as the Gods progress throughout the eternal ages. (JD, 23:65, April 9, 1882; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 52.)

Man, A Son Of God:

What is man? A god, even the son of God, possessing noble aspirations, holy feelings, that may be governed by virtuous principles, possessing elevated ideas, wishing to realize everything that God has destined to submit to all his laws, to endure every kind of privation and affliction and suffering, as seeing him that is invisible, looking for a city that hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God--feeling to live for that purpose, and that alone.
This is what man is, if he lives the religion of heaven, and performs faithfully those things God has appointed him to do, that he may increase from intelligence to intelligence, and go on with that eternal progression, not only in this world, but in worlds without end. (JD, 8:1-2, 3-4, 5, February 19, 1860; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 54-55.)

The Image of God:

We are made in the image of God, we were designed by the intelligence of God, and the organs we have are the same kind of organs that the Gods themselves possess. I consider that the body and the spirit are connected together in some inscrutable, indefinable, and intelligent manner; that, if we comprehended, would be a greater wonder and mystery to us than anything that we have already referred to. (JD, 11:74-77, February 5, 1866; The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 56.)

The Exaltation of Man:

It is for the exaltation of man to this state of superior intelligence and Godhood that the mediation and atonement of Jesus Christ is instituted; and that noble being, man, made in the image of God, is rendered through adoption, and is rendered capable of becoming a God, possessing the power, the majesty, the exaltation and the position of a God.... (The Gospel Kingdom, John Taylor, p. 57.)

Sons and Daughters of God:

And now, after the many testimonies which have been given of him, this is the testimony, last of all, which we give of him: That he lives! For we saw him, even on the right hand of God; and we heard the voice bearing record that he is the Only Begotten of the Father-That by him, and through him, and of him, the worlds are and were created, and the inhabitants thereof are begotten sons and daughters unto God." (D&C 76:20-24.)

Christ
...with the righteous saints, he shall reign to all eternity as King of Kings, Lord of Lords, and God of Gods. To his holy name, both now and forever, be ascribed glory and honor, power, riches, and dominion, and an eternal fulness of all things for endless ages.

Eternity to eternity.
Those who become gods will then be from eternity to eternity, everlastingly the same, always possessing the fulness of all things and multiplying their race without end. (Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 1, pp. 10-12.) (Momon Doctrine, p. 240.)

Exaltation
Celestial marriage is the gate to exaltation, and exaltation consists in the continuation of the family unit in eternity. Exaltation is eternal life, the kind of life which God lives. Those who obtain it gain an inheritance in highest of three heavens within the celestial kingdom. (D. & C. 131:1-4.)
They have eternal increase, a continuation of the seeds forever and ever, a continuation of the lives, eternal lives; that is, they have spirit children in the resurrection, in relation to which offspring they stand in the same position that God our Father stands to us. They inherit in due course the fulness of the glory of the Father, meaning that they have all power in heaven and on earth. (D. & C. 76:50-60; 93:1-40.) "Then shall they be gods, because they have no end; therefore shall they be from everlasting to everlasting, because they continue; then shall they be above all, because all things are subject unto them. Then shall they be gods, because they have all power, and the angels are subject unto them." (D. & C. 132:16-26; Docrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp. 35-79.)
Although salvation may be defined in many ways to mean many things, in its most pure and perfect definition it is a synonym of exaltation. This was the way in which the Prophet used it when he left us this inspired explanation: "Where shall we find a prototype into whose likeness we may be assimilated, in order that we may be made partakers of life and salvation? or, in other words, where shall we find a saved being? for if we can find a saved being, we may ascertain without much difficulty what all others must be in order to be saved. We think that it will not be a matter of dispute, that two beings who are unlike each other cannot be saved; for whatever constitutes the salvation of one will constituet the salvation of every creature which will be saved; and if we find one saved being in all existence, we may see what others must be, or else not be saved.
"We ask, then, where is the prototype? or where is the saved being? We conclude, as to the answer of this question, there will be dispute among those who believe the Bible, that it is Christ: all will agree in this, that he is the prototype or standard of salvation; or, in other words, that he is a saved being. And if we should continue our interrogation and ask how it is that he is saved, the answer would be-because he is a just and holy being; and if he were anything different from what he is, he would not be saved; for his salvation depends on his being precisely what he is and nothing else; for if it were possible for him to change, in the least degree, so sure he would fail of salvation and lose all his dominion, power, authority and glory, which constitute salvation; for salvation consists in the glory, authority, majesty, power and dominion which Jehovah possesses and in nothing else; and no being can possess it but himself or one like him."

After quoting many passages of scripture, the record of the Prophet's teachings continues: "These teachings of the Savior most clearly show unto us the nature of salvation, and what he proposed unto the human family when he proposed to save them--that he proposed to make them like unto himself, and he was like the Father, the great prototype of all saved beings; and for any portion of the human family to be assimilated into their likeness is to be saved; and to be unlike them is to be destroyed; and on this hinge truns the door of salvation." (Lectrues on Faith, pp. 63-67.) (Mormon Doctrine, p 258.)

First Vision

Our knowledge of God's dealings with his children from the days of Adam to the present leads us to believe that bothe the Father and the Son have been manifested to other prophets in other ages. Joseph Smith, himself, on at least two other occasions saw these heavenly Beings in vision (D. & C. 76:22-24; Teachings, p. 107), and Stephen beheld them as the murderous mob stoned him to death. (Acts 7:54-60.) Indee, it is the privilege of those who attain the Second Comforter to have the Son "manifest the Father" unto them. (Teachings, pp. 149-151; John 14:23; D. & C. 130:3.)

Fulness of the Father

The express fulness of the Father has reference to his position of power, glory, perfection, and godhood, The "fulness of the glory of the Father" consists in the possession of "all power, both in heaven and on earth [D&C 132:19]." (D. & C. 93: 16-17.) God is an exalted Man, and exaltation consists in having the fulness of all powers, all attributes, and all perfections. (D. & C. 76; 93; 132.) [No one can have this singly but needs their complementry part to hold and have all power, the power to creat life...]

The plan of exaltation is one whereunder those who fill the full measure of their creation are able to progress to that state wherein they will gain the fulness of the Father. Christ is the Examplar; he went from grace to grace until finally after the resurrection he gained the fulness of all things, including the fulness of truth, knowledge, and power. (Matt. 28:18; D. & C. 93:6-30.)

Obedience to the whole law of crowning ordiance of celestial marriage, is the way whereby the fulness of the Father may be gained. Those so married, who keep their covenants, shall go on " to their exaltation and glory in all things,...which glory shall be a fulness and a continuation of the seeds forever and ever. Then shall they be gods." (D. & C. 132:6, 19-20; Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp. 24, 44-45, 62-63.)

Joseph Smith taught: "All those who keep his [the Father's] commandments shall grow up from grace to grace, and become heirs of the heavenly kingdom, and joint heirs with Jesus Christ; possessing the same mind, being transformed into the same image or likeness, even the express image of him who fills all in all; being filled with the fulness of his glory, and become one in him, even as the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are one.... As the son partakes of the fulness of the Father through the Spirit so the saints are, byt eh same Spirit, to be partakers of the same fulness, to enjoy the same glory; for as the Father and the Son are one, so, in like manner, the saints are to be one in them. Through the love of the Father, the mediation of Jesus Christ, and the gift of the Holy Spirit, they are to be heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ." (Lectures on Faith, pp. 50-52; 3 Ne. 28:10-11.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 300-301.)

God
Man's purpose in life is to learn the nature and kind of being that God is, and then, by conformity to his laws and ordiances, to progress to that high state of exaltation wherein man becomes perfect as the Father is perfect. (Matt. 5:48; Teachings, pp. 342-362.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 318.)

God
God can be known only by revelation. He must be revealed, or remain forever unknown (cf. Mosiah 4:9). God first revealed himself to Adam (Moses 5; 6) and has repetedly made himself known by revelation to chosen patriarchs and prophets since that time. The present translation of John 1:18 and 1Jn. 4:12 is misleading, for these say that no man has ever seen God. However, the scriptures state that there have been many who have seen him. The JST [Joseph Smith Translation] corrects these items to show that no sinful man has ever seen God, and also that Jesus Christ is the only Way to God. God the Father and his son have been manifested by voice, sight, or otherwise at various times, as at the baptism of Jesus (Matt. 3:16-17); the Transfiguration (Matt. 17:1-8); to Stephen (Acts 7:55-56); and to the Nephites 3 Ne. 11:7). The Father and the Son personally visited Joseph Smith in the Sacred Grove, in the spring of 1820, near Manchester, New York, in the opening of the dispensation of the fulness of times (JS-H 1:11-20).
Latter-day revelation confirms the biblical account of God as the literal father of the human family; as a being who is concerned fro the welfare of mankind, and a Personage who hears and answers prayers. (Bible Dictionary, p. 682).
Although God created all things and is the ruler of the universe, being omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent (through his Spirit), mankind has a special relationship to him that differentiates man from all other created things: man is leterly God's offspring, made in his image, whereas all other things are but the work of his hands (cf. Acts 17:28-29.) (Bible Dictionary, p. 681-682.)

|v28 For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.
|v29 Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device.
(NewT:Acts 17:28-29)

(NewT:Luke 3:38)

|v22 And this is the genealogy of the sons of Adam, who was the son of God, with whom God, himself, conversed.
(PoGP:Moses 6:22)

Godhood

That exaltation which the saints of all ages have so devotly sought is godhood itself. Godhood is to have the character, possess the attributes, and enjoy the perfections which the Father has. It is to do what he does, have the powers resident in him [and his complementry companion[s] jointly], and live as he lives, having eternal increase. (D. & C. 132:17:20, 37.) It is to know him in the full and complete sense, and no one can fully know God except another exalted personage who is like him in all respects. Those attaining the supreme height are sons of God (D. & C. 76:50-60); they receive the fulness of the Father and find membership in the Church of the Firstborn (D. & C. 93:17-22); they are joint heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18), inheriting with him all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-51) [Expand the consept of earthly parents oldest child has more tallents takes care of other children and perhaps even saves them but the Father and mother love all their children equally they appreciate the tallents of the oldest children. But they love the Children all the same not the talents-they appreciate the tallents therefore all their children inherit the same-thus we are Joint-heirs with Christ. And Christ our eldest most tallented brother and savior thought it not robery to receive the fulness of God.]

Joseph Smith said: "God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens!... I am going to tell you how God came to be God. We have imagined and supposed that God was God from all eternity. I will refute that idea, and take away the veil, so that you may see.... It is the first principle of the gospel to know for a certainty the character of God, and to know that we may converse with him as one man converses with another, and that he was once a man like us; yea, that God himself, the Father of us all, dwelt on an earth, the same as Jesus Christ himself did; and I will show it from the Bible.... "Here, then, is eternal life--to know the only wise and true God; and you have got to learn how to be gods yourselves, and to be kings and priests [and Queens and Priestesses] to God, the same as all gods have done before you, namely, by going from one small degree to another, and from a small capacity to a great one; from grace to grace, from exaltation the exaltation, until you attain to the resurrection of the dead, and are able to dwell in everlasting brunings, and to sit in glory, as do those who sit enthroned in everlasting power.... [Such persons are] heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ. What is it? To inherit the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a god, and ascend the throne fo eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, pp. 345-347.) Again: "Every man who reigns in celestial glory is a god to his dominions." (Teachings, p. 374.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 321-322.)

Joint-Heirs with Christ

As the literal Son of God--the Firstborn in the spirit, the Only Begotten in the flesh--Christ is the natural heir of the Father. It thus became his right to inherit, receive, and possess all that his Father had. (John 16:15.) And his Father is possessor of all things: the universe; all power, wisdom, and goodness; the fulness of truth and knowledge; and an infinity of all good attributes. By heirship and by obedience, going from grace to grace, the Son attained these same things. (D. & C. 93:5-17.)

By obedience to the fulness of gospel law, righteous men are adopted into the family of God so that they also become heirs, joint-heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:14-18; Gal. 3:26-29; 4:1-7), inheritors of all that the Father hath. (D. & C. 84:33-41.) In his famous King Follett Sermon, speakin of those who "shall be heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ," the Prophet asked what their glory should be. Answering his own query, he described joint-heirship as inheriting "the same power, the same glory and the same exaltation, until you arrive at the station of a God, and ascend the throne of eternal power, the same as those who have gone before." (Teachings, p. 347.)

A joint-heir is one who inherits equally with all other heirs including the Chief Heir who is the Son. Each Joint-heir has an equal and an undivided portion of the whole of everything. If one knows all things, so do all others. If one has all power, so do all those who inherit jointly with him. If the universe belongs to one, so it does equally to the total of all upon whom the joint inheritances are bestowed. Joint-heirs are possessors of all things. (D. & C. 50:26-28.) All things are theirs for they have exaltation. (D. & C. 76:50-60.) They are made "equal" with their Lord. (D. & C. 88:107.) They gain all power both in heaven and on earth and receive the fulness of the Father, and all knowledge and truth are theirs. (D. & C. 93:15-30.) They are gods. (D. & C. 132:20.) Celestial marriage is the gate to this high state of exaltation. (Doctrines of Salvation, vol. 2, pp 24, 35-39; D. & C. 131: 1-4; 132.) (Mormon Doctrine, p. 394-395.)

Lord of lords
Both the Father and the Son are properly known by the title Lord of Lord's, a designation that means literally what it says. (Deut. 10:12-22; 1 Tim. 6:15; Rev. 17:14; 19:16.) The purpose of this name is not simply to reveal that Christ, for instance, is the Lord of mortal persons who are ranked as lords, but rather it is to show that he is Lord and God to others who themselves also are Lords and Gods in their own right. Thus Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (among others) "have entered into their exaltation, according to the promises, [What promises? The ones sealed upon us in the temple D&C 131; 132] and sit upon thrones, and are not angels but are gods." (D. & C. 132:29, 37.) Since exalted beings themselves become Lords and Gods, and since they still stand in subjection to Christ their Lord and their God, it follows that he is a Lord of Lords. Whatever is true of him is also true of his Father, and in due course it will be true of all exalted beings. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 451.)

Those who are faithful in their priesthood callings in this life shall continue on in their holy authorizations in eternity; they shall remain forever "priests and kings"; their destiny is to stand as "priests of the Most High, after the order of Melchizedek, which was after the order of Enoch, which was after the order of the Only Begotten Son." (D. & C. 76:56-57.)

This priesthood "holdeth the key of the mysteries of the kingdom, even the key of the knowledge of God." (D. & C. 84:17-19.)

Those who are priests forever, who "are priests of the Most High, after the order of Melchizedek,... are gods, even the sons of God." (D. & C. 76:57-58.) They have become joint-heirs with Christ, having kept the same covenant and been bount by teh same oath.

|v33 For whoso is faithful unto the obtaining these two priesthoods of which I have spoken, and the magnifying their calling, are sanctified by the Spirit unto the renewing of their bodies.

|v34 They become the sons of Moses and of Aaron and the seed of Abraham, and the church and kingdom, and the elect of God.
|v35 And also all they who receive this priesthood receive me, saith the Lord;
|v36 For he that receiveth my servants receiveth me;
|v37 And he that receiveth me receiveth my Father;
|v38 And he that receiveth my Father receiveth my Father's kingdom; therefore all that my Father hath shall be given unto him.

Patriachal Chain.
Those who shall here after urle and reign in eternity as exalted beings will form a patriarchal chain which will begin with Father Adam and spread out until every exalted person is linked in. Exaltation consists in the continuatin of the family unit in eternity, and every family which so continuation of the family unit in eternity, and every family which so continues will find its proper place in the eternal organizational framwork which the Almighty has ordained. None [of the worthy] will be forgotten. (Mormon Doctrine, p. 558)
